Professor of language and literature; born near Dover, Del., July 10, 1857; son of Hervey Dexter and Mary Elizabeth (Griffith) Learned. He is descended from a family that settled in Massachusetts in 1624, and whose members were active in the Revolutionary War, the War of 1812, and later wars. He graduated in 1876 from the Wilmington Conference Academy, Dover, and in 1880 from Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pa., and after teaching languages for four years in Williamsport, he took a year of study at Johns Hopkins University; then entered the University of Leipzig, returning later to take up his studies at Johns Hopkins, receiving its Ph.D. degree in 1887. He was instructor in German at Johns Hopkins, 1886-1889; appointed, 1889, associate in German; in 1892, associate professor in German, and in 1895 left Johns Hopkins to take his present chair as professor of German language and literature in the University of Pennsylvania. Professor Learned is connected with a large number of literary and scientific societies, and in 1889-1900 was president of the Nationalen Deutsch-Amerikanischen Lehrerbund. He founded and is editor of the Quarterly Journal American Germanica (now German American Annals), and has written various treatises, literary and scientific. He is a member of the American Philosophical Society, the Franklin Inn Club, and other societies of Philadelphia; was director (with Albert Cook Myers) of the Pennsylvania History Exhibit at the Jamestown Exposition, 1907. Address: 4214 Spruce Street, Philadelphia.

LEAVITT, Charles Wellford, Jr.:

Civil and landscape engineer; born at Riverton, N. J., March 13, 1871; son of Charles Wellford and Sara (Allibone) Leavitt. He was educated in the Gummery School, Washington, Conn., finishing at Cheltenham (Pa.) Military Academy. He was assistant engineer in charge of the construction of the East Jersey Water Company; in charge of the construction of Caldwell Railway, and engineer for the town of Essex Falls, including water, sewers and roads. He directed and supervised the laying out and construction of the estates of William C. Whitney, Foxhall Keene, Daniel S. Lamont, the Empire City Race Track, and the race tracks at Saratoga, Belmont Park, Toronto and Montreal; engineer of the Palisades Inter-State Park Commission, and has superintended the laying out of numerous grounds, public and private, in various parts of the country. Mr. Leavitt is a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, American Society of Landscape Architects, Architectural League and the Union, National Arts, Adirondack League, and Transportation Clubs of New York City. He married at Essex Falls, N. J., Oct. 26, 1899, Clara Gordon White, and they have three children, Gordon, Kent and Charlotte. Address: Meadow Farm, Hartsdale, N. Y.

LEAVITT, Julius Adelbert:

President of Ewing College; born at Gouverneur, N. Y., March 4, 1852; son of Halsey C. and Romanda (Leach) Leavitt. He was graduated from Brown University, A.B., 1875; studied for the ministry at the Newton Theological Seminary, and on May 24, 1876, was ordained to the Baptist ministry. The degree of D.D. was conferred upon him in 1896, by Brown University. From his ordination to the ministry until 1884, he held pastorates at Grafton and Essex, Vt., and Beloit and Leavenworth, Kan. He was Sunday School superintendent for the Baptists of Illinois, 1884-1890, in which latter year he was called to the presidency of Ewing College at Ewing, Ill. Dr. Leavitt is a fellow of the Royal Geographical Society. He married, first, at Providence, R. I., May 30, 1876, Isabelle I. Brown; second at Collinsville, Ill., Dec. 29, 1880, Lillie L. Lemen, and he has two sons. Address: Ewing, Ill.

LEAYCRAFT, J. Edgar:

Real estate broker; born in New York City, March 15, 1849; son of Anthony D. and Hannah (Thompson) Leaycraft. He was educated in the public schools. Mr. Leaycraft was, during its existence, director and treasurer of the Real Estate Exchange and Auction Room, Limited, and is a member of the Real Estate Board of Brokers. He was appointed State Tax Commissioner by Governor Roosevelt in 1899 and re-appointed by Governor Odell, serving five years, and was appointed a member of the Board of Examiners and Appraisers of the New Barge Canal, for a term of four years. Mr. Leaycraft is a member of the Republican County Committee; a member of the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York; member and director of the New York Board of Trade and Transportation; a member and former treasurer of the West End Association; a member of the Merchants' Association; president and treasurer of the J. Edgar Leaycraft & Co.; trustee and treasurer of the Franklin Savings Bank; director and president of the Leaycraft Realty Company; director and treasurer of the Library Square Realty Company; director of the New Netherland Bank, City of New York Fire Insurance Company and the New York Plate Glass Insurance Company. He is a prominent Methodist layman; was lay delegate to the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Los Angeles in 1904, and Baltimore, 1908. Mr. Leaycraft is a member of the Revolution, the Society of Colonial Wars, a thirty-second degree Mason and member of the Mystic Shrine, treasurer of the New York City Church Extension and Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, American Bible Society, member and treasurer of the Board of Education of the Methodist Episcopal Church, member of the Young Men's Christian Association, Board of Directors; trustee of the Wesleyan University at Middletown, Conn., of Hahnemann Hospital, New York City. He is also a member of the Union League, Republican, Lawyers Quill, West Side Republican and Al-dine Clubs. He married in Ossining, N.

Y., Nov. 25, 1874, Caroline Crawford and they have two children. Residence: 311 West End Avenue. Office: 17 West 42d Street, New York City.

LE BARON, John Francis Patch:

Civil and mining engineer and geologist; born in Boston, Sept. 28, 1847; son of John Patch, lawyer, and Margaret Ann Gurley (Poor) Patch. His name was changed by act of court while a minor, by petition of his father, for reasons of a property inheritance. He was educated in the Ipswich (Mass.) High School and the Lawrence Academy, Groton, Mass., whence he was graduated second in class with salutatory oration, in 1866. He studied civil engineering three years in the office of J. Herbert Shedd, and in 1868 was employed on surveys for sewerage and street lines in Taunton, Mass., and on the water works for Providence, R. I. He then became transit man on the Massachusetts Central Railroad, and in two years rose from that position to chief engineer and assistant to the president of the Fitchburg Railroad (Hoosac Tunnel Line), at Boston, when only twenty-six years old, and at the same time was associate city engineer of Charlestown, Mass., and of Middlesex County, Mass. He later became U. S. deputy surveyor and afterward U. S. mineral surveyor in the U. S. Land Office. In 1881 he entered the engineer service of the U. S. Army, on staff of Major General Q. A. Gilmore, and designed and was in charge of numerous surveys and construction of works for improvement of rivers and harbors on the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts, and the canalization of rivers, for nearly four years. In 1887 he was appointed a transit man on the Nicaragua Canal, and in two years, after four promotions, became engineer in charge and chief field engineer; and he was afterwards a commissioner of the Nicaragua Canal. Mr. Le Baron has also been chief engineer of over twenty-five railways, water works, etc. He was the discoverer of the immense phosphate of lime deposits in Florida while employed as a U. S. engineer on the reconnaissance of Peace River, and he made extensive archaeological studies in Florida for the Peabody Museum of Harvard University and for the Smithsonian Institution at Washington, also geological surveys and palaeontological reconnaissances in Florida for the Smithsonian Institution. Mr. LeBaron is author of over fifty published books, articles and memoirs on technical subjects, and he is a recognized expert on land drainage and reclamation, diking, and river and harbor improvements, with an international reputation. His foreign travels have extended to the Eastern, Middle and Southern States, British Honduras, Spanish Honduras, Guatemala, Nicaragua, Costa Rica, Panama and Jamaica. He raised a company of Immunes in three days for the Spanish-American War, which was mustered in the Tenth Regiment, U. S. Army, as Company L, and was appointed its captain by President McKinley, but failed to pass the medical examination on account of partial deafness. He is a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, elected for his memoir on the Geology of Honduras; a founder, secretary, 1885-1887, and director, 1890-1897, of the Southern Society of Civil Engineers; member of the National Geographic Society, American Society of Civil Engineers, American Institute of Mining Engineers, U. S. Naval Institute, American Forestry Association, Civil Engineers' Society of Cleveland, and the Franklin Institute. He is a Mason, a member of the Florida Society of Sons of the Revolution, being descended in both lines from Revolutionary and colonial ancestry, who fought at Lexington and Bunker's Hill and the Colonial Wars. He married first, at Ipswich, Mass., Nov. 28, 1872, Mary B. Kinsman, by whom he has three children; second, at Mandarin, Fla., Dec. 26, 1885, Philomena E. (Brown) Manney, by whom he has a daughter; and again married at Ipswich, Mass., April 29, 1901, Carrie Louise Lakeman. Residence: Chardon, O. Office: 812 Park Building, Cleveland, O.

LE BOUTILLIER, William G.:

Physician; born in New York City, Dec. 21, 1859; son of Thomas and Margaret (Gallier) Le Boutillier. He was educated in private schools and Columbia College, A.B., 1880, and the College of Physicians and Surgeons Medical Department of Columbia University, M.D., 1883. He was visiting surgeon to the J. Hood Wright Hospital; acting assistant surgeon in the U. S. Army, Sept. 1898, to March, 1899; surgeon of the Twelfth Regiment, National Guard of New York, 1902-1906, and since then has been surgeon on the staff of Major General Charles F. Roe, commanding the National Guard of New York. Dr. Le Boutillier is a member of the New York Academy of Medicine, the Surgical Society and of the Union League and University Clubs. Address: 45 West 50th Street, New York City.

LEDERER, George W.:

Theatrical manager; born in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., in 1861. He has been manager of the New York Casino and of Lillian Russell since 1893; also manager and director of the New York Theatre, Prince of Wales Theatre, London; has also an interest in the Shaftesbury Theatre, London. London office: Avenue Mansions, 16 Shaftesbury Avenue, West. American address: The Casino, Broadway and Thirty-ninth Street, New York City.

LEDOUX, John Walter:

Civil engineer; born at St. Croix Falls, Wis., Aug. 28, 1860; son of John and Almira (Knox) Ledoux. He was graduated from Lehigh University, C. E., 1887. He has made reports on water supplies and water powers in nearly every state in the Union, as well as in Porto Rico, Mexico and British Columbia; has been chief engineer of the American Pipe Manufacturing Company of Philadelphia since 1891, and chief engineer of approximately fifty water works systems costing over $30,000,000. Some of the projects designed by him and constructed under his supervision are the Springfield water system, supplying the suburbs of Philadelphia; Octorara Water Company's system, supplying the Pennsylvania Railroad from Downingtown to Lancaster; the Rochester and Lake Ontario water works system, supplying railroads and manufactories in Rochester and its suburbs; Syracuse Suburban Water Company, supplying railroads, suburbs and towns adjacent to Syracuse, N. Y.; the Charleston, S. C., water works system; the Hagerstown, Md., water storage system; the Depew and Lake Erie water works system, supplying the suburbs of Buffalo; the Greenville, S. C., water system; the New York Interurban and Consolidated Water Company of Suburban New York, supplying the suburbs of New York in Westchester County. He has also had charge of the design and engineering of the great water supply undertaking, 1903-1907, between Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, comprising thirty water companies, which works were constructed largely in the interest of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Mr. Ledoux is the inventor of numerous water works devices, among which are various and useful parts for mechanical and slow sand filters, regulating valves, rate controllers for filters, etc., meters for large pipes, and an automatic air valve. He is a contributor to the Engineering News, Engineering Record, Philadelphia Engineers' Club Proceedings, and other publications; among his papers are: A Sand Filter Plant; A Deep Well Pumping Plant; Water Supply of Philadelphia; Water Supply of Charleston, S. C.; Description of a Regulating Valve for Controlling the Level of Reservoirs and Standpipes; Description of the Simplex Water Meter, etc. Mr. Ledoux has been a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers since 1895, and is a member of the Franklin Institute, the American Water Works Association, the Engineers' Club of Philadelphia, and the Athletic Club of Philadelphia. Residence: Ogden Avenue and Walnut Lane, Swarthmore, Pa. Office: 112 North Broad Street, Philadelphia.

LEDYARD, Henry Brockholst:

Chairman of the Board of Directors, Michigan Central Railway; born in Paris, France, Feb. 20, 1844, of American parentage, his father being secretary of the American Legation there. He was appointed at large to the U. S. Military Academy, from which he was graduated in the class of 1865, and was commissioned as first lieutenant, U. S. Artillery, serving until January, 1870, when he resigned to enter the engineering department of the Northern Pacific Railroad. In July, 1870, he became a clerk in the office of the division superintendent of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad, in 1872 assistant superintendent and in 1873 and 1874 superintendent of the Eastern Division of the same road. Since 1874 he has been with the Michigan Central Railroad, as assistant general superintendent until 1876, general superintendent, 1876-1877, general manager, 1877-1883, president until January, 1905, and since then chairman of the Board of Directors. He married, Oct. 15, 1867, Mary R. L'Houmedieu, who died March 30, 1895. Address: 579 Jefferson Avenue, Detroit, Mich.

LEDYARD, Lewis Cass:

Lawyer; born in Detroit, Mich., April 4, 1851; son of Henry and Matilda Frances (Cass) Ledyard. He was graduated from Harvard College, A.B., 1872, Harvard Law School, LL.B., 1875, Harvard University, A.M., 1875. He is first vice-president of the American Express Company; vice-president and secretary of the National Express Company; director of the National Park Bank, the Metropolitan Trust Company, the United States Trust Company, the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company, the New England Navigation Company, the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad Company, the Northern Pacific Railroad Company, the Atlantic Mutual Insurance Company, and the Great Northern Paper Company. Mr. Ledyard is a member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, trustee of the New York Public Library; president and trustee of the Lying-in Hospital of New York City. Mr. Ledyard was formerly for some time member of the Rapid Transit Commission of New York City and is a member of the Knickerbocker, Union, Metropolitan, Century, Harvard, Down Town, Lawyers', University, New York Yacht, and the Larchmont Yacht Clubs. He married Gertrude Prince. Address: 54 Wall Street, New York City.

LEE, Albert:

Editor and author; born in New Orleans, La., May 11, 1868; son of General Albert L. Lee. He was graduated from Yale in 1891, editor of Yale Literary Magazine, 1890-1891, and successively on the editorial staff of the New York Sun, Harper's Round Table, McClure's Magazine and Harper's Weekly. Mr. Lee was associate editor of Collier's Weekly, 1901-1902 and is now the managing editor. He is author of: Tommy Toddlers; Track Athletics in Detail; The Knave of Hearts; Four for a Fortune; He, She and They; The Pie and the Pirate. He is a member of the Yale Club of New York. Residence: 119 West 45th Street. Office: 416 West 13th Street, New York City.

LEE, Benjamin:

Physician; born in Norwich, Conn., Sept. 26, 1833; was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania, A.B., 1852, A.M., 1855, and Ph.D., 1873; from the New York Medical College, 1856. He took a post-graduate course in Europe, and upon his return to this country established practice in New York City. He was surgeon of the Twenty-second New York National Guard, in service of the United States, 1862-1863; and was a member of the New York County and State Medical Societies. He removed to Philadelphia in 1865; was long treasurer of the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania; secretary of the Pennsylvania State Board of Health, 1885-1905; appointed assistant to the Commissioner of Health of Pennsylvania, 1905; president of the American Academy of Medicine, 1884; president of Conference of State and Provincial Boards of Health of North America, 1898; president of the American Public Health Association, 1898; honorary member of the Society of Hygiene, Paris; member American Medical Association, Congress of American Physicians and Surgeons, Philadelphia County Medical Society, Philadelphia Society for Organizing Charity; president American Orthopedic Association, 1891-1892; secretary of the Pennsylvania State Quarantine Board, 1893-1905; professor of orthopedics, Philadelphia Polyclinic, 1895-

1896; health officer of Philadelphia 1898-1899; sanitarian to the State Board of Agriculture of Pennsylvania; member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, 1902; member of the Philadelphia Medical Club and the Philadelphia Association for Organizing Charity. Dr. Lee practises as a specialist in orthopedic surgery and nervous diseases. He is author of: Correct Principles of Treatment for Angular Curvature of the Spine, 1872; and Tracts on Massage (translated from German), 1885; editor of the American Medical Monthly. Dr. Lee married, April 5, 1859, Emma Halo White, daughter of Dr. Norman White of New York City. Address: Harrisburg, Pa.

LEE, Blewett:

Lawyer; born near Columbus, Miss., March 1, 1867; son of Lieutenant-general Stephen Dill Lee of the Confederate States Army and Regina (Harrison) Lee. He was graduated from the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Mississippi, B.S., 1883. He studied at the University of Virginia, 1883-1885; then went to Harvard College from which he was graduated A.M., LL.B., 1888, and afterward studied in the Universities of Leipzig and Freiburg, Germany. Returning to America he became private secretary to Justice Horace Grey of the Supreme Court of the United States, in 1890, and practised law in Atlanta, Ga., 1890-1893. He has held professorships in Northwestern University and the University of Chicago, and he has practised his profession in Chicago ever since 1893. Mr. Lee was elected a member of the American Bar Association in 1894 and is also a member of the Illinois State Bar Association and the Chicago Bar Association; and is the author of various articles in legal periodicals. He is now general solicitor of the Illinois Central Railroad Company. Mr. Lee is a member of the Chicago University and South Shore Country Clubs of Chicago. He married in Chicago, Feb. 9, 1898, Frances, daughter of John J. and Frances (Macbeth) Glessner; and they have three children. Residence: 5557 Washington Avenue. Office: Central Station, Chicago.

LEE, Duncan Campbell:

Editor and publisher; born in Bovina Center, Delaware County, N. Y., March 4, 1869; son of Rev. James B. and Jane Isabella (Campbell) Lee. He was graduated from the Delaware Academy, Delhi, N. Y., valedictorian, 1887 and from Hamilton College, A.B., (salutatorian), 1891, A.M., 1894. He was teacher in secondary schools, 1891-1893; professor of oratory and debate in Cornell University, 1893-1904; editor of the Ithaca Daily News since 1899; president of the Ithaca Publishing Company since 1900; traveled abroad, 1901-1902. Mr. Lee was the author of the anti-ice-trust resolution in the Democratic Convention of 1900; was party nominee for State Regent, 1902; prominently mentioned for Democratic nomination as lieutenant-governor in 1904; permanent chairman of the Democratic State Convention, 1904; and took an active part in the State Campaign of 1906. Mr. Lee is an elder of the First Presbyterian Church. He is a director of the Ithaca Business Men's Association, and the Ithaca Young Men's Christian Association; a member of the Theta Delta Chi, and Delta Chi fraternities, and Phi Beta Kappa Society; also member and officer of the Masonic and Elks Orders. He is active in religious education, in which field he has written several text-books, and a frequent lecturer on literary, political and historical themes. Mr. Lee is founder of the Ithaca Bible High School. He is author of: Thomas Jefferson, as a Scholar and Educator; also addresses: University Life at Oxford; Shakespeare, and his Art; Predecessors of Shakespeare, and others. He married at Ithaca, N. Y., June 8, 1889, Elizabeth Williams, and they have two children. Address: Ithaca, N. Y.

LEE, Elmer:

Physician; born at Piqua, Ohio, March 12, 1856; son of Jonathan and Nancy Lee. He was educated in the public schools and Ohio Wesleyan University, A.B., 1877, and A.M. in 1880, from the Medical Department of Washington University, St. Louis, M.D., 1882; and from St. Louis University, Ph.B., 1886. He was house physician to St. Louis City Hospital, teacher and principal in the St. Louis public schools, and assistant editor of the St. Louis Age of Steel. He was surgeon of the Santa Fé Railway, resident physician at the Palmer House, Chicago, to which city he removed in 1888; physician in Russian and German Hospitals in the epidemic of cholera in 1892; supported and commended by Professor Virchow, president of the University of Berlin. In 1896 he moved to New York, where he is lecturer for the New York City Board of Education, and lecturer to the Society of First Aid to the Injured. Dr. Lee was assistant surgeon in the war with Spain, and is an annual guest of honor at the Society of the Cincinnati of Rhode Island. He is contributor of more than one hundred essays; has been three times chairman and secretary of departments in the American Medical Association; vice-president of the American Academy of Medicine; secretary of the American Social Science Association; originator of the medical liquid soap and is deeply interested in solving the question of economic housing and feeding human beings, affirming that the basis of a true human progress is proper shelter and food. He has designed model homes and apartments and prepared a competition sketch for the Tuberculosis Hospital that was erected in England by the King in 1904. Dr. Lee takes a deep interest in, and is exponent of, natural and simple living, and an advocate of fruit diet and plant foods. He is a member of the New York Medical Society, Medical Association of Greater New York, the American Medical Association, the American Academy of Medicine, and the International Medical Congress, and a lecturer on medical and social questions. Address: 127 West 58th Street, New York City.

LEE, Frederick Schiller:

Physiologist and educator; born in Canton, N. Y., June 16, 1859; son of John Stebbins and Elmina (Bennett) Lee. Many of his ancestors on his father's side were active Indian fighters during the French and Indian wars at Deerfield, Mass., and along the Connecticut Valley. He was educated in the Canton public schools, St. Lawrence University, A.B., 1878, and A.M., 1881;

Johns Hopkins University, Ph.D., 1885, and held there a University Scholarship and University fellowship in succession; went to the University of Leipzig, 1885-1886, and did research work in physiology under Ludwig and von Frey. Dr. Lee was instructor in biology at St. Lawrence University, 1886-1887; instructor, 1887-1888, and associate, 1888-1891, in physiology and histology at Bryn Mawr College. Since 1891 he has been demonstrator in physiology, 1891-1895, adjunct professor, 1895-1904, and professor of physiology since 1904 in Columbia University. Dr. Lee is author of: Physiology, — The Vital Processes in Health (published in "In Sickness and In Health"); Reproduction (in "An American Text-book of Physiology"); The School of Medicine (in "History of Columbia University"); Fatigue (in "Harvey Lectures"); and numerous papers on physiological topics in scientific journals. He is translator and editor of: General Physiology—An Outline of the Science of Life, by Professor Max Verworn; reviser and editor of Lessons in Elementary Physiology, by Professor T. H. Huxley; is a member of the Editorial Board of the American Journal of Physiology, and of the Columbia University Quarterly. He is a member of the American Society of Naturalists, American Physiological Society (former secretary and treasurer), Society for Experimental Biology and Medicine (president), Harvey Society (former treasurer), Vermont Botanical Club, New York State Science, Teachers' Association, the American Geographical Society, School Hygiene Association of America; associate fellow of the New York Academy of Medicine; fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, American Ethnological Society, and New York Academy of Sciences; and is a scientific director of the New York Botanical Garden. He is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi honor societies, the Beta Theta Pi fraternity, and the Century Association of New York. He married in New York City, June 5, 1901, Laura Billings, daughter of Frederick Billings, formerly president of the Northern Pacific Railroad and they have two children. Residence: (summer) Woodstock, Vt.; (winter) 125 East 65th Street. Office: 437 West 59th Street, New York City.

LEE, Gordon:

Congressman; born May 29, 1859, on a farm near Ringgold, Catoosa County, Ga. He received his primary education in the country schools; was graduated from Emory College, Oxford, Ga., 1880. He is a farmer and manufacturer; served as a member of the House of Representatives of the State Legislature, 1894-1895, and in the Senate in 1902, 1903, and 1904; and was appointed by Governor Atkinson as member of the State Memorial Board. He was elected to the Fifty-ninth Congress and re-elected to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses from the Seventh Georgia District, as a Democrat. Address: Chickamauga, Ga.

LEE, Guy Carleton:

Educator, author and critic. He was graduated from the Law Department of University of North Carolina, LL.B., 1894; from Dickinson College as A.B., 1895, A.M., 1897, Dickinson School of Law, LL.M., 1896, Johns Hopkins University, Ph.D., 1898. He was admitted to the bar of North Carolina, 1895, of Pennsylvania in 1896, and of Maryland in 1897; was professor of English history and common law at Dickinson College in 1895; and has been lecturer on comparative politics since 1900 at Columbian (now George Washington) University. Mr. Lee has been a member of the historical faculty of Johns Hopkins University from 1897; literary editor of the Baltimore Sun since 1901; managing editor of the International Literary Syndicate since 1900. He was staff lecturer on history and literature for the American Society for the Extension of University Teaching; lecturer on history for the Board of Education, New York City, lecturer in politics to the League for Political Education, People's Institute and Brooklyn Institute. He is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society, American Historical Association, National Geographic Society, American Sociological Society, and the American Political Science Association. He is author of: Hinemar, An Introduction to the Study of the Church in the Ninth Century, 1898; Public Speaking, 1899; Historical Jurisprudence, 1900; Source Book of English History, 1900; True History of the War between the States, 1903. He is also editor-in-chief of: The World's Orators (ten volumes), 1900; A History of England, 1901; History of Woman (ten volumes), 1902; The History of North America (twenty volumes), 1904; and contributor on legal, historical, political and sociological subjects to reviews and journals. He is a member of the City Club of New York, the Franklin Inn Club of Philadelphia; also of the Press Club of Chicago, and of the Baltimore Yacht Club of Baltimore. Address: Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore.

LEE, Homer:

Engraver, artist, inventor; born in Mansfield, Ohio; son of John and Elizabeth Lee. He studied under his father and Robert Mackintosh in Toronto, Canada, and afterwards studied abroad. He received honorable mention from the Vienna World's Fair in 1873; designed the Arms of the United States which surmounted the entrance to the American Pavilion at Vienna, and received the first class medal from the State of Ohio. He is president and founder of The Homer Lee Bank Note Company; vice-president and director of Franklin-Lee Bank Note Company, New York City. Mr. Lee received honorable mention from the Paris Exposition in 1900 for his picture, Building of the Skyscraper, bought by the French Government; is represented in the Lotos and Salmagundi Clubs of New York City and elsewhere; was an exhibitor at the Pan-American Exposition, Buffalo, in 1901; received a medal from Charleston (South Carolina) Exposition, 1902, and from the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, 1904. He is a member of the Sons of American Revolution; vice-president of Ohio Company of Associates; member Municipal Arts Society; commissioner on decoration of public buildings; founder of St. John's Guild Floating Hospital; member of the committee on liturgy appointed by the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of the United States of America, and a founder of Ohio Society of New York. He is inventor of the Homer Lee Steel Plate Printing system, together with mechanical devices used by the United States Government and abroad; also of many improvements in linotype composing machines. He is a member of the Colonial, Columbia Yacht, Lotos and Salmagundi Clubs of New York City. Mr. Lee married at Glen Riddle, Pa., 1891, Charlotte R. Riddle. Residence: 551 West End Avenue. Address: Tribune Building, New York City.

LEE, James Wideman:

Clergyman; born in Rockbridge, Ga., Nov. 28, 1849; son of Zachary J. Lee and Emily H. Wideman. He was educated in Bawsville Academy, Grantville High School and Emory College, Oxford, Ga. He was ordained to the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in 1876; was pastor of churches in Georgia at Rockmart, Long Cane, Carrollton, Dalton, Rome, and Atlanta; transferred in 1898 to St. Louis, becoming pastor of St. John's Church. Mr. Lee was head of an expedition to Palestine in 1894 and was sent out in company with the artist R. E. M. Bain to secure material for an illustrated book on the Earthly Footsteps of Christ and His Apostles. He was presiding elder of the St. Louis District, 1897-1901, pastor of St. John's, second time, 1901-1905, and has been pastor of Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church, South Atlanta, Ga., since 1905. He is author of: The Making of a Man, 1892 (translated in Japanese in 1893 and Chinese in 1904); Christ the Reason of the Universe, in an Address before the World's Parliament of Religions, held in Chicago in 1893; The Earthly Footsteps of the Man of Galilee, 1895; Henry W. Grady, Editor, Orator, and Man, 1897; Mr. Lee edited and illustrated The Self-interpreting Bible, 1897; and is author of: Illustrated History of Methodism, 1900; History of Jerusalem, 1904; The Religion of Science, 1905. Dr. Lee married in 1875, Emma Eufaula, daughter of Rev. L. L. Ledbetter of Cedartown, Ga., and they have three sons and three daughters. Address: 33 Columbia Avenue, Atlanta, Ga.

LEE, Jennette:

Writer and college professor; born in Bristol, Conn., Nov. 10, 1860; daughter of Philemon Franklin and Mary (Barbour) Perry. She was graduated from Smith College, A.B., 1886; and was married at Collinsville, Conn., in June, 1896, to Gerald Stanley Lee, and she has a daughter, Geraldine. She was a teacher of English in Vassar College, 1890-1893; professor of English in the College for Women of the Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio, 1893-1896; since 1904 professor of English language and literature in Smith College. Mrs. Lee has been a writer ever since her graduation from college, her first published work being a story in The Independent in 1886. Her first book was Kate Wetherell, published in 1900, the others being: A Pillar of Salt, 1901; The Son of a Fiddler, 1902; Uncle William, 1906; Simcon Tetlow's Shadow, and The Ibsen Scent, 1907. Address: 88 High Street, Northampton, Mass.

LEE, Joseph W. J.:

Diplomat; born in Maryland, Oct. 9, 1870; son of Charles O'Donnell and Matilda (Jenkins) Lee. He was educated in the University of Maryland. Mr. Lee was in Brazil in 1884, and again in 1887 and 1900, and went three thousand miles up the Amazon in connection with a rubber concession. He was appointed secretary of legation at Panama, March 31, 1904; became consul-general March 1, 1905; envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Ecuador, Sept. 18, 1905, to Guatemala and Honduras, Jan. 10, 1907 and since July 1, 1907 has been American minister to Guatemala. Mr. Lee is author of a volume of poems, entitled Ropes of Sand. He is a member of the National Geographic Society, and a fellow of the Royal Geographical Society of Great Britain. Address: Guatemala City, Guatemala.

LEE, Margaret:

Author; born, New York City; daughter of Joseph and Mary Georgina Lee; was educated by private tutors, and later graduated from public school, and received a Grade A certificate qualifying her to teach in the public schools. In 1865 James G. Bennett, of New York Herald, offered a prize of $1,000 for a distinctively American novel, and her first book was awarded the money, which was published serially in the Weekly Herald, under the title of "Arnold's Choice." Author: Dr. Wilmer's Love, 1868; In Bonds of Wedlock; Marriage; Lizzie Adriance; The Missing Marriage Certificate; Since First I Saw Your Face (the prize story under a new title), 1883; Divorce reviewed by Gladstone for the Nineteenth Century, Feb., 1889, and published in England at his request by the Macmillan Company under the title, chosen by Mr. Gladstone, of "Faithful and Unfaithful;" (1889). A Brightful Night, 1884; A Brooklyn Bachelor, 1886; The Story of a Story, 1883; One Touch of Nature, 1892; This Man and This Woman, 1894; Romance of The Russells, 1896; Separation, 1902; The Tongue of the Woman, 1902; Lorimer and Wife, 1903; The Master Chivalry, 1903; A Broken Engagement, 1904; The D'Estimannes, 1905. In 1889 Miss Lee circulated a petition for perpetual copyright among authors and as a result Senator Lodge presented a bill for perpetual copyright in Senate, 1900, and Hon. W. H. Driggs introduced it in the House. She is a member of the Writers' Club of Brooklyn, and Society of American Authors. Address: 344 Lafayette Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

LEE, Thomas George:

Professor of Anatomy; born in Jacksonville, N. Y., Nov. 27, 1860; son of Horace Cooper and Sarah Lovina (Shaw) Lee. He was educated in secondary schools in Ithaca; was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania, B.S., M.D., in 1886 and from Harvard University, B.S., 1892. He was an assistant in histology and embryology at the University of Pennsylvania, 1884-1886; lecturer in histology and embryology and director of the laboratory at Yale, 1886-1891; assistant in histology at Radcliffe College, 1891; professor of histology and embryology and director of the Laboratory in the University of Minnesota, 1892-1909, and professor of anatomy and director of the Institute of Anatomy since 1909. Dr. Lee is secretary of the College of Medicine and Surgery, and librarian of the Department of Medicine at the University of Minnesota. He is associate editor of the Anatomical Record, and a member of the American Society of Zoölogists and American Society of Naturalists and secretary of the Central Branch of the Naturalists; member of the American Society of Anatomists; fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, member of the Deutsche Anatomischen Gesellschaft, American Medical Association, Minnesota Academy of Medicine and of Minnesota Academy of Science. Professor Lee married in West Bloomfield, N. Y., Dec. 21, 1887, Emma Louise Shaw. Residence: 509 River Road, S. E. Address: University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minn.

LEEDOM, Joseph:

Lawyer; born at Plymouth Meeting, Montgomery County, Pa., Aug. 23, 1853; son of Edwin C. Leedom, a noted medical writer and scientist, having designed the first orrery. Mr. Leedom's mother was a daughter of Peter Lukens, a direct descendant of Jan Luekin, one of the earliest settlers of Germantown. He was educated in the public schools of Philadelphia, and was graduated from the Central High School, A.B., 1871; read law with David Webster, of Philadelphia; attended the law school of the University of Pennsylvania, being graduated LL.B., and admitted to the bar in September, 1874. He was admitted to the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania and shortly thereafter to the U. S. Courts. He was one of the counsel of the Chestnut and Walnut Street Passenger Railway Company, and assistant solicitor of the Adams Express Company and tried, for that company, its case against Morrell; and he has been retained in important cases outside of the State, particularly in New Jersey, Ohio and Virginia. He was chairman of the Senatorial convention which first nominated the Hon. Boies Penrose as senator and made the nomination speech in the Controllers' convention on behalf of Gen. James S. Stewart, the candidate for that office. He is an honorary member of the Republican Invincibles; a member of the Union League, of Philadelphia, and of the Law Association, and a Mason; president of the Philadelphia and Tonawanda Land Company; late a director in the Kenilworth Inn Company of Biltmore, N. C.; formerly director of the Tradesmen's Trust and Safe Deposit Company, and one of the original stockholders of the Commonwealth Title Insurance and Trust Company. Mr. Leedom is married and has one son. Address: 25 North Juniper Street, Philadelphia.

LEEDS, Theodore Edward:

Lawyer; born in Philadelphia; son of Theodore Churchill and Mary Ann Leeds. He received his education under private tutors in Boston. He was admitted to the bar of Massachusetts at Boston and in 1876 to the bar of New York. He represents extensive interests as trustee and acts as counsel for corporations, banks, and family estates. He is trustee of several charitable institutions and is a life member of the New York State Bar Association; member of the New England Genealogical-Historic Society of Massachusetts and a member of the Union League, Lawyers', Stock Exchange and Luncheon Clubs. Mr. Leeds married in Brooklyn, in 1886, Mary E., daughter of Maleom and Jane (Sanger) Bronson. Residence: 20 Fifth Avenue; Office: 3 Broad Street, New York City.

LEEMING, John:

Physician and surgeon; born in Brantford, Can., March 17, 1859; son of Henry B. and Janet (Whitaker) Leeming. He was graduated from the Collegiate Institute of Brantford, 1879. For several years after leaving school he was employed as a clerk in a grocery store in Brantford and then went to Chicago, where he was in the employ of Schere, Shirk and Company, wholesale grocers. After traveling two years for the New York firm of Thomas Leeming & Company he began the study of medicine in the medical department of the University of Toronto, Canada, and was graduated in 1886. After a year's additional study at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Ontario, and at the College of Physicians, London, England, he settled in Chicago, where he has been since in general practice, now chiefly confined. He has been connected with the Northwestern University Medical School for ten years as a member of the faculty and professor of materia medica. He was attending physician at various hospitals for several years, was attending surgeon at Lakeside Hospital and Chicago Hospital, and is now attending surgeon to the Chicago Baptist Hospital and the Cook County Hospital. He is a member of the American Medical Association, the Chicago Medical Society, the Illinois State Medical Society, and the Chicago Athletic, Physicians' and Colonial Clubs. He married in Chicago, July 16, 1890, Margaret Sibley, and has six children. Address: 3541 Indiana Avenue, Chicago.

LEFENS, Thies Jacob:

Dealer in and owner of real estate; born in Hamburg, Germany, March 4, 1846; son of Jacob and Meta (Stremann) Lefens. He was educated in the schools of Germany. He was apprenticed to a produce merchant in his native place, at which business he served, 1861-1865, when he came to America and took up his residence in Chicago, Ill. He engaged in the produce commission business, which he carried on, 1865-1878, when he became the secretary and treasurer of the Seipp Brewing Company, remaining with the company until its interests were sold to the Chicago Consolidated Brewing and Malting Company, in 1902. He has since been engaged in the real estate business. He is president of the Traders' Insurance Company; vice-president of the South Side Elevated Railway Company and of the Auditorium Association, and a director in the Merchants' Loan and Trust Company. He is a member of the Chicago, Commercial, Tolleston, and German Männerchor Clubs. He married in Chicago, Feb. 12, 1878, Marie Seipp, and has four children. Residence: 2626 Michigan Avenue. Address: Teutonic Building, Chicago.

LEFFERTS, George Morewood:

Surgeon; born in Brooklyn, N. Y., Feb. 24, 1846. He attended the College of the City of New York, class of 1867; received the honorary degree of A.M. from Dickinson College, 1869; was graduated from the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York, M.D., 1870; honorary M.S., Columbia University, 1901. He was chief of clinic in the Imperial University of Vienna, 1872-1873; professor of laryngology at Columbia University, in 1876; and became emeritus professor in 1904. He is honorary fellow of the Laryngological Society of Berlin, 1901; Laryngological Society of London, 1894; fellow of the Academy of Medicine, New York; American editor of Internationales Centralblatt für Laryngologie (Berlin); formerly editor of The Archives of Laryngology, New York, and coeditor of Archives de Laryngologie (Paris); also collaborator in other professional publications and author of medical works. He is a member of the University and Riding Clubs. Dr. Leferts married at Albany, N. Y., 1891, Annie Cuyler Van Vechten. Address: 212 Madison Avenue, New York City.

LEFFINGWELL, Albert:

Physician, author; born in Aurora, N. Y., Feb. 13, 1845; son of Dr. Elisha and Jane (Jasekson) Leffingwell. He entered Hamilton College and received its honorary degree; taught seven years at the Polytechnic Institute, Brooklyn, N. Y., and was graduated from Long Island College Hospital, M.D., 1874. He was engaged in scientific and literary work in Europe from 1875-1879, and afterward for several years travelled. Dr. Leffingwell was one of the founders and proprietors of the Danville (N. Y.) Sanatorium, 1882-1888; founder and director of the Vivisection Reform Society; vice-president, 1889-1904, and president 1904-1905, of the American Humane Association; vice-president of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals; life member of the Long Island Historical Society. He has written much in favor of the legal regulation of vivisection. Dr. Leffingwell is author of: Rambles in Japan Without a Guide; Suicide in American Cities; Influence of Seasons upon Conduct; The Morality of London; Illegitimacy; Vivisection in America; The Vivisection Question; The Leffingwell Record; American Meat and the Public Health. He married, first, Dec. 23, 1871, Mary C. Hathaway, who died Sept. 28, 1886; and, second, Dec. 1, 1892, Elizabeth Fear, M.D., and has three sons. Address: Aurora, N. Y.

LE GALLIENNE, Richard:

Journalist and author; born in Liverpool, England, Jan. 20, 1866; son of John and Jane LeGallienne. He received his education in Liverpool College. He was engaged in commercial pursuits for several years, but afterward in journalism and literature in England and the United States. He is one of the most brilliant of the younger school of authors; has lately become a resident of New York and is a constant contributor to Harper's Monthly and other leading magazines. Mr. Le Gallienne is author of: My Ladies' Sonnets (privately printed), 1887; Volumes in Folio, 1888; George Meredith, 1888; George Meredith, 1890; The Book-Bills of Narcissus, 1891; English Poems, 1892; The Religion of a Literary Man, 1893; Prose Fancies, 1st series, 1894; Robert Louis Stevenson and Other Poems, 1895; Retrospective Review, 1896; Prose Fancies, 2d Series, 1896; The Quest of the Golden Girl, 1896; If I Were God, 1897; Omar Khayyam, a Paraphrase, 1897; The Romance of Zion Chapel, 1898; Young Lives, 1899; Worshipper of the Image, 1900; Travels in England, 1900; The Beautiful Lie of Rome, 1900; The Life Romantic, 1900; Sleeping Beauty, 1900; An Old Country House, 1902; Odes from the Divan of Hafiz, 1903; Painted Shadows, 1904; Little Dinners with the Sphinx, 1907. Edited an edition of Izaak Walton's "The Complete Angler." Hazlett's "Liber Amoris" and Hallam's Remains. He married, first, in 1891, Mildred Lee, who died in 1894, and second, in 1897, Julie Norregand. Address: 59 West 45th Street, New York City.

LEGARE, George S.:

Congressman and lawyer; born in Rockville, S. C., 1870. He was graduated with honors from the Porter Academy of Charleston, after which he attended the University of South Carolina for two years, then went to the Georgetown University Law School, Washington, D. C., from which he was graduated, LL.B., 1893. He has been engaged in the practice of law in Charleston since 1893; was elected corporation counsel of Charleston and held that position until 1902. In the latter year he was elected on the Democratic ticket from the First District of South Carolina to the Fifty-eighth Congress. He was reelected to the Fifty-ninth, and, in 1908 to the Sixty-first Congress, which he is now serving. Mr. Legare is married and has four children. Address: Charleston, S. C.

LEHMAN, George Mustin:

Civil engineer; born in Lebanon, Pa., May 13, 1862; son of Benjamin Brinhurst and Susanna (Mustin) Lehman. He was educated in the public schools and at the Episcopal Academy, Lebanon, Pa. Mr. Lehman was aid, assistant and topographer of the Geological Survey of Pennsylvania, 1882-1889. He was the chief assistant in engineering surveys for the extension of the Gettysburg and Harrisburg Railroad from Gettysburg, Pa., to Washington, D. C., and the Brooklyn, Bath and West End Railway, N. Y.; served on the topographic and geologic survey of Navassa Island, West Indies, making a relief map of the same, 1889-1890. He was engineer of location and construction of the Great Falls Water Power and Improvement Company's canal and town, (now Roanoke Rapids, N. C.), 1890-1893; was chief assistant engineer of the surveys for the ship canal from the Delaware River to Baritan Bay, in 1894; principal assistant engineer of the surveys for the Lake Erie and Ohio River Ship Canal, from Pittsburgh to Lake Erie, 1895-1896, and made inspection and report for the permanent United States U. S. Army camp sites, in Conewago Valley and at Somerset, Pa., 1896-1903. Mr. Lehman constructed a large relief map of Pittsburgh and vicinity for the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, for which he received a gold medal from the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, in 1904. He was engineer of the parks of Pittsburgh in 1905; since then an incorporator and the chief engineer of the Lake Erie and Ohio River Ship Canal Company. He is a member of the National Geographic Society, American Institute of Mining Engineers, Pennsylvania Forestry Association, Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, and engineer member and secretary of the Flood Commission of Pittsburgh; member of the Lebanon County Historical Society, Pittsburgh Sesqui-Centennial Committee, and the Civic Club of Pittsburgh. Mr. Lehman is a contributor to periodicals on scientific subjects. He married in Philadelphia, Nov. 12, 1891, Corinne May Stockton and they have one son. Residence: 4523 Center Avenue. Office: 1551 Frick Building Annex, Pittsburgh.

LEIGHTON, Joseph Alexander:

College professor and clergyman; born at Orangeville, Ont., Dec. 8, 1870; son of James and Jane (Speers) Leighton. He was educated at Orangeville High School, graduated from Trinity College, Toronto, B.A., with honors in science and philosophy, and received the governor general's medal in 1891; Sage scholar and fellow, in philosophy, 1891-1894, Cornell University Ph.D. in 1894, Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, Mass., B.D., 1896; student in Berlin and Erlangen Universities in Germany, 1897. He was assistant in Grace parish, New York City, 1896-1897; chaplain and professor of philosophy and psychology in Hobart College, since September, 1897. He has been University preacher since 1900 in Cornell University. He is author of many articles and reviews in philosophical journals, and of the books: Typical Modern Conceptions of God, 1901; Jesus Christ and the Civilization of To-day, 1907; The Field of Philosophy, 1909. Dr. Leighton is a member of the American Psychological Association, American Philosophical Association, Phi Beta Kappa Society, and of the Kanadassaga Club of Geneva, N. Y. He married in New York City, April 4, 1899, Victoria E. Paul, and they have two sons. Address: 630 South Main Street, Geneva, N. Y.

LEIGHTON, Marshall Ora:

Civil engineer; born in Corinna, Me., May 1, 1874; son of Llewellyn Morse Leighton and Annie (Stone) Leighton. He was educated in the public schools of Portland, Me., and Massachusetts Institute of Technology, B.S., 1896. He was superintendent of Health at Montclair, N. J., 1896-1902; was resident hydrographer, 1902-1903, chief of the Division of Hydro-Economics, 1903-1905, and has been chief hydrographer since 1906, of the U. S. Geological Survey. He also became consulting hydrographer of the U. S. Inland Waterways Commission in 1907; has been flood commissioner of the State of New Jersey since 1903, and was special expert of water investigations of the United States Reclamation Service, 1904-1906. His professional specialties are public hygiene, sewage disposal, water purification and economics and vital statistics relating thereto, and hydraulic engineering. He is author of: Papers on the Pecuniary Value of Life; Sewage Pollution in the Metropolitan Area; The Passaic Floods of 1902 and 1903; Sewage Pollution of Lake Champlain; Pollution of the Illinois and Mississippi Rivers; and Normal and Polluted Waters in the United States. He is an associate member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, member of the American Public Health Association, Washington Society of Engineers, New England Water Works Association, and of the University Club of Washington, D. C. Mr. Leighton married in Portland, Me., Oct. 1, 1896, Maud Augusta Hawkins, and they have one daughter. Residence: The Mendota. Office: U. S. Geological Survey, Washington, D. C.

LEISHMAN, John G. A.:

Ambassador; born in Pittsburgh, Pa., March 28, 1857. He was educated in the public schools of Pittsburgh. While still a boy he entered the office of Shoenberger and Company, iron and steel manufacturers. In 1881 he entered the iron and steel brokerage business at Pittsburgh with a partner, under the firm name of Leishman and Snyder, and a few years later entered the firm of Carnegie Brothers and Company as vice-president. Later, when that firm united with the other Carnegie interests under the name of the Carnegie Steel Company, he was elected president of that corporation, which position he held until June, 1897, when he resigned, in order to accept the position of envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to Switzerland. He held that position until 1901, when he was transferred to Constantinople, and in 1906 his office was raised to ambassadorial rank and he was appointed the first ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary to the court of the Sultan. Mr. Leishman, in his mission to the Golden Horn, has represented the Government in many complicated and difficult negotiations, which he has conducted with great skill. He married, in 1880, Julia Crawford, and they still have their home in Pittsburgh. Address: American Embassy, Constantinople, Turkey.

LELAND, Arthur S.:

Banker; born in Boston; son of Emerson and Mary A. (Seaver) Leland. He was educated in Chauncey Hall School and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is a member of the firm of Arthur S. Leland and Company, bankers and brokers, of New York City and Boston. Mr. Leland is a member of the New England Society and of the Ardsley, New York Athletic, and Republican Clubs of New York City, and the Algonquin Club of Boston. Residence: Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. Office: 40 Exchange Place, New York City.

LELAND, Lester:

Capitalist; vice-president and director of the Meyer Rubber Company of New Brunswick, N. J.; president and director of the American Commerce Company, New York; vice-president and director of the Rubber Goods Manufacturing Company, New York; 2d vice-president, director and member of the Executive Committee of the United States Rubber Company; vice-president and member of Executive Committee of the General Rubber Company; director of the American Dunlop Tire Company, Goodyear India Rubber Glove Manufacturing Company, Mechanical Rubber Company, Peerless Rubber Manufacturing Company. Single Tube Automobile and Bicycle Tire Company, all of New York; and also director and member of Executive Committee of the American Trust Company; director of the American Rubber Company, Atlantic Coast Lumber Corporation, Georgetown, S. C.; Boston Rubber Company, Georgetown and Western Railroad, Industrial Mutual Insurance Company, New York Belting and Packing Company (Limited), State National Bank; also the United States Rubber Company (Limited), Wm. Symington and Company (Limited), and Peerless Rubber Manufacturing Company (Limited) of London; the Fabric Fire Hose Company, the Goodyear Metallic Rubber Shoe Company, Hartford Rubber Works Company, L. Candee and Company, all of Connecticut; the G. and J. Tire Company, and Indianapolis Rubber Company, of Indiana; India Rubber Company, of New Jersey; Lycoming Rubber Company, of Pennsylvania; Morgan and Wright Company, of Michigan; Sawyer Belting Company, of Ohio; Stoughton Rubber Company, and Bay State Rubber Company, of Massachusetts; treasurer, general manager and director of the Boston Rubber Shoe Company. Address: 101 Milk Street, Boston.

LELAND, Lorenzo:

Banker, lawyer; born in Ottawa, Ill., Oct. 17, 1852; son of Lorenzo and Martha (Holbrook) Leland. He was educated in Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., and Yale College. He was admitted to the bar of Illinois in 1876; practised law and was city clerk in El Dorado, Kan., 1877-1880; practised law at Ottawa, Ill., 1880-1893; became president of the First National Bank of Ottawa in 1894, and still holds that position. He is vice-president of the King and Hamilton Manufacturing Company; and treasurer and director of the Ottawa Building Home-stead and Savings Association. He traveled in Mexico, China, Japan, the Hawaiian Islands and in Europe. He is a trustee of the Ottawa Township High School. Mr. Leland married in Ottawa, Ill., Oct. 9, 1878, Fannie C. Hamilton, and they have one son. Address: Ottawa, Ill.

LENIHAN, Mathias C.:

Catholic bi-hop of Great Falls; born at Dubuque, Iowa, Oct. 6, 1854; son of Edmund and Mary (Donavan) Lenihan. He was educated in the Grand Seminary, Montreal; received minor orders from Bishop Hennessy of Dubuque; was ordained deacon by Archbishop Bourget of Montreal, and priest by Bishop Lefevre of Montreal. He was consecrated, by Most Rev. J. J. Keane, D.D., archbishop of Dubuque, at Dubuque Cathedral, Sept. 21, 1904, bishop of Great Falls. Address: Great Falls, Mont.

LEONARD, Edgar Cotrell:

Merchant; born in Albany, N. Y., May 28, 1862; son of Daniel and Mary E. (Cotrell) Leonard. He was educated in the public schools, the Albany Boys' Academy and Williams College, B.A., 1886. In 1887 he became a member of the firm of Cotrell and Leonard, whose business was established by his maternal grandfather in 1832. He is a director and treasurer of the Albany Safe Deposit Company, and of the Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Albany, N. Y. Mr. Leonard served five years in the National Guard of New York; and is a member of the Albany Water-front Improvement Commission. He is a Presbyterian; director (president, 1899-1904) of the Young Men's Christian Association and a member of its State Committee, and a director of the Auburn Theological Seminary. He is a member of the American Civic Association, National Geographic Society, American Institute of Mining Engineers, the Albany Historical and Art Society; is a Mason, a member of the Delta Psi fraternity, Sons of the Revolution, Society of Colonial Wars, and is president of Albany Chapter of the Society of Mayflower Descendants. He is also a member of the University, Fort Orange, Country, and Polo Clubs of Albany, and The Sanctum, of Litchfield, Conn. He married in Albany, Oct. 15, 1890, Bessie Woolworth, and they have two daughters. Residence: 44 Willett Street. Office: 472 Broadway, Albany, N. Y.

LEONARD Gardner Cotrell:

Merchant and manufacturer; born in West Springfield, Mass., Oct. 16, 1865; son of Daniel and Mary Elizabeth (Cotrell) Leonard. He was graduated from Albany Academy, 1882, Williams College, A.B., 1887 (with philosophical oration and election to Phi Beta Kappa Society). He has been since 1888 with Cotrell and Leonard, of Albany, and a partner since 1890. Mr. Leonard was the originator and director of the Intercollegiate Bureau of Academic Costume, incorporated by the Regents of the University of the State of New York in 1902. He served in the New York National Guard, 1888-1893, including service at Buffalo during the strike of 1892. He is director of the Mutual Fire Insurance Company. Mr. Leonard is a member of the Albany Institute and Historical and Art Society (formerly vice-president); editor of Songs of Williams, 1898; member of the Society of Colonial Wars, Sons of the Revolution, Williams Alumni Association of Northern New York (formerly president), and he is a Mason. He is a member of the University Club of New York City; of the University, Fort Orange, Albany, Country and Unconditional Clubs of Albany, and of the Delta Psi fraternity. Mr. Leonard married in Albany, N. Y., Feb. 18, 1903, Grace Watson Sutherland, and they have a son and a daughter. Address: 42 Willett Street, Albany, N. Y.

LEONARD, William Andrew:

Bishop of Ohio; born at Southport, Conn., July 15, 1848; son of William Boardman and Louisa (Bulkeley) Leonard. His early ancestors came to Taunton, Mass., in 1653. He was educated in Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., St. Stephen's College, Annandale, N. Y., B.A.; Berkeley Divinity School, Middletown, Conn., B.D.; and he received the degree of D.D. from Washington and Lee University 1885, and from St. Stephen's College, 1888. He was ordered deacon in the Episcopal Church in 1871 and ordained to the priesthood by Bishop Williams in 1873. After entering the ministry he became assistant at Holy Trinity Church, Brooklyn; and in 1873 was made rector of the Church of the Redeemer, Brooklyn. After nine years of activity he was called to the rectorship of St. John's Parish, Washington, D. C., serving until 1889, when he was elected Bishop of Ohio. He was consecrated by Bishops Williams, Whipple, Doane, Whitehead, Paret, Vincent and Courtney (of Nova Scotia), in St. Thomas' Church, New York, Oct. 12, 1889. He is president of trustees of Kenyon College; member of the University and Church Clubs of Cleveland; Society of Colonial Wars, and is chaplain of the Ohio Society of New York. He is author of: Via Sacra, or Footprints of Christ, 1875; Brief History of the Christian Church (sixth edition), 1882; A Faithful Life: The Witness of the American Church to Pure Christianity (Bedell Lectures, 1893); and Church Club Lectures of New York. Bishop Leonard married in Brooklyn, April 17, 1873, Sarah L. Sullivan. Address: 3054 Euclid Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio.

LESTER, George Bacon:

Lawyer; born in Seneca Falls, N. Y., July 12, 1872; son of Elias and Caroline (Foote) Lester. He was educated in Mynderse Academy, and was graduated from New York Law School as LL.B. He is director and general counsel of Fleischmann Manufacturing Company; general counsel of The Fleischmann Company. He is a member of the Law Institute and Association of the Bar of the City of New York. Mr. Lester is a member of the Apawamis Club of Rye, N. Y., of the Orange County Golf, Auburn City, and Auburn Country Clubs; of the Lotos, City, and St. Nicholas Clubs, and Down Town Association of New York, and the Manhasset Bay Yacht Club of Port Washington, L. I. He married Josephine Knapp. Address: 34 West Tenth Street, New York City.

LESTER, James Westcott:

Lawyer; born in Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Sept. 8, 1859; son of Charles Smith and Lucy L. (Cooke) Lester. He was educated in the Union Classical Institute, Union College, A.B., 1881, and Columbia College Law School. He served in the National Guard of New York, entering as private, in the Twenty-second Separate Company, Nov. 25, 1884; promoted sergeant, Jan. 24, 1885; captain, Jan. 15, 1892; became major of the Second Regiment, Nov. 18, 1898; lieutenant-colonel, March 31, 1899; colonel of the Second Regiment, Dec. 11, 1903. He served in the United States Army as major of the Second Regiment, New York Volunteers, May 2, 1898, to Oct. 25, 1898. Colonel Lester is a member of the firm of C. S. and C. C. Lester; secretary of the United States Hotel Company, member of the New York State Bar Association, and of the Saratoga and Elks' Clubs of Saratoga Springs, N. Y., and Army and Navy Club of New York City. He married in Saratoga Springs, June 13, 1888, Bertha North Dowd, and they have four sons. Address: Saratoga Springs, N. Y.

LETCHWORTH, Ogden Pearl:

Manufacturer and merchant; born in Auburn, N. Y., 1851; son of George J. and Charlotte Pearl (Letchworth). He was educated in the Auburn High School and Williston Seminary. Mr. Letchworth is president of the Pratt and Letchworth Company, United States Home Company; vice-president of the Frazer and Jones Company, and the Solvey Foundry Company; director of the Great Lake Engineering Works, Manufacturers' and Traders' Bank, Erie County Savings Bank, Lumber Insurance Company, and the Adirondack Fire Insurance Company. Mr. Letchworth is a member of the Lodge of Ancient Landmarks; trustee of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, Buffalo Historical Society, Wyoming Benevolent Institute, the Buffalo, Ellicott, Country Park, and Buffalo Yacht Clubs of Buffalo; Royal Canadian Yacht Club of Toronto; Transportation Club of New York City, the Brantford Club of Brantford, Ont., and Hamilton Club of Hamilton, Ont. He married in Buffalo, 1876, Laura Strong, and they have one daughter. Address: Buffalo, N. Y.

LEVENTRITT, David:

Jurist; born in Winnsboro, S. C., Jan. 31, 1845; son of George M. and Betty Leventritt. He was graduated from the Free Academy of New York City as salutatorian in 1864; and then took a law course in New York University. He was admitted to the bar in 1871 and engaged chiefly in commercial litigation and as counsel for corporations; also special counsel to the city of New York in condemnation proceedings, until he was elected, in 1898, as justice of the Supreme Court of the First District, for the term expiring Dec. 31, 1912. Judge Leventritt is director of Mt. Sinai Hospital, St. Mark's Hospital, Lebanon Hospital, Hebrew Orphan Asylum, Montefiore Home, Hebrew Technical Institute, Home for Aged and Infirm, Educational Alliance, Guild for Crippled Children and the Young Men's Hebrew Association. He married, in 1868, Matilda Lit. Address: 34 West 77th Street, New York City.

LEVER, Ashbury Francis:

Congressman and lawyer; born in Springhill, Lexington County, S. C.; son of Washington and Elvira (Derrick) Lever. He was graduated from Newberry College, with the honors of his class in 1895. After graduation he taught school until he was selected as the private secretary to the late Hon. J. William Stokes, whom he succeeds in Congress. He graduated in law from the Georgetown University, 1899, and the same year was admitted to practice in his State by the Supreme Court. He was a member of the State Democratic Conventions in 1896 and 1900, and in 1900 was elected to the State Legislature from Lexington County, holding that position until his resignation to enter the race to fill the unexpired term of the Hon. J. William Stokes in the Fifty-seventh Congress, and he was reelected to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses, from the Seventh South Carolina District. Address: Lexington, S. C.

LEVERETT, Frank:

Geologist; born in Denmark, Iowa, March 10, 1859; son of Ebenezer Turner and Rowena (Houston) Leverett. He was educated in the Iowa State College of Agriculture and Mechanical Science, 1884-1885, and received the degree of B.S. from that institution. He entered the U. S. Geological Survey in 1886, and was successively promoted, being appointed geologist in 1901, which position he still holds. He was appointed lecturer in geology in the University of Michigan, in 1908. He is a specialist in the study of glacial formations, having devoted twenty-four years almost entirely to this study in the northern, central and eastern States and a year in Europe. He has also prepared professional papers for the U. S. Geological Survey on the water resources of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Michigan, and various monographs on glacial formations. He is a member of the American Association for Advancement of Science; fellow of the Geological Society of America, fellow of State Academies of Science in Iowa, Wisconsin and Michigan; member of the Geological Society of Washington, National Geographic Society, American Forestry Association. Mr. Leverett married at Denmark, Iowa, Dec. 18, 1895, Dorothy C. Park. Address: 312 North Thayer Street, Ann Arbor, Mich.

LEVERMORE, Charles Herbert:

President of Adelphi College; born in Mansfield, Conn., Oct. 15, 1856; son of Rev. Aaron Russell and Mary Gay (Skinner) Levermore. He was graduated from Yale College, B.A., 1879, and from Johns Hopkins University, Ph.D., 1886. President Levermore is a member of the American Historical Association, Board of Trustees of Adelphi College, the New England Society of Brooklyn, Adelphi Academy, Hackley School and a member of the Century, Delta Kappa Epsilon, the Yale Club of New York City, and the University Club of Brooklyn. He married at New Haven, Conn., Sept. 4, 1884, Mettie Norton Tuttle, and they have five children. Address: 30 St. James Place, Brooklyn, N. Y.

LEVEY, Edgar J.:

President of the Title Insurance Company of New York; born in New York City, Nov. 4, 1863; son of Isaac and Anne E. (Lemon) Levey. He was graduated from Columbia University as A.B., 1883, and from Columbia Law School as LL.B. in 1886. For several years after leaving college, he was engaged in journalism, making a specialty of musical criticism. In 1891 he became secretary to the comptroller in the Department of Finance of New York City; was appointed assistant deputy comptroller in 1893, and deputy comptroller in 1899. He served many years as secretary of the Sinking Fund Commission of New York City. His magazine articles on the New York Sinking Funds caused the thorough-going reformation which this branch of New York's finance has recently received. In 1899 he was appointed by Theodore Roosevelt, then governor of New York, as a member of the commission to revise the Greater New York Charter; appointed by Mayor McClellan, in 1905, chairman of the commission on Taxation and Finance, having for its object reformation of New York City's finances. The legislative recommendations of the commission in regard to uncollectable arrears of taxes were enacted by the State Legislature in 1906. In 1902, with John D. Crimmins, Charles T. Barney, James A. Deering and others, he organized the Title Insurance Company of New York and the New York Mortgage and Security Company, of which corporation he is president. He is regarded as a leading authority on matters of municipal finance. Mr. Levey is also a director of the Knickerbocker Trust Company, and the Century Realty Company; vice-president of the Chelsea Realty Company; president of the Lawyers', Engineering and Surveying Company; director of the Bush Terminal Company, and chairman of the Tuberculosis Committee of Charity Organization Society. He is a member of the Manhattan, Columbia University, and Brooklyn Yacht Clubs. Mr. Levey married, first, Julia P. Harrison, who died Feb. 24, 1904; and second, Amelia H. Speed. Address: 135 Broadway, New York City.

LEVY, Charles Emanuel:

Banker and cotton merchant; born in Lexington, Miss., Sept. 20, 1860; son of Moses and Rosa (Hertz) Levy. He was graduated from the College of the City of New York, B.S. He was on the Board of Education of the State of Louisiana for ten years. Mr. Levy is now a member of the firm of M. Levy and Sons. He is president and director of the Interstate Securities Company; director of the Borough Bank of Brooklyn, the Guardian Trust Company, the Gulf and Chicago Railroad, the Mobile, Jackson and Kansas City Railroad Company, The Oriental Bank and the Union Trust Company of New Jersey. Mr. Levy is a member of many Clubs in New Orleans. Residence: Hargrave Hotel. Office: 30 Broad Street, New York City.

LEWI, Emily:

Physician; born in New York City in 1867; daughter of David and Julia (Seaman) Lewi. She was educated in public schools, then prepared for college in Mrs. Brackett's School, was graduated from Vassar College, A.B., 1888, with honors, and from the Woman's Medical College of New York Infirmary, M.D., 1891. Dr. Lewi was house physician at the Babies' Hospital, 1891-1892, and after that worked in various clinics, and published several articles in various medical magazines; and she has read papers before the New York Academy of Medicine. Among her more notable publications are those on The Milk Supply of New York, and on the Quantitative Estimation of Fat in Mother's Milk. She is a member of the New York Academy of Medicine, New York County Medical Society, the Woman's Medical Association, Woman's University Club, and the State Federation of Woman's Clubs of New York. Address: 35 Mt. Morris Park, West New York City.

LEWI, Maurice J.:

Physician; born in Albany, N. Y., Dec. 1, 1857; son of Joseph and Bertha (Schwartz) Lewi. He attended Albany High School, Albany Medical College, Heidelberg and Vienna Universities. He was formerly a teacher at Albany Medical College, and was professor of medical jurisprudence in Albany Law School; is ex-president of the Albany County Medical Society, and of the Northern Medical Association; ex-president of the New York Alumni Association of Albany Medical College; and is now, and for the past sixteen years, has been secretary of the New York State Board of Medical Examiners. Dr. Lewi is a member of the Board of Governors of the Albany Society of New York, and member of the Yonkers City Club and the Union University Club of New York City. Summer residence: Far Rockaway, N. Y. Address: 1133 Broadway, New York City.

LEWIS, Arthur Franklin:

Clergyman; born in Trumbull Conn., Feb. 29, 1872; son of Frank B. and Georgia F. (Ambler) Lewis. He was graduated from Yale, B.A., 1892; was ordered deacon in 1896 and ordained priest the same year by Bishop Brewer in the Episcopal ministry. He was formerly in charge of St. Andrew's Church at Phillipsburg, Mont., 1896-1897; at St. Andrew's, Centerville, Butte, Mont., 1897-1898; in charge of the church at Delaware City, 1898-1900; rector of All Saints' Church, Leonia, N. J., 1900-1903, and of the church at Unionville, Conn., since 1903. He is vice-president of the Board of Managers of the Masonic Home at Wallingford, Conn. He married at Bridgeport, Conn., June 2, 1896, Edith Kaynor Thompson, and they have one son, George Birdseye Lewis, born Sept. 20, 1897. Address: Unionville, Conn.

LEWIS, Charles L.:

Jurist; born in Ottawa, Ill., March 8, 1852. He was prepared for college in the Ottawa High School and the old University of Chicago, and was graduated from Oberlin College, A.B., 1876. He studied law in Chicago, and after his admission to the Illinois bar, removed to Minnesota, practised at Fergus Falls and afterward at Duluth, and was elected, in 1892, judge of the District Court for the Eleventh Judicial District of Minnesota, serving a term, and in 1898 was elected on the Republican ticket to the Supreme Court of Minnesota, in which he is still serving as associate justice. Address: 62 South Dale Street, St. Paul, Minn.

LEWIS, Daniel:

Physician; born at Alfred, N. Y., Jan. 17, 1846; son of Alfred and Lucy (Langworthy) Lewis. He was graduated from Alfred University, A.B., 1869, and received its degree of A.M., 1872, Ph.D., 1886, and LL.D., 1902. He was also graduated from the College of Physicians and Surgeons (Columbia), M.D., 1871. He served in the U. S. Navy, 1864-1865; was commissioner of health for the State of New York; medical director of the Grand Army of the Republic, Department of New York, 1888; and president of the American Congress of Tuberculosis. He is editor and proprietor of the Medical Review of Reviews. Dr. Lewis is a fellow of the New York Academy of Medicine; member of the New York Physicians' Mutual Aid Association, Society of Medical Jurisprudence, Medical Society of the County of New York, Medical Society of the State of New York, and the Republican and Union League Clubs. He married, in 1872, Aelsah D. Vaughan. Residence: Spuyten Duyvil, N. Y. Office: 616 Madison Avenue, New York City.

LEWIS, Daniel F.:

Railway official; born in Brooklyn, March 28, 1849. He was educated in the public schools, was in the service of the Brooklyn City Railway for many years and its president, 1886-1895, also president of the Brooklyn Heights Railway Company, the Knickerbocker Steamboat Company, the Bay Ridge Park Improvement Company, and interested as officer and director in the U. S. Title Guaranty and Indemnity Company, New York and Long Island Realty Company, Equity Land and Development Company, Brooklyn and Canarsie Realty Company, Canarsie and Jamaica Bay Ferry Company, Canarsie Amusement Company, and the Brooklyn and Rockaway Beach Railroad Company. Mr. Lewis is a member of the Hamilton, Crescent Athletic, Brooklyn, and Park Driving Clubs. Residence: Hempstead, Long Island, N. Y. Office address: 180 Montague Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

LEWIS, Franklin Crocker:

Superintendent of the Ethical Culture Schools; born in Centerville, Cape Cod, Mass., 1877; son of Joseph Freeman and Emma Caroline (Hinekey) Lewis. He received his education in the Barnstable High School, at Hyannis, Mass., was graduated from Dartmouth College, A.B., 1900, and from Harvard College, A.M., 1901. He was instructor of mathematics and science at Hanover High School during his senior year in college, 1900; took a European trip in the summer of 1900; at Harvard as a graduate student, 1900-1902; instructor in pedagogy at Dartmouth, 1902-1906; assistant superintendent of the Ethical Culture Schools, Feb. to July, 1906; and superintendent of same since July, 1906. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa Society and Chi Phi fraternity. Mr. Lewis married at Denver, Colo., June 20, 1903, Ellen Anderson, and they have two daughters. Address: 33 Central Park West, New York City.

LEWIS, G. Griffin:

Physician; born at Avoca, N. Y., Dec. 17, 1865; son of Sylvester and Margaret E. (Clute) Lewis. He attended Worcester Academy at Worcester, Mass., and Union University (Medical Department); and took post-graduate courses in Paris, Berlin and New York. He practises as oculist, aurist, rhinologist and laryngologist; is oculist to the Hospital of the Good Shepherd, to the Syracuse Free Dispensary, oculist and aurist to St. Mary's Maternity Hospital, St. Vincent's Asylum, the House of Providence, and to the Syracuse public schools; special United States pension examiner, and oculist and aurist to the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad. He is a member of the American Medical Association, New York State Medical Society, Western New York Medical Society and the Onondaga County Medical Society; fellow of the American Academy of Ophthalmology and Otolaryngology and of the Syracuse Academy of Medicine, and member of the Association of United States Pension Examining Surgeons. He is also a member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity, and of the Citizens' Club of Syracuse. Dr. Lewis married at Syracuse, Feb. 6, 1896, Marian Foster Argersinger, and they have two children. Residence: 308 Waverly Avenue. Office: 600 University Block, Syracuse, N. Y.

LEWIS, John Frederick:

Lawyer; born in Philadelphia, Sept. 10, 1860; son of S. Weir and Caroline A. (Kalbfus) Lewis. He was graduated with highest honors from Central High School, A.B., 1879, and received the degree of A.M. from same in 1884; studied law under Hon. George M. Dallas, and was admitted to the bar in 1882; practised with Hon. Charles Gibbons & Son in the courts of Admiralty. He is president of the Mercantile Library Company of Philadelphia, treasurer of the Genealogical Society of Pennsylvania; author of monograph, Genealogical Obstacles Considered; president of the Young American Humane Union; honorary curator of the Prints and president of the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts; author of several monographs on the art of engraving: Schrottblätter; Teigdrücke; William Hogarth, etc. Mr. Lewis is president of the Philadelphia Skating Club and Humane Society; one of the vice-presidents and member of the Council of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania; librarian and member of the Numismatic and Antiquarian Society of Philadelphia, and is author of a History of Skating. He is a director of the Farmers' and Mechanics' National Bank of Philadelphia; was one of the organizers and is solicitor of the Philadelphia Bourse; solicitor for the Philadelphia Maritime Exchange; vice-president of Philadelphia Trans-Atlantic Line; solicitor of the Northern Home for Friendless Children; secretary of the Pennsylvania Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, member of the Archaeological Department of the University of Pennsylvania, and one of the advisory managers and member of the Philadelphia Country Club, Farmers' Club of Chester County, Franklin Institute, and Merion Cricket Club. He has held the office of U. S. Commissioner for many years, and his practice as a lawyer is chiefly in admiralty and maritime cases, upon which branch of the law he is special lecturer at the University of Pennsylvania. He married in Philadelphia, May 23, 1895, Anne H. Rush Baker, daughter of Alfred G. and Henrietta Rush (Fales) Baker. Residence: (winter), 1914 Spruce Street, (summer) Morstein, Chester County, Pa. Address: 622 Bourse Building, Philadelphia.

LEWIS, Margaret Cameron:

Author; born in Ottawa, Ill., 1867; daughter of Alexander T. and Nancy A. (Nelson) Cameron. She was educated in the public schools of Santa Barbara, Calif., the San Francisco School of Design; and under private tutors. She married in New York City, Sept. 16, 1903, Harrison Cass

Lewis. From 1876 to 1884 she lived in Santa Barbara, Calif., then in Oakland, Calif., until 1903; since then in New York City. She was a teacher of piano and accompanist while in California until she began writing in 1899, and was associated with many musical organizations and with The Spinners, and she is now a member of the National Arts Club of New York City. Mrs. Lewis who uses her maiden name "Margaret Cameron" as a pen-name is author of: The Involuntary Chaperon, The Cat and the Canary, and The Bachelor and the Baby, (all Harpers); Comedies in Miniature (McClure, Phillips & Co.); also The Kleptomaniac, The Burglar, The Piper's Pay and The Teeth of the Gift Horse (S. French), and many short stories in Harper's magazine. Address: 567 West 113th Street, New York City.

LEWIS, Merton Elmer:

Lawyer; born in Webster, Monroe County, N. Y., Dec. 10, 1861; son of Charles Chadwick and Rhoda Ann (Willard) Lewis. He was educated in the Webster Union School. He has practised law continuously since his admission to the bar in 1887 and is now a member of the law firm of Lewis and McKay. He was elected alderman of the city of Rochester, 1890; member of the New York State Constitutional Convention, 1894; president of the Common Council of Rochester, 1893-1895; acting mayor of the city of Rochester, 1895; a member of the Assembly of New York State in 1896, 1898, 1899 and 1900; a member of the Senate of New York State in 1901, 1902, 1903, 1904 and 1905, was Republican nominee for State comptroller of New York in 1906. He is a Mason, Knight of Pythias and a member of the Masonic Club. Mr. Lewis married, first, at Webster, N. Y., Jan. 2, 1886, Adaline Louise Moody, who died June, 1894, and second, at Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 8, 1899, Eva J. Gates, and he has four children: Address: Rochester, N. Y.

LEWIS, Richard Anthony:

Retired merchant; born in Worcester County, Mass., Sept. 14, 1830; son of Thomas and Betsey Eddy (Anthony) Lewis. He was educated in the common schools. Mr. Lewis is president of the Mercantile Beneficial Association; treasurer and director of New Church Book Association; secretary and manager of the House of Refuge, and director of the Delaware Insurance Company of Philadelphia. He is a member of the New England Society of Pennsylvania, the Union League Club of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania Historical Society, Philadelphia Museum and Industrial Art Association, Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts. He married in Providence, R. I., March 7, 1855, Sarah Patterson Hail, and they have had seven children, two of whom are deceased. Residence: 1909 Green Street. Office: 902 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia.

LEWIS, Richard V.:

Merchant; born in Wales, Dec. 23, 1841; son of Richard Vaughan and Elizabeth Vaughan (born Lewis). He received his education in the Mechanics' Institute School of New York City. He entered the employ of J. and C. Berrian in 1856; succeeded as partner, with Henry C. Conger to the business in 1868, and is now president of the firm of Lewis and Conger. Mr. Lewis enlisted as a private in the Ninth Regiment of the New York Volunteer Infantry and served until the close of the Civil War, 1862-1865. He is a member of the Grand Army of the Republic, and of the Republican Club. He married in England in 1883, Miriam Ellis, and they have six children. Residence: Irvington-on-Hudson, N. Y. Office: 130-132 West 42d Street, New York City.

LEWIS, Robert, Jr.:

Physician, otologist and rhinologist; born in New York City, March 8, 1862; son of Robert and Catherine (Monks) Lewis. He received his education in private and public schools of New York City; the College of the City of New York; the College of Physicians and Surgeons (Medical Department of Columbia University), M.D., 1885. He was on the house staff of Randall's Island Hospitals, 1885-1886; first house surgeon of the Harlem Branch of Bellevue Hospital, 1887; and in general practice in Harlem, 1888-1892. He was appointed assistant surgeon in the New York Eye and Ear Infirmary in 1889; and surgeon in the Aural Department of the same since 1901; clinical assistant in the Department of Otology, in the Vanderbilt Clinic, College of Physicians and Surgeons, 1888-1896; instructor in the same and chief of clinic, 1896-1908; professor of clinical otology, 1908. He associated with Dr. Albert H. Buck (retired in 1902) in 1892 and has been engaged since then in the special practice of otology and rhinology. Dr. Lewis was visiting aurist to Randall Island Hospital; is now consulting aurist to Flushing and St. Francis' Hospitals. He was delegate from the New York County Medical Society to the State Medical Society in 1900 and 1901; censor in 1901; second vice-president in 1902; member of the council and Executive Committee of the Alumni Association of the College of Physicians and Surgeons. He is a contributor to The Reference Handbook of the Medical Sciences of articles on: The Mastoid Operations; Affections of the Auricle; Anatomy and Physiology of the Auricle; to the American Practice of Surgery on Surgical Diseases and Wounds of the Ear; the chapter on Affections of the Nasal Cavities and Vault of the Pharynx in Buck's Treatise on Diseases of the Ear; also a contributor to the journals on otological subjects. He is a member of the New York Otological Society, American Otological Society, American Rhinological, Laryngological and Otological Society, American Medical Association, New York Academy of Medicine, New York County, and State Medical Societies, Hospital Graduates' Club, American Society of Moral Prophylaxis, Public Health Defence League, National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, Harvey Society, Xi Graduates' Chapter, Phi Gamma Delta; and of the Columbia University, Sound Beach Golf and Country Clubs, The Phi Gamma Delta Club and the Laurentian Club. Dr. Lewis married in New York City in 1892, Lillie B. Graham, and they have three children. Country Residence: Sound Beach, Conn. Residence: 48 West 40th Street, New York City.

LEWIS, Robert Edgar:

Jurist; born in Cass County, Mo., April 3, 1857; son of Warner and Sarah M. (Griffith) Lewis. He received his education in Westminster College, Mo.; was admitted to the bar, and practised law at Clinton, Mo., until 1897. He was prosecuting attorney of Henry County, Mo., 1883-1887; Republican candidate for governor of Missouri, 1896; removed to Colorado and became judge of the Fourth Judicial District of that State in 1903, serving until appointed by President Roosevelt, in November, 1906, judge of the District Court of the United States, for the District of Colorado. He married in Clinton, Mo., May, 13, 1885, Ella C. Avery. Residence: 1118 Downing Avenue. Address: Federal Building, Denver, Col.

LEWIS, Willis L.:

Lawyer; born in Potter County, Pa., in 1852. He was graduated from Alfred University, Ph.D., 1876; studied law under Olmsted and Larrabee and was admitted to the bar of Potter and McKean Counties, Pa., in 1878. He opened an office at Duke Center, McKean County, and practised there till 1882, when he went to Coudersport, Potter County, and there in 1883 became a partner of his preceptor, Hon. D. C. Larrabee. Mr. Larrabee died in 1889, and in 1892 Mr. Lewis entered into partnership with F. C. Leonard, former U. S. marshal of the Middle District of Pennsylvania. In 1894 Potter and Clinton Counties indorsed his name as a candidate for Congress, but after a deadlock of two months he and his opponent withdrew from the contest, and his partner, Mr. F. C. Leonard was nominated and elected. In September, 1906, Mr. Lewis became general counsel for the Tidewater Pipe Company (Limited). He formed a partnership with A. F. Jones and R. R. Lewis, who carry on the business at Coudersport, Mr. W. I. Lewis being in New York City a large part of the time. Address: Coudersport, Pa.

LIEB, John William, Jr.:

Electrical engineer; born in Newark, N. J., Feb. 12, 1860. He was graduated from Stevens Institute of Technology, M.E., 1880. He entered the employ of the Edison Electric Light Company, N. Y., in 1881, and in 1882 was put in charge by Mr. Edison of the installation of the electrical equipment of the historic Pearl Street Station. He was sent by Mr. Edison, in 1882, to superintend the installation of the Milan Edison plant, of which he became director and chief engineer of the company, in general charge of its technical department, engaged in the manufacture of electrical apparatus and the constructing and operating of lighting and power plants in Italy; returned to the service of Edison Electric Illuminating Company of New York in 1894, advancing to third vice-president and general manager. On the consolidation of the various lighting interests in New York City, under the corporate name of The New York Edison Company, appointed to third vice-president and associate general manager. He is president of the Electrical Testing Laboratories and director in several electrical corporations. He is past president of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers; vice-president of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers; member of the American Society of Civil Engineers; past president of the Association of Edison Illuminating Companies and the New York Electrical Society; member of the Associazione Elettrotecnica Italiana, Franklin Institute, Philadelphia and Engineers' Club. Address: 869 West End Avenue, New York City.

LIGGETT, Sidney B.:

Secretary of the Pennsylvania Lines West of Pittsburgh; born on Fifth Avenue, Pittsburgh, May 10, 1849; son of John Liggett and Catherine (Hutton) Liggett. He was educated in public schools and Western University of Pennsylvania, Pittsburgh. He is a member of the Board of Managers of Pennsylvania Society, Sons of the Revolution, and a member of the Society of Colonial Wars of Pennsylvania. He married in Pittsburgh, Nov. 15, 1870, Emma Catherine Stevenson, and they have four children: Dudley S., Sidney S., Mrs. Laura Liggett Suydam, and John D. Address: Morewood Place, Pittsburgh, Pa.

LILLIS, Thomas F.:

Catholic bishop; born in Lexington, Mo., March 3, 1862; son of James and Margaret (Jordan) Lillis. He was graduated from Niagara University, then took the divinity course in St. Benedict's College at Atchison, Kan., and was ordained to the priesthood in 1885. He served in pastorates in the Diocese of Leavenworth, and Dec. 27, 1904 was consecrated bishop of Leavenworth. Address: 1228 Sandusky Street, Leavenworth, Kan.

LINCOLN, Charles Z.:

Lawyer; born in Grafton, Vt., Aug. 5, 1848; son of Pratt and Harriet (Whitecomb) Lincoln. He was educated in the schools of Vermont and East Otto, N. Y., and in the Chamberlain Institute, Randolph, N. Y. He was teaching, 1867-1872; began the study of law, first, in 1871, with Joseph R. Jewell, at Little Valley, N. Y., and afterwards with Hon. Charles S. Cary at Olean, N. Y.; was admitted to the bar at Rochester, April 10, 1874; practised at Little Valley, 1874-1894, and the following six years was chairman of the New York Statutory Revision Commission and legal advisor to Governors Morton, Black and Roosevelt. He opened an office in Albany in November, 1901, and continued practice until 1904. In January, 1901, he began collecting material for a Constitutional History of New York, which was published in 1906. In July, 1905, he was appointed editor of the governor's messages, under the new law providing for an annotated edition of the governor's communications to the legislature from the organization of the Colonial Assembly in 1683, to and including 1904, and is still engaged on that work. Mr. Lincoln, in 1893, wrote the History of the Bench and Bar of Cattaraugus County and he is a contributor to legal and other periodicals. He is also the author of a recent book on: The Fundamentals of American Government, including the four great documents on which American institutions are founded: Magna Charta, the Declaration of Independence, the Articles of Confederation, and the Constitution of the United States; and also the statutes relating to naturalization and expatriation, with an introduction and explanatory notes. The book is designed primarily for the use of foreigners intending to become American citizens. He was lay delegate to the Methodist Episcopal General Conference, at Los Angeles, Calif., 1904; has been president, trustee and attorney of the Village of Little Valley; was for seven years a member of the Board of Education; supervisor, 1886-1889; delegate to the Constitutional Convention, 1894, serving as a member of the committee on apportionment, privileges and elections and civil service. He married in East Otto, Nov. 12, 1874, Lu-setta Bonsteel and they have one son. Address: 103 South Swan Street, Albany, N. Y.

LINCOLN, Joseph Crosby:

Author; born in Brewster, Mass., Feb. 13, 1870; son of Joseph and Emily (Crosby) Lincoln. He attended schools at Brewster and at Chelsea, Mass., and was afterward bookkeeper for the Somerville Desk Company, of Boston, 1894-1895; but left there to study illustration with Henry Sandham, the Boston artist. Mr. Lincoln was assistant editor of the Bulletin of the League of American Wheelman, 1896-1899; and then began writing verse and short sketches, mostly of a humorous nature; came to New York as a free lance in July, 1899. He is author of: Cape Cod Ballads, 1902; Cap'n Eri, 1904; Partners of the Tide, 1905; Mr. Pratt, 1906; The Old Home House, 1907; Cy Whitaker's Place, 1908; Our Village, 1909; Keziah Coffin, 1909; and is a contributor to various magazines. He is president of the New Jersey Unitarian Mens' Club, and of the Salmagundi Club of New York City. Mr. Lincoln married in Chelsea, Mass., May 12, 1897, Florence El-lery Sargent, and they have one son. Address: Summit Avenue, Hackensack, N. J.

LINCOLN, Robert Todd:

President of The Pullman Company; born in Springfield, Ill., Aug. 1, 1843; eldest son of Abraham Lincoln, sixteenth President of the United States and Mary (Todd) Lincoln. He was graduated from Harvard College, A.B., 1864, and entered Harvard Law School, but left in order to enter the army, in which he served as a captain on the staff of General U. S. Grant. When the war ended he completed his law studies and engaged in practice in Chicago. In 1881 he entered the cabinet of President Garfield as Secretary of War, and retained that portfolio under the administration of President Arthur. In 1884 he was strongly mentioned for the presidential candidate, but he refused to oppose President Arthur in the Convention. During the administration of President Benjamin Harrison he was envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to Great Britain, from 1889 to 1893. After that he was special counsel for The Pullman Company until the death of George M. Pullman, when he was elected president of the company. He is also vice-president of the Commonwealth Edison Company, and a director in various corporations. He is a member of the Union, University, and Harvard Clubs of New York, and Chicago Golf and other clubs of Chicago. Mr. Lincoln married, Sept. 24, 1868, Mary Harlan, daughter of James Harlan, senator from Iowa and secretary of the Interior in Lincoln's second cabinet. They have two daughters: Mrs. Mary Isham and Mrs. Jessie Beckwith. Residence: 60 Lake Shore Drive. Office: Pullman Building, Chicago.

LIND, John:

Lawyer and former governor; born in Kanna, Smaland, Sweden, March 25, 1881. His family came to the United States in 1868 and settled at Goodhue, Minn. Largely by his own efforts, Mr. Lind secured an education at the University of Minnesota, and was admitted to the bar in 1877, and has been a practising lawyer since that time, except during the necessary interruption of holding public office. As early as the Fiftieth Congress he was elected a member of the House of Representatives from the second District of Minnesota, serving in the Fiftieth, Fifty-first, and Fifty-second Congresses, and was elected from the Fourth District to the Fifty-eighth Congress. During the Spanish-American War he was first lieutenant of a company of the Twelfth Minnesota Infantry. Mr. Lind has been, throughout his career, a consistent Democrat. and was elected Governor of Minnesota on the Democratic ticket in 1899, for the term 1899-1900. He also took a prominent part in the Democratic campaign of 1908. He married at Mankato, Minn., Oct. 1, 1879, to Alice A. Shepard, and has two sons and two daughters. Residence: 1775 Colfax Avenue, South Minneapolis. Office: New York Life Building, Minneapolis.

LINDBLOM, Robert:

Commission merchant; born in Nerike, Sweden, Nov. 17, 1844; son of Nils and Lovisa (Tolf) Lindblom. He was educated by private tutors, took a course in an agricultural and business college, and also a course in civil engineering. He came to this country in 1864 and settled at Milwaukee, Wis., where he engaged in business. He met with considerable success, and since 1873 has been engaged as a Board of Trade commission merchant, under the style of Robert Lindblom & Company, in Chicago. He was on the staff of Governor Altgeld, 1893-1897 and was president of the Civil Service Commission of Chicago from Feb. 18, 1898, to July 1, 1902, and member of the Board of Education. He was most instrumental in bringing the World's Fair to Chicago. He was one of the World's Columbian Exposition directors, the Swedish Royal Commissioners to that exposition, and he was knighted by the King of Sweden for his distinguished services in that connection. He is secretary of the Farmers' National Exchange Company. He is a member of the Union League and Swedish Clubs of Chicago, and of the Milwaukee Club of Milwaukee. He married in Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 17, 1874, Hattie Lewis, now deceased, and they had three children, one now deceased. Residence: 678 La Salle Avenue. Office: Postal Telegraph Building, Chicago.

LINDENTHAL, Gustav:

Civil engineer; born in Brunn, Austria, May 21, 1850; son of Dominik and Franiska (Schmuntz) Lindenthal. He took scientific studies at colleges in Brunn and Vienna from 1864 to 1870. He was employed on surveys and construction of railroads and bridges in Austria and Switzerland till 1874, when he came to the United States; engineer at the Centennial International Exhibition, Philadelphia, 1874-1877; thereafter consulting engineer in the construction of Western Railroad, with the main office at Pittsburgh. He removed to New York City in 1892; was originator, chief engineer and architect of the proposed bridge over the North River at Twenty-third Street, with a single span of 3,100 feet. He is contributor of papers and essays, mostly on engineering subjects, to scientific journals and engineering societies; was commissioner of bridges in the City of New York, 1902-1903, during the administration of Seth Low; completed the construction of the Williamsburg Bridge and made plans for the Blackwell's Island Bridge and Manhattan Bridge; also prepared plans for the reconstruction of Brooklyn Bridge, and for a great monumental bridge terminal and municipal buildings combined. Mr. Lindenthal was a member of the board of six consulting engineers, which planned the tunnels and terminal of the Pennsylvania Railroad under the North and East Rivers in New York; is engineer and architect of Hell Gate Bridge over the East River for the New York Connecting Railroad, which, when completed, will be the boldest and longest steel arch bridge in the world. He is president of the North River Bridge Company; a member of the British Institution of Civil Engineers; Canadian Society of Civil Engineers; American Society of Civil Engineers; a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science; a member of Verein Deutscher Maschinen Ingenieure in Berlin; Hudson-Fulton Celebration Committee, Municipal Art Society; Arion Society (president); and a member of the Manhattan and City Clubs. He married in New York City, July 10, 1902, Gertrude Weil, who died Oct. 21, 1905. Address: 45 Cedar Street, New York City.

LINDSAY, George Henry:

Congressman; born in New York City; removed to Brooklyn with his parents in 1843; he was educated in the public schools and for many years engaged in the hotel business; was elected to the State Assembly from the Seventh District, comprising the Sixteenth Ward of Brooklyn, in 1882, 1883, 1884, 1885, and 1886; in 1886 was elected coroner for the Second District of Kings County and served six years, being re-elected in 1889; in 1898 was appointed assistant tax commissioner in the Department of Taxes and Assessments of the City of New York. He was elected to the Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, and Sixtieth Congresses, and re-elected to the Sixty-first Congress, as a Democrat from the Second New York District. Address: 244 Bushwick Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

LINDSAY, John D.:

Lawyer; born in New York City, Dec. 31, 1865; son of Dr. William Francis and Sarah A. (Vredenburg) Lindsay. He was educated in the public schools and at the New York University Law School in 1887. He entered the district attorney's office as clerk in 1882; was admitted to the New York bar in 1887; was made deputy assistant district attorney in 1887; serving as such till 1893; assistant district attorney, 1893-1898; and has been in practice since then as a member of the firm of Nicoll, Anable and Lindsay. He has been president of the New York Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, since 1903; is a member of the American Society of International Law, the American New York City and State Bar Associations, St. Nicholas Society, the New York Historical Society, the Society of Medical Jurisprudence, Society of Colonial Wars, Sons of Revolution, Alumni Association of the New York University Law School, vice-president and chairman of the Law Committee of the New York State Convention of Societies for the Prevention of Cruelty. He is also a member of the Manhattan and Calumet Clubs of New York City, and the Fort Orange Club of Albany. He married in St. Louis, June 3, 1895, Stella Gregory. Address: 34 West 11th Street, New York City.

LINEHAN, John C.:

Insurance commissioner of New Hampshire; born at Macroom, County Cork, Ireland, Feb. 9, 1840; son of John and Margaret (Foley) Linehan, and came to the United States in 1849. He served in the Civil War in the Union Army, and was a merchant at Penacook, N. H., 1886-1890. Colonel Linehan has been in both branches of the Concord city government and was a member of the Governor's Executive Council one term. He was appointed insurance commissioner in 1890, and reappointed for a second term of three years in 1893, and has continued in that office by successive reappointments. He was elected president of the National Convention of Insurance Department Commissioners at the meeting in 1892. He was one of the directors of the Gettysburg Battlefield Memorial Association, 1885-1895; has been a trustee of New Hampshire Industrial School since 1884, and president of the Board; trustee of the Loan and Trust Savings Bank of Concord; a member of the New Hampshire Historical Society and treasurer of the American-Irish Historical Society. Colonel Linehan married in Penacook, then Fisherville, N. H., Jan. 2, 1864, Mary E. Pendergast. Residence: Penacook, N. H. Office address: Concord, N. H.

LINES, Edwin Stevens:

Bishop of Newark; born at Naugatuck, Conn., Nov. 23, 1845; son of Henry W. and Harriet Lines. He was graduated from Yale, B.A., 1872, and received its degree of D.D. in 1897; and from the Berkeley Divinity School the degree of S.T.D. in 1904. He was ordered deacon and priest of the Episcopal Church in 1874 by Bishop Williams of Connecticut. After his ordination to the ministry became rector of Christ Church, West Haven, Conn. In 1879 he became rector of St. Paul's Church, New Haven, Conn., officiating there until 1903, when he was elected bishop of Newark and was consecrated Nov. 18, 1903, by Bishops Tuttle, Doane, Potter, Searborough, Brewster, Coleman, Talbot and Whitehead. Bishop Lines married on May 4, 1880, to Mary L. Morehouse. Address: Newark, N. J.

LINN, William Alexander:

Author, banker, lawyer; born at Sussex, N. J., Sept. 4, 1846; son of Dr. Alexander and Julia (Vibbert) Linn. He was educated in Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., Yale College, B.A., class of 1868, of which he was class poet, and was also editor of the Yale Literary Magazine. He was admitted to the bar of the State of New York but made journalism his profession, and was a member of the editorial staff of the New York Tribune, 1868-1871 and of the New York Evening Post, 1871-1900. He is president of the People's National Bank of Hackensack, N. J., of the Hackensack Mutual Building and Loan Association, and a director in the North River Insurance Company. Mr. Linn, who is a Republican, is a commissioner of the Palisades Interstate Park Commission, appointed by the governor of New Jersey, which rescued the Palisades from destruction, and he is a trustee of the Johnson Public Library at Hackensack. He is author of: The Story of the Mormons, 1902 (Macmillan); Rob and his Gun, 1902 (Scribner's); and Horace Greeley, 1903 (Appletons), and also of numerous contributions to periodical literature. He is a widower. Mr. Linn is interested in horticultural subjects, owning a fruit and dairy farm in Sussex County, N. J. Address: Hackensack, N. J.

LINSLEY, George Thomas:

Clergyman; born in New Haven, Conn., Sept. 4, 1864; son of Frederick H. and Sarah M. (Smith) Linsley. He was graduated from Hillhouse High School, 1882, at Yale University, B.A., 1885, Berkeley Divinity School, 1888. Mr. Linsley was ordered deacon in 1888 and ordained priest in 1889 by Bishop Williams; was minister in charge of Calvary Church at Round Hill and Emmanuel Church, Glenville, 1888-1890, and of St. John's Chapel, Byram, 1889-1890; rector of Trinity Church, Newtown, 1890-1902, and rector of Church of the Good Shepherd, since 1902. He was secretary of Fairfield Archdeaconry, 1896-1902; Church Scholarship Society, since 1902, and member of the standing committee of the Diocese of Connecticut, since 1898. He was president of Newtown Academy Association, 1890-1902, and of the Newtown Library Association, 1890-1902. Mr. Linsley is a member of the Gamma Delta Psi fraternity. He married in New York City, Jan. 10, 1895, Mary Renshaw Chauncey. Address: 92 Wethersfield Avenue, Hartford, Conn.

LINSON, John J.:

Lawyer; born in Sullivan County, N. Y., Nov. 29, 1850; son of John J. and Emily Fidelia (Jordan) Linson. He was educated in the Monticello Academy and the State Normal School, Albany. In January, 1872, he was admitted to the bar, became a member of the firm of Schoonmaker and Linson, in January, 1876, and has practised in Kingston, N. Y., ever since. He was corporation counsel of Kingston, 1883-1887; State Senator, 1888-1891, commissioner of statutory revision, 1892-1895; commissioner to recommend changes in legislative procedure, 1895; special counsel for New York City in charge of condemnation proceedings for the Catskill Water Supply, 1907. Mr. Linson is vice-president and attorney for the National Ulster County Bank, and trustee and attorney of the Kingston Savings Bank. He is a member of the New York State, New York City and Ulster County Bar Association; trustee and treasurer of the Kingston City Library; a member of the Masonic order, Knights Templar, Knights Pythias and of the Reform Club of New York City and the Kingston Club of Kingston. He married in Monticello, Oct. 16, 1872, Ida Mapledoram, who died Feb. 23, 1902, and he has four sons. Address: Kingston, N. Y.

LIPPINCOTT, Craige:

Publisher; born in Philadelphia, Nov. 4, 1846; son of Joshua B. and Josephine (Craige) Lippincott. He received his education in the school of Rev. James G. Lyons in Philadelphia, and in the University of Pennsylvania, class of 1866. He entered in 1866, the publishing house of J. B. Lippincott & Company, which in 1885 changed to the J. B. Lippincott Company, and in 1886 succeeded his father as president of that Company. He is also a director in the Farmers' and Mechanics' National Bank of Philadelphia, and in the Pennsylvania Company for the Insuring of Lives and Granting Annuities. Mr. Lippincott is a member of the Delta Psi fraternity, and of the Union League, Rittenhouse, Art, Philadelphia Country, Huntington Valley Country, Racquet, and Bachelors' Barge Clubs. He married in Philadelphia, April 13, 1871, Sallie E. Bucknell, and they have three children. Residence: 218 West Rittenhouse Square. Office: 227 East Washington Square, Philadelphia.

LIPPINCOTT, Henry C.:

Manager of agencies for the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company; born in Philadelphia, April 12, 1844. He was graduated from the Central High School of that City; was admitted to the Philadelphia bar in May, 1865, and practised law until 1869, when he removed to Colorado; where he taught school and wrote for newspapers. He entered the insurance business in the employ of the Penn Mutual in February, 1874, and served in various capacities until he was appointed manager of agencies in January, 1888. He is active in everything that pertains to life insurance. His contributions to the business have been many and influential, and he has been in frequent requests as a speaker by various associations. He has made the excellent canvassing material of the Penn Mutual, and has had much to do with its development as a company. Address: 1421 North 17th Street, Philadelphia.

LIPPINCOTT, Joseph Barlow:

Hydraulic engineer; born in Scranton, Pa., Oct. 10, 1864; son of John A. Lippincott, LL.D., and Harriet Phillips (Barlow) Lippincott. After attending Dickinson College for two years he went to the University of Kansas, from which he was graduated as B.S. in 1886. After graduation he was connected with the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Railroad until 1888; was topographer of the U. S. Geological Survey four years, and after that engaged in various irrigation enterprises. He was hydrographer of the U. S. Geological Survey, 1895-1902, and supervising engineer of the U. S. Reclamation Service, 1902-1906. Mr. Lippincott was a lecturer at the University of California, and consulting engineer for various cities; was appointed civil service commissioner of Los Angeles, Calif., in 1904 and is now assistant chief engineer of the Los Angeles Aqueduct. He has twice been president of the Southern California Engineers' and Architects' Association; is a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers; vice-president of the California Water and Forest Association; honorary member of the Sempervirens Club and member of the California Club of Los Angeles. He has made a special study of the problems of storage of water on the Gila River of Arizona, and Kings' River, Calif., the development and application of water in Southern California and California hydrography in general, and the results of these investigations have been published as Water Supply papers by the United States Geological Survey. Mr. Lippincott married at Beverly, N. J., Josephine Phillips Cook. Address: 1400 Union Trust Building, Los Angeles, Calif.

LIPPINCOTT, Joshua Bertram:

Publisher; born in Montgomery County, Pa., Aug. 24, 1857; son of Joshua Ballinger Lippincott, the well known Philadelphia publisher and bookseller. Mr. Lippincott received his preliminary education at the Penn Charter School, was prepared for college at the Episcopal Academy of Philadelphia, and entered the University of Pennsylvania in the class of 1878. He left, however, in 1875, at the end of his freshman year, to enter his father's establishment, and has since been engaged in the booktrade. He became a member of the firm in January, 1884, and after the incorporation of the business in 1887, and the death of his father in 1886, he became the vice-president of the J. B. Lippincott Company, which position he still holds. Mr. Lippincott has been active in the details of the business. He is a trustee of the University of Pennsylvania, a director of the Academy of Music, and a member of the Union League, the Art Club, University Club, Geographical Club, and various other clubs and social organizations of Philadelphia and other cities. Address: Logan, Philadelphia.

LIPPINCOTT, Martha Shepard:

Author; born in Moorestown, N. J.; daughter of Jesse and Elizabeth (Holmes) Lippincott. She was educated in the public schools, Moorestown Friends' High School and Swarthmore College. Miss Lippincott began writing poetry when a school girl in 1886, and since 1895 has made it a life work. She has had poems book reviews and prose articles published in the largest cities in nearly every State in the United States and some in Canada, Alaska and the Hawaiian Islands, in magazines, newspapers, religious and reform papers. Miss Lippincott writes more poetry than anything else, and, being a member of the Society of Friends she is often called "The Quaker Poetess." Of the sixteen hundred poems she has written, a selection has been published in a volume entitled Visions of Life. She has had thirty hymns and songs set to music, and twenty-five more accepted by various composers. Miss Lippincott has been reviewing books since 1900. Her poems are optimistic in outlook, with high and altruistic ideals. Address: Station O., 10th Street and Columbia Avenue, Philadelphia.

LIPPINCOTT, Walter:

Publisher; born in Philadelphia in 1849; educated in the Thomas Baldwin School and the University of Pennsylvania, class of 1868. He left the University in his sophomore year and after a year's traveling in Europe went into business in his father's publishing and bookselling establishment, the J. B. Lippincott & Company house. In this he showed extraordinary activity, so great indeed that he broke down from over-work about 1881 and was obliged to withdraw from active labor in the establishment. His interest in the concern continued, however, and on the reorganization of the firm into an incorporated company in 1885 he became a director in the company. Since then his services have been of an advisory character, his health not permitting an active participation. Mr. Lippincott is a member of the Union League, Rittenhouse, University, Art, Racquet, Country, Franklin Inn, and Merion Cricket Clubs, and Mayflower Society. He married Elizabeth T. Horstmann, in 1879, and has one daughter. Address: 2101 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.

LIPPINCOTT, William Henry:

Artist; born in Philadelphia, Dec. 6, 1849; son of Isaac and Emily Lippincott. He commenced the study of art at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, and became an illustrator for publications and later a scenic artist, practising that branch of art for six years, at the same time, continuing to paint easel pictures. In 1874 he went to Europe to study as a pupil of Léon Bonnat of Paris; and remained in Paris until 1882. He then returned to the United States and established a studio in New York City. He was professor of painting at the National Academy of Design, for three years; was made an associate in 1887 and an academicien in 1896. He is a painter of portraits, figures, compositions and landscapes, has exhibited at the Paris Salon and a regular contributor to the American art exhibitions. He devoted a portion of his time to scenic painting, having painted the scenery for Salambo, La Bohème, Manru and other operas. Some of his most important oil and water color pictures are Un Jour de Congé (Paris Salon 1879); The Duck's Breakfast, Centennial (Exposition 1876); Pink of Old Fashioned (Water Color Society 1882); Helena (National Academy of Design); Infantry in Arms; Love's Ambush; Pleasant Reflection. Address: 7 West 43d Street, New York City.

LIPPMANN, Julie Mathilde:

Author, poet and critic; born in Brooklyn, N. Y., daughter of Adolph and Marie (Pollock) Lippmann. She was educated by private governess, mainly, though she also attended private schools in Brooklyn. She studied music for two winters under Dr. William Mason, and is an honorary member of the class of 1909 of the American College for girls at Constantinople, Turkey. Miss Lippmann has been an extensive traveler in Great Britain, the continent and the East (Egypt, the Holy Land and Syria), and camped out in the Holy Land for five weeks, riding horseback through the country from Hebron to Beirut. She is author of: Miss Wildfire; Dorothy Day; Dearie, Dot and the Dog; Sweet Peas; Jack o' Dreams; Everyday Girls, and many stories and miscellaneous writings in The Century, Harpers, The Atlantic and other leading magazines. Address: 17 West 84th Street, New York City.

LITTAUER, Lucius Nathan:

Manufacturer; born in Gloversville, N. Y., Jan. 20, 1859; son of Nathan and Harriet (Sporborg) Littauer. He was educated in Charlier, N. Y., and Harvard College, A.B., 1878. He succeeded to the glove manufacturing business of his father in 1882 and now extensively engaged therein. He was elected to the U. S. Congress in 1896 and served five terms, but refused unanimous renomination in 1906. Mr. Littauer has been a member of the National and State Conventions of the Republican party since 1896; was a member of the committee on appropriations, while in Congress; had charge of bills, legislative, executive and judicial; urgent deficiencies, general deficiencies and fortifications. He is president of the Gloversville Knitting Company, Fonda Glove Lining Company, Metropolitan Sewing Machine Company of New York, Parkes Machine Company; treasurer of the Monroe-Eckstein Brewing Company; director of the Fulton County Bank of Gloversville, The State Bank of New York, the Adirondack Trust Company of Saratoga, and manager of Nathan Littauer's Hospital at Gloversville. He is a member of the Metropolitan Club of Washington, and of the Harvard Club of New York City. Address: Gloversville, N. Y.

LITTLE, Adelbert Pierson:

Manufacturer of typewriter ribbons, carbon paper, etc.; born in Riga, N. Y., in 1847; son of Marshall E. and Sabrah R. Little. He received his education in the Genesee Wesleyan Seminary and was graduated from the University of Rochester, A.M., 1872. He was Supreme Court reporter for twenty-one years and since 1885 has been a manufacturer and conducts his business alone with offices at Rochester, New York City, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, and London, England. Mr. Little is director and trustee of the Mechanics'

Savings Bank of Rochester. He is a member of Theta Delta Chi fraternity and of the Whist, Oak Hill, Country and Genesee Clubs. He married in 1877, Frances A. Munn, now deceased. Address: Rochester, N. Y.

LITTLE, Edward Porter:

Clergyman; born in Brooklyn, N. Y., Dec. 19, 1853; son of William Henry and Caroline Frances (Cobb) Little. He attended the Pingry School, Elizabeth, N. J., was graduated from Knox College, A.B. and A.M., and from the General Theological Seminary, S.T.B. He was ordered deacon in 1878, ordained priest in 1879 in the ministry of the Episcopal Church, was rector of Pittsfield, Ill., until Oct., 1880, Lancaster, N. H., until 1886, Nantucket, Mass., 1887-1893; and has been rector of Hannibal, Mo., since 1893, and rural dean of Hannibal since 1903. He is a member of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity, Society of Colonial Wars, Descendants of Colonial Governors, and the Old Colony Historical Society. Mr. Little married in Pittsfield, Ill., May 9, 1882, Henrietta Nevin Grimshaw, who died April 27, 1900, and has four children. Address: Trinity Church Rectory, Hannibal, Mo.

LITTLE, George Thomas:

Librarian; born in Auburn, Me., May 14, 1837; son of Edward T. and Lucy Jane (Bliss) Little. He was graduated from the Edward Little High School at Auburn in 1873, from Bowdoin College, A.B., 1877; studied in Paris, France, 1877-1878, and received from Bowdoin the degrees of A.M., 1880, and Litt.D., 1894. He was instructor in Latin in Thayer Academy, Braintree, Mass., 1878-1882; professor of Latin in Bowdoin College, 1882-1886, and has been librarian of Bowdoin College since 1883. He is also president and treasurer of the Agawam Manufacturing Company. Dr. Little was chairman of the State Library Commission of Maine, 1899-1902. He is author of: Descendants of George Little of Newbury, Massachusetts, 1640; Historical Sketch of Bowdoin College; Longfellow Bibliography, and is an occasional contributor to The Nation. Dr. Little is a member of the American Library Association, Maine Historical Society, Minnesota Historical Society, Maine Genealogical Society; and is trustee and clerk of the Edward Little Institute of Auburn, Me. He is a member of the American Alpine Club, Appalachian Mountain Club, Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, and Phi Beta Kappa Society. He married in Braintree, Mass., Dec. 18, 1884, Lilly Thayer Wright-Lane, and they have four children. Residence: 8 College Street. *Office: Bowdoin College Library, Brunswick, Me.

LITTLE, John Mason:

Merchant and trustee; born in Boston, July 14, 1848; son of James Lovell and Julia Augusta (Cook) Little. His immigrant ancestors included: Thomas Little, Plymouth, 1630; and Richard Moore, Mayflower, 1620. He was a pupil in the Boston public schools, including Chauncey Hall, the English High School, and in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He learned the dry goods commission business and became a leading merchant in that line of trade. He served as president of the Merchants' Club and of the Real Estate Club; is a member of the Executive Committee of the Boston Associated Board of Trade, and has been its president. He is a director of the American Bank Note Company; of the Boston Ports and Seaman's Aid Society; and of the Good Government Association of Boston; and he is also treasurer of the New England Civic Federation; vice-president of the Real Estate Exchange and Auction Board; was chairman of the Commission on Revision of the Building Laws of the Commonwealth by appointment of Governor Bates. He is a director of the American Unitarian Association, chairman of the Prudential Committee of the Arlington Street Church since 1888. Mr. Little is a member of the Algonquin and Tedesco Country Clubs and of the Merchants' Association. He married, Jan. 14, 1872, Helen, daughter of James H. and Judith Beal, of Boston. Address: Boston.

LITTLE, John Sebastian:

Governor of Arkansas; born at Jenny Lind, Sebastian County, Ark., March 15, 1853. He was educated at Cane Hill College, Ark.; was admitted to the bar in 1874; in 1877 was elected district attorney for the Twelfth Circuit of Arkansas, composed of Sebastian, Scott, Crawford, and Logan counties, and was reelected for four successive terms. He was elected a representative to the Legislature in 1884; in 1886 was elected circuit judge for a term of four years; in 1893 was chosen as chairman of the State Judicial Convention; and in Sept., 1894, was elected, without opposition, to fill the unexpired term of C. R. Breckinridge in the Fifty-third Congress; was elected to the Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, and Fifty-eighth Congresses and reelected to the Fifty-ninth Congress. He was elected Governor of Arkansas in 1906, on the Democratic ticket, for the four-year term expiring in 1910 and he resigned from Congress Jan. 14, 1907. Address: Greenwood, Ark.

LITTLEFIELD, Charles Edgar:

Lawyer and former congressman; born in Lebanon, York County, Me., June 21, 1851; received a common school education and studied law. He was admitted to the bar in 1876; was a member of the Maine Legislature in 1885, and speaker of the House in 1887; was attorney-general of the State, 1889-1893; was elected to the Fifty-sixth Congress June 19, 1899, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Nelson Dingley, and to the Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth Congresses, from the Second Maine District, and he was reelected in 1906 to the Sixtieth Congress, but resigned in 1908 to take up the practice of law in New York City, where he took a prominent position from the first, being appointed receiver in the celebrated Stock Exchange Case of the A. O. Brown Company. Mr. Littlefield is a forceful orator and was for years one of the most effective campaign speakers of the Republican party in Maine and throughout the country. Address: Rockland, Me.

LITTLEFIELD, Nathan Whitman:

Lawyer; born at East Bridgewater, Mass., May 21, 1846; son of Rufus Ames and Abigail Russel (Whitman) Littlefield. He is a descendant of John Alden and other Plymouth pilgrims. He was graduated from Phillips Academy, Andover, 1865, from Dartmouth College as valedictorian in 1869, and from the Boston University Law School in 1876. He was principal of Newport High School, 1871-1873; principal of Westerly High School and superintendent of schools of Westerly, R. I., 1873-1874. Mr. Littlefield was admitted to the Massachusetts bar at Boston in May, 1876, and to the Rhode Island bar in Providence, Jan., 1877. He was appointed by the Supreme Court, standing master in chancery in 1890, and by the U. S. District Court referee in bankruptcy in 1898; a member of the commission for revising the judicial system of Rhode Island in 1905. He has lectured frequently on political and historical subjects and has traveled extensively in this country and abroad; and was orator at the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the founding of Bridgewater, Mass., in 1906. He is a director of the Providence Realty Company, Stewart Street Land Company; and member of the law firm of Littlefield and Barrows. Mr. Littlefield was a member of the School Committee of Pawtucket for several years; State senator, 1897-1898; Democratic candidate for governor of Rhode Island in 1900. He is a member of the Rhode Island Bar Association, the American Bar Association, and National Municipal League; honorary member of the Bridgewater (Mass.) Historical Society, Rhode Island Historical Association, Old Colony Historical Society; president of the Bethany Home of Rhode Island, and member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, Pi chapter. He is also a member of the To Kolon Club of Pawtucket, R. I., and the Rhode Island Congregational Club. Mr. Littlefield married at Ellsworth, Me., Aug. 13, 1873, Arletta V. Redman, by whom he has a son; married, second, at Pawtucket, 1889, Mary Wheaton Ellis, and they have a son. Residence: 29 Cottage Street, Pawtucket, R. I. Office: 87 Weybosset Street, Providence, R. I.

LITTLETON, Martin Willie:

Lawyer; born near Kingston, Roane County, Tenn., Feb. 12, 1872; son of Thomas Jefferson and Hannah (Ingraham) Littleton. He is self-educated; went to Texas at the age of fifteen and began the study of law at Weatherford, Texas, at the age of eighteen. He was admitted to the bar in July, 1891; was assistant prosecuting attorney of Parker County, Texas, and later of Dallas County, Texas; came to New York in 1896, was assistant district attorney of Kings County, N. Y., and while so engaged, tried the case of People against William F. Miller, charged with larceny of over $11,000,000; tried the case of People against Doody, charged with corrupting the old City of Brooklyn. He was president of the Borough of Brooklyn, 1904-1905; chairman of the Democratic State Convention of New York, in 1900; nominated Edward M. Shepard for mayor of New York City, in 1901; nominated Judge Alton B. Parker for President of the United States at the Democratic National Convention, St. Louis, 1904. Mr. Littleton is a member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, and of the Lawyers', National Democratic and Manhattan Clubs of New York City, National and Brooklyn Clubs of Brooklyn, Garden City Golf Club, Oakland (Long Island) Golf Club, and Manhasset Bay Yacht Club. He married at Dallas, Texas, Dec. 1, 1896, Maude Elizabeth Wilson, and they have two sons. Address: 60 Wall Street, New York City.

LIVINGSTON, Leonidas Felix:

Congressman and farmer; born in Newton County, Ga., April 3, 1832; of Scotch-Irish descent. His grandfather emigrated to this country from North Ireland, and served under General Washington during the Revolutionary War. Mr. Livingston is a farmer by occupation and has always lived on his farm. He was a private soldier in the Confederate Army, 1861-1865; was for two terms a member of the House of Representatives and one term a member of the State Senate; was chairman of the Committee on Agriculture in both the House and Senate; was vice-president of the Georgia State Agricultural Society for eleven years and president of the same for four years. He was president of the Georgia State Alliance for three years, but resigned when elected to Congress; and has been prominent in all political struggles in his State for many years. Mr. Livingston was elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-second, Fifty-third, Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth Congresses, and re-elected to the Sixty-first Congress from the Fifth Georgia District. Address: Covington, Ga.

LLOYD, Arthur Seldon:

Clergyman; born in Mt. Ida, Alexandria County, Va., in 1857; son of John Janney and Eliza Armistead (Selden) Lloyd. He was educated in the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, the University of Virginia, the Theological Seminary in Virginia, as D.D., and Roanoke College. He entered the ministry of the Episcopal Church, in 1880, was missionary in the Diocese of Virginia, 1880-1884; rector of St. Luke's Church, Norfolk, Va., 1884-1899; secretary of the Board of Missions from 1899. He was elected bishop of Mississippi, Jan. 20, 1903; elected bishop of Kentucky, Sept. 21, 1904, and of Southern Virginia, Nov. 8, 1905; but declined all these elections. He was elected professor of ecclesiastical history at the Virginia Seminary in 1896 and is now general secretary of the Board of Missions of the Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society of the Protestant Episcopal Church; general secretary of the American Church Missionary Society and trustee of the Educational Society of Virginia and the American Building Fund Commission. Mr. Lloyd married at The Meadows, Washington County, Va., in 1880, Lizzie Robertson Blackford, and has five children. Address: 281 Fourth Avenue, New York City.

LLOYD, Curtis Gates:

Botanist; born in Florence, Ky., July 17, 1859; son of Nelson Marvin and Sophia

(Webster) Lloyd. He was educated privately. He is in the wholesale druggist and pharmacy business and he is a partner in the firm of Lloyd Brothers, wholesale druggists and manufacturing pharmacists and is trustee of the Lloyd Library. Mr. Lloyd has traveled extensively in Mexico, West Indies, Sandwich Islands, Samoan Islands, Egypt and Europe. He is a member of the Cuvier Club. Residence: 224 West Court Street, New York City.

LLOYD, Henry:

Ex-governor of Maryland; born near Cambridge, Md., Feb. 21, 1852; son of Daniel and Kitty (Henry) Lloyd. He was brought up on farm, educated in private schools, taught school and after 1880 engaged in the practice of law. He was elected to the Maryland Senate in 1880 and in 1884 became president of that body. He became ex-officio acting governor of Maryland on the appointment of Governor McLane as minister to France in 1885, and was elected by the legislature to complete the term which expired in 1888. Since 1892 he has been judge of the Circuit Court of Maryland. Judge Lloyd is a Democrat in politics. Address: Cambridge, Md.

LLOYD, Henry Albert:

Lawyer; born in Doylestown, Pa., Nov. 12, 1849; son of E. Morris and Julia Dunlap (Hendrie) Lloyd. He was graduated from Princeton College, 1869; admitted to the bar at Philadelphia, Oct., 1871, and practised his profession there and in adjoining counties until March, 1884, when he received the appointment of assistant-general claim agent, of the Gould South-Western System of Railways, and removed to St. Louis. He was appointed general claim agent of the Wabash Railroad Company in June, 1884, and subsequently assistant secretary. He resigned the positions there April, 1899, and removed to New York City, being admitted to the bar of New York, Sept., 1899. Mr. Lloyd is president and director of the Brazoria Land and Cattle Company; treasurer and director of the Cleveland Grains Drying Company, and director of the Guardian Trust Company of Kansas City; president of the Atlantic Export Company. He is a member of the New York Produce Exchange, Sons of Revolution, and the New York Athletic Club. He married at Detroit, Mich., in 1871, Cornelia P. Voorhees. Address: 32 Broadway, New York City.

LLOYD, Herbert Marshall:

Lawyer; born in Brooklyn, N. Y., March 29, 1862; son of Henry H. and Anna (Badger) Lloyd. He was graduated from Harvard, A.B., in 1883; and from Columbia, LL.B., in 1885. He was a member successively of the law firms of Murphy, Lloyd and Boyd, Murphy and Lloyd and now of Lloyd and Maddox; secretary-treasurer and director of the American Paper Goods Company; secretary and director of the Webb Wire Works. Mr. Lloyd is a member of Phi Beta Kappa; member and secretary of the Board of Managers of the New Jersey State Geological Survey; member of the Board of Health, Montclair, N. J., and of the City, Midday, Harvard Clubs of New York City, and Harvard Club of New Jersey. He married in New York City, Oct. 19, 1893, Anna Lord. Residence: 24 Lloyd Road, Montclair, N. J. Office: 92 William Street, New York City.

LLOYD, Horatio G.:

President of the Commercial Trust Company, Philadelphia; born in Middletown, Del., Jan. 14, 1867; educated in private schools and University of Pennsylvania Law School; admitted to the bar in 1888, but never practised. He entered the Philadelphia Trust Company as a clerk; and was made assistant secretary in in 1894. In Jan., 1900, he went to the Commercial Trust Company as treasurer; made vice-president July, 1900, and president of the Commercial Trust Company in Dec., 1902. He is also director of several corporations. He is a member of the Radnor Hunt, Markham and Merion Cricket Clubs. Mr. Lloyd married, May 6, 1897, Mary Helen Wingate, daughter of General George W. Wingate of New York. Residence: Haverford, Pa. Office: Arcade Building, Philadelphia.

LLOYD, James Tighlman:

Congressman; born at Canton, Lewis County, Mo., Aug. 28, 1857. He was graduated from Christian University at Canton, Mo., in 1878; taught school for a few years thereafter; was admitted to the bar, and then practiced his profession in Lewis County until 1885, when he located at his present home, where he has since resided. He had held no office, except that of prosecuting attorney of his county, 1889-1893, until his election, as a Democrat, to the Fifty-fifth Congress, to fill a vacancy; and he was elected to the Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth Congresses, and reelected to the Sixty-first Congress, from the First Missouri District. He married, March 1, 1881, Mary B. Graves. Address: Shelbyville, Mo.

LLOYD, John:

Banker; born at Hollidaysburg, Pa., in April, 1842. He was educated in Lafayette College. Mr. Lloyd is president of the First National Bank of Altoona; president of the Edison Electric Light Company, Altoona Gas Company, Altoona Coal and Coke Company, Henrietta Coal Mining Company, Altoona and Logan Valley Street Railway Company. He married, in Jan., 1866, Caroline B. McCord. Address: Altoona, Pa.

LLOYD, John Uri:

Manufacturing chemist and author; born in West Bloomfield, N. Y., April 19, 1849; son of Nelson Marvin and Sophia (Webster) Lloyd. He was educated in private schools in Kentucky, and received the degree of Ph.D. from the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy in 1890; Ph.D. from Ohio University, 1897, and LL.D. from Wilberforce University. Dr. Lloyd was apprenticed at the age of fifteen to W. J. M. Gordon, a pharmacist in Cincinnati. At the age of twenty-two he became manager of the laboratory of J. M. Merril and Co., Cincinnati. Upon the retirement of the senior partner of this firm, the name was changed to Thorpe and Lloyd Brothers, and, in 1885, to its present style of Lloyd Brothers.

He was professor of chemistry in the Cincinnati College of Pharmacy, 1883-1887, and in the Eclectic Medical Institute, 1878-1904, being also president of that institution, 1896-1904. He has received several gold medals for scientific work from the United States Government. He is president of the Lloyd Library and Museum, devoted to botany, pharmacy, materia medica, and allied sciences. Dr. Lloyd is a member of the American Pharmaceutical Association, Ohio Pharmaceutical Association, Ohio Eclectic Medical Association, and National Eclectic Medical Association. He is also a member of the Authors' Club, of New York, the Franklin Inn, of Philadelphia, Sons of the American Revolution, Sons of the Revolution, and the Society of Colonial Wars, and of the Business Men's, Literary, Cosmic and Cuvier Clubs and Folk Lore Society of Cincinnati. He has contributed profusely to current periodicals in chemistry and pharmacy, and is author of the scientific works: Chemistry of Medicines, 1881; Drugs and Medicines of North America, 1894 (with C. G. Lloyd); Revision of King's American Dispensatory, 1898 to 1900 (Felter and Lloyd); Elixirs and Their History and Preparation, 1892; and A Study in Pharmacy, 1895. Dr. Lloyd is also author of the following works of fiction: Etidorpha, the End of Earth, 1895; The Right Side of the Car, 1897; Stringtown on the Pike, 1900; Warwick of the Knobs, 1901; Red Head, 1903, and Scroggins, 1904. He married, first, Dec. 27, 1876, Adeline Meader; and, second, June 10, 1880, Emma Rouse, and has three children. Residence: Lafayette Avenue, Clifton, Cincinnati. Office: Lloyd Brothers, Cincinnati, Ohio.

LLOYD, William Supplee:

Manufacturer; born in La Crosse, Wis., Feb. 12, 1860; son of William Jones and Ann Elizabeth (Custer) Lloyd. He was educated in the Rugby Academy and the University of Pennsylvania. He was a member of the firm of Lloyd & Supplee Hardware Company, and of the William J. Lloyd Manufacturing Company, and is now proprietor of the Stratford Knitting Mills, Wayne Junction, Philadelphia. He was formerly major in the National Guard of Pennsylvania. He is a Republican and in religion an Episcopalian. Mr. Lloyd is a member of the Sons of the Revolution, Colonial Society of Pennsylvania, Historical Society, the Franklin Institute and other societies, and of the Union League and Germantown Cricket Clubs. He married in Philadelphia, April 27, 1893, Ida Crosby Mustin. Residence: 5901 Wayne Avenue, Germantown. Office: Wayne Junction, Philadelphia.

LLWYD, John P. Derwent:

Clergyman; born in Manchester, England, June 7, 1861; son of Rev. Thomas Llwyd, D.C.L., archdeacon of Algoma, and Emma (Plummer) Llwyd. He is a graduate of Trinity University, Toronto, as B.D. and D.D. He also attended Montreal Theological College. He was rector of St. Paul's Church, Riverside, Ill., 1887-1889; rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Omaha, Neb., 1889-1897, and rector of St. Mark's Church, Seattle, Wash., 1897-1909. He is now vice-provost of Trinity University, Toronto. Mr. Llwyd is a member of the American Archaeological Society; was for several years member and at one time president of the Board of Library Trustees of the City of Seattle; was also president of the Associated Charities of that city, 1897-1899. He has been twice elected deputy to the General Convention of the Episcopal Church in the United States. He is the author of a small volume of poems, entitled The Song of the Breakers, and of a monograph on Indian life, entitled The Message of an Indian Relic. Dr. Llwyd married in Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 28, 1886, Mary Emilie Thomas, and they have five children. Address: Trinity University, Toronto, Canada.

LOBDELL, Charles Wesley:

Banker, manufacturer, retired merchant; born in Victor, Ontario County, N. Y., Feb. 27, 1834; son of George A. and Almira (Preston) Lobdell. His father was a direct descendant of the Simon Lobdell who settled in Milford, Conn., in 1646. Mr. Lobdell obtained his education in the public schools and became a student of law. He was admitted to the bar in 1859 and practised his profession for three years, when he decided to engage in a business career. He went to Moline, Ill., where he was active as a merchant, banker, and manufacturer until 1888, when he removed to Chicago, where he was prominent in business circles for many years, but has now retired. He is a member of the Chicago Stock Exchange; a Republican, and a member of the Reformed Episcopal Church. He married at Moline, Ill., Oct. 22, 1864, Henrietta M. Shaw, and has three children. Address: 3861 Lake Avenue, Chicago.

LOBINGIER, Charles Sumner:

Jurist, author, lecturer; born at Lanark, Ill., April 30, 1866; son of George and Ada (Stewart) Lobingier. He was graduated from Nebraska State University, B.A., 1888, receiving later the degrees of A.M., LL.M., and Ph.D., from the same University. He was assistant State librarian and reporter of the Supreme Court, 1888-1892, and having in the meanwhile been admitted to the bar in 1890, located at Omaha, and was there engaged in active practice for more than a dozen years. In the year 1891 he prepared the official edition of the Consolidated Statutes of Nebraska. In 1900-1903, he was professor of law at the University of Nebraska, and member of the Nebraskan Supreme Court Commission, 1902-1903. In the latter year he became United States judge of the Court of First Instance in the Philippine Islands, where he still is. In 1907 he was appointed chairman of a commission to codify the Philippine laws, and in 1909 was made one of the Philippine representatives of the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform Laws. He is the author of the present law governing justices of the peace courts in the Philippines, has written many articles on legal and historical topics for the magazines and has been a contributor to every legal encyclopedia now published in America, having written more than 30 titles and treated such subjects as Constitutional Law, Equity, Evidence, Territories, etc. He is likewise the author of: The Peoples' Law, or Popular Participation in Law-Making (Macmillan, 1909); Philippine Practice (2d edition, 1907). He was president of the Nebraska Sons of the American Revolution, and first vice-president of the Nebraska State Historical Society; is a member of the American Society of International Law, the American Bar Association, the American Political Science Association, the National Geographical Society, the Phi Beta Kappa, the Philippine Academy, and the Columbia Club of Manila, and several Masonic organizations. Address: Manila, P. I. Permanent residence: Omaha, Neb.

LOCHREN, William:

Jurist; born in County Tyrone, Ireland, April 3, 1832. He removed in infancy to Franklin County, Vt., and was educated in the schools there, and then took up the study of law. He was admitted to the Vermont bar at St. Albans, in 1856, and went at once to St. Anthony, Minn. (now Minneapolis). When the Civil War began in 1861, he enlisted at once in the First Minnesota Volunteers, and was mustered out as first lieutenant in 1865. He was elected to the State Senate of Minnesota in 1868, and judge of the District Court for the Fourth Judicial District of Minnesota in 1881, serving until appointed in May, 1893, by President Cleveland, to the office of Commissioner of Pensions, serving until appointed, May 20, 1896, judge of the United States Court for the District of Minnesota, retiring in 1908. Judge Lochren has always been a Democrat in politics. He married first in Sept., 1871, Martha A. Demmon, who died in Jan., 1879; and married, second, April 19, 1882, Mary E. Abbott. Address: 422 Tenth Avenue, S. E., Minneapolis, Minn.

LOCKE, Charles Edward:

Clergyman; born in Pittsburgh, Sept. 9, 1858; son of William Henry and Margaret Ellen (Loor) Locke. He was graduated from Allegheny College, A.B., A.M., and D.D. He began his ministry in the Western Reserve of Ohio; has served in Smithfield Street Church, Pittsburgh, First Methodist Episcopal Church, Portland, Ore.; Central Methodist Episcopal Church, San Francisco; Delaware Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, Buffalo, and the Han-on Place Methodist Episcopal Church, Brooklyn, N. Y. He is now pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, Los Angeles, Calif., which, with over two thousand members, is the largest Methodist Church on the Pacific Coast. He was the pastor conducting the funeral services of President McKinley at Buffalo. Dr. Locke has traveled extensively in Europe, Asia and Africa. In politics he is a Republican. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa Society, Delta Tau Delta fraternity, and a Thirty-second Degree Mason. He is author of: Freedom's Next War for Humanity. He married at Pittsburgh, Dec. 27, 1882, Mina J. Wood, and their children are: Lucile, Ruth, Lydia Margaret and Charles Edward, Jr. Address: 728 Berendo Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

LOCKE, James William:

Jurist; born in Wilmington, Vt., Oct. 20, 1837; son of Rev. William Sherburne and Caroline Dame (Tibbetts) Locke. After completing his high school course he began the study of law in an office at Manchester, N. H., and practised until 1861, when he entered the United States Navy as a volunteer officer, serving through the Civil War until mustered out in 1865. He practiced at Key West, Fla., 1865-1868; was appointed county judge of Monroe County, Fla., 1868, elected to the State Senate of Florida in 1870, and in 1872 was appointed by President Grant to his present office as judge of the United States Court for the Southern District of Florida, in which he is still serving. Judge Locke married at Kittery, Me., Oct. 5, 1866, Alvina C. Neal. Address: Jacksonville, Fla.

LOCKWOOD, Belva Ann Bennett:

Attorney and solicitor; born in Royalton, Niagara County, N. Y., Oct. 24, 1830; daughter of Lewis Johnson and Hannah Priest (Green) Bennett. She was graduated from Genesee College, Lima, N. Y., 1857, Syracuse University, A.M., 1870; National University Law School, Washington, LL.B., 1873, and she took a course in University Extension at Oxford, England, 1890. She has been twice married, first at Royalton, N. Y., Nov. 4, 1848, to Uriah McNall (who died in 1853), and second, in 1869, to Dr. Ezekiel Lockwood, who died in 1877. She has had two daughters, one by each of these marriages, but both are now deceased. Mrs. Lockwood was preceptress of the Union School, Lockport, N. Y., 1857-1861; Gainesville Female Seminary, Hornellsville, N. Y., 1861-1862; Owego (N. Y.) Female Seminary, 1862-1865, and taught school in Washington, D. C., 1866-1870. She was admitted to practice by the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia in 1873, and by the U. S. Supreme Court and U. S. Court of Claims in 1879. Mrs. Lockwood took a prominent place at the bar and as a lecturer, having visited nearly all the States in her career of eight years on the lecture platform. She has been connected with many law cases, the most important of which was that of Eastern and Emigrant Cherokees vs. The United States in which a judgment was given to her clients for about $5,000,000. Mrs. Lockwood has been one of the most prominent of the workers for the securing of equal political and legal rights without distinction of sex, and also much engaged in temperance and humanitarian work and as an advocate of universal peace. She was nominated by the Equal Rights Party, at San Francisco, Aug. 23, 1884, and again in 1888, as its nominee for the office of President of the United States. She was sent by the State Department to represent the United States at the Congress of Charities and Corrections in Geneva, Switzerland, 1896. Mrs. Lockwood secured the passage of the bill to admit women to the U. S. Supreme Court and all Federal Courts, in February, 1879; of the bill to give women employes of the Government the same pay as men, in 1890; bill securing the appropriation for bounties for sailors and marines, in 1875; and was one of the committee who changed the law of descent for the women of the District of Columbia. She has been a member of the Universal Peace Union for the past thirty-one years; and is now vice-president and corresponding secretary; was elected a member of the International Peace Bureau at Berne, Switzerland, in 1892, and has been annually reelected ever since, and for the past fifteen years has been secretary in charge of the branch bureau at Washington, and has attended the Universal Peace Congresses annually since 1889. Mrs. Lockwood compiled The Peace Treaties of the United States, 1893, has been associate editor of The Peacemaker, Philadelphia, since 1875, and has published numerous pamphlets in favor of international peace and arbitration. She has served two terms as president of the Woman's National Press Association, and two terms as president of the District Woman Suffrage Association. Address: 619 F Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

LODER, Percival E.:

Physician; born at Allentown, Pa., July 13, 1853; son of Alexander W. and Mary A. (Yeager) Loder. He attended Stroudsburg (Pa.) Academy, 1868-1869; was graduated from Jefferson Medical College, M. D., 1875, and from the Pennsylvania College of Dental Surgery, D.D.S., 1885. He was demonstrator of anatomy in the Pennsylvania College of Dental Surgery for nineteen years, and has been professor of anatomy in the Pennsylvania College of Dental Surgery for the past eight years. He was surgeon of the Second Brigade of the National Guards of Pennsylvania, 1877-1878, and has been assistant police surgeon of Philadelphia for the past twenty years. He is a member of the Philadelphia County Medical Society, Pennsylvania State Medical Society and American Medical Association, and trustee of the First Presbyterian Church of Philadelphia; is an Odd Fellow, and a member of the Knights of the Golden Eagle, and of the Union Republican Club of Philadelphia. He married in Philadelphia, Sept. 23, 1880, Hannah Rose, and they have had three children, all now deceased. Address: 517 South 8th Street, Philadelphia.

LODGE, Henry Cabot:

United States senator, author; born in Boston, May 12, 1850; son of John Ellerton Lodge. He was graduated from Harvard College, A.B., 1871; studied law at Harvard Law School and was graduated LL.B., 1875, and in 1876. He received the degree of Ph.D. from Harvard University for his thesis on The Land Law of the Anglo-Saxons. He was admitted to the Suffolk Bar in 1876. He is author of Life and Letters of George Cabot, 1877; Short History of the English Colonies in America, 1881; Life of Alexander Hamilton, 1882; Life of Daniel Webster, 1883; Studies in History, 1886; Life of Washington, two volumes, 1889; History of Boston (in the Historic Towns Series, published by the Longmans), 1891; Historical and Political Essays, and a volume of selections from speeches, 1892; author, in conjunction with Theodore Roosevelt, of Hero Tales from American History, 1897; author of Certain Accepted Heroes, and Other Essays, 1897; Story of the Revolution, two volumes, 1888; Story of the Spanish War; A Fighting Frigate, and other essays, 1897; A Frontier Town and other essays, 1906; and he edited the works of Alexander Hamilton, in nine volumes, in 1885. Senator Lodge is a member of the Massachusetts Historical Society, of the Virginia Historical Society, the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, the New England Historic and Genealogical Society, and of the American Antiquarian Society. He has received the degree of LL.D. from Williams College, Clark University, Yale University, and Harvard University; was permanent chairman of the Republican National Convention which met in Philadelphia, June 19, 1900; chairman of the committee on resolutions of the Republican National Convention of 1904 at Chicago; permanent chairman of the Republican National Convention of 1908; was a member of the Commission on Alaskan Boundary, appointed by President Roosevelt; regent of the Smithsonian Institution during the service in the House of Representatives and appointed Regent again in 1905. He served two terms as member of the House of Representatives of the Massachusetts Legislature; was elected to the Fiftieth, Fifty-first, Fifty-second and Fifty-third Congresses; and was elected to the Senate, Jan. 17, 1893, to succeed Henry L. Dawes. He resigned his seat in the House and took his seat in the Senate March 4, 1893, and he was reelected in 1899 and 1905. His term of service will expire March 3, 1911. He is chairman of the Committee on the Philippines and chief spokesman on the floor of the Senate for the Committee on foreign affairs which deals with all the international relations of the United States. Senator Lodge married, April 6, 1872, Anna Cabot David and they have three children: Constance Davis, born in 1872; George Cabot, born in 1873, died in 1909 and John Ellerton, born in 1876. Residence: Nahant, Mass. Address: United States Senate, Washington, D. C.

LOEB, Adolph:

Fire insurance manager; born at Bingen, Germany, March 9, 1839; son of Ludwig and Helen (Brandeis) Loeb. He was educated in the schools of Bingen, and was graduated from the Normal School. He came to this country in his youth and began life as a bookkeeper, at which he continued until 1869, when he established a fire insurance agency at Memphis, Tenn. In 1873 he removed to Chicago, where he established a fire insurance agency, which is still conducted under the style of Adolph Loeb & Son. He has been manager since 1893 for the United States of the North German Fire Insurance Company of Hamburg, Germany, and of the Trans-Atlantic Fire Insurance Company of Hamburg. He is president of the North German Fire Insurance Company of New York, and local agent of the German of Freeport and New Hampshire of Manchester, and general agent of the Anchor Fire Insurance Company of Cincinnati, and of the Atlanta-Birmingham Fire Insurance Company, of Atlanta, Ga. He is ex-president of the Chicago Sinai Congregation, president of the Jewish Agricultural Aid Society, ex-president of the District Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of B'nai B'rith, and trustee of the Cleveland Orphan Asylum. He married in Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1864, Lucille Hart. Address: 159 La Salle Street. Residence: Grand Boulevard, Chicago.

LOEB, Jacques:

Professor of physiology; born April 7, 1859, and was educated in the Aescanisches Gymnasium, Berlin, the Universities of Berlin, Munich and Strassburg, where he received the degree of M.D. in 1884. He was assistant in physiology at the University of Würzburg, 1886-1888; at Strassburg, 1880-1890; Stazione zoologica, at Naples, 1890-1891; associate in biology at Bryn Mawr College, Pennsylvania, 1891-1892; assistant professor of physiology in the University of Chicago, 1892-1895; associate professor, 1895-1900; professor, 1900-1903, and since then head of the Department of Physiology, University of California. He is author of: Animal Heliotropism and its Identity with the Heliotropism of Plants, 1890; Physiological Morphology, Part I; Heteromorphosis, 1891; Physiological Morphology, Part II; Organization and Growth, 1892; Papers on Developmental Mechanics, Physiological Effects of Ions, Artificial Parthenogenesis, Comparative Physiology, Hybridization, etc.; Comparative Physiology of the Brain and Comparative Psychology, 1900; Studies in General Physiology, 1905; The Dynamics of Living Matter, 1906; Untersuchungen über Künstliche Parthenogenese, 1906; Die chemische Entwicklungserregung des thierischen Eies, Berlin, 1909. Professor Loeb married in 1890, Anne L. Leonard, and they have two sons and one daughter. Address: University of California, Berkeley, Calif.

LOEB, James:

Banker; born in New York City, Aug. 6, 1867; son of Solomon and Betty (Gallenberg) Loeb. He was graduated from Harvard University, A.B., 1888. After his graduation he engaged in the banking business in New York City in the firm of Kuhn, Loeb and Company until he retired in 1901. He is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the American Museum of Natural History, the American Institute of Archaeology, the English Society for the Prevention of Hellenic Studies, the New York Botanical Garden, the Municipal Art Society and a member of the Lotos, Lawyers', Players', City, Grolier, Harvard, St. Andrew's Golf and the Colonial Club of Cambridge, Mass. Residence: 37 East 38th Street. Office: 52 William Street, New York City.

LOEB, William, Jr.:

Collector of customs at New York; born in Albany, N. Y., Oct. 9, 1866. He received his education in common and high schools. In 1888 he was stenographer of New York State Assembly; afterward was law and general reporter and acted as private secretary to various public officials, among them the president pro tempore, of the New York State Senate, speaker of the Assembly and lieutenant-governor. In 1894 he was a member of the stenographic corps in the New York State Constitutional Convention; in 1895 was grand jury and district attorney's stenographer of Albany County; stenographer and private secretary to Governor of New York, Jan. 1, 1899; secretary to the vice-president of the United States, March 4, 1901, and was appointed Sept. 25, 1901, assistant secretary to the President, and Feb. 18, 1903, secretary to the President, which position he held to the end of the Roosevelt Administration. He was appointed by President Taft, in 1909, collector of customs at New York. Address: U. S. Custom House, New York City.

LOGAN, Frank Granger:

Commission merchant, retired; he was born on a farm in Cayuga County, N. Y., Oct. 7, 1851; son of Simeon Ford and Phebe (Hazen) Logan. He was educated in the public schools of Cayuga County and at the Ithaca Academy. He went to Chicago in 1870 and entered the dry goods establishment of Field, Leiter & Company as a clerk, remaining in this employment five years. He was then for one year with a Board of Trade firm, after which he entered into business on his own account in the commission grain trade, as a member of the firm of F. G. Logan & Company. The beginnings of the firm were on a modest scale, but in time the house became one of the leading ones operating on the Chicago Board of Trade. Mr. Logan is an archaeologist of some note, and has a fine collection of specimens, which he exhibited in the anthropological department of the World's Columbian Exposition. He has also made a collection of interesting relics relating to the lives of Abraham Lincoln and John Brown, which he exhibited in the Illinois Building at the Exposition. He is a member and officer of Plymouth Church, a director of the City Missionary Society, and a member of the Union League Club. He was married in Chicago, in 1887, to Josie Hancock. Residence: 2919 Prairie Avenue. Address: Board of Trade, Chicago.

LOMBARD, Isaac Gross:

Banker; born at Truro, Mass., Sept. 9, 1835; son of Lewis and Sarah (Gross) Lombard. He was educated in the public schools and at the Davis Academy, Truro. He was secretary of the Union Insurance and Trust Company of Chicago, 1857-1863, having removed to that city in the former year. He was cashier of the Fifth National Bank of Chicago, 1863-1883, and president of the National Bank of America, 1893-1900. He has been director of the Corn Exchange National Bank since 1900, and was chairman of the Clearing House Committee, 1880-1900. He is a member of the New England and Mayflower Societies, and of the Bankers' and Union League Clubs. He was married in Boston, Dec. 24, 1857, to Margaret Baker, and has two children. Residence: 1819 Indiana Avenue. Address: Corn Exchange Bank, Chicago.

LONDON, Jack:

Author; born in San Francisco, Jan. 12, 1876; son of John and Flora (Wellman) London. He was educated at the Oakland (Calif.) High School and the University of California. He became, in turn, a salmon fisher, an oyster pirate, a schooner sailor, a fish patrolman, a longshoreman and general bay-faring adventurer; when he was seventeen he shipped before the mast as able seaman; went to Japan and seal hunting on the Russian side of Bering Sea, among other things, and served at divers times in various forecables. He became possessed of an interest in sociology and economics. Swayed partly by this and partly by the fascination of the enterprise, he tramped over the United States and Canada, many thousands of miles, and had more than one jail experience. Later he repeated his vagabond career in the East End of London. He went over Chilcoat Pass with the first of the Klondike rush of 1897. He went as a war correspondent to Japan, Korea and Manchuria in 1904; and in 1907 started on a seven years' cruise around the world in a fifty-foot Ketch-ryg yacht, which enterprise was terminated because of lack of stirring incident. He is author of: The Son of the Wolf; The God of His Fathers; A Daughter of the Snows; The Children of the Frost; The People of the Abyss; The Cruise of the Dazzler; The Call of the Wild; The Kempton-Wace Letters; The Faith of Men; The Sea-Wolf; The War of the Classes; The Game; Tales of the Fish Patrol; Moon-Face; White-Fang; Love of Life; Before Adam; The Iron Heel; The Road. Mr. London married, first in Oakland, Calif., in 1900, Bessie Maddern, by whom he has two daughters and second, in Chicago, in 1905, Charmian Kittredge. Address: Glen Ellen, Sonoma County, Calif.

LONG, Chester I.:

United States Senator; born in Perry County, Pa., Oct. 12, 1860. He moved with his parents to Daviess County, Mo., in 1865, where he resided until 1879, when he moved to Paola, Kan.; received an academic education; was admitted to the bar at Topeka, Kan., in 1885, and located at Medicine Lodge, where he has since resided. He was elected to the State Senate in 1889; was elected to the Fifty-fourth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, and Fifty-eighth Congresses. Before his term as Representative in the Fifty-eighth Congress began, he was elected as a Republican to the United States Senate to succeed William A. Harris, Democrat, for the term beginning March 4, 1903. His term of service will expire March 3, 1909, as he was defeated for reelection in the primaries of 1908. Senator Long is one of the most active and painstaking of the members of the Senate and has achieved a position of real value to the nation when his political career was interrupted. Address: Medicine Lodge, Kan.

LONG, Eli H.:

Physician; born in Clarence, N. Y., July 24, 1860; son of David and Mary (Miller) Long. He was educated in the public schools of Williamsville, N. Y., and was graduated from the University of Buffalo, Medical Department, as M.D., in 1882; following with post-graduate courses in the University of Pennsylvania in 1882. Since then he has practised medicine in Buffalo. He was professor of materia medica in Pharmacal Department, 1889-1899, dental department since 1893, medical department since 1899 at the University of Buffalo; is also assistant attending physician at the Buffalo General Hospital. He is author of: Table for Doctors and Druggists; Dental Materia Medica and Therapeutics. Dr. Long is medical examiner of the Provident Life and Trust Company, secretary and treasurer of the medical department and dental department of the University of Buffalo; secretary of medical staff of the Buffalo General Hospital; a member of Church of Christ (Disciples), member of the American Medical Association, American Therapeutic Society, Medical Society of the State of New York, Buffalo Academy of Medicine, and a member of the Board of Managers of the New York Christian Missionary Society. He married in Buffalo, in 1884, Alice Eggert, and they have four children. Address: 1335 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

LONGDEN, Aladine Cummings:

Professor of physics; born at Leesville, Ohio, Feb. 19, 1857; son of Samuel and Adaline M. (Cummings) Longden. He was graduated from De Pauw University with first honors in mathematics, A.M., 1884, and Ph.D. from Columbia in 1900. He was instructor in physics and chemistry at the State Normal School, Westfield, Mass., from 1888 to 1897, and has been professor of physics at Knox College since 1901. He has made researches and published articles on electrical subjects. He is a member of the American Physical Society, Société Belge d'Astronomie, and the National Geographic Society; fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and a member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity. He married in Buffalo, N. Y., Dec. 24, 1884, Jeanie L. Humble. Address: 643 West North Street, Galesburg, Ill.

LONGFELLOW, Alexander Wadsworth:

Architect; born at Portland, Me., 1854; son of Alexander W. and Elizabeth (Porter) Longfellow. He was graduated from Harvard College, in the class of 1876, and was a special student at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and the École des Beaux Arts, Paris. He worked for four years as assistant in the office of the late H. H. Richardson in Brookline, and in 1887 established the firm of Longfellow, Alden and Harlow, designers of the Carnegie Library, Pittsburgh, and the Cambridge City Hall, and other works; dissolved in 1895. He then formed another firm with his brother, R. K. Longfellow, and they are the architects of Phillips Brooks House and Semitic Museum, Harvard College, and Grace Eliot Hall, Bertram Hall and Agassiz House, Radcliffe College; and have carried on general practice mostly in Massachusetts and in Maine, where they have designed the Brunswick and Yarmouth Memorial Library. Mr. Longfellow is active in the Arts and Crafts movement, is a trustee of the Boston Athenæum and the Museum of Fine Arts, and a member of the Art Commission of the City of Boston; a fellow of the American Institute of Architects, and member of the Boston Society of Architects, the Somerset, Tavern and Union Clubs of Boston, India Wharf Rats Club of Boston, and the Cumberland Club of Portland, Me. Address: 12 Mt. Vernon Street, Boston.

LONGFELLOW, Ernest Wadsworth:

Artist; born in Cambridge, Mass., in 1845; son of the poet. He was a pupil of Couture, Paris. Some of his works are: Old Mill at Manchester, Mass.; Italian Pines; Love Me, Love My Dog; Misty Morning; John and Priscilla, and others. Address: Century Association, 7 West 43d Street, New York City.

LONGFELLOW, William Pitt Preble:

Architect; born in Portland, Me., Oct. 25, 1836; son of Stephen Longfellow. He was graduated from Harvard, A.B., 1855, B.S., 1859. He was engaged in the practice of architecture in Boston, 1860-1879, and retired from practice in 1879. He was assistant architect of the Treasury Department of the United States, under the first Grant Administration. He is a fellow of the Society of American Architects. He was the first editor of The American Architect, and is author of various works on architectural subjects. Address: 479 Broadway, Cambridge, Mass.

LONGINO, Andrew Houston:

Lawyer and ex-governor; born in Lawrence County, Miss., May 16, 1855; son of John Thomas and Annie (Ramsey) Longino. He was graduated from Mississippi College in 1876, and immediately thereafter became clerk of the Circuit and Chancery Courts of his native county, serving until 1880. He was admitted to the bar, was a State senator, 1880-1884, U. S. district attorney for the Southern District of Mississippi, 1888-1890; chancellor of the Seventh District of Mississippi, 1894-1899, and in 1899 was elected governor of Mississippi, in which office he served from Jan., 1900, to Jan., 1904. Governor Longino married at Jackson, Miss., in 1887, Marion Buckley. Address: Jackson, Miss.

LONGWORTH, Nicholas:

Congressman and lawyer; born in Cincinnati, Ohio, Nov. 5, 1869; son of Nicholas and Susan (Walker) Longworth. He was graduated from Harvard University, A.B., in 1891. After that he spent one year in the Harvard Law School, then went to the Cincinnati Law School, from which he was graduated, LL.B., 1894, and in the same year he was admitted to the bar. Mr. Longworth was a member of the School Board of Cincinnati in 1898; elected to the Ohio House of Representatives, 1899; and to the Ohio Senate, 1901. In 1902 he was elected from the First Ohio District to the Fifty-eighth Congress, and he was reelected to the Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth Congresses, and in 1908 to the Sixty-first Congress. He is a member of the Queen City and Blaine Clubs of Cincinnati, Somerset Club of Boston, and Metropolitan Club of Washington, D. C. Mr. Longworth married, Feb. 17, 1906, Alice Roosevelt, daughter of President Roosevelt. Address: Grandin Road, Cincinnati.

LOOMIS, Archibald Gilbert:

Banker; born in Hartford, Conn., June 20, 1848; son of Pascal and Martha Jones (Greenfield) Loomis. He was educated in the district and high schools of Hartford. He entered the Aetna National Bank of Hartford as a messenger in March, 1865; was promoted to discount clerk the same year, teller next year, acting cashier, 1871, cashier, 1887, director, 1890, president, 1891, and in April, 1899, resigned to accept the position as vice-president of the National Bank of New York City, but resigned Jan., 1905; moved to San Francisco, in Dec., 1905, and he became vice-president of the Union Trust Company of Providence, R. I., in January, 1907. Mr. Loomis is a member of the Bohemian Club of San Francisco. Mr. Loomis married, May 18, 1892, Ellen Seymour Hanson. Residence: 234 Wayland Avenue, Providence, R. I.

LOOMIS, Charles Battell:

Writer and reader; born in Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 16, 1861; son of Charles Battell and Mary (Worthington) Loomis. He was educated at the Juvenile High School and at the Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn, and left at the end of the academic course. Mr. Loomis is author of: Cheerful Americans; A Bath in an English Tub; Minerva's Manœuvres; A Holiday Touch; The Knaek of It; Just Irish; and seven other books. He toured the United States as reader with Jerome K. Jerome; has traveled across the continent, visited every State but two, and has been three times to Europe. Mr. Loomis is a member of the Salmagundi and Authors' Clubs of New York City. He married in Brooklyn, Feb. 14, 1888, Mary Charlotte Fullerton, and they have three children. Address: Leonia, N. J.

LOOMIS, Edward Eugene:

Railroad official; born near Ilion, N. Y., in 1865; son of Chester and Esther Loomis. He received a college education. He entered the railroad service in the law department of the Denver and Rio Grande Railway Company; was appointed, in 1894, superintendent of the Tioga Division of the Erie Railroad, also superintendent of the Blossburg Coal Company, in charge of their bituminous coal and lumber interests. Mr. Loomis was appointed, in 1898, general superintendent of New York, Susquehanna and Western, and the Wilkesbarre and Eastern railroads, and became superintendent of the Coal Mining Department of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad, in June, 1899, and in March, 1902, manager of the entire coal department with charge over mining, shipping and sales of that company's production of anthracite coal. Since April, 1902, he has been vice-president of the same road; and since Aug. 1, 1909, president and director of The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Coal Company. Mr. Loomis is also president of the Bangor and Portland Railway, Lackawanna and Montrose Railroad, Glen Alden and Lackawanna Valley Coal Company, and Arnot Water Company; vice-president of the Hoboken Ferry Company, the Morris and Essex Railroad Company, Syracuse, Binghamton and New York Railroad Company, and Utica, Chenango and Susquehanna Valley Railroad Company; director of the Mark-Twain Company, and also director of the Coal and Iron Bank of New York. He is a member of the American Institute of Mining Engineers, the Lawyers' Club of New York City, Westmoreland Club of Wilkesbarre, Pa., the City and Country Clubs of Scranton, and the City Club of Elmira, N. Y. He married, in Nov., 1902, Julia Olivia Langdon, daughter of General C. J. Langdon of Elmira, N. Y.

Address: 160 West 59th Street, New York City.

LOOMIS, Elmer Howard:

Professor of physics; born in Vermilion, N. Y., May 24, 1861; son of Jiram Warner and Adaline (Sayles) Loomis. He was educated in the public schools of New York, and Mexico Academy, and was graduated from Colgate University, A.B., in 1883, and from Strassburg University, Germany, as Ph.D. He taught physics and chemistry in Colgate Academy, 1883-1890; has been engaged in the department of physics at Princeton University since 1894, and since 1897 has been professor of physics. He is a member of the American Physical Society; fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science; member of Princeton Science Club; trustee of McKinley Hospital; director of the New Jersey Association for Prevention of Tuberculosis, and is a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity. Mr. Loomis married in Mexico, N. Y., June 23, 1885, Mary Bennett, and they have one son. Address: Princeton, N. J.

LOOSE, Jacob L.:

Manufacturer; born in Franklin County, Pa., June 17, 1850; son of Isaac and Ella (Schull) Loose. In 1870 he removed to Sangamon County, Ill. He finished his schooling in the Decatur (Ill.) High School; worked a short time in a Decatur dry goods store, and afterward in a store conducted at Chetopa, Kan., by two of his brothers. One of these he later bought out, the firm becoming D. A. and J. L. Loose, who started a branch house at Joplin, Mo., which his brother later took over, while he continued the Kansas business alone. With his brother, Joseph S. Loose, he bought, in 1882, the controlling interest in the Corle Cracker and Confectionery Company, Kansas City, which became Loose Brothers Manufacturing Company and was greatly enlarged. Mr. Loose organized in 1890, and was president for seven years of the American Biscuit and Manufacturing Company, consolidating all the Western bakers for mutual protection and in opposition to the New York Biscuit Company. Because of ill-health he retired in 1897 and went to Europe. During his absence the American Biscuit and Manufacturing Company was merged with others to form the National Biscuit Company, much against his wishes, and from which he withdrew his interests. When his health was restored he, with his brother, J. S. Loose, and others, organized the Loose-Wiles Cracker and Candy Company, Kansas City; Works Biscuit Company, Minneapolis; Brown Cracker and Candy Company, Dallas; and Manewal-Lange Biscuit Company, St. Louis; also acquiring the Chicago Biscuit Company, Chicago; Austin Biscuit Company, and Hazen Confectionery Company, Boston; also organized the North American Biscuit Company, all direct competitors of the National Biscuit Company. Mr. Loose is a member of the Chicago and Union League Clubs of Chicago, and the Kansas City and Kansas City Country Clubs. He married, in 1878, Ella Clark of Carthage, Mo. Address: 507 R. A. Long Building, Kansas City, Mo.

LORAIN, Robert:

Actor; born at Liscard, Cheshire, England, Jan. 14, 1876; son of Dr. Henry and Ellen (Baylis) Loraine. He attended New Brighton High School, Cheshire, England. He acted romantic rôles in London; appeared in America first in 1901, again in the winters of 1902, 1903, and 1904; on Sept. 5, 1906, he made his first appearance as John Tanner in Man and Superman. He served as trooper in the Ninth Imperial Yeomanry, during the Boer War, 1899-1900, and received the South African war medal, with three bars. Mr. Loraine is a member of the Lambs', and Players' Clubs, New York City. Address: Care of C. B. Dillingham, 1402 Broadway, New York City.

LORD, Chester Sanders:

Editor; born in Romulus, N. Y., March 18, 1850; son of Rev. Edward and Mary Jane (Sanders) Lord. He was graduated from Hamilton College, A.B. and A.M., in 1873, and received the LL.D. from the St. Lawrence University. In 1870 he was associate editor of the Oswego (N. Y.) Advertiser; managing editor of the New York Sun, 1880-1907. He was regent of the University of the State of New York, 1897-1904; and is a member of the New England Society, Sigma Phi fraternity, and of the Union League, University, Lotos Clubs, of which latter he was secretary, 1894-1905, and has since been vice-president; member of the Long Island Country, Barnard, and Dyker Meadow Golf Clubs. He married in Adams, N. Y., Oct. 18, 1871, Katherine M. Bates, and they have two sons. Address: 57 South Portland Avenue, New York City.

LORD, George P.:

Retired banker; born in Barrington, N. Y., July 25, 1831; son of Benjamin M. and Elizabeth (Fleming) Lord. He was educated in the Lima Seminary, and Hobart College, A.M., 1856, also with diploma, from the State Normal School. He was school commissioner for Yates County, 1860-1867; a member of the State Assembly, 1871-1872, and of the State Senate, 1879-1883; and was State Civil service commissioner during the terms of Governors Morton and Black. He is a Republican and a member of the Episcopal Church and built the Episcopal Church in Dundee, N. Y., in memory of his deceased wife. He is a member of the Dundee Board of Education and Alpha Delta Phi Society. Mr. Lord married, March 2, 1859, Eliza Bunce. Address: Dundee, Yates County, N. Y.

LORD, John Brackett:

Manufacturer; born at Newton Upper Falls, Mass., June 30, 1843; son of Brackett and Clarissa Williams (Winslow) Lord. He was educated in the public schools of Newton, Mass., and at the Wesleyan Academy, Wilbraham, Mass. His father was engaged in the grain and flour business, and when the son left school he entered his father's establishment, where he remained until 1872, when he removed to the town of Kansas, Ill., where he owned a large grain warehouse, of which he took charge. He was a general buyer and shipper of grain throughout Central Illinois, 1875-1882; in the railroad lumber supply business, in association with C. W. Powell, of Paris, Ill., 1882-1884, and in the same business in Chicago, 1884-1893, when the firm dissolved; since 1893 of the Ayer & Lord Tie Company, said to be the largest dealer in oak ties for railroads in the United States. He is a member of the Chicago, Kenwood and Homewood Clubs. He married, in 1874, to Annie E. Steele, of Grand View, Ill., and has four children. Residence: 4857 Greenwood Avenue. Office: Railway Exchange, Chicago, Ill.

LORD, William Paine:

Ex-governor of Oregon; born in Dover, Del., in 1838. After serving through the Civil War as major of a Delaware Cavalry Regiment in the Union Army, he studied law, was commissioned as lieutenant in the Regular Army, and served in Alaska until 1868, when he resigned from the army and began the practice of law at Salem, Ore., of which he has ever since been a citizen. He became prominent in the Republican party of Oregon, was for fourteen years a judge of the Supreme Court of Oregon; governor of Oregon, 1895-1899, and minister plenipotentiary and envoy extraordinary of the United States to the Argentine Republic, 1899-1903. Address: Salem, Ore.

LORE, Charles Brown:

Jurist; born at Odessa, Del., March 16, 1831; son of Eldad C. and Priscilla Lore. He was graduated from Dickinson College, A.B., 1852. He afterward studied law and engaged in practice at Wilmington, Del., until 1893. He was attorney-general of Delaware, 1869-1874; was elected to the Forty-eighth Congress as a Democrat in 1882 and to the Fifty-ninth Congress in 1884; was elected Presidential elector on the Hancock ticket in 1880 and the Cleveland ticket in 1892, and since 1893 has served in his present office of chief justice of Delaware. Address: Wilmington, Del.

LOREE, Leonor Fresnel:

Railway official; born in Fulton City, Ill., April 23, 1858. He was educated in Rutledge College; and began railway service in 1877, as assistant in the engineer corps of the Pennsylvania Railroad. He was transitman in the Engineer Corps of the U. S. Army, 1879-1881; leveler, transitman and topographer on the preliminary survey and location of the Mexican National Railway, from the Rio Grande River to Saltillo, Mexico, 1881-1883. In 1883 he began his long connection with the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburgh, as assistant engineer of the Chicago division, 1883-1884; engineer maintenance of way, various Western divisions, 1884-1889; superintendent of the Cleveland and Pittsburgh Division, 1889-1896; general manager 1896-1901, and fourth vice-president, from Jan. to June, 1901, of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburgh. He became president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railway, 1901-1904; of the Rock Island Company of New Jersey, Jan. to Oct., 1904; president of the Delaware and Hudson Company, in April, 1907. He has been since 1907, chairman of the Executive Committee of the Kansas City Southern Railway; trustee of the Equitable Trust Company of New York; director of the National Railroad Company of Mexico and of the Underground Electric Railways Company of London, Limited. Mr. Loree is a member of the Century, Midday, Oakland and Maidstone Golf Clubs of New York, the Automobile Club of America, the Union Club of Cleveland, Ohio, and the Rittenhouse Club of Philadelphia. Residence: Hoffman House. Office: 25 Broad Street, New York City.

LORIMER, George Horace:

Editor; born in Louisville, Ky., Oct. 6, 1868; son of Rev. George Claude Lorimer, D.D., distinguished Baptist divine, and Belle (Burford) Lorimer. After completing a high school course in Chicago he studied at Colby University and later at Yale; engaged in journalism and in 1899 became editor-in-chief of the Saturday Evening Post, of Philadelphia. Mr. Lorimer is author of: Behind the Veil of Isis; Letters from a Self-made Merchant to His Son, 1902; Old Gorgon Graham, 1904; Jack Spurlock—Prodigal, 1907. He married, June 6, 1893, Alma Viola Ennis, daughter of Alfred and Almarinda (Baldrige) Ennis of Chicago. Residence: Wyncote, Pa. Office: Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia.

LORIMER, William:

U. S. Senator; born in Manchester, England, April 27, 1861; resident, since 1870, of Chicago, where he attended the public schools. He began work at twelve and continued in various trades until 1886, when he became a real estate agent, later entering the contracting business. He was superintendent of the Water Department of the City of Chicago for two years. Mr. Lorimer has been prominent in Chicago politics for years as an active Republican. He was elected to the Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, and Sixtieth Congresses, and reelected to the Sixty-first Congress, from the Sixth Illinois District; but resigned from the House of Representatives upon his election by the Legislature of Illinois, as U. S. Senator from Illinois to succeed Hon. Albert J. Hopkins, for the term expiring March 3, 1915. Address: 1183 Douglas Park Boulevard, Chicago, Ill.

LORING, William Caleb:

Jurist; born at Beverly, Mass., Aug. 24, 1851; son of Caleb William and Elizabeth Smith (Peabody) Loring. He was graduated from Harvard Law School, LL.B., in 1874, and received the A.M. degree, 1875, and LL.D. degree, 1901, from Harvard University. He was assistant attorney-general of Massachusetts, 1875-1879, and after that engaged in private practice until 1899, when he became one of the associate justices of the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts, in which office he continues. Judge Loring is a Republican. He married, in 1884, Susan Mason Lawrence. Address: Court House, Pemberton Square, Boston, Mass.

LOTT, Edson Schuyler:

Casualty insurance underwriter; born in Yates County, N. Y., Nov. 10, 1858; son of Jesse T. and Sarah M. (Wheeler) Lott. He was educated in the public schools and in the Academy at Penn Yan, N. Y. He engaged in newspaper work. Later he became interested in the insurance business; and upon the organization of the United States Casualty Company, was made assistant secretary, afterwards being elected secretary, then general manager and director, and later president, the position he now holds. Mr. Lott was elected president of the International Association of Accident Underwriters in 1903, and reelected in 1904; elected member of the Executive Committee of the Board of Casualty and Surety Underwriters in 1906, and president of that body in 1908. In the same year he was elected vice-president of the Casualty and Surety Men's Social Club of New York. He has been vice-president of the Alliance Against Accident Fraud since its organization in 1905. He was president of the Yates County Society in the City of New York four years, 1900-1904. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the International Insurance Encyclopedia. He has written and lectured extensively on casualty insurance topics. Mr. Lott is a member of the Underwriters', Lawyers', Down Town and Republican Clubs of New York City. He married Emma A. Cowl, and they have a son, Frederic B. Address: 141 Broadway, New York City.

LOUD, George Alvin:

Congressman; born at Bracebridge, Geauga County, Ohio, June 18, 1852; son of Henry M. and Villetta (Kile) Loud. He was graduated from Ann Arbor (Mich.) High School, 1869. He has been engaged in the lumber business for thirty years, in connection with his father and brothers. He was elected as a Republican to the Fifty-eighth Congress and reelected to the Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses from the Tenth Michigan District. He married, Dec. 5, 1888, Elizabeth Glennie. Address: Au Sable, Mich.

LOUD, John S.:

Lieutenant-colonel, U. S. A.; born in New York, April 12, 1842. He entered the Union Army as a private in Company E of the Seventh New York National Guard, May 25, 1862, from which he was discharged Sept. 5, 1862. He was commissioned first lieutenant of the 12th New York Volunteer Cavalry, Jan. 5, 1863, and promoted to captain, Jan. 25, 1864, and he was honorably mustered out, June 24, 1865. He served in the field during the Civil War in North Carolina, afterward with the 8th corps in the Army of the James, and was brevetted first lieutenant and captain, March 2, 1867, for meritorious services during the war. He was commissioned second lieutenant of the 9th U. S. Cavalry, Jan. 22, 1867, first lieutenant, July 31, 1867, captain, Jan. 13, 1880, and major 3d U. S. Cavalry, June 29, 1897, retired June 30, 1898, and was promoted to lieutenant-colonel, U. S. A., retired, April 23, 1904. His service in the Regular Army was on the Texas frontier from 1867 to 1875, in New Mexico from 1876 to 1882, and on various frontier posts and Indian campaigns from 1882 until his retirement. Address: 3209 Thirteenth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

LOUDENSLAGER, Henry Clay:

Congressman; born in Mauricetown, N. J., May 22, 1852; reared on farm at Paulsboro, Gloucester County, N. J., from 1856. After leaving the home farm he engaged in business in Philadelphia, in 1872, and continued in it ten years, then returned to Paulsboro. He was elected county clerk of Gloucester County, in 1882, and reelected in 1887; was elected to the Fifty-third, Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, and Sixtieth Congresses, and reelected in 1908 to the Sixty-first Congress from the First New Jersey District, as a Republican. Address: Paulsboro, N. J.

LOUGEE, Willis Eugene:

Secretary of the International Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association;

born in Chelsea, Vt., May 2, 1857; son of John C. and Marcia H. Lougee. He received his education at Gilmanton Academy, N. H. He was formerly president of the Presbyterian Union, Manhattan, trustee of the McAuley Mission, and of Madura College, India; director of the New York Christian Home for Intemperate Men; a member of the Board of Governors of White Plains Hospital Association and Jennie Clarkson Home for Children; was formerly business manager of the International Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association; closely identified with Mr. Moody in Northfield work; raised a large amount of money for the Young Men's Christian Association work in the army during the Spanish-American War; had much to do with securing the endowment fund for the International Committee and recently elected associate secretary of the Congregational Home Missionary Society. He was the executive secretary of the Joint Missionary Campaign for securing funds for clearing off the debts of the three great Congregational societies. He married at Eau Claire, Wis., March 17, 1895, Ella J. Reed. Address: 287 Fourth Avenue, New York City.

LOUNSBURY, Phineas Chapman:

Banker and ex-governor; born in Ridgefield, Conn., Jan. 10, 1844. He was educated in the public schools, and during the Civil War was a private in the Seventeenth Regiment of Connecticut Volunteer Infantry, but was compelled to retire from the service by serious illness. After the war he engaged in business, and also became active in politics as a Republican, was a member and speaker in the House of Representatives of the Connecticut Legislature, and was governor of Connecticut, 1887-1889. Governor Lounsbury has for years been president of the Merchants' Exchange National Bank of New York City, is president of the Preferred Accident Insurance Company, and an officer and director in various corporations. He is a member of the New England Society in New York, and of the Union League and Republican Clubs of New York City. Residence: Ridgefield, Conn. Office: Merchants' Exchange National Bank, 257 Broadway, New York City.

LOVEJOY, Francis Thomas Fletcher:

Iron manufacturer; born in Baltimore, July 21, 1854. He was educated in the public schools of Washington, Ohio, taking instruction in Telegraphy while attending school. He was employed at Washington, Ohio, and Pithole, Pa. as telegrapher, 1870-1880; employed by American Union Telegraph Company, Pittsburgh, 1880; entered the service of the Carnegie steel interests as clerk and telegrapher, June, 1881; he became auditor in April, 1889, of Carnegie Brothers & Company, Limited, and of Carnegie, Phipps & Company, Limited, becoming also a member and stockholder, of these concerns; elected secretary of Carnegie Brothers & Company, June, 1889; elected member of the Boards of Managers of both associations, 1891; in 1892, took active part in their consolidation, becoming secretary and manager of the Carnegie Steel Company, Limited, July 1, 1892; selected by the board of managers and by Henry C. Frick to give information to newspapers during the Homestead strike, 1892; resigned positions, 1900, refusing to join attack by majority of stockholders upon Mr. Frick, chairman of the Board of Managers. He conducted all the compromise negotiations, wrote the agreement under which the new company was to be formed and was appointed one of the committee to carry out the provisions of the agreement. He is now largely interested in Western mining enterprises, and local banks and insurance companies and is a member of various clubs. Mr. Lovejoy married, June 22, 1892, Jane Clyde Fleming, and has three children: Francis, born 1894; Kenneth, born 1896, and Marjory, born 1899. Address: Braddock Avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa.

LOVELAND, John Winthrop:

Lawyer; born in West Pittston, Pa., Oct. 1, 1866; son of John and Helen M. (Strong) Loveland; descended from the colonial families of Buckingham, Strong and Deming. He was educated at the Pennsylvania Military College, Yale University and Columbia Law School. He is a specialist in patent, trade-mark and copyright causes; is patent counsel for the Linen Thread Company, Harrison Safety Boiler Works, Barbour Brothers Flax Company, Naval Electric Company and many others. Mr. Loveland was a member of Squadron A of the National Guard of New York; Troop A. U. S. Volunteers, serving in the Porto Rico campaign in 1898, in the Spanish-American War; was second lieutenant of the Fourth Regiment of New Jersey; first lieutenant and adjutant of the Fifth Regiment of New Jersey Infantry. He is a Republican in politics and a deacon of the Presbyterian Church of Englewood, N. J. He is a member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, American Society of Mechanical Engineers, National Geographic Society, United States Infantry Association, Pennsylvania Military College Alumni Association; trustee of the Pennsylvania Military College. His favorite recreations are yachting, canoeing, automobilng, riding and shooting. In 1889 he was a member of the Berkeley Athletic Club and anchored the lightweight tug-of-war team that won the championship of the United States; is an expert military rifle and revolver shot. Mr. Loveland is a member of the Pennsylvania Society, Yale, Lawyers', and Englewood Field Club. He married at Elmira, N. Y., June 5, 1890, Florence Lee Partridge, and they have a son and two daughters. Residence: Englewood, N. J. Office: 149 Broadway, New York City.

LOVELL, Leander Newton:

Senior partner of the firm of Borden and Lovell; born at Fall River, Mass., in 1835; son of Leander P. and Ariadne B. Lovell. He was educated in Fall River. Mr. Lovell is president of Borden Mining Company, Lovell Coal Mining Company, Northern Insurance Company of New York, Eastern Coal and Coke Company, director of the Ohio and Kentucky Railway Company and in Lake Superior and subsidiary corporations; trustee of the Atlantic Mutual Insurance Company; chairman of the Executive Committee of Bituminous Coal Association. He is an elder of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian Church of Plainfield, N. J.; also president of the Plainfield Board of Education; life member of the New York Young Men's Christian Association; one of the managers of the Life Savings Benevolent Association of New York City. Mr. Lovell is governor of the New Jersey Society of Mayflower Descendants; member of the Society of Colonial Wars, the New York Society of Sons of American Revolution, Metropolitan Museum of Art, New England Society of New York, and the New York Chamber of Commerce. He married in Fall River, Mass., 1867, Phebe Borden Durfee, and they have eight children. Residence: Plainfield, N. J. Office 17, Battery Place, New York City.

LOVEMAN, Robert:

Author; born in Cleveland, Ohio, April 11, 1864; son of David R. and Esther (Schwartz) Loveman. He was graduated from the University of Alabama, M.A. He has published: Poems, 1889; Poems, 1890; Poems, 1896 (Lippincott); A Book of Verses, 1900; The Gates of Silence, 1903 (Putnam); Songs from a Georgia Garden, 1904, (Lippincott); Echoes from the Gates of Silence (Lippincott), 1905; and has been a contributor to leading magazines. Address: Dalton, Ga.

LOVERING, William C.:

Congressman; born in 1835, in Rhode Island. He was educated in the Cambridge, (Mass.) High School and the Hopkins Classical School. He has been engaged in cotton manufacturing nearly all his life, and is now president of the Whittenton Manufacturing Company. He is interested in many other manufactories, in which he is president, director and manager; served for a short period in the war as engineer at Fort Monroe; retired from the service an invalid. He was State senator for two years, 1874-1875; was a delegate to the National Republican Convention that nominated Garfield in 1880; was nominated by acclamation in the Congressional convention of the Twelfth Massachusetts District, Sept. 22, 1896, and elected to the Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, reelected to the Fifty-ninth Congresses, and was reelected in 1906 and 1908 to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses from the Fourteenth Massachusetts District as a Republican. Address: Taunton, Mass.

LOVETT, Eldon H.:

Clergyman; born in Lincoln, Penobscot County, Me., 1852; son of Alfred L. and Julia A. (Jordan) Lovett. He was graduated from Colgate University, A.B., 1877 and from Hamilton Theological Seminary in 1885, and received the degree of D.D. in 1900, from the same institution. He was pastor of West Baptist Church, Oswego, N. Y., five years, of Calvary Church, Davenport, Iowa, six years, and since 1898 has been engaged in evangelistic work and in raising money for Baptist educational institutions. He was secretary of Colgate University for two years, and of various philanthropic institutions; and has traveled extensively. He raised $65,000 for Cook Academy; large sums for colleges at Des Moines, Iowa and Sioux Falls, S. Dak.; $85,000 for Ottawa University and $30,000 for Hiawatha Academy, in Kansas; $50,000 for Colby Academy, New London, N. H., over $125,000 for Colgate University, $30,000 for South Jersey Institute, Bridgeton, N. J., and is in much demand today for this kind of work. He has baptised one thousand candidates in his pastorate. He is a member of the Beta Theta Pi Society. Dr. Lovett married in Alton, Ill., 1871, Martha G. McGlauffin, and they have four children. Address 146 South Portland Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

LOW, Seth:

Merchant, educator and philanthropist; born in Brooklyn, N. Y., Jan. 8, 1850; son of Abiel Abbot and Ellen (Dow) Low. He was prepared in the Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute, entered Columbia College and was graduated as A.B., 1870. He received the LL.D degree from Amherst College, 1889; from the University of the State of New York, University of Pennsylvania, Harvard, and Trinity College in 1890, from Princeton, 1896 and from Yale, 1901. After his graduation in 1870 he took an extended foreign tour, then became a clerk in the mercantile house of his father and uncles, A. A. Low and Brothers, in which he became a partner in 1875. He was made the first president of the Brooklyn Bureau of Charities, and was officially and otherwise associated with other philanthropic institutions and reform movements in his city. He took active part as a Republican in local and national politics, and was one of the organizers of the Young Republican organization in Brooklyn. He was elected mayor of Brooklyn in 1881, and was reelected in 1883, serving until 1885. He was president of Columbia University, 1890-1901, and it was mainly through his efforts that the University was removed to its present commanding site on Morningside Heights, to the fund for which he personally contributed a million dollars. Mr. Low became an independent candidate for mayor of Greater New York in 1897, but was defeated; and in 1899 he was selected by President McKinley as one of the representatives of the United States Government at the Hague Peace Conference, in the deliberations of which he took a prominent part. He was elected mayor of Greater New York on the Fusion ticket in 1900, serving 1901-1903. Mr. Low has been president of the Geographical Society of New York and the New York Academy of Political Science, and he is now president of the National Civic Federation. He is vice-president of the New York Academy of Sciences; honorary member of the Chamber of Commerce of New York; member of the Society of Mayflower Descendants, the Century Association, University, Union League, Metropolitan, City, Republican, New York Yacht, Down Town, Authors, National Arts, Barnard and Columbia University Clubs of New York City, and the Hamilton Club of Brooklyn. Mr. Low married, Dec. 9, 1880, Annie, daughter of Judge B. R. Curtis. Address: 30 East 64th Street, New York City.

LOW, Will Hicok:

Artist; born in Albany, N. Y., May 31, 1853. He studied art under Gérôme and Carolus Duran, Paris. He was in charge of the life classes in schools of Cooper Union, 1882-1885, in the National Academy of Design, 1889-1892; and visiting instructor of the Chicago Art Institute, in 1902. His work includes, besides portraits and illustrations, mural paintings in Hotel Waldorf and many private residences and public buildings. He was awarded medals at various expositions: Paris, 1889; Chicago in 1893. Mr. Low has been academicien of National Academy of Design since 1890. He is a member of the Society of American Artists (a founder), Fine Arts Federation, National Society of Mural Painters and of Century and Lotos Clubs. Mr. Low married in Paris, 1875, Berthe Eugenie Marie Julianne. Address: Lawrence Park, Bronxville, N. Y.

LOWDEN, Frank Orren:

Lawyer, member of Congress; born at Sunrise City, Minn., Jan. 26, 1861; son of Lorenzo Orren and Nancy Elizabeth (Breg) Lowden. His boyhood was spent at Point Pleasant, Iowa, where he attended the public school in the winter months, working on the farm in the summer season. He attended the Iowa State University at Iowa City, and graduated as valedictorian of his class, in 1885, then went to the Union College of Law in Chicago, distinguishing himself there also, being the valedictorian of the class of 1887, and receiving first prizes for oration and scholarship. He was admitted to the bar of Illinois in September, 1887, and immediately engaged in the practice of law at Chicago, taking for himself a place of prominence at the bar. In 1899, in addition to his practice, he became a professor of law at the Northwestern University Law School, and in 1898 he was elected president of the Law Club of Chicago. He was for a time director of the National Bank of the Republic, National Biscuit Company, Central Trust Company, American Radiator Company, the Pullman Company, and various other corporations. As a believer in the principles and policies of the Republican party Mr. Lowden has been active in its councils in the State of Illinois and in the Nation. He was a delegate to the National Republican Convention at Philadelphia, 1900, and Chicago, 1904. In the State Convention of 1904 he was a strong candidate for Governor in the triangular contest which deadlocked the convention for several weeks at Springfield, and he was elected and is now serving as the National Committeeman from Illinois, and was a member of the Republican Executive Committee for the Roosevelt Campaign of 1904. He was nominated and elected, at the November election in 1906, as successor to the late Robert R. Hitt for the unexpired portion of the Fifty-ninth Congress, and for the Sixtieth Congress, from the Thirteenth Congressional District of Illinois. He has also been prominent in the affairs of the National Guard, and was commissioned in 1898, as lieutenant-colonel of the First Infantry Regiment, Illinois National Guard. Colonel Lowden is a member of the American Bar Association, Illinois State Bar Association and Chicago Bar Association, and is a member of several leading clubs in Chicago and elsewhere. He married in Chicago, April 29, 1896, Florence, daughter of the late George M. Pullman, president of the Pullman Palace Car Company. They have a magnificent home and farm in the most picturesque portion of the beautiful Rock River Country, near Oregon, the county seat of Ogle County, Ill. Address: Oregon, Ill.

LOWE, Perley:

Lumberman; born in Levant, Me., Dec. 6, 1845; son of William G. and Susan (Moor) Lowe. He attended the public schools at intervals while working on his father's farm, and acquired a liberal education. In 1864 he enlisted as a private in the first Maine Cavalry, and served under General Phil Sheridan until the close of the war. After being mustered out he taught school in his native State. In 1867 he went to Chicago, where he worked in various lumber yards, gradually acquiring sufficient means to enter business on his own account, which he did in 1875 as a member of the firm of Thompson Brothers & Lowe, which continued until 1879, when it was changed to Kelley, Lowe & Company. Since 1889 the style of the firm has been Perley Lowe & Company. He was for several terms a director, later vice-president and in 1886 president of the Lumbermen's Exchange of Chicago. He is a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and is distinguished for his activity as a layman. He has been greatly interested in the success of the Halstead Street Mission and was a lay delegate from the Rock River Conference to the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Los Angeles, Calif., in 1904. He is president of the Wesley Hospital Association and a trustee of the Northwestern University. Mr. Lowe is a member of the Westward Ho and Chicago Golf Clubs. He married in Chicago, 1873, Eliza Templeton, and has four daughters. Residence: 599 Washington Boulevard. Address: Railway Exchange Building, Chicago, Ill.

LOWELL, Abbott Lawrence:

President of Harvard University; born in Boston, Dec. 13, 1856; son of Augustus and Katharine Bigelow (Lawrence) Lowell. He obtained his preparatory training at schools in Paris, France, and Boston, was graduated from Harvard, A.B., 1877, and LL.B., 1880, and continued his professional studies in the office of Russell and Putnam, in Boston. In 1880 he began the practice of law with Francis C. Lowell, and in 1891 F. J. Stimson became associated with the Messrs. Lowell in the firm. Mr. Lowell was for some years a member of the Boston School Committee; became a lecturer at Harvard, 1897-1898, and in 1900 became professor of the science of government in Harvard University. He succeeded his father in 1900 as a trustee of the Lowell Institute, and also became a member of the Corporation of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. In 1909 he became president of Harvard University, to which office he was elected upon the resignation of Dr. Charles W. Eliot. He was joint author, with Francis C. Lowell, of a book on The Transfer of Stock in Corporations, 1884; and is author of Essays on Government, 1889; Governments and Parties in Continental Europe (two volumes), 1896; Oscillations in Politics, 1898; Colonial Civil Service (with Professor Morse H. Stephens), 1900; The Influence of Party Upon Legislation in England and America, 1906; and also contributions to magazines and reviews.

He is a member of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences. He married in Boston, June 19, 1879, Anna Parker Lowell, daughter of George Gardner and Mary Ellen (Parker) Lowell. Address: Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass.

LOWELL, Francis Cabot:

Judge of the U. S. Circuit Court; born in Boston, Jan. 7, 1855; son of George G. and Mary Ellen (Parker) Lowell. After his graduation from Harvard College as A.B., 1876, he attended Harvard Law School; and in 1880 he was admitted to the bar, and practised law in Boston until 1898. He became interested in politics as a Republican; was a member of the Common Council of the City of Boston, 1889-1892; and of the House of Representatives in the General Court of Massachusetts, 1895-1898. He was appointed in 1898 judge of the District Court of the United States for the District of Massachusetts, and served in that capacity until promoted to the Circuit bench in 1905, now serving in the Circuit Court of the United States for the First Circuit. Judge Lowell is author of a work on Joan of Arc, published in 1896, and is a contributor to magazines. He married in New York City, Nov. 27, 1882, Cornelia Prince Baylies. Residence: 159 Beacon Street, Office: Post office Building, Boston.

LOWELL, Percival:

Author, astronomer; born in Boston, March 13, 1855; son of Augustus and Katharine Bigelow (Lawrence) Lowell. He was graduated from Harvard as A.B. cum laude in 1876, and received the degree of LL.D. from Amherst College in 1907. He was counsellor and foreign secretary to the Korean Special Mission to the United States, 1883; guest of the Korean Government at Seoul in 1883, and lived in Japan at intervals; established the Lowell Observatory in 1894; undertook with Todd, the Eclipse Expedition to Tripoli in 1900; and sent an expedition to the Andes to photograph the planet Mars in 1907. He is author of: Chosön, 1885; The Soul of the Far East, 1886; Noto, 1891; Occult Japan, 1894;

Mars, 1895; Annals of the Lowell Observatory, Volume I, 1898, Volume II, 1900 and Volume III, 1905; The Solar System, 1903; Mars and Its Canals, 1906; also numerous contributions to learned societies. He is a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences; member of the Royal Asiatic Society of Great Britain and Ireland, American Philosophical Society, Société Astronomique de France, Astronomische Gesellschaft, Société Belge d'Astronomie; honorary member of the Sociedad Astronomica de Mexico; Janssen medalist of the Société Astronomique de France in 1904 for researches on Mars; member of the Corporation of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology; non-resident professor of astronomy at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology since 1902, and director of the Lowell Observatory at Flagstaff, Ariz., since 1894. Dr. Lowell has traveled around the world several times. He is a member of the Somerset, Union, St. Botolph Clubs of Boston, Century and Aero Clubs of New York, the Imperial Tokyo Club of Tokyo, and of the Grosvenor Club of London. Residence: 11 West Cedar Street. Office address: 53 State Street, Boston.

LOWREY, William Tyndale:

President of Mississippi College and Baptist clergyman; born near Booneville, Miss., March 3, 1858; son of General M. P. and Sarah (Holmes) Lowrey. He was graduated from Mississippi College, B.A., 1881, and M.A., 1884; studied at the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, 1881-1885, and received the degree of D.D. from Keachi College in 1892, and LL.D. from Union University in 1904. On March 3, 1885, Mr. Lowrey accepted the presidency of Blue Mountain College, and served in that position until 1898, when he was elected president of the Mississippi College, in which position he has remained until the present time. Since June 1, 1906, Dr. Lowrey has also been president of Hillman College (for young ladies), Clinton, Miss. He married at Dardenelle, Ark., Sept. 1, 1886, Miss Theodosia Searcy, and has five children. Address: Clinton, Miss.

LOWRY, Hiram Harrison:

Clergyman and college president; born in Zanesville, Ohio, May 29, 1843; son of Hiram and Margaret (Spear) Lowry. He was educated in Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, Ohio, from which he has received the degrees of A.B., A.M. and D.D. He served as a private in the Ninety-seventh Regiment of Ohio Volunteers, Aug. 11, 1862, to Feb. 25, 1863. After leaving college he was ordained as a minister in the Methodist Episcopal Church; was appointed a missionary to China in 1867; located at Foochow, 1867-1869, and at Peking since 1869. He was superintendent of North China Mission for twenty years, and is now president of Peking University, and chairman of the General Board of Education in China. He married at Delaware, Ohio, Feb. 28, 1867, Parthenia E. Nicholson, and they have four children. Address: Peking, China.

LOWRY, Robert:

Lawyer and ex-governor; born in South Carolina in 1830. After completing his education in the ordinary schools he studied law and was admitted to the Mississippi bar, and practised in Jasper County until the Civil War, when he enlisted as a private in the Sixth Mississippi Regiment, of which he was elected major. Later he was promoted to colonel and in 1864 to brigadier-general. He served at Shiloh and through the heaviest campaigns in Georgia, Tennessee and Mississippi. After the war he resumed practice; served in the Mississippi House of Representatives and Senate, and in 1882 was elected governor; and he was reelected in 1886, serving eight years, after that resuming the practice of law in Jackson, Miss. He married in 1849, Maria M. Gammage. Address: Jackson, Miss.

LOWRY, Thomas:

Railway official; born in Logan County, Ill., Feb. 27, 1843; son of Samuel R. and Rachel (Bullock) Lowry. After completing his general education at Lombard University, Galesburg, Ill., he studied law, and after his admission to the bar he engaged in practice at Minneapolis. He became interested in the local street railways and finally became sole owner of all the street railways of Minneapolis and St. Paul. These he rehabilitated and reorganized into one compact system under the name of the Twin City Rapid Transit Company, of which he is president. He is also president of the Minneapolis, Saint Paul and Sault Sainte Marie Railroad, and is interested in various banks and other corporations of the Twin Cities and elsewhere. Address: Minneapolis, Minn.

LUCAS, Frederick Augustus:

Curator, osteologist; born in Plymouth, Mass., March 25, 1852; son of A. H. and Eliza O. Lucas. He was educated in Plymouth High School; became assistant in Ward's Natural Science Establishment, Rochester, N. Y., 1871-1872. He was osteologist 1882-1887; assistant curator, 1887-1898, and curator, 1897-1904, in the Division comparative Anatomy in the U. S. Natural Museum of Washington and since May, 1904, curator in chief of the museum of Brooklyn Institute, Arts and Sciences. Mr. Lucas was a member of the commission to investigate the condition of the fur seal herd of Pribilof Islands; and he is a fellow of the American Ornithologists' Union, New York Academy of Sciences, Museum Association of Great Britain, American Association of Museums, Biological Society of Washington, and American Bison Society. He has written various papers on the osteology of birds; museum methods, and fossil vertebrates and particularly on the structure and species of stegosaurs. He is author of: Animals of the Past, 1901; Animals of Before Man in North America, 1902. Mr. Lucas married, Feb. 13, 1884, Annie J. Edgar. Address: 827 President Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

LUDINGTON, Charles H., Jr.:

Magazine publisher; born in New York City, 1866; son of Charles H. and Josephine L. (Noyes) Ludington. He attended St. Paul's School for five years and Yale University, B.A., 1887, M.A., 1888. He is secretary-treasurer and director of The Curtis Publishing Company of Philadelphia, and director of the Home pattern Company of New York. Mr. Ludington is a member of the American Academy of Political Science, American Geographic Society, American Civic Association, Octavia Hill Association, New England Society, Yale Alumni Association, the University Club of New York, the Racquet and Down Town Clubs of Philadelphia, Merion Cricket Club of Bryn Mawr and the Polo Club. He married in Brooklyn, April 24, 1895, Ethel Mildred Salts, and they have three children. Residence: Ardmore, Pa. Address: 425 Arch Street, Philadelphia.

LUDLAM, Charles Stewart:

Certified public accountant; born in Chicago, Nov. 11, 1866; son of James D. and Isabel (Stewart) Ludlam. He was educated in Chicago public schools. He began work with The Pullman Company, as office boy at fourteen years of age; remained two years, advancing to bookkeeper of its capital stock accounts and records; resigned and went to Albuquerque, N. Mex., on account of health; worked several years in the accounting department of Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company, at Albuquerque; left there to go to Colorado as general bookkeeper in the treasurer's office, Colorado Midland Railway; then for several years with J. J. Hagerman, a capitalist of Colorado, and general accountant and auditor of seventeen different railroad, construction, mining, irrigation and land companies; then went to Eddy (now Carlsbad) N. Mex., as auditor of the Pecos Valley Railway, now a part of the Santa Fé System, and left that road to become associated with Haskins & Sells; now a member of that firm, who are certified public accountants, of New York City, Chicago, St. Louis, Cleveland, Pittsburgh and London, England. In politics he is a Republican. He is a member of the American Association of Public Accountants, New York State Society of Certified Public Accountants, Illinois Society of Certified Public Accountants, Ohio Society of Certified Public Accountants, Missouri Society of Public Accountants, American Economical Association, American Academy of Political and Social Science, and American Automobile Association. His favorite recreation is automobilizing. He is a member of the Manhattan and Lawyers' Clubs of New York City and of Chicago Athletic Club. Mr. Ludlam married in New York City, Aug. 30, 1904, Anna Gately. Address: 30 Broad Street, New York City.

LUKE, Arthur Fuller:

Banker; born in Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 28, 1853, of an old Massachusetts family. He was educated in public schools, and at seventeen went to work in a wholesale clothing house in Boston, but six months later he became messenger and general clerk in First National Bank, Cambridge, remaining one year; then in National Bank of the Commonwealth, Boston, until 1878; national bank examiner for the Boston District, 1878-1880; cashier of the National Bank of North America, Boston, 1880-1890; assistant treasurer 1890-1893, treasurer 1890-1899, of the National Tube Works Company, McKeesport, Pa.; treasurer of National Tube Company of New York, 1899-1901, treasurer of the United States Steel Corporation, April, 1901, to Jan. 1, 1902; since then of the banking house of Darr, Luke & Moore, Pittsburgh and New York City. He is a member of the Metropolitan Lawyers, New York Riding and New York Athletic Club. Mr. Luke married, Dec. 18, 1878, Eliza W. Brown. Residence: 1 West 92d Street. Office: 115 Broadway, New York City.

LUKE, John Guthrie:

Paper manufacturer; born in Springfield, Mass., April 29, 1857; son of William and Rosa Thompson (Lindsay) Luke. He was educated in the public schools of Delaware, and Taylor & Jackson's Academy, Wilmington, Del. He is president and director of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, and director of the Irving Exchange National Bank. He is a member of the New England Society of New York, and of Union League, Ardsley, New York Athletic and Arkwright Clubs. Mr. Luke married, first, in Greenville, Del., July 27, 1880, Ella Hope Green; second, Feb. 27, 1907, Grace P. Buckley, and he has four children. Address: 194 Riverside Drive, New York City.

LUKEMAN, Henry Augustus:

Sculptor; born in Richmond, Va., Jan. 28, 1871. He was educated in the National Academy of Design, New York City and École des Beaux Arts, Paris. His works include, beside numerous busts and bas-reliefs, "Manu" for the Appellate Court House, New York City; statue of Robert Livingston for St. Louis, Statue of McKinley, for Adams, Mass., statue of Columbus, for the Custom House, New York; group of Music, St. Louis Exposition; bronze sculpture doors and four colossal statues in marble for Royal Bank of Canada at Montreal and four colossal statues for the Brooklyn Institute. He was awarded a medal at the St. Louis Exposition. Mr. Lukeman is a member of the National Academy of Design, Society of American Artists, National Sculpture Society, Architectural League of National Arts Club. Residence: Stockbridge, Mass. Office: 145 West 55th Street, New York City.

LUKENS, Edward Fell:

Lawyer; born in Philadelphia, April 29, 1870; son of Ezra L. and Maria Fell (Maddock) Lukens. He was educated in the Friends' Central School, Philadelphia, and graduated from University of Pennsylvania as B.L. He is member of the firm of Gaz-zam, Wallace and Lukens; secretary-treasurer and director of The Schwarzwaelder Company, and notary public of the Quaker City National Bank. He is a member of the Union League Club of Philadelphia. Mr. Lukens married in Philadelphia, Jan. 31, 1893, Margaret Patton, and they have two children. Residence: 147 West School Lane, Germantown. Office: 707 Bailey Building, Philadelphia.

LURTON, Horace Harmon:

Jurist; born in Newport, Ky., Feb. 26; 1844; son of Lyeurgus L. and Sarah (Harmon) Lurton. He was graduated from Cumberland University, Lebanon, Tenn., in 1867, and then studied law and practised until 1875. He was elected in 1874 chancellor of the Sixth District of Tennessee, serving until 1878, and then resumed practice until 1886, when he was elected a justice of the Supreme Court of Tennessee. He became chief justice of that court in January, 1893, but on March 29 of that year he was appointed by President Cleveland judge of the Circuit Court of the United States for the Sixth Judicial Circuit, which office he continues to hold. Address: Nashville, Tenn.

LYDECKER, Charles Edward:

Lawyer; born in New York City, May 26, 1851; son of John A. and Julia (Kent) Lydecker. He was graduated from the College of the City of New York, B.S., 1871; fellow of Columbia College, 1872, LL.B., 1873. He has been engaged in various will contests and litigations, including those of the Leland Stanford estate, California, Eugene Cruger will, New York, Howard Paul, London; also in commercial and corporation law; also in case sustaining the visitational powers of the State Commissioner in Lunacy. He was public administrator of New York, 1889-1892; chairman of the Committee of the Independent Political Club, which printed and distributed ballots and obtained a successful vote by which the last Constitutional Convention was held in New York. He is major of the Seventh Regiment of the National Guard of New York; president of the National Guard Association of the State of New York; member of the Council, of the Military Service Institution of the United States; member of the Veterans of the Seventh Regiment of the National Guard of New York; received brevet commission and long-service decoration of the State of New York. He is a member of the New York State Bar Association, Association of the Bar of the City of New York, Holland Society, Phi Gamma Delta, Phi Beta Kappa, and the Manhattan, New York Athletic, Reform, Lawyers', and Hackensack Golf. He married in New York City, Jan. 19, 1882, Ella Voorhis, who died in 1889, leaving three children; and was again married in 1907, to Josephine B. Pond. Residence:

11 East 81st Street. Office: 2 Rector Street, New York City.

LYFORD, Frederic E.:

Banker; born in Waterville, Me.; son of Albert and Phebe (Bates) Lyford. He was educated at Waverly (N. Y.) Academy. Mr. Lyford has been thirty-five years in First National Bank of Waverly, N. Y., of which he is now president, director, and active officer, and he is also president of the York State Realty Company, vice-president of the National Bank of Sayre, Pa., member of the firm of F. E. Lyford and Company, real estate and insurance, and director of the Valley Telephone Company, and the Consolidated Telephone Company. He was formerly also connected with the Waverly Electric Company, Sayre Land Company, Sayre Water Company, Cayuta Wheel and Foundry Company, of Sayre, Pa., and director of the First National Bank of Whitney Point. Mr. Lyford was vice-president of the New York State Bankers' Association; trustee and president of the village and trustee and president of the School Board of Waverly, N. Y., is a member of the Waverly Lodge of Masons; trustee of Robert Packer Hospital, and Athens Historical Association, and member of the City Club of Elmira, N. Y. Mr. Lyford married, first, at Waverly, N. Y., in 1877, Cora B. Lorman (deceased), and second in 1891, Jane Lemon, and he has five children. Address: Waverly, N. Y.

LYFORD, Will Hartwell:

Lawyer; born at Waterville, Me., Sept. 15, 1858; son of Oliver S. and Lavina A. (Norris) Lyford. He was graduated from the Cleveland (Ohio) High School, 1875, from Colby University, Waterville, Me., A.B., 1879; later A.M. He has been in the service of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railroad Company since 1880; five years in different subordinate capacities as assistant engineer, stenographer and clerk in general manager's office and other departments, and three years in law department; general counsel since January, 1888. He is a member of the law firm of Calhoun, Lyford and Shecan, Chicago. Mr. Lyford is a member of the Association of Bar of the City of New York, Lawyers', Club of New York, Chicago, and Union League Clubs and Chicago Athletic Association of Chicago. He married at Nebraska City, Neb., April 28, 1886, Mary Lee MacComas, and they have two children, Gertrude Wells and Calhoun. Address: 115 Broadway, New York City, and The Rookery, Chicago.

LYMAN, Arthur Theodore:

Merchant and manufacturer; born in Boston, Dec. 8, 1832; son of George Williams and Anne (Pratt) Lyman, and a descendant of Richard Lyman, Charlestown, Mass., 1638, and Hartford, Conn., 1638. He was graduated from Harvard, A.B., 1853. A.M., 1857. He engaged in the East Indian trade from Boston in 1856, on completing a tour of Europe for study and observation. He was treasurer of the Appleton Company, 1861-1863; of the Hamilton Manufacturing Company, 1860-1863; Lowell Manufacturing Company, 1881-1900; and is president the Pacific Mills, Bigelow Carpet Company, Merrimack Manufacturing Company, Boston Manufacturing Company; Massachusetts Cotton Mills, Massachusetts Mills in Georgia, and of the Locks and Canals on Merrimack River. He served for a time as partner in the firm of J. W. Page & Company, selling agents for several cotton mills, and as treasurer of the Hadley Company, 1866-1889. He is president of the Provident Institution for Savings in Boston; director of the Massachusetts Hospital Life Insurance Company; president of the Boston Athenaeum; was formerly a member of the corporation of the Massachusetts Institute Technology, and now of the Massachusetts Historical Society. He served on the staff of Governor Rice, as aide-de-camp with the rank of colonel, 1876-1879; and was an overseer of Harvard, 1892-1899. He married, April 8, 1858, Ella, daughter of John Amory and Elizabeth Cabot (Putnam) Lowell, and they had seven children, and of that number six are living. Address: 50 State Street, Boston.

LYMAN, Hart:

Editor; born in Plymouth, Conn. Dec. 8, 1851; son of Rev. Ephraim and Hannah D. (Richards) Lyman. He was graduated from Yale, 1873 and took special courses at the University of Berlin and Heidelberg. He has been editorial writer on the New York Tribune, since 1876 and editor-in-chief since March, 1905. He is a member of the University and Graduates' Clubs. Mr. Lyman married at Englewood, N. J., in 1881, Marion Torrey. Address: The Tribune, 154 Nassau Street, New York City.

LYMAN, Henry D.:

President of the American Surety Company of New York; born in Parkman, Ohio, April 12, 1852; son of Darius and Betsey C. (Converse) Lyman. He was educated in common schools. He was special agent at Post-Office Department; chief clerk of the contract office, Post-Office Department; second assistant postmaster-general at thirty-two years of age, under the administration of President Arthur; vice president and later president of the American Surety Company of New York; director of the North River Savings Bank of New York. He is a member of the Ohio Society of New York, and of the Union League and Lotos Clubs. Mr. Lyman married twice; first, in Boston, Jan. 13, 1887, Laura M. Stevens, who died Dec. 31, 1902; second, June 7, 1907, Louise C. Davis. Address: The Plaza, New York City.

LYMAN, Joseph:

Landscapist and coast painter; born in Ravenna, Ohio, July 17, 1843; son of Joseph and Mary (Clark) Lyman. He was educated in schools of Cleveland, Ohio; studied art in New York City. He is associate member of the National Academy of Design. He was awarded a bronze medal by the Louisiana Purchase Exposition at St. Louis. He is a member of the Century Club. Residence: 621 Fifth Avenue. Address: 7 West 43d Street, New York City.

LYMAN, Ronald Theodore:

Treasurer of the Boston Manufacturing Company; born in Waltham, Mass.; youngest son of Arthur Theodore Lyman and Ella (Lowell) Lyman. He became, in 1901, treasurer of the Waltham Bleachery & Dye Works, and in 1905, treasurer of the Boston Manufacturing Company. The Boston Manufacturing Company was incorporated in 1813 and Mr. Lyman's father had been treasurer and is president of the corporation. The mill began the spinning and weaving of cotton cloth in 1814, having the first mill in the United States that took raw cotton, and spun it and wove it into cloth on power looms. Address: Waltham, Mass.

LYON, Ernest:

Diplomat, clergyman; born at Belize, British Honduras, Oct. 22, 1860; son of Emanuel and Ann F. (Bending) Lyon. He was educated at Gilbert Industrial Institute, La Teche, La., for three years, Straight University, New Orleans, and at New Orleans University, graduating from the latter as A.B., 1888, and later A.M. He also took a special course at the University Theological Seminary at New York, and later received the degree of D.D. from Wiley University, Marshall, Texas. He joined the Louisiana Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1882, was given his first charge, at La Teche, La., in 1883, was afterward pastor in New Orleans, in charge consecutively of the Mallalien Methodist Episcopal Church, 1886, the Thompson Church, 1889, and the Simpson Church, 1891. He was appointed Sunday School Agent of the Louisiana Conference in 1894 and special agent of the Freedman's Aid and Southern Educational Society in 1895. Dr. Lyon was pastor of St. Mark's Methodist Episcopal Church at New York City, 1896, and of the John Wesley Methodist Episcopal Church in Baltimore, 1901, and he founded the Maryland Industrial and Agricultural Institute for the education of colored youths, at Laurel, Md. Dr. Lyon has always been an ardent and active Republican in his politics, and was appointed, in 1896, an auxiliary member of the National Republican Committee, to whom all matters pertaining to the colored vote of the East were referred; and he was also a member of the Advisory Board appointed by the National Republican Committee in 1900. In 1903 Dr. Lyon was appointed by President Roosevelt to his present position as minister resident and consul-general of the United States to Liberia. He married at Wilmington, Del., June 16, 1893, Clara F. Bacchus. Address: Monrovia, Liberia.

LYON, Henry Ware:

Rear-Admiral, U. S. Navy, retired; born in Massachusetts, Nov. 8, 1845. He was appointed to Naval Academy from Massachusetts, Oct. 7, 1862, and was graduated, 1866. On graduation he was attached to the Sacramento, until that vessel was lost off the coast of India in 1867; promoted to ensign, April, 1868; on ordnance duty at Boston, 1868; on the storeship Guard, Mediterranean Squadron, 1869; promoted to master, July 26, 1869; steam sloop, Richmond, European Fleet, 1869; commissioned as lieutenant, March 21, 1870; Wabash, 1872-1873; frigate Franklin, North Atlantic Fleet, 1873; special ordnance duty, 1874; Tennessee, flagship, European Squadron, 1875-1877; special ordnance duty, 1877-1880; Galena, European Station, 1880-1883; ordnance duty at Washington, D. C., 1883; promoted to lieutenant-commander, Nov., 1884; assigned to duty at South Boston Iron Works, 1882-1886; Trenton, Pacific Station, 1886-1889; commanding Nipsic, Pacific Station, 1889-1890; the passage of the Nipsic from Samoa to Honolulu, where she was repaired, was made with a jury rudder, deformed screw, all outside keel gone and leaking; at Torpedo Station, 1890-1893; commanding Yantic, May-Dec., 1893. Promoted to commander, Oct. 1, 1893; Naval War College, June-Oct., 1894; at Navy Yard, Boston, 1894-1897; commanding Dolphin, 1897-1899; Navy Yard, New York, 1899-June, 1901. Promoted to captain, March 27, 1900; on duty in connection with fitting out the United States Steamer Olympia, and was afterward her commander until Dec., 1903; commandant Naval Station, Hawaii, 1904-1906. Promoted rear-admiral, Feb. 19, 1906, and commandant Mare Island Navy Yard, Calif., until retired by operation of law, Nov. 8, 1907. Address: Paris, Me.

LYON, George F.:

Jurist; born in Barker, N. Y., July 13, 1849; son of Harry and Pamela A. (Livermore) Lyon. He was graduated from Binghamton Academy, 1867; from Hamilton College, A.B., 1872, and received from that college the degree of LL.D. in 1904. He was admitted to the New York State bar, 1875; was member of the law firm of Chapman & Martin, 1876-1877; and of Chapman & Lyon, from 1877 to 1890. He was a member of the New York State Constitutional Convention in 1894, and was elected justice of the Supreme Court on the nomination of both Republican and Democratic parties in 1895, for the term ending Dec. 31, 1909, and has since served in the Sixth Judicial District. Justice Lyon married in 1884, Elizabeth R. Mather, of Binghamton. Address: Binghamton, N. Y.

LYONS, Timothy Augustine:

Captain, U. S. Navy, retired; born in Ireland, March 25, 1845; son of Timothy and Margaret (Langford) Lyons. He was educated in the public schools of Massachusetts and Minnesota, and at the U. S. Naval Academy, from which he was graduated in Oct., 1865. In Nov., 1865, he was ordered to the Monongahela, West India Squadron, and was attached to her until 1867, when she was driven ashore and wrecked on the Island of Santa Cruz by a huge wave from the open sea, following immediately upon an earthquake. He afterward served in the De Soto, of the same squadron; was promoted ensign in 1866 and master in 1868; was attached to the Idaho and Unadilla, Asiatic Squadron, and was on the former vessel at Yokohama, when the British steamer Bombay ran down and sank (with great loss of life) the U. S. S. Onيدا in the Gulf of Yeddo, and was immediately connected with the rescue of the survivors. He was promoted to lieutenant, 1869; instructor at the Naval Academy, 1871-1873; on the flagship Pensacola, Pacific Squadron, 1873-1876; at the Hydrographic office, Washington, D. C., 1876-1879, and while there systematized the collection of wind and weather observations at sea and published therefrom a series of meteorological charts of the ocean—an extension and amplification of those devised by Commander M. F. Maury; attached to the Constellation and Trenton, 1879-1881; promoted to lieutenant-commander, 1880; superintendent of compasses in the Bureau of Navigation, 1881-1885; on leave on account of sickness, 1885-1886, executive officer of the Tennessee and the Richmond, each successively flagship of the North Atlantic Squadron, 1886-1889; promoted commander, 1889, and then until 1892 member of the Board for Inspection of Merchant Vessels at New York; afterward commanded the U. S. Training-ship Monongahela, having on board naval apprentices, during a cruise to Lisbon and return to New York, via the West Indies; and later commanded the Alliance in the Pacific. From 1894 to 1897 he was on tours of duty at New York and the War College, in Newport, alternating with periods of sick leave, and in May, 1897, was placed on the retired list at his own request on account of physical disabilities long previously incurred in the line of duty. In 1898 he was on duty in Washington in the office of the superintendent of compasses. He was promoted to captain on the retired list in June, 1906. Captain Lyons, since his retirement, has been engaged in literary work in New York, the chief product of which is two volumes under the title of: A Treatise on Electromagnetic Phenomena, and on the Compass and its Deviations Aboard Ship—Mathematical, Theoretical and Practical. He married in New York City, Sept. 14, 1871, Marie Blanche Humbert, and they had two daughters, both now deceased. Address: Hotel San Remo, Central Park West and 74th Street, New York City.

WILLIAM GIBBS McADOO Railway Official

M

MABIE, Hamiton Wright:

Associate editor of The Outlook; born at Cold Springs, N. Y., Dec. 22, 1846. He was graduated from Williams College as A.B., and later received the A.M. and L.H.D. degree from that college; from Columbia as LL.B. and he has received the LL.D. degrees from Union University, Washington and Lee University, and Western Reserve University. He is a trustee of Williams College; and president of New York Kindergarten Association. Mr. Mabie is one of the foremost of American writers on literature and is author of: Norse Stories Retold from the Eddas, 1882; Nature in New England, 1890; My Study Fire, first series, 1890; Short Studies in Literature, 1891; Under the Trees and Elsewhere, 1891; Essays in Literary Interpretation, 1892; My Study Fire, second series, 1894; Nature and Culture, 1897; Books and Culture, 1897; Work and Culture, 1898; The Life of the Spirit, 1899; William Shakespeare, Poet, Dramatist and Man, 1900; Works and Days, 1902; Parables of Life, 1902; In Aready, 1903; Backgrounds of Literature, 1903; The Great Word, 1905; Christmas To-day, 1908. He is editor of: Myths Every Child Should Know, 1905; Fairy Tales Every Child Should Know, 1905; Heroes Every Child Should Know, 1906. He is also a constant contributor on literary topics to numerous magazines and periodicals. Residence: Fernwood Road, Summit, N. J. Address: 287 Fourth Avenue, New York City.

McADOO, William Gibbs:

Lawyer, railway official; born near Marietta, Ga., Oct. 31, 1863; son of William Gibbs and Mary Faith (Floyd) McAdoo. He received his education at the University of Tennessee at Knoxville. He was appointed deputy clerk of the United States Circuit Court for the Southern Division of the Eastern District of Tennessee in May, 1882; studied law; was admitted to the bar in 1885; practised law at Chattanooga; was division counsel in Tennessee for the Central Railroad and Banking Company, and the Richmond and Danville Railroad Company; and came to New York City, 1892. He was elected in 1902, and is now president and director of Hudson and Manhattan Railroad Company, which is building the Hudson River tunnel system, and which completed, March 8, 1904, the first tunnel under the Hudson River. The first Hudson River tunnels were opened for public use Feb. 25, 1908, between Hoboken N. J. and 19th St. and Sixth Avenue, N. Y. President Roosevelt at Washington touched the button which set the first electric train in operation. Gov. Hughes of New York and Gov. Fort of New Jersey, went through the tunnel, on the first train, with Mr. McAdoo and many distinguished men. The fourth tunnel under the Hudson was completed by Mr. McAdoo's company March 11, 1909. He is a member of the Metropolitan Railroad, Ardsley, City Automobile, and St. Andrew's Golf Clubs, and is president of the Southern Society. He married at Chattanooga, Tenn., Nov. 18, 1885, Sarah Houstoun Fleming, and they have six children. Address: Hudson Terminal, 30 Church Street, New York City.

McAFEE, Lowell Mason:

President of Park College; born in Fulton, Mo., June 6, 1860. Son of John A. and Anna W. (Barley) McAfee. He was educated in Highland University, Kan., and Park College, Mo., and has taken graduate and professional studies at McCormick Theological Seminary and the University of Chicago, and has received the degrees of A.B. and A.M., and L.L.D. (Knox College). He has been connected with Park College ever since his graduation in 1880, and in 1902 was appointed to its presidency. President McAfee has been secretary of the Presbyterian College Union of the Middle West since 1901. He is a Presbyterian. He married at Wheaton, Kan., Sept. 28, 1887, Carrie E. Canfield, and has three sons and one daughter. Address: Parkville, Mo.

MacALISTER, James:

President of Drexel Institute, Philadelphia; born in Glasgow, Scotland, April

26. 1840. He was graduated from Brown University, A.B., A.M.; studied law in the University of New York and was graduated LL.B. He was superintendent of public schools in Milwaukee, 1874-1883; Regent of Normal Schools, Wisconsin, 1873-1883; first superintendent of public schools in Philadelphia, 1883-1891, when he resigned to become president of the Drexel Institute, which position he still holds. He was trustee of the University of Pennsylvania, 1885-1897; was elected a member of the American Philosophical Society in 1886. In 1889 Brown University conferred upon him the honorary degree of LL.D., and in 1890 he received from the French Government the appointment and decoration of Officer d'Académie. In 1895 he was appointed a member of the Jury of Awards in the Atlanta Interstate and International Exposition, and in 1903 a member of the Advisory Board of Education in the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, St. Louis, 1904. He is a member of the Board of Trustees of the Fairmount Park Art Association, Philadelphia, and of other public bodies. He has been lecturer on history and institutes of education in Johns Hopkins University and on the history of education in New York University. He was invited to read a paper in the International Educational Conference, held in London in 1884, and was selected to read a paper in the Educational Congress in the Exposition Universelle, Paris, 1900. He was one of the first advocates of manual training in education in the United States. When the Drexel Institute was opened, the scheme, as organized by him, included the newer forms of technical education, some of which had few or no precedents either in this country or in Europe. He has published numerous addresses, reports and papers on education. Address: Drexel Institute, Philadelphia.

McALLISTER, James Gray:

Clergyman and educator; born in Covington, Va., Nov. 27, 1872; son of A. Addams and Julia Ellen (Stratton) McAllister. He was graduated from Hampden-Sidney College, A.B., with honor, 1894, and as B.D. from the Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, Va., 1901; and the degree of D.D. was conferred upon him by Washington and Jefferson College, Pa., and by the Central University of Kentucky in 1906. He was editor of Bath News, Warm Springs, Va., 1894-1895; business manager of the Central Presbyterian, Richmond, 1895-1898; fellow Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, 1901-1902; assistant professor of Hebrew in same, 1902-1903; pastor of the Farnville (Va.) Presbyterian Church, 1903-1904; adjunct professor of Hebrew in Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, 1904-1905, and president of Hampden-Sidney College, 1905-1908. Dr. McAllister was quartermaster-general of the Sons of Confederate Veterans for one year, and is a member of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. He is a Democrat and a Presbyterian. He married at Winchester, Va., May 18, 1904, Meta E. Russell. Address: Hot Springs, Va.

McALLISTER, James W.:

Insurance company president; born in Philadelphia, May 15, 1836. He was educated in the Central High School of Philadelphia until 1853, when he entered the service of the Franklin Fire Insurance Company of Philadelphia, with which he has ever since been connected, and of which he is now president and director. He is also treasurer and director of the Fire Insurance Patrol; and a director of the Pennsylvania Salt Manufacturing Company, and of the American Academy of Music. Mr. McAllister has traveled extensively, in business trips all over the United States, and frequent visits to Europe. He is treasurer of the Hahnemann Medical College and Hospital of Philadelphia; a life member of the Academy of Sciences of Philadelphia, and of the Art Club, Philadelphia. Residence: 1603 Green Street. Office: 421 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.

McALVAY, Aaron Vance:

Chief justice of the Supreme Court of Michigan; born in Ann Arbor, Mich., July 19, 1847; son of Patrick Hamilton and Sarah (Drake) McAlvay. He was graduated from the University of Michigan, A.B., 1868, and from the Law School of the same institution, LL.B., 1869. He practised law at Manistee, Mich., and became a leader at born in Springfield, Mass., June 2, 1845; the Manistee County bar. He was circuit judge for four years prior to his election in 1904 to the Supreme bench of Michigan, which he now occupies as chief justice. He was for some years a member of the Faculty of Law in the University of Michigan. Judge McAlvay is a Republican. Address: Lansing, Mich.

MacARTHUR, Arthur:

Lieutenant-general, U. S. Army, retired; son of Arthur and Aurelia (Belcher) MacArthur. His military service began when, in August, 1862, the 24th Wisconsin Infantry was organized and mustered into the United States service, and he, a boy of seventeen, was its adjutant and a first lieutenant. The regiment was first engaged Oct. 8, 1862, at Chaplin Hills, and at Stone River, the colonel being sick and the lieutenant-colonel having resigned the regiment was led by its major and young MacArthur. At Missionary Ridge, Tennessee, the color-bearer of the regiment fell, but the colors were at once seized by MacArthur who bore them, at the same time encouraging the men to follow him up the ridge. For his coolness and conspicuous bravery on this occasion he was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor. He was promoted major Jan. 25, 1864, acted as lieutenant-colonel of his regiment at Kennesaw Mountain, and led his regiment at the battle of Franklin, where he was wounded and served through the Atlanta campaign. He was brevetted colonel March 13, 1865, promoted to lieutenant-colonel of the 24th Wisconsin Infantry, May 18, 1865, and honorably mustered out June 10, 1865. He was appointed second and first lieutenant of the 17th Infantry in the Regular Army, Feb. 23, 1866; captain of the 36th Infantry, July, 1866, and transferred to the 13th Infantry July 5, 1870. He served through various Indian campaigns and in the Southern States until he was made an assistant adjutant-general, July 1, 1889, with the rank of major; and promoted lieutenant-colonel and assistant adjutant-general in 1896. At the beginning of the Spanish-American War he was commissioned, May 27, 1898, brigadier-general of volunteers. He went to the Philippines with the First Expedition, in 1898, and commanded the Division of the Philippines at Manila; was promoted to major-general of volunteers Aug. 13, 1898, brigadier-general in the regular service Jan. 2, 1900, major-general, Feb. 5, 1901, and lieutenant-general, Sept. 15, 1906. After several years of most effective service in the Philippines as commander-in-chief of the forces there, he returned to the United States, and commanded the Department of the Lakes until he became lieutenant-general; and he was retired by operation of law June 2, 1909. He married in Norfolk, Va., May 19, 1875, Mary Pinkney Hardy. Address: Colby-Abbott Building, Milwaukee, Wis.

MacARTHUR, Robert D.:

Physician; born in Glengarry, Ont., Canada, Aug. 1, 1843; son of John and Margaret (MacMartin) MacArthur. He was graduated from the Williamstown Grammar School in 1863 and from the medical department of McGill University at Montreal, M.D., 1867. He was engaged in the practice of medicine in Canada for two years, when he removed to Chicago, where he has since resided. He was appointed professor of skin and venereal diseases at the Chicago Polyclinic in 1889, and in 1890 became attending physician in dermatology at the Presbyterian and St. Joseph Hospitals, Chicago. Dr. MacArthur is a member of the Chicago Medical College, the Chicago Dermatological Society, and the American Medical Association. He is a member of the Union and Midway Clubs. He married in Montreal, Can., Sept. 27, 1871, Minnie Beattie, and has one daughter, Ida Belle. Residence: 414 Dearborn Avenue. Office: 204 Dearborn Street, Chicago.

MACBETH, George Alexander:

Glass manufacturer; born at Urbana, Ohio, in 1845; son of James Reed and Frances Ann (Bayard) Macbeth. After completing his studies in the Urbana public schools, he was engaged in the drug business as clerk and proprietor until 1872, and since then has been identified with the manufacture of glass in Pittsburgh, and for years past at the head, as president, of the Macbeth-Evans Glass Company, with factories in Pittsburgh and at Charleroi, Pa. He is also president of the First National Bank of Charleroi and of the Charleroi Savings and Trust Company. He was a commissioner from Pennsylvania to the World's Columbian Exposition at Chicago and is a trustee for life of the Carnegie Free Library of Pittsburgh. Mr. Macbeth is a member of the New Church (Swedenborgian). He is a member of the National Arts Club and other art organizations in New York, of the Grolier Club of New York, Rowfant Club of Cleveland, and other organizations of book lovers; and was formerly president of the Pittsburgh Art Society. Mr. Macbeth has had a leading share in the progress of the American glass industry, was the first in this country to make optical glass, and received a medal from the World's Columbian Exposition for the first exhibit ever made of optical glass of American manufacture. He married in Pittsburgh in 1880, Katharine Duff. Office: Empire Building, Pittsburgh.

McBRIDE, Henry:

Lawyer and ex-governor; born in Utah in 1856. He was educated in the public schools and in Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., to the end of the junior year. He studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1864, and engaged in practice at Mount Vernon, Wash. He was elected prosecuting attorney of Skagit County, Wash., in 1888. In 1891 he was appointed by Governor Elisha P. Ferry to the office of judge of the Superior Court for Skagit and Island Counties to fill a vacancy and in November, 1892, was elected to the same office for a four-year term, upon the expiration of which he resumed the practice of law. He was elected lieutenant-governor of Washington in November, 1900, and became governor upon the death of Governor John R. Rogers in December, 1901, until the end of the term in January, 1905, when he resumed practice at Seattle, where he is at the head of the firm of McBride, Stratton and Dalton. Governor McBride is a Republican and an Episcopalian. He married at Coupeville, Island County, Wash., in 1884, Alice Garrett. Address: Seattle, Wash.

McCALL, Edward Everett:

Jurist; engaged in practice of law in New York City until elected on the Democratic ticket in November, 1902, a justice of the Supreme Court of New York for the term expiring 1916. He is a member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, Society of Medical Jurisprudence, Metropolitan Museum of Art, and also of the Manhattan, Lawyers', New York Athletic, Catholic, National Democratic, Tilden, Lotos and the Columbia Yacht Clubs. Residence: 321 West 86th Street. Address: 346 Broadway, New York City.

McCALL, John Etheridge:

U. S. judge; born in Clarksburg Tenn., Aug. 14, 1859; son of Henry and Rebecca Frances (Bowlin) McCall. After graduation from the University of Tennessee in the class of 1881, he engaged in law, journalism, business and politics, becoming one of the leaders of the Republican party in his State. He edited the Tennessee Republican at Lexington, Tenn.; was for four years a member of the Tennessee House of Representatives, a member of the Fifty-fourth Congress, and Republican candidate, in 1900, for governor of Tennessee. He was appointed collector of internal revenue in 1902, and in January 1905, was appointed to his present office as judge of the United States Court for the Western District of Tennessee. He is president of the Bank of Lexington. Residence: Lexington, Tenn. Office: U. S. Court, Memphis, Tenn.

McCall, Samuel Walker:

Congressman; was born in East Providence, Pa., Feb. 28, 1851; graduated from the New Hampton (N. H.) Academy, 1870, and from Dartmouth College, A.B., 1874. He was admitted to the bar, practising in Boston; served as editor-in-chief of the Boston Daily Advertiser; was a member of the Massachusetts House of Representatives of 1888, 1889, and 1892; was a delegate to the Republican National Conventions of 1888 and 1900. He is the author of the Biography of Thaddeus Stevens in the American Statesmen Series. He was elected to the Fifty-third, Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, and Sixtieth Congresses and reelected in 1908 to the Sixty-first Congress from the Eighth Massachusetts District. Address: Winchester, Mass.

McCALLA, Bowman Hendry:

Rear-Admiral, United States Navy; born in Camden, N. J., June 19, 1844. He was appointed a cadet in the United States Naval Academy, Nov. 3, 1861, remained at the Academy until the end of 1864. After passing through the intermediate grades he commanded the Enterprise on the European station, 1887-1890; then after over three years' service as equipment officer at the Mare Island Navy Yard and several months at the Naval War College was appointed to command the protected cruiser Marblehead, in which he served with the North Atlantic Squadron during the Spanish-American War. His service in the war was markedly brilliant and his landing at Guantanamo to establish a base for naval and land operations was one of the most notable of the events of the war. He was commissioned captain Aug. 10, 1898; was captain of the Norfolk Navy Yard until September, 1899, when he was placed in command of the Newark which he took from San Francisco to Manila. He commanded a division of six cruisers and gunboats on the North and West Coasts of Luzon. In December, 1899, with a force of two hundred and fifty, officers and men, he marched to the relief of the city of Vigan, four miles inland, held by a small force of the 33d Volunteer Infantry, and six days later received the surrender of all the insurgent forces in the provinces of Isabella and Cagayan and in the Batan Islands. In June, 1900, with one hundred and twelve, officers and men, from the Newark formed part of the column of the International forces which, under Vice-Admiral Seymour marched to the relief of the Legations at Peking. He was advanced for service in war with Spain, advanced three numbers for service with the Peking Relief Column. He commanded the battleship Kearsarge, 1901-1902; commanded the Naval Training Station at San Francisco in 1902; promoted rear-admiral Oct. 11, 1903, and commanded the Mare Island Navy Yard and Station in 1904, 1905 and 1906, retiring June 19, 1906. Address: 2420 Upper Garden Street, Santa Barbara, Calif.

McCARREN, Patrick H.:

State Senator; born in Cambridge, Mass.; resident of Brooklyn, from age of eight; he was educated in the public schools of Brooklyn. He was elected to the Assembly three times, and was one of the leaders on the floor of the House in 1889, the year before he first entered the Senate; elected to Senate in 1895, 1898, 1900, 1902, 1904, 1906, and 1908. He has been identified with much important legislation, and it was chiefly through his efforts that free textbooks are now supplied in the public schools; also led in securing passage of original bill for a second bridge over East River, for the benefit of the Eastern District of Brooklyn. He is the Democratic leader of the Borough of Brooklyn. Address: 4 Court Square, Brooklyn, N. Y.

McCARTY, William Murdock:

Chief justice of the Utah Supreme Court; born at Alpine, Utah, May 15, 1859; reared on farm, attended country schools, and afterward worked in mines. He studied law in an office at Monroe, Utah, was admitted to the bar in 1887 and engaged in practice. He was appointed assistant U. S. attorney for Utah in 1889; elected for two terms as county attorney of Sevier County, under the Territorial organization; was elected at the first State election in 1895 and reelected in 1900 as judge of the District Court for the Sixth Judicial District of Utah, serving in that office until elected to the Supreme Bench in 1902, in which he was associate judge until 1906 and since then has been chief justice. He is a Republican. Judge McCarty married at Marysville, Utah, Oct. 7, 1893, Lavina L.

Murray. Address: 1053 Third Street, Salt Lake City, Utah.

M'CAULEY, Calvin Hudson:

Lawyer; born in Elk County, Pa., in July, 1850. He had a common school education and afterward entered Bucknell University at Lewisburg, Pa. He began his career by teaching school at the age of seventeen, and entered upon the study of law a year later; was admitted to the bar of Elk County in 1872, and later to that of the State Supreme Court, the United State Circuit Court, and the Supreme Court of the United States. In 1875 he was elected district attorney of Elk County on the Democratic ticket. When Ridgway, in 1881, was incorporated as a borough, he became a member of its council, and for three years was president of that body; he was reelected in 1888, and served as president for three years more. He is solicitor for the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh Railroad Company, district solicitor for the Pennsylvania and the Erie Railroads, and is an acknowledged expert in railroad and corporation law. In 1893 he organized the Penn, the Elk and the Union Tanning Companies, and was prominent in the organization of the United States Leather Company; and he is now general solicitor for the Elk Tanning Company; solicited for the United States Leather Company, and general solicitor for its affiliated companies in Pennsylvania. In recent years he has organized a large number of industrial corporations, all of which he now represents as general counsel. Address: Ridgway, Pa.

McCAULEY, Charles Adam Hoke:

Colonel and assistant quartermaster-general, U. S. Army; born in Middletown, Md., July 13, 1847. He was an honor graduate of the Reading (Pa.) High School, 1865; was appointed to the U. S. Military Academy in 1866; was graduated in 1870, and appointed 2d lieutenant, Third Artillery, June 15, 1870; transferred to Third Cavalry, Oct. 7, 1878; promoted first lieutenant May 5, 1879; appointed captain and assistant quartermaster, Feb.

18, 1881; major and quartermaster, Aug. 8, 1894; lieutenant-colonel and deputy quartermaster-general, July 13, 1899; colonel and assistant quartermaster-general, Feb. 24, 1903. He served with the Red River Expedition, Staked Plain of Texas and Indian Territory as a volunteer, May-June, 1876; volunteered for transfer to Seventh Cavalry after Custer Massacre. In charge of San Juan Reconnaissance in Southwest Colorado and New Mexico, 1877; with Ute Indian Commission, 1878, as engineer officer and in command of escort; assistant engineer, Department of the Missouri, 1877-1879; in charge of courier line and transportation in the field, Ute Indian campaign, 1879, as a volunteer. Depot quartermaster, Rawlins, Wyo, 1881-1882; Ogden, Utah, 1882-1883; Omaha, Neb., 1883-1887. Chicago, 1887-1890; volunteered for Sioux campaign, 1890; in charge of building Fort Sheridan, Ill., to July, 1891; depot quartermaster, Portland, Ore., 1891-1896; assistant to depot quartermaster, Philadelphia, and in charge of transportation, 1896-1901; sailed for Philippines from San Francisco, July 16, 1900, arrived at Manila, Aug. 12, 1901. Chief quartermaster, Department of Southern Luzon, Manila, to Dec. 1, 1901; Department of South Philippines, at Cebu, island of Cebu, P. I., to October, 1902; Department of the visayas, at Iloilo, Panag, P. I., to Sept. 2, 1903; returned to U. S., and was in charge of the General Depot of the Quartermaster's Department at Jeffersonville, Ind., Nov. 30, 1903, to July 17, 1904. Chief quartermaster, Department of the Colorado, Denver, 1904-1908; Department of the East, March-November, 1908; in charge of Pittsburgh Storage and Supply Depot from Feb. 15, 1909. Colonel McCauley is a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science; member of the Academy of Natural Science, Philadelphia, and Nuttall Ornithological Club, Cambridge, Mass. He is author of: The San Juan Reconnaissance; Ornithology of the Staked Plain of Texas; and various reports and papers on military and Scientific subjects. Address: Care of War Department, Washington, D. C.

McCAULEY, Lena May:

Journalist and lecturer on art; born in Hagerstown, Md., in 1859; daughter of James and Lena (Rowland) McCauley. She was educated in Dearborn Seminary, Chicago, followed by special work one year in the University of Illinois, one year in the University of Wisconsin, three years in the University of Chicago, and also in the Art Institute of Chicago and music schools. Miss McCauley was a teacher in the public schools, 1885-1900; was appointed assistant literary editor and art critic of the Chicago Evening Post, 1900, and is now serving as editorial writer on that paper. She has lectured on art in the Art Institute of Chicago since 1904, and also before women's clubs in Michigan, Wisconsin, Indiana, and Illinois. Her editorial work is concerned with education, art and reform, and Miss McCauley is now probably the only professional woman editorial writer in Chicago. She is a member of the Municipal Art League of Chicago; was connected with the Forward Movement Settlement Work, 1898-1907, is a member of the Chicago Woman's and Lake View Woman's Clubs of Chicago, and ex-officio, and by complementary membership associated with all the important woman's clubs and art associations of Chicago. She is author of: Seventeen English Cathedrals; Letters from Sylvia (musical), and The Joys of Gardens (all published serially by the Chicago Evening Post and printed for private circulation; also monographs: Etchers of Architecture; Painter-Etcher Series—Donald Shaw McLaughlin, Herman Webster, John Marin, Otto Schneider, Olsson Nordfelt, Cadwallader Washburn; and also contributor of short stories to the Young People's Weekly, and articles to The Craftsman, The World To-Day, and The Fine Arts Magazine. Residence: 2484 North Clark Street. Office: Editorial Rooms, Chicago Evening Post, 160 Washington Street, Chicago.

McCAUSLAND, William Clifton:

Director and treasurer of the Carnegie Steel Company; born in Pittsburgh, Aug. 9, 1861; son of W. A. and Margaret (Mackrell) McCausland. He attended the Fourth Ward Public School in Allegheny, Pa., 1869-1876. He was successively cashier of the H. C. Frick Coke Company, of Carnegie, Phipps and Company, and of the Carnegie Steel Company, Limited, then assistant treasurer of the Carnegie Steel Company; and is now director and treasurer of the Carnegie Steel Company, and of the Clairton Steel Company; treasurer of the United Steel Company and director of the Pittsburgh Life and Trust Company. He is a member of the Pennsylvania Society, and of the Duquesne, and Country Clubs of Pittsburgh. Mr. McCausland married in Pittsburgh, Feb. 9, 1893, Margaret Alice Crouch. Residence: 411 Graham Street, Pittsburgh. Summer residence: Cedar Cliff, Wolfe Island, Ontario. Office: 1117 Carnegie Building, Pittsburgh.

McCAUSTLAND, Elmer James:

Civil and mining engineer; born in Quincy, Wis., Jan. 9, 1864; son of James and Luannia (Winn) McCausland. He was educated in Cornell College, Mt. Vernon, Iowa, B.C.E., 1892, C.E., 1895, Cornell University, M.C.E., 1897. He was engaged as U. S. deputy mineral surveyor for Oregon, 1890-1896; instructor in Cornell University, 1897-1900; assistant chief engineer, Chicago Transfer and Clearing Company, 1900-1902; assistant professor of civil engineering, Cornell University, 1902-1907; professor of mining engineering, University of Alabama, 1907-1908; professor of municipal engineering, University of Washington, Seattle, since 1908. He is a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, American Institute of Mining Engineers, Pacific Northwest Society of Engineers, American Society for Testing Materials, Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education; and a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. Residence: 5264 Nineteenth Avenue, N. E. Office: University of Washington, Seattle, Wash.

McCRAWLEY, Charles Laurie:

Lieutenant-colonel, U. S. Marine Corps; born in Boston, Aug. 24, 1865; son of Charles Grymes McCawley, a distinguished officer of the same corps, and Elizabeth M. (Colgate) McCawley. He was educated at private schools in Washington, D. C., and in the law department of Columbian University. He was appointed captain and assistant quartermaster of the Marine Corps, June 27, 1897. He landed with a battalion of marines at Guantanamo, Cuba, June 10, 1898, taking part in various engagements with Spanish troops; was brevetted major for distinguished conduct; present at the bombardment of Manzanillo, Cuba, and after his promotion to be major served in the Philippines. Since 1902 he has been on duty at Headquarters, U. S. Marine Corps at Washington, and until July, 1906, he was the President's aid in charge of official ceremonies at the White House, where he showed marked tact and ability in the conduct of this difficult position. On May 13, 1908, he was promoted to be lieutenant-colonel. He is a member of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, of the Military Order of the Carabao; the Sons of the Revolution, and the Aztec Club; also the Metropolitan, Country, Chevy Chase and Alibi Clubs of Washington, Country and University Clubs of Philadelphia, and the Knickerbocker Club of New York. He has received the West Indian Campaign Medal of 1898, Spanish War Badge, 1898, and Philippine War Badge, 1899. He married in Washington, D. C., July 24, 1906, Sarah Helen Frelinghuysen Davis, and resides at 1610 New Hampshire Avenue. Address: Headquarters U. S. Marine Corps, Washington, D. C.

MacCHESNEY, Clara Taggart:

Artist; born in Brownsville, Calif.; daughter of J. B. and Sarah (Jewett) MacChesney. She was a pupil of Virgil Williams and at the San Francisco School of Design; H. Siddons Mowbray, J. Carroll Beckwith and at the Gotham Art School, New York City; Girardot, Courtois and at the Colarossi School, Paris. Her art is represented by examples in the Public Library, Erie, Pa., the Boston Art Club, and the Union League Club of Chicago. Miss MacChesney was awarded three medals at the Colarossi School; two medals at the World's Columbian Exposition, Chicago, 1893; the Dodge Prize of the National Academy of Design, 1894; gold medal of the Art Club of Philadelphia, 1900; second Hallgarten prize of the National Academy of Design, 1901; bronze medal of the Pan American Exposition, 1901; silver medal of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, St. Louis, 1904. Miss MacChesney is a member of the Municipal Art Society, Consumers League, Equality League of Self-Supporting Women, and of the National Arts, New York Water-Color, Barnard and Art Workers' Clubs of New York and the Lyceum Club of London. Address: 27 West 33d Street, New York City.

MacCHESNEY, Nathan William:

Lawyer; born in Chicago, June 2, 1878; son of Lieut.-Col. Alfred Brunson MacChesney, United States Army (A.M., M.D.) of Ohio, and Henrietta (Milsom) MacChesney, M.D., of London, England. The MacChesneys are of Scotch origin, settling in Virginia in Colonial times. Col. MacChesney was educated in the public schools of Chicago, University of the Pacific, 1898, University of Arizona, 1899, special student in the Leland Stanford, Jr., University, University of Denver and University of Chicago. He studied law at Northwestern University, 1899-1900, University of Michigan, LL.B., 1902, and post graduate work in Northwestern University Law School, 1902-1903. He was engaged as a lecturer on American constitutional history for Chautauqua circles in Arizona, California and Minnesota, 1899; press correspondent in California, Arizona and New Mexico, 1897-1899; associated with his father in business, 1899-1903. He has been admitted to the bar in Illinois, Michigan, New York, to the U. S. Supreme Court and Federal Courts, and is senior member of the law firm of MacChesney, Becker and Bradley; his partners being H. E. Bradley and F. W. Becker, succeeding the firm of Carter & Becker, established in 1858; and partner in the firm of Holt, MacChesney and Cheney, real estate and bonds, owner and agents of the Manhattan Building. He is counsel for The Chicago Real Estate Board; general counsel and director of the Owners' Realty Company, and general counsel of the National Association of Real Estate Exchanges; secretary and director of the Building Managers' Association of Chicago; director of the Grover Cleveland Memorial Association. He was chairman of the Public Service Committee, 1903-1906, and is member of the Joint Committee on High Pressure Water System, in which connection he was appointed by the mayor of Chicago a commissioner to investigate the high pressure service of New York City. He is secretary and a director of the Excelsior Printing Company and the Hilton Lithographing Company; director of the E. C. Frady Manufacturing Company, and treasurer of the Northwestern University Law Publishing Association. He is author and editor of: Abraham Lincoln—The Tribute of a Century, 1909 (A. C. McClurg). He is a member of the Hyde Park Presbyterian Church, of Chicago, active in settlement work and other philanthropic and religious movements; was chairman of the committee on organization for the Presbyterian Brotherhood of Chicago, and trustee and vice-president of South End Center, a social settlement in South Chicago. He is donor of the MacChesney prizes at Northwestern University Law School; one of the founders and associate editor of the Illinois Law Review; also frequent contributor to other technical magazines on legal and other subjects connected with property and corporation management. Col. MacChesney has given a natural history collection to Knox College; has one of the fine private collections of the city of oils and etchings, and takes a keen interest in educational matters. He finds his recreation in yachting at his summer place, in riding horseback and in farming. He was a delegate to the Universal Congress of Lawyers and Jurists at St. Louis in 1904; as a commissioner on uniform State laws to the National Conference; and elected secretary of the Illinois Commission, and is secretary of the Committee of Organization of the National Conference of Criminal Law and Criminology. He has been a member of the National Guard of Arizona, volunteer for the Spanish-American War, doing garrison duty on the Pacific Coast, and is a lieutenant-colonel and judge-advocate of the First Brigade, Illinois National Guard; member of the National Guard and Naval Reserve Association. He is a member of the American Society of International Law, American Association for the Advancement of Science, American Bar Association, Illinois State Bar Association, Chicago Bar Association, Chicago Law Institute, honorary member, Building Managers' Association, Geographic Society of Chicago, Chicago Association of Commerce, Sons of Veterans, U. S. A. (commander Illinois State camp), and also of the Masonic order, Royal Arcanum, Phi Delta Phi fraternity, Michigan Union of Ann Arbor, Stanford Club of Chicago (president), Men's Club of Hyde Park (president); Irish Fellowship Club, Southern Club, Michigan Engineers' Club, and of the University, Union League, City, Hamilton, Illinois, Chicago Literary, Twentieth Century, Chicago Yacht, and South Shore Country Clubs of Chicago. He is an active Republican, taking a prominent part in campaigns as speaker throughout the country; is chairman of the Seventh District Republican Club of Chicago, and committeeman in the Sixth Ward. He is active in all civic matters, taking a leading part in public discussions on franchises, taxation and revenue matters, as well as being a frequent writer on these topics. He was appointed by the mayor of Chicago, secretary of the Committee of One Hundred in charge of the Lincoln Centennial Memorial, and to his untiring efforts the successful development of the plan is largely due. He married, Dec. 1, 1904, Lena, daughter of W. E. Frost of Riverside, Ill. Mrs. MacChesney is a graduate of the University of Michigan, 1901; was a student of the University of Berlin, 1901-1902. She is a member of the College, Chicago South Side and Michigan Alumnae Clubs and of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae. Residence: 4526 Lake Avenue, Chicago, Illinois. Offices: 108 La Salle Street, Chicago, Illinois, and 231 West Thirty-ninth Street, New York City.

McCLATCHY, Charles Kenny:

Newspaper editor; born in Sacramento, Calif., Nov. 1, 1858; son of James McClatchy, founder and editor of the Sacramento Bee. After completing his course at Santa Clara College, Calif., he entered the office of the Bee, which his father had made one of the leading papers of the Pacific Coast. After being thoroughly trained in the news and editorial departments, he succeeded his father in January, 1884, as editor of the paper in which position he continues. He married Ella Kelly in 1885. Residence: 1015 O Street. Office: The Bee, Sacramento, Calif.

McCLEARY, James Thompson:

Publicist; born at Ingersoll, Canada, Feb. 5, 1853; son of Thompson and Sarah (McCutcheon) McCleary. He was educated in the high school of Ingersoll, Can., and McGill University, Montreal. He was a teacher in Wisconsin, 1871-1881; county superintendent of schools of Peirce County, Wis., 1879-1881; conductor of State Teachers' Institute of Minnesota, 1881-1892; professor of history and civics in the State Normal School of Mankato, Minn. He took an active interest in politics as a Republican and in 1892 he was elected to the Fifty-third Congress from the Second Minnesota District, and was biennially elected up to and including the Fifty-ninth Congress, and in 1907, he was appointed by President Roosevelt second assistant postmaster-general of the United States, which he resigned in 1908 to become again a candidate for the Sixty-first Congress, in which, however, he was unsuccessful. During his Congressional career, Mr. McCleary was distinguished as a tariff expert and as the chairman of the Committee on the Library, which has much to do with the beautification of Washington. He was also a prominent member of the Committee on Appropriation. He is a life member of the Minnesota State Historical Society. Mr. McCleary is especially fond of travel and has made three trips to Europe, covering more of that continent, and one trip to Hawaii. He married at Maiden Rock, Wis., June 1, 1874, Mary Edith Taylor, and they have one son. Residence: Mankato, Minn.

McCLELLAN, George Brinton:

Mayor of New York; born in Dresden, Saxony, Nov. 23, 1865; son of General George B. McClellan, commander-in-chief of the Union Army during the first year of the Civil War, and of Ellen (Marcy) McClellan. He was educated in the schools of Trenton, N. J., during the term of his father as governor of New Jersey, three years in a military school at Ossining, N. Y., and at Princeton University, where he received the degrees of A.B., 1886, A.M., 1889, and LL.D. He also received the degree of LL.D. from St. John's College, Fordham, in 1905, and from Union University in 1906, also becoming honorary chancellor of the last-named institution in 1906. After his graduation he engaged in newspaper work as a reporter for New York dailies, and in 1889 was appointed treasurer of the New York and Brooklyn Bridge, studying law while so occupied, and in 1892 he was admitted to the bar. He was nominated and elected, in 1892, president of the Board of Aldermen of New York City, the youngest man ever elected to that office. He was elected in 1894 from the Twelfth New York District to the Fifty-fourth Congress, and reelected in 1896, 1898, 1900 and 1902, resigning in 1903, when he was elected mayor of New York City on the Democratic ticket, and he was reelected mayor in 1905. Mayor McClellan is a member of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, of Lafayette Camp, Sons of Veterans, of the Aztec Club (Mexican War organization), and of the Sons of the Revolution. He served as a member of the Eighth Regiment of the New York National Guard and was three years first lieutenant in that regiment, and was also on the staff of Governor Hill with the rank of colonel. He is an honorary member of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick and the Irish Brigade. Mayor McClellan is author of a book: The Oligarchy of Venice, published in 1904. He is a member of the Union, Authors and Church Clubs of New York City, the Automobile Club of America and the Metropolitan and Army and Navy Clubs of Washington. Residence: 10 Washington Square, North. Office: City Hall, New York City.

McCLELLAND, Thomas:

College president; born in Quilly, County Derry, Coleraine, Ireland, May 1, 1846; son of William and Margaret (Smiley) McClelland. He was educated in Denmark Academy, Denmark, Iowa; was graduated from Oberlin College, A.B., 1875, A.M., 1883, studied theology in Oberlin in 1876-1877. Union Theological Seminary New York, 1877-1878. Andover (Mass.) Theological Seminary, 1880. Tabor College, D.D., 1891; University of Illinois, LL.D., 1905. He was professor of philosophy, Tabor College, 1880-1891, president of Pacific University, 1891-1900, and of Knox College since 1900. Dr. McClelland is trustee of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, and member of the University Club of Chicago. He married in Denmark, Iowa, Aug. 19, 1880, Harriet C. Day, and has three children. Residence: 656 North Prairie Street. Office: Knox College, Galesburg, Ill.

McCLUNG, Samuel A.:

Jurist; born in Plum Township, Allegheny County, Pa., March 2, 1845; son of Rev. Samuel M. McClung. He was graduated in 1863 from Washington (now Washington and Jefferson) College, and began the study of law under John M. Kirkpatrick and John Mellon, obtaining admittance to the Allegheny County bar in 1868. He received in May, 1891, the Governor's appointment as a judge of the No. 3 Court of Common Pleas of Allegheny County, and in November of the same year he was elected to this position for the ten-year term; he was again elected to the bench in 1901, and is now serving his second term. Address: Allegheny County Court House, Pittsburgh.

McCLURE, James Gore King:

President of the McCormick Theological Seminary; born in Albany, N. Y., Nov. 24, 1848; son of Archibald and Suzan Tracey (Rice) McClure. He was graduated from Albany (N. Y.) Academy, 1865; and Phillips Andover Academy, 1866, taking his entrance examinations for Yale University in the latter year. In 1870 he was graduated from Yale, A.B., and entered the Princeton Theological Seminary from which he was graduated in 1873. The degree of D.D. has been conferred upon him by the Universities of Princeton, Lake Forest and Yale and that of LL.D. by Illinois College. Following his ordination to the ministry of the Presbyterian Church in 1874, he became pastor of the Presbyterian Church of New Scotland, N. Y., until 1879; was pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Lake Forest, Ill., 1881-1905; and was president of Lake Forest University, 1897-1901. In 1905 he was elected president of the McCormick Theological Seminary at Chicago. Dr. McClure is a trustee of Lake Forest University, a director of the McCormick Theological Seminary, and member of the College Board of the Presbyterian Church in the United States. He is author of various books, among which are: The Great Appeal, 1898; Living for the Best, 1903; Loyalty, the Soul of Religion, 1905. Dr. McClure is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society, the Onwentsia Club of Lake Forest, Ill. He married at Westerly, R. I., Nov. 19, 1879, Annie P. Dixon, and they have five children. Address: 1070 North Halstead Street, Chicago.

McClure, Samuel Sidney:

Editor and publisher; born in County Antrim, Ireland, Feb. 17, 1857; son of Thomas and Elizabeth (Gastron) McClure. He was graduated from Knox College, A.B., 1882, and A.M., 1887. He established a newspaper syndicate in November, 1884, which is now the S. S. McClure Company, of which he is president; founded McClure's Magazine in 1893 and the publishing firm of McClure, Phillips and Company in 1900. He is a trustee of Knox College, Galesburg, Ill.; and is a member of the National Geographic Society and of the Union League Club. Mr. McClure married Harriet Hurd, and they have four children, Robert, Eleanor, Elizabeth and Mary. Address: 44 to 60 East 23d Street, New York City, N. Y.

McCOMAS, Louis Emory:

Jurist; born in Washington County, Md., Oct. 28, 1846; son of Frederick C. and Catharine A. McComas. After his graduation from Dickinson College, he studied law and was admitted to the bar, and engaged in practice in 1868 in Maryland and at Washington, D. C. He was elected as a Republican to the Forty-eighth Congress in 1882 and reelected to the Forty-ninth, Fiftieth and Fifty-first Congresses. In 1892 he was appointed by President Harrison as associate justice of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia and served until elected by the Maryland Legislature, in 1899, to the office of United States Senator. He served until his term expired in 1905, when he was appointed to his present office of associate justice of the Court of Appeals of Maryland. He formerly held the chair of international law in Georgetown University Law School. Judge McComas married, Sept. 23, 1875, Leah M. Humrhouse. Residence: Williamsport, Md. Address: 1628 K Street, Washington, D. C.

McCOOK, Anson George:

Brigadier-general of U. S. Volunteers; born in Steubenville, Ohio, Oct. 10, 1835; son of Dr. John and Catherine (Sheldon) McCook. He was educated in the public schools of Lisbon, Ohio. In 1861 he was admitted to the Ohio bar; served in the Civil War, participating in the first battle of Bull Run, as captain of the Second Ohio Infantry; served in the Army of Cumberland, and in the Atlanta campaign under Sherman, and was brevetted brigadier-general. He was United States assessor of internal revenue at Steubenville, Ohio, 1866-1872; member of Congress, 1877-1883, from the Eighth New York District; secretary of the U. S. Senate, 1884-1893, and city chamberlain of New York from 1895 to 1897. Brigadier-general McCook is president and director of the New York Law Publishing Company; director of the Iron Silver Mining Company and of the Public Accountant Corporation. He is a member of the Ohio Society, the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, and of the Union League, New York Athletic, Hardware and Republican Clubs. He married in New York City in 1886, Hettie B. McCook, and they have two children. Residence: 33 West 54th Street, New York. Office: 319 Broadway, New York City.

McCOOK, Henry Christopher:

Clergyman, entomologist; born in New Lisbon, Ohio, July 3, 1837; graduated from Jefferson College in 1859, subsequently receiving the degrees of D.D. and Sc.D. from Lafayette College, and LL.D. from Washington-Jefferson. He entered the army at the breaking out of the Civil War as a lieutenant in the Forty-first Illinois Volunteers, and afterward became chaplain of the regiment; was chaplain in Pennsylvania Commandery of the Loyal Legion and chaplain Second Regiment National Guard of Pennsylvania, with which he entered the Spanish-American War, serving in Cuba by special order of President McKinley and Secretary of War. He founded the National Relief Commission and was for thirty-three years active pastor of the Tabernacle Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia. He is prominent as an entomologist; president of the American Entomological Society; vice-president of the Academy of Natural Sciences, Philadelphia; and is now president of the American Presbyterian Historical Society. Dr. McCook is author of: Agricultural Ants of Texas; Honey and Occident Ants; American Spiders and Their Spinning Work; Tenants of an Old Farm; Old Farm Fairies; Women Friends of Jesus; The Gospel in Nature; Object and Outline Teaching; Ecclesiastical Emblems; The Latimers, a Scotch-Irish Historic Romance of the Western Insurrection; Martial Graves of Our Fallen Heroes in Santiago de Cuba; A Record of the Spanish-American War; The Senator, a tribute to Marcus Hanna, a schoolmate; and Nature's Craftsmen, his last book. He married, Sept. 11, 1861, Emma C. Herter, and June 27, 1899, Mrs. Eleanor D. S. Abbey. Address: "Brookcamp," Devon, Pa.

McCOOK, John James:

Lawyer; born at Carrollton, Ohio, May 25, 1845. He entered Kenyon College, but left at the end of the first year to serve in the Civil War; enlisted in the Fifty-second Ohio Infantry; was subsequently commissioned first lieutenant of the Sixth Ohio Cavalry, and captain and aide-de-camp of U. S. Volunteers. He served in the campaigns of Perryville, Stone River, Tullahoma, Chickamauga and Chattanooga, with the Western armies, and in General Grant's campaign with the Army of the Potomac; was severely wounded in the battle of Spottsylvania Court House; mustered out as brevet-colonel of Volunteers; re-entered Kenyon College, and was graduated as A.B. in 1866; and from Harvard as LL.B. in 1869; received the honorary A.M. degree from Princeton University, in 1873, and LL.D. from the University of Kansas in 1890, and from Lafayette College in 1893. He is senior member of the firm of Alexander and Green; and counsel for railroad, financial and insurance corporations. He was invited to a place in President McKinley's first cabinet; was chairman of the Army and Navy Christian Commission during the war with Spain; is a trustee of Kenyon College, Ohio, and director of Princeton Theological Seminary; president of the Ohio Society of New York, and of the Phi Beta Kappa Alumni of New York. He is a member of the University, Union, and Union League Clubs of New York, the Somerset Club of Boston, and the Metropolitan Club of Washington. Residence: 10 West 54th Street. Office: 120 Broadway, New York City.

McCORMICK, Alexander Agnew:

Editor; born in Philadelphia, Feb. 21, 1863; son of Alexander and Katherine (McQuiston) McCormick. He was employed in the publishing department of A. C. McClurg Company, Chicago, 1888-1895; in which latter year he became general manager of the Chicago Times-Herald and Evening Post. He was general manager of the Record-Herald, 1901-1903, and editor of the Chicago Evening Post, 1904-1906. Mr. McCormick has been editor of the Indianapolis Star, Muncie Star, and Terre Haute Star, since 1906. He was secretary of the campaign that secured the adoption of the Civil Service Law in Chicago, and is ex-president of the Chicago

Civil Service Reform Association. He was vice-president of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, 1903-1904, and chairman of the Arbitration Committee, 1906-1907. He is the author of the present arbitration agreement between the newspapers and their employees. Mr. McCormick is a member of the University, Columbia, and Männerchor clubs of Indianapolis; the Union League (of which he is also ex-president), University, Onwentsia, Commercial, Athletic, and Mid-day clubs, of Chicago; and The Players and City clubs of New York City. He married at Lake Forest, Ill., June 1, 1895, Maud Warner, and they have two children. Residence: 1435 North Meridian Street. Office: The Indianapolis Star, Indianapolis, Ind.

McCORMICK, Andrew Phelps:

U. S. circuit judge; born in Brazoria County, Texas (then in Mexico), Dec. 18, 1832. His father, Joseph Manson McCormick, was one of the pioneers of American settlement in that region and took part in the organization of the Republic of Texas three years later. The son's early education was in private schools in Brazoria, and he then went to Centre College, Danville, Ky., from which he was graduated in 1854, then studied law and was admitted to the bar at Brazoria, and began practice. He served as probate judge, 1865-1876; was elected member of the State Constitutional Convention in 1866 and 1868; judge of the District Court, 1871-1876; member of the Texas Legislature, 1876-1879. He was appointed in April, 1879, U. S. district judge for the Northern District of Texas, which office he filled until appointed by President Harrison to his present office of U. S. circuit judge on the Fifth Circuit. Address: Dallas, Texas.

McCORMICK, Cyrus Hall:

President of the International Harvester Company; born in Washington, D. C., May 16, 1859; son of Cyrus Hall McCormick, inventor of the McCormick reaper. He was graduated from Princeton University, A.B., 1879, then became connected with the McCormick Harvesting Machine Company at Chicago, serving in various capacities until his father's death in 1884, when he became president of the company. When the company with other harvester manufacturers, consolidated their interests in the organization of the International Harvester Company in September, 1902, he was elected president of that company. Mr. McCormick is a member of the Chicago, Union League, University, Commercial and Chicago Athletic Clubs of Chicago, and the Metropolitan and University Clubs of New York. He married in Chicago, March 5, 1889, Harriet Bradley Hammond. Residence: 321 Huron Street. Office: 234 Michigan Avenue, Chicago.

McCORMICK, Harold Fowler:

Manufacturer; born in Chicago, Ill., May, 1872; son of Cyrus Hall and Nettie (Fowler) McCormick. He was graduated from Princeton in 1895. Mr. McCormick spent much of his vacation time during his college years in the works of the McCormick Harvesting Machine Company, and with the local agents, familiarizing himself with the duties that he was destined to assume at a later date. He was the general agent of the company at Council Bluffs, Iowa, 1896-1897, and since 1902 has been vice-president of the International Harvester Company. He is a trustee of the University of Chicago, of the McCormick Theological Seminary, and of the Chicago Exchange Building. He is a member of the Chicago, Merchants', University, Chicago Athletic and Onwentsia Clubs of Chicago, and of the University, Racquet and Tennis, Strollers' and Princeton Clubs of New York City. Mr. McCormick married in New York City, Nov. 26, 1895, Edith, daughter of John D. Rockefeller, and they have had five children, two of whom are now deceased. Residence: 88 Bellevue Place. Office: 7 Monroe Street, Chicago.

McCORMICK, John Newton:

Bishop of Western Michigan; born in Richmond, Va., Feb. 1, 1863; son of John and Virginia (Newton) McCormick. He was graduated from Randolph-Macon College, B.A., 1883, taking a post-graduate course at Johns Hopkins University which he completed in 1886. The degree of D.D. was conferred upon him by the University of the South in 1903. He was ordered deacon of the Episcopal Church in 1892 and ordained to the priesthood by Bishop Randolph a year later. Following his entry to the ministry, he was missionary in Southern Virginia, 1892-1893, being called to the rectorate of St. Paul's Church, Suffolk, Va., in 1893. Two years later he became rector of St. Luke's Church, Atlanta, Ga., and after officiating for three years, became, in 1898, rector of St. Mark's Church, Grand Rapids, in the Diocese of Western Michigan. This rectorship he filled until 1906 when he was elected bishop-coadjutor of Western Michigan; and he became bishop of the Diocese of Western Michigan on the death of the diocesan in March, 1909. He is author of the following works: Distinctive Marks of the Episcopal Church; The Litany and the Life (Young Churchman Company); Pain and Sympathy. Longmans, Greene and Company. Bishop McCormick was married at Baltimore, Md., in 1889, to Bessie Chapman Tucker. Address: 285 East Fulton Street, Grand Rapids, Mich.

McCORMICK, Robert Laird:

Capitalist; born in Clinton County, Pa., Oct. 29, 1847; son of Alexander and Jane Hayes (Laird) McCormick. He was educated in the public schools and in Saunders' Institute, Philadelphia. In 1874 he went to Minnesota and engaged in the lumber business. This he continued, also acquiring extensive timber and mineral properties in Minnesota and the Northwest, and acquiring extensive interests in the grain trade. He became associated with Frederick Weyerhaeuser in extensive purchases of timber lands in the State of Washington, and in 1903 removed to Tacoma, where he is secretary of the Weyerhaeuser Timber Company, president of the Lumberman's National Bank of Tacoma, and the Lumberman's State Bank of Hoquiam, Washington. He is also interested as officer and director in other large corporations. He was elected member of the State Senate of Minnesota in 1880, and was a delegate from Wisconsin to the National Republican Convention at Philadelphia in 1900. He married in Seneca County, Ohio, Sept. 11, 1870, Anna E. Goodman. Residence: 421 North Yakima Avenue. Office: Northern Pacific Headquarters Building, Tacoma, Wash.

McCORMICK, Robert Sanderson:

Ex-ambassador; born in Rockbridge County, Va.; son of William Sanderson McCormick and Mary Ann Girsby. He received his education in the University of Virginia. He was secretary of the United States Legation, London, from 1889 to 1892; official representative in London of the World's Columbian Exposition in 1892 and 1893; United States Minister to Austria-Hungary, in 1901 and 1902, when raised to rank of ambassador; was American ambassador to St. Petersburg, from 1902 to 1905, and American ambassador to France, from 1905 to 1907. He is a member of the St. James' Club of London; of Chicago and Chicago Golf Clubs of Chicago; of Union, University, and Players' Clubs of New York; of Metropolitan and Country Clubs of Washington, and of Cercle de l'Union Club of Paris. Mr. McCormick married in 1876, Katharine Medill daughter of Joseph Medill, editor of the Chicago Tribune. Address: Chicago Club, Chicago, Ill.

McCORMICK, Samuel Black:

Chancellor of the University of Pittsburgh; born in Irwin, Westmoreland County, Pa., May 6, 1858; son of James Irwin McCormick, M.D., and Rachel Long (Black) McCormick. He was graduated from Washington and Jefferson College, A.B., 1880, A.M. in 1883, and received its degrees of D.D. in 1897, and LL.D. in 1902. After graduation he taught in Canonsburg Academy, 1880-1881; taught Greek in Washington and Jefferson College, 1881-1882. In 1879 he was admitted to study law in the office of H. H. McCormick of Pittsburgh and admitted to the Allegheny County bar in July, 1882. He practised law in Pittsburgh, 1882-1883, and in Denver, Colo., 1883-1887. He attended the Western Theological Seminary, 1887-1890, and was ordained as Presbyterian minister, April 30, 1890. He was pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church at Allegheny, 1890-1894; the First Presbyterian Church, Omaha, Neb., 1894-1897; president of Coe College, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, 1897-1904, and since then chancellor of the University of Pittsburgh. Dr. McCormick has traveled several times over the United States and twice in Europe. His favorite recreations are golf and farming. He is a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the College-University Council of Pennsylvania, the University Extension Society, Phi Gamma Delta fraternity, the Chamber of Commerce of Pittsburgh, and the Pennsylvania Society of the Sons of the American Revolution. He is also a member of the Duquesne, University, Athletic, and Oakmont County Clubs of Pittsburgh, the University Club of New York, and the Pennsylvania Club of Washington, D. C. He married in Carnegie, Pa., Sept. 29, 1882, Ida May Steep, and they have four children. Office: 802 Home Trust Building, Pittsburgh.

McCOUGH, H. Gordon:

Lawyer; born in Philadelphia, Oct. 1, 1855; son of William and Josephine (Kramer) McCough. He was graduated from Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., B.A., 1875, studied law, was admitted to the bar and has ever since been engaged in the practice of law in Philadelphia, now being of the law firm of Dickson, Beibler and McCough. He is a member of the Pennsylvania State Bar Association, the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, and the Delta Psi fraternity. He is a trustee of the Starr Savings Bank and of the Chestnut Hill Academy. Mr. McCough is a member of the University, City and Down Town Clubs of Philadelphia. He married in Philadelphia, Nov. 11, 1884, Virginia Mallet-Prevost, and they have three sons. Residence: St. Martin's Lane, Chestnut Hill. Office: 750 Bullitt Building, Philadelphia.

McCREA, James:

President of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company; born in Philadelphia, May 1, 1848; son of Dr. James Alexander and Ann B. (Foster) McCrea. He was educated in Rev. John W. Fairies' School, and the Pennsylvania Polytechnic College, Philadelphia. He began railroad service in 1865, as rodman of the Connellsville and Southern Pennsylvania Railroad; was rodman on construction of the Wilmington and Reading Railroad, in 1867, assistant engineer of the Allegheny Valley Railroad, 1868, principal assistant engineer of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, 1871; transferred to assistant engineer of the Philadelphia Division, in 1874; superintendent of the Middle Division, 1875; superintendent of the New York Division, 1878; manager of the Southwest System of the Pennsylvania Company, 1882; general manager of all Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburgh, 1885; and fourth vice-president of same in 1887; second vice-president, March, 1890; and first vice-president in May, 1891; was made director of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company in June, 1898, and January 2, 1907, was elected president of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. He is also president of the Northern Central Railway Company, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington Railroad Company, West Jersey and Seashore Railroad Company, and the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad. He is a member of the Philadelphia Club, Merion Cricket Club, and Penn Club of Philadelphia, the Union League Club of New York, Chicago Club of Chicago, and the Pittsburgh Club of Pittsburgh. He married, Feb. 12, 1873, Ada M. Montgomery, and they have two sons and a daughter. Residence: Ardmore, Pa. Office: Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

McCREA, James Alexander:

General superintendent of the Long Island Railroad; born in Philadelphia, May 26, 1875; son of James and Ada (Montgomery) McCrea. He was graduated from the Sheffield Scientific School, Yale, Ph.B., 1895. Civil engineer by profession; has been with the Pennsylvania Railroad and Pennsylvania Lines since 1895, first in engineering and later in operating departments; now general superintendent of the Long Island Railroad, Ocean Electric Railway, Huntington Railroad, Nassau County Railroad, Northport Traction Company, Glencove Railroad; vice-president of the Montauk Water Company. He is an associate member of the American Society of Civil Engineers; member of the Delta Psi fraternity; the Kittenhouse Club of Philadelphia; Rockaway Hunting, and St. Anthony Clubs of New York City. He married, in Pittsburgh, Dec. 15, 1897, Mabel Clarke. They have two children. Address: Care Long Island Railroad, Long Island City, N. Y.

McCREARY, George Deardorff:

Congressman; born in York Springs Village, Adams County, Pa., Sept. 28, 1846. His infancy and early youth were spent in the anthracite coal regions at Tremont, Tamaqua, and auch Chunk, where his father, the late John B. McCreary, one of the pioneer coal operators, was engaged in coal mining. In 1864, with his parents, he removed to Philadelphia and entered the University of Pennsylvania, remaining until his junior year, 1867, when he left to take a position in the Honey Brook Coal Company, of which his father was president. He began his independent business career in 1870, when he became a member of the newly organized coal firm of Whitney, McCreary and Kemmerer, retiring from the firm in 1879 to take charge of his father's estate. In 1882 he became interested in municipal affairs of the city of Philadelphia, and was an original member of the Committee of One Hundred, serving on the important committees; was elected treasurer of the city and county of Philadelphia in November, 1891; and during his term of office, from 1892 to 1895, reorganized the finances of the city, introducing and carrying out many needed measures, which have resulted in large financial gains to the city and safety in the transaction of its finances. He is an officer in and director of a number of successful financial, mining, and business companies, and is also associated in church and philanthropic institutions; has traveled extensively in this and foreign countries; was elected to the Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth Congresses, and re-elected to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congress from the Sixth Pennsylvania District as a Republican. He married, June 18, 1878, Kate R. Howell. Address: Philadelphia.

McCREARY, James B.:

Lawyer and former U. S. senator; born in Madison County, Ky., July 8, 1838. He was graduated from Centre College, Danville, Ky., in 1857; commenced the study of law the same year, and was graduated from the law department of Cumberland University, Tennessee, with the first honor in a class of forty-seven, in 1859, and in 1860 commenced the practice of law at Richmond. He entered the Confederate army in 1862; and was lieutenant-colonel of the Eleventh Kentucky Cavalry at the close of the war; was selected a Presidential elector on the Democratic ticket in 1868, but declined; was then elected a delegate to the National Democratic Convention held in New York, July 4, 1868; was elected a member of the House of Representatives of Kentucky in 1869, 1871, and 1873, and was elected speaker of the house in 1871, and reelected speaker in 1873. He was nominated as Democratic candidate for governor in May, 1875, and elected, serving from August, 1875, to September, 1879; received the degree of LL.D. from Centre College in 1879; was appointed, under an act of Congress, by the President of the United States and served as a delegate to the International Monetary Conference held at Brussels, Belgium, in 1892, where twenty nations were represented. Colonel McCreary was elected as a Democrat to represent the Eighth district of Kentucky in the Forty-ninth Congress in 1884, and reelected to the Fiftieth, Fifty-first, Fifty-second, Fifty-third, and Fifty-fourth Congresses as a Democrat; was elected a delegate from the State at large to the National Democratic Convention held at Kansas City in 1900, and was chairman of the State Democratic Committee in the campaign of 1900; was elected a delegate from the State at large to the National Democratic Convention held in St. Louis in 1904; was elected to the United States Senate as a Democrat in 1902 to succeed William J. Deboe, Republican, for the term which expired March 3, 1909. Address: Richmond, Ky.

McCREERY, Fenton Reuben:

Diplomat; born in Flint, Mich., April 21, 1866; son of William Barker and Ada Birdsall (Fenton) McCreery. He was educated in the Michigan Military Academy and the University of Michigan, class of 1888. He was appointed clerk in the U. S. Consulate in 1890, and secretary of the United States Legation to Chile in 1891; chargé d'affaires in Chile in 1893. His service in Chile was during the Revolution of 1891, and the settlement of the Baltimore Affair. He was secretary of the American Embassy in Mexico, 1897-1906. During this period he was chargé d'affaires for nearly three years. He was appointed minister-resident and consul-general to the Dominican Republic, Jan. 10, 1907, which post he still occupies. He spent three years in Northern New Mexico and California, and he has traveled extensively in Europe, and in every country of Central and South America, with the exception of Venezuela and the Guianas. He has also visited every island in the West Indies. Residence: Flint, Mich. Office address: Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic.

McCULLOUGH, Edgar Allen:

Justice of the Arkansas Supreme Court; born in Trenton, Tenn., Aug. 1, 1861; son of Dr. Phillip D. and Lucy Virginia (Burrus) McCulloch. After completing the public school course he studied law and he was admitted to the bar of Arkansas in 1883 and practised law at Marianna, Lee County, Ark., until elected in 1904 to his present office as associate justice of the Supreme Court of Arkansas, for an eight-year term. He married at Trenton, Tenn., Nov. 30, 1887, Hattie Louise Hassell. Address: The Capitol, Little Rock, Ark.

McCULLOUGH, John Griffith:

Capitalist and ex-governor; born near Newark, Del., Sept. 16, 1835; son of Alexander and Rebecca McCullough. He was graduated from Delaware College, A. B., 1855, from the Law Department of the University of Pennsylvania. He went to California in 1859, practised law in Mariposa County and afterward in San Francisco, and was a State Senator in California. He removed to Bennington, Vt., and became interested in railroad and other interests. He was vice-president 1874-1883, and president 1883-1888, of the Panama Railroad; director of the Central Vermont Railroad, 1873-1874; vice-president 1877-1883, and president, 1883-1900. He was a member of the Vermont Senate, 1898; governor of Vermont; 1902-1904. He is now president and director of the First National Bank of North Bennington, Vt.; vice-president and director of the Chicago and Erie Railroad Company; and is a director of The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Railway Company, Buffalo Creek Railroad Company, Central Vermont Railway Company, Erie and Wyoming Valley Railroad Company, Erie Railroad Company, Hudson and Manhattan Railroad Company, Middletown, Unionville and Water Gap Railroad Company, New Jersey and New York Railroad Company, New York and Greenwood Lake Railway Company, New York, Susquehanna and Western Railroad Company, Northern Railroad of New Jersey, Pere Marquette Railroad Company, The Lackawanna Steel Company, New York and Wilkes-Barre Coal Company, New York, Susquehanna and Western Coal Company, Pennsylvania Coal Company, the Honduras Syndicate and the Stark Paper Company. He is also a director of the Bank of New York (National Banking Association), The Fidelity and Casualty Company, and the National Life Insurance Company. Governor McCullough is a member of the Metropolitan, Union League, Midday, University and Lawyers' Clubs of New York. He married Eliza Hall Park, and they have two children. Residence: 88 Park Avenue. Office 2 Cortland Street, New York City.

McCULLOUGH, Myrtle Reed:

Author; born in Chicago, Sept. 27, 1874; son of Hiram V. and Elizabeth (Armstrong) Reed. She was educated in the Chicago public schools, and began writing for the press soon after her graduation from the West Division High School. She married in Grand Haven, Mich., Oct. 22, 1906, James Sydney McCullough, but retains her maiden name of "Myrtle Reed" as a pen-name. She is author of: Love Letters of a Musician; Later Love Letters of a Musician; The Spinster Book; Lavender and Old Lace; The Shadow of Victory; The Master Violin; The Book of Clever Beasts; At the Sign of the Jack o' Lantern; A Spinner in the Sun; Love Affairs of Literary Men; Flower of the Duok; Old Rose and Silver. Mrs. McCullough is a member of the Illinois Woman's Press Association, and of The Little Room. Address: 2281 Kenmare Avenue, Chicago.

McCUMBER, Porter J.:

United States senator; born in Crete, Ill., Feb. 3, 1858; son of Orlin and Ann E. McCumber. His parents removed to Rochester, Minn., the year of his birth, and he was brought up on a farm and educated in the district schools and after that in the city schools. He taught school for a few years, and later took the law course in the University of Michigan, from which he was graduated LL.B., 1880. He removed in 1881 to Wahpeton, N. Dak., where he has since resided, and engaged in the practice of law. He also became active in politics as a Republican, and was elected a member of the Territorial Legislature of Dakota, 1885-1887, and afterward served as State's attorney of Richland County, N. Dak. He was elected in 1899 and reelected in 1905 by the Legislature of North Dakota to the office of U. S. Senator, and his present term will end in 1911. He married, May 29, 1889, Jennie Shorning. Address: Wahpeton, N. Dak.

McCURDY, Charles W.:

Osteopathic physician; born in Ossian, Livingston County, N. Y., Nov. 26, 1856; son of David and Lydia (Lemen) McCurdy. He was educated in the Genesee (N. Y.) State Normal School, Michigan State College, B.S., 1881, M.S. in 1885, and the University of Wooster, A.M., 1894, and Ph.D., 1895; received the degree of Sc.D. (honoris causa) from Milton College, 1892; and he was graduated with the degree of D.O. (Doctor of Osteopathy) by the Philadelphia College of Osteopathy in 1903. He was head of Department of Science at the high school in Winona, Minn., 1888-1893; professor of chemistry at the University of Idaho and State chemist of Idaho, 1893-1900; and has been professor of physiological chemistry, toxicology and therapeutics, lecturer on dietetics and hygiene, and late dean and president of faculty at the College of Osteopathy, Philadelphia, 1900-1907. He was acting president of the University of Idaho and director of the Experiment Station in 1898; special agent of the United States Sugar Beet Investigations in Idaho, 1898-1899; secretary and member of the Board of Trustees of Philadelphia College and Infirmary of Osteopathy. He was editor of the Philadelphia Journal of Osteopathy. He has made investigations and written papers on the soils of Idaho, sugar beets in Idaho, therapeutics, hygiene and dietetics and miscellaneous subjects. He was president of a Division Association of the Twenty-seventh Ward of Philadelphia, 1905-1906; he is a Republican and a Presbyterian. He is a member of the American Chemical Society; fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science; fellow of the Research Society; member of the American Osteopathic Association; and of the Delta Tau Delta, Masonic fraternities. Dr. McCurdy married in Winona, Minn., Aug. 16, 1893, Eva A. Woodruff, and they have two daughters. Residence: 5051 Walton Avenue. Office: 331-332 Witherspoon Building, Philadelphia.

MacCURDY, George Grant:

Anthropologist; born in Warrensburg, Mo., April 17, 1863; son of William J. and Margaret (Smith) MacCurdy. He was graduated from the State Normal School, Warrensburg, Mo., 1887. Harvard, A.B., 1893, A.M., 1894, and attended the Universities of Vienna, Paris (School of Anthropology) and Berlin, 1894-1898, Ph.D. Yale, 1905. He was instructor in anthropology, 1898-1900, lecturer and curator of anthropological collections in Yale University since 1902; vice-president, 1906-1907, and secretary 1901-1902, and 1908-1913 of the American Association for the Advancement of Science; secretary of the American Anthropological Association since 1903. He is author of: The Eolithic Problem, 1905; Some Phases of Prehistoric Archaeology, 1907; Some Recent Paleolithic Discoveries, 1909. Dr. MacCurdy is a member of the Anthropological Societies of Paris, Berlin and Brussels, the National Geographic Society, Connecticut Academy of Sciences, Archaeological Institute of America, American Ethnological Society, American Anthropological Association; fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science; corresponding member of the Coimbra (Portugal), School of Anthropology (Paris), Anthropological Society (Washington, D. C.), Missouri Historical Society; is a member of Sigma Xi (Yale), and of the Graduates and Country Clubs of New Haven. Residence: 237 Church Street. Office: Yale University Museum, New Haven, Conn.

McCURDY, Irwin Pounds:

Clergyman; born near Livermore, Westmoreland County, Pa., March 23, 1856; eldest son of Alexander Jackson and Sarah (Pounds) McCurdy. His father was a descendant of the Clan of MacKureddy of Scotland, through Pethrie MacKirdy, of the Isle of Bute, Scotland, who was a descendant of James IV, King of Scotland, and was a Conventurer who in 1666 escaped from religious persecution in Scotland to County Antrim, Ireland, and his wife Margaret Stewart, who was a descendant of Robert II, King of Scotland, and their son, John McCurdy and his wife (of McQuillan descent from Irish kings) who settled in Chester County, Pa., in 1705. His mother is a descendant of Thomas Pound, who came from England to Plymouth Colony in 1635, and all his lines of ancestry over two hundred years ago were American, including three (Bradford, Doty, and Sampson) who came on the Mayflower in 1620; and his eight great-grandparents were all pioneer settlers in Westmoreland County. He was educated in public schools, normal school at New Derry, and state normal schools at Edinboro and Indiana, Pa., receiving the degrees of B.E. (with first honor), 1876, M.E. and M.E.D., 1878, Pennsylvania State Normal, Indiana, Pa.; was a law student in Indiana, Pa.; student at Washington and Jefferson College, the University of Wooster, and Lafayette College from which he was graduated as A.B. (with highest prize honor), 1880, A.M., 1883, Litt.D., 1890; was a student at Princeton Theological Seminary, 1880-1882, and took graduate courses at Lafayette, Princeton, and Johns Hopkins, receiving additional degrees in course and on examination.—L.D., Hanover College, 1890; Ph.D. cum laude, Bellevue College, 1890; Sc.D., College of Science, 1890; L.H.D., Maryville College, 1891; H.L.D., Lenox College, 1891; Philol.D., Grove City College, 1891; J.U.D. summa cum laude, Potomac University, 1909; also honorary degrees of D.D., New Windsor College, 1885; LL.D., Rutherford College, 1898; D.C.L., Potomac University, 1908; S.T.D., Kansas City University, 1908. Dr. McCurdy was teacher and principal of public schools, 1873-1878, and received a life certificate as teacher from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, 1878; was professor of Greek and higher mathematics in Frederick City (Md.) Female Seminary, 1881-1884; private instructor of students for the ministry, Philadelphia, 1885-1891. Licensed to preach by Presbytery of Kittanning, Pa., April 27, 1881; ordained in Presbyterian ministry by Presbytery of Baltimore, July 8, 1881; pastor of Presbyterian Church, Frederick City, Md., 1881-1884; pastor Southwestern Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia, 1884-1895, and since then honorary pastor for life; pastor-elect St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Boston, 1896; pastor-elect Presbyterian Church, Shrewsbury, N. J., 1897; pastor Fifth Presbyterian Church, Kansas City, Mo., 1897-1900; supplied pulpits of several churches, 1900-1903; associate pastor of Hope Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia, 1903-1907. He was left a fortune by Miss Sarah Alice White, one of the leading members of the church at Frederick City, and was an executor of the White Estate, Harmony Grove, Md., 1891-1897. He was a member of the Presbyterian Board of Education, 1887-1898; Executive Council, Presbyterian Historical Society, 1888-1896; secretary Presbyterian General Assembly Centennial, 1887-1888; delegate to Pan-Presbyterian Council, London, 1888; president Board of Managers, Philadelphia Evangelical Alliance, 1889-1894; financial secretary, Lafayette College, 1891-1892; acting stated clerk, Synod of Pennsylvania, 1893. He was editor of the Southwestern Observer, 1885-1897; The Amendment, 1889; The Weekly Reminder, 1897-1899. He is author of: A Philological Discussion of the Works, Style and Language of Edgar Allan Poe, 1880 (a prize essay); The Successful Teacher, 1881; Sacra Trinitas, 1881 (a Latin Thesis); Charter and Constitutions, 1886; Evangelistic Work, 1888; Centennial Hymns, 1888; Lovely Lafayette and other Poems, 1889; The Saxon and Norman Elements in our Language and Literature, 1890; The Causes of the Intellectual Development of the Elizabethan Age, 1890; Christmas Carols and New Year Hymns, 1893; Our Country's Glory, 1901; Patriotic Poems, 1907; Regina-Saquehanna, 1907; and many addresses, reports, contributions, poems, etc. Dr. McCurdy is a member of the American Academy of Political and Social Science, National Geographic Society, Department of Archaeology of the University of Pennsylvania, Historical Society of Pennsylvania, Presbyterian Historical Society, Spelling Reform Association, Presbyterian Ministers' Social Union, etc.; Pennsylvania Society of Sons of the Revolution (representing twelve ancestors), Mayflower Descendants, Descendants of Colonial Governors, Pilgrim Society, Colonial Wars, War of 1812, Military Order of Foreign Wars, Scotch-Irish Society, etc. Dr. McCurdy is an independent Republican in politics; president Four-Leaf Clover Club, Philadelphia; manager Ocean Grove (N. J.) Tennis Club. He has traveled several times over the United States and in eleven countries of Europe. He married at Irwin, Pa., Nov. 29, 1877, Rachel Loug Ewing, daughter of William and Mary Kyle (Black) Ewing, and they have had ten children. Address: 538 South 49th Street, Philadelphia.

McCURDY, Richard Aldrich:

Ex president of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York; born in New York City in 1835; son of the late Robert H. McCurdy, many years a prominent director of the company. He was graduated from the Law School of Harvard University, LL.B., in 1866. He practised law in New York with Lucius Robinson, afterward governor of New York; was appointed attorney for the Mutual Life Insurance Company in 1860; elected vice-president in 1865; and president in 1885, on death of President Winston, serving until 1906, when he resigned. He is a member of the Metropolitan, Lawyers', Morristown, and Morris County Golf Clubs. He married Sarah E. Little and they have one son, Robert H., born May 26, 1859. Address: Morristown, N. J.

McCURDY, Robert H.:

Banker (firm of McCurdy, Henderson & Co.); born in New York City, May 26, 1859. He was graduated from Harvard College in 1881. He entered the service of the Mutual Life Insurance Company in 1881; was superintendent of the Foreign Department of the Company from 1886 to 1903, and General Manager and a trustee of the Company until 1905. He is a director of the Windsor Trust Company, Casualty Company of America, O'Rourke Engineering Construction Company, International Bell Telephone Company, and First National Bank of Morristown. Address: 24 Nassau Street, New York City.

MCUTCHEON, George Barr:

Author; born on a farm near South Raub, Ind., July 26, 1866; son of John Barr and Clara (Glick) McCutcheon. He received his education at Purdue University. He was city editor of the Lafayette Evening Courier from 1893-1901. He is author of: Graustark; Castle Cranecrow; The sherrods; Brewster's Millions; The Day of the Dog; Beverly of Graustark; The Purple Parasol; Nedra; Cowardice Court; Jane Cable; The Flyers; The Daughter of Anderson Crow; The Husbands of Edith; The man from Brodney's; and various magazine stories and serials. He married, in 1904, Marie Van Antwerp Fay. Address: 57 Cedar Street, Chicago, Ill.

McCUTCHEON, John Tinney:

Artist, journalist and lecturer; born on a farm in Tippecanoe County, Indiana, May 6, 1870; son of John Barr and Clara (Glick) McCutcheon. The family removed to Lafayette, Ind. in 1876, and he was educated there in the public schools and at Purdue University, from which he was graduated in 1889. He studied art and began in newspaper work with the Chicago Record in 1889, and remained with it and its successor, The Chicago Record-Herald until 1903, when he became cartoonist of the Chicago Tribune, in which position he continues. He started on the trip around the world on the dispatch boat McCulloch, in January, 1898, and so was on that vessel in Asiatic waters during the war with Spain. It thus happened that he was an eye witness of the battle of Manila Bay, his detailed account of which, sent to the Chicago Record, was one of the most notable events of journalism in connection with the war. He visited many places in the Orient, and in the Philippines during the insurrection in the interests of his paper, and was with the Boer Army, as correspondent for the Record, in 1900, returning for service as political cartoonist for the paper in the fall of that year. He is author of: Stories of Philipino Warfare, and several series of his cartoons have been published in bound volumes. Mr. McCutcheon is also one of the most popular lecturers in lyceum and Chautauqua courses. He is a member of the Chicago Art Society, the Chicago Athletic Association and Chicago Press Club. Residence: 300 Schiller Street. Office: 203 Michigan Avenue, Chicago.

McDANIEL, Henry Dickerson:

Lawyer and ex-governor, born in Monroe, Ga., Sept. 4, 1837; son of Ira Oliver and Rebecca J. (Walker) McDaniel. He was graduated from Mercer University, A.B., 1856, A.M., 1859. He was a delegate to the Secession Convention of the State of Georgia in 1861, and served from first lieutenant to major in the Eleventh Georgia Regiment, Confederate States Army, 1861-1865. He was a member of the Georgia Constitutional Convention of 1865, served in the Georgia House of Representatives, 1873-1874, and the State Senate, 1874-1883; and was governor of Georgia, 1883-1886. He has practised law at Monroe, Ga., ever since the war period, and he is a director of the Georgia Railroad and Banking Company, and a director in several cotton mills, oil manufacturing and other corporations in Walton County, Ga. Governor McDaniel is a Democrat and a Baptist, and is chairman of the Board of Trustees of the University of Georgia. He married at Monroe, Ga. Dec. 20, 1865, Hester Felker. Address: Monroe, Ga.

McDANIEL, Walton Brooks:

Professor, University of Pennsylvania; born in Cambridge, Mass., March 4, 1871; son of Samuel Walton and Georgiana Frances (Brooks) McDaniel. He was graduated from Harvard University, A.B., magna cum laude, 1893, A.M., 1894, and Ph.D., 1899, and was assistant in Greek and Latin at that University, 1895-1896. He was instructor in the same studies at Harvard, 1899-1901, and at Radcliffe College, 1900-1901, and now holds the chair of assistant professor in classical philology at the University of Pennsylvania. Professor McDaniel is a member of the American Philological Association, The Classical Association of the Atlantic States, the Philadelphia Classical Club, the Oriental Club of Philadelphia, Harvard chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, and the Delta Upsilon fraternity. He married at St. Joseph, Mo., Aug. 2, 1899, Alice Corrienne Garlicks. Office: College Hall, University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia.

McDERMOTT, James Thomas:

Congressman and telegraph operator; born in Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 13, 1872; son of John and Anna (Horan) McDermott. He was educated in St. Andrew's Cathedral School at Grand Rapids; learned telegraphy and engaged as an operator. He is a member of the commercial Operator's Union, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. Mr. McDermott has been active in Chicago politics as a Democrat, and in 1906 he was elected to the Sixtieth Congress from the fourth Illinois District, and re-elected in 1908 to the Sixty-first Congress. Mr. McDermott is a member of the Modern Woodmen of America, the Catholic Order of Foresters, Knights of Columbus, Select Knights of America, United Irish Societies and Ancient Order of Hibernians. Address: 4524 Union Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

McDOEL, William Henry:

Railway president; born at Goffstown, N. H., March 28, 1841; son of Joseph and Ann (Clogston) McDoel. He was educated in the common schools, and entered railway service Sept. 7, 1860, as check freight clerk of the Great Western Railway of Illinois, which he afterward served as acting agent at Danville and agent at Tolono, Ill., until Dec., 1863. He went to the Toledo, Wabash and western Railway in January, 1864, as agent at State Line, Ind., was general agent of the same road at Keokuk, Iowa, 1865-1875, and from 1875 to 1877 was western agent of the Blue Line at Keokuk, Quincy, Burlington and other points. 1875-1877; was general freight agent of the Hannibal and St. Joseph Railroad, 1878-1884; southwestern freight agent of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad at Kansas City, Mo., May-July, 1884. On Aug. 1, 1884 he began his long connection with the Monon Route as general freight agent of the Louisville, New Albany and Chicago Railway, of which he became traffic manager Nov. 1, 1886, general manager April 15, 1891, and also vice-president April 24, 1894. He was appointed receiver of the road Aug. 24, 1896, and on its reorganization as the Chicago, Indianapolis and Louisville Railway, July 1, 1897, became vice president and general manager until April 25, 1899, since which date he has been president and general manager of that road. Since 1899 he has also been president of the Indiana Stone Road, and president of the Kentucky and Indiana Bridge and Railroad Company; and 1889-1890, was chairman of the Chicago and Ohio River Traffic Association. Mr. McDoel is a director of the American Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago. He is a member of the Chicago, Union League, Chicago Golf and Midlothian Clubs. He married, first, at State Line, Ind., Sept. 12, 1865, Rebecca Lucas, by whom he has one daughter, and married, second, at Kenosha, Wis., Dec. 27, 1898, Katherine R. Neff. Residence: Geneva, Ill. Office: 198 Custom House Place, Chicago.

MacDONALD, Arthur:

Social pathologist, author: born in Caledonia, N. Y., July 4, 1856; son of Angus and Virginia (Dibble) MacDonald. He was educated at the University of Rochester, A.B. 1879, A.M. 1883; studied law from 1879-1880; graduated from the Union Theological Seminary, New York, 1883; took post-graduate courses in philosophy, metaphysics and theology, 1883-1885, at Harvard University, and was appointed "Fellow in Psychology" in 1885, at Johns Hopkins University. He pursued studies in medicine and in subjects relating to criminal anthropology psychophysics at Berlin, Leipzig, Paris, Zürich and Vienna, and was at Clark University as docent ("advance beyond the doctorate") 1889-1891. In 1892 he became connected with the U. S. Bureau of Education as specialist in education as related to the abnormal and weakling classes, remaining connected with this work until 1903, during which time he carried on some experiments relating to the pathology of abnormal phenomena in human beings, spending much time and study in reformatories, prisons, alms houses, insane asylums, inebriate asylums and other institutions. He designed a new algometer calculated to secure more accurate results in measurements of pain. He has been for years in close touch with European investigations and discussions on the subjects in which he has specialized, having been U. S. delegate to various international, psychological and criminological congresses abroad. He is the author of ten works: including Man and Abnormal Man; Criminology; Le Criminel-Type; Education and Patho-Social Studies; Emile Zola (a psycho-physical study of Zola's personality); Experimental Study of Children. Mr. MacDonald is a member of the Société d'Hypnologie de Paris; was honorary president of the Third International Congress of Criminal Anthropology of Europe, is a member of the Delta Psi fraternity and the Harvard University Club of Washington. He married in Washington Sept. 29, 1904, Margaret J. Porterfield, an artist. Address: 127 A Street, N. E., Washington, D. C.

MACDONALD, James Allen:

Capitalist; he was graduated from Columbia College in 1863. He is extensively engaged in mining and other enterprises as partner of Senator W. A. Clark, of Montana; and he is the president, treasurer and director of the Henry-Bonnard Bronze Company; vice-president of the United Verde Copper Company, the Butte Electric Railway Company, the Clark Coal Company, the Equator Mining and Smelting Company, the Waelark Realty Company, Waelark Wire Company; first vice-president, treasurer and director of the United Verde and Pacific Railway; member of the Committee of Management of the Royal Insurance Company of England; treasurer and director of the American Stone Company; director of the Commercial Trust Company of New Jersey, Erie and Kalamazoo Railroad Company, and of the Queens Insurance Company. He is a member of the University, Players', Down Town and Metropolitan Clubs of New York. He married Clara Crooke and they have one daughter. Residence: Flushing, L. I. Office: 49 Wall Street, New York City.

McDONALD, Jesse F.:

Ex-governor of Colorado, mine operator; born in Ashtabula, Ohio, June 30, 1858; son of Lyman M. and Caroline (Bond) McDonald. He was brought up on a farm and educated in the country schools and at an academy, and engaged in civil engineering work. At the age of twenty-one he went to Colorado, and practised as civil and mining engineer. Since 1888 he has been engaged in mining on his own account, being owner of the Penrose and Harvard mines at Leadville, Colo., where also he is vice-president of the Eli Mining and Land Company, treasurer of the Argus Gold and Silver Mining Company and vice-president of the American National Bank. He has always been active in politics as a Republican, was mayor of Leadville, 1899-1905; elected State senator in 1902 and lieutenant-governor in 1904; he was Governor of Colorado, 1905 and 1906, his term expiring in Jan., 1907. Address: Leadville, Colo.

McDONALD, John B.:

Railroad contractor and builder; born in Ireland, Nov. 7, 1844; son of Bartholomew and Mary MacDonald. He was educated in the public schools. He is a self-made man, having begun life as a poor boy; became a foreman, next a contractor. Has built railroads in the United States and Canada, and one of his most noted undertakings was the building of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tunnel under City of Baltimore through rock. Mr. McDonald is now in charge of construction of the New York subways. He married, in 1869, Georgia A. Strong. Residence: 1 West 72d Street. Office: 90 West Street, New York City.

MACDONALD, Loren Benjamin:

Clergyman; born in Newport, Nova Scotia, Jan. 21, 1858; son of Edward and Mathilda O. (Mosher) MacDonald. He was graduated from Harvard University, S.T.B., 1881, A.B., 1886, and has received the degree of S.T.D. He has been settled over Unitarian churches in Ellsworth, Maine, Wolfboro, N. H. and Boston, and has been pastor of the First Unitarian Church in Concord, Mass., since 1895. He was three times in Europe and in Porto Rico at the time of Spanish-American War. He is a member of the Social Circle in Concord, founded in 1782; and is a Royal Arch Mason. Dr. MacDonald married in Cambridge, Mass., June 7, 1905, Mary Josephine Bygrave, and they have one son. Address: Concord, Mass.

MacDONALD, Pirie:

Photographer of men; born in Chicago, Jan. 27, 1867; son of Dr. George and Margaret (Reilly) MacDonald. He has been engaged in the photographic business since 1883; photographer of men exclusively, since 1890, and has made photographs of many notables. He has received many prizes from the photographers' Association of America, Cramer grand prize cup, grand prize for portraiture, diamond decoration, laurel wreath, seven gold and two silver medals; bronze trophy, Boston; special silver medal and later gold medal at Indianapolis; diamond medal from Omaha; gold medal at Philadelphia; gold medal from the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, also medals in London, Birmingham, Belfast, Trier, Frankfurt-on-the-Main, Amsterdam, Brussels, Nancy, Paris. He is a member and was the first and third president of the Professional Photographers' Society of New York; member of Chambre Syndicale de la Photographie de France; decorated officier d'Académie, 1906. Mr. MacDonald married, in 1890, Emily Van Deusen. Residence: 701 St. Nicholas Avenue, New York City. Studios: 576 Fifth Avenue, and 141 Broadway, New York City.

MACDONALD, Theodore H.:

Insurance commissioner for Connecticut; born in New Haven, Conn., March 11, 1862; son of William D. and Harriet W. (Nims) MacDonald. He has been deputy collector of internal revenue, chief clerk of the Board of Assessors, member of the Board of Assessors, and of the Insurance Commission of the State of Connecticut. He was chairman of the Republican Committee of New Haven for eight years, lieutenant of the New Haven Grays, and colonel and quartermaster-general of the State of Connecticut on the staff of Governor Henry Roberts. He is a member of the America Lodge, Knights of Pythias, Order of United Workmen, Maccabees, Ancient Order of Foresters, Governor's Foot Guard, and of the Sons of the American Revolution. He is also a member of the Union League and Republican Clubs of New Haven, and the Army and Navy Club of New York City. He married in New Haven, Nov. 10, 1897, Flora L. Hitchcock, and they have one son. Address: 174 Sherman Avenue, New Haven, Conn.

MacDONALD, William:

Professor of American history; born in Providence, R. I., July 31, 1863; son of William and Frances (Jordan). He was graduated from Harvard University, A.B., 1892, and received the honorary degrees of Ph.D. from Union University, 1895, and LL.D. from the University of New Brunswick, 1900. He was professor of history and political economy at Worcester Polytechnic Institute, 1892-1893; professor of history and political science at Bowdoin College, 1893-1901; has been professor of history at Brown University since 1901. Dr. MacDonald has been a member of the summer school faculties at Harvard, Cornell, University of Chicago, University of Kansas and University of California; and in 1908-1909, was lecturer in American history and government at Harvard. He is author of: Jacksonian Democracy; History of the United States (with T. W. Higginson); History and Government of Maine; editor of Select Documents Illustrative of the History of the United States; Select Charters; Select Statutes; Burke on Conciliation; Johnston's High School History of the United States; and Documentary Source-book of American History. He was chairman of the Rhode Island Citizens' Union 1904-1906, and has been a member of the Executive Committee of the Lincoln Union of Rhode Island since 1906. In politics he is an Independent and in religion an Episcopalian. He is a member of the American Historical Association and American Antiquarian Society; and vice-president of the Rhode Island Historical Society. He is a member of the University and Art Clubs of Providence. Professor MacDonald married in Lawrence, Kansas, Nov. 24, 1887, Harriet B. Haskell. Address: Brown University, Providence R. I.

McDONNELL, Charles E.:

Catholic bishop of Brooklyn; born in New York City, 1854; studied at Christian Brothers School, St. Francis Xavier's College, and the American College at Rome. He was ordained to priesthood, 1878; was assistant in St. Mary's Church, New York City, 1878, St. Stephen's, 1879; master of ceremonies, in the New York Cathedral, 1879-1884; secretary to Cardinal McClosky; secretary to Archbishop Corrigan, and appointed in 1890, one of the private chamberlains of Pope Leo XIII; was consecrated bishop, April, 1892. Address: 367 Clermont Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

MacDOUGAL, Daniel Trembly:

Botanist; born at Liberty, Ind., March 16, 1865; son of Alexander and Amanda (Shawalter) MacDougal. He was educated at De Pauw University, B.S. and A.M., 1892; Purdue University, M.S., 1891, Ph.D., 1897. He was instructor in biology at Purdue University, 1890-1893; instructor and assistant professor of botany at the University of Minnesota, 1893-1899; director of laboratories and assistant director of the New York Botanical Garden, 1899-1905; and is now director of the Department of Botanical Research in the Carnegie Institution at Washington. He was special agent of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, making explorations in Arizona and Idaho, 1891-1892. He made explorations in Sonora, Baja-California and other parts of Mexico, Montana California and elsewhere, for the New York Botanical Garden, 1899-1905. He was a member of the committee in charge of the Desert Botanical Laboratory at Tucson, and is now director of same, made special investigations at Leipzig and Tübingen, Germany. Dr. MacDougal is author of several books and many scientific papers dealing with botanical subjects, and editor of various journals and books. He is a life member of the Botanical Society of America, Torrey Botanical Club, the Horticultural Society of New York; honorary member of the Barnard Botanical Club; foreign member of Hollandsche Maatschappij der Wetenschappen; member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity; the Century, Explorers', and National Arts Clubs of New York, and Cosmos Club of Washington. He married at Cincinnati, Jan. 24, 1893, Louise Fisher, and they have one daughter, Alice, born in 1894. Address: Tucson, Ariz., and Carnegie Institution, Washington, D. C.

MacDOUGALL, Clinton Dugald:

United States marshal; born in Glasgow, Scotland, June 14, 1839; son of Dugald and Margaret (MacKendrick) MacDougal. He was educated in Canada, was graduated from Jordan Academy in 1853; served in the Civil War, and was brevetted brigadier-general of Volunteers, Feb., 1865, for gallantry. He commanded brigade and division, in the Army of the Potomac. After the war he engaged in manufacturing agricultural implements, and is now president of the New Birdsell Company of Auburn, N. Y. He was post-master of Auburn, from 1869-1873; member of Congress, 1873-1877; presidential elector in 1888; U. S. marshal of the Northern District of New York, 1877-1885 and since Jan. 9, 1901. General MacDougall is a Republican in politics. He married Eva Sabine. Address: 108 South Street, Auburn, N. Y.

McDOWELL, George Washington:

Physician; born in New York City, June 17, 1860; son of Thomas and Catherine (Foster) McDowell. He was educated in the New York schools, and graduated from the College of the City of New York, as A.B. in 1882, and A.M. in 1886, and the New York Homeopathic Medical College and Hospital, M.D., 1886; and he studied in the College of New York Ophthalmic Hospital, 1889. He is professor of otology in the New York Homeopathic Medical College and Hospital; consulting aurist to Flower Hospital; surgeon of the New York Ophthalmic Hospital; consulting aurist of the Laura Franklin Free Hospital for Children; aurist of St. Gregory's Hospital; oculist and aurist of the Protestant Half-Orphan Asylum, and the Methodist Episcopal Church Home. He is a member of the American Institute of Homeopathy, American Ophthalmological, Otological and Laryngological Society, New York State and County Homeopathic Medical Societies, and of the Delta Kappa Epsilon Association, and the Chiron and Clinical Clubs of New York City. He married at Newark, N. J. June 5, 1889, Lottie Belle Bolen, and they have one daughter. Address: 1 West 34th Street, New York City.

McDOWELL, Henry Clay:

U. S. district judge; born in Louisville, Ky., Aug. 24, 1861; son of Henry Clay and Anne (Clay) McDowell. After graduation from Yale as B.A., 1884 and attending the Law Department of the University of Virginia in 1885 he practised law until appointed by President Roosevelt, Nov. 14, 1901, U. S. district judge for the Western District of Virginia, which office he now fills. He is a Republican in politics. He married, July 5, 1892, Louise Clay. Address: Lynchburg, Va.

McDOWELL, William Fraser:

Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church since 1904; born at Millersburg, Ohio, Feb. 4, 1858; son of David A. and Rebecca (Fraser) McDowell. He was graduated from Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, Ohio, B.A., 1879, M.A., 1882, and received its degrees of Ph.D. in 1891 and S.T.D. in 1894; was graduated from Boston University, S.T.B., 1882, and received the degrees of D.D. from Wesleyan University, 1903, and LL. D. from Baker University, Mount Union College, Cornell College and Denver University, 1904; and from Northwestern University in 1905. He was Methodist pastor, 1882-1890 at Lodi, Oberlin, and Tiffin, Ohio; chancellor of the University of Denver, 1890-1899; member of the Colorado State Board of Charities and Corrections; corresponding secretary of the Board of Education of the Methodist Episcopal Church, 1899-1904; member of the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, 1900-1904, and elected and consecrated bishop at the latter Conference at Los Angeles. He is a member of the International Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association; president of the Religious Education Association, 1905-1906; president of the Board of Trustees of Northwestern University, since 1906; and he is a member of the University Club of Chicago. He married, in 1882, Clotilda Lyon, and they have one daughter. Address: 57 Washington Street, Chicago.

McENERY, Samuel Douglas:

U. S. senator; born at Monroe, La., May 28, 1837. He was educated at Spring Hill College, near Mobile, Ala., the U. S. Naval Academy, and the University of Virginia; was graduated from the State and National Law School, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., served in the Confederate Army, in the war between the States, as lieutenant, in Virginia, under Magruder, and in the Trans-Mississippi Department. He is a lawyer by profession; was nominated by the Democratic party and elected lieutenant-governor, with L. A. Wiltz as governor in 1879. On the death of Governor Wiltz, in Oct., 1881, he succeeded him in the executive office; was nominated by the Democratic party for governor and elected in 1884; was a candidate for renomination and was defeated by General Francis T. Nicholls for the nomination; General Nicholls was elected in 1888 and appointed his opponent, S. D. McEnery, to be associate justice of the Supreme Court in 1888 for the term of twelve years. He was nominated by the Democratic party in 1892 for governor and defeated by the Anti-Lottery party; was nominated by the Democratic caucus for senator at the session of the Legislature in 1896, and elected to the Senate for the term beginning March 4, 1897, to succeed the Hon. H. C. Blanchard, May 28, 1896; and he was reelected in 1902 and 1908. His term of service will expire March 3, 1915. Address: 1233 St. Mary Street, New Orleans, La..

MACFARLAND, Charles Stedman:

Clergyman traveler, and author; born in Boston, Dec. 12, 1866; son of Daniel and Sarah Abigail (Crafts) Macfarland. He was educated in the Chapman School, Boston High School and Yale University, where he received the degrees of B.D. and Ph.D. He entered business at the age of seventeen and at twenty-one he became general manager of T. O. Gardner and Company, manufacturers and commission merchants. He was a general secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association 1892-1893; and assistant pastor of the Maverick Congregational Church of Boston, 1893-1894. In 1899 and 1900 he was instructor in Yale University, pastor of the Maplewood Congregational Church at Malden, Mass., 1900-1906; and since 1906 has been pastor of the Congregational Church at South Norwalk, Conn. He is a lecturer at Yale University, and a member of the Advisory Committee to the faculty of Yale Divinity School. He is president of the Travel Club of Boston and London. Dr.

Macfarland is a member of the American Oriental Society, Society of Biblical Literature and Exegesis, and the National Geographic Society; fellow of the American Academy of Political and Social Science and a member of the Masonic Order. Dr. Macfarland was some time examiner for West Point and Annapolis. He is a member of the Yale and Congregational Clubs of New York, and the Yale Club of Boston. He is author of: The Spirit Christlike: Jesus and the Prophets; The Old Puritanism and the New Age; The Infinite Affection; and the Christian Ministry and the Social Order. He married in Andover, Mass., March 9, 1904, Mary Perley Merrill, and they have one son and one daughter. Address: The Congregational Parsonage, South Norwalk, Conn.

MACFARLAND, Henry B. F.:

President of the Board of Commissioners of the District of Columbia; born in Philadelphia, 1861, but living from 1865 in Washington, where he was educated and read law. He was appointed by President McKinley, commissioner of the District of Columbia in May, 1900, when he was not a candidate and reluctantly consented to serve, and was reappointed twice by President Roosevelt in 1903 and 1906, both times long before his term expired and without his being a candidate. During these six years, he has been president of the Board of Commissioners, which board succeeded to the powers and duties of the Governors of the District of Columbia in 1878. He was urged by President McKinley to take the place because of his known interest in the civic affairs of the District and activity in all movements for its improvement, especially with respect to social conditions. He was chairman of the National Capital Centennial Committee in 1900, delivering the Centennial address at the White House, Dec. 12, 1900, and taking an active part in the celebration, out of which grew the Senate Park Commission and its plans for the beautification of the District, which was then designed to be the monument of the Centennial Celebration. The physical improvement of the National Capital, including the railway terminal work, involving the abolition of grade crossings and a new union station, the filtration plant and sewage disposal system, the District Government building, the new bridges and parks, and the financing of the District's share of one-half of the cost have engaged his attention as have all questions of public art and architecture. He has devoted much time to the improvement of the departments of the District service under his supervision. The public charity system has been very largely reorganized and modernized by the Board of Charities, and the Health Department made more effective, and others under his supervision have been advanced by his direction. Public education and the public library and playground projects have had his constant support, and his lifelong interest in social and philanthropic work has been seen in his support of the measures which became law in the Fifty-ninth Congress, most of the bills being prepared under his direction, for a juvenile court and probation system, condemnation of insanitary buildings, compulsory education, abatement of nuisances, restriction of the sale of drugs and poisons, regulation of employment agencies, governmental supervision of savings banks, conversion of alleys into minor streets, and other similar propositions. Mr. Macfarland delivered an address on District of Columbia Day, at the Pan American Exposition at Buffalo, Sept. 3, 1901, at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, Oct. 19, 1904, and at the Jamestown Exposition, June 11, 1907. He was president of the International Convention of the Young Men's Christian Associations in 1904. Residence: The Marlborough, Washington, D. C. Office address: District Building, Washington, D. C.

McGEE, Anita Newcomb:

Physician; born in Washington, D. C., 1864; daughter of the late Professor (Admiral) Simon Newcomb, U. S. N., the distinguished astronomer, and Mary Caroline (Hassler) Newcomb. She was educated in private school and at home; at schools in Europe, and was graduated from Columbian (now George Washington) University, M.D., 1892, with a post-graduate course in gynecology in Johns Hopkins University.

She married in Washington, D. C., Feb. 14, 1888, W. J. McGee (q.v.) and has a daughter and a son. Dr. McGee practised in Washington, 1892-1896. As vice-president general of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution Dr. McGee took up in April, 1898, work in connection with the Spanish-American War as director of the D. A. R. Hospital, and from 1898 to the end of 1900 was acting assistant surgeon in the U. S. Army, and assigned to duty "in charge of the Army Nurse Corps," directly under Surgeon-General Sternberg. She selected about two thousand women nurses for military service, and organized them into the Nurse Corps, which Congress made a permanent part of the U. S. Army, and she continued her Army service after the Spanish War, through the Philippine Insurrection and the Boxer Campaign. As president of the Spanish-American War Nurses and as representative of the Red Cross of Philadelphia, Dr. McGee took a party of trained nurses to Japan in 1904 for a period of six months of work in the army hospitals of that country. Going without compensation, as all of the party did, they were welcomed as guests of the Japanese nation, and assigned to posts of honor as nurses in the most important hospital of the army at Hiroshima, and on the finest hospital ships. The minister of war appointed Dr. McGee supervisor of nurses, which gave her rank of officer in the Japanese Army, and she was sent to inspect and report on various hospitals in Japan and on the Yalu River (Manchuria). The Emperor of Japan bestowed upon Dr. McGee the Order of the Sacred Crown, a very rare honor, the Russian War medal, and the Special Decoration of the Red Cross of Japan, and from the Empress the Russian War Red Cross medal. She has been surgeon-general, librarian-general, vice-president general and historian general of the Daughters of the American Revolution; is honorary president for life of the Spanish-American War Nurses; ex-department surgeon of Spanish War Veterans (only woman member of that organization); member of the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States. Dr. McGee is author of various contributions in The Century, Collier's and The Trained Nurse and Hospital Review. At present engaged in preparing a biography of her father. Her favorite recreation is genealogy and history, having made extensive researches in the United States, Canada, England, France, Germany and Switzerland. Address: 1620 P Street, Washington, D. C.

McGEE, W J:

U. S. Inland Waterways Commissioner; born in Dubuque County, Iowa, April 17, 1853; son of James and Martha (Anderson) McGee; attended common schools in Iowa for a short time, but his education has been chiefly acquired by private study; engaged in farm work at ten to twenty years of age and during that period studied Latin, astronomy, the higher mathematics, law and surveying; appeared as attorney in justices courts and engaged in land surveying, 1874-1876; interested in manufacturing, inventing and patenting agricultural machinery, and working at forge and bench, 1877-1881. While thus engaged, and afterward, made a study of geology and archaeology, and 1877-1881, made a geological and topographical survey of Northeastern Iowa, the most extensive ever executed in America without State or National Aid; examined and reported upon the building stones of Iowa for the Tenth Census; geologist with U. S. Geological Survey, 1882-1893, and from 1885 had charge of an important division of that survey; surveyed and mapped 300,000 square miles in the southeastern section of the United States and compiled geologic maps of the State of New York and of the United States. He made an investigation and wrote many monographs, reports and articles on geologic subjects for scientific journals during that period. In 1893 he was appointed ethnologist-in-charge of the Bureau of American Ethnology, which he resigned in 1903 to become chief of the Department of Anthropology in the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, St. Louis. Under his direction there was collected the most comprehensive and diversified assemblage of the world's peoples ever brought together in an exhibit and no feature of that World's Fair attracted more widespread and interested attention. When, therefore, the St. Louis Public Museum was established as a permanent result of the Exposition, in 1905, Dr. McGee was chosen as its director, and continued in that position until March, 1907, when, on the creation of the Inland Waterways Commission by President Roosevelt, he was appointed a member of the commission, and at the same time was appointed soil expert in the United States Department of Agriculture; and at the first meeting of the Commission he was elected as secretary. He received the degree of LL.D. from Cornell College, Iowa, in 1898. He has been an important and constant contributor to science in the departments of ethnology, anthropology, geology and archaeology; has been United States commissioner on the International Archaeological and Ethnological Commission since 1902; studied, in 1894 and 1895, on Tiburón Island, a savage tribe never before scientifically studied, and has made various important researches in the ethnology, language, and archaeology of various native American tribes, accounts of which have been presented in books, articles and scientific memoirs. He was a member of the editorial board of Science, edited the Department of Anthropology in the International Encyclopedia; is associate editor of the American Anthropologist and of the National Geographic Magazine. Dr. McGee has been one of the most effective advocates and promoters of organized effort among scientific men. He became a member, 1878, and a fellow, 1882, of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, was secretary of Section E (geology and geography), 1891, vice-president of Section II (Anthropology), 1897, and acting president of the Association, 1897-1898. He is a member of the American Society of Naturalists, member and past president of the American Anthropological Association, and the Anthropological Society of Washington; member of the Geological Society of America and first editor of its Bulletin; member of the American Geographical Society, Archaeological Institute of America (vice-president, 1902-1905), National Geographic Society (past president), Society of American Geographers, the Explorers' Club, Washington Academy of Sciences (past vice-president); a member of all the scientific societies of Washington; leading founder of the Columbia Historical Society; honorary member of the Missouri Historical Society, and president of the Missouri Folk-Lore Society. He was senior speaker for the Department of Anthropology at the World's Congress of Arts and Sciences, held at St. Louis in 1904, and chairman of the Organizing Committee for the International Geographic Congress, St. Louis, 1904. He was one of the organizers and recording secretary of the Conference of Governors in the White House in May, 1908, and edited the volume of Proceedings; and he was made a member of the National Conservation Commission appointed pursuant to the Conference. There is probably no man in this country who has a wider personal acquaintance among men of science than Dr. McGee. He has been a constant and valued contributor to scientific literature in the form of books, reports and papers in scientific magazines and the proceedings of scientific societies. He married, in 1888, Anita, daughter of Professor Simon Newcomb, the distinguished astronomer, and herself a noted physician and scientist. Address: U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

McGEHEE, Edward Larned:

Physician; born in Wilkenson County, Miss., April 4, 1852; son of Charles G. and Stella (McNair) McGehee. He was educated in schools in Woodville, Miss., in Cumberland University, Lebanon, Tenn., the Southern University, at Greensboro, Ala., B.S. in 1871; and the Medical Department of the University of Louisiana, M.D., 1874. He practised in Mississippi for eighteen years after his graduation, and since then in New Orleans. He was a member of the Mississippi State Board of Health, and of the Mississippi State Board of Medical Examiners, and was president of the Mississippi State Medical Society, and is now a member of the State Board of Medical Examiners in Louisiana. He was professor of physiology, hygiene and pathology in the New Orleans College of Medicine; was resident student of the Charity Hospital, and president of Charity Alumni Association, of the Louisiana Anti-Tuberculosis League, and of the Rayne Memorial Home. He is physician in charge of the Poydras Orphan Asylum; president of St. Tammany Health Homes Company, and of the Glady's Mineral and Oil Company of Calcasieu Parish, La.; also partner in the Hammond (La.) Sanatorium. He is a member of the Orleans Parish Medical Society, the Louisiana and Mississippi State Medical Associations, American Medical Association and the National Health Association. Dr. McGehee married in Greensboro, Ala., March 4, 1875, Anna O. Webb, and they have five sons. Residence: 1502 Webster street. Office: Machea Building, Canal Street, New Orleans, La.

McGIFFERT, Arthur Cushman:

Professor of church history; born in Saquoit, N. Y., March 4, 1861; son of Joseph Nelson and Harriet Whiting (Cushman) McGiffert. He was educated in public schools of Ashtabula, Ohio; was graduated from the Western Reserve College, B.A., 1882, M.A., 1885, with honors; Union Theological Seminary, New York, 1885, and studied in Berlin, Paris and Rome, and Marburg, 1885-1888, receiving the degree of Ph.D., from Marburg, 1888, D.D., from the Western Reserve University, 1892, and Harvard University, 1906. He was an instructor in church history, Lane Theological Seminary, Cincinnati, 1888-1890, professor, 1890-1893, and professor in Union Theological Seminary, New York, since 1893. He is author of various books entitled: Dialogue Between a Christian and a Jew, 1888; Translation of Eusebius' Church History, 1890; A History of Christianity in the Apostolic Age, 1897; The Apostles' Creed, 1902, and (joint author) Christian Point of View, 1902. He was also a Dudgeon lecturer at Harvard, 1901, and 1909, and Southworth lecturer at Andover Theological Seminary, 1909. Professor McGiffert is a member of the American Historical Association, American Society of Church History, Society of Biblical Literature and Exegesis, and the New York Philosophical Club, member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, the Phi Beta Kappa Society, Chi Alpha and the Theta Clerical Clubs, Manhattan Congregational Association, and the Century Club of New York. He married first in Cleveland, Ohio, June 9, 1885, Eliza Isabelle King, and second in East Orange, N. J., Nov. 12, 1891, Gertrude Huntington Boyce, and he has three children. Residence: 700 Park Avenue, New York City.

McGILVARY, Evander Bradley:

Professor of philosophy; born in Bangkok, Siam, July 19, 1864; son of Daniel McGilvary, D.D., and Sophia Royce (Bradley) McGilvary. He attended Bingham School, N. C., 1876-1880, and was graduated from Davidson College, A.B., 1884, from Princeton University A.M., 1888, and from the University of California, Ph.D., 1897. He was translator in Siam, 1891-1894; instructor in English in the University of California, 1894-1895, logic and psychology, 1895-1897, assistant professor of logic and epistemology, 1897-1899; Sage professor of ethics at Cornell University, 1899-1905, and has been professor of philosophy at the University of Wisconsin since 1905. He is director of the University Clubhouse Association of Madison, Wis. Dr. McGilvary has made special researches in Hegel's logic, the psychic process of knowledge, and the psychology of the moral life, and is author of papers on the theory of moral value and other philosophical subjects. He is a member of the American Philosophical Association, American Psychological Association, Western Philosophical Society, Kappa Alpha, Southern Order, and the University Club of Madison. Professor McGilvary married in East Orange, N. J., June 16, 1891, Elizabeth Allen Paton and they have two children. Residence: 1902 Arlington Place, Madison. Address: University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wisconsin.

MacGINNISS, John:

Smelting and mining engineer; born in Homer, Iowa, in 1867; son of John and Mary (Brandon) MacGinnis. He was educated in the Chicago public schools. He organized the United Copper Company in 1902, with a capital of $50,000,000, built and financed the Columbian & Western Railway in British Columbia; also Smelter at Trail, Ore., 1896-1898; smelter at Polaris, Mont., in 1906; organized Santa Rosa Mining and Smelting Company in Mexico in 1902; defeated by two votes for U. S. senator in Montana Legislature, 1901, by W. A. Clark, after sixty days' voting; member of the Montana Legislature, Seventh, Eighth, and Ninth sessions, member of Democratic National Committee in 1900; mayor of Butte, Mont., 1905-1906. He is vice-president and director of United Copper Company, Oppenheimer Institute, Aetna Indemnity Company; president of Silver Bow National Bank, Silver Fissure Mining Company; and is a member of the Montana Society of Engineers. He is a member of the Lawyers' and Democratic Clubs of New York City, of the Silver Bow and Country Clubs of Butte, Mont., and of the Montana and Lambs' Clubs of Helena, Mont. Address: 42 Broadway, New York City, and Butte, Mont.

MacGRATH, Harold:

Author; born in Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 4, 1872; son of Thomas H. and Lillian (Spurlock) MacGrath. He entered journalism in 1890 and nine years later published his first book, and within a short time was one of the best known of younger fiction writers of the United States. He has written a large number of popular successes, and is the author of: Arms and the Woman; The Puppet Crown; The Grey Cloak; The Man on the Box; The Princess Elopes; Enchantment; Hearts and Masks; Half a Rogue; The Lure of the Mask; The Watteau Shepherdess (operetta); The Best Man; The Goose Girl, etc. He is a contributor to the leading magazines. He married in Bridgeport, Conn., April 17, 1905, Alma Kenyon. Address: 304 Kellogg Street, Syracuse, N. Y.

McGUIRE, Bird Segle:

Lawyer; born at Belleville, Illinois, in 1864, and when but a child of two years his parents, Joel and Rachel McGuire, moved to Randolph County, north central Missouri, where they resided upon a farm until the spring of 1881, at which time they moved to Chautauqua County, Kan.; after remaining there a few months Mr. McGuire left home and lived for three years in different parts of the Indian Territory, a part of which is now Oklahoma, being engaged a greater portion of the time in the cattle business. Having been able to save a small sum of money, he returned home and entered the State Normal School at Emporia, Kan., remaining two years; then taught school several terms and entered the Law Department of the university at Lawrence, remaining one year and again returning home to Chautauqua, Kan. In the fall of 1890 he was elected county attorney of that county, and served four years. In 1895 he moved to Pawnee County, Okla., where he practiced law, and in 1897 he was appointed assistant U. S. attorney for Oklahoma Territory, in which capacity he served until after his nomination for Congress. He was elected delegate to the Fifty-eighth Congress and reelected to the Fifty-ninth Congress, serving 1903-1907. Address: Pawnee, Okla.

McGUIRE, James Clark:

Civil engineer and contractor; born near Ellicott City, Maryland; son of Joseph D. and Anna (Chapman) McGuire; is great-great-nephew of President James Madison; lineally descended from the Plantagenet line of England; also a lineal descendant from eighteen of the twenty-five surety barons who signed the Magna Charta on the field of Runnymede. He attended Rittenhouse Academy, Washington, D. C., 1881-1882, Emerson Institute, Washington, 1883, and was graduated from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N. Y., as C.E., 1888. He was engaged on the U. S. Geological Survey in the West one year after graduation; was assistant engineer of the Nicaragua Canal one year; engineer of Phoenix Bridge Company three years; the Treasury Department, Washington, D. C., three years, and has been conducting business on his own account as engineer and contractor since 1896. He is president of James C. McGuire & Company; vice-president and general manager of the Porterfield Construction Company, Markenfield Construction Company, Huntingfield Construction Company, Mayfield Construction Company. He is a member of the Institution of Civil Engineers of Great Britain, American Society of Civil Engineers, Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers, Society for Testing Materials, Society of the Cincinnati, Society of Colonial Wars, Sons of Revolution, Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, and is a member of the University and Down Clubs of New York City and of the Metropolitan Club, Washington, D. C. Address: 26 Cortlandt Street, New York City.

McGUIRE, Joseph Hubert:

Architect; born in New York City, Jan. 21, 1866; son of Joseph and Catharine (Rorke) McGuire. He was educated in private and public schools, in St. Francis Xavier College, Metropolitan Arts Schools of New York City and in the École des Beaux Arts, France. Among his principal works are the Catholic Cathedral at Richmond, Va., churches of St. Rose of Lima, Holy Trinity and St. Malachy, New York City; the chapel and Assembly Hall at Westchester Rectory, St. Elizabeth's Hospital; also many school buildings, hospitals, commercial buildings and private residences. He was a member of the Fine Arts Federation; and is a member of the American Institute of Architects, Society of Beaux-Arts Architects, the Architectural League, and of the Catholic and Wykagyl Country Clubs. Mr. McGuire married, in Philadelphia, Harriet Mein, and they have four children. Residence: Beechmont, New Rochelle, N. Y. office: 45 East 42d Street, New York City.

McINTIRE, Albert Washington:

Lawyer, ex-governor of Colorado; born in Pittsburgh, Jan. 15, 1853; son of Joseph Phillips and Isabella A. (Wills) McIntire. He attended the public schools to 1866; the preparatory school of Newell's Institute, Pittsburgh, to 1869; was graduated from Yale College, B.A., 1873, Yale Law School, LL.B., 1875. He was admitted to the bar of the Connecticut Supreme Court, 1875; the Pittsburgh bar in 1875; removed to Colorado in December, 1876 and established in practice. He was judge of the County Court, 1883-1886, adjudicated water rights in the 20th District, 1889-1891; district judge, 12th Judicial District of Colorado, 1891-1894; governor of Colorado, 1895-1897, as Republican, defeating Davis H. Waite, Populist, who was a candidate for reelection. He removed to Puget Sound, Washington, in December, 1900. Since 1901 he has been engaged in developing copper mining property in Washington, and in the practice of law. Mr. McIntire read a paper on the Copper Deposits of Washington before the American Mining Congress in Denver, 1906. He is president and general manager of the Foss River Consolidated Copper Company of Everett, Wash.; president of the Washington State Mining Association; vice president of the American Mining Congress; member of the Committee of the American Mining Congress to devise methods to prevent fraudulent mining schemes, and is also a member of the American Bar Association. He married first, in New Haven, Conn., July, 1873, Florence Johnson, and they had two children, one now deceased; he married again, Jan. 26, 1899, Ida Noyes Beaver, M.D. Office: Haller Building, Seattle, Wash.

McINTYRE, Robert:

Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church; born in Selkirk, Scotland, Nov. 20, 1851; son of Charles and Elizabeth (Anderson) McIntyre. He was educated in the Philadelphia public schools and at Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn., and has received the degree of D.D. from the University of Denver and of LL.D. from the University of Southern California and Hamline University. He entered the pastorate of the Methodist Episcopal Church and served in charges in Chicago, Denver and Los Angeles until he was elected bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church by the General Conference at Baltimore in 1908. He is a trustee of the University of Southern California. Bishop McIntyre is author of: Poems at Early Candle Light, 1899; A Modern Apollos, 1900. He married, in Quincy, Ill., Dec. 31, 1877, Ella Chatten, and has one son and two daughters. Residence: The Angus, St. Paul, Minnesota.

MACK, Norman Edward:

Editor, publisher; born in West Williams, Ontario, Can., July 24, 1855; he was educated at schools near his home. He started the Buffalo Sunday Times in 1879, and during the campaigns of 1884, 1888 and 1892 he and his paper gave generous support to the candidacy of Grover Cleveland. In 1892, he was alternate delegate to the Chicago Convention, and later representative from New York State on committee to notify Mr. Cleveland of his nomination. He has been a member of the National Democratic Committee since 1900, and was made, in 1908, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, which office he now holds. He married at Buffalo, N. Y., Dec. 22, 1891, Harriet B. Taggart. Residence: 1100 Delaware Avenue. Office: 193 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

MACK, William:

Lawyer; editor; born in Sumter County, S. C., Oct. 24, 1865; son of Rev. Dr. Joseph Bingham and Harriet Hudson (Banks) Mack. He was graduated from Davidson College, N. C., as A.B., and later A.M., and received its degree of LL.D. in 1907. He was graduated from Missouri State University, LL.B., 1887. He is secretary and editor-in-chief of the American Law Book Company. Mr. Mack is a member of the Missouri Society, Southern Society, Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, and the Masonic order, is a Knight Templar, and member of Elismet Temple, Mystic Shrine. He is author of Mack's Digest of American State Reports; joint author of Rapalje & Mack's Digest of Railway Decisions, seven volumes; and editor-in-chief of Cyclopedia of Law and Procedure and of Encyclopedia of Forms and Precedents. Mr. Mack married at Port Jefferson, N. Y., June 1, 1899, Minnie Frank Bayles, and they have one son. Address: 60 Wall Street, New York City.

MACKAY, Clarence Hungerford:

Capitalist; born in San Francisco, Calif., April 17, 1874; only son of John W.

Mackay, one of the most famous mining operators of the Pacific Coast, a financier of great ability and joint founder with James Gordon Bennett of the Commercial Cable Company and the Postal Telegraph Cable Company. Clarence H. Mackay received his early instruction at home, but was educated chiefly abroad, attending the Vangirard College in Paris and Beaumont College, Windsor, England. In 1894 he entered his father's office, where he familiarized himself with the great business enterprises of which he is now the head. He was elected president of the American Forcite Powder Company in 1896 and held that office about three years. He became a director in 1896, vice-president in 1897, and since his father's death in 1902 has been president of the Commercial Cable Company and the Postal Telegraph Cable Company. He is also a director of the American Exchange National Bank, the Equitable Trust Company, United States Mortgage and Trust Company, the Commercial Cable Company of Cuba, and completed in 1902 the cable connection between San Francisco and the Hawaiian and Philippine Islands. Mr. Mackay is an enthusiastic sportsman and fond of athletics, and formerly owned a large stable of thoroughbreds, but disposed of his racing stable in 1902. He has a large estate, Harbor Hill, near Roslyn, L. I., where he has erected a magnificent country residence. Mr. Mackay is a member of the New York Yacht, Atlantic Yacht, Union, Lawyers' and Metropolitan Clubs of New York, and many other clubs of this country and Europe. He married, May 17, 1898, Katherine Alexander Duer. Residence: Hempstead, L. I. Office: 253 Broadway, New York City.

MACKAY, George Devereux:

Banker; born in Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 28, 1854; son of John Sutherland and Mary Wilson (Devereux) Mackay. He was educated in the public schools and Polytechnic Institute in Brooklyn. He has been a member of the New York Stock Exchange since 1875; was of the firm of Vermilye and Company, 1880-1905, and of Mackay and Company since 1905. Mr. Mackay is vice-president of the Tri-City Railway and Light Company; secretary and treasurer of the Georgia Coast and Piedmont Railroad; president Acme Ball-bearing Caster Company, and Acme Sales Company. He is a member of the Board of Managers of the Roman Catholic Orphan Asylum; member of the Knights of Columbus; also of the Metropolitan, Catholic, New York Athletic, Republican and the American Yacht Clubs. He married, Feb. 5, 1880, Annie R. Barnes, and they have six children. Address: Nassau and Pine Streets, New York City.

MacKAYE, Percy Wallace:

Dramatist; born in New York City, March 16, 1875; son of Steele and Mary (Medbery) MacKaye. He was educated at Harvard College, A.B., 1897, and studied at the University of Leipzig, 1899-1900. He began writing plays in college, and is the author of: The Canterbury Pilgrims, a Comedy, 1903; Fenris the Wolf, a Tragedy, 1905; Jenne d'Arc (a tragedy), produced by E. H. Southern and Julia Marlowe in America and England, 1906-1907; Sappho and Phaon (a tragedy), 1907, produced by Harrison Gray Fiske, New York; The Scarecrow (a tragedy of the ludicrous), 1908; Mater (comedy, produced by Henry Miller in San Francisco, New York and London, 1908-1909. He also wrote The Canterbury Tales of Geoffrey Chaucer, a Modern Rendering into Prose, 1904 (published by Fox, Duffield & Co.). He is also the author of the poems: Prologue to the Saint-Gaudens Masque [given at Cornish, N. H., 1905]; The Sistine Eve, an oratorio; Ode to the American Universities [read before the Phi Beta Kappa Society of Harvard College, 1908, and published 1909]; Ode on the Centenary of Abraham Lincoln [read before the Brooklyn Institute, Feb., 1909, and published 1909]; Ticonderoga, a ballad [read at the Terecentenary celebration of the discovery of Lake Champlain, Fort Ticonderoga, N. Y., July, 1909, and published in a volume of poems entitled, Ticonderoga And Other Poems, 1909]; a volume of essays entitled, The Playhouse and the Play, 1909; and he has contributed articles and poems to the principal magazines. In 1909, The Canterbury Pilgrims was acted in the open air by the Coburn Players at Harvard, Yale and some thirty other universities, and Aug. 4, 1909 was performed by the same players, at Gloucester, Mass., in honor of President Taft, as a civic pageant, with fifteen hundred citizens and children as supernumeraries before an audience of twenty-five thousand people. Being a successful playwright he has lectured on the American drama at various universities and before civic societies. He is a member of the National Institute of Arts and Letters, and an honorary member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society of Harvard College. He married in Shirley, Mass., Oct. 8, 1898, Marion Homer Morse, and has one son and one daughter. Residence: Cornish, N. H. Post Office address: Windsor, Vt.

MacKAY-SMITH, Alexander:

Bishop-coadjutor of Pennsylvania; born in New Haven, Conn.; educated at St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H., Trinity College, Hartford, and partly in England and Germany; studied theology partly at the General Theological Seminary in New York, and partly in private. He was ordained deacon in December, 1876, by Bishop Williams, of Connecticut, and priest in December, 1877, by Bishop Paddock, of Massachusetts. He received the degree of D.D. in 1889 from Trinity College, and of S.T.D. from Hobart College in the same year. He was in charge of Grace Church, South Boston, 1877-1880, afternoon preacher at St. Thomas's Church, New York City, 1880-1887; archdeacon of New York, 1887-1893, and rector of St. John's Church, Washington, 1893-1902, as well as archdeacon of Washington 1900-1902, in conjunction with his rectorship. He was elected bishop-coadjutor of Pennsylvania, and consecrated in the Church of Holy Trinity, Philadelphia, on May 1, 1902. In 1886 he was elected bishop-coadjutor of Kansas, but declined the office. He was also a delegate to the General Convention of the Church in 1898 and 1901. Address: 251 South 22d Street, Philadelphia.

McKEE, Frank:

Theatrical manager, proprietor of the Savoy and the Garrick theatres. He is manager for Miss Mary Mannering and other stars. For many years, and up to the death of Charles H. Hoyt in 1900 he was a member of the firm of Hoyt and McKee. In his early life he was with Haverly's minstrels, and among his associates in that organization were Charles Frohman, Alfred Hayman and Peter Daly. He is married and has one daughter. Address: Savoy Theatre, New York City.

McKEEN, James:

Lawyer; born in Brunswick, Maine, Dec. 5, 1844; son of Joseph and Elizabeth (Farley) McKee, and grandson of the first president of Bowdoin College. He was graduated from Bowdoin College, B.A., 1864 and later received the degrees of A.M. and LL.D. He was admitted to the New York Bar in 1867 and engaged in practice in Brooklyn. He was a member of the Old Board of Education of Brooklyn; was member of the commission to revise the charter of Greater New York; of counsel to the Armstrong Committee; in charge of the Brooklyn office of the Law Department, during the Low administration, in 1902; Republican candidate for justice of the Supreme Court, 1903; senior partner of the firm of McKee Brewster & Morgan, and general counsel of the Mutual Life Insurance Company since 1906. Mr. McKee is a director of the Long Island Historical Society; trustee of Packer Collegiate Institute, Brooklyn Public Library; member of the New York Prison Association; overseer of Bowdoin College; member of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity and Phi Beta Kappa Society and a member, and for eight years president of the Hamilton Club of Brooklyn; and is also a member of the University Club. Mr. McKee married, April 25, 1871, Mary Ellen Lewis, daughter of Joseph J. Lewis of Pennsylvania, and sister of the late Charlton T. Lewis, and they have three children. Address: 58 Clark Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

McKELLAR Peter:

Mining and real estate operator; born in Middlesex Co. Ontario, April 27, 1838; son of Duncan McKellar and Margaret (Brodie) McKellar of Argyleshire, Scotland.

He had three brothers, John, the elder, first Mayor of Fort William, Donald and Archibald; and six sisters, Susan (Mrs. A. McLaren), Katie (Mrs. F. C. Perry), Margaret (Mrs. Ed. Deacon), and Mary, Janet and Edie. Peter, Donald, and Susan, Mary, Katie and Margaret are still living. He was educated in the public schools of Ontario and self-educated in surveying, mining, engineering and geology. He gained prominence as a mines explorer; he was in charge of a party under Dr. Bell of the Canadian Geological Survey, 1869-1870. He is a pioneer in mining explorations on the north shore of Lake Superior. In that region he discovered the first silver mine, The Thunder Bay Silver Mine, and the first gold, The Huronian Gold Mine. His brothers and partners, John and Donald McKellar, discovered in the same region the first zinc mine, The Zenith Mine, and the first iron mine, The Atikokan Mine, and the firm of McKellar Brothers have made, besides these, many important mining discoveries. He was superintendent of the Huronian Gold mine from 1882-1884, superintendent of exploration and development work of the Toronto and Western Mines Development Company, in the Seine River and Lake of the Woods districts, in 1897 and 1898, and since then engaged extensively in mining and real estate business in the firm of McKellar Brothers. He served as councillor in the first municipal organization in Thunder Bay, the Shuniah Municipality. He also served for some years as councillor and reeve in the Neebing Municipality. He has traveled over the eastern, southern and western States, and Canada from Quebec to Victoria. In company with a party of the American Association for the Advancement of Science he spent two months in the Yellowstone Park and the Hawaiian Islands. He also traveled in England, Scotland, Ireland, France, Italy and Switzerland. Mr. McKellar invented a rock breaker, and a rock pulverizer and, jointly with A. Murray, a rotary engine. He has written pamphlets and papers on mining and geology, read before scientific societies, including: Mining on the North Shore of Lake Superior, 1874; Correlation of the Animikie and Huronian Rocks of Lake Superior, 1888; The Gold-bearing Veins of Bag Bay, Lake of the Woods, 1899; Pot Holes, North Shore of Lake Superior, 1890; The Silver Formation of Thunder Bay, 1893. In politics Mr. McKellar is a Liberal, and in religion he is a Presbyterian; is a devotee of music, and has served as president and honorary president of local musical societies. He was president and honorary president of the Fort William Curling Club. He is a member of the Kaministiquia Club and Canadian Club of Fort William, also a member of the Board of Trade. He is a life fellow of the Geological Society of London and also of America. He is a member of the National Geographic Society and the American Association for the Advancement of Science; also a member of the Royal Society of Arts, London. Mr. McKellar was chairman of the Building Committee and had the honor of laying the corner stone of the beautiful $70,000 St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church of Fort William. He is the first president of the Thunder Bay Historical Society. He married Carlotta Burgess Spence, daughter of the late William Spence and Grace (Burgess) Spence of Toronto, Sept. 11, 1907. She is a lady of culture and education and is proficient in vocal and instrumental music. Address: Fort William, Ontario, Canada.

McKELWAY, St. Clair:

Editor of Brooklyn Daily Eagle; born in Columbia, Boone County, Mo., March 15, 1845; son of Dr. Alexander J. and Mary Ann (Ryan) McKelway. He is of Scotch ancestry on his father's and Irish decent on his mother's side. He removed with his parents to New Jersey in 1853; was educated at Blackwood Academy and by private tutors and he has received the degrees of A.M. from Colgate University, LL.D. from Princeton, Syracuse and the University of Missouri; LL.D. from Union University, and D.C.L. from St. Lawrence University. He became city editor of the Trenton Monitor in 1863; began the study of law in 1864; was admitted to the bar in 1866; assistant editor of the New York World in 1867; associate editor of Brooklyn Eagle in 1869, editor-in-chief of Allany Argus in 1878 and since 1885 he has been editor-in-chief of the Brooklyn Eagle. He was elected regent of the University of the State of New York in 1883. He has given many public addresses, among which are: The Press and the Pulpit; Need of Reform in Expert Testimony; The Lawyer and the Times, and Plea for Old-Fashioned Preaching. He is a member of the Long Island Historical Society, Suffolk County Historical Society, Society of Medical Jurisprudence, the Albany Institute, American Academy of Science; corresponding member of the British Association for the Advancement of Science; director of the American Social Science Association; member of the Phi Beta Kappa (Rochester University Chapter) and of Clio Hall, Princeton. He is a companion of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion in succession to his father, who was a surgeon in the United States Army during the Civil War. Mr. McKelway is also a member of the Metropolitan Club of New York City and the Hamilton Club of Brooklyn. He has been twice married: first, to Eleanor Hutchinson of Booneville, Mo., who died in 1884, and second, in 1888, to Virginia Brooks Thompson, of New York City. Residence: 21 Monroe Place. Office: Eagle Office, Brooklyn, N. Y.

McKENNA, Joseph:

Associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States; born in Philadelphia, Aug. 10, 1843; attended St. Joseph's College of his native city until 1855, when he removed with his parents to Benica, Calif., where he continued his education at the public schools and the Collegiate Institute, at which he studied law. He was admitted to the bar in 1865; was twice elected district attorney for Solano county, beginning in March, 1866; served in the lower house of the Legislature in the sessions of 1875 and 1876; was elected as a Republican to the Forty-ninth, Fiftieth, Fifty-first and Fifty-second Congresses; resigned from the last-named Congress to accept the position of United States circuit judge, to which he was appointed by President Harrison in 1893; resigned that office to accept the place of attorney-general of the United States in the Cabinet of President McKinley; and was appointed, Dec. 16, 1897, an associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States to succeed Justice Field, retired, and took his seat Jan. 26, 1898. Home: San Francisco, Calif. Address: 1705 Rhode Island Avenue, Washington, D. C.

McKENZIE, John Heyward:

Rector of Howe School; born at Bourneville, Ohio, May 31, 1862; son of Henry B. and Ella A. (Gregg) McKenzie. He was graduated from Mount Union College, A.B., 1883, and from Boston University, A.M., in 1884, and received from Kenyon College the honorary degree of L.H.D. in 1905. He was ordained priest by Bishop Vincent. He was president of Hillsborough College, 1888-1890; president of Belmont College and Ohio Military Institute, 1890-1894, and has been rector of Howe School, Lima, Ind., since 1895. He is examining chaplain of the Diocese of Michigan City; president of the Standing Committee of the Diocese of Michigan City, and was a deputy to the General Convention of the Episcopal Church in 1898, 1901, 1904, and 1907. Dr. McKenzie is a Republican in politics. He is a trustee of Akeley Hall (school for girls, at Grand Haven, Mich.), and of Nashotah House (theological seminary). He is a member of the University Club of Chicago. Address: Howe School, Lima, Ind.

MACKEY, Charles William:

Lawyer; born in Franklin, Pa., Nov. 19, 1842; son of Charles W. and Julia Ann (Fagundus) Mackey. He was educated in public schools, Franklin, Pa. Served during the Civil War, 1861-1863, participating in many battles, including Gettysburg; special agent U. S. Treasury for Eastern Virginia, and North Carolina District, 1863-1865. He was admitted to the Pennsylvania bar in 1865, and afterward to other courts including the Supreme Court of the United States, and engaged in the practice of law at Franklin, Pa., where he is still head of the law firm of Mackey, Forbes and Hughes, although he spends the greater part of his own time in the office which he has long maintained in New York City. He has projected and organized several railroads, manufacturing and other corporations. He is president and director of the Franklin Rolling Mill and Foundry Company, Franklin Steel Casting Company, Hutchinson Stair Elevator Company, Jacksonville Water Works Company (Ill.); vice-president and director of the Franklin Drug and Chemical Company, Greene Gold Silver Company, Reydel Ore Mining Company (solicitor); director of the Almada Sugar Refineries Company, American Axe and Tool Company, and chairman of the Executive Committee of the International Telephone Company; also a director in many other large corporations. He was a Republican candidate for Congress in the Twenty-seventh Pennsylvania District in 1884, and 1888, and has always been an active Republican. Mr. Mackey was a captain in the Pennsylvania National Guard, 1872-1873, is a past-commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, a member of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, and a member of the Army and Navy, New York, Manhattan, Lawyers', Colonial, Hardware, and other clubs of New York City; the American Geographical Society, the New York Medico-Legal Society, the Grosvenor Club of London, the Duquesne Club of Pittsburg and the Nursery Club of Franklin. He is a past commander of Knights Templar, district deputy-grand master of Masons of Pennsylvania, and district deputy grand high priest of Royal Arch Masons of Pennsylvania. He married May, 9, 1867, Lauretta B. Fay, daughter of the late Cyrus Paige Fay, of Columbus, Ohio, and has six children. Residence: 119 West 45th Street. Office: 253 Broadway, New York City.

McKIM, Alexander Rice:

Architect; born in Boston, 1863; son of Judge John W. and Margaretta Fisher (Prettyman) McKim. He was graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, S.B.; from the Department of Architecture, Columbia University, A.M., and attended four terms at the Technische Hochschule, Berlin, Germany. He has been associated with most of the prominent New York architects on their larger works, especially those having structural problems.

He was architect for B. and E. Edgewater Plant, Davies Coal Pockets and other manufacturing plants; expert for the City of New York recreation piers and other dock work; consulting concrete expert for the Numismatic, Stanford, Municipal and other concrete buildings, and expert in numerous building litigations. He was chairman of the Board of Election Inspectors of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, 1906, and is a member of the Architectural League of New York (Ex. Com.), and American Society of Civil Engineers; also of the National Arts Club (governor), University Club, Technology Club (president), Columbia University Architects' Club (building code committee), and of the Thuringia Club of Berlin, Germany (vice-president). Address: 116 28th Street, New York City.

McKIM, Charles Follen:

Architect; born in Chester County, Pa., Aug. 24, 1847. He was graduated from Harvard Scientific School, 1868, and studied at École des Beaux Arts, Paris, 1867-1870. He is a member of the firm of McKim, Mead & White, architects of numerous notable buildings; awarded the royal gold medal by King Edward for promotion of architecture, 1903. Designed the University Club; also recent improvements of and additions to the White House. He is a member of the Municipal Art Society, American Institute of Architects, Metropolitan Museum of Art, American Fine Arts Society, Pennsylvania Society, Architectural League, and a member of the University, Lambs', The Brook, Metropolitan, Garden City Golf, City, clubs of New York City, Somerset, and St. Botolph clubs of Boston and the Metropolitan Club of Washington. Residence: 9 East 35th Street. Address: 160 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

McKIM, John:

Missionary bishop of Tokyo; born at Pittsfield, Mass., July 17, 1852. He was educated at Griswold College, Davenport, Iowa, and was graduated from the Nashotah Theological Seminary, Wis., in 1879. The honorary degree of D.D. was conferred upon him in 1893 by Nashotah and by Trinity College, Hartford, Conn. He was ordered deacon of the Episcopal Church in 1878 and was ordained to the priesthood a year later by Bishop H. Brown. He was first connected with the diocese of Chicago, being later sent as missionary to Japan. In 1893 he was made missionary bishop of Tokyo, Japan, and was consecrated by Bishops Littlejohn, Lyman, Dudley, Scarborough, Kinsolving and Barry (of Australia). He married at Nashotah, Wis., Sept. 16, 1879, Miss E. A. Cole. Address: 38 Tsukiji, Tokyo, Japan.

McKIM, William Duncan:

Physician; born in Baltimore, Md., Feb. 14, 1855; son of Haslett and Sally (Birkhead) McKim. He was graduated from Columbia College, A.B., 1875; from the College of Physicians and Surgeons, M.D., 1878, and from the University of Leipzig, Germany, Ph.D., 1895. After taking the degree of M.D. he was interne at Bellevue Hospital, New York City, for a year and a half; then spent two years in professional study abroad, at Vienna, Paris, Würzburg and London. On his return he practiced his profession in New York City, 1882-1892. He was lecturer on operative surgery, in the New York Post-Graduate Medical School, 1883-1884, and professor in the same chair, 1884-1885. He was also visiting physician and surgeon in the French Hospital, New York City, 1888-1892. He engaged in scientific study abroad, 1892-1895, having retired from practice and since occupied with literary work. He is a member of the New York Academy of Medicine, the National Geographic Society, the Archaeological Society and the Fine Arts Society of Washington, D.C. He is also a member of Delta Phi fraternity, the Union Club of New York City, and the Cosmos, Metropolitan University and Chevy Chase Clubs of Washington, D. C. He is author of: Heredity and Human Progress, 1899. He married, first, in Boston, Nov. 22, 1882, Rogé Coolidge of Boston, and second, in New York City, April 26, 1900, Martha Moran Jones. Address: 1701 18th Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

McKINLAY, Duncan E.:

Congressman and lawyer; born in Orilla, Ontario, Can., Oct. 6, 1862; son of Duncan and Mary (Millard) McKinlay. He was educated in the schools of his native city, then learned the trade of carriage painting and worked in Flint, Mich. At twenty-one years of age he removed to San Francisco and worked at his trade until 1884, when he went to Sacramento, where he stayed for a year, then moved to Santa Rosa, where he engaged in the painting business and studied law. He was admitted to the bar by the Supreme Court of California in 1892; in McKinley's first Presidential campaign in 1896, he was nominated elector-at-large on the Republican ticket; in 1901 was appointed by President McKinley as assistant U. S. attorney at San Francisco; was elected to the Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth Congresses and reelected to the Sixty-first Congress, from the Second California District. He married in Santa Rosa, Calif., Dec. 16, 1892, Nannie V. Hendley, and they have four children. Residence: Santa Rosa, Calif. Office: Call Building, San Francisco, Calif.

McKINLEY, William Brown:

Congressman and electric railway president; born in Petersburg, Ill., Sept. 5, 1856; son of George and Hannah (Finley) McKinley. He was educated in the common schools and spent two years in the University of Illinois. He is a farmer and banker; and is a trustee of the University of Illinois. He was elected to the Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth Congresses and reelected to the Sixty-first Congress, from the Eighteenth Illinois District, and he is one of the managers of the works of the National Republican Congressional Committee. He has large interests in street railway systems in Illinois and other western states. He married in Chicago, February, 1881, Kate Frisbee. Address: Champaign, Ill.

McKINNEY, James:

Congressman, banker; born at Oquawka, Ill., April 14, 1852; son of John McKinney, one of the earliest settlers of western Illinois. He was graduated from Monmouth College in 1874, and receiving the degree of A.M. several years later. Upon leaving college he joined his father in business, and upon the death of the latter was elected president of the Aledo bank, which position he still holds. He has been a member of the Illinois State Republican Committee since 1894, and was chairman of its Executive Committee in 1904. He was appointed by Governor Yates in 1901 a member of the State Railroad and Warehouse Commission, but resigned in 1902. Mr. McKinney was elected to the Fifty-ninth Congress at a special election held Nov. 7, 1905, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Hon. B. F. Marsh, and reelected to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses from the Fourteenth Illinois District. Address: Aledo, Ill.

McKINNEY, Kate Slaughten ("Katydid"):

Poet, song writer, novelist; born in London, Ky., Feb. 6, 1859; daughter of James Love and Lucinda J. (Price) Slaughten. She was graduated from the Daughter's College, Harrodsburg, Kentucky, ranked first in bellet-tres over one hundred and fifty pupils when a girl, in analysis. She married in Richmond, Ky., May 7, 1878, James I. McKinney. She published her first book of poems called Katydid's Poems, in 1882; wrote the song: The Green Kentucky Pastures, sung to open the Kentucky Building at the St. Louis World's Fair; published her first novel: The Silent Witness in 1907, which combines the high spirited Kentuckians and social leaders most successfully; and of the songs: The White Rose, Loves Dreaming Song, Eventide, Down in the Jeweled Deep, There are no Eyes Like Thine, and Whar de Watermyluns Grow. She is also interested in all movements to protect dumb animals and trees. Address: 519 Monroe Street, Montgomery, Ala.

MACKINTOSH, Alexander:

Architect; born in London, England, October, 1861; son of Alexander and Eliza (Smith) Mackintosh. He studied architecture in prominent English and Scotch architects' offices, 1878-1892; traveled through Italy and France in 1892; was admitted to the Royal Academy of Arts, London, in 1888, winning two premiums for designs in 1889 and 1890; silver medallist; also winner of Sir William Tite's prize, Royal Institute of British Architects, in 1890 and 1891; elected associate of the Royal Institute of British Architects, by examination, in 1892; American Institute of Architects in 1904. He was a member of Troop C, National Guard of New York, 1897-1904. Mr. Mackintosh is vice-president of the Brooklyn Chapter of American Institute of Architects, and member of the Architectural League of New York. He is architect of the Colt Building, Patterson, N. J., All Angels' Church, Twilight Park, N. Y., and numerous fine private residences; also designed the architecture of the Empire Building, New York City. He is a member of the Hamilton Crescent Athletic, Barnard and Dyker Meadow Golf Clubs of Brooklyn and of the British Schools and Universities Club, St. Andrew's Society, and National Arts Club, of New York City. Address: 55 Bible House, Astor Place, New York City.

McKNIGHT, Alexander:

Vice-president of the Fidelity Mutual Life Insurance Company of Philadelphia; born Aug. 25, 1856; educated in the city public schools. He took up the study of shorthand and associated himself with J. M. Lingle, under the firm name of Lingle & McKnight, in the establishment of the first school of shorthand writing in Pennsylvania; the firm was successful, but Mr. McKnight, becoming interested in life insurance, gave up school work in 1884, and accepted the position of superintendent of agents for the above named company. In 1894 he was elected vice-president, and has since held that position. He is a member of the Board of Public Education of Philadelphia and is an active Mason. Address: 400 North Fortieth Street, Philadelphia.

McLACHLAN, James:

Congressman and lawyer; born August, 1852, in Argyllshire, Scotland. At the age of three years he removed with his parents to Tompkins County, N. Y., where he was reared on a farm and educated in the public schools. He began teaching in the public schools at the age of sixteen years, and while engaged in that work prepared himself for college, and was graduated from Hamilton College in 1878. He was admitted to practice in the Supreme Court of New York State in 1880, and commenced the practice of the law in 1881 at Ithaca, where he remained until 1888, when he removed to Pasadena, Calif., and there continued the practice of his profession. In 1877 he was elected on the Republican ticket to the office of school commissioner of Tompkins County, N. Y., and in 1890, was elected district attorney of Los Angeles County, Calif.; was elected to the Fifty-fourth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth Congresses, and reelected to the Sixty-first Congress from the seventh California District. In politics he is a Republican. He married in Cortland, N. Y., Dec. 26, 1887, Minnie J. Jones. Address: Pasadena, Calif.

McLANE, John:

Former governor of New Hampshire; born in Lemmoxtown, Scotland, Feb. 27, 1852. He came in early childhood to New Hampshire and was educated in the public schools of Manchester, served an apprenticeship to the cabinet-making trade and afterward established for himself. He specialized in the manufacture of special furniture and equipments, in which he built up a large trade covering the entire country, and is still at the head of that business as president of the McLane Manufacturing Company. He is also president of the Souhegan National Bank and a director in other corporations. He has for years been prominent in politics as a Republican; was elected to the New Hampshire House of Representatives in 1885, and to the State Senate from the Sixteenth District, 1891 and 1893, and president of the Senate at both sessions; and he was a delegate to the National Republican Convention of 1900. He was elected in 1904 governor of New Hampshire for a two-year term, which he served. Governor McLane is a thirty-third degree Mason and was Grand Master of New Hampshire Masons in 1898. He was married at Milford, New Hampshire, in 1880, to Miss Ellen L. Tuck. Address: Milford, New Hampshire.

McLAUGHLIN, Chester B.:

Jurist; born in Moriah, N. Y., Feb. 10, 1857; son of Lyman and Harriet C. McLaughlin. He was graduated from the University of Vermont in 1879; and from Middlebury College received the degree of LL.D. in 1901. He was admitted to the bar in 1881; county judge and surrogate of Essex County, New York, 1891-1895; then was elected justice of the Supreme Court of New York, for the term expiring in 1909. He served in the General Term, 1896-1898; was appointed in 1898, associate justice of the Supreme Court, Appellate Division of the First Department, Jan. 1, 1898. He is a member of the University of Vermont Alumni Association, and of the University, Century, Lotus, West Side Republican, and Manhattan Clubs. He married in Port Henry, N. Y., 1866, Lucy Warner. Residence: 393 West End Avenue, New York City.

McLAURIN, Anselm Joseph:

U. S. senator from Mississippi; born in Brandon, Miss., March 26, 1848; son of Lauchlin and Ellen Caroline (Tullus) McLaurin. He studied at Summerville Institute, Noxabee, Miss., until his junior year; entered the Confederate States Army when sixteen years old, and served until the close of the war. He was admitted to the Mississippi bar in 1868, and located in Raleigh, Miss.; was elected district attorney, 1871; representative in the Legislature, 1880; presidential elector, 1888; a delegate to the Constitutional Convention, 1890; and U. S. Senator in 1894. Upon the expiration of his first term in the United States Senate, Senator McLaurin was elected governor of the State of Mississippi, in 1896, serving until 1900. He was elected United States Senator again in 1901, and reelected upon the expiration of that term. His present term expires in 1913. Senator McLaurin married at Trenton, Miss., Feb. 22, 1870, Miss Laura Bauch, and they have seven children. Address: Brandon, Miss.

McLAWS, Emily Lafayette:

Author; born at "The Hill," Augusta, Ga.; daughter of Major Huguenin and Sarah (Twiggs) McLaws. She was educated in private schools in Georgia and the New England Conservatory in Boston. She is a great-great-granddaughter of Maj.-Gen. John Twiggs of the Revolution who was called by Washington "the savior of Georgia;" the great-grandniece of Maj.-Gen. David Emanuel Twiggs, U. S. A. and later C. S. A.; the niece of Maj.-Gen. Lafayette McLaws, named for Gen. Lafayette and his wife Emily Taylor, who was a niece of Zachary Taylor. Miss McLaws is author of: Mystery of Mr. Cain, 1899; When the Land Was Young, 1901; Jezebel, 1902; Maid of Athens, 1905; The Wedding, 1907; In the Tail of the Comet, 1909. Address: The Hill, Augusta, Ga.

McLEAN, Charles B.:

President of the Lincoln National Bank, of Pittsburgh; also president of the Allegheny Plate Glass Company. When seventeen years old he moved to Allegheny and was employed in the old Masonic Deposit Savings Bank, now Lincoln National Bank, as messenger and general utility man. He rose rapidly through the various positions. In 1880 he became cashier and in 1888 president. Mr. McLean is interested in outside industries; was treasurer of the Art Society and the Pittsburgh Orchestra Guarantor's Fund, and is now a director of the West Penn Hospital, in financial and manufacturing affairs in the Consolidated Ice Company, and is now a director of the Glassmere Land Company and the Ambridge Trust Company. Address: Lincoln National Bank, Pittsburgh.

MacLEAN, Charles F.:

Jurist; born at New Hartford, N. Y., in 1837; son of Charles and Harriet (Waters) MacLean. After graduation at Yale in 1864, and post-graduate studies in the University of Berlin, he was admitted to the bar and practised in New York City. He was active in political affairs, as a Democrat, and served at different times as police commissioner, president of the Police Board, park commissioner and health commissioner of New York City. In 1895 he was elected justice of the Supreme Court of New York for the term expiring in 1909. Judge Mac-Lean is a member of the Association of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, and of the Yale Alumni Association, and is a member of the Manhattan, National Democratic, Lawyers', Barnard, Lotos, Reform, New York Press, and German Press Clubs of New York City. Address: 2122 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

McLEAN, George Edwin:

President of the State University of Iowa; born Rockville, Conn., Aug. 31, 1850; son of Edwin W. and Julia H. (Ladd) McLean. He was graduated from Williams College, B.A., M.A. (LL.D.), from Yale Theological Seminary, B.D., University of Leipzig, Ph.D., 1883, and has studied at the University of Berlin. He entered the Presbyterian ministry and has been professor of English language and literature at the University of Minnesota, and was chancellor of the University of Nebraska, from 1895 until he was elected president of the State University of Iowa, in August, 1899, which position he still holds. He is the author of "A Chart of English Literature, with References, 1892; Old and Middle English Reader, with Introduction Notes and Glossary, 1893; A Decade of Development in American State Universities, 1898; The Next Stages in the Educational Development of Nebraska, 1898; and a number of articles and reviews for periodicals. Professor McLean has edited: "Aelfric's Anglo Saxon Version of Aelmuir Interrogationes Sigewulfi Presbyteri in Genesis, 1883; An Old and Middle English Reader, by Zupitza, 1889; An Introductory Course in Old English, prepared by Professors Wilkin and K. C. Babcock, 1888. He is a Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and a member of English and American philological societies. He married at Great Barrington, Mass., May 20, 1874, Clara Stanley Taylor. Address: Iowa City, Iowa.

McLEAN, John Roll:

Newspaper publisher; born in Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 17, 1848; son of Washington McLean. He was educated in the Cincinnati public schools and at Harvard University. He bought the interest of his father in the Cincinnati Enquirer and afterward purchased the shares of the other members, becoming the sole owner of the paper, which has always been remarkable for the comprehensive completeness of its news of the Ohio Valley region. He is also the proprietor of the Washington Post and has large interests in the gas supplying company and other public service companies of Washington, D. C. Mr. McLean has taken a prominent position in the Democratic politics of Ohio and the Nation, and was for years the Ohio member of the National Democratic Committee. He was Democratic nominee for governor of Ohio in 1899. Summer residence: "Friendship," near Washington; winter residence, 15th and I streets and Vermont Avenue, Washington, D. C.

MACLEAN, Samuel Richter:

Banker, foreign negotiator of American issues; born in Pittsburgh, April 5, 1842; son of Samuel Maclean, Jr. He was graduated from Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., in 1861 and attended Yale two years. He is a member of Samuel Maclean and Company, bankers, Pittsburg; assistant financial editor of Wall Street Journal and the Albion of New York. He is a member of the Yale Alumni Association and of the Merchants' Club of New York City, Apawamis Club of Rye, New York, and of the Junior Carlton and City Clubs of London. Mr. Maclean has been married twice; first in 1863 to Henrietta Thornton Wood; and second in 1892 to Ester Clarke Schoonmaker of Pittsburgh, who died Nov., 1905. Address: 39 Broad Street, New York City, and 68 Lombard Street, E. C., London, England.

MacLENNAN, Frank Pitts:

Editor; born in Springfield, Ohio, March 1, 1855; son of Kenneth and Adelia (Bliss) MacLennan. He was educated at the University of Kansas, from which he received the degrees of B.S. and M.S. He has been in the newspaper business in Kansas since 1880, having been part owner of the Emporia News 1880-1885. In the latter year he bought the Topeka State Journal, and has conducted it since, making it a newspaper of predominating influence in Kansas and of national reputation. He is a member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity, and the Topeka and Topeka Country Clubs. Besides his valuable newspaper property, he has a country place, "Cedarcrest," five miles west of Topeka. He married in Emporia, Kan., May 29, 1890, Anna Goddard, and has one daughter. Residence: 1019 Topeka Avenue. Office: 800 Kansas Avenue, Topeka Kan.

McLENNAN, Peter Baillie:

Jurist; born in Lyndon, Cattaraugus County, N. Y., 1850; son of Colin and Ann (Frazer) McLennan. He was graduated from Alfred University, A.B., 1873 and later received the degrees of Ph.D. and LL.D. He was admitted to the bar in 1876; elected justice of the Supreme Court of New York in 1892; assigned to Appellate Division, Fourth Department, in 1898; was designated as presiding justice by Governor Odell in 1903, the designation expiring Dec. 31, 1906; reelected Nov., 1906, as justice of the Supreme Court for the term expiring Dec. 31, 1920, and was redesignated as presiding justice by Governor Hughes in 1907, the designation expiring Dec. 31, 1920. In politics he is a Republican. Judge McLennan married in Addison, N. Y., in 1881, Bella Barron. Address: Syracuse, N. Y.

MACLEOD, Frederick Joseph:

Lawyer; born in Prince Edward Island, Canada, June 30, 1870; son of Hector and Melinda (Douglas) Macleod. He was graduated from Dalhousie University, B.A., 1890, from Harvard University, A.B., 1891, A.M., 1892, and LL.B., 1899. He became instructor in the University of Nebraska, 1895-1896; was expert agent on corporation laws and taxation for the Massachusetts Commission for the Revision of the Corporation Laws in 1902. Mr. Macleod was State senator, representing Cambridge, 1906-1907, as a Democrat. He is a member of the Citizens Trade Association, Economy, Intercolonial and Boston City Clubs, the Colonial Club of Cambridge, the First Corps Cadets Massachusetts Volunteer Militia, and the Good Government League. Residence: 110 Oxford Street, Cambridge, Mass. Office: 15 Beacon Street, Boston.

McMAHAN, Anna Benneson:

Author and lecturer; born in Quincy, Ill., July 24, 1846; daughter of Robert S. and Electa Ann (Park) Benneson. She was educated at Rockland Institute, Nyack, N. Y. She married in Quincy, Ill., Nov. 19, 1868, Dr. Robert William McMahan, and has two daughters. Mrs. McMahan is author of: The Study Class, Florence in the Poetry of the Brownings, With Shelley in Italy, With Wordsworth in England, Shakespeare's Christmas Gift to Queen Bess, Shakespeare's Love Story, and With Byron in Italy. She is a member of the Lyceum Club of Paris, and the Woman's Club of Chicago. Address: Care A. C. McClurg and Company, Chicago.

McMAHON, Fulton:

Lawyer; born in Ohio in 1863. He was graduated from Princeton University, A.B., 1884, A.M., 1886, and from Columbia Law School, LL.B. He traveled and studied abroad; then engaged in general law practice in New York City. He is an Independent Democrat in national politics; and active in the efforts for securing a non-partisan business administration of city affairs. Mr. McMahon is a member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York and the New York State Bar Association. He is trustee of the Skin and Cancer Hospital, and is a member of the University, City and Princeton Clubs. Residence: 28 West 39th Street. Address: 54 William Street, New York City.

McMICHAEL, Thomas Hanna:

President of Monmouth College; born at Bellbrook, Ohio, July 7, 1863; son of Jackson B. and Mary (Hanna) McMichael. He was graduated from Monmouth College, A. B., 1886 and A.M., 1889. After his graduation from Monmouth College he began to study for the ministry at the Xenia Theological Seminary, graduating from it in 1890. The honorary degree of D.D. was conferred upon him by Westminster College in 1903. After his ordination to the ministry of the United Presbyterian Church in 1890, he became pastor at Spring Hill, Ind. In 1892 he resigned from this pastorate to take charge of the First United Presbyterian Church in Cleveland, Ohio, where he officiated for eleven years. In 1903 he was elected president of Monmouth College, which position he now holds. He married at Burlington, Iowa, May 21, 1890, Minnie E. Mae Dill, and has two children. Address: Monmouth, Ill.

McMILLIN, Benton:

Ex-governor of Tennessee; born in Monroe County, Ky., Sept. 11, 1845; removed to Tennessee in boyhood. He was educated in private schools and academies, and after studying law in offices he began practice at Carthage, Tenn., in 1871. He became active in politics, and in 1874 was elected to the House of Representatives of the Tennessee Legislature, and the following year he was appointed a special commissioner to treat with the State of Kentucky for the purchase of Territory. He was a presidential elector on the Tilden and Hendricks ticket in 1876; was appointed a special judge of the Circuit Court of Tennessee in 1877 and in 1878 was elected to the Forty-sixth Congress, and was biennially re-elected to subsequent Congresses up to and including the Fifty-fifth, serving from 1879 to 1899. He gained distinction as one of the leading members on the Democratic side of the House, and was a member of the Ways and Means Committee during the latter part of his service. He was governor of Tennessee, 1899-1903. Address: Carthage, Tenn.

McMILLAN, Duncan James:

Clergyman; born at Pulaski, Tenn., June 2, 1846; son of Rev. Edward and Mary Ann (Brown) McMillan. He was graduated from Blackburn University as A.B., S.T.B., 1870, and A.M., 1873; and received the D.D. degree from Washington and Jefferson College in 1883. He was superintendent of public schools at Carlinville, Ill., 1870-1872; pastor of the Walnut Grove Presbyterian Church of Carrollton, Ill., 1872-1875. He was founder of Wahsatch Academy, Mt.

Pleasant, Utah, in 1875; and the originator and superintendent of the system of Presbyterian schools in Utah and Montana. He was founder and first president of the College of Montana, secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Home Missions, 1890-1898; and has been pastor of the New York Presbyterian Church, New York City, since 1899. He was regimental orderly of the Thirty-second Illinois Infantry in 1862; and a private of Company K of the Seventh Illinois Mounted Infantry in 1865. He was alderman of Deer Lodge, Mont., in 1888; and declined a nomination to the U. S. Senate in 1890. Dr. McMillan is a director of the Presbyterian Board of Church Extension. He is a member of the Chi Alpha fraternity, the British Philosophical Society; is a Mason, a member of the Grand Army of the Republic, and a trustee of the University of Texas. He married at Godfrey, Ill., June 18, 1879, Emily Kent Johnston, and they have two children. Address: 226 West 129th Street, New York City.

McMILLIN, Emerson:

Banker; born in Ewington, Ohio, April 16, 1844. He received his education in the public schools. He served in the Union Army during the Civil War, and subsequently became connected with a firm building gas works at Ironton, Ohio, and on their completion, 1869, was made their manager; later manager Columbus Gas Company, president St. Louis Gas Company and many smaller properties. In 1891 he went to New York, establishing the banking firm of Emerson McMillan and Company. He is president and director of the American Light and Traction Company, Binghamton Gas Works, Consolidated Gas Company of New Jersey, St. Joseph Gas Company, St. Paul Gas Light Company, San Antonio Gas and Electric Company, San Antonio Traction Company, Western Gas Company, Grand Rapids Gas Light Company; vice-president and director of the Muskegon Traction and Lighting Company; chairman of the Board of Directors of the Denver Gas and Electric Company, Jacques Cartier Water Power Company; director of the American Coal Products Company, Capital City Bank, Consolidated Rubber Tire Company, Lincoln Gas and Electric Light Company, Michigan Light Company, and National Surety Company. Mr. McMillan is a member of the Union League, Lawyers', Army and Navy, and Engineers' Clubs of New York. Residence: 320 Riverside Avenue. Office: 49 Wall Street, New York City.

MacMONNIES, Frederick William:

Sculptor; born in Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 20, 1863; son of William and Juliana Eudora (West) MacMonnies. He was a student of Augustus St. Gaudens and in the classes of the National Academy of Design and Art Students' League in New York, later studying in Munich and under Falguière in the École des Beaux Arts in Paris, and as a private student of Antonin Mercié. He received the first prize of the National Academy of Design in 1884, and the Prix d'Atelier (highest award open to foreigners at Paris), 1886; several awards from the Paris Salon, and the first class gold medal at Antwerp, 1894; grand prize of honor from the Paris Exposition Universelle, 1900, and medals from many American Exhibitions. Mr. MacMonnies is the sculptor of many noteworthy portrait statues and ideal figures and groups. His colossal fountain at the World's Columbian Exposition, with 27 figures, was a most notable feature of that great White City, and other notable works are the statues of Nathan Hale in City Hall Park, the Washington Arch in New York; statues of James S. T. Stranahan and General Slocum, and the Army and Navy groups for the Soldiers and Sailors' Monument, all in Brooklyn, as well as many others in these and other cities. He has received the decorations of Chevalier of the Legion d'Honneur of France, Chevalier of the Order of St. Michael of Bavaria; is an academicien of the National Academy of Design, a member of the National Sculpture Society and the Architectural League of New York. Address: Giverny-Vernon, Eure, France.

McMORRAN, Henry:

Congressman and merchant; born in Port Huron, Mich., July 11, 1844; son of Robert W. and Isabella McMorran. He has been engaged in the grocery business, milling, grain and elevated trade, and is connected with numerous commercial, manufacturing and transportation companies. He was general manager of the Port Huron and Northwestern Railway, 1878-1890, when it was sold to the Flint and Pere Marquette Company. Mr. McMorran has always been an active Republican and prominent in party affairs. He has been alderman and city treasurer of Port Huron, Mich., and a member of the Canal Commission. He was elected in 1902 to the Fifty-eight Congress, and re-elected to the Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congress from the Seventh Michigan District. He married Oct. 11, 1866, Emma C. Williams, daughter of Myron Williams of Marysville, Mich. and he has a son who is engaged in business with him, and two daughters. Address: Port Huron, Mich.

MacMULLEN, Wallace:

Clergyman; born in Dublin, Ireland, Aug. 31, 1860; son of David and Annie T. (Smith) MacMullen. He was educated in the Brooklyn schools, and at Drew Theological seminary and received the degree of S.T.D. from Wesleyan University. Dr. MacMullen was pastor of the Springfield, Mass., Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church, 1888-1893, when he left to become pastor of the Grace Methodist Episcopal Church, at Philadelphia. Leaving this church in 1898, he became pastor of the Park Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, Philadelphia, where he stayed until 1902, when he was chosen pastor of the Madison Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, in New York City, where he remains. He is a trustee of the Centenary Collegiate Institute, Hackensack, N. J., the Drew Theological Seminary, Madison, N. J., is a member of the board of Foreign Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and a trustee of the Deaconess Home, in New York City. He married, first, Miss Annie Hutchinson, at Brooklyn, New York, June 19, 1888, and second, Miss Laura E. Neal, of Philadelphia, Pa., June 7, 1899, and has four children. Address: 46 East 60th Street, New York City.

MacMURPHY, Jesse Gibson:

Clergyman; born in Derry, N. H., April 8, 1845; son of Alexander MacMurphy, Jr., and Sarah Atwood (Gibson) MacMurphy. He was educated at Pinkerton Academy, Derry, 1859-1863, Dartmouth College, B.S., 1868, and later M.S.; and was graduated from Nashotah Theological Seminary, B.D., 1873. He was ordered deacon by Bishop Whitehouse in 1873 and ordained priest by Bishop Armitage in 1874, in the ministry of the Episcopal Church. He was in charge of St. Peter's Church, Sheboygan Falls, Wis., one year; rector of Immanuel Church, Racine, Wis., four years; teacher in St. Paul's School for Boys, Baltimore, 1877-1888; associate rector of the Church of St. John the Evangelist, San Francisco, 1881-1884; master in Racine College and rector of the Church of the Holy Innocents at Racine, for three years; rector and proprietor of the MacMurphy Home School in Racine, 1887-1897; since Aug. 6, 1900 (when services were begun) rector of the Church of the Transfiguration, at West Derry, N. H., which he built up, erecting a new church which was opened in March, 1907. He is a musician of ability; has translated for publication from German, French, Italian, Spanish and Latin; as an author furnished historical articles for Wiley's Book of Nutfield, and about a dozen original maps to show the location of the homesteads of the first settlers of the old town of Londonderry, N. H. He furnished an original map of Londonderry, N. H., to Mr. Charles G. Hanna of New York for his "Scotch-Irish in America;" and he has furnished a sermon for weekly publication in the Derry Enterprise. He is interested in real estate, owns several ancestral farms inherited from his father, grandfather and great-grandfather; has fifteen to twenty tenants and makes loans on real estate. He still owns property, also, at Racine, Wis. Mr. MacMurphy is a member of the New Hampshire Historical Society, New England Genealogical Society, Confraternity of the Blessed Sacrament, Society for the Promotion of Christian Unity. He is a 32-degree Mason, high priest of Bell Chapter Royal Arch Masons in Derry and a member of the Order of High Priests throughout the World; Thrice Illustrious Master of Mt. Nebo Council Royal and Select Masters, Derry, N. H.; Knight Templar and member of the Mystic Shrine; member of Derry Grange, Patrons of Husbandry, and the Derry Board of Trade, is a trustee in the Nutfield Savings Bank, and a director in the first National Bank of West Derry. Mr. MacMurphy married, April 23, 1870. Mary Lucy James, daughter of Captain Joseph Warren James and Harriet Neely (Hoyt) James of Deerfield, New Hampshire, and they have had three children, of whom two are living: Sarah Russell MacMurphy and Jerome Case MacMurphy. Address: Derry, N. H.

McMURRAY, James Henry:

President of Lincoln College; born at Tuscarawas, Ohio, in 1871; son of E. G. and Lydia (Van Lehn) McMurray. He was graduated from Oberlin College A.B., 1897. He took post-graduate study at the University of Chicago in the summer following and received from Harvard University in 1900, the degree of A.M. Following his graduation from Oberlin in 1897 he was appointed to the chair of science in Central College and holding that position until 1902, when he was elected to the presidency of the same college. In 1905 he resigned to become the head of Lincoln College, a position he still holds. In the summer of 1901 he did work in connection with the United States Fish Commission. He married at Tuscarawas, Ohio, August 25, 1897, Kathryn Romig, and has two children. Address: 226 Latham Street Lincoln, Ill.

McNALLY, James Clifford:

United States consul; born May 12, 1865; educated in the public schools of Allegheny, Pa.; was graduated from St. Vincent's College at Latrobe, Pa., M.A., and from the University of Michigan, law department, LL.B., 1891. He was admitted to the bar of Michigan and Utah, practising at Salt Lake City; was appointed United States commissioner, and later probate judge at Salt Lake City, by President Cleveland, holding the same until the admission of Utah as a State. Mr. McNally was appointed secretary of legation and consul general of the United States at Bogota, Columbia, Feb. 14, 1898; appointed secretary of legation and consul-general of the United States at Guatemala City, Oct. 27, 1899; appointed consul-general May 17, 1900, to take effect July 1, 1900; appointed consul at Liege, Belgium, Nov. 5, 1902. While secretary of legation and consul-general at Bogota, Columbia, he was selected by the diplomatic representatives of Great Britain, Germany, France and Italy, on the one hand, and Columbia, on the other hand, to act as umpire on the Arbitration Board selected to pass upon the claims of Cerruti and his creditors against the Republic of Columbia; both representatives failing to agree, the burden of the decision rested upon the umpire, who decided the same. Address: United States Consul, Liege, Belgium.

MacNEIL, Hermon Atkins:

Sculptor and teacher; born at Everett, Mass. in 1866; son of John Clinton and Mary Lash (Pratt) MacNeil. He was educated at the Massachusetts Normal Art School, Académie Julien and Ecole des Beaux Arts, Paris, holding the Roman Rinehart scholarship for four years in Rome. He taught at the Art Institute of Chicago, and at Cornell University, Pratt Institute and Art Students' League, New York City, and is now teacher at the National Academy of Design, New York City. He executed important decorative work at the Paris Exposition in 1900, including the spandrills on the United States buildings. At the Pan American Exposition, 1901, he sculptured the group: Despotism, and made the tympanum of the Ethnological Building. At St. Louis Exposition in 1904, main cascade; and others of his works are the McKinley Memorial at Columbus, Ohio; Heroic Indian group. Coming of the White Man; Soldiers' and Sailors' Memorial at Whitinsville, Mass., and other works located at the Art Institute, Chicago; Peabody Institute, Baltimore; Cornell University; Portland, Ore., Chicago, and Montclair, N. J. He received the Designers' medal at Chicago, 1893; silver medal at Paris, 1900, and the Charleston Exposition in 1902; and gold medal at the Pan American Exposition, 1902. He was a member of the International Jury, and received the commemorative gold medal of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition in 1904. Mr. MacNeil is an academician of the National Academy of Design; member of the National Arts Club, Society of American Artists, National Sculpture Society, Architectural League, Municipal Art Society, and is a member of the Century Association of New York City. He married in Chicago, in 1895, Carol Louise Brooks. Residence and studio: College Point, L. I., N. Y. Address: Manhattan Studio, 45 West 22d Street, New York City.

McNEIR, George:

Merchant. He is vice-president and director of W. & J. Sloane; of McCleary, Wallin & Crouse, Amsterdam, N. Y., of the Bank of the Metropolis, New York City, and of Oldham Mills, Philadelphia; director of the American Seeding-Machine Company, Springfield, Ohio, Nairn Linoleum Company, Kearney, N. J., Ossining National Bank and Shuttleworth Brothers Company, Amsterdam, N. Y.; and is a trustee of the Bowery Savings Bank of New York. Address: 884 Broadway, New York City.

McNIECE, Robert Gibson:

Clergyman and college dean; born at Topsham, Orange County, Vt., Jan. 10, 1839; son of John and Lydia (Divoll) McNiece. He was graduated from Dartmouth College, A. B. in 1867, and from Princeton Theological Seminary, 1877; and he received the degree of D.D. from Knox College, and Wabash College, 1883. He was principal of the high school at Fort Wayne, Ind., 1867-1870; editor of the Fort Wayne Daily Gazette, 1870-1873; pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Salt Lake City, 1877-1897, and since April 1, 1897, dean of Westminister College, Salt Lake City, of which he is also a trustee. Dr. McNiece has taken an active part in the work of Americanizing and Christianizing Utah. He is a republican in politics; is one of the leading Presbyterian divines of the Pacific Slope, and is a member of the Salt Lake Ministerial Association. He married at Galesburg, Ill., Aug. 4, 1881, Sara J. Irwin, a graduate of Knox College, and they have two sons, both graduates of Princeton University. Residence: 1136 Blaine Avenue. Office address: Westminister College, Salt Lake City.

MACON, Robert Bruce:

Congressman and lawyer; born near Trenton, Phillips County, Ark., July 6, 1859. He was educated in local schools, studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1891; became a member of the State Legislature in 1882 and was reelected; was also two terms clerk of the Circuit Court of Phillips County, and four years prosecuting attorney of the First Judicial District of Arkansas. He was elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-eighth Congress without opposition, and to the Fifty-ninth Congress, and reelected to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses from the First Arkansas District. Address: Helena, Ark.

McOWEN, Frederick:

Capitalist; he is treasurer of the Berwind-White Coal Mining Company; director of the Merchants' National Bank, Commonwealth Title Insurance and Trust Company, Lake Superior Corporation, Cambria Mining & Manufacturing Company and the DeLong Hook & Eye Company. Address: 305 Betz Building, Philadelphia, Pa.

McPHERSON, John Bayard:

Jurist; born in Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 5, 1846; son of William C. and Elizabeth (Wallace) McPherson. He was graduated from Princeton as A.B., 1866, and A.M., 1869, and received from that university in 1859, and from the University of Pennsylvania and Franklin and Marshall College in the same year, the degree of LL.D. He practised law at Harrisburg, Pa., 1870-1882, and served as district attorney for several years. He was selected judge of the Court of Common Pleas in 1882, and served in that office until appointed by President McKinley, March 13, 1899, as judge of the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania. Address: 2216 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.

McPHERSON, Smith:

Jurist; born in Morgan County, Ind., Feb. 14, 1848. He entered the law department of the University of Iowa, and in 1870 was admitted to the bar. He practised law at Red Oak, Iowa, until his appointment to the bench. Meanwhile he was active politically as a Republican; was district attorney for six years, attorney-general of Iowa for four years, and in 1898 was elected from the Ninth Iowa District to the Fifty-sixth Congress, serving until June, 1900, when he resigned his seat to accept appointment to his present office of judge of the United States District Court for the Southern District of Iowa. Address: Red Oak, Iowa.

McQUAID, Bernard John:

Catholic Bishop of Rochester; born in New York City, Dec. 15, 1823. He was educated at Chambly College, near Montreal, Can., and at St. John's College, Fordham, N. Y. After completing his classical course, was tutor at St. John's College for three years; studied theology and was ordained priest Jan. 16, 1848. He was pastor in New Jersey; founded and was for ten years rector of Seton Hall College and Seminary, and part of the time also rector of Newark Cathedral; consecrated July 12, 1868, first bishop of the Diocese of Rochester, N. Y., in which he is still serving. Address: 70 Frank Street, Rochester, N. Y.

McRAE, Milton A.:

Newspaper publisher; born in Detroit, Mich., June 13, 1858; son of Duncan B. and Margaret Helen (Stevenson) McRae. He received his education in public schools of Detroit and a general academic training. He has been for many years joint owner of The Scripps McRae League of Newspapers, being president and general manager; also president of the United Press Association, New York. He resided in Cincinnati for twenty-five years, and returned to Detroit in 1908; retired from active management in 1908, young men now managing the business of the papers of The Scripps McRae League: The Cincinnati Post, Cleveland Press, Toledo News-Bee, Columbus Citizen, the Des Moines News, and many others. Mr. McRae is a Republican and does a considerable amount of public speaking in campaigns. He is a director in many charitable, educational and public institutions, is a 32-degree Mason, and a member of all the leading clubs of Cincinnati. He married in Toronto, Ont., Aug. 11, 1880, Victoria Wallis, and he has four children. Address: United Bank Building, Cincinnati.

McSURELY, William Harvey:

Jurist; born at Oxford, Ohio, Jan. 27, 1865; son of Rev. William Jasper McSurely, D.D., and Hulda (Taylor) McSurely. He received his early education in the public schools, attended the South Salem (Ohio) Academy, and entered the University of Wooster, Ohio, from which he was graduated, A.B., 1886, and A.M., 1889. He removed to Chicago in 1887, and engaged in the practice of law there in 1889. In 1897 he became a member of the firm of Burley and McSurely, which connection continued until he went upon the bench. He has taken an active part in political affairs as a Republican; was elected to the General Assembly of Illinois, in 1904, and in 1907 he was elected to his present office as judge of the Superior Court of Illinois. Judge McSurely is a Presbyterian in his church relations and is a trustee of the University of Wooster. He is a member of the Illinois State Bar Association, the Chicago Bar Association and the Chicago Law Club, and is also a member of the Union League, University, Hamilton, and Homewood Country Clubs of Chicago. He married in Chicago, Oct. 18, 1892, Elizabeth Cadman. Address: 5037 Washington Avenue, Chicago.

MacVEAGH, Franklin:

Secretary of the Treasury; born on a farm near Phoenixville, Chester County, Pa. He was graduated from Yale as B.A. in 1862, and from Columbia Law School,

New York, in 1864, and began practice with his brother, Wayne MacVeagh, but his health failing he abandoned the law and went West. Shortly after he established in Chicago the wholesale grocery house of Franklin MacVeagh and Company, which has for many years been one of the largest in the country, and of which he was at the head as president until early in 1909, when he disposed of his mercantile interests in order to accept the office of secretary of the Treasury in the Cabinet of President Taft. He was also a director of the Commercial National Bank and of other Chicago Corporations. Mr. MacVeagh is distinguished in Chicago not only as a most successful merchant, but especially for his active work in behalf of civic progress and reform. He was president of the Citizens' Association of Chicago in 1874 and several years afterward and made it the means of important political reforms. He was nominated in convention by the Democracy of Illinois, for the U. S. Senate, and made a canvass of the State, but was defeated in the Legislature. In 1896 and 1900 he supported McKinley for President and after that Roosevelt and Taft. At the head of the Bureau of Charities he added greatly to the effectiveness of that organization, and as chairman of the Municipal Art League and otherwise he has been a faithful worker for the beautifying of Chicago, by extension of the boulevard system and in many other ways. He also has taken an active part in the work of the National Civic Federation. He married Miss Emily Eames, Home: 103 Lake Shore Drive, Chicago. Official address: Treasury Department, Washington, D. C.

MacVEAGH, Wayne:

Former United States Attorney General; born on a farm near Phoenixville, Chester County, Pa., April 19, 1833. He was graduated from Yale in 1853, and was admitted to the bar at West Chester, Pa., in 1856. From 1859 to 1864 he was district attorney of Chester County; and served as captain of infantry in 1862 and of cavalry in 1863 when Pennsylvania was threatened with invasion. He became one of the Republican leaders of Pennsylvania and was elected chairman of the Republican State Central Committee in 1863. He also attained great distinction as a lawyer. He was United States minister to Turkey in 1870 and 1871, and in the latter year led the fight in Republican State politics against Simon Cameron, his father-in-law. In 1872 and 1873 he was a prominent member of the Constitutional Convention of Pennsylvania. He was chairman of the MacVeagh Commission, sent by President Hayes to represent him unofficially in Louisiana and secure an amicable adjustment of the political differences in that State. He was appointed attorney-general of the United States in March, 1881, by President Garfield, but resigned upon the accession of President Arthur. He supported Cleveland for the Presidency in 1892, and was ambassador to Italy from 1893 to 1897; but in 1896 and since then has supported Republican candidates. He was chief counsel of the United States in 1903, in the matter of the Venezuelan arbitration before the Hague Tribunal. Residence: Bryn Mawr, Pa. Office address: Washington, D. C.

McVEY, Frank Le Rond:

Educator and economist; born in Wilmington, Ohio, Nov. 10, 1869; son of Alfred H. and Anna (Holmes) McVey. He was educated in public schools of Toledo, Ohio, Des Moines, Ia., Ohio Wesleyan University and received the degree of A.B., 1893; Ph.D., 1895, from Yale University. He was editorial writer in New York City, 1895, instructor of history in the Teachers College of Columbia University, 1896, instructor and professor of economics, University of Minnesota, 1896-1907; chairman of the Minnesota Tax Commission, 1907-1909, and president of the University of North Dakota, 1909. He is a member of the American Economic Association, American Association for the Advancement of Science, National Conference of Charities and Corrections; president of the Minneapolis Associated Charities, 1898-1909, member of the Executive Committee of the National Conference of Charities and Correction, secretary of the Minnesota Academy of Social Science, and member of the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity, the Chicago City, Grand Forks Country, and the Grand Forks Commercial Clubs. He married in Minneapolis, Sept. 21, 1898, Mabel Moore Sawyer, and has three children. Address: University, N. Dak.

MacVICAR, John:

Secretary of the League of American Municipalities; born in Galt, Ont., July 4, 1859; son of John and Mary (McEwen) MacVicar. He was educated in public schools, Erie, Pa.; moved to Iowa. He was elected recorder of the town of North Des Moines, Iowa, 1888, and mayor of same municipality, 1889; mayor of the City of Des Moines for two terms, 1896-1900, and he has since held the position of superintendent of the Department of Streets and Public Improvements in that city. He took an active part in the organization of the League of the American Municipalities, and was elected its president at its first meeting at Columbus, Ohio, 1897; president of the League of Iowa Municipalities, 1898; secretary of the League of American Municipalities since 1900, and editor of the American Municipalities, the organ of the League. He married in Des Moines, Iowa, June 18, 1884, Nettie M. Nash, and they have three children. Address: Des Moines, Iowa.

McVICKAR, Edward:

Real estate operator; born in Boston, in 1869. He was educated at boarding school and one year at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology; then entered the Sheffield Scientific School, Yale, from which he was graduated as engineer in 1892. Soon after graduation he became interested in stock farming at his country place, the Vickerage Stock Farm, in Lewis County, N. Y., and since 1898 he has been engaged in the real estate business. He organized, in 1901, the Real Estate Security Company of New York; in 1902, the McVickar Company; and in 1904, with others, the Shippan Point Land Company. He is largely interested in suburban development, as well as transacting a general real estate business in the city. He is a member of the Union, Delta Phi, Racquet and Tennis, Calumet, City Midway and Larchmont Yacht Clubs. He married, in 1890, Edith Lawrence Speyers, daughter of Albert George Pigot Speyers, of New York City. Residence: 112 East 56th Street. Office: 200 Broadway, New York City.

McVICKAR, William Neilson:

Bishop of Rhode Island; born in New York City, Oct. 19, 1843; son of Dr. John A. McVickar. He was graduated from Columbia University, A.B., 1865, and A.M., 1868. Having taken up in the meanwhile theological studies at the General Theological Seminary, New York City, he was graduated in 1868. The degree of D.D. was conferred upon him by Kenyon College in 1885, and by the University of Pennsylvania in 1898. He received that of S.T.D. from Columbia in 1898, and LL.D. from Brown University in 1904. He was ordered deacon of the Episcopal Church in 1867 and the following year was ordained to the priesthood by Bishop H. Potter. During his diaconate he was assistant at St. George's Church, New York City, being in 1868, made rector of the Holy Trinity Church in Harlem (New York City). After seven years of activity in this station, he was called to the rectorship of Holy Trinity Church at Philadelphia, Pa., remaining there until his consecration to the episcopate in 1898. He was bishop-coadjutor of Rhode Island from 1898 to 1903, becoming bishop of the same diocese in the latter year. He is an elected member of the Board of Missions of the Protestant Episcopal Church and a member of the Inter Church Conferences on Marriage and Divorce. Address: Bishop's House, Providence, R. I.

McWHORTER, Henry Clay:

President judge of the Supreme Court of Appeals of West Virginia; born in Marion County, Ohio, Feb. 20, 1836. He entered the Union Army as captain in 1861, and served until compelled by a wound to leave active field service in 1863, continuing until 1865 as chief clerk of the provost marshal's enrollment office. From 1866 until 1897

he practised law at Charleston, W. Va. He was actively identified with politics in his State as a Republican, and was four terms a member of the West Virginia House of Representatives, and its speaker in 1868; prosecuting attorney, 1869-1873; again a member of the West Virginia House of Representatives, 1885-1887, and postmaster of Charleston, W. Va., 1891-1893. He became an associate justice of the Supreme Court of West Virginia in 1897, and since 1903 has been president-judge of that court. His religious affiliation is with the Methodist Episcopal Church, and he was a member of the General Conference of that Church in 1904. Address: Charleston, W. Va.

MADDEN, Eva Anne:

Writer and journalist; born in Kentucky, 1863; daughter of Frank and Anne Louise (McKenzie) Madden. She received her education in Louisville public schools, and honor from the Althean Literary Society. Miss Madden first taught, then began as newspaper and magazine writer. She is author of: Two Royal Foes, Little Queen, Soldiers of the Duke, Little Crusaders, and I Can School, also a writer for the Century, Harper's Bazaar, Atlantic, Craftsman magazines; is an Italian representative of Curtis, Brown and Massie, and Florence correspondent of the Paris edition of the New York Herald. She is a member of the Lyceum Club of Florence. Address: 36 Via di Servi, Florence, Italy.

MADDEN, Martin Barnaby:

Congressman; born in Darlington, England, March 20, 1855; son of John and Elizabeth Madden. He was educated in the public schools and business colleges; was a member of the Chicago City Council, 1889-1897; presiding officer of that body, 1891-1893, and chairman of the Finance Committee, 1892-1897. He was a chairman of the Republican State Convention in 1896, and delegate to the National Conventions of 1896 and 1900. Mr. Madden is president of the Western Stone Company of Chicago and a director of the Metropolitan Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago. He was elected to the Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth Congresses and reelected to the Sixty-first Congress from the First Illinois District. He married at Downer's Grove, Ill., in 1878, Josephine Smart. Residence: 3829 Michigan Avenue. Office: 320 Chamber of Commerce Building, Chicago.

MADDOX, Samuel T.:

Jurist; admitted to bar and was engaged in practice of law in Brooklyn and New York City until November, 1896, when he was elected to his present position as justice of the Supreme Court of New York, for the term expiring Dec. 31, 1910. Address: 87 Bainbridge Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

MADEIRA, Easton Earl:

Clergyman; born in St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 8, 1868; son of Rev. Addison Dashiell and Marie Louise (Isette) Madeira. He was graduated from St. Stephen's College, B.A., 1891, and M.A., 1899, received honors in logic in 1890 and in psychology in 1891; and was senior prize essayist in 1891; and was graduated from the General Theological Seminary in 1894. He was ordered deacon in 1894 and ordained priest in 1894; was rector of Grace Church, Chillicothe, Mo., 1894-1896, of Christ Church, Waterloo, Iowa, 1896-1900, and has been rector of Christ Church, St. Paul, Minn., since 1906. He is author of: Mission of the Anglican Church to the Twentieth Century. He is director of the Children's Home Society of Minnesota; member of the Masonic, Royal Arcanum, Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternities. He is a member of the commercial and St. Paul Automobile Clubs. Mr. Madeira married, Dec. 22, 1896, Marie Louise Ireland, daughter of John B. Ireland and Adelia Duane (Pell) Ireland, of New York City, and they have three children. Residence: 155 West Fourth Street. Address: Christ Church, St. Paul, Minn.

MADEIRA, Louis Childs:

Coal miner and shipper; born in Philadelphia, June 2, 1853; son of Louis Cephas Madeira and Adeline Laura (Powell)

Madeira. He was prepared in the Episcopal Academy of Philadelphia and graduated from the University of Pennsylvania as B.S. in the class of 1872. He was employed as civil engineer, on the Wilmington and Northern Railroad, 1872-1874, the Bound Brook Railroad, 1874-1877; entered the firm of Louis C. Madeira & Sons, insurance agents, in 1877, and became an officer of Madeira, Hill and Company, miners and shippers of anthracite and bituminous coal, in 1902, and is now its secretary. Mr. Madeira is secretary and director of George B. Newton & Company, Incorporated; treasurer of the Saltsburg Coal Mining Company, the Madeira, Hill, Clark Coal Company, treasurer and director of the Thomas Colliery Company, and is director of the Standard Ice Manufacturing Company, the General Accident Company, and Insurance Company of State of Pennsylvania. In politics he is a Republican. He has been a member of the Committee of Seventy since 1905; member of the School Board 21st section, and in his church relations he is an Episcopalian. He has been a trustee of the Episcopal Academy since 1899. His favorite recreations are golf, rowing, riding, cricket and tennis, and he has been active in all outdoor sports; was vice-commander, 1886-1888, and commodore, 1890-1891, of the Schuylkill Navy; a director of the Athletic Association of the University of Pennsylvania, 1891-1905. He is a member of the Rittenhouse, University, Philadelphia Country, Corinthian Yacht, Germantown Cricket, and Philadelphia Barge Clubs. Mr. Madeira married in Philadelphia, Oct. 16, 1890, Marion Clark, and they have three children. Residence: West School House Lane, Germantown. Address: 900 North American Building, Philadelphia.

MAGEE, John:

President of Fall Brook Coal Company; born in Watkins, N. Y., Dec. 2, 1867; son of George J. and Emma S. (Slothoff) Magee. He was educated at Lawrenceville (New Jersey) School. He was engaged for years as miner and shipper of coal; and is now president of the Fall Brook Coal Company, Fall Brook Railway Company, and Morris Run Coal Mining Company; and a director of the Syracuse, Geneva and Corning Railway Company, Pine Creek Railway Company, Beech Creek Coal and Coke Company, Pocahontas Collieries Company, Kean, Van Cortlandt and Company (realty company), Knickerbocker Trust Company, Albany Trust Company, Schenectady Trust Company, Chemung Canal Trust Company, Atlantic Terra Cotta Company, Chest Creek Land and Improvement Company, Philadelphia and Reading Dock and Terminal Company, and Tioga Improvement Company. He served as aide-de-camp on Governor Flower's staff. He is a member of the Union, Racquet and Tennis, Turf and Field, Strollers', Midday Lunch, and Jekyl Island Clubs, Automobile Club of America, Currituck Shooting Club, and the Travelers' Club and Cerele de Bois de Bologne, Paris. He married in Elmira, N. Y., Nov. 4, 1901, Florence Wetmore Seeley. Residence: Corning, N. Y. Address: 13 West 37th Street, New York City.

MAGILL, George Ernest:

Clergyman; born in Melbourne, Quebec, Canada, June 7, 1860; son of Rev. George John Magill, who was for twenty-two years rector of Trinity Church, Newport, R. I., and Sarah McDonald (Tait) Magill, sister of Sir Melbourne Tait, chief justice of Montreal. He received his education in church schools, and was graduated from Trinity College, B.A., 1884, M.A., 1887; attended the General Theological Seminary, New York City, 1884-1885, and Berkeley Divinity School, Middletown, Conn., 1885-1887. He was made deacon in Holy Trinity Church, Middletown, Conn., by Rt. Rev. John Williams, D.D., June 1, 1887; and was ordained priest in Trinity Church, Newport, R. I., by Rt. Rev. Thomas March Clark, D.D., on June 11, 1888. He was curate at St. James' Church, Philadelphia, 1887-1889, at Trinity Church, New York City, 1889-1893; rector of St. Paul's Church, Yonkers, N. Y., 1893-1896, and has been rector of the Church of the Holy Innocents, Hoboken, N. J., since 1896. He is a trustee of Christ Hospital and of St. Katherine's Home, Jersey City, N. J.; and the Widows' Home, Hoboken, N. J.; member of Psi Upsilon fraternity and the Church Clerical Union of New York City. Address: Holy Innocents' Rectory, 311 Sixth Street, Hoboken, N. J.

MAGILL, Samuel Edward:

Consular officer; born in Erie, Pa., Feb. 18, 1861; son of William E. and Louisa J. Magill. He was graduated from Lafayette College, A.B., 1881. He was a clerk in the American consulate at Cardenas, Cuba, Oct. 1881 to August, 1882; was engaged in the coal and real estate business in Chicago, 1882-1897; became American Consul at Tampico, Mexico, 1897-1907; consul general at San Salvador, 1907-1908; since then consul at Guadalajara, Mexico. He is a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity. Mr. Magill married in Chicago, June 30, 1887, Julia Groves. Address: American Consulate, Guadalajara, Jalisco, Mexico.

MAGONIGLE, Harold Van Buren:

Architect; born at Bergen Heights, N. J., Oct. 17, 1867; son of John Henry and Catherine Celestine (Devlin) Magonigle. He was educated in the public schools; studied in the office of Vaux & Radford, Charles C. Haight, McKim, Mead & White, Rotch and Tilden; was awarded a gold medal by Architectural League of New York in 1891, Rotch traveling scholarship, 1894-1896; won competitions for Cornell Alumni Hall, National Maine Monument, Gates Avenue Court House, McKinley National Memorial, and others. He served as first lieutenant and battalion adjutant, 109th Regiment, National Guard of the State of New York. He is a member of the American Institute of Architects and New York Chapter of same. He married in New York City, in 1900, Edith Marion Day. Address: 40 Washington Square, New York City.

MAGOON, Charles E.:

Former governor of Cuba, born in Minnesota, Dec. 5, 1861. After graduating from the high school at Owatonna, Minn., he pursued a course of studies at the University of Nebraska. He was admitted to the bar in 1882, and engaged in the general practice of law at Lincoln, Neb., and he became judge-advocate of the Nebraska National Guard. On March 21, 1899, he was appointed law officer of the Bureau of Insular Affairs and in that place had an important part in formulating and putting in force the procedures and regulations in connection with the new problems thrust upon the Government of the United States as the result of the War with Spain. In this responsible position he remained until July 1, 1904, when he was appointed general counsel of the Isthmian Canal Commission, another place in which the problem to be encountered required not only legal ability, but also gifts for initiative judgment. He remained in that office until April 1, 1905, when he was appointed a member of the Isthmian Canal Commission, in addition to which he became May 25, 1905, governor of the Canal Zone, with official headquarters at Ancon, Canal Zone, Panama, and on July 7, 1905, was also appointed envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States at Panama. Upon the establishment of intervention in Cuba, Secretary of War Taft acted as provisional governor from September 29, until a man of the requisite experience and qualifications could be found. The choice fell upon Governor Magoon who was appointed provisional governor of Cuba, by President Roosevelt, and assumed the duties of the office Oct. 13, 1906, rapidly restoring peace throughout the island and establishing an orderly government, and remaining at the head of that government until it was restored to the reorganized Cuban Government. Gov. Magoon is author of a legal work on The Law of Civil Government under Military Occupation, which was published by the War Department of the United States in 1902. The degree LL.D. was conferred upon him, June 8, 1905, by Monmouth College, Illinois. He is a member of the Metropolitan, Alibi, Cosmos and Chevy Chase Clubs of Washington, and a governor of the latter. Address: Havana, Cuba.

MAGRATH, William:

Artist; born in Cork, Ireland, March 20, 1838; and came to the United States in 1855. He has been an academician of the National Academy of Design since 1876, and a member of the Society of Painters in Water Colors, New York City. Address: 11 East 14th Street, New York City.

MAGRUDER, William Thomas:

Professor of mechanical engineering; born in Baltimore, Md., April 22, 1861; son of W. T. Magruder, U. S. A. and C. S. A., and Mary Clayton (Hamilton) Magruder. He was educated in St. John's School, Sing Sing, N. Y. Peekskill Military Academy, Stevens Institute of Technology, M.E., 1881, and took graduate work at Johns Hopkins University, 1886-1887. He began his career as draftsman and designer with the Campbell Printing Press and Manufacturing Company, of Taunton, Mass., 1881-1886, and was chief chemist for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, in 1887. He became instructor, 1887-1888, and adjunct professor, 1888-1896, of mechanical engineering in Vanderbilt University; and since 1896 has been professor of mechanical engineering at The Ohio State University. He has made a specialty of gas engineering, and was chief of machinery of the Tennessee Centennial Exposition, in 1896. He is a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers; the American Association for the Advancement of Science (secretary of Section D since 1902), Engineers' Club of Columbus, Ohio (president, 1904-1905, and director, 1905-1907); the Ohio Society of Mechanical Engineers (vice-president, 1904-1905, president, 1905-1907); National Society for the Promotion of Industrial Education, and has been councilor, secretary and vice-president of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education. Professor Magruder married at Nashville, Tenn., June 18, 1891, Ellen Fall Malone, and they have two sons. Residence: 342 West 9th Avenue. Offices: Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio.

MAHAN, Alfred Thayer:

Rear-admiral, U. S. Navy, retired; born at West Point, N. Y., Sept. 27, 1840; son of D. H. Mahan, who was professor of military engineering at the U. S. Military Academy. He was appointed from New York as cadet at the U. S. Naval Academy in 1856 and was graduated in 1859. He received the honorary degrees of D.C.L. from the University of Oxford, and LL.D. from the University of Cambridge, England, 1894; from Harvard, 1859; from Yale, 1897; from McGill University, Montreal, 1900; Columbia, 1900. He served on the U. S. S. Congress, Brazil, 1859-1861; Pocahontas, South Atlantic Blockading Squadron, 1861-1862; was commissioned lieutenant Aug. 31, 1861; served at the Naval Academy, 1862-1863; on the steam sloop Seminole, Western Gulf Squadron, 1863-1864; on the James Adgar, South Atlantic Squadron, from 1864-1865. After serving in the various grades on all the naval stations he was promoted to captain in 1885; served at the Naval War College, 1886-1889; president of commission for selecting a site for a new navy yard on the Northwest Coast, 1889; on special duty in the Bureau of Navigation, 1889-1892; president of the War College and Torpedo School, 1892-1893; commanded the Chicago, 1893-1895; retired upon his own application after forty years of service, Nov. 17, 1896. In May, 1898, he was ordered to duty as a member of the Naval War Board; and was a delegate to the Hague Conference in 1899. In 1906 he was advanced to the grade of rear admiral retired, and ordered to duty in connection with the Naval War College at Newport, R. I., 1908. Rear-admiral Mahan is the leading naval historian and commentator on naval affairs in the United States. His works have opened a new epoch in the consideration of naval history, and he is as well the leading naval strategist of the United States if not of the world, his service in connection with the Spanish American War having given him an international reputation in this respect. His works include: The Gulf and Inland Waters; The Influence of Sea Power Upon History, 1660-1873; Influence of Sea Power Upon the French Revolution and Empire, 1793-1812; Life of Admiral Farragut; Life of Nelson; The Interest of the United States in Sea Power; Lessons of the Spanish War; The Problem of Asia;

The South African War; Types of Naval Officers; Retrospect and Prospect; Sea Power in Its Relation to the War of 1812; From Sail to Steam: Some Neglected Aspects of War, and others bearing on political history as effected by naval and commercial power. He is a member of the University, Century and Church Clubs of New York City. Address: Quogue, N. Y.

MAHAN, Dennis Hart:

Commodore U. S. Navy, retired; born at West Point, New York, March 28, 1849; son of Dennis Hart Mahan, who was professor of military engineering in the U. S. Military Academy. He was graduated from the U. S. Naval Academy in July, 1865; commissioned ensign, July, 1870; master, February, 1873; lieutenant, September, 1877; lieutenant-commander, May, 1898; commander, March, 1901; captain, July 1, 1905. He served on the Sabine, 1869-1870; the Tennessee, on special service on the San Domingo Expedition, 1871; Wachusett, Shemandoah and Congress, in European Squadron, 1871-1874; Plymouth, North Atlantic Squadron, 1874-1875; the Supply, on special duty, 1876-1877; training ship Minnesota, 1877-1878; receiving ship Independence, 1879-1880; the Alert, Ashuelot and Richmond, Asiatic Squadron, 1880-1883; Pensacola, special service, 1883-1884; training ship Minnesota, 1885; at the Naval Academy, 1886-1888; War College, 1888; Coast Survey, 1888-1890; Alert, special service, 1890-1893; on duty in the Hydrographic Office, 1893-1896; U. S. steamer Machias, 1896-1898; Yumuri, April, 1898; Badger, May, 1898-1899; Brooklyn, 1899-1900; ordnance duty at the Washington Navy Yard, 1900; Navy Yard, Puget Sound, 1901-1902; commanding Monadnock, 1902-1904, Asiatic Fleet; ordnance officer Navy Yard, Norfolk, Va., 1905-1906; commanding the Indiana, North Atlantic Fleet, 1906-1907. During this command he was directed to land a force and take possession of the penitentiary at Kingston, Jamaica, during the earthquake disaster in January, 1907. The Indiana's crew quelled the incipient mutiny and gave protection to Governor Swettenham during the administration of justice to mutineers in the prison; captain of the yard, Navy Yard, Puget Sound, 1907-1909; retired June 30, 1909, with rank of commodore. Address: Warrenton, Va.

MAHON, Thaddeus Maclay:

Ex congressman and lawyer; born at Greenvillage, Franklin County, Pa. He received a common school and academic education; enlisted as a private in Company A, 126th Pennsylvania Volunteers in August, 1862; after a term of service in this regiment he reenlisted as a veteran in January, 1864, in the 21st Pennsylvania Cavalry; served until September, 1865; participated in most of the engagements with the Army of the Potomac, Fifth Corps; was seriously wounded at Boydton Plank Road, Va., Nov. 4, 1864. He read law, and was admitted to practice in 1871, and has been in active practice ever since. Mr. Mahon was a member of the Pennsylvania Legislature, 1870-1871; served as chairman of the General Judiciary Committee; is president of Baltimore and Cumberland Valley Railroad, president of St. Thomas Bank; a member of the commission having charge of the soldiers' orphan schools of Pennsylvania, and was a candidate for Congress in the Eighteenth District in 1876, and was defeated by Hon. W. S. Stenger (who received the support of the Greenbackers) by the small majority of forty-nine. He has always been a Republican and has always taken an active part in State and National politics; was elected to the Fifty-third, Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, and Fifty-eighth Congresses, and reelected to the Fifty-ninth Congress, serving until March 3, 1907. Address: Chambersburg, Pa.

MAIN, Hubert Platt:

Composer, editor, music books; born in Ridgefield, Conn., Aug. 17, 1839; eldest son of Sylvester and Susan Main. He was educated in the district school of Ridgefield, Conn.; went to New York City, 1854; was a clerk in a men's furnishing house, 1856-1857; with a pianoforte house, 1858-1864; with Philip Phillips, 1864-1866; with William B. Bradbury, 1867; since 1868 with Bigelow & Main, and the Bigelow & Main

Company, of which he is now treasurer. Since 1855 he has composed music, compiled and edited song books for churches, singing schools, Sunday schools, and college collections. He is author and compiler, and compiler for authors, of: Sunday School Lute, 1856; New Lute of Zion, 1856; Methodist Hymns and Tunes, 1857; The Dayspring, 1859; Cottage Melodies, 1859; Bradbury's Anthem Book, 1860; Hallowed Songs, 1864; Sacred Lute, 1864; Musical Leaves, 1864; Home Songs, 1865; Singing Pilgrim, 1866; New Methodist Hymn and Tune Book, 1866; Chapel Melodies, 1868; The Victory, 1869; Bible Harp, 1869; Bugle Notes, 1871; The Coronation, 1872; Christian Songs, 1872; Temple Anthems, 1873; Winnowed Hymns, 1873; Book of Praise, 1875; Chautauqua Collection, 1875; Songs for Little Folks, 1875; Imperial Harmony, 1876; Ka Lei Alii, 1878; Glee Circle, 1879; Sterling Gems, 1880; The Alleluia, 1880, 1884; New Alleluia, 1886; Church Praise Book, 1881; Hoku ao Nani, 1882; Little Pilgrim Songs, 1883; Our Treasury of Song, 1883; Hymns of Praise, 1884; Buk in Al, 1886; Sterling Anthems, 1886; Ripples of Song, 1887; New Organ Folio, 1887; Trumpet Notes, 1888; Church Hymnary, 1890; Songs of Psi Upsilon, 1891; Garnered Gems, 1892; Songs of Harvard, 1892; Augsburg Songs, No. 2, 1893; Phi Kappa Psi Song Book, 1893; Songs of Alpha Phi, 1893; Select Songs, No. 2, 1893; Harvest Gems, 1896; The Hymnal of the Church, 1897; Ancene Ma Bana, 1897; Book of Worship, 1898; The Hosanna, 1898; Gems of Song for the Sunday School, 1901; Gloria Deo, 1901; Leo Hoonani, 1902; Devotional Songs, 1903; Songs of Alpha Phi, enlarged, 1904; Baptist Hymn and Praise Book, 1904; Bixby's Home Songs Complete, 1909; also numerous carols for Christmas and Easter; May anniversary songs. Thanksgiving services and Floral Praise services for Children's Day, from 1883 to 1898. He has assisted in the compilation of several church hymnals and the various publications of the Biglow & Main Company, since 1868, and is author of the popular songs: We Shall Meet; The Bright Forever; O, How He Loves; Christ My All; Blessed Homeland; My Lord and I; The Blessed Rock; What a Shout Was Heard; Man the Life Boat; O Little Town of Bethlehem; I Stood Outside the Gate; Bright Glory Land; I'm Waiting for Thee; The Sweet Voice; Bye, Baby, Bye; Good-night, My Darling; When Mary Was a Lassie, and others; in all over 600 published songs. He served as organist in different churches, 1856-1878. Mr. Main is a Methodist and a Republican. He is a member of the Clef Club. He married in New York City, Sept. 18, 1865, O. Louise De Groff. Residence: 12 North 9th Street, Newark, N. J. Address: 156 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

MALONE, Walter:

Jurist and author; born in De Soto County, Miss., Feb. 10, 1866; son of Franklin Jefferson and Mary Louisa (Hardin) Malone. He was graduated from the University of Mississippi, 1887. Mr. Malone practised law in Memphis, Tenn., 1887-1897; lived in New York, 1897-1900, engaged in literary work, and in the practice of law, 1900-1905, in Memphis. He was appointed judge of the Second Circuit Court at Memphis, Tenn., March 29, 1905, and has held this position ever since. He is author of: Claribel and Other Poems, 1882; The Outcast and Other Poems, 1885; Narcissus and Other Poems, 1892; Songs of Dusk and Dawn, 1895; Songs of December and June, 1896; The Coming of the King, 1897; Songs of North and South, 1900; Poems, 1904; Songs of East and West, 1906; and a contributor to periodicals. He is a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity, and of the Authors Club of New York, and the Business Men's Club of Memphis. Address: Court House, Memphis, Tenn.

MALONEY, Andrew P.:

Official of public utilities and industrial corporations; was born in Scranton, Pa., March 16, 1861; son of John Maloney and Catherine Maloney. He was educated in the public schools and business college. Mr. Maloney is president of the State Construction Company, and of the Coast Gas Company; vice president of Maloney Land Improvement Company; secretary of the Lakewood Gas Company; treasurer of the Newbold Improvement Company, City Gas Light Company and Shore Gas Company; director of the North Philadelphia Trust Company, secretary and treasurer of the Hygeia Ice and Cold Storage Company, Philadelphia, and of the Pennsylvania Iron Works Operating Company. He is married and has six children. Residence: 1504 Tioga Street. Office: 1530 Land Title Building, Philadelphia.

MALTBIE, Milo Roy:

Member of the Public Service Commission for the First District of New York; born at Hinckley, Ill., April 3, 1871; son of Henry Munson and Harriet S. (Delano) Maltbie. He was graduated from Upper Iowa University, Ph.B., 1892, Northwestern University, Ph.M., 1893, and from Columbia University, Ph.D., 1897. He was secretary of the Reform Club Committee on City Affairs, 1897-1902. Mr. Maltbie was editor of Municipal Affairs, 1897-1903; secretary to Art Commission of the City of New York, 1902-1907; investigated municipal conditions in Europe for the Reform Club, 1899; superintended the inquiry into municipal ownership of public utilities in Great Britain for the National Civic Federation, 1906; was delegate to the International Congress on Housing, 1902. He is a member of the American Political Science Association, American Economic Association, Municipal Art Society, Metropolitan Parks Association, Economic Club and City Club, of New York City. He is author of: English Local Government of To-Day; A Study of the Relations of Central and Local Government; Municipal Functions; Street Railways of Chicago. He has contributed to many economic journals and prepared numerous reports upon municipal matters for the U. S. government, various cities, and private organizations. He married at Mt. Morris, Ill., July 11, 1901, Lucia McCosh. Residence: 593 Riverside Drive. Office address: Tribune Building, New York City.

MAN, Ernest A.:

Consular officer; born in Pennsylvania in 1849; educated in private schools. He was appointed consul at Gothenburg, Feb. 22, 1887; retired Dec. 5, 1890; appointed consul at Bergen, May 15, 1896; retired Aug. 4, 1898; appointed consular agent at Schiedam, Oct. 27, 1898; consul at Breslau, March 8, 1901; consul-general at Copenhagen, June 24, 1906; consul at Leghorn, Italy, since June 24, 1907. Address: Leghorn, Italy.

MANIERRE, Alfred Lee:

Lawyer; born in New York City, May 4, 1861; son of Benjamin F. and Caroline (Flynn) Manierre. He received his education at Columbia College, in the class of 1883. He was Prohibition candidate for mayor of New York City in 1900, and for governor of New York State in 1902. Mr. Manierre is a Presbyterian; and an elder of the Scarborough Presbyterian Church. He is a member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, and the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity; trustee of the National Temperance Society; trustee and treasurer of the New York Red Cross Hospital; and member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society. He is also a member of the City, Alpha Delta Phi and Barnard Clubs. He married in New York City, Nov. 10, 1897, Cornelia P. Lockwood, and they have three children. Residence: 330 West 76th Street. Office: 31 Nassau Street, New York City.

MANN, Cameron:

Missionary bishop of North Dakota; born in New York City in 1851; son of Rev. Duncan and Caroline Brother (Schuyler) Mann. He was graduated from Hobart, B.A., 1870, M.A., 1876; and the degree of D.D. was conferred upon him in 1889 by the General Theological Seminary in New York. He took orders as deacon of the Episcopal Church in 1873, and was ordained priest by Bishop Cox in 1876. He was rector at Branchport, N. J., 1873-1875, St. Peter's Church, Albany, N. Y., 1875; of St. James' Church, Watkins, N. Y., 1875-1882, and of Grace Church, Kansas City, Mo., 1882-1901. He was elected missionary bishop of North Dakota and was consecrated by Bishops Tuttle, Talbot, Atwill, Brooke, Millsbaugh, Edsall, and Morrison (Iowa). Bishop Mann married, in 1882, Mary Le Cain. He is author of: Future Punishment, 1888; Comments on the Cross, 1893. Address: Fargo, N. D.

MANN, James R.:

Congressman and lawyer; born on a farm in McLean County, Ill., Oct. 20, 1856. He moved with his family to Iroquois County, Ill., when eleven years old; received his early education in the public schools, and he afterward attended the University of Illinois, from which he was graduated A.B., 1876, and completed the law course of the Union College of Law with the degree of LL.B. in 1881. Since then he has been engaged in law practice in Chicago, and is head of the law firm of Mann and Miller. He has been attorney for Hyde Park and the South Park commissioners of Chicago; was for four years a member of the City Council of Chicago; was chairman of the Illinois State Republican Convention in 1894; and chairman of the Republican County Convention in Chicago in 1895, and again in 1902; was elected to the Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, and Sixtieth Congresses, and reelected to the Sixty-first Congress in 1908, from the Second District of Illinois. Residence: Hyde Park, Hotel. Office: Ashland Block, Chicago.

MANN, Louis:

Actor; born in New York City, 1865; son of Daniel and Carolina Mann. His first appearance on the stage was at three years of age, in a children's production of Snow Flake, a Christmas pantomime in German, at the old Stadt Theater, on the Bowery. He went to California with his parents when he was twelve years of age. He was educated in the New York public schools and took a partial course in the University of California. He did not complete his college course, but joined the McCullough & Barrett Stock Company and played boy parts, and on Sundays appeared with the German Stock Company under Ottillie Genec. He returned, with his parents, to the East and was induced to go to a private school, but at seventeen was again on the stage, where he has continued. Mr. Mann appeared with Booth, Salvini, Marie Prescott and Lewis Morrison, and other famous actors, and finally headed his own company as "Robert Andley" in Lady Andley; "Ormand Duval" in Camille; "Rolado" in The Honeymoon; "Master Walter" in The Hunchback; later in The Clemenceau Case, and in Lucog; later made his first essay as a German dialect comedian as "Rothschild Hoffmeister" in The Passing Regiment; took his own company to the Pacific Coast and back, playing The Laughing Girl (of which he was joint author with Mrs. D. F. Verdenal); since that has created the rôles of "Herr von Moser" in The Strange Adventures of Miss Brown; "Hans, the Innkeeper" in The Girl from Paris; "Hans Nix, Inspector of Telephones" in The Telephone Girl; "Lebardy, Chocolate Manufacturer," in The Girl in the Barracks; "Hochstuhl" in All on Account of Eliza; then was for a season with Weber & Fields; starred as "Leopold" in The Second Field; since then, for last and the present season, playing "Papa Poujol" in Julie Bonbon, written by Clara Lipman. He married Clara Lipman, actress and playwright. Address: 310 W. 101st Street, New York City.

MANN, Matthew Derbyshire:

Physician; born in Utica, N. Y., July 12, 1845; son of Charles Adison and Emma (Bagg) Mann. He was educated in the public schools of Utica; was graduated from Yale University, A.B., 1867, A.M., 1870, and from Columbia University, M.D., 1871. He practised medicine in New York City until 1879; moved to Hartford, Conn., and practised there until 1882; and since 1882 has been practising in Buffalo; and is professor of obstetrics and gynecology and dean of the Medical Faculty in the University of Buffalo. He has traveled in Europe five times; also extensively in this country. He is a fellow of many local, State and national medical societies, and has held many important offices in societies. Dr. Mann is a fellow and ex-president of the American Gynecological Society; and he is a member of the American Civic Federation, and Psi Upsilon fraternity; president of the Guido Chorus, member of the Society of Colonial Wars; and president of St. Margaret School Association; member of the University Clubs of Buffalo. Dr. Mann married in St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 11, 1869, Elizabeth Pope, and they have had seven children. Address: 37 Allen Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

MANN, William D'Alton:

Soldier, inventor and editor; born in Sandusky, Ohio, Sept. 27, 1839; son of William R. and Eliza (Ford) Mann. He was educated as a civil engineer, and at the outbreak of the Civil War, entered the army as captain of the First Michigan Cavalry. In 1862 he organized the first Mounted Rifles, afterward known as the Fifth Michigan Cavalry. Immediately following, at the urgent request of the governor, he organized and commanded in the field the Seventh Michigan Cavalry. Colonel Mann received patents for valuable accoutrements for troops. After the war, he settled in Mobile, Ala., and engaged as a manufacturer of cottonseed oil and in railroad promotion and construction, and was proprietor of Mobile Register. He was elected to Congress from the Mobile District in 1869, by an overwhelming majority, but was refused a certificate by the Reconstruction officials. In January, 1872, he patented the boudoir car and spent the next ten years in Europe introducing it there; in 1878 he patented a platform on railway cars constituting the vestibuled trains now in universal use. He returned in 1883, settled in New York City and established the Mann Boudoir Car Company, which afterward sold out to the Pullman Company. Colonel Mann became owner and editor of Town Topics in 1891; in 1900 founded The Smart Set Magazine; and in 1905, the Trans-Atlantic Tales Magazine. He is a member of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion; member of the Southern Society, Ohio Society, and life member of the Albany Burgesses Corps; member of the Lotos, Manhattan, Army and Navy, National Democratic, Press, and Transportation Clubs and the Old Guard. He married Sophia Hartog, of New York City. Address: 309 West 72d Street, New York City.

MANNERS, Edwin:

Lawyer; born in Jersey City, March 6, 1855; son of David S. and Deborah Philips (Johnes) Manners. He received his preparatory education in the Hasbrouck Institute, Jersey City, and at Mount Pleasant Military Academy, Ossining-on-Hudson; was graduated from Princeton University as A.B. in 1877, and A.M. in 1880, and from Columbia University as LL.B. in 1879. He was admitted to the New Jersey bar as an attorney in 1880, and as a counsellor in 1883, and has practised his profession in his native town. He has large real estate interests in Jersey City and stock holdings in several business corporations. He is of literary tastes and inclinations and contributes occasionally to the press, in both verse and prose. In politics he is a Democrat and in religion an Episcopalian. Mr. Manners is a member of the Hudson County Bar Association, Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, historical and other associations. He has traveled widely. He is a member of the Princeton Club of New York and of the University and Palma Clubs of Jersey City. Country house: Harlingen, near Princeton, N. J. Residence: 287 Barrow Street, Jersey City. Address: 1 Montgomery Street, Jersey City, N. J.

MANNING, William T.:

Clergyman; born in England in 1866; son of John Manning. He was educated at the University of the South, receiving the degree of B.D. in 1893; the degrees of D.D. from the University of Nashville in 1901, S.T.D. from Columbia University in 1905, and D.D. from the University of the South in 1906. He was rector of Trinity Church, Redlands, Calif., in 1891; professor of dogmatic theology in the University of the South in 1893; rector of St. John's Church, Lansdowne, Pa., in 1896; rector of Christ Church, Nashville, Tenn., 1898; vicar of St. Agnes' Chapel, Trinity Parish, New York, 1903; was elected bishop of Harrisburg in 1904, but declined; was made assistant rector of Trinity Parish, 1904, and elected rector of Trinity Parish, New York City, in 1908. Residence: 27 West 25th Street. Office: 187 Fulton Street, New York City.

MANSFIELD, Howard:

Lawyer; born at Hamden, Conn., July 2, 1849; son of Jesse Merrick and Julia (Tuttle) Mansfield. He was graduated from Yale, A.B., 1871, A.M., 1874, and from Columbia as LL.B., 1874. He was admitted to the bar in 1874, and is now senior member of the law firm of Lord, Day and Lord. Mr. Mansfield has been counsel at different times for numerous corporations as well as individuals, including the West Shore Railroad Company, Pullman Company, St. Louis and San Francisco Railway Company, New York, Ontario and Western Railway Company, Western New York and Pennsylvania Railway Company, Omaha Water Company, Cuba Company and Cuba Railroad Company. He has been a member of the Art Commission of the City of New York; and is a director and the general counsel of the Omaha Water Company, and a director and the vice-president and the general counsel of the Cuba Company and a director and the general counsel of the Cuba Railroad Company; and a trustee of the People's Institute. Mr. Mansfield is a collector of modern etchings, especially the works of Whistler, Haden, Meryon, Millet, Braquemond, Legros, Daubigny, Lalanne, Gaillard, and collector of Japanese works of art. He is a member of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, American Museum of Natural History, and of the Century. University, Yale, Grolier (ex-president), Barnard, National Arts. Players', Lawyers', Down Town, and Macdowell Clubs of New York City, St. Botolph Club of Boston, the Graduates' Club of New Haven, and the Caxton Club of Chicago. He married at Narragansett Pier, Sept. 12, 1895, Helen Coolidge Tuttle (Todd). Address: 49 Wall Street, New York City.

MANSFIELD, Robert E.:

Consular officer; born in Indiana, June 13, 1866; son of Robert Goble and Margaret (Thornburg) Mansfield. After completing his public school education he engaged in newspaper work in Indiana in 1884, and he was owner and editor of the Marion News, 1897-1900. He was elected secretary of the Republican State committee of Indiana in 1896. He was appointed consul at Zanzibar, May 25, 1899; retired Jan. 10, 1901; was appointed consul at Valparaiso, March 27, 1901; consul at Lucerne, June 22, 1906; consul at St. Gall, Switzerland, June 10, 1908, consul-general at Zurich, Switzerland, Feb. 17, 1909. He is author of: Country Life in Chile, and is a contributor to magazines and periodicals. Mr. Mansfield married in Rushville, Ind., April 17, 1906, Fanny Gowdy. His home is in Marion, Ind. Official address: American Consulate-general, Zurich, Switzerland.

MANTELL, Robert Bruce:

Tragedian; born in Irvine, Ayrshire, Scotland, Feb. 7, 1854; son of James and Elizabeth Mantell. He began stage life as the "Sergeant" in Arrah-na-Pogue at Rochdale, England, in 1876. His first appearance in America was with Mme. Modjeska, in 1878. Soon after coming to the United States, he attracted attention by playing the character of "Romeo" in an engagement in which six star actresses (including Marie Wainwright) alternated in the character of "Juliet." During recent years he has been at the head of his own company, appearing principally in Shakespearean roles. Address: Lambs Club, New York City.

MANTON, Benjamin Dyer:

United States consul; born in Providence, R. I., May 10, 1829; son of Austis Salma and Anstis Manton. He is eighth in descent from Roger Williams, and also from Mary Dyer, who was hanged for her Quaker principles on Boston Common, June 1, 1660. He was educated in the common schools, went to sea in 1844 and in 1849 sailed for California, via Cape Horn. Later he commanded some of the finest clipper ships from the port of New York, in the China and Australian trade, his first command being the barque Le Cocq, in which he went to Montevideo in 1852; in 1856 he commanded the clipper Haidee, in the China trade, and in 1857 in command of the ship Messenger, of the Black Ball Line, he made the voyage to Melbourne from Liverpool in seventy-one days; after that he returned to the China trade and at the beginning of the Civil War he was appointed one of the sixteen volunteer lieutenants authorized by Congress and commanded the mortar brig Sea Foam and the ship Relief in Dupont's and Farragut's Squadrons. After the war he built two steamships, and, entering the employ of the Brazilian Government, carried about sixteen thousand troops from Rio de Janeiro and other ports to the war then raging between Paraguay and the three neighboring countries of Brazil, Argentina and Uruguay. He built in 1868, at Colonia, Uruguay, the first dock for repairing vessels on the River Plate, and since 1869 has been United States consul at Colonia. He was the first to introduce the telephone into Argentina and Uruguay, and 1890 he also introduced the electric light into Uruguay, supplying the town of Colonia; and he has extensive vineyards at San Benito, near Colonia. He is a member of the Grand Army of the Republic, the Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States, the California Pioneers, Farragut's Veterans, and the Sons of the Revolution. He married in Providence, R. I., Feb. 1, 1855, Julia D. Gladding. Address: Villa Real, Colonia, Uruguay.

MAPES, Victor:

Author, playwright; born in New York City, March 10, 1870; son of Charles V. and Martha Mapes; nephew of Mary Mapes Dodge. He was graduated from Columbia University, A.B. (first in class), 1891; studied literature and the drama at the Sorbonne, Paris, 1892-1893. He resided in Paris, 1892-1896. His first play, La Comtesse de Lisne, was produced at Theater Mondain, Paris, and was pronounced a success; while in Paris he was a correspondent of the New York Sun. On his return to the United States in 1897 he became stage manager for Daniel Frohman at the Lyceum Theater. His first play, produced in New York City, was a one-act play, A Flower of Yeddo, at the Empire Theater. He was dramatic critic of the New York World, 1898-1899; manager of the Globe Theater, Boston, 1903-1904; director of the New Theater (endowed) of Chicago, 1906-1907. Among his later plays are: The Tory's Guest (produced, 1900); Don Cesar's Return (1901); Captain Barrington (1903); and The Undercurrent (Chicago, 1907); The Detective (1908). He is author of a novel, Partners Three (1909); Duse and the French; and a contributor of short stories to magazines. He is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa and Psi Upsilon fraternities. He is also a member of the University, The Lambs', Columbia University, The Players', and Psi Upsilon Clubs of New York City, and University Club, of Chicago. He married in Washington, June 5, 1900, Anna Louise Hoeke, and has one son, James Jay Mapes, born Oct. 3, 1902. Residence: Short Hills, N. J. Address: 60 West Fortieth Street, New York City.

MARBLE, Manton:

Editor, author, diplomat; born at Worcester, Mass., Nov. 16, 1834; son of Joel and Nancy Chapin (Coes) Marble; she a descendant of Thaddens Chapin and Lucy Whitney, he a descendant of Samuel and Freegrace Marble, after whom Marble Ridge was named near Andover, Mass., and son of Deacon Solomon Marble (at Bunker Hill, Saratoga, Yorktown) and Jerusha (Greenwood) Marble, both of Millbury, Mass. He was educated chiefly by his father, was graduated from Albany Academy, 1853, and from Rochester University, 1855. After seven years service with Boston and New York journals (under William Cullen Bryant, 1858-1860, journey to Red River and Beyond, 1859; The World under Mr. Spalding, 1860-1862); was then, 1862-1876, the proprietor and editor of the New York World, through the War and Reconstruction period. He was chairman of the Executive Committee of the National Democratic Committee in 1864. Mr. Marble gave early publicity in the United States to the writings of Herbert Spencer on the maintenance of justice, as the chief, if not sole legitimate domestic function of government wielding the coercive power of the whole body of citizens. He held, in opposition to the Peace Democrats, that after Fort Sumter war was ineluctable for resisting the disruption of the Union and the subversion of its Constitution, while, at the same time, he opposed exorbitances of executive power and usurpings of ungranted power, as likewise its subversion; he opposed the warping of Custom House taxation, touching all, into profit-machines for a few; opposed income-taxing as equipping the Government-Fetish with poisoned claws, and unapportioned Federal income-taxing as direct taxes faithless to a compromise and false to the terms of the Constitution. He opposed greenbacks as an ever-injurious substitute for money, doubling the cost of the war then waging, thus redoubling our own calamitous colonial experience, which had caused the shaping of the Constitution to make such issues lawless. He opposed Negro-suffrage and the impeachment of President Johnson. Obstructing a misuse for partisan advantage of issues so momentous, he urged and supported procedures consummated in the Washington Treaty, the Geneva Arbitration, and the Alabama Award, deeming the explicit avowal of regret from the source overseas of our greatest injury to be the best close of old antagonisms and the only beginning of subsequent peace. He began the assault against the Tweed Ring which finally purged the city government for a season and elected Samuel J. Tilden governor of New York. He wrote the Syracuse Democratic State Platform of 1874, upon which Mr. Tilden stood for the governorship of New York, also the St. Louis National Democratic Platform of 1876, upon which he stood for the Presidency of the United States; most of the platform of 1884, upon which Mr. Cleveland stood for the Presidency, and a pamphlet, in 1878, disclosing that Mr. Tilden was not responsible for the Electoral Commission Laws. He was sent by President Cleveland, in 1885, as a special envoy to the Governments of Great Britain, France, and Germany, and, after conferences with Prince Bismarck, with MM. Freycinet and Carnot, and also with Cernuschi (the classic authority upon international bimetallism), with Mr.

Goschen, Lord Iddesleigh and Mr. Gladstone, he ascertained and advised the President that resumption of free bimetallic coinage by any European power was conditioned, sine qua non, upon British co-operation, which neither Tory nor Liberal ministries were prepared for (Mr. Gladstone doubtless preferring, even then, the closure of the Indian mints to continuing their free coinage of silver), and finally that our own United States Treasury purchases of silver should cease. Mr. Marble is author of: A Letter to Abraham Lincoln, 1864; The Presidential Counts, 1877; A Secret Chapter of Political History, 1878; Memoir of Alexander G. Mercer, D.D., prefixed to his Bible Characters, 1885, and Notes of an Outlook on Life, collected from the Mercer manuscripts, 1899. He has been a member of the Century Association of New York since 1862; honorary member of the Cobden Club (London) since 1872, of the Round Table (New York) since 1878; was a founder of the Manhattan Club in 1865, its first secretary and, 1884-1889, its president; is a life member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and of the American Academy of Political and Social Science (Philadelphia), the American Scientific Alliance, American Geographical Society, and the New England Society, of New York. Address: Bedford, N. Y.

MARCH, Alden:

Editor; born in Easton, Sept. 29, 1869; son of Francis A. March, LL.D., L.H.D., and Mildred Stone (Conway) March. He was graduated from Lafayette College, A.B., 1890, A.M., 1893. He has been connected with the Philadelphia Press since 1891, in various capacities, news editor and city editor, and Sunday editor since 1897. He is author of: The Conquest of the Philippines, and Our Other Island Possessions 1899, A Darling Traitor, 1904, and of short stories. He is a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, University Club. Residence: Four thousand four hundred and twenty-four Larchwood Avenue. Office: The Press, Seventh and Chestnut Streets, Philadelphia.

MARCUS, Louis William:

Jurist; born in Buffalo, N. Y., May 18, 1863; son of Leopold and Amelia Marcus. He was graduated from Cornell University, LL.B., 1889. He was admitted to the bar and engaged in the general practice of law in Buffalo until elected surrogate of Erie County, 1895, for six years; reelected, 1901; appointed November, 1905, and elected November, 1906, justice of the Supreme Court of New York, term expiring Dec. 31, 1920. Mr. Marcus married in Buffalo, Nov. 19, 1889, Ray D. Dahlman. Address: Hotel Lenox, Buffalo, N. Y.

MARCUS, George Elder:

Jeweler; born in New York City, 1859; son of Herman and Margaret (Elder) Marcus. He was educated in the Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute, and abroad at Lausanne, Switzerland, and Heidelberg, Germany. He is secretary, treasurer and director of Marcus and Company; and director of the International Pearl Company. He is a member of the American Geographical Society and of the Lotos, New York Riding, New York Athletic, Knollwood Country, Apawamis, Barnard, and Northward Ho Golf Clubs. Mr. Marcus married, June 2, 1886, Anna R. Hand, and they have one son. Address: 544 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

MARCUS, William Elder:

Jeweler; born in New York City, Aug. 28, 1857; son of Herman and Margaret (Elder) Marcus. He was educated in the schools of New York City, at Lausanne, Switzerland, and in Heidelberg, Germany. He founded, in 1878, the firm of Jaques and Marcus, which changed in 1902 into Marcus and Company, Incorporated, of which he is president. He is also vice-president of the International Pearl Company. He served in the Seventh Regiment of the National Guard of New York, nine years. He is a member of the Lotos, New York Athletic, City, Montclair Golf and Baltusrol Golf Clubs. Mr. Marcus married in 1881, Mary Ward Chapin, and they have three children. Residence: Montclair, N. J. Address: 544 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

MARCY, Henry Orlando:

Surgeon; born in Otis, Mass., June 23, 1837; son of Smith and Fanny (Gibbs) Marcy. He was educated at Wilbraham Academy and Amherst College, A.M.; and was graduated from the Medical School of Harvard University, M.D., 1863. In April, 1863, he was commissioned assistant surgeon of the 43d Massachusetts Volunteers, and in November, 1863, was commissioned surgeon of the First Regiment of Colored Troops, recruited in North Carolina. In 1864 he was appointed medical director of the Department of Florida, and served on the staffs of General Van Wyck, Potter and Hatch, resigning his commission in June, 1865, his last special service being the sanitary renovation of Charleston, S. C. He returned to Massachusetts and practised in Cambridge until 1869, when he went to Europe, and in that and the following year he studied in the University of Berlin as a special student of Professors Martin and Virchow, then visited hospitals in several European cities, spending the summer of 1870 in London and Edinburgh and in the latter city becoming the first American pupil of Professor Lister, whose antiseptic treatment of wounds, aided by private investigations made in a laboratory of his own in Boston, he introduced in his private and hospital practice. He established, in 1880, a private hospital in Cambridge for the treatment of the surgical diseases, of women, which hospital is still continued. To Dr. Marcy is due the credit of introducing into America the methods of antiseptic wound treatment, and his researches and discoveries have contributed in a valuable degree to the effectiveness of modern surgery. He was a member of the Seventh (London, 1881), and vice-president of the gynecological section of the Ninth (Washington, D. C., 1887), International Medical Congresses; is a member of the American Medical Association (president, 1891) and of the American Academy of Medicine (president, 1884). Wesleyan University conferred upon him the honorary degree of LL.D. in 1887. He has been a very extensive contributor to the literature of medicine and surgery; and author of several works on surgery. Dr. Marcy married at Somersworth, N. H., Oct. 14, 1863, Sarah E. Wendell, and they have a son, Henry Orlando Marey, Jr., A.B., M.D., assistant in anatomy in Harvard University. Address: 180 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston.

MARDEN, Orison Swett:

Founder and editor of the Success Magazine, and vice-president of The Success Company; born in Thornton, N. H. He was graduated from Boston University, A.B.; School of Oratory, B.O.; Boston University Law School, LL.B.; Harvard Medical School, M.D. He is author of: Pushing to the Front, 1894 (which has gone through 100 editions, is published in Great Britain, Germany, and Japan, and is used as a text book in both English and Japanese in the Government Schools of the latter country); Rising in the World, or Architects of Fate, 1895; published also in England; How to Succeed, 1896; Success, 1897; The Secret of Achievement, 1898; Character the Grandest Thing in the World, 1899; Cheerfulness as a Life Power, 1899; The Hour of Opportunity, 1900; Good Manners and Success, 1900; Winning Out, 1900 (published also in England and Japan); Elements of Business Success, 1900; Talks with Great Workers, 1901; How They Succeeded, 1901; Economy, 1901; Stepping Stones, 1902; Stories from Life, 1905; The Making of a Man, 1905; Choosing a Career, 1905; Every Man a King, 1906 (also published in England and Germany); Success Nuggets, 1906; The Power of Personality, 1906; The Optimistic Life, 1907; He Can Who Thinks He Can, 1908; Why Grow Old, 1909; and Peace, Power and Plenty, 1909 (published also in England and Germany). He married, in 1905, Clare L. Evans, and has a son and a daughter. Address: Success Magazine Building, 29 East 22d Street, New York City.

MARKHAM, Edwin:

Poet and lecturer; born in Oregon City, Ore., April 23, 1852; son of Samuel and Elizabeth (Winchell) Markham. He passed his early years on a ranch in Central California, where the circumstances of his life were such as to create a strong poetic bent. In 1871 he entered the State Normal School at San Jose, and afterward took a classical course at Christian College, Santa Rosa, Calif. He read law but has never practised at the bar, having been superintendent and principal of schools at various places, and for a number of years was head master of the Tompkins Observation School at Oakland, connected with the University of California. For years he was a writer of verse, but flashed into international fame on the publication of his splendid poem "The Man with the Hoe," which was inspired by Millet's painting of that name. His poems have been collected in two volumes; The Man with the Hoe, and Other Poems; and Lincoln, and Other Poems; and he has a third volume of poems in course of publication; also his first volume of prose, to be called "The Poetry of Jesus." Mr. Markham is also editing (for early publication) several volumes to be called "Remarkable Pages from Thomas Lake Harris," the man whom William T. Stead calls "the greatest seer since Swedenborg." Since his work has attracted international attention he has been able to devote more time to literary endeavor, and is the author of numerous articles and poems, and he has been engaged for years on a lyric epic, embodying his thought upon man and his destiny. He has also delivered numerous addresses on literary, educational and sociological questions. He married in San Francisco, in 1898, Anna Catherine Murphy, and has one son, Virgil. Address: Westerleigh Park, West New Brighton, N. Y.

MARKLEY, Alfred C.:

Brigadier-general, U. S. Army, retired; born at Doylestown, Pa., April 18, 1843; son of John Snyor and Eliza (Collins) Markley. He was educated in private and public schools in Philadelphia, and afterward had a business education with Brown, Ing and Brothers, Philadelphia, until the Civil War; entered upon his military career as private in the 25th Pennsylvania Infantry (State militia), in which he served from Sept. 1 to 15, 1862; afterward was corporal in the 52d Pennsylvania Infantry (State Militia), July 9 to Sept. 1, 1863, both in the service of the United States. He was sergeant of Company K, 197th Pennsylvania Infantry, July 11 to Sept. 5, 1864; second lieutenant 127th U. S. Colored Infantry, Sept. 9, 1864; first lieutenant, March 5, 1865; honorably mustered out, Oct. 20, 1865; second lieutenant 41st Infantry, July 28, 1866; adjutant, Dec. 25, 1866, to June 14, 1867; first lieutenant, March 31, 1868; transferred to 24th Infantry, Nov. 11, 1869; captain March 20, 1879; major Eleventh Infantry, April 26, 1898; transferred to 24th Infantry, Aug. 6, 1898; lieutenant colonel, 22d Infantry, June 9, 1900; transferred to 24th Infantry, Aug. 7, 1900; colonel 13th Infantry, Oct. 5, 1901; brigadier-general, March 2, 1907, and retired April 18, 1907. General Markley served with much distinction in the Spanish-American War, conspicuously in his command of the yellow fever hospitals at Siboney, Cuba, July 15-Aug. 26, 1898, which was one of the notable incidents in the history of the United States Army. General Markley is a companion of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion. He married in Philadelphia, April 23, 1868, Rebecca C. Morgan, and they had one son, Captain Edward Browning Markley, U. S. Volunteers, who died in the hospital at Santiago, Cuba, in 1899. Address: Radnor, Delaware County, Pa.

MARLAND, Ernest Whitworth:

President of the Pittsburgh Securities and Guarantee Company; born in Pittsburgh, May 8, 1874. He was graduated from Rugby College and the University of Michigan; read law and was admitted to the bar in Allegheny County in June, 1895. At the age of twenty-one years he was elected a director, and in 1902 made general counsel of the Pittsburgh Securities and Guarantee Company; in 1903 he was elected president of that institution; and he is an organizer and financier of corporations. Mr. Marland married in November, 1903, Mary Virginia Collins, of Philadelphia. Address: The Buckingham, Craft Avenue, Pittsburgh.

MARLING, Alfred E.:

Real estate; born in Toronto, Canada, 1858; son of Rev. Francis H. and Marina C. (Macdonald) Marling. He is president of the corporation of Horace S. Ely & Company; director of Fulton Trust Company; trustee of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, of New York; Hanover (fire) Insurance Company; New York Plate Glass Insurance Company; City of New York Insurance Company; Madison Avenue Company, and trustee of the United States Savings Bank. In politics he is a Republican. He is vice-president and director of the New York Juvenile Asylum; vice-chairman of the International Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association, and a member of the Union League, Metropolitan, Down Town, City, Lawyers', Army and Navy, Republican, and New York Yacht Clubs and Railroad, and City Lunch Clubs. Mr. Marling married in New York City, Jan. 10, 1884, Harriet W. Philips. Residence: 35 West 47th Street. Office: 21 Liberty Street, New York City.

MARLOWE, Julia (Sarah Frances Frost):

Actress; born in Caldbeck, Cumberland, England, Aug. 17, 1870; came to the United States at the age of five, and lived in Kansas and Ohio. She was educated in public schools of Cincinnati. She made her first appearance on the stage in the chorus of a juvenile Pinafore company, was prepared for the stage by Miss Ada Dow, and at the age of sixteen appeared in a Shakespearean part. Her first appearance as a star was in New London, Conn., April 27, 1887, when she adopted the name of Julia Marlowe; she appeared as "Parthenia" in Ingomar, and all the standard dramas in 1891; later starring with E. H. Sothern. Address: Lyric Theatre, New York City.

MARSH, Horace Wilmer:

Educator; born in Susquehanna County, Pa., Aug. 24, 1863; son of Jerod and Hannah Ann (Southworth) Marsh. He was educated at Keystone Academy, Factoryville, Pa., being valedictorian upon graduation in 1883; Lafayette College, A.B., with highest honors, 1889, A.M., 1893. He was a graduate student in education and philosophy at Columbia University, 1898-1904. He became principal of Talladega College, afterward professor of Latin and Anglo-Saxon in the College of Emporia; then became connected with the Pratt Institute of Brooklyn, as head of the Department of Mathematics, which position he has held since 1896. Professor Marsh is the author of a new method of teaching mathematics as embodied in the following books, the essential features being, first, the constructive and development text, and, second, the work-book kept by the student: Essential Elements of Shop Mathematics; Essential Elements of Algebra; Essential Elements of Geometry; Essential Elements of Trigonometry; Essential Elements of Analytics; and Essential Elements of Calculus. He is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society, National Geographic Society, the Association of Mathematics Teachers of Middle States and Maryland, the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences, the American Mathematical Society, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, American Academy of Political and Social Science, the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education, and the National Society for Promotion of Industrial Education. Professor Marsh married at Susquehanna, Pa., Jan. 4, 1888, Annie Griswold Fordyce. Residence: 233 A, Willoughby Avenue. Office: Pratt Institute, Brooklyn, N. Y.

MARSHALL, George W.:

Physician; born in Georgetown, Del., Aug. 31, 1854; son of William Marshall, M.D., and Hester Angelina (McColley) Marshall. He was graduated from Delaware College as A.B. and A.M., and from Jefferson Medical College as M.D. He was secretary and later president of the Delaware State Medical Society; is a member of the American Medical Association, and for two years represented Delaware in the House of Delegates of that Association, at the Atlantic City and New Orleans meetings; was elected, 1901, and 1905, supervisor of insurance and banking in Delaware. He has been a trustee of Delaware College, Newark, Del., for twenty-five years, and trustee of the State College for Colored Students, near Dover, for sixteen years. He was formerly colonel of the National Guard of Delaware for six years. He is president of the Republican League of Clubs of Delaware; was a delegate to the National Republican Convention at Minneapolis in 1892, and alternate to the National Republican Conventions at St. Louis, 1896, and Chicago in 1904; and was for seventeen years chairman of the Kent County Republican Committee; and he was lately commissioned a member of the Division of Records, looking to the preservation of all old records in the State previous to the year 1800. He was grand master of Masons of the State of Delaware, 1888-1889. He married, in Newark, Del., 1878, Mary Louise Donnell, and they have four sons. Address: Milford, Del.

MARSHALL, John Augustine:

Jurist; born in Fauquier County, Va., Sept. 5, 1854; son of John Marshall and Rebecca B. (Smith) Marshall. He was educated in the Shenandoah Academy and the University of Virginia; went to Utah and practised law in Salt Lake City from 1878. He was probate judge of Salt Lake County, 1888-1889; served in the Territorial Legislative Assembly in 1892, and was appointed, Feb. 4, 1896, by President Cleveland, U. S. district judge for the District of Utah, in which office he is now serving. Judge Marshall married, in 1888, Jessie Kirkpatrick. Address: Salt Lake City, Utah.

MARSHALL, Rouget D.:

Justice of the Wisconsin Supreme Court; born at Nashua, N. H., Dec. 27, 1847. He received his education at the Delton Academy, Baraboo Collegiate Institute and Lawrence University; and received the degree of LL.D. from the University of Wisconsin in 1905. The Marshalls came to this country from England in 1650 and settled in Boston. Mr. Marshall has resided in Wisconsin since 1854. He commenced the study of law at the age of seventeen, which he continued with his school work till he was twenty-four, and after that time was actively engaged in the profession. He was county judge of Chippewa County, 1876-1883; member of the Board of Regents of the University of Wisconsin, 1884-1889; elected circuit judge of the Eleventh Circuit in April, 1888; and reelected in April, 1894. He was appointed justice of the Supreme Court in August, 1895, and was elected to the Supreme Bench in April, 1896, for the unexpired term of Chief Justice Orton, deceased, and was reelected April 6, 1897, and April 2, 1907. He married in 1869, Mary E. Jenkins, of Baraboo, Wis. Residence: Chippewa Falls, Wis. Office: Madison, Wis.

MARSHALL, Thomas R.:

Governor of Indiana: elected on the Democratic ticket in November, 1908, for the four-year term expiring in January, 1913. Address: Indianapolis, Ind.

MARSTON, Edwin S.:

Capitalist; president and director of the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, Detroit, Hillsdale and Southwestern Railroad Company, Fort Wayne and Jackson Railroad Company; vice-president and director of the Franklin Trust Company; trustee of the Franklin Safe Deposit Company and of the Mutual Life Insurance Company; director of the Citizens' Mutual Gas Company, National City Bank of New York, New Amsterdam Gas Company, New York Mutual Gas Light Company, Queen Insurance Company of America, Standard Gas Light Company of the City of New York, the Coney Island and Brooklyn Railroad Company, East River Gas Company, Broadway and Second Avenue Railroad Company, and Lackawanna Steel Company. He is a member of the Metropolitan, Garden City Golf, Baltusrol Golf and Manhattan Clubs. Residence: South Orange, N. J. Address: 22 William Street, New York City.

MARTIN, Clarence Augustine:

Professor of architecture; born in Medina County, Ohio, Sept. 29, 1862; son of Joseph F. and Sarah E. (Fretz) Martin. He was graduated from Cornell University, 1888. He is professor of architecture, and director of the College of Architecture, Cornell University. Professor Martin is a fellow of the American Institute of Architects, member of the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity, and member of the Town and Gown Club of Ithaca. He married in Ithaca, June 30, 1896, Gertrude Shorb, Ph.D., and has two children. Residence: Edgecliff, Ithaca. Office: Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y.

MARTIN, Eben Wever:

Lawyer and ex-congressman; born in Maquoketa, Jackson County, Iowa, April 12, 1855; son of Captain James W. and Louise (Hyde) Martin. He was graduated from Cornell College, B.A., 1879, A.M., 1882; attended the law school of the University of Michigan, and was there president of his class; was admitted to the bar in the spring of 1880, after which, in the summer of the same year, he moved to Deadwood, S. D., and has since practised law continuously in the various States and Federal courts of that region. He was a member of the Territorial Legislature of Dakota, 1884-1885; was for several years president of the Board of Education of the city of Deadwood; is a member of the Sons of the American Revolution, South Dakota Chapter, and of the Iowa Commandery of the Loyal Legion, the latter by inheritance from his father, Captain James W. Martin, of Company I, Twenty-fourth Iowa Volunteers, now deceased. He was elected from the State of South Dakota-at-large, as a Republican, to the Fifty-seventh and Fifty-eighth Congresses, and reelected to the Fifty-ninth Congress. He was succeeded in the Sixtieth Congress by Hon. William H. Parker, but after Mr. Parker's death in June, 1908, Mr. Martin was elected to the Sixtieth Congress to fill the vacancy thus made, and was reelected to the Sixty-first Congress. He married at Cedar Falls, Iowa, June 13, 1883, Jessie A., daughter of George N. Miner, and they have three sons and two daughters. Address: Deadwood, S. Dak.

MARTIN, Frederic Roy:

Editor; born in North Stratford, N. H., Nov. 17, 1871; son of John Douglass and Caroline (Thompson) Martin. He was graduated from Harvard, A.B., 1893, and received the honorary degree of A.M. from Brown College in 1902. He began newspaper work on the editorial staff of the Boston Journal with which he served 1893-1898, and was its special correspondent in Porto Rico, during the Spanish-American War. He was also Boston correspondent of the New York Tribune from 1896 to 1897. Since 1898 he has been with the Providence Journal as associate editor until 1904, and since then its editor. Mr. Martin is a member of the Harvard Club of New York City, Colonial Club of Cambridge, Mass., St. Botolph and Papyrus Clubs of Boston, and the Hope, University, and Agawam Hunt Club of Providence. Residence: 69 College Street. Office: The Journal, Providence, R. I.

MARTIN, James:

Managing editor, New York Tribune; born in Lochee, Dundee, Scotland, Dec. 16, 1862; son of Peter and Margaret Martin. He was educated in the common schools in Scotland, settled in the United States in 1884. He has been continuously engaged in the newspaper profession; for many years reported legislative proceedings of the New Jersey State Legislature in Trenton, N. J., helped to expose the corruption and misgovernment which drove the Democratic party from power, and worked hard for the election of Governors Griggs, Voorhees, Murphy and Stokes; always fought dishonest politicians of all parties; and has been connected with The Tribune since 1895. He is the author of: Essays on Municipal Government—arguing for non-partisanship in local affairs. He married in 1889, Helen T. B. Welsh. Address: 41 Westcott Street, East Orange, N. J.

MARTIN, James Loren:

U. S. Judge; born at Landgrove, Vt., Sept. 13, 1846; son of James and Lucy (Gray) Martin. He was educated in the Schools of Londonderry, Vt., and Marlow, N. H., and was graduated from the Albany Law School in 1869. He was admitted to the bar in 1869, and practised law in Londonderry, Vt., until 1883, when he located at Brattleboro. He was a member of the General Assembly of Vermont in 1874, 1876, 1878, 1880 and 1882, from Londonderry, and in 1892 from Brattleboro, and was speaker of the House of Representatives of Vermont in 1878, 1880 and 1882; was State's attorney for Windham County, from 1874 to 1876, and State commissioner of taxes, 1890-1892. He was appointed by President McKinley in 1898, and reappointed by President Roosevelt in 1902, U. S. attorney for the District of Vermont, and held that position until 1906, when he was appointed to his present office as judge of the U. S. District Court for the District of Vermont. Address: Brattleboro, Vt.

MARTIN, John Calvin:

Coal operator and philanthropist; born in Millersville, Pa., Nov. 13, 1845; son of Barton B. and Catherine C. (Rohrer) Martin. He was educated in the public schools of Lancaster, Pa., in private schools and by private tutors until in 1862, when 17 years old, he entered the Union Army, as first lieutenant of Company D, 175th Pennsylvania Volunteers, serving until honorably discharged in 1864, at Fairfax Court House, Va., on resignation, for disability. Since 1869 he has been engaged in the manufacture of lumber and the mining of coal in Cambria County, Pennsylvania, where he has accumulated a very large estate, upon which are ten extensive collieries, producing annually over one million tons of semibituminous coal of the highest grade. He is president of the Martin Coal Company, which includes all his coal mining interests in Cambria County, president of the Martin Realty Company, a corporation for holding his real estate interests in Cambria County, and treasurer of the Penn Realty Company, incorporated under New York Laws for holding real estate in the State of New York. He is also president of the Martindale Water Company, of Cambria County, Penn., which supplies pure water to all the mines on his property, and also to Portage, a thriving and enterprising town built up through the operation of his works. He owns all the stock in these corporations except the amount in other hands sufficient to make up the corporation. He is also interested in banks and other companies. For several years he has resided in New York, conducting from there his extensive business interests. Mr. Martin has always been active along philanthropic and educational lines, and in 1889 founded the John C. Martin Educational Fund, a comprehensive and practical philanthropy designed to promote intellectual, ethical and Christian education in the United States and dependencies, a leading feature being made of the erection, in the curricula of collegiate institutions, of departments devoted to Bible teaching as a regular course of instruction. Such departments have been established on the John C. Martin Foundation in several Western and Southern Colleges, and in addition a large and fruitful work has been established by the Fund in the negro colleges and institutions of the South, and conferences, institutes, etc., are being held, based on the Bible, for aiding in the ethical and spiritual elevation of the negro, and especially of the teachers and preachers of the race. At Portage, Pa., where many of his interests center, Mr. Martin, in 1908, made definite plans for important public benefactions, heading the subscription for a hospital there, giving it a site, and in addition, duplicating the subscriptions of others to the fund, and employing architects, landscape engineers and other experts to plan the hospital and grounds in accordance with the best modern ideas. The institution is to be known as The Emilie D. Martin Hospital and Training School for Nurses. He also includes in his plans for the benefit of Portage, the building of a temperance hotel on the main street of the town, and, chief of all, a large technical school where practical trades may be taught to young men, and domestic science to girls, this institution being the outgrowth of M. Martin's conviction that the most important educational need of young men and women is the opportunity for training for useful vocations. These plans are now all being pushed to practical realization. Mr. Martin, who is a member of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, has always been an active Christian worker along undenominational lines, and is a strong temperance man. He is a Republican in politics, but independent, and is a seeker after civic righteousness for the whole people. He is a member of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, and the Pennsylvania Society of New York; and is a trustee of the Society for the Suppression of Vice, of New York City. He married, in May, 1867, Emilie, daughter of the late Adrastus Doolittle, M.D. of New York City. Address: 1 Broadway, New York City.

MARTIN, Newell:

Lawyer; born in China in 1854; son of Rev. W. A. P. Martin, D.D., and Jane (Vansant) Martin. He was graduated from Yale as B.A., 1875 and from Columbia Law School, LL.B., 1877. Mr. Martin is a member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, and the Century, University, City Midway and City Clubs of New York City. He married in New York City, in 1886, Laura Grinnell, and they have three children. Residence: Audubon Park. Office: 25 Broad Street, New York City.

MARTIN, Thomas Commerford:

Editor of Electrical World since 1883, author, lecturer; born in London, England, July 22, 1856; son of Thomas and Catharine (Commerford) Martin. He received his general education in England and later studied divinity. He was associated with Edison in his laboratory, 1877-1879, and has been special expert of the U. S. Census Office since 1900. He is author of: The Electric Motor and Its Applications; Inventions, Researches and Writings of Nikola Tesla. He is a member and past president of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and the New York Electrical Society; director of the Society for the Suppression of Unnecessary Noises; member of the Committee of the Robert Fulton Monument Association; life member of the Iron and Steel Institute; honorary member of the National Electric Light Association; member of English Institution of Electrical Engineers, New York Academy of Sciences, Franklin Institute of Philadelphia, Municipal Art Society, National Civic Federation; member and on the mechanical advisory board of the American Museum of Safety Devices; and member of Executive Committee of the American Institute of Social Service. He is a member of the Automobile Club of America and the Engineers' Club, and is past president of the latter. Mr. Martin has been made an Officier de l'Instruction Publique by the French government. He married in Kingston, Jamaica, 1880, Elizabeth Gould. Residence: 40 Morningside Avenue. Address: 239 West 39th Street, New York City.

MARTIN, Thomas Staples:

U. S. senator; born in Scottsville, Va., July 29, 1847. He was educated in the Virginia Military Institute and the University of Virginia, and while a cadet at the Military Institute was for a large part of the time in the Military Service of the Confederate States. After leaving the University he studied law in offices, and he was admitted to the bar in 1869, and engaged in practice at Charlottesville, Va. He was elected as a Democrat Dec. 19, 1893, to the office of U. S. senator from the State of Virginia for the term beginning March 4, 1895, was reelected in 1899 and 1905, and his present term will expire March 4, 1913. Senator Martin is a member of the Board of Visitors of the Miller Manual Labor School of Albemarle County, Va., and was formerly on the Board of Visitors of the University of Virginia. Address: Charlottesville, Va.

MARTIN, William:

Consul general; born in Exeter, England, 1848. He came to America when a child and received his education at the East Greenwich Seminary, Greenwich, R. I. and the Chamberlain Institute, in Cattaraugus County, N. Y. Mr. Martin was a minister of the gospel for ten years. He invented a method of heating cars by steam from the locomotive, in 1882, and organized and was president of the Martin Anti-fire Car Heating Co., 1883-1897. He was mayor of Dunkirk, N. Y., 1891, and was appointed American consul at Chinkiang in 1897, American consul at Nanking, 1902, and consul-general at Hankow, China, Feb. 3, 1905 which position he now holds. He is a Mason and a member of the Hankow Club, and the Recreation Club of Hankow. Mr. Martin married at Dunkirk, N. Y. in June 1872, Frances Ellen Cary and they have four children. Address: American Consulate General, Hankow, China.

MARVIN, Frederic Rowland:

Clergyman, author; born in Troy, N. Y., Sept. 23, 1847; son of Rev. Uriah and Margaret Jane (Stevens) Marvin. He was educated in Union College, Schenectady, N. Y.; Lafayette College, Easton, Pa., the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Columbia University, M.D. 1870; and he was graduated from the Theological Seminary of the Reformed Church at New Brunswick, N. J. He was professor in the New York Free Medical College for Women, 1872-1875; pastor of the First Congregational Church of Middletown, N. Y., 1879-1883; pastor of the First Congregational Church of Portland, Ore., 1883-1886; First Congregational Church of Great Barrington, Mass., 1887-1895. Dr. Marvin is author of: Literature of the Insane; Death in the Light of Science; Christ Among the Cattle; Last Words of Distinguished Men and Women; Flowers of Song from Many Lands; The Companionship of Books; Consecrated Womanhood; Poems and Translations, 1907. He traveled in Europe and lived some time in Italy and in Germany. He is vice-president of General Alumni Association of Union College; member of the National Geographic Society, Medico-Legal Society, Hudson River Association of Congregational Ministers and Churches; of the Fort Orange Club of Albany, and of the Authors Club of New York City. Dr. Marvin married in New York City, Persis Ann, daughter of Samuel Rowell, of Lancaster, N. H. Address: 537 Western Avenue, Albany, N. Y.

MARVIN, William E.:

Lawyer; born in Portsmouth, N. H., Jan. 1, 1872; son of William and Eliza S. (Anderson) Marvin. He was educated in the public schools at Portsmouth, and Harvard University, LL.B., 1893. He was admitted to the New Hampshire bar in 1894; entered partnership with Hon. John S. H. Frink, Sept., 1894, and continued such till the death of Mr. Frink in Sept., 1905; since then he has continued in practice under the firm name of Frink, Marvin and Batchelder. He is trustee of the Portsmouth Savings Bank; director of the National Mechanics' and Traders' Bank and of the Portsmouth Harbor, Land and Hotel Company. He was mayor of Portsmouth, 1905-1906; and was urged but declined to run as Democratic and anti-railroad candidate for governor of New Hampshire in the campaign in 1906. He is a member of the New Hampshire Bar Association, Southern New Hampshire Bar Association, Rockingham County Bar Association, Knights of Pythias and of Portsmouth Athenaeum. He is a member of the Portsmouth Country, Portsmouth Athletic, Warwick and Piscataqua Yacht Clubs. Mr. Marvin married in Wayland, Mass., June 24, 1896, Susan Roby Bent, and they have five children. Residence: 5 Pleasant Street. Address: 14 Middle Street, Portsmouth, N. H.

MASON, Amos Lawrence:

Physician; born at Salem, Mass., in 1842; son of Charles Mason, D.D., and Susan (Lawrence) Mason. After being graduated from Harvard as A.B. in 1863, and M.D. in 1872, he was admitted to practise in Boston, and is now consulting physician to the Boston City Hospital. Dr. Mason was formerly associate professor of clinical medicine at Harvard Medical School. He married in Boston, Sept. 30, 1874, Louisa Blake Steedman, who died Aug. 3, 1908. They have one daughter: Marion Steedman Wilson, wife of Richard T. Wilson, Jr., of New York City. Address: 265 Clarendon Street, Boston.

MASON, Frank H.:

Consul-general; born at Niles, Ohio, April 24, 1840; son of Dean E. and Bertha (Holcomb) Mason. He was educated in the public schools of Niles, Ohio, and took a partial course at Hiram College. He enlisted as a private in the Forty-second Regiment of Ohio Volunteer Infantry in July, 1861, and July 3, 1863, at Vicksburg, was promoted captain and aide-de-camp, serving until Nov. 25, 1865, when he was mustered out as captain in the Twelfth Cavalry. After the war he engaged in newspaper work, first as reporter, later editorial writer and finally as managing editor of the Cleveland Leader, until 1880, when he began his career in the consular service on his appointment as United States Consul at Basle, Switzerland. He served there for four years, was then consul at Marseilles, 1884-1889; consul general at Frankfort-on-the-Main, 1889-1899; at Berlin, 1899-1905, and since March 6, 1905, has been consul-general of the United States at Paris. Address: American Consulate-General, Paris, France.

MASON, Newton Eliphalet:

Chief of Bureau of Ordnance, U. S. Navy, with rank of rear-admiral; born in Monroeton, Bradford County, Pa., Oct. 14, 1850; son of Gordon Fowler and Mary Ann Mason. He attended the Susquehanna Collegiate Institute at Towanda, Pa., until appointed, July 24, 1865 to the U. S. Naval Academy from which he was graduated in the class of 1869; then was on a special cruise in the Sabine, 1869-1870. He was promoted ensign, 1870; torpedo instruction, 1871; served on Wabash, European Squadron, 1871-1872; promoted to master, 1872; Manhattan (ironclad), North Atlantic Station, 1873; Kansas, same station, 1874-1875; commissioned lieutenant, 1874; Catskill (ironclad), North Atlantic Station, 1875-1876; Ossipee, same station, 1876-1877; receiving-ship St. Louis, 1878-1880; U. S. S. Constellation on Irish Relief Service; Monocacy, Asiatic Station, 1883-1884; ordnance duty, Navy Yard, Washington, 1884-1885; Bureau of Ordnance 1885-1889; Petrel, North Atlantic Station, 1889-1891; Miantonomah, North Atlantic Station, 1891-1892; Bureau of Ordnance, 1892, June, 1903; inspector of ordnance, in charge of Naval Ordnance Proving Grounds, 1893-1896. He was Commissioned lieutenant-commander, Nov. 1896; served on the Brooklyn, 1896-1899; inspector of ordnance, League Island Navy Yard, Feb.-Oct., 1899; inspector of ordnance in charge of Naval Torpedo Station, 1899-1902; promoted commander, Nov. 1899; commanded Cincinnati on home and Asiatic Stations, 1902-1904; chief of Bureau of Ordnance, Aug. 1, 1904, promoted captain, Sept. 30, 1904. During Rear-Admiral Mason's administration, great changes have occurred and are occurring in ordnance matters; and he has kept his service fully abreast of the times in every way. His duty has been not only of great responsibility, but of the most exacting nature. One of the many things that have commended him to the affection of the service, is his absolute impartiality, and his success in selecting the best men as his subordinates, afloat and ashore. Address: Navy Department, Washington, D. C.

MASSON, Thomas Lansing:

Managing editor of Life since 1894; born at Essex, Conn., July 21, 1866; son of Captain Thomas L. (famous ship captain) and Malvina M. Masson. He was educated in the public schools of Hartford, Conn. He was in business in New York City and St. Louis up to 1885; began literary career then as news editor of the American Press Association, and contributor to New York Sun; afterwards, until 1894, assistant managing editor and humorous editor of the American Press Association. He is editor of: The Masterpieces of American Humor, 1903; and author of: The Yankee Navy, 1899 (Life Publishing Company); In Merry Measure, 1905; A corner in Women, 1905; The Von Blumers, 1906 (Moffat, Yard and Company); The Humor of Love, 1906 (Moffat, Yard and Company); and A Bachelor's Baby, 1907. He married at Hartford, Conn., Oct. 24, 1893, Fanny Zulette Goodrich. Residence: 162 Ridgewood Avenue, Glen Ridge, N. J. Office: 17 West 31st Street, New York City.

MATHER, Robert:

Lawyer, railway official; born in Salt Lake City, Utah, July 1, 1859; son of James and Margaret (Holt) Mather. He was graduated from Knox College, Galesburg, Ill., A.B., 1882, and received the degrees of A.M. in 1885, and LL.D. in 1907. He was admitted to Illinois bar, at Chicago, in 1886; was appointed local attorney of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway Company in 1889; assistant general attorney in 1894, general attorney, 1894-1902 and general counsel since 1902. He is now president of The Rock Island Company; first vice-president and general counsel of the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad Company, Chicago & Eastern Illinois Railroad Company, Evansville & Terre Haute Railroad Company; director of the National Bank of the Republic, Chicago, Mercantile Trust Company, New York, and of the Havana Electric Railway Company. Mr. Mather is a Republican and an Episcopalian. He is a member of the Chicago Bar Association, Illinois Bar Association, and American Bar Association; and a trustee Knox College, Galesburg, Ill. He is a member of the Chicago Union League, and Law Clubs of Chicago and of the Metropolitan, University, and Lawyers' Clubs of New York City. He married in Detroit, Mich., April 23, 1892, Alice Caroline, daughter of Horatio Jell. Address: 115 Broadway, New York City.

MATHESON, William John:

Merchant and manufacturing chemist, born at Elkhorn, Walworth County, Wis.; son of Finlay and Anna Meigs (Lightball) Matheson. He attended St. Andrew's University, Scotland. He began business in 1876 as a chemist in the application of coal tar dyes, forming a connection with a large German firm of manufacturers of coal tar dyes, of which he is now the American president partner. He is president and director of William J. Matheson and Company, Limited, and of Five-forty Park Avenue; vice-president and director of the Cassella Color Company, Corn Products Company, Corn Products Refining Company, and New York Glucose Company; director of the Bank of New York, the Billings-Clapp Company, the Continental Insurance Company, the Fidelity and Casualty Company, and the Read Phosphate Company; trustee of the Title Guarantee and Trust Company. He is president of the Biological Laboratory at Cold Spring Harbor, L. I., and the American Mosquito Extinction Society; trustee of the Hoagland Laboratory of Long Island College; member of the Society of Chemical Industry, American Chemical Industry, American Chemical Society, and is also a member of the Hamilton, Rembrandt Clubs, Twentieth Century Club of Brooklyn; and the Down Town, Union League, Metropolitan, New York Yacht, Scawanhaka Yacht, and Chemist Clubs, and the Century Association of New York. He married in 1881, Harriet Torrey, and they have three children. Residence: Fort Hill, Lloyd Neck, Huntington, N. Y. Office: 184 Front Street, New York City.

MATHEWS, Charles Thompson:

Author and architect; born in Paris, France, March 31, 1863; son of Charles Drellincourt and Rebecca (Thompson) Mathews, and grandson of William Edmund and Anna (Loree) Mathews. He is a direct descendant, on maternal side, of Anthony Thompson, who married Dorothy Honeywood of Royton Manor, came to America in 1637, and founded New Haven with Mr. Davenport and Governor Eaton in 1638, one of his paternal ancestors was Major Dirke Wesselse Ten Broeck, who came to Beverwyck (now Albany) in 1662, was the first recorder of the city in 1686, and mayor, 1696-1698. Mr. Mathews received his preparatory education at St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H., and in Paris and Nice, France. He then entered Yale, from which he graduated A.B., 1886 and A.M., 1892, and from the Columbia School of Mines, Ph.B., 1889. After studying architecture in Paris, he exhibited drawings at the World's Columbia Exhibition, Chicago, 1893, and was made fellow of the American Institute of Architects. Mr. Mathews, in 1891, won the competition for remodelling the Church of the Holy Trinity, New York City; introduced under the requirements of the New York Building Department, an innovation in fireproof construction; and in 1901 won the competition for remodelling the east end of St. Patrick's Cathedral, New York City, the competitors being architects from France, England, Canada, and America. Mr. Mathews wrote: The Renaissance under the Valois, 1893; and The Story of Architecture, 1896. The Renaissance under the Valois was very favorably reviewed by Brunetière in the Revue des deux Mondes, and the Minister of Public Instruction wrote an official Commendatory letter concerning it to the American ambassador. Mr. Mathews is a member of the Tuxedo, Racquet, Metropolitan and University Clubs of New York City. Address: 30 West 57th Street, New York City.

MATHEWS, Frances Aymar:

Author; born in New York City, daughter of Daniel and Sara Eayres (Webb) Mathews. She was educated at home. She is a writer of novels, plays, some translated into Norwegian, Spanish, Italian, Portuguese, Russian and French. Miss Mathews is author of: My Lady Peggy Goes to Town, Little Tragedy at Tientsin, The Undeified, Billy Duane, The Marquise's Millions, The Staircase of Surprise, and of the plays: If David Knew, Pretty Peggy, Joan d'Arc, A Dakota Divorcee, Up Yonder, The Flame Daneer, and also many short stories and poems. Address: Care of Shubert Brothers, New York City, New York.

MATHEWS, John Alexander:

Metallurgist; born in Washington, Pa., May 20, 1872; son of William Johnston and Frances Sage (Pelletreau) Mathews. He was educated in the Washington and Jefferson College, B.S., 1893, M.S., and 1896, and Sc.D., causa honoris, in 1902; received from Columbia University the M.A. degree in 1895, and Ph.D. in 1898. He was three years instructor in chemistry at Columbia University; some time university fellow in chemistry; and Barnard fellow of Columbia University; received the Andrew Carnegie Research Scholarship of the Iron and Steel Institute of Great Britain; and was the first recipient of Andrew Carnegie Gold Medal for Research by the Iron and Steel Institute. He was honorary assistant to the late Professor Sir W. C. Roberts-Austen, in the Royal School of Mines, London University. In 1902 Dr. Mathews left Columbia and became metallurgist of the Crucible Steel Company of America, and was for three years assistant manager of one of the constituent plants of the Crucible Steel Company of America. In 1908 he became operating manager and director of the Holcomb Steel Co. He was twice member of the United States Assay Commission, in 1900 and 1905. Mr. Mathews is author of many papers on chemical and metallurgical subjects and one of the special contributors on steel to the Encyclopedia Americana in 1907. He is a member of the American Chemical Society, American Society for Testing Materials, Society of Chemical Industry, Iron and Steel Institute of Great Britain; fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science; member of the Phi Delta Theta and Sigma Xi fraternities, The Citizens, University, and Syracuse Country Clubs of Syracuse and the Engineers Club of New York. He married at Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 29, 1903, Florence Hosmer King, and they have a daughter, and a son. Address: 1813 West Genesee Street, Syracuse, N. Y.

MATHEWSON, Albert McClellan:

Jurist; born in Woodstock, Conn., Oct. 19, 1860; son of William Williams and Harriet Augusta Mathewson. He is descended from John and Priscilla Alden and Governor William Bradford of the Mayflower, and from Governor Jonathan Trumbull, William Williams and Gen. Samuel McClellan of Revolutionary times. He received his education in Woodstock Academy, and was graduated from the Yale Law School in 1884, and received the Master of Laws degree in 1891. He engaged in the practice of law and is now judge of the City Court of New Haven. He was formerly a member of the New Haven Grays. In politics he is a Republican, and in religion a Congregationalist. In addition to his judicial duties, he is engaged in the active practice of his profession in New Haven. He is a member of the Connecticut Bar Association, Mayflower Descendants, Descendants of the Signers of the Declaration of Independence (First President), National Geographic Society, American Forestry Association of New Haven, Young Men's Republican, Union League, Country and Graduates' Clubs. Mr. Mathewson married June 13, 1888, Mary E. Foster. Residence: 657 Orange Street. Office: 865 Chapel Street, New Haven, Conn.

MATHEWSON, Charles Frederick:

Lawyer; born in Barton, Vt. May 3, 1860; son of Azro B. and Amelia (Sias) Dartmouth College, A.B. in 1882 (as valedictorian for first scholarship, with prize awards in Greek, Latin, mathematics and oratory, and Phi Beta Kappa honors); was graduated from Columbia University Law School as LL.B. in 1885, and received the Honorary A.M. from Dartmouth, 1907. He was admitted to the bar of New York in 1885, and has been in continuous practice there ever since, largely in corporation law; and he is now member of the firm of Harmon & Mathewson. He is a director of the Columbia Trust Company and Caledonian-American Insurance Company; and is a member of the New York Institute, Association of the Bar of the City of New York, New York State Bar Association and American Bar Association. Mr. Mathewson has been prominently identified with college and amateur interests and sports before and since graduation. He was president of the Dartmouth College Association of New York, 1895-1897; and has been alumni trustee of Dartmouth College from 1894, having been twice reelected; president of the Metropolitan Association, Amateur Athletic Union; and a member of the New England Society of New York and the Vermont; Society of the City of New York, and Phi Beta Kappa Society of New York. He is a member of the Dartmouth Club and was its first president, and also a member of the University Club, Down Town Association, and the Delta Kappa Epsilon, Baltusrol Golf, St. Andrew's Golf and Apawamis Clubs of New York, and the University Club of Boston. Mr. Mathewson married, Dec. 8, 1886, Jennie Campbell Anderson, of Portland, Maine, and they have one son, Samuel Anderson Matthewson, born in 1889. Address: 40 Wall Street, New York City.

MATSON, Roderick Nathaniel:

Jurist; born in Floridaville, N. Y., Nov. 1, 1871; son of William Townsend and Sara Jane (Brackett) Matson. He was prepared in the Hannibal (New York) High School, was graduated from Franklin College, New Athens, Ohio, A.B., 1894, with first honors; also received from the same college the degree of A.M. in 1897, and in the same year was graduated from Syracuse University Law School, LL.B. and president of the class. Mr. Matson practised in Syracuse, N. Y., from graduation until Feb. 1, 1901. In 1898 he formed a partnership with T. Blake Kennedy, who was a graduate from the same schools as Mr. Matson, and in Feb., 1901, they removed to Cheyenne, Wyo., on account of Mr. Kennedy's fear of pulmonary trouble if he should remain in Syracuse, and the partnership continued until March 1, 1906, when Mr. Matson was appointed judge of the First Judicial District of Wyoming, to fill a vacancy, and in 1906 he was elected to the same position. Judge Matson was president of the New Athens Republican Club at New Athens, Ohio, while in college; member of the House of Representatives of Wyoming, 1903-1904, and was chairman of the Judiciary Committee and member of the Committees on Rules and on Sanitary and Medical Affairs. He introduced and secured the passage of the Inheritance Tax Law and other important measures. He has been a speaker in all political campaigns since 1892. Judge Matson is a thirty-second degree Mason, and member of the Mystic Shrine; exalted ruler of the Cheyenne Lodge of Elks, member of Phi Delta Phi (legal fraternity), the Industrial Club of Cheyenne, Young Men's Literary Club, Elks Club, Masonic Club, C. B. C. Athletic Association and the Pioneer Hook and Ladder Company. Residence: 115 West Nineteenth Street. Office: Court House, Cheyenne, Wyo.

MATTHEW, William Diller:

Museum curator; born at St. John, New Brunswick, Feb. 19, 1871; son of George F. and Katherine M. (Diller) Matthew. He was educated in St. John public school, the University of New Brunswick, A.B. in 1889, and Columbia, Ph.B. in 1893; M.A., 1894, Ph.D., 1895. He was assistant in the American Museum of Natural History, 1895-1898; assistant curator, 1899-1901; associate curator since 1902. He has been engaged during the summers, upon various geological field work, and since 1894 upon collecting fossils in the Western Bad Lands; and during the remainder of the year upon the exhibition, study and description of the extinct vertebrates in the American Museum of Natural History. He is a fellow of the Geological Society of America, and the New York Academy of Sciences; member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, National Geographic Society, American Forestry Association, and of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity (Columbia chapter). He married in Brooklyn, N. Y., July 15, 1905, Kate Lee, and they have one daughter. Residence: Hastings-on-Hudson, N. Y. Office: American Museum of Natural History, New York City.

MATTHEWS, Albert:

Writer; born in Boston, June 26, 1860; son of Nathan and Albertine (Bunker) Matthews. He was educated in the private school of G. W. C. Noble in Boston, and Harvard, A.B., 1882. He is engaged in lexicographical etymological and historical studies and has written many pamphlets on such subjects. Mr. Mathews is editor of publications of the Colonial Society of Massachusetts. He is a Democrat in politics, and a member of the Massachusetts Historical Society, American Association for the advancement of Science, etc. Address: Hotel Oxford, Boston.

MATTHEWS, Brander:

Author, educator; born in New Orleans, La., Feb. 21, 1852. He was educated in the private schools of New York City, and Columbia College, from which he was graduated A.B., 1871, A.M., 1874, and from Columbia Law School, as LL.B., 1873. He received from the University of the South the degree of D.C.L. in 1899, from Yale University that of Litt.D. in 1901, and LL. D. from Columbia in 1904. He received the decoration of the Légion d'Honneur from the French Government in 1907. Mr. Matthews was admitted to the bar in 1873; and acted for several years as private secretary to his father, Edward Matthews, one of leading business men of New York City. He published his first book in 1879; was called to Columbia as lecturer in English, 1891; appointed professor of literature in 1892, and has been professor of dramatic literature in that university since 1899. In 1902 he lectured on the English Drama before the Royal Institute of Great Britain; and in 1905 he served as managing editor of the Columbia University Quarterly. Professor Matthews was one of the organizers of the Authors Club, New York City, 1882; The Kinsmen, New York City, 1882, London, 1883; American Copyright League, 1882; the Dunlap Society, 1885; The Players', 1889; the Columbia University Press, 1893; National Institute of Arts and Letters, 1899, and the Simplified Spelling Board of which he was the chairman in 1906. He is author of (plays): Margery's Lovers, produced in 1884; A Gold Mine (with George H. Jessop), produced in 1887; This Picture and That, produced in 1887, published in 1894; On Probation (with George H. Jessop), produced in 1889; The Decision of the Court, produced and published in 1893; Peter Stuyvesant, Governor of New Amsterdam, produced in 1899. He is also author of fiction: In Partnership (with H. C. Bunner), 1884; The Last Meeting, 1885; A Secret of the Sea and Other Stories, 1889; With My Friends—Tales Told in Partnership, 1891; In the Vestibule Limited, 1892; A Tale of Twenty-five Hours (with George H. Jessop), 1892; Tom Paulding, 1892; The Story of the Story and Other Stories, 1893; Vignettes of Manhattan, 1894; The Royal Marines. An Idyl of Narragansett Pier, 1894; His Father's Son, 1895; Tales of Fantasy and Fact, 1896; Outlines in Local Color, 1897; A Confident To-morrow, 1899; The action and the Word, 1900; also of many works in essays and criticisms, including: French Dramatists and of the Nineteenth Century, three editions, 1881, 1890, 1901; Parts of Speech—Essays on English, 1901; The Development of the Drama, 1903; Diversions of an Anthologist, 1904; Inquiries and Opinions, 1907; and numerous pamphlets and booklets, of which the most recent are The Spelling of Yesterday and the Spelling of To-morrow, 1906; American Character, 1907. He has edited twelve books, furnished prefaces and introductions to many publications and contributed chapters to important works on literary and educational topics. He is a member of the Authors, Century, Players Clubs of New York City, and the Athenaeum and Savile Clubs of London. Address: 681 West End Avenue, New York City.

MATTHEWS, Ferdinand Schuyler:

Artist and author; born in New Brighton, S. I., New York City, May 30, 1854; son of Ferdinand Schuyler and Frances (Coffin) Matthews. He studied drawing at the Cooper Institute of New York, and art in Florence and Rome, making a specialty of decorative design. He was connected with the art department of Tiffany & Company of New York, and with Lewis Pray & Company, lithographers, Boston. After a period of independent work he became connected with the staff of Gray Herbarium at Harvard College, as botanical artist. He is also a designer of special illuminative work and bookplates, and is celebrated for his renderings of birds in the Japanese style. He is also a well known writer on nature, flowers and birds, and is the author of: Fieldbook of Wild Flowers, and Fieldbook of Wild Birds and Their Music. Mr. Matthews is also a well known and popular lecturer on birds, flowers and art subjects. He is a member of the New England Botanical Society. He married at Morristown, N. J., Nov. 17, 1886, Caroline Augusta Maynard, and has a son and a daughter. Address: 17 Frost Street, Cambridge, Mass.

MATTHEWS, George Edward:

Editor of Buffalo Express since 1889; born March 17, 1855; son of J. N. Matthews. He was graduated from Yale as A. B., 1877. M. Matthews is president of

The Matthews-Northrup Works, printers and publishers. Residence: Falconwood, Grand Island, near Buffalo. Address: 179 Washington Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

MATTHEWS, Paul Clement:

Clergyman; born in Glendale, Ohio, Dec. 25, 1866; son of Thomas Stauley and Mary Ann (Black) Matthews. He was educated in St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H., in Princeton University and in the General Theological Seminary. He was ordered deacon by Bishop Vincent, 1890; ordained priest by Bishop Worthington, 1891; was associate missionary at Omaha, Neb., 1891-1896; rector of St. Luke's Church, Cincinnati, 1896-1904, and has been dean of St. Paul's Cathedral, Cincinnati, since 1904. He was elected bishop coadjutor of Milwaukee in 1905, but declined it. He has visited Egypt, the Nile, the Holy Land and Europe. He is a member of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, and of the University and Business Men's Clubs. Dr. Matthews married in Glendale, Ohio, May 11, 1897, Elsie Procter, and they have four children. Address: 226 West Seventh Street, Cincinnati.

MATTISON, Richard V.:

Manufacturing chemist; born in Solebury, Bucks County, Pa., Nov. 17, 1851; son of Joseph Jones Mattison and Mahala (van Zeelust) Mattison. He attended country school, Philadelphia College of Pharmacy, and the University of Pennsylvania Medical Department, receiving the degree of M.D. He has for thirty-four years been most successfully engaged as a manufacturing chemist. He erected the well known Church of the Beautiful Windows, Trinity Memorial Protestant Episcopal Church, at Ambler, Pa., and presented it to the Diocese of Pennsylvania. The church is said to have the most harmonious collection of church windows in the United States. He is president of the First National Bank of Ambler, of the Philadelphia Drug Exchange, vice-president of the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy; president of the Keasbey and Mattison Company, Magnesite Covering Company, Asbestos Shingle, Slate and Sheathing Company, The Bell Asbestos Mines, Thetford, P. Q., Canada, the Asbestos Company, Asbestos Manufacturing Company, the Ambler Electric Light Company, The Ambler Spring Water Company, The Upper Dublin Water Company, etc. He is a Republican in politics, and an Episcopalian in religion. Dr. Mattison is a member of various scientific societies, and of the Union League Club. He married in Hightstown, N. J., Nov. 4, 1873, Esther Daffer of Cranbury, N. J., and they have had three children. He has a summer home, "Bushy Park," at Newport, R. I., and his "Lindenwood" estate, at Ambler, is one of the most beautiful in Pennsylvania. Address: Ambler, Montgomery County, Pa.

MAURICE, Arthur Bartlett:

Editor; born in Rahway, N. J., April 10, 1873. He was educated in public and private schools in Rahway, at Paris, France, and New York City; at Mount Pleasant Military Academy, Ossining, Richmond College and Princeton University. He was editor of the Woodbridge (N. J.) Register, in 1895; city editor of Elizabeth (N. J.) Daily Herald, in 1896; special writer of New York Commercial Advertiser, 1897-1898; joint editor, with Professor Harry Thurston Peck, of The Bookman, from Sept., 1899, to Jan., 1906, and has been joint editor of The Bookman with Frank Moore Colby since Jan., 1906. He is author of: New York in Fiction, 1900; The History of the Nineteenth Century in Caricature (with Frederic Taber Cooper, 1903); International Wit and Humor, 1906. He is a member of the Authors and Players' Clubs of New York City, and of the Colonia Country Club of Colonia, N. J. Residence: 16 Gramercy Park. Address: Thirty-fifth Street and Fifth Avenue, New York City.

MAXEY, Thomas S.:

Jurist; born in Brandon, Miss., Sept. 1, 1846; son of Robert and Harriet Virginia Maxey. His general education was received in the University of Mississippi, interrupted by a year's service in the Confederate Army from 1864 to 1865, and his legal education in the University of Virginia, from which he was graduated as LL.B. in 1869. The following year he went to Texas, engaging in the practice of law and soon taking an influential position at the Texas bar, which he held until appointed by President Cleveland, in 1888, to his present position as judge of the U. S. District Court for the Western District of Texas. Address: Austin, Texas.

MAXIM, Hudson:

Inventor, mechanical engineer; born at Orneville, Piscataquis County, Maine, Feb. 3, 1853; son of Isaac and Harriet Boston (Stevens) Maxim. He was educated at Maine Wesleyan Seminary, Kent's Hill, Me. He engaged as a printer and publisher of subscription books, Pittsfield, Mass., 1883; since 1888, engaged as inventor and manufacturer of ordnance and explosives; was the first maker of smokeless powder in the United States and the first to submit samples to the United States Government for trial; built dynamite factory and smokeless powder mill at Maxim, New Jersey (named for him), 1890; sold smokeless powder inventions to E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Company, Wilmington, Delaware, 1897, and since then has been consulting engineer and expert in experimental department of that company. Joint inventor (with Dr. Robert Schupphaus) of the Maxim Schupphaus smokeless powder, adopted by United States Government; invented and sold to United States Government, 1901, the formula of Maximite, which was the first high explosive to be fired through heavy armor plate; more recently perfected a smokeless powder producing ballistic results far superior to any other, which he has named Stabilite; more recent experiment has been on the Hudson Maxim automobile torpedo, driven by a new, self-combustive material of his own invention, which he has named Motorite. Inventor of process and apparatus for manufacturing multi-perforated powder grains; improvements in smokeless powder grains; safety detonating fuses, and numerous other inventions; has fifty or more United States patents now pending. Mr.

Maxim is a member of the Military Service Institute, Chemists' Club, Society of Chemical Industry, American Association for the Advancement of Science, and the New England Society. He married in London, England, March 26, 1896, Lillian Durban. Country residence: Maxim Park, at Landing, N. J. Address: 698 St. Mark's Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

MAXWELL, William H.:

City superintendent of schools of New York City; born at Stewartstown, Ireland, March 5, 1852; son of Rev. John Maxwell, pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Brigh, Ireland. He received his early education in the local National School, and studied classics, modern languages and mathematics with his father and the Rev. George Macloskie, a well-known educator, and at Queens College, Galway, winning the first place in classics and in English, and being graduated as B.A. in 1872 with honors in classics and as prizeman in metaphysics and English literature; and he received the M.A. degree in 1874 with honors in ancient classics. Mr. Maxwell began teaching in 1872, as sub-master in the Royal Academical Institution of Belfast, Ireland, where he gave instruction in English and classics, and at same time was lecturer in English literature in the Ladies' Collegiate Institute at Belfast. He came to America in 1874, and was reporter on the New York Tribune and New York Herald; later associate editor of The Metropolitan Weekly newspaper, and afterward, for five years, was manager of the Brooklyn Times; during the last two years of his editorship he entered the educational field as a teacher and lecturer in Evening High Schools of Brooklyn. He was elected associate superintendent of schools by the Brooklyn Board of Education in 1882; elected superintendent of schools of Brooklyn in 1887, and three times reelected; and was elected city superintendent of schools of New York City under the revised charter in 1898. He received the honorary degree of Ph.D. from St. Lawrence University; and, in 1901, that of LL.D. from Columbia University. Dr. Maxwell has been president of the National Educational Association; president of the State Council of Superintendents, and head of the Department of Superintendence of the National Educational Association; served on the Committee on English of the Association of Colleges and High Schools of the Middle States and Maryland; chairman of the Committee of Fifteen, appointed by the National Department of Superintendence; and was appointed in 1903 chairman of the Committee on Instruction in Municipal Government in American Educational Institutions under authority of the National Municipal League. He has been a trustee and fellow of Brooklyn Institute of Art and Sciences. Dr. Maxwell is author of: First Book in English; Introductory Lessons in English Grammar; Elementary English Grammar and School Grammar; and is joint author, with George J. Smith, of Writing in English, and, with Miss Emma L. Johnston, of School Composition. He was one of the founding editors and associate editor until 1896 of the Educational Review. Dr. Maxwell married in Brooklyn, in 1877, Marie A. Folk. Address: Park Avenue and Fifty-ninth Street, New York City.

MAY, Calvin Sloane:

Physician; born in Naugatuck, Conn., June 1, 1848; son of James Wilson May and Abigail P. (Hotchkiss) May. He was graduated from Naugatuck High School and from the Medical Department of Yale University, M.D. in 1873. He was house surgeon at the New Haven Hospital, 1873; assistant physician and acting superintendent of the Connecticut Hospital for the Insane, 1873-1879; superintendent of the State Hospital for the Insane at Danvers, Mass., 1879-1882. He is a fellow of the New York Academy of Medicine, a member of the New York County and State Medical Societies, and a member of the American Medical Association. Dr. May married in St. John, New Brunswick, Feb. 24, 1878, Rebecca P. Cushing, and they have one daughter. Address: The Osborne, 205 West 57th Street, New York City.

MAY, Charles Henry:

Physician; born in Baltimore, 1861; son of Henry and Henrietta May. He was educated in public and private schools and in the College of the City of New York, 1877. He is consulting ophthalmic surgeon to the Gouverneur, French, Italian and Red Cross hospitals, New York City; attending ophthalmic and aural surgeon in the New York City hospitals, Randall's Island and Mt. Sinai Hospital. He is a member of the American Academy of Medicine, New York Academy of Medicine, New York County and State Medical Societies, American Medical Association, American Ophthalmological Society, American Otolological Society, New York Otolological Society, Metropolitan Medical Society, American Medical Editors' Association, and the Medical Society of Greater New York. Dr. May is author of: May's Manual of Diseases of the Eye, and is a contributor to the International Encyclopaedia, and to the Reference Handbook of the Medical Sciences. He married in New York City, in 1893, Rosalie Allen. Address: 698 Madison Avenue, New York City.

MAYER, Henry:

Artist; born at Worms-on-Rhine, Germany, July 18, 1863; son of Herman and Helen Mayer. He was educated in England, where his father was a London merchant, and at the Gymnasium at Worms-on-Rhine; went to England, and was for a time engaged in business there; went to Mexico in 1885, then came to the United States in 1886; has resided in New York since 1893; he is a contributor of caricatures to numerous journals and magazines of prominence: Fliegende Blätter, Life, Judge, Punch, Le Figaro, Illustré, Le Rire, Black and White, and the New York Times. He is author and illustrator of: A Trip to Toyland; In Laughland; Fantasies in Ha Ha; Autobiography of a Monkey; Adventures of a Japanese Doll; and illustrator of The Real New York. He has traveled extensively in Europe and America. For the sentiment expressed in his cartoons during the Japanese-Russian War, he was presented by the Emperor of Japan with two silver raised Cloissonné vases bearing the Imperial crest. He is a member of the Salmagundi, and Lambs' Clubs. Address: The Lambs' Club, New York City.

MAYNARD, Charles Johnson:

Naturalist, author; born in West Newton, Mass., May 6, 1845; son of Samuel and Emeline (Sanger) Maynard. Without a collegiate education, he studied nature from his earliest youth, and has made notable investigations of the vocal organs of birds and discovered the vocal organs of the American bittern. He has made a number of explorations in Florida, the Bahamas and the West Indies, and carried on a series of special studies on certain land shells of the West Indies (Cerion). He was the originator and one of the first editors of the Nuttall Bulletin. Mr. Maynard is the author of: Naturalists' Guide; Birds of Eastern North America; Butterflies of New England; Eggs of North American Birds; Contributions to Science (3 vols.); Bahama Fruit Finch; Manual of North American Butterflies; Sparrows and Finches of New England; Nature Studies No. 2, "Sponges;" Warblers of New England; Monograph of the Genus Cerion; Manual of Taxidermy; Methods in Moss Study; Birds of Eastern Massachusetts; Field Dictionary to the Birds of Eastern North America; Atlas to the Directory of the Birds of Eastern North America; Dawn in New England; and Records of Walks and Talks with Nature (two volumes). Mr. Maynard is a member of the Boston Society of Natural History, Newton Natural History Society (president), and New York Academy of Natural Sciences. He married in Somerville, Mass., Oct. 30, 1888, Elizabeth B. Coiter, and has one daughter. Address: 447 Crafts Street, West Newton, Mass.

MAYNARD, George Willoughby:

Artist, painter; born in Washington, D. C., March 5, 1843; son of Edward and Ellen Sophia (Doty) Maynard. He was educated in the National Academy of Design, New York City, Royal Academy, Antwerp, Belgium. He received the Temple gold medal, the medal of the American Art Association, medal as one of the designers of the World's Columbian Exposition, silver medal from the Pan-American Exposition, Evans Prize, Shaw Prize. Was with the Overland Telegraph Expedition in British Columbia, 1865; Government Expedition in 1863. Mr. Maynard traveled in England, France, Germany, Holland, Belgium, Switzerland, Italy, Austria, Hungary, Roumania, Russia, Turkey, Greece, and Nicaragua. He is an academician and librarian of the National Academy of Design, member of the American Water Color Society, Artists' Aid Society, and the Century Club. He married in New York City, Dec. 26, 1907, Louise Brownell. Address: 156 East 36th Street, New York City.

MAYNARD, Harry Lee:

Congressman; born in Portsmouth, Va., June 8, 1861; son of John W. Maynard. He received his education in the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, and has since been identified with business interests in Portsmouth, Virginia, where he is president of the Norfolk, Portsmouth and Newport News Railroad, and officer and director in various local enterprises. After serving for four years in the Virginia House of Delegates and six in the State Senate, Mr. Maynard was elected in 1900 as a Democrat, to the Fifty-seventh Congress, from the Second District of Virginia. He has since been reelected biennially, and is now serving in the Sixty-first Congress. He married, Aug. 5, 1885, Mary Eleanor Brooks. Address: Portsmouth, Va.

MAYNARD, Richard Field:

Artist; born in Chicago, April 23, 1875; son of Isaac N. and Margaret (Field) Maynard. He entered Cornell University, 1893, went to Harvard, 1895, and graduated, Harvard, A.B., 1898; New York School of Art and Art Students' League, pupil of William Chase, Irving R. Wiles, Joseph DeCamp, Robert Blum and others. He exhibited at the Society of American Artists, the New York Water Color Club, the National Academy of Design, the American Water Color Society, the National Arts Club, the Corcoran Art Gallery in Washington and held a "one man" exhibition in the gallery of the Utica Public Library. He received a first prize at Cowles Art School, 1898; scholarship, Art Students' League, 1899; and is a member of the University Club. Address: 33 West 67th Street, New York City.

MAZET, Robert:

Lawyer; born in Pittsburgh, May 15, 1857; son of William and Melsena (Wessell) Mazet. He was educated in Pittsburgh High School and was graduated from Columbia University, LL.B. and A.B. He was deputy attorney-general for the prosecution of violations of the State agricultural law; chairman of the Board of Transfer Tax Appraisers of New York; member of the State Assembly of New York, 1897-1899; member of special committee to investigate trusts in 1897; chairman of Cities Committee of the State Assembly; chairman of the committee to investigate the government of the City of New York in 1899, and was captain of Company D, Seventh Regiment, National Guard of New York. Is a Republican and a Presbyterian. He is a member of the Pennsylvania Society, Chi Phi fraternity, and of the Republican and West Side Republican Clubs. Mr. Mazet married Elsie S. Moore (deceased), daughter of Rear Admiral John W. Moore, and they have two children. Address: 257 Broadway, New York City.

MEAD, Albert Edward:

Lawyer, ex-governor; born at Manhattan, Kan., Dec. 14, 1861; son of William and Harriet (Carlton) Mead. He was educated in the public schools of Kansas, Iowa and Illinois, and in the Southern Illinois Normal University at Carbondale, Illinois, and after his graduation studied in the Union College of Law at Chicago. He practiced in Kansas from 1885 to 1889, and since then in the State of Washington. He has been active in the Republican party of that State ever since he began his citizenship there, and was mayor of Blaine, Washington, in 1892-1893. He afterward served a term in the Washington House of Representatives, and another as county attorney of Whatcom County, and in 1904, was elected governor of the State of Washington, for the term which expired in January, 1909. Address: Bellingham, Wash.

MEAD, Edwin Doak:

Editor, author and lecturer; born at Chesterfield, N. H., Sept. 29, 1849; son of Bradley and Sarah (Stone) Mead. He was brought up on a farm, attended the local schools, and was for a time employed in a village store until 1866, when he secured employment with Ticknor and Fields, Boston publishers. He attended English and German Universities from 1875 for four years, and on his return in 1879 engaged in literary work and lecturing. Mr. Mead is author of: Martin Luther—A Study of the Reformation; The Philosophy of Carlyle; The Influence of Emerson; The Principles of the Founders; Organize the World; and various essays and pamphlets. He was editor of the New England Magazine, 1889-1901, and long director of the Old South historical work, and editor of the Old South Leaflets. He was for several years president of the Massachusetts Good Citizenship Society; and he is president of the American Free Religious Association. He is especially prominent in the movement for the promotion of universal peace. He was delegate of the American Peace Society to the Congresses at Glasgow, Rouen, Lucerne, Munich and London, and was chairman of the Executive Committee of the Thirteenth International Peace Congress at Boston in 1904. He is editor of the International Library, composed of the best works published, inculcating the methods of reason in the settlement of the differences between nations. Mr. Mead married in Boston, Sept. 29, 1898, Lucia True Ames. Residence: 39 Newbury Street. Office: 20 Beacon Street, Boston.

MEAD, Larkin Goldsmith:

Sculptor; born at Chesterfield, N. H., Jan. 3, 1835; son of Larkin Goldsmith and Mary Jane (Noyes) Mead. The family removed in his early boyhood to Brattleboro, Vt., and there he received his education in the public schools, and afterward became a clerk in a local hardware store. While engaged thus he evinced a predilection for art, and took such opportunities as he could find to gratify his taste in this direction. One cold winter he modeled in snow the colossal figure of an angel, with such success that it became the talk of the town and was commented on by the local newspapers. This resulted in securing for him the opportunity for an artistic education. He worked in the studio of Henry Kirke Brown in Brooklyn, N. Y., 1853-1855, and after that began his career as a professional sculptor. He finished in 1857 the colossal statue of Vermont on the dome of the State House at Montpelier, Vermont, and in 1861 the statue of Ethan Allen for the portico of the same building. During the consulate of his brother-in-law, William Dean Howells, at Venice, Mr. Mead was attached to the consulate there and improved his opportunities for study in Italian art centers, and during the early part of the Civil War he was for six months at the front as an artist for Harper's Weekly, an experience of great value for his after work in the designing of soldiers' monuments and ideal works in which the soldier was the theme. He has executed many famous groups, monuments, portrait statues and ideal figures. His portraits of Lincoln for the monument at Springfield, Illinois, and of Ethan Allen for the National Art Gallery at Washington, are widely famous; while in ideal or allegorical statues, Echo, The Mississippi, and others, the colossal marble group at Sacramento, California, representing Columbus appealing to Isabella, and the group The Returned Soldier, are among the many specimens of his art which have made for him a place in the forefront of American art. Since 1862 he has resided chiefly in Florence, and there, in 1866, he married Marietta di Benvenuti. Address: Florence, Italy.

MEAD, Lucia Ames:

Lecturer and author; born at Boscawen, N. H., May 5, 1856; daughter of Nathan P. and Elvira (Collin) Ames. She was educated for five years in schools in Chicago and Salem, Mass., the rest of her education being private. She moved from New Hampshire to Illinois at the age of four, was burned out in the Chicago fire at the age of fifteen, and since then she has been a resident of Massachusetts, and since the age of eighteen has lived in Boston. She was a pupil of B. W. Lang in music, was for some years an instructor on the piano, then conducted classes in Nineteenth Century thought, directing women's study of Emerson, Ruskin, Carlyle, Lowell, etc.; later lectured on social, economic and international questions. She married in West Newton, Mass., Oct. 29, 1898, Edwin D. Mead, editor and lecturer. Mrs. Mead is now devoting her whole time to lecturing and writing on international peace. She addressed the National Peace Congress at Carnegie Hall, New York, in 1907; went as delegate to International Peace Congresses at Glasgow, Rouen, Lucerne, Munich, and London, and took active part, with her husband, in the International Peace Congress in Boston in 1904. She has lectured at Cornell, Syracuse, Michigan, and Pennsylvania Universities, and at Bryn Mawr, Wellesley, Holyoke and other colleges. She has arranged, since its beginning, for the annual "New Voters' Festival," at Faneuil Hall; for years a worker in the Associated Charities, and always interested in civic reforms and negro education. She is author of Great Thoughts for Little Thinkers; Memoirs of a Millionaire; To Whom Much is Given; Milton's England; Primer of the Peace Movement; Patriotism and the New Internationalism (manual for teachers); contributor to newspapers and magazines. She is a director of the American Peace Society; of the Equal Suffrage Association for Good Government; chairman of the Peace and Arbitration Departments of the National Council of Women and of the National American Woman Suffrage Associations; president of the Massachusetts Woman Suffrage Association; member of the Massachusetts Forestry Association, Massachusetts Civic League, Consumers' League, Women's Educational and Industrial Union, Twentieth Century Club of Boston and the Roxburgh Club of Roxbury, Mass. Address: 39 Newbury Street, Boston.

MEAD, William Rutherford:

Architect; born in Brattleboro, Vt., Aug. 20, 1846; son of Larkin Goldsmith and Mary Jane (Noyes) Mead; brother of Larkin G. Mead, the sculptor, and brother-in-law of William Dean Howells. He was graduated from Amherst College in the class of 1867, studied architecture with Russell Sturgis in New York, and afterward for two years in Europe, then established, with partners, in New York, the firm of McKim, Mead and White, who have been architects of many of the most important buildings in New York City and elsewhere throughout the country; among them the buildings of Columbia University on Morningside Heights, the Boston Public Library, Rhode Island State Capitol, New York Herald Building, the new additions to the White House at Washington and many other public, office and residence structures. He is a member of the Century, University, Lambs, Metropolitan, The Brook, and Garden City Golf Clubs. Mr. Mead married Olga Kilenyi. Address: 160 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

MEADE, Richard Worsam:

President of the New York Transportation Company; born at Cold Spring, N. Y., Feb. 7, 1870; son of Rear-Admiral Richard Worsam Meade, U. S. Navy, and Rebecca (Paulding) Meade. In 1889 he entered the railroad business as a clerk in the office of the president of St. Paul and Duluth Railroad Company in New York City; was secretary to the general manager of the New York and Northern Railway Company, 1891; secretary to the general manager of the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad Company, 1894. He enlisted in the U. S. Navy for the war with Spain, as boatswain's mate of the U. S. S. Yankee, 1898, and served through the war on the south coast of Cuba; was appointed general foreman of freight terminals of the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad Company, New York City, 1899; assistant to president of the Metropolitan Street Railway Company, New York City, 1902; since 1904, president and general manager of the New York Transportation Company, which operates motocab service in New York City and Newport, R. I. He introduced the taximeter cab and the double-deck motor omnibus in New York. Mr. Meade is also president and director of the Fifth Avenue Coach Company, Park Carriage Company, Motor Cab Company of New York, and the Metropolitan Express Company; vice-president and director of the Metropolitan Securities Company; director of the New York City Railroad Company, Metropolitan Street Railway Company, Third Avenue Railway Company, and other subsidiary companies. He is a member of the Society of Friendly Sons of St. Patrick, Military Order of the Loyal Legion, the Union Club, Automobile Club of America, and the New York Railroad and Transportation Clubs. Address: Eighth Avenue and 49th Street, New York City.

MEANY, Edward P.:

Lawyer; born in Louisville, Ky., May 13, 1854; son of Judge Edward A. and Maria Lavenia (Shannon) Meany. He was educated in St. Louis University and St. Mary's College, Kentucky. He is counsel of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company; director of the Trust Company of New Jersey, Colonial Insurance Company and director of several telephone companies, forming part of the Bell Telephone System. He is judge-advocate-general of New Jersey, with the rank of brigadier-general. Mr. Meany is a member of the Lawyers' and Morris County Golf Clubs, the Automobile Club of America, Essex County Country and Morristown Field Clubs. General Meany married Rosalie Behr of St. Louis Mo., and they have one son. Residence: Alnwick Hall, Convent Station, N. J. Office: 15 Dey Street, New York City.

MEARS, David Otis:

Clergyman; born in Essex, Mass., Feb. 22, 1842; son of David Mears. He was educated in Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass.; was graduated from Amherst College, A.B., 1865, A.M., 1868; studied theology under the Rev. E. N. Kirk of Boston; received D.D. from Iowa College, 1882. He was ordained to the ministry, 1867; installed pastor of the North Avenue Church, Cambridge, Mass., 1867-1877, Piedmont Congregational Church, Worcester, Mass., 1877-1893, Calvary Presbyterian Church, Cleveland, Ohio, 1893-1895, Fourth Presbyterian Church, Albany, N. Y., since 1895. He was the associate editor of the Golden Rule, Boston, 1879-1880; edited Dr. E. N. Kirk's Lectures on Revivals, and is author of: Life of Edward Norris Kirk, D.D., 1877; The Deathless Book, 1888; Oberlin Lectures, 1892; Inspired Through Suffering, 1895. Dr. Mears married first in Amherst, Mass., Sept. 11, 1867, Fannie J. Bentley (deceased), and second in Grinnell, Iowa, Sept. 6, 1882, Mary C. Grinnell, daughter of the Hon. J. B. Grinnell. Address: 53 Ten Broeck Street, Albany, N. Y.

MEARS, Helen Farnsworth:

Sculptor; born in Oshkosh, Wis., 1878; daughter of John H. and Elizabeth (Farnsworth) Mears. She was educated in public schools and the State Normal School of Oshkosh; studied art in New York City and Paris; while a school-girl made a success with group The Genius of Wisconsin, exhibited at the World's Columbian Exposition, Chicago, 1893. She has exhibited in annual exhibitions in New York City and Chicago, and at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, 1904, where she was awarded a medal for The Fountain of Life; executed the marble statue of Frances E. Willard placed in the Capitol at Washington, 1905, and portrait reliefs of Edward Alexander MacDowell, Louise Collier Willecox, and Augustus St. Gaudens. Address: The Clinton, 252 West 42d Street, New York City.

MEARS, Mary:

Author; born in Oshkosh, Wis.; daughter of John Hall and Elizabeth (Farnsworth) Mears. She was educated in State Normal College. Her mother Elizabeth Farnsworth, was before her marriage a well known writer of plays and stories of early Wisconsin life; she wrote under the pen name of "Nellie Wildwood" and wrote the popular song: When the Swallows Come Again Nellie Wildwood. She is the sister of Helen Farnsworth Mears, the sculptor. Miss Mears is author of: Emma Emma Lou—Her Book; 1896, The Breath of the Runners (a novel), 1906, and Rosamond—The Second (a novelette), also short stories in Harpers, McClure, Munsey, and other leading magazines. She is a member of the MacDowell Club. Address: 253 West 42d Street, New York City.

MEARS, Mary Grinnell:

Born in Grinnell, Iowa; daughter of ex-Congressman Josiah B. and Julia Anna (Chapin) Grinnell. She was graduated from Iowa College, 1881, as Bachelor of Literature, and she married in Grinnell, Iowa, Sept. 6, 1882, Rev. David O. Mears, D.D., and they have two children, both in college. Her father founded the town of Grinnell, Iowa, and was the original person to whom Horace Greeley said: "Go West, young man!" He was a descendant of John and Priscilla Alden, and also of Huguenot blood. Her mother, who was a descendant of John Eliot, the "apostle to the Indians," and of Samuel Chapin, founded the first Mothers' Meeting west of the Mississippi. Mrs. Mears, whose husband is a Presbyterian clergyman, is an officer in many local, State and National church, philanthropic and educational organizations. She is first vice-president of the National Congress of Mothers, for seven years president of the New York State Assembly of Mothers; and is a member of the Society of Mayflower Descendants in the State of New York, Daughters of the American Revolution, the Chapin Family Association, etc. Mrs. Mears is a contributor of short articles to the press on religious, philanthropic and educational subjects, and gives frequent addresses on mission work and methods and on the work of the National Congress of Mothers in all its branches. Address: 53 Ten Broeck Street, Albany, N. Y.

MEEHAN, William Edward:

Commissioner of Fisheries; born in Philadelphia, Aug. 31, 1853; son of Professor Thomas Meehan, botanist, and Catherine Emma (Collins) Meehan. He attended private schools in Philadelphia. He was an associate editor of the Philadelphia Public Ledger for fifteen years, botanist of the Peary Relief Expedition to North Greenland in 1892; writer for monthly and weekly magazines of high class, lecturer on geographical subjects. He is author of: In Arctic Seas, Part 2, 1892; Mountain Lakes of Pennsylvania, 1896; History of Fish, Fishing and Fisheries of Pennsylvania, 1894; joint author, with brother editors of the Public Ledger of an outdoor nature book, Saturday Jaunts, 1898; and also writer and editor of all the annual reports of the State Fish Commission and the Department of Fisheries since 1895. He was a member of the Germantown School Board, 1902-1905 and again since 1906; elected secretary and statistician of the State Fish Commission in 1895 by the Board, appointed fish commissioner by Governor Stone in 1902, reappointed by Governor Pennypacker in January, 1903, and after the abolition of the Board of Fish Commission and the creation of the Department of Fisheries in June, 1903, was appointed commissioner of fisheries by Governor Pennypacker and reappointed June 1, 1907, by Governor Stuart. Under his direction Pennsylvania became foremost among the States in fish culture, the number of fish hatcheries was increased from three to eight, and the output vastly increased, giving Pennsylvania more than the aggregate of any two of the other States, and one-fourth of that of the United States Government. Two important fishery industries have been restored and others greatly improved. He was one of the founders of the Germantown Scientific Society, an Institution for boys, which flourished 1868-1876, and from which were evolved several distinguished scientific men; life member of the Academy of Natural Sciences of Philadelphia; vice-president, 1909, of the American Fisheries Society, and president for the year 1910 of the North American Fish and Game Association (an international organization); honorary or active member of nearly every fish protective association in Pennsylvania; one of the reorganizers and corresponding secretary of the United Sportsmen of Pennsylvania; and he is also honorary president and one of the founders of the City History Club of Philadelphia, a member and charter member of the Site and Relic Society of Philadelphia, and for one year a director of Childhood Protective League of Philadelphia. He married, June 3, 1879, Linda Augusta Graham, and they have two children. Address: Dorset Street, Mt. Airy, Philadelphia, Pa.

MEEK, Edward Roscoe:

Jurist; born in Davenport, Iowa, Dec. 23, 1865; son of Aaron and Rhoda (Gardner) Meek. He was educated in the University of Iowa, from which he received the degrees of A.B., A.M., and LL.B. Since 1889 he has lived in Texas, and he was general attorney of the Fort Worth and Denver City Railway Company until appointed in July, 1898, to his present office as U. S. district judge for the Northern District of Texas. He is a Republican in politics. Judge Meek married in Des Moines, Iowa, in 1890, Elizabeth Clarkson, daughter of the late Richard P. Clarkson, editor and publisher of the Des Moines Register. Address: Dallas, Texas.

MEEKER, Stephen J.:

Manufacturer; born in Newark, N. J., March 17, 1843. He was educated in a private school at Newark, and after completing his education engaged in the foundry business, which is being carried on by his sons and nephew as the Meeker Foundry Company. Mr. Meeker was president of the New Jersey Commission to the World's Columbian Exposition in 1893 at Chicago, was a member of the Temporary Commission of Essex County Parks and a member of the first Board of Permanent Commissioners of the same. He is a Democrat in politics, and since 1895 he has been a member of the State Board of Assessors of New Jersey. He is a member of the Washington Association of New Jersey, a governor of the Essex County (N. J.) Country Club, and a member of the Lawyers' Club of New York. Mr. Meeker has twice married, first, Elizabeth P. Townley in 1868, and second, Margaret Potter Cox in 1886. Address: 17 High Street, Orange, N. J.

MEERSCHAERT, Theophile:

Catholic bishop; born at Russignies, Belgium, Aug. 24, 1847. He was educated in the colleges of Renaix and Audenarde, Belgium, and in the American College of Louvain, Belgium, was ordained priest Dec. 23, 1871, and the following year came to the United States, taking up pastoral work in the Diocese of Natchez, Miss., of which he became vicar-general, and, for a time, administrator. He was appointed in 1891 the first vicar-apostolic of the Indian Territory, his vicariate comprising both Indian Territory and Oklahoma, and titular bishop of Sidynia, and upon the creation of the diocese of Oklahoma with the same territory became its first bishop with see located at Oklahoma City. Address: Oklahoma City, Okla.

MEGARGEL, Roy C.:

Banker; born in Scranton, Pa., 1877; son of I. F. and Gertrude J. (Jones) Megargel. He was graduated from the University of Michigan, LL.B. He commenced banking business at Scranton, 1901, as member of the firm of I. F. Megargel and Company, and organized the present firm in New York, 1906. He is president of the Cameron Creek Coal Company, and vice-president of the Gulf, Texas and Western Railway Company. Mr. Megargel is a member of the Lawyers, St. Nicholas, University of Michigan, and Beta Theta Pi Clubs, the Dallas Club of Dallas, Texas, and the Scranton Club, of Scranton, Pa. He married in Richmond, Va., May, 1909, Margery Knowles. Residence: 56 West 58th Street. Office: 5 Nassau Street, New York City.

MEIGS, Montgomery:

U. S. civil engineer; born in Detroit, Mich., Feb. 27, 1874; son of Major General Montgomery Cunningham Meigs, U. S. Army and Louisa (Rogers) Meigs. After completing his public school course he took up technical study at the Lawrence Scientific School of Harvard University, and then went to Württemberg, becoming a student in the Royal Polytechnic School at Stuttgart. He was engaged on the surveys and construction of the Northern Pacific Railroad; 1870-1873, and since 1894 has been engaged as U. S. civil engineer, attached to the U. S. Engineer Service; since 1874 engaged as a civil engineer in Government service in connection with the improvements of the Mississippi between St. Paul and St. Louis, and for twenty-seven years he has been superintendent of the U. S. Ship Canal at Keokuk, Iowa, and in charge of Mississippi River improvements. He has invented and introduced improvements in hydraulic engineering. Mr. Meigs married at Rock Island, Ill., in 1877, Grace C. Lynde, since deceased. Address: 618 Franklin Street, Keokuk, Iowa.

MELL, Patrick Hues:

President of Clemson College; born at Pentfield, Ga., May 24, 1850; son of Patrick Hues Mell, D.D., LL.D., third chancellor of the University of Georgia, and Lurene Howard (Cooper) Mell. He was graduated from the University of Georgia, A.B., 1871, C.E. and M.E., 1872, Ph.D., 1880; and received the LL.D. degree, in 1905, from South Carolina University. He was State chemist of Georgia, 1874-1877; professor of geology and botany in the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, 1878-1902; director of the Alabama Weather Service 1884-1893, and director of the Alabama Agricultural Experiment Station, 1898-1902; and since 1902 president of Clemson College, S.C. Dr. Mell has devoted his life very largely to original researches in the fields of geology, botany and meteorology, and has written numerous scientific monographs, notably on ore deposits and mining in the South; auriferous slate deposits in Southern regions; Southern soapstones and free clays; the cotton plant; grasses and forage plants; the flora of Alabama; climatology of Alabama; Climatology of the Cotton Plant (issued by the United States Department of Agriculture), Botanical Laboratory Guide; Biological Laboratory Guide. He edited a revision of Mell's Parliamentary Practice; was revisor of White's Gardening for the South; and has written newspaper and magazine articles. Dr. Mell invented the system of weather signals now used by the United States Weather Bureau; and he received a medal from the Paris exposition of 1900. He is a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the Geological Society of America, and the Association of Agricultural Colleges and Experiment Stations, (vice-president, 1898). He is also a member of the National Geographic Society, the Southern Historical Association, South Carolina Historical Association, Alabama Historical Association, the Sons of the Revolution, and Sons of Confederate Veterans. President Mell married, June 15, 1875, Annie R. White. Address: Clemson College, S. C.

MELLEN, Chase:

Lawyer; born in Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 21, 1863; son of William and Ellen Seymour (Clark) Mellen. He was prepared at Colorado College, Colorado Springs, and by private tutors; entered Brasenose College, Oxford, England, and was graduated from Oxford University, B.A., 1887. He practised civil engineering in Colorado for two years, with the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad Company, and fourteen months in Mexico with the Mexican National Railway Company; came to New York City in 1889; studied law at Columbia College, and in the office of Parsons, Shepard and Ogden. He was admitted to the bar in April, 1892. He was appointed assistant corporation counsel by Hon. Francis M. Scott, April 1, 1895; served as such also under Hon. John Whalen, and Hon. George L. Rives. He resigned December 31, 1903, and resumed private practice. He is a member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, New York State Bar Association, and the American Bar Association. Mr. Mellen is also a member of the University, St. Anthony, Down Town and City Clubs of New York City and of the Garden City Golf Club. He married in Augusta, Me., June 7, 1893, Lucy Cony Manley, daughter of Joseph Homan Manley, and they have four children. Residence: Garden City, L. I. Office: 32 Nassau Street, New York City.

MELLIN, Carl J.:

Mechanical engineer; born in Westergotland, Sweden, Feb. 17, 1851; son of Sven and Maria Elizabeth (Bjorn) Mellin. He received a college and a technical education in Sweden, embracing mechanical engineering and naval architecture. He was mechanical engineer and naval architect in Sweden and Scotland, 1877-1887, notably with Robert Napier and Son, and the Calzedonian Locomotive Works, Glasgow, and the Erikberg and Atlas Works, Sweden; was mechanical engineer with the Dynamite Gun Company, New York City, 1887-1889; mechanical engineer, 1889-1894, and chief engineer, 1894-1902, with the Richmond Locomotive Works, Richmond, Va., and since 1902 he has been consulting engineer to the American Locomotive Company. He was prominently connected with designing the dynamite gun machinery for the U. S. cruiser Vesuvius; had charge of the designing and construction of machinery of the U. S. battleship Texas; designer and patentee of what is known as the Richmond Compound Locomotive and Articulate Compound Locomotive, built for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, which was exhibited and awarded gold medal at the Louisiana Purchase Exhibition in 1904, and received the highest award for a compound locomotive at the Pan American Exposition at Buffalo in 1901. He was knighted for commendable services by King Oscar of Sweden in 1905. Mr. Mellin is the originator of the introduction of the Walschoert valve motion on the American locomotives, and was primarily responsible for the introduction of the four-cylinder balanced compound locomotive in this country. He has contributed numerous technical articles on locomotive design to prominent railroad journals. Mr. Mellin is a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers, American Society of Naval Engineers, American Railroad Master Mechanics' Association, American Society of Swedish Engineers, of the Mohawk Club of Schenectady. He married in New York City, Dec. 31, 1889, Gertrude Alice Levie, and they have two children. Address: 1065 Union Street, Schenectady, N. Y.

MELLON, James Ross:

Banker; born in Pittsburgh, Jan. 14, 1846; son of Judge Thomas and Sarah Jane (Negley) Mellon. He received his education in Jefferson College, Cannonsburg, Pa. He has been successful in banking and general business. He built and owns the Ligomer Valley Railroad in Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania; is president of the City Deposit Bank, the Liberty Market Company and director of St. Clair Incline Plane Company. He is also president of the Western Pennsylvania Hospital, the Dixmont Insane Hospital, and of the Western Pennsylvania Alumni Association. He is trustee of the Athalia Daly House for Young Working Girls; and a member of Theta Delta Chi Association. In politics he is a Republican. Mr. Mellon is a member of the Union, Golf, Duquesne, Country and University Clubs of Pittsburgh. He married in Leavenworth, Kansas, June 3, 1867, Rachel Huey Larrimer, and they have three children. Residence: 400 North Negley Avenue, Pittsburgh. Office Mellon National Bank, 514 Smithfield Street, Pittsburgh.

MELVILLE, George Wallace:

Rear-admiral, U. S. Navy; born in New York City, July 30, 1841; son of Alexander and Sarah Melville, and is of Scotch descent. He served an apprenticeship in the machine shop of James Binns, in East Brooklyn, New York, until 1861, when he entered the Navy as third assistant engineer. He served in the North and South Atlantic Squadrons and in Wilkes's Flying Squadron, during the Civil War. He was on board of the Wachusett in the harbor of Bahia, South America, and took part in the sinking of the Florida by that vessel. His first voyage to the Arctic was as chief engineer of the Tigress, in search of the Polaris, and when the Jeannette Expedition was being prepared, Captain George W. DeLong, who was his personal friend, induced Melville to go with him. After the wreck of the Jeannette the devotion of Melville, his successful measures for the saving of the crew of the whale-boat which he commanded, his heroic search along five hundred miles of ice-bound coast for the crews of the other two boats, form one of the most thrilling of the momentous chapters in the history of Arctic exploration.

He again went to the Arctic as chief engineer of the flagship Thetis in the Greely Relief Expedition. He was appointed in August, 1887, and reappointed in 1892, 1896 and 1900, engineer-in-chief of the United States Navy, and advanced to the rank of rear-admiral, March 4, 1899; retired in 1903. He was advanced fifteen numbers by special act of Congress in 1890 for his distinguished services in the Arctic. His ability as an engineer gave special value to his services at the head of the Bureau of Steam Engineering, during a period when the New Navy was being constructed, and for many of the vessels built during this period he himself prepared the general designs of the machinery. He is an interesting and forceful writer, and his book of Arctic experience, In the Lena Delta, takes rank as one of the best written records of real adventure. Rear-Admiral Melville is a member and ex-president of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. Since his retirement he has been markedly successful as a consulting engineer and his report on the turbine system of steam propulsion attracted international attention. Address: 1720 H Street, Washington, D. C.

MELVILLE, Henry:

Lawyer; born in Nelson, N. H., Aug. 25, 1858; son of Josiah H. and Nancy R. (Nesmith) Melville. He was graduated from Dartmouth College, A.B., 1879, and from Harvard University as A.M. and LL.B., cum laude, in 1884. He was admitted to the New York bar in 1885. He served as captain of Company A, Eighth Regiment, National Guard of New York, and was captain of Company A, Eighth Regiment, New York Infantry Volunteers, during the Spanish-American War. He is president of the New York State Board of Managers of Reformatories (having in charge Elmira and Napanoeb). He is a member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, the Phi Beta Kappa Society, Society of Colonial Wars, Sons of Revolution, and the Naval and Military Order of the Spanish-American War, and is a member of the University Club of New York City and Republican and Dartmouth

Clubs of New York City. Address: 120 Broadway, New York City.

MENDEL, Lafayette B.:

Professor of physiological chemistry; born in Delhi, N. Y., Feb. 5, 1872; son of Benedict and Pauline (Ullman) Mendel. He was graduated from Delaware Academy, Delhi; Yale University, B.A., and Ph.D., and the Universities of Breslau and Freiburg. He has been successively assistant in physiological chemistry, instructor, assistant professor, and now professor in the Sheffield Scientific School of Yale University; and was a lecturer in the Graduate School of Agriculture, Ithaca, 1908. Professor Mendel is a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, member of the American Society of Naturalists, American Physiological Society, American Society of Biological Chemistry, American Chemical Society, American Gastroenterological Society; American Association of Home Economics, Connecticut Academy of Arts and Sciences, associate member of the American Medical Association, and member of the Graduates Club of New Haven. Address: 18 Trumbull Street, New Haven, Conn.

MENDENHALL, Walter Curran:

Geologist; born in Marlboro, Ohio, Feb. 20, 1871; son of William King and Emma Pierce (Garrigues) Mendenhall. He was graduated from the Ohio Northern University, B.S., 1895, Harvard University, 1896-1897, and Heidelberg University, 1899-1900. He was geologic aid and assistant geologist to the U. S. Geological Survey, 1894-1901, and geologist since 1901; in charge of Ground Water investigations since 1908. Mr. Mendenhall has done professional work in the Appalachians, Cascades, Alaska, and California, and is author of various publications in official reports and technical journals. He is a member of the Geological Society of America, Geological Society of Washington, Washington Academy of Sciences, Washington Society of Engineers, Harvard Engineers, National Geographic Society, treasurer and director of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, 1907-1908, director of the Los Angeles Municipal League, 1907, and is a member of the Cosmos Club of Washington. Residence: Cosmos Club. Office: U. S. Geological Survey, Washington, D. C.

MERCER, Alfred Clifford:

Physician; born in Syracuse, N. Y., July 5, 1855; son of Dr. Alfred and Delia (Lamphier) Mercer. He was graduated from Syracuse University, M.D., 1878; attended St. Thomas Hospital, London, England, 1878-1881 and Great Ormond Street Hospital for Sick Children (London), 1890-1891. He was professor of pathology, 1886-1893, professor of clinical pediatrics, 1893-1904, and has been professor of pediatrics since 1904 at Syracuse University. He is consulting physician of the children's clinic at Syracuse Free Dispensary, and physician to the Children's wards of the Syracuse Hospital for Women and Children. Dr. Mercer was health officer of Syracuse, 1883-1885; and is a contributor to medical, microscopical and photographic periodicals. He is author of: An Experimental Study of Aperture as a Factor in Microscopic Vision, 1896. He devised the Syracuse solid watch glass commonly used in microscopical laboratories; the iconoscope, used on hand cameras, and a double-bulb X-ray tube, used with Tesla coils. He is chairman of the Milk Commission of the Onondaga Medical Society; and member of the Anti-tuberculosis Committee of the Associated Charities. Dr. Mercer is a fellow of the Royal Microscopical Society, London; member of the American Microscopical Society (president 1896), American Association for the Advancement of Science, American Medical Association, Onondaga Medical Society, New York State Medical Society, Central New York Association; fellow of the Academy of Medicine of Syracuse (pre ident, 1909); corresponding member of the Academy of Science, Rochester, N. Y.; member of the Onondaga Historical Society; honorary member of the Syracuse Botanical Club and is a member of the Thursday Night, Citizens' and Fortnightly Clubs. Address: Three hundred and twenty-four Montgomery Street, Syracuse, New York.

MERCHANT, Francis D.:

Physician; born in Washington, D. C., Oct. 11, 1866; son of Silas and Anna J. (Shepherd) Merchant. He received a preparatory education in the Department of Columbian University (now George Washington), the College of Physicians and Surgeons, graduating M.D., and the Columbia University Medical School, New York City. Dr. Merchant has been engaged in the practice of his profession, since his graduation. He is a medical director of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, and director of the Batopilas Mining Company. Dr. Merchant is a member of the County and State Medical Society in New York, and the New York Academy of Medicine. He married in Batopilas, Mexico, May 7, 1901, Grace Shepherd. Residence: 150 West 47th Street. Office: 34 Nassau Street, New York City.

MERRIAM, Clinton Hart:

Chief of the U. S. Biological Survey; born in New York City, Dec. 5, 1855; son of Clinton L. and Caroline (Hart) Merriam. He was educated in Williston Seminary, Easthampton, Mass., the Sheffield Scientific School, Yale, and College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York City, M.D., 1879. He practised medicine until 1885 at Locust Grove, New York, meanwhile continuing his biological studies. He was naturalist with Hayden's Survey, assistant of the U. S. Fish Commission; was surgeon of the Steamship Proteus, visiting the Arctic Seal Fishery from Newfoundland; and was U. S. Bering Sea commissioner, engaged in the Fur Seal Investigations on Pribilof Islands in 1891. Dr. Merriam is a fellow and ex-president of the American Ornithologists' Union; member of the National Academy of Sciences, the American Philosophical Society, foreign member of the Zoölogical Society of London, and a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. He is author of numerous work on zoölogical, botanical and ethnological subjects, contributor to the scientific press and publications of the United States Biological Survey. Address: U. S. Biological Survey, Washington, D. C.

MERRIAM, George Spring:

Author; born at Springfield, Mass., Jan. 13, 1843; son of George and Abby (Fiske) Merriam. He was graduated from Yale, B.A., 1864, and attended Yale Theological School, 1865-1868. He was tutor in Yale College, 1866-1868; office editor of the Christian Union, 1870-1875, and since 1878 has been resident in Springfield, Mass. He was connected with the publication of the Webster International Dictionary, and has been mainly occupied in literary work. He is author of: A Living Faith, 1876; The Way of Life, 1881; The Life and Times of Samuel Bowles, 1885; The Story of William and Lucy Smith, 1889; Noah Porter, 1893; A Symphony of the Spirit (compilation), 1894; The Chief End of Man, 1897; Reminiscences and Letters of Caroline C. Briggs, 1897; The Negro and the Nation, 1906. Mr. Merriam married first at Frankfort, Ky., June 30, 1868, Mrs. Fanny Smith Post (died Jan. 13, 1878); married, second, at Winchester, Mass., June 30, 1897, Susan Adela Clapp. Address: Crescent Hill, Springfield, Mass.

MERRIAM, William Rush:

Banker, ex-governor of Minnesota; born at Wadham's Mills, Essex County, New York, in 1849; son of John L. and Mahala (de Lano) Merriam. He has been a resident of St. Paul, Minn., since 1861, was prepared in the schools of that place, graduated from Racine College in 1871, and in the same year became a clerk in the Merchants' National Bank of St. Paul, of which he became cashier in 1873, vice-president in 1880 and has been president since 1882; in addition to which he is a director in various corporations. He was a member of the Minnesota Legislature for several years and its speaker in 1886; elected governor of Minnesota in 1888, and served through the four-year term, beginning in 1889. In 1898 he was appointed by President McKinley, director of the Twelfth Census, and served until 1903. During his service the Census Bureau was established as a permanent institution on plans developed by Mr. Merriam and put into operation by him. Governor Merriam has important business interests in Virginia in addition to those in the Northwest, and he makes his home in Washington. Address: 1414 Eleventh Street, Washington, D. C.

MERRICK, Samuel Vaughan:

Retired; born in Philadelphia, Dec. 10, 1856; son of William Henry and S. Maria (Otis) Merrick. He was educated in the University of Pennsylvania. Mr. Merrick is a Republican and an Episcopalian. He is a member of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, a trustee of the Philadelphia Orthopaedic Hospital, St. Christopher's Hospital and is a member of the Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity. He participates in most of the outdoor recreations, and is a member of the Philadelphia Club and the Germantown Cricket Club. Mr. Merrick married in Philadelphia, April 15, 1880, Mary Rodney King, and they have four daughters and one son. Address: 5219 Wayne Avenue, Germantown, Philadelphia.

MERRICK, William Henry:

Manager of The Philadelphia Saving Fund Society; born in Philadelphia, April 27, 1831; son of Samuel Vaughan and Sarah (Thomas) Merrick. He was educated in Philadelphia High School and in the University of Pennsylvania. In politics he is a Republican and in religion an Episcopalian. He is a member of the American Philosophical Society and the Franklin Institute and of The Philadelphia Germantown Cricket and Penn Clubs. Mr. Merrick has been married twice; first in Philadelphia, in 1855, to Sara Maria Otis, and second, in 1866, Helen Louise Smith, and he has three children. Residence: Venice, Italy. Address: School House Lane, Germantown, Philadelphia.

MERRILL, Charles Edmund:

Publisher of educational text-books; born in Hanover, N. H., Feb. 26, 1848; son of Phineas and Abigail (Rollins) Merrill. He was educated in Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., and Dartmouth College in the class of 1869. He was engaged in the school book publishing business as Charles

E. Merrill & Company, afterward became president of Maynard, Merrill & Company and is now president of its successor, Charles E. Merrill Company, publishers. He is a member of the Central Council of the Charity Organization Society of New York; trustee of the Brick Presbyterian Church of New York City; life member of the New England Society and a member of the University, Century, Aldine and Dartmouth Clubs of New York. Mr. Merrill has been twice married, first in New York City, 1874, to Lydia W. Brown, second, in New York City, 1905, to Sally C. Markoe, and he has three children. Address: 44 to 60 East 23d Street, New York City.

MERRILL, Edward Bagley:

Lawyer; born in New Bedford, Mass., Jan. 25, 1835; son of Edward and Mary (Converse) Merrill. He attended Exeter Academy 1851-1853; was graduated from Bowdoin College, A.B., 1857 and A.M., 1859 and from Harvard Law School in 1859. He was admitted to the New York bar in 1860 and since then has been engaged in practice of law in New York City. He is vice president of the New York Colonization Society, and member of the Executive Committee of the New York Prison Association, and of the University Club. Mr. Merrill married in New Bedford, Mass., Sept. 12, 1861, Mary Elizabeth Gibbs, and they have one son. Address: 52 Broadway, New York City.

MERRILL, Edwin Godfrey:

Banker; born in Bangor, Maine, Nov. 21, 1873; son of Isaac Hobbs and Ada Frances (Godfrey) Merrill. He was educated in the Bangor High School, Phillips Exeter Academy, (graduated as honor man, 1891), and Harvard College, A.B., 1895, with honorable mention in French history. He was connected with the firm of Merrill and Company, Bangor, 1896-1898; with Kountze Brothers, New York, Feb.-Sept., 1898, and with Estabrook and Company, New York, 1898-1901. He was managing partner of Merrill and Company, in Bangor, from 1901-1903; and he organized the Merrill Trust Company, of which he became president; starting with $100,000 capital and $132,800 deposits it has grown in less than four years to have $200,000 capital and $1,000,000 deposits, and the company also owns the Veazie National Bank, of which Mr. Merrill was elected president in Nov., 1905. With the Veazie National deposits, the Merrill Trust Company now controls more commercial deposits than any bank in Maine outside of Portland. Mr. Merrill is secretary, treasurer and director of the Bangor Opera House Association, director of the Stockton Springs Trust Company, Merchants' Trust and Banking Company, of Presque Isle, the Union Trust Company, of Ellsworth, the Frontier Trust Company, of Fort Fairfield, and of the European and North American Railroad Company. Mr. Merrill is a trustee of the Eastern Maine General Hospital, Bangor Fuel Society, the Good Samaritan Home of Bangor, and the Home for Aged Women at Bangor. He is corresponding secretary of the Citizens' League of Bangor, director of the Meadow-brook Golf Club, member of the Tarratine Club of Bangor, Harvard Union of Cambridge, and the Harvard and University Clubs of New York City. He married at Irvington-on-Hudson, N. Y., Jan. 21, 1902, Adelaide Isabel Katte, and they have two children. Residence: 219 French Street. Office: 2 Hammond Street, Bangor, Maine.

MERRILL, William Bradford:

Journalist; born Salisbury, N. H., Feb. 27, 1861; son of Rev. Horatio and Sarah Bradford (Whitman) Merrill. He was educated in the Boston Latin School, and finished his education under private instructors, in Paris, France, two years, 1877-1878. He began journalism as a reporter on the Philadelphia North American, 1879; staff correspondent of the Philadelphia Press in 1880; resigned to write books for National Railway Publishing Company; traveled over United States 1880-1881; returned to the Philadelphia Press as telegraph editor, 1882, dramatic and Sunday editor, 1883-1885; assistant managing editor 1885; managing editor, 1887-1891; vice president and general manager of the New York Press, 1902-1904; managing editor of the New York World, 1895-1901; financial manager of the New York World, 1902-1906; trustee of S. S. McClure (Magazine) Company; resigned both positions to become, in Feb., 1907, manager of the New York American, directing both the business and news departments. He is a member of the Players' Club. Mr. Merrill married in Philadelphia, Sept. 12, 1882, Sara Ann Louise Taylor of Washington, D. C., and they have three children. Residence: Great Neck, L. I. Address: New York American Office, New York City.

MERRITT, William Jenks:

Banker and broker; born at 66 Mt. Vernon Street, in Boston; son of Jerome and Sarah Judith (Jenks) Merritt. His father, who was a wealthy merchant and ship-owner, and who, in earlier years, as civil engineer, assisted in surveying the second railroad built in the United States (from Mauch Chunk to Pottsville, Pa.), was descended in the ninth generation from Richard Willard, whose grandson, Jacob (3), of Newton, Mass., was a soldier in the Narragansett Expedition, whose great-grandson, Jonathan (6) was lieutenant, and the latter's son Ephraim (7), was private in the Revolutionary War, Ephraim's daughter, Martha, marrying Bernard Merritt, Mr. Merritt's grandfather. In maternal ancestry, Mr. Merritt is of the ancient Welsh family of Jenks. (from Jenkyn — son of John), and eighth in descent from Joseph Jenks, who came from Hammersmith, near London, to Lynn, Mass., in 1643, was the first brass founder in New England, and the most distinguished of the early ironworkers of Lynn, patented and built the first saw-mill, 1648, made the dies for the "pine-tree" silver money, 1652, built for Boston the first fire-engine, 1654, patented the scythe, 1655, and made the first wire in the colonies, 1667. From him the line descends through his second wife, Elizabeth to his son John (2), who was also a famous iron worker of Lynn; to his son John (3), captain of a "company of horse;" to his son John (4); to his son Samuel (5), of Cambridge, who was the youngest captain of the Provincial Army serving in the Ticonderoga and Canadian campaigns of 1759-1760; to his son Rev. William Jenks (6), (Harvard 1797), D.D., LL.D., author of the 6-volume Comprehensive Commentary of the Bible, and one of the foremost American divines and scholars of his day, and who was Mr. Merritt's maternal grandfather, and was chaplain on the staff of Lieutenant Colonel Reed, First Maine Regiment, War of 1812-1814. Mr. Merritt was educated in the Chapman Hall (private) School in Boston. When the Civil War began he became a member and afterward second lieutenant in the Massachusetts Rifle Club, from which was formed the Second Massachusetts Infantry, and Mr. Merritt was elected first lieutenant of Company C, the color company of the regiment, and was commissioned by Governor Andrew, Oct. 24, 1864, and subsequently commanded the company. Mr. Merritt entered business life as a clerk in the banking house of W. F. Davis & Co., in Boston, which position he left to enter business on his own account as a broker on State Street, Boston, later becoming treasurer of the Boston Fuse Co., and officially connected with various Lake Superior and Nova Scotia mining companies; and later he transferred his activities to New York City where he is engaged as a banker and broker, and as manager of several estates. He became a director of the Mercantile Library, 1885 and took an active part in the extension of its usefulness; trustee and vice-president of the Hahnemann Hospital; and treasurer of the Atlas Improvement Co. Mr. Merritt is a member of the Union League, Lotos and Republican Clubs of New York, and the Chamber of Commerce; has served on the Governing Committee, as chairman of the House Committee, and chairman of the Lincoln Dinner Committee of the Republican Club, and member of the House Committee, Campaign Committee, and Admission Committee, of the Union League Club. Mr. Merritt married in May, 1897, Nina, eldest daughter of Friend Pitts, a merchant of New York City. Mrs. Merritt's ancestor, Barnth Pitts, mayor of Lyme Regis, England, had a son John, born in 1668, who emigrated to Boston, where he became a merchant and held several offices, whose son James married Elizabeth, sister of Governor Bowdoin, and was the executor of the Governor's estate after his death. James and Elizabeth Pitts had three sons, who all fought in the Revolutionary Army, of whom Lendall Pitts, principal leader of the Boston Tea Party, was the ancestor of Mrs. Merritt. Address: Union League Club, New York City.

MERRY, William Lawrence:

Diplomat; born in New York City, 1842. After receiving a good academic education he engaged in maritime life, going to sea and eventually becoming commander of steamships on the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans engaged in California trade under the American flag. He resigned from the service of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company in 1874, and has ever since made his home in San Francisco. He was for three years general agent of the Central American Transit Company and of the North American Steamship Company on the Nicaraguan Isthmus, and for one year was agent of the United States Mail Steamship Company on the Isthmus of Panama. He became president of the North American Navigation Company on the Pacific coast and was for seven years president and for several years trustee of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, and was also consul-general for Nicaragua on the Pacific Coast of the United States. From 1880 he became an enthusiastic supporter of the project for a canal across the Isthmus of Nicaragua, and wrote a work entitled: The Nicaragua Canal, the Gateway Between the Oceans, and also wrote The Problem of Cheap Transportation, and various papers in support of the Nicaragua Canal project, and of an increase of the American naval force on the Pacific coast and the maritime development of Pacific coast ports. In 1897 Mr. Merry was appointed by President McKinley as envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to Costa Rica, Nicaragua and San Salvador, which position he has held ever since. He married Blanche Hill, daughter of William S. Hill of Scarsdale, N. Y. Address: American Legation, San José, Costa Rica.

MERWIN, Henry Childs:

Lawyer and author; born in Pittsfield, Mass., Aug. 5, 1853; son of Elias and Annie (Childs) Merwin. He received his early education in a private school and was graduated from Harvard College as B.A. in 1874. He was formerly associate justice of the District Court of Central Middlesex, and was lecturer in the Law School of Boston University and at the Lowell Institute. He is author of: Patent-ability of Inventions; Road, Track and Stable; Life of Aaron Burr; Life of Thomas Jefferson, and numerous essays in Atlantic Monthly and other magazines; editor of Merwin's Equity (by Elias Merwin) and Curtis's Federal Courts. He is president of the Boston Work-Horse Parade Association; secretary of Red Acre Farm (Home for Horses) and director of the Animal Rescue League. Mr. Merwin married in Boston, April 22, 1884, Anne Amory Andrews. Residence: 3 West Cedar Street. Address: State House, Boston.

MERWIN, Milton Hervey:

Jurist; born in Leyden, N. Y., June 16, 1832; son of Alanson and Amanda (Kimball) Merwin. He was educated in Oneida Conference Seminary and Hamilton College, A.B., 1852. He entered the office of Joseph Mullin, at Watertown, N. Y., in the fall of 1852, to study law, and was admitted to the bar at Watertown in 1853. In Oct., 1874, he was appointed, and Nov., 1874, elected justice of the Supreme Court; re-elected in 1888, term expiring Dec. 31, 1902. He was appointed to the General Term of the Supreme Court, 1888; served till 1895; Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, 1895-1901. Judge Merwin has been a resident of Utica since 1874. He married in 1858, Helen E. Knapp, of Middle Granville, N. Y. Residence: 56 Rutgers Street. Office: Mann Building, Utica, N. Y.

MESSENGER, Hiram J.:

Actuary of the Travelers Insurance Company; born in Canandaigua, N. Y., July 6, 1855; son of Hiram J. and Luana L. (Heaton) Messenger. Among his ancestors were, Nathaniel Heaton who came to Boston in 1634; Deacon Stephen Hart and William Kelsey, who came to Hartford with Hooker's party in 1635; and Deacon Samuel Chapin one of the founders of Springfield, Mass. He was graduated from the State Normal School, Cortland, N. Y., 1875, and from Cornell University, Lit. B., 1880; was mathematical fellow of Cornell, 1886, Ph.D., Cornell, 1886; Institute of Actuaries, London, England, 1890. Mr. Messenger was professor of mathematics in the State Normal School, Cortland, N. Y., 1881; professor of mathematics, Napa (Calif.) College, 1881-1883; acting associate professor of mathematics, New York University, 1886-1890; in the actuarial department, Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, 1891-1898; non-resident lecturer on life, accident, liability and health insurance, Cornell University, 1901. He is a fellow of the Actuarial Society of America, of the American Association for Advancement of Science, and of the American Statistical Society; Member of the committee of One-Hundred on National Health of the American Association for the Advancement of Science; member of the American Mathematical Society, Phi Beta Kappa Society, Psi Upsilon, National Geographic Society, Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York City, American Museum of Natural History, New York City; trustee of the American Scenic and Historic Preservation Society; and is author of various pamphlets on life and health insurance, including: Health Insurance in the United States; The Rate of Sickness; The Gain and Loss Exhibit. Mr. Messenger is a member of the Cornell Club of New York City, and the New England Cornell Club. Address: Care Travelers Insurance Company, Hartford, Conn.

MESSENGER, James Franklin:

Professor of education; born in Benton County, Iowa, Jan. 30, 1872; son of James J. and Mary Ann (Hamlin) Messenger. He was graduated from the University of Kansas, A.B., 1895, from Harvard, A.M., 1901; and he was fellow, 1901-1902, and Ph.D. 1903, Columbia University. He was instructor of psychology in the University of New Mexico, 1899-1900; assistant in psychology at Harvard, 1900-1901; instructor in Pratt Institute, Brooklyn, 1902-1903, and at the State Normal School of Minnesota, 1903-1904; dean of the Highland Park Normal College, 1904-1905, professor of psychology and education in the State Normal School at Farmville, Va., 1905-1909, and since July 1, 1909, professor of education in the University of Vermont. He is a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science; member of the American Psychological Association, National Educational Association and the Sigma Nu Fraternity; member of the Council of the Southern Society for Philosophy and Psychology. He married at Lawrence, Kan., 1895, Lora Estelle Olds, and they have two children. Address: University of Vermont, Burlington, Vt.

MESTREZAT, Stephen Leslie:

Lawyer; born in Mapletown, Greene County, Pa., son of Jean Louis Guillaume and Mary Ann (Hartley) Mestrezat. He was graduated from Waynesburg College, Pa., A.B., and A.M., and LL.D., also from the Law Department of Washington and Lee University, Virginia, B.L. Mr. Mestrezat was admitted to the bar at Uniontown, Pa., in 1872, and practised until 1894, when he was elected law judge of the 14th Judicial District of Pennsylvania for a term of ten years, being elected November, 1893, but resigned Aug. 5, 1899, to accept the office of justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania; was nominated by the Pennsylvania Democratic State Convention, for justice of the Supreme Court of the State in June, 1899, and the following November, elected for a term of twenty-one years, commencing January, 1900. He was chairman of the Democratic Committee of Fayette County, Pa., several times a delegate to the Democratic State Conventions, delegate from Pennsylvania to the National Democratic Convention at Chicago in 1890, and actively supported President Cleveland's renomination. He is a member of the Pennsylvania State Bar Association, and the American Association for the Advancement of Science. He married in Uniontown, Pa., Aug. 1, 1888, Eliza Willson Ewing, died Jan. 15, 1890, and had a son, now deceased. Addresses: Uniontown and Philadelphia, Pa.

METCALF, Edwin D.:

Manufacturer; born in Smithfield, R. I., March 4, 1848; son of William and Nancy E. (Crook) Metcalf. He was educated in the Westford (Mass.) Academy. He is president of the Columbian Rope Company; vice-president of D. M. Osborne & Company, and the Cayuga Savings Bank; director of the Cayuga County National Bank; president of the Auburn and Northern Railroad; and director of Auburn and Syracuse Railroad, Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company of Massachusetts. He was a member of the staff of Governor George D. Robinson for three years, and assistant quartermaster-general of Massachusetts Volunteers. He has served as mayor of Springfield, Mass., and as a member of the Massachusetts House of Representatives and Senate. He has been in Europe nine times on business and for pleasure. In politics he is a Republican. Mr. Metcalf is a member of the City and Cayuga County Clubs of Auburn, N. Y., Nayassett Club in Springfield, Mass., and Citizens' Club, Syracuse, N. Y. He married in Fall River, Mass., Sept. 11, 1873, Carrie W. Flint, and they have three children. Address: 86 South Street, Auburn, N. Y.

METCALF, James A.:

Silversmith; born in Lowell, Mass., May 6, 1852; son of Isaac Newton and Nancy (Aiken) Metcalf. He received his education in the Highland Military Academy, Worcester, Mass. He has been engaged as a silversmith for the past thirty years: with the Meriden Britannia Company and its successor, the International Silver Company, twenty-three years; with Simpson, Hall, Miller & Company, three years, and for the past seven years as president and treasurer of The Metcalf Company of New York City. He is a member of the New York Yacht, Players', Church, and Mendelssohn Glee Clubs. Residence: The Oakdale, 36 West 35th Street. Office: 2 West 39th Street, New York City.

METCALF, Loretta Sutton:

Editor; born in Monmouth, Maine, Oct. 17, 1837; son of Mason J. and Hannah E. (Welch) Metcalf. He received his education in the public schools of Boston and Maine, and by private teachers; received the honorary degree of LL.D. from Iowa College, Iowa, and M.A. from Bates College, Maine. When he was young, Mr. Metcalf contributed to a considerable number of journals, including the Commonwealth, Congregationalist, Zion's Herald, Boston Traveler; later became the proprietor of five local weekly papers published in the vicinity of Boston; was managing editor and business manager of the North American Review, 1876-1885; founded the Forum in 1886, and continued in charge of it until 1891; established the Daily Florida Citizen in 1893, and edited and published it till 1897, retiring from active business in 1898. He is a member of the Authors Club. He married in Bath, Maine, Sept. 2, 1861, Amanda Ames Lemont, and has had two children. Address: Bath, Maine.

METCALF, Victor Howard:

Former secretary of the Navy; born in Utica, N. Y., Oct. 10, 1853; son of William and Sarah P. Metcalf. He was graduated from the Utica Free Academy, also from Russell's Military Academy, New Haven, Conn., and then entered the class of 1876 at Yale. During the college vacation; he studied law in the office of Senator Francis Kernan, as also in the offices of Horatio and John F. Seymour, at Utica, N. Y.; left the academic department of Yale in his Junior year and entered the Yale Law School, graduating therefrom in 1876. Mr. Metcalf was admitted to practice in the Supreme Court of Connecticut in June, 1876, and in the Supreme Court of New York in 1877; practised law in Utica, N. Y., for two years, then moved to California, locating in Oakland. He formed a law partnership in 1881 with George D. Metcalf (who is also a graduate of Yale) under the firm name of Metcalf & Metcalf. He was elected to the Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, and Fifty-eighth Congresses; was appointed secretary of Commerce and Labor, July 1, 1904, and secretary of the Navy, Dec. 17, 1906; resigning in 1907. Mr. Metcalf married at Oakland, Calif., April 11, 1882, E. Corinne Nicholson. Address: Oakland, Calif.

METCALF, Wilde Stevens:

Lawyer and financial agent; born in Milo, Maine, Sept. 10, 1855; son of Isaac Stevens and Antoinette B. (Putnam) Metcalf. He was graduated from Oberlin College, A.B., 1878, and from Kansas State University, LL.B., 1897. He was in the cheese and butter business, at Wellington, Ohio, 1878-1887; loan broker, financial agent and lawyer, at Lawrence, Kans., 1887-1898; major and colonel of the Twentieth Kansas Infantry, U. S. Volunteers, 1898-1899; and brevetted brigadier general, U. S. Volunteers, serving in the Philippine Islands. Since 1902 he has been U. S. pension agent of the Topeka, (Kans.) Agency. He was a delegate-at-large from Kansas to the National Republican Convention in Philadelphia in 1900. General Metcalf is past president of the Army of the Philippines and a member of the Military Order of Foreign Wars; also a member of the School Board of Lawrence, Kans., the Masonic order, and Phi Gamma Delta fraternity, the Topeka Club of Topeka, the University and Kansas City Clubs of Kansas City, Mo., and the Army and Navy Club of Washington, D. C. He married in Wellington, Ohio, June 30, 1878, Mary E. Crosier. Residence: 1236 Massachusetts Street, Lawrence, Kans. Office: Federal Building, Topeka, Kans.

METZ, Herman A.:

Comptroller of New York City, merchant; born in New York City, Oct. 19, 1867. After graduation from the public schools, he became an office boy, at the age of fourteen, with P. Schulze-Berge, founder of the corporation of Victor Koechl and Company, and while so engaged studied chemistry in the evening classes of Cooper Union. He became successively laboratory assistant, clerk, city salesman, traveling salesman, Boston agent and manager, and in 1893, the business was incorporated as the H. A. Metz Company, of which he was vice-president and treasurer until 1899, and has since been president, the company being manufacturers and importers of chemicals and dye stuffs. He is also head of H. A. Metz and Company drugs, and of the Consolidated Color and Chemical Company, manufacturers at Newark, N. J. Mr. Metz has served as a member of the Board of Education of Greater New York, and is now comptroller of the City of New York, elected in 1905. He is ex-president of the King's County Democratic Club, president of the National Civic Club of Brooklyn, and a member of the King's County Democratic Committee. He is also a member of the Society of Chemical Industry of London, Verein Deutscher Chemiker of Dresden, American Chemical Society, Electro-chemical Society, Chamber of Commerce of New York, Chemists Club and Drug Club. He is a director of the Merchants' Association, the Board of Trade and Transportation, the Manufacturers' Association of New York and the National Association of Manufacturers, and is one of the founders and directors of the Brooklyn League. He is also a member of the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences, Metropolitan Museum of Art, American Museum of Natural History, of the Riding and Driving, Germania, Crescent Athletic, Lincoln, Seymour and Bushwick Clubs of Brooklyn, and the Salmagundi, National Democratic, New York Athletic and Wool Clubs of New York City. Residence: 253 Clinton Avenue, Brooklyn. Offices: 122 Hudson Street, and Comptroller's Office, 280 Broadway, New York City.

MEYER, Annie Nathan:

Author; born in New York City, Feb. 19, 1867; daughter of Robert Weeks and Anne Augusta (Florance) Nathan. She belongs to the earliest Hebrew family to come to America (17th Century). She was educated at home. She married in New York City, Feb. 15, 1887, Dr. Alfred Meyer, and has a daughter. Mrs. Meyer started the movement that led to the founding of Barnard College, New York, affiliated with Columbia University, raising most of the money that ran the college for the first four years, and personally gathered together the first Board of Trustees. She was author of the petition to the trustees of Columbia which was favorably received, and obtained all the signatures herself to the petition. She is now a trustee of Barnard College and was formerly a trustee of the Aguilar Free Library before it was taken on by the New York Library. Mrs. Meyer is author of: Woman's Work in America; Helen Brent, M.D.; My Park Book; Robert Anny's—Poor Priest; also wrote a play A Dinner of Herbs (produced by the Sargent School of Dramatic Art), and many articles in leading magazines, art criticisms, stories, essays, skits, addresses, educational articles, articles against women suffrage, book reviews, nature sketches and editorials. She is a director and vice-president of the League for Civic Education; member of the Committee of One Hundred for the Association Opposed to the Extension of the Suffrage. She is a member of the Barnard Club of New York, Adirondack League Club, and the Lyceum Club of London. Address: 785 Madison Avenue, New York City.

MEYER, George von Lengerke:

Secretary of the Navy; born in Boston, June 24, 1858; son of the late George A. Meyer. His father was a native of New York, and his mother, Grace Helen Parker, a native of Boston, a granddaughter of the late Bishop Parker. He was prepared at Noble's School in Boston, entered Harvard College in the class of 1879, and on graduating went into the office of Alpheus H. Hardy & Co., remaining in this house until 1881, when he became a member of the firm of Linder and Meyer, East India merchants—a firm which his father had established on India wharf, Boston, in 1848, and the present offices of which are at 89 State Street. Mr. Meyer has been a director in numerous banks and manufacturing companies. He has taken an active interest in politics, and in 1889 was elected on the Republican ticket to the Common Council, in which he served two years. During this time he was a member of the finance committee, the committee on water, on laying out and widening streets, and on the Charles River bridges. In the fall of 1890 he was elected to the Board of Aldermen from the Fourth District, receiving the nomination of both the Democrats and Republicans; and in 1891 he was elected on the Republican ticket to the lower house of the Legislature. In 1893 he was chosen speaker of the House and reelected for three consecutive years. Mr. Meyer was a member of the Republican National Committee for eight years; was appointed chairman of the Massachusetts Paris Exposition managers by Governor Walcott. Mr. Meyer was appointed American ambassador to Italy by President McKinley in the fall of 1900; was transferred from Rome to be ambassador to Russia by President Roosevelt in March, 1905, and recalled in Feb., 1907, to enter the cabinet of President Roosevelt, and took the oath of office as postmaster-general on March 4, 1907; holding that post until March 6, 1909, when he took the oath of office as Secretary of the Navy in the cabinet of President Taft. While in college Mr. Meyer took an active part in athletics, and was on the winning class senior crew of 1879. He is a member of the St. Botolph, Somerset and Racket Clubs, Boston; the Myopia Club of Hamilton, Massachusetts; the Harvard and Knickerbocker Clubs, New York, and the Metropolitan Club of Washington. Mr. Meyer married at Lenox, Mass., June 25, 1885, Alice Appleton, and they have three children. Residence: Hamilton, Mass.. Office: Washington, D. C.

MEYERS, James Cowden:

Lawyer; born in Columbia, Pa., August 30, 1869; son of James Alfred and Anna M. (Cowden) Meyers. He was graduated from Princeton in 1891, and from the New York Law School in 1893. He was admitted to the New York State Bar in June, 1893; elected alderman of the Thirty-fourth District of New York City, 1901, 1903 and 1905; and during the term 1906-1907 was Republican leader; chairman of the Committee on Rules and Committee on Salaries and Offices. Mr. Meyers is a member of the New York State Bar Association, the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, and of Princeton Chapter of the Phi Beta Kappa Society. In the summer of 1905 he was appointed special agent of the U. S. Interior Department to investigate conditions on the Alleghany and Cattaraugus reservations of the Seneca Indians. In 1907 he was appointed by Governor Hughes a member of the New York City Charter Revision Commission. He is a member of the City and Princeton Clubs. Mr. Meyers married in Somerville, N. J., March 9, 1898, Helen E. Hendrickson and they have one daughter. Address: 527 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

MICHAEL, William Henry:

Consular officer; born in Marysville, Ohio, July 14, 1845; son of Munson Hoyt and Nancy Kincaid (Kezert) Michael. He was mustered into the U. S. Volunteer Infantry service, Sept. 21, 1861; honorably discharged therefrom on account of injuries sustained in and subsequent to the battle of Shiloh, Oct. 23, 1862; reentered the service in 1863, for duty in the Mississippi Squadron, U. S. Navy, as master's mate; was promoted in 1864 for gallant conduct in action, and was honorably discharged with the thanks of the Government in June, 1866. He took an irregular course in the University of Iowa, 1866-1869; entered newspaper work on the Sioux City (Iowa) Journal, 1873, and afterward owned and edited several Nebraska newspapers, and later, 1887-1890, was Washington correspondent for newspapers. He was clerk of Printing Records in the U. S. Senate, and became editor and compiler of the Congressional Directory and the Abridgment of Messages and Documents, June, 1887. He served in that capacity for six years, and was again, in 1895, employed by the Senate as editor of the Directory and Abridgment, and performed that duty two years. Mr. Michael was appointed chief clerk of the Department of State, May 20, 1897; and was appointed Nov. 6, 1905 consul-general in Calcutta, India, where he has served ever since. He is author of: History of the Mississippi Squadron, 1886; Better Dead than Homeless (2 editions) 1888-1900; History of the Declaration of Independence, 1895; United States Tariff Laws, 1778-1897; The Homesteader's Daughter; Laws Relating to the Navy and Marine Corps, 1898; History of the Department of State, 1903. Mr. Michael married, Nov. 15, 1871, Emily J. Quinn. Home: Washington, D. C. Official address: American Consulate-General, Calcutta, India.

MICHAUD, John Stephen:

Catholic archbishop; born in Burlington, Vt., Nov. 24, 1843; son of Stephen and Catherine (O'Regan) Michaud. He was graduated from Holy Cross College, Worcester, Mass., in 1870, and after a theological course at St. Mary's Seminary, Troy, N. Y., was ordained priest June 7, 1873. He filled pastorates in the diocese and offices at the Cathedral of Burlington, Vt., and June 29, 1892, was consecrated bishop of Burlington. Address: Burlington, Vt.

MICHENER, Harry Gorgas:

Banker; born in Philadelphia, Aug. 1, 1852; son of John Hanson and Sarah Keyser (Gorgas) Michener. He was educated in the University of Pennsylvania. He is president and director of the Bank of North America, and the National Optical Company; director of the American Surety Company, Land Title & Trust Company, and the Delaware Insurance Company, and is a member of the firm of J. H. Michener & Company. He married Lillie Atherton Middleton. Address: 956 North Front Street, Philadelphia.

MICKS, Henry Rathbone:

Manufacturer; born at Clinton, N. C., July 25, 1854; son of Dr. William and Cornelia (Rathbone) Micks. He was educated in Union College, was secretary and general manager of La France Manufacturing Company, Elmira, N. Y., 1875-1879; member of the firm of Boykin, Carner and Company, Baltimore, 1879-1896; and has been president of Rumsey and Company, Limited, Seneca Falls, N. Y., manufacturers of pumps, fire engines, since 1896. He is a member of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity, and of the Maryland Club of Baltimore, the Seneca Falls Club of Seneca Falls, and the Alpha Delta Phi Club of New York City. He married at Seneca Falls, N. Y., April 12, 1876, Ariana Rumsey, and they have five children. Address: Seneca Falls, N. Y.

MIDDLEKAUFF, George Wiles:

Physicist; born on his father's farm near Leitersburg, Md., June 5, 1869; son of Hiram D. and Lydia Ann (Wiles) Middlekauff. He was graduated from Franklin and Marshall College, A.B., 1891; A. M., 1894. In 1891-1892 he was professor of mathematics in Palatinate College, Myerstown, Pa., which position he resigned in 1892 to take a year of post-graduate work in electrical engineering in Johns Hopkins University. He was principal of the Leitersburg, (Md.) schools, 1890-1894; principal and instructor in science and mathematics of the Waynesboro High School, Pa., 1894-1899, resigning to again enter the Johns Hopkins University; where he took a complete course in advanced physics. During this course he was awarded, for two consecutive years, the University Scholarship in physics; and for one year he was student assistant in the Physical Laboratory. During the summer of 1902 he pursued a course in laboratory arts in the University of Chicago. He was graduated from the Johns Hopkins University, Ph. D., 1903; the subject of his dissertation being, "Measurement of Certain Wave-Lengths in the Spark-Spectra of Iron and Titanium, together with a study of the Possible Effect of Capacity and Self Induction in the Spark Circuit." July 1, 1903 he became laboratory assistant in the Electrical Division of the Bureau of Standards, Washington, D. C., in 1906 he was promoted to the position of assistant physicist in the Section of Photometry of the same Bureau and at present he has charge of the standard photometric work of the Bureau. Dr. Middlekauff is a member of the American Physical Society, the American Engineering Society and the Philosophical Society of Washington; fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science; and in 1904 he was a member of the International Electrical Congress, St. Louis, Mo. He married July 26, 1904, Anna Marietta Harbaugh of Waynesboro, Pa. Residence: 1338 Newton St., N. W. Office: Bureau of Standards, Washington, D. C.

MIKELL, William E.:

Professor of law; was born in Sumter, S. C., Jan. 29, 1868. He was graduated from the South Carolina Military Academy, 1890 he was principal of schools in Blackstock, S. C., and Lincolnton, N. C., 1890-1895 studying law while teaching, and following up with a law course in the University of Virginia. He was admitted to the bar in South Carolina in 1894; practised for one year in Sumter, then went to Philadelphia, where for a year he was engaged in legal literary work. In 1897 he was appointed instructor in law the University of Pennsylvania, was made assistant professor in 1899, and elected professor in 1902. He is a member of the Kappa Alpha fraternity and an honorary member of the legal fraternity of the Phi Delta Phi. He is the author of a work on criminal law; of the Life of Chief Justice Taney in Great American Lawyers; of the article on False Pretense in the Encyclopedia of Law and Procedure, and is a contributor to several legal and other periodicals. Address: 366 Church Lane, Germantown, Philadelphia.

MILBURN, George Roszelle:

Lawyer; born in Washington, D. C., Nov. 15, 1850; son of Benedict and Martha (Page) Milburn. He was graduated from Yale, A.B., 1872, and National University, D. C., graduating LL.B., 1880. He was admitted to the bar in New Mexico, 1881; elected first district judge of the 7th District of Montana, 1889, on admission of State, reelected in 1892, served 1889-1897; elected justice of the Supreme Court of Montana, 1900, serving a six-year term. Mr. Milburn is an Odd Fellow. He married in Washington, D. C., Dec. 7, 1875, Eugenie Prentiss Bliss, and has four children. Address: Miles City, Montana.

MILLARD, Joseph Hopkins:

Banker and ex-United States senator; born in Hamilton, Canada, April, 1836, the son of the natives of the United States temporarily residing abroad. In childhood he removed with his parents to Iowa, near Sabula, Jackson County, and at eighteen entered a store in Dubuque as clerk. Two years later he removed to Omaha, which has since been his home; engaged in the land business and later in banking, becoming a director of the Omaha National Bank in July, 1866, its cashier, Jan. 1, 1867, and in 1885 its president, still retaining his place at the head of the institution. He served one term as mayor Omaha, was for six years a Government director of the Union Pacific Railroad Company, and subsequently served the stockholders of the company as one of their representatives on the board for a period of seven years. He was elected to the United States Senate, March 28, 1901 succeeding John M. Thurston. Mr. Millard took his seat, December 2, 1901, and his term of service expired March 3, 1907. Address: Omaha, Neb.

MILLER, Augustine A.:

President of Canisius College, Jesuit priest; born in Uznach, Switzerland, May 13, 1869; son of Augustine and Philomene (Pircher) Miller. He was educated in the high school and college of Feldkirch, Austria, studied philology in Wymandsrade, philosophy in Exaeten, and theology in Valkenburg, all in Holland. He was professor of ancient languages at St. Ignatius College, Cleveland, Ohio, 1893-1898, and 1903-1905, and has been president of Canisius College, Buffalo, N. Y., since 1905. Address: Canisius College, Buffalo, N. Y.

MILLER, Charles Henry:

Artist, landscape painter; born in New York City, March 20, 1842; son of Jacob and Jane M. (Taylor) Miller. He attended Mt. Washington Institute, New York City, the art schools of the National Academy of Design, New York City, and the Royal Academy of Bavaria at Munich, Germany. He first exhibited his paintings at the National Academy of Design, in 1860; took the M.D. degree in 1863, and received his diploma from the hand of William Cullen Bryant; made his first voyage to Europe as surgeon of the packet ship Harvest Queen in 1864, visiting Paris, London and Scotland. He became academicien of the National Academy in 1875. Mr. Miller is best known for his paintings of Long Island scenes. He was five years president of the Art Club of New York; president of the American Art Committee of the International Exposition at Munich, 1883; former president of the Shakespeare Club of Queens, L. I. He is a member of the Municipal Art Society of New York, American Geographic Society, the Masonic order (past master); and the Board of Education of Queens Union Free School. He is author of: The Philosophy of Art in America; and is an artistic, poetic and philosophical essayist, strongly advocating human reason and judicial sense in place of arbitrary pacification. Mr. Miller is a member of the Century, Lotos, and Republican Clubs. He married at Queens, L. I., October, 1900, Elizabeth Dorothea Mosback, née Herdfelder. Address: "Queens Court," Queens, L. I., N. Y.

MILLER, Charles Sumner:

Lawyer; born at Hornellsville, N. Y., June 2, 1856; son of Josiah Conger and Emeline (Gibbs) Miller. He resided in Rochester, N. Y., during boyhood. He was graduated from Yale, A.B. in 1877; and from Columbia Law School, LL.B. in 1879. He studied law in the office of Hon. Ernest Hall, late justice of the Supreme Court; and he has been engaged in general practice, since 1885, in New York City, and is counsel for and director in several business corporations. Mr. Miller was one of the compilers of a History of the Class of 1877 in Yale College, published 1904; has been a member and vice-president of the Patria Club of New York City. He is a member of the Yale Club of New York, and the Crescent Athletic Club of Brooklyn. Residence: 71 Columbia Heights, Brooklyn. Office: 2 Rector Street, New York City.

MILLER, Cincinnatus Heine ("Joaquin Miller"):

Author; born in the Wabash District, Ind., Nov. 10, 1842. He removed with his parents to Oregon in 1852; and afterward mined in California. He was a volunteer in Walker's Nicaragua Expedition of 1855, after that lived with the Indians of the Pacific coast until 1860, then studied law for a while under George H. Williams afterward attorney-general of the United States and 1863 edited a Democratic paper at Eugene City, Ore., which was suppressed by the authorities for disunion sentiments. He engaged in the practice of law at Canon City, Ore., in 1863, and was a district judge in Oregon from 1866 to 1870. During this period his poems began to attract some attention, taking his pen-name of Joaquin from Joaquin Murietta, a Mexican bandit of whom he had written a defense. In 1870 he went to the Eastern States and in 1871 to London, where he gathered into a volume some of his poems which had been published in the United States, and a few others, under the title Songs of the Sierras. The volume brought him great popularity. He afterward did newspaper work in New York, Washington and San Francisco, and made his home in Oakland, Calif., until recently; and he was correspondent of the New York Journal and the San Francisco Examiner in the Klondike in 1897 and 1898. Among his volumes of verses are: Songs of the Sunland; Songs of Italy; Songs of the Mexican Seas; Chants for the Boer. He is also author of: The Danites; In the Sierras; '49 (novels), and of the plays of the same names; and of several other books and plays. Address: The Hights, Dimond, Calif.

MILLER, Clifton Merideth:

Physician; born in Richmond, Va., April 21, 1873; son of William G. and Emma H. (Wiglesworth) Miller. He was educated in Richmond College, and was graduated as M.D. from the Medical College of Virginia, 1892. He was demonstrator of anatomy in the Medical College of Virginia, 1896-1905, professor of anatomy, 1905-1906, and has been professor of diseases of the nose and throat since 1906. He was acting assistant surgeon of the U. S. Marine Hospital Service, 1893, and captain and surgeon of Richmond Light Infantry Blues Battalion, 1896-1901. Dr. Miller was president of the Alumni Society of the Medical College of Virginia, 1903-1904; vice-president of the Richmond Academy of Medicine and Surgery, 1906; has been a member of the Executive Committee of the Medical Society of Virginia since 1902; is surgeon to the Department of Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat diseases in Richmond City Dispensary, and laryngologist and rhinologist to the Memorial Hospital. Dr. Miller married at Wilmington, Va., Sept. 2, 1902, Mary Ashley Bell, and they have two children. Address: 217 East Grace Street, Richmond, Va.

MILLER, Elmer Pliny:

Clergyman; born at Saranac Lake, N. Y., Feb. 28, 1860; son of Van Buren and Sarah E. (Malbone) Miller. He was graduated from Middlebury College, 1884, and from the General Theological Seminary, 1889. He was missionary of All Saints' Church, Hudson, N. Y., and Trinity Church, Claverack, N. Y., 1889-1891, and has been rector of St. Luke's Church, Catskill, N. Y., since 1891. Mr. Miller married in Brooklyn, N. Y., Oct. 14, 1890, Sarah L. Barrett, and they have one son. Address: Catskill, N. Y.

MILLER, Francis Trevelyan:

Author, editor, historian; born in Southington, Conn., Oct. 8, 1877; son of Elijah Hutchinson and Jane (Hull) Miller; grandson of Rev. Thomas Miller, Baptist clergyman of New York, Michigan and Ohio; descendant from Governor William Bradford of Massachusetts, 1620 (Mayflower). He was educated in Lewis Academy, Southington, Conn., Trinity College, Hartford law department of Washington and Lee University, Virginia. He entered journalism as correspondent of the Hartford Courant, New York Sun, Philadelphia Press, and special assignments for leading American publications; was in the editorial staff of the Bristol Press; State editor, news editor and editorial writer of the Hartford Globe; editor Connecticut Magazine, 1902; made sociological investigations in Greater Antilles, appearing in World's Work, 1903, Review of Reviews, Independent, World To-day, 1904; articles in Overland Monthly, Outdoor Life, Motor, Housekeeper, etc.; founder and editor-in-chief "Journal of American History since 1906."

He is author of Martyrs on the Altar of Civilization, 1907; Portrait Life of Lincoln, 1909; managing editor of Commonwealths History of the United States; now in press, 46 volumes. Many honors have been bestowed upon Dr. Miller by academic institutions including the degree Litt. D. He is a member of the American Academy of Political and Social Science, American Historical Association; American Statistical Association; National Geographic Society; fellow of American Geographical Society; Society of American Authors; editor-in-chief "American Herodity" series, 1909. He is now president associated Publishers of American Records. He is Historian-General of the National Society of Sons and Daughters of the Mayflower. He married in Meriden, Conn., Sept. 7, 1903, Clara E. Bickford. Residence: Hartford, Conn. Office: 341 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

MILLER, Frank Ebenezer:

Physician; born in Hartford, Conn., April 12, 1859; son of Ebenezer Bogue and Mayett (Deming) Miller; direct descendant, in the eighth generation, from William Miller, of London, England, (who settled at Ipswich, Mass., 1638, afterward of the original settlers of Northampton, Mass., 1653, and of Northfield, Mass., 1671), and of his wife, Patience; descendant, on maternal side, from Governor Tryon of New York, and from the Standish, Welles, and Deming families. He was prepared in the Hartford High School, was graduated from Trinity College, Hartford, A.B., 1881, M.A., 1886, and from the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York, M.D., 1884, and was medical and surgical interne at New York, Charity and St. Francis Hospitals, 1884-1886. Dr. Miller became sanitary inspector for the New York Board of Health, 1886-1889; then served successively as assistant to Professors Orin Pomeroy, L. Emmett Holt of the New York Polyclinic, John H. Ripley, George M. Lefferts of the Vanderbilt Clinic, Joseph Howe of New York University, John Dorring of the Post-Graduate Hospital, Dr. W. P. Swift, Dr. Urban G. Hitchcock, and Dr. R. P. Lincoln, distinguished throat specialist. Dr. Miller was attending physician to the Minerva Home, 1885-1888; to the Wayside Nursery, 1886-1888; attending physician St. Joseph Hospital, 1887-1897, and now consulting physician to St. Francis Hospital; was appointed in 1906 visiting physician to the New York Hospital, and is now also a member of the Board of Medical Directors of the Loomis Sanitarium. He has specialized on diseases of the nose, throat and ear, in which branches he is recognized as a world-wide authority; was throat surgeon at the Vanderbilt Clinic and at the Bellevue Hospital Clinic, 1890-1893, and has been laryngologist to the Metropolitan College of Music since 1890. His private practice, begun in 1886, has expanded until it is now, probably, the largest individual practice in New York City, his patients numbering from fifty to sixty per day; and he has treated 88,000 in the past ten years. While a student, Dr. Miller was solo tenor in the Glee Club of Trinity College; and later he was solo tenor of St. Thomas' Church, New York City, also sang in church choirs in Hartford, Conn., Brooklyn and Manhattan. His personal interest in music led him to an exhaustive study of the voice and the vocal organs, and he established a principal of hollow space resonances which has gained wide and authoritative recognition as the nearest to a perfect theory of voice production. He was the first to practically advocate a regular standard for tone of voice production, by which any voice can be definitely measured and classified; also a Voice Sifting Bureau. Many of the most prominent singers of the country are among his patients. Because Dr. Miller adds to his distinction as a medical throat specialist the qualifications of a high class singer and musician, he was selected by Mr. Oscar Hammerstein, the distinguished impresario, to pass upon the throats and vocal organs of his artists, and a full page article in the New York Sunday American of Aug. 30, 1908, quotes Mr. Hammerstein as saying: "My innovation means a revolution in voice-training methods that ultimately will benefit every young singer in this country. Through the direct advantage gained by applicants for positions in my chorus, other singers all over the country will benefit by personal knowledge of the anatomical and scientific aspects of their instrument and their art." Dr. Miller, in a paper written for the Frankel Festschrift, and read before the American Laryngological, Rhinological and Otological Society at Kansas City, proposed a new theory of the origin of nodules, from personal observation of 234 cases, and the first scientific investigations conducted in the New Surgical Laboratory of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of New York, were a series of original experiments which confirmed his theory. Dr. Miller is author, in collaboration with Dr. James P. McEvoy and Professor J. E. Weeks, of A Compend of Nose, Throat and Ear Diseases, 1892; and he has written numerous papers on the voice and the vocal organs. He has also made valuable investigations upon the care of consumptives, especially in connection with hygienic and dietetic treatment and the thorough sterilization of milk, and has published various papers pertaining to these subjects. Dr. Miller is a member of the American Medical Association, the American Laryngological, Rhinological and Otological Society, and of several state and local medical societies; is a 32d-degree Mason, Knight Templar, Shriner and member of other Masonic bodies; also an Elk and member of the Eastern Star; and he is a member of the Hospital Graduates, The Players, The Lotus, Mendelssohn Glee, New York Yacht, Republican and Masonic Clubs, and of the New England Society in New York City. Dr. Miller married, April 28, 1892, Emily, daughter of Edward Weston, of Yonkers, N. Y., and they have two daughters, Laura and Frances. Address: 22 West 31st Street, New York City.

MILLER, Frank Ellsworth:

Professor of mathematics; born in Fairfield County, Ohio, April 17, 1862; son of Martin P. and Josephine S. Miller. He was graduated from Otterbein University, A.B., 1887, A.M., 1890, Ph.D., 1891. He was superintendent of public schools, 1887-1888; professor of mathematics at Northwestern College, Canfield, Ohio, 1888-1889; president of the same college in 1889 and 1890, and has been professor of mathematics at Otterbein University since 1890. He is a director of the Bank of Westerville. He is a Republican and a member of the United Brethren Church. He has membership in the Ohio Teachers of Mathematics and Science Association, International Association for the Promotion of Quarter-nions; is a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. Professor Miller married in Westerville, Ohio, July 23, 1889, Nellie S. Knox, and they had a daughter, now deceased. Address: Westerville, Ohio.

MILLER, Harriet Mann: ("Olive Thorne Miller"):

Author; born in Auburn, N. Y., 1831; daughter of Seth Hunt and Mary Field (Holbrook) Mann. She received her education in private schools. She married in Rock Island, Ill., Aug. 16, 1854, Watts Todd Miller, and has four children. She is author of: Little Folks in Feathers and Furs, 1874; Nimps's Troubles, 1876; Queer Pets at Marey's, 1880; Little People of Asia, 1882; Bird Ways, 1885; In Nesting Time, 1888; The Woman's Club, 1891; Little Brothers of the Air, 1892; The Bird Lover in the West, 1894; Our Home Pets, 1894; Four-handed Folk, 1896; Upon the Tree Tops, 1897; The First Book of Birds, 1899; The Second Book of Birds, 1901; True Stories from my Note Book, 1903; With the Birds in Maine, 1904; Kristy's Queer Christman, 1904; Kristy's Surprise Party, 1905; Kristy's Rainyday, 1906; What Happened to Barbara, 1907; Harry's Runaway, 1907; The Bird Our Brother, 1908. Mrs. Miller is a member of the American Ornithologists Union, Audubon societies, and honorary member of many bird societies, also a member of the New York Sorosis, Brooklyn Woman's Club, New York Meridian Club, and the Unitarian Woman's League. Address: 5928 Hays Avenue, Los Angeles, Calif.

MILLER, Henry B.:

Consular officer; born in Sidney, Ohio, April 11, 1854; son of Albert S. and Cecilia (Harris) Miller. He was graduated from the high school at Toledo, Ohio, in 1873, and two years later went to Oregon, where he engaged in contracting, engineering and lumbering operations. He was elected to the Oregon Senate, serving 1885-1889, and in the Oregon House of Representatives, 1891. Mr. Miller became president of the Oregon State Agricultural College, 1897-1898, the Oregon State Board of Agriculture, 1898-1900. He was appointed consul at Chungking, March 6, 1900; consul at Newchwang, March 20, 1901; consul-general May 12, 1904; appointed March 8, 1905, consul-general at Yokohama, where he is still serving. Address: American Consulate General, Yokohama, Japan.

MILLER, James Monroe:

Congressman and lawyer; born at Three Springs, Huntingdon County, Pa.; son of Jonathan and Christiana Miller. He was graduated from Dickinson Seminary, Williamsport, Pa., studied law and after admission to the Kansas Bar engaged in practice at Council Grove, Kan. He was elected county attorney of Morris County, Kansas, in 1880 for a term of two years, and reelected in 1884 and 1886. He was elected a member of the Kansas Legislature in 1894; elected a Republican presidential elector for Kansas in 1884, and was selected by his colleagues to carry the vote of Kansas to Washington. Mr. Miller is a Methodist and was a delegate to the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1896. He was elected to the Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, and Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth Congresses, and reelected to the Sixty-first Congress from the Fourth Kansas District. Address: Council Grove, Kan.

MILLER, John Anthony:

Professor of mathematics and astronomy; born in Greensburg, Ind., Dec. 16, 1859; son of Bruno B. and Katherine (Arnold) Miller. He was graduated from Indiana University, A.B., 1890, received the degrees of A.M. from Leland Stanford, Jr., University, 1893, and Ph.D. from the University of Chicago, 1899. He was instructor in mathematics, Indiana University, 1890; instructor in Leland Stanford, Jr., University, 1891-1893; assistant professor of mathematics at Leland Stanford, Jr., University, 1893-1894; acting professor of mathematics at Indiana University, 1894-1895; professor of mechanics and astronomy, 1896-1906; professor of mathematics and astronomy at Swarthmore College since 1906. He had charge of the Indiana University Expedition to observe the total solar eclipse in 1905. Dr. Miller has written a text-book on trigonometry and has been a frequent contributor to the various astronomical journals of this country and Europe and to the leading mathematical journals of America. He is a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, American Mathematical Society, Astronomical and Astrophysical Society of America, and of the Scientific Society of the Sigma Xi fraternity. He married at Kokomo, Ind., Dec. 24, 1880, Mary Katherine Goodwine, and they have two children. Address: Swarthmore College, Swarthmore, Pa.

MILLER, Nathan L.:

Jurist; born in Solon, Cortland County, N. Y., Oct. 10, 1868; son of Samuel and Almira (Russell) Miller. He was graduated from the Cortland Normal School, 1887; and was admitted to the New York bar, Nov. 21, 1893. Mr. Miller was a member of the law firm of Dougherty and Miller, Cortland, N. Y., 1893-1903, corporation counsel of the city of Cortland, 1900-1901; school commissioner of the First District, Cortland County, 1894-1900; State comptroller, 1902-1903. He was appointed justice of the Supreme Court, Nov. 10, 1903; and elected in 1904 for the term expiring in 1918. He was designated and has served as associate justice of the Appellate Division, Second Department, since Dec. 19, 1904. He married at Marathon, N. Y., Nov. 23, 1896, Elizabeth Davern, and they have three children. Address: Cortland, N. Y.

MILLER, Robert Morrison, Jr.:

Cotton manufacturer; born in Pleasant Valley, S. C., April 20, 1856; son of Robert Morrison and Ann Elizabeth (Cureton)

Miller. He was graduated from Davidson College, N. C., in June, 1876, with the degree of A.B. Mr. Miller is president and treasurer of The Elizabeth Mills; secretary and treasurer of The Buford Hotel Company; president of the Millerton Homes Company; president of The Cotton Manufacturers' Association of North Carolina; President of the Southern Manufacturers' Club, Charlotte; member of the Board of Water Commissioners of the City of Charlotte; member of the Manufacturers' Club of Philadelphia; director of the Commercial National Bank, of Charlotte; also a director of several cotton mills. He is an ex-president of the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association; ex-vice-president and treasurer of the D. A. Tompkins Company and Atherton Cotton Mills. In politics he is a protection Democrat. He married in Charlotte, N. C., Feb. 6, 1890, Estelle Ross, and they have one daughter, Sara Elizabeth Miller, born March 19, 1899. Residence: 406 North Tyron Street. Office: Piedmont Insurance Building, Charlotte, N. C.

MILLER, Roswell:

Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway Company; born at Hartford, Susquehanna County, Pa., Oct. 28, 1843. Previous to May, 1882, he was secretary and general superintendent of the Cairo and Vincennes Railroad, then became second vice-president and treasurer of the Chicago and Western Indiana Railroad until April, 1883, when he entered the service of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway Company in which he has ever since continued. He was assistant to the general manager until March, 1884; assistant general manager until April, 1885; general manager until May, 1888; president until September, 1899, and since then has been president of the Board of Directors. Residence: 19 East 62d Street. Office: 30 Broad Street, New York City.

MILLER, Rudolph P.:

Civil engineer; born in New York City, July 5, 1866; son of Anton W. and Matilda

E. (Schmah) Miller. He was graduated from the College of the City of New York, B.S., 1885, and from Columbia University, C.E. in 1888. His early professional work was as engineer on the Richmond and Danville Railroad and the Long Island Railroad; he was ten years connected with Department of Buildings, New York City, and during the last five years, was chief engineer in the Borough of Manhattan; and he is now in private practice. He was appointed an expert to investigate into the causes of failure of the Criminal Court Building. Mr. Miller is a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, and of the Committee of Experts to Revise the Building Laws of New York City; member of the American Society for Testing Materials, Society of Engineers of New York City, National Fire Protection Association. He is an authority on building laws and fire protection and lecturer on such subjects; and a contributor to technical literature, and is a member of the Engineers' Club. He married at Widewater, Va., 1892, Agnes Robinson Nelson, and they have three children. Address: 141 East 40th Street, New York City.

MILLER, Spencer:

Civil engineer; born in Waukegan, Ill., April 25, 1859; son of Samuel Fisher and Charlotte (Howe) Miller. He was graduated from the Worcester (Mass.) Polytechnic Institute, 1879. He is an inventor and designer of cableways, notably the marine cableways for life saving and for coaling warships at sea, traveling cableways used on Chicago drainage canal, Sault Ste. Marie Canal, and Panama Canal; and is chief engineer of cableway department of the Lidgerwood Manufacturing Company. He is a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers, Canadian Institute of Mining Engineers, American Institute of Mining Engineers; and trustee of the South Orange Free Library. He is a member of the Engineers' Club of New York, the Essex County Country Club of Orange, and the Metropolitan Club of Washington. He married at Worcester, Mass., Jan. 1, 1885, Hattie M. Ruggles, and they have three children. Residence: South Orange, N. J. Address: 96 Liberty Street, New York City.

MILLER, Warner:

Manufacturer and ex U. S. Senator; born at Hamilton, Oswego County, N. Y., Aug. 12, 1838; son of Hiram, and descendant of John Miller, who came from Germany, and settled in Westchester County, N. Y., 1680. He was graduated from Union College, 1860, and afterward received the degree of LL.D. from Union and Syracuse Universities. After graduation he became professor of Greek and Latin in the Collegiate Institute at Fort Edward, N. Y., but at the beginning of the Civil War enlisted in the Union Army as a private in the Fifth New York Cavalry, in which he was soon promoted to lieutenant. He was in active service under Sheridan in the Shenandoah Valley, and in the battle of Winchester was severely wounded and confined some time in a Confederate hospital. Receiving his honorable discharge at the end of his term of enlistment he went to Herkimer, N. Y., and was employed in the mechanical department of a paper mill, of which he in time became superintendent. He took great interest in the use of wood pulp as a material for making printing paper, and made many inventions of value in connection with that branch of manufacture. He obtained a large interest in the mill at Herkimer, established others at Palmer's Falls and Lyon's Falls, and has long been regarded as the leading and most successful representative of that branch of the paper industry. Mr. Miller was elected as a Republican to the General Assembly of New York in 1874 and 1875; was elected to the Forty-sixth and Forty-seventh Congresses; was elected to the U. S. Senate in 1881 and served until 1887. He was the author of the Alien Contract Labor Law. He is a member of the Lawyers' Union League, Republican and University Clubs of New York City. He married in 1864, Caroline Churchill. Address: 100 Broadway, New York City.

MILLER, William Edward:

Ex-senator; born at West Hill, Cumberland County, Pa., Feb. 5, 1836; son of A. G. and Eleanor Miller. He was educated in the common schools of Pennsylvania and was engaged in farming when the Civil War began. He enlisted Aug. 8, 1861, in Company H of the Third Pennsylvania Cavalry Regiment and before being mustered out was elected second lieutenant of the company, was commissioned as such and served in that company until Aug. 27, 1864, participating in thirty-seven engagements. He was promoted to captain for gallantry at Antietam, where he opened the fight with his command, and at Gettysburg he won the Congressional Medal of Honor for bravery, and was wounded in that battle. In 1865 he removed to Carlisle, Pa., and was engaged in mercantile pursuits until 1898, when he was elected to the Pennsylvania Senate from the 32d District, serving in the sessions of 1899 and 1901. He has also served as chief Burgess of the City of Carlisle, and as secretary of the Board of Trade. He is a member of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion and was the original commander of Post 201, Grand Army of the Republic of the Department of Pennsylvania, and has served as quartermaster since 1887. He is also a member of the Medal of Honor Legion of the United States, and is a vestryman of the Episcopal Church. He married, first, in 1856, Elizabeth Ann Hocker, who died in 1859, and by whom he had two daughters, one of whom died while he was in the Army; and in 1868 he married Anna D. Bush, daughter of J. S. Bush of Tioga County, Pa. Address: Carlisle, Pa.

MILLET, Francis Davis:

Genre painter, war correspondent and author; born at Mattapoisett, Mass., Nov. 3, 1846; son of Dr. Asa Millet, a physician of East Bridgewater, Mass. He was graduated from Harvard, A.B., 1869 and later A.M. He took part in the war as a drummer and assistant surgeon; and after leaving Harvard was a student in the Royal Academy of Fine Arts at Antwerp, and also studied in France and Italy, at the same time writing illustrated articles for American periodicals, and visiting the Vienna Exposition of 1873, where he was secretary to the Massachusetts Commission. He was a correspondent of the New York Herald and the London Daily News, attached to the staff of Generals Skobeteff and Gousko in the Russo-Turkish War of 1877-1878, receiving several military crosses and medals, and later the Legion of Honor of France, and the first class order of the Sacred Treasure of Japan. He was director of decorations during the constructive period and director of functions during the fair, at the World's Columbian Exposition. He was special correspondent of the London Times with the expedition to the Philippines in 1898. He is best known as a painter of genre subjects of England in the Eighteenth Century and of classic Rome and Greece in which costumes and interiors are studied with much detail. He is an academician of the National Academy of Design, member of the Institute of Painters in Oil Colors, London, and honorary member of the American Institute of Architects; member of the New York Municipal Art Commission; member of the Niagara Falls Commission; commissioner general to the Tokyo exposition. He has a summer residence in the village of Broadway, Worcestershire, England. Studios: 6 East 23d Street, New York City, and 1256 Wisconsin Avenue, Washington, D. C.

MILLIKEN, Charles F.:

President of the New York State Civil Service Commission; born in Canandaigua, N. Y., Aug. 27, 1864; son of Nathan J. and Orlene O. (Sutton) Milliken. He was educated in Canandaigua Academy. He has devoted his life to newspaper work; is part owner and editor of the Ontario County Times, founded by his father in 1852. He was chairman of the Ontario County Republican Committee, 1887-1888; was alternate to National Republican Convention, in 1900; was appointed member of State Civil Service Commission in 1903, and has been its president since January, 1905. He is manager of the business of C. F. & R. B. Milliken. He is a trustee of Frederick Ferris Thompson Hospital; president of Clark Manor House, Home for Old People; and president of the Ontario County Historical Society. Mr. Milliken married in Canandaigua, N. Y., June 18, 1895, Margaret Townley, and they have three children. Address: Canandaigua, N. Y.

MILLIKEN, James Foster:

Lawyer; born in Lewiston, Pa., July 19, 1847; son of Samuel and Mary (Porter) Milliken. He was educated in Lewistown Academy, Tuscarora (Pa.) Academy, Pennsylvania Military Academy and Iron City College. He ran away from the Pennsylvania Military Academy in 1863 and entered the Union Army as a member of Company A, Independent Battalion, Pennsylvania Volunteers. He was admitted to the bar of Blair County in 1868; was elected district attorney of Blair County in 1874, and went to Egypt in 1877, for the purpose of entering the Egyptian military service during the Turko-Russian War, and was appointed by Loring Pasha (General W. W. Loring) lieutenant-colonel on his staff, but was not commissioned, as soon afterward all Americans in the service of the Khedive were relieved from duty. He remained in Egypt six years. He was elected colonel of the Fifth Regiment of the National Guard of Pennsylvania in 1874. He is a member of the Sons of Revolution, the Masonic order, and the Knights of Pythias. Mr. Milliken married at Hollidaysburg, Pa., Feb. 10, 1869, Fannie Caldwell, and they had a daughter (now deceased), and a son. Address: 287 Broadway, New York City.

MILLS, Albert Leopold:

Brigadier-General, United States Army; born in Washington Heights, New York City, May 7, 1854; son of Abiel Buckman and Annie (Warford) Mills. He was appointed to the U. S. Military Academy from which he was graduated in the class of 1879. On graduation he was commissioned second lieutenant of the First United States Cavalry, June 13, 1879; promoted through the various grades and commissioned captain U. S. Cavalry, Oct. 24, 1898; brevetted major and lieutenant-colonel for gallantry in battles of Las Guasimas and Santiago de Cuba, July 1, 1898; promoted brigadier-general of U. S. Army, May 7, 1904. His regimental service was broken by a tour of duty as professor of military science and tactics at the South Carolina Military Academy, Charleston, and as instructor in strategy, cavalry and tactics at the United States Infantry and Cavalry Officers' School, Fort Leavenworth, Kan.; was on duty at latter school when the war with Spain was declared. He participated in the Santiago campaign and engaged in the battles of Las Guasimas and Santiago de Cuba, being commended for gallantry in the former and very seriously wounded in latter. He was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor for most distinguished gallantry in action near Santiago de Cuba, July 1, 1898. General Mills was appointed superintendent of the U. S. Military Academy, Aug. 22, 1898, and was at its head until Aug. 31, 1906, when he was relieved from duty and placed in command of the Department of the Visayas, Philippine Islands. He married, Nov. 15, 1883, Alada Thurston Paddock of Brooklyn, N. Y., eldest daughter of Right Rev. John Adams Paddock, D.D., and he has a daughter and a son. Address: Manila, Philippine Islands.

MILLS, Benjamin Fay:

Clergyman and lecturer; born in Rahway, N. J., June 4, 1857; son of Thornton A. and Anna C. Mills. He was educated at the Phillips Academy (Andover), Lake Forest University, A.B., 1879, and A.M., 1881, and offered the degree of D.D. by Iowa College, in 1893, which was declined. He was ordained a minister of the Congregational Church in 1878, and was pastor of the Rutland, Vt., Evangelist Church, 1886-1897. He withdrew from the orthodox church on account of his liberal views, in 1897, and conducted independent religious movements in the Boston Music Hall and the Hollis Street Theatre, 1897-1899. Dr. Mills was minister of the First Unitarian Church at Oakland, Calif., 1899-1903, and was the founder and first permanent minister, in 1905, of the Los Angeles Fellowship, which has now grown to The Greater Fellowship, of which he is president, a religious organization which has attracted national and international attention. He is editor of the Fellowship Magazine, having been in that position since 1905, and author of: The Divine Adventure, 1905; The New Spiritual Era, 1908. He married at Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 31, 1879, Mary Russell Hill, and they have six children. Address: 232 South Hill Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

MILLS, Charles Karsner:

Physician; born in Philadelphia, Dec. 4, 1845; son of James and Lavinia A. (Fitzgerald) Mills. He was graduated from Central High School of Philadelphia, 1864, and the University of Pennsylvania, M.D., 1869, and Ph.D., 1871. He has interested himself in neurology since a few years after his graduation; has had numerous official and teaching positions, the most important being: president of the Philadelphia County Medical Society, American Neurological Association, Philadelphia Neurological Society, and the Medical Jurisprudence Society of Philadelphia. He is at present professor of neurology in the University of Pennsylvania, and is connected with many hospitals in and near Philadelphia. Dr. Mills is author of many monographs and articles on neurology and allied subjects, and of a book on the Nervous System and Its Diseases published in 1898. He is a member of the American Medical Association, American Neurological Association, Philadelphia Neurological Society, the Philadelphia County Medical Society, and the University Club, and the Medical Club of Philadelphia. He married in Philadelphia, Nov. 6, 1873, Clara E. Peale, and has four children. Address: 1909 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia.

MILLS, Darius Ogden:

Financier; born at North Salem, Westchester County, N. Y., Sept. 5, 1825, fifth son of James Mills. He was educated in North Salem Academy and Mount Pleasant Academy at Sing Sing, and at the age of seventeen he secured a clerkship in New York City. In 1847 he went to Buffalo, and was appointed cashier of the Merchants' Bank of Erie County; and thence went to San Francisco in 1849. He engaged in trade with the mining districts; later settled in Sacramento and engaged in general mercantile business, while also buying gold dust and dealing in exchange on New York City. In November, 1849, he closed out his business and returned to Buffalo, where he disposed of all his interests in the East, returning to Sacramento again, and founding there the house of D. O. Mills and Company, which quickly became and has since continued the leading bank of interior California. In 1864 he became president of the Bank of California, a new institution which began business that year with a capital of $2,000,000 and remained connected with it till 1873, when he resigned the presidency and retired from business. After it was wrecked by his successor he was summoned again to the bank and resumed the presidency, subscribed personally to the bank capital $1,000,000, raised in all nearly $7,000,000 and within six weeks enabled it to resume payment. In three years he again left it, after having firmly reestablished its financial standing; subsequently came East, and became a resident of New York City, and erected the great Mills Building in Broad Street. His interests are now divided between New York and California, and he is director of many large financial, railway and industrial organizations. On leaving California, he endowed with $75,000, since raised to $150,000, the Mills Professorship of moral and intellectual philosophy in the University of California, and donated to the State the handsome group of marble statuary, Columbus Before Queen Isabella, by Larkin G. Mead. Mr. Mills has brought his practical knowledge of affairs to works of philanthropy, notably in the construction in New York of hotels where lodging and food of a superior character may be obtained for the actual cost of supplying them. He is a member of the Century Association and the Metropolitan, Union, Union League and Knickerbocker Clubs. He married, Sept. 5, 1854, Jane T., daughter of James Cunningham, and they have a son, Ogden, and a daughter, Elizabeth, wife of Whitelaw Reid, ambassador to Great Britain. Residence: 634 Fifth Avenue; Office: 15 Broad Street, New York City.

MILLS, Edmund M.:

Clergyman; born at Ottawa, Canada, July 17, 1848; son of Andrew J. and Caroline D. Mills. He was graduated from Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn., A.B., 1872. A.M., 1875, and received its degree of D.D. in 1888, and Ph.D. from Syracuse University in 1877. He traveled 170,000 miles while corresponding secretary of the Twentieth Century Thank Offering Commission, from 1899 to 1902, which conducted a campaign in which $21,799,000 was raised as a thank offering; and traveled extensively in Europe in 1884 and 1901. He has visited every State in the Union. He was delegate to the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, in 1888, 1892, 1896, 1900, and 1904; and delegate to the Methodist Ecumenical Conference in London in 1901. From 1906 to 1908 was field secretary of the Educational Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He is now pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Towanda, Pa. He is a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, Phi Beta Kappa Society, Mystical Seven, St. John's Lodge of Masons, Coming Consistory (thirty-second degree) and St. Omer's Commandery, Knights Templar, and trustee of Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn. He is author of: Only a Profession, volume of sermons. He married, Aug. 23, 1875, Emily Rexford Adams, who died March 14, 1904; and March 11, 1908, he married Mrs. Sadie B. Allright. Address: 103 Main Street, Towanda, Bradford County, Pa.

MILLS, Isaac Newton:

Jurist; born in Thompson, Windham County, Conn., September 10, 1851; son of Isaac and Susan (Arnold) Mills. He was graduated from Providence Conference Seminary, East Greenwich, R. I., 1870, Amherst College, A.B. (valedictorian), 1874; Columbia Law School, LL.B., 1876. He practised law at Mt. Vernon, N. Y., 1876-

1907, and was elected in Nov. 1906, justice of the Supreme Court of New York, for the term expiring Dec. 31, 1920. He was county judge of Westchester County, N. Y., two terms, 1884-1895, inclusive; was New York State Senator, 1901-1902. Justice Mills is a member of the New York State Bar Association, Westchester County Bar Association, Association of the Bar of the City of New York, is a Mason and Knight Templar; associate of Farnsworth Post, G. A. R., the New England Society of New York City, Sons of the Revolution of New York City, Society of Medical Jurisprudence, New York City; Amherst Alumni Association, New York, Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity (Sigma Chapter), and Delta Kappa Epsilon Association of New York; Megantic Fish and Game Corporation; Alumni Association of Law School of Columbia University; Westchester County Historical Society, and the Union League and Republican Clubs of New York City. He married in Webster, Mass., Dec. 18, 1876, Clara Maria Burnett, and they have four children. Address: North Columbus Avenue, Mount Vernon, N. Y.

MILLS, Mary Russell:

Author and minister; born in Minneapolis, June 24, 1859; daughter of Henry and Mary Lucy (Mills) Hill. She married in Minneapolis, Oct. 31, 1879, Benjamin Fay Mills, and she has six children. She was ordained to the ministry of the Fellowship in 1905, and was minister of The Los Angeles Fellowship, 1905-1908. She is author of: The Art of Living, 1904; The Fellowship Religion, 1908, and associate editor of the Fellowship Magazine since 1905. Address: Los Angeles, Calif.

MILLS, Ogden:

Capitalist; son of Darius Ogden Mills. He was graduated from Harvard University, A.B., 1878. He is president and director of the Tribune Association; vice-president and director of the Mergenthaler Linotype Company; trustee of the German Savings Bank; director of the Atlantic Coast Steamship Company, Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway Company, Erie Elevator Company, International Paper Company, New York, Continental Jewell Filtration Company, North Atlantic Steamship Company, Oriental Consolidated Mining Company, Pacific Mail Steamship Company, Portland Railway Company, Rock Island Company, Southern Pacific Company, Windsor Trust Company, National Typographic Association, New York Fire Proof Tenement Association. He is a member of the Metropolitan, University, Harvard, Union, Union League, Racquet and Tennis, Hudson River Ice Yacht, Turf and Field, and New York Yacht Clubs. He married Ruth Livingston, and they have three children: Beatrice, Gladys and Ogden D. Residence: 2 East 69th Street. Office: 15 Broad Street, New York City.

MILLS, Walter Sands:

Physician; born in New York City, May 17, 1865; son of Robert J. and Mary Frances (Reed) Mills. He was educated in Columbia College A.B., Harvard College, and in the College of Physicians and Surgeons of New York City and was graduated from New York Homoeopathic Medical College and Hospital, M.D., 1889. He is attending physician of the Tuberculosis Infirmary, Metropolitan Hospital, Department of Public Charities and of Flower Hospital; lecturer on the practice of medicine at the New York Homoeopathic Medical College and Hospital; president of the Homoeopathic Medical Society of the County of New York; and associate editor of North American Journal of Homoeopathy. He is a member of the Sons of the Revolution. He served six years in Seventh Regiment of the National Guard of New York, and is a member of the Harvard Club. Dr. Mills married in New York City, Oct. 25, 1893, Sylvie Laure de Long, daughter of Lieutenant-Commander G. W. de Long, arctic explorer; and they have two children. Address: 324 West 89th Street, New York City.

MILLSPAUGH, Charles Frederick:

Botanist; born in Ithaca, New York, June 20, 1854; son of John Hill and Marion E. (Cornell) Millspaugh. He was graduated from Cornell University, 1875, and from New York Homoeopathic Medical College, M.D., 1881. He was professor of botany at the University of West Virginia, 1891-1892; has been curator of the Department of Botany at the Field Museum of Natural History, Chicago, since 1894; and professorial lecturer on botany in the University of Chicago, since 1895. He has also been professor of medical botany at the Chicago Homoeopathic Medical College since 1896. Dr. Millspaugh is author of: American Medicinal Plants; The Flora of West Virginia; Contributions to North American Euphorbiaceae; Plantae Yucatanæ; Plantae Insule Ananensis; Flora of St. Croix, Plantae Utowanae; Præmuncie Bahamenses; and Flora of the Sand Keys of Florida; and he was editor of Homoeopathic Recorder, 1889-1890. His special fields of research are the Flora of Yucatan; the medicinal plants of American Indians; North American Euphorbiaceae; flora of the Bahamas and limits of the Greater Antillean flora. He is a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, of the Facultad de Medicina, Mexico, and of the Facultad de Medicina, Brazil; honorary member of the Homoeopathic Society of Binghamton, and of the Binghamton Academy of Science; member of the Torrey Botanical Club, of the Central Society of Naturalists, charter member of the Explorers' Club of New York, and of the Sigma Xi Society. Professor Millspaugh married in Waverly, N. Y., Sept. 19, 1877, Mary Louisa Spaulding, and has one son, Basil Spaulding Millspaugh, basso, grand opera, Germany. Residence: 315 East 57th Street, Chicago. Office: Field Museum of Natural History, Chicago, Ill.

MILLSPAUGH, Frank Rosebrook:

Bishop of Kansas; born at Nichols, N. Y.; he was educated at the Shattuck School, graduating in 1870, and studied theology at the Seabury Divinity School, Faribault, Minn. He was graduated from the seminary with the degree of B.D. in 1873, receiving that of D.D. in 1895. He was ordered deacon of the Episcopal Church in 1873 and a year later was ordained priest by Bishop Whipple. For three years he was missionary in Minnesota. He was dean of the Cathedral of Omaha, Neb., 1876-1886, and, until his election to the episcopate, rector of St. Paul's Church, at Minneapolis, Minn., and afterward dean of Grace Cathedral, Topeka, Kan. He has represented his diocese in the General Convention every session but one, from 1897. He was made bishop of Kansas in 1895, being consecrated by Bishops Whipple, Spaulding, Tuttle, Atwill, and Brook. Bishop Millspaugh married, Oct. 20, 1882, Mary C. Clarkson, of Nebraska. He is author of various addresses and sermons. Address: Topeka, Kan.

MILLWARD, Russell Hastings:

Journalist and traveller; born in Cincinnati, Ohio, April 5th, 1877; son of Captain Frank Millward, U. S. Commissioner to Paris, 1878, and prominent international lawyer. After attending public school and Bartholomew Academy in Cincinnati, Rockville Academy (Maryland), and Emerson Institute, Washington, D. C., he engaged in business life. He was the youngest electric light contractor in Ohio, being but eighteen years of age when he completed contracts approved by the State Board of Underwriters. He was appointed in the Loans and Currency Division, U. S. Treasury Department (Spanish War Loan), June, 1898; Secretary to Col. George K. McGunagle, U. S. Army, Nov., 1898; Secretary to Colonel J. H. Gilman, U. S. Army, Feb., 1899; attended Illinois College of Law, Chicago, 1900 and 1901; and Columbia University, New York (School of Political Science and International Law), 1901 and 1902. He wrote and published the first Arizona Mining Directory and Handbook in 1903; and was engaged in newspaper work in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, until May, 1904, when he was appointed in the National Bank of Commerce in New York. In March, 1906, he was appointed General Manager of the New Jersey Touring Company; on Nov. 27th, 1906, American Vice Consul General at Boma, Kongo Free State, Africa; Jan. 31, 1907, American Vice Consul at Durban, Natal, Africa; and Aug. 13, 1907, American Vice Consul at Tampico, Mexico. In Aug., 1908, he resigned from the Consular Service, since when he has been engaged in special writing for the International Bureau of American Republics. Mr. Millward contributes to many newspapers and magazines and has made a specialty of writings of geographic and scientific interest. He is a member of the Lambda Epsilon (Legal) Fraternity; Sigma Chi Fraternity at Columbia University; Lincoln Society; Ohio Society; Military Order, Loyal Legion of the United States; National Geographic Society; Army and Navy Club, Washington; Colonial Club, Tampico, Mexico; Post Graduate Club; American Society International Law, and the Sigma Chi Alumni Associations in New York and Philadelphia. Address: Care of the Holland House, New York City.

MILNE, David:

Manufacturer; born in Philadelphia, July 24, 1859; son of Caleb J. and Margaretta (Shea) Milne. He was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania A.B., 1881, A.M., 1883, and Ph.B. in 1885. He was member of the winning college crew in the Schuylkill Navy Regatta in 1881. He was connected with the banking house of Robert Glendinning and Company, 1881-1882, and since then has been a manufacturer of fine textiles. He is trustee of the Medico-Chirurgical College; treasurer of the Medico-Chirurgical Hospital; member of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, Academy of Natural Sciences, American Association for the Advancement of Science, Franklin Institute, Numismatic and Antiquarian Society, Geographical Society, and is also a member of the University, Racquet, Union League, Art, Penn. Corinthian Yacht, Country, Germantown Cricket, and the Merion Cricket Clubs. Address: 2030 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.

MINER, George Roberts:

Editor; born in Manchester, Vt., Aug. 17, 1862; son of A. L. and Susan S. (Roberts) Miner. He was educated in the public schools, and the Burr and Burton Seminary at Manchester, Vt., and was graduated from Norwich University, Northfield, Vt., as B.S., M.S., C.E., and M.A. He engaged in newspaper work for many years as reporter, dramatic editor, assistant city editor, and European correspondent and Sunday editor of the New York Herald; Sunday editor and news editor of the New York World; editor of the Cosmopolitan Magazine; Sunday editor of the Philadelphia Press; editor and proprietor of the Bangor (Maine) Daily News, and is now European correspondent of the New York Herald. He served as first lieutenant and captain and aide-de-camp in the National Guard of Vermont. He is a member of the Alpha Sigma Pi fraternity, and of the Douglaston Country Club. He married at Salem, Mass., June 10, 1886, Mary S. Up-ton, and they have one daughter. Address: Herald Office, New York City.

MINER, Henry Clay:

President of corporations; born in Brooklyn, N. Y., May 25, 1866; son of Hon. Henry Clay and Julia Lucinda (Moore) Miner. He was educated in Starr's Military Institute, Port Chester, N. Y., and in the Friends' Seminary, New York City. He is president of the Estate of Henry C. Miner, Incorporated. He is assistant inspector of small arms practice of the Twenty-second Regiment of Engineers, of New York, and a distinguished rifle expert. He is a member of the Green Room, Red Bank Yacht and Brooklyn Yacht Clubs. Mr. Miner married in Savannah, Ga., Nov. 26, 1895, Mary Anna Blun, and they have two children. Address: 1402 Broadway, New York City.

MINOT, James Jackson:

Physician; born in Boston, Oct. 11, 1852; son of George Richards and Harriet (Jackson) Minot. He was graduated from Harvard, A.B., 1874, and M.D., 1878. He was physician of the Boston Dispensary and of Carney Hospital; and he is now physician of the Massachusetts General Hospital and of the Long Island Hospital. He is a member of the Massachusetts Medical Society, American Medical Association, Boston Society of Medical Improvement, various scientific and sociological societies, National Association of Tuberculosis, and is Trustee of the Boston Consumptives Hospital. He married at Milton, Mass., Oct. 30, 1884, Elizabeth Whitney, and they have three sons. Address: 188 Marlborough Street, Boston.

MINOTT, Frederic Shepard:

Manufacturer and merchant; born in Orange, N. J., Jan. 4, 1868; son of Joseph Albert and Mary (Mandeville) Minott. He was graduated from Princeton B.A., 1889. Mr. Minott is president and director of the Goodyear Rubber Insulating Company; secretary and director of the Goodyear Rubber Company; the Lambertville Rubber Company, and the Rubber Clothing Company; and director of the Orange Water Company and the East Orange Safe Deposit and Trust Company. He is a member of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Whig Hall Society of Princeton University, and of the University and Princeton Clubs of New York, and the Ivy Club of Princeton. Mr. Minott married in Florence, Italy, Feb. 11, 1905, Marion Lowry, daughter of Commodore R. B. Lowry, of the U. S. Navy. Residence: Mt. Kisco, New York. Office addresses: 787 Broadway, and 105 East 131st Street, New York City.

MITCHELL, Charles Bayard:

Clergyman; born in Allegheny City, Pa., Aug. 27, 1857; son of Rev. Daniel P. and Annie E. (Baker) Mitchell. He received his preparatory education in Mount Union, Ohio, and was graduated from Allegheny College, with the degree of A.B., afterward receiving the A.M., Ph.D. and D.D. degrees. He began his ministry in Kansas and has been pastor at Coyville, Burrton, Marion, Leavenworth, Kans., the Smithfield Street Methodist Episcopal Church, Pittsburg, the Grand Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church in Kansas City, Mo., at Plainfield N. J., Hennepin Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church in Minneapolis, Minn., seven years pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Cleveland, Ohio. And is at present pastor of St. James' Church, the leading Methodist Episcopal Church in Chicago. He was a delegate to the Third Ecumenical Methodist Conference in London, in 1901, and was a member of the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1904, and 1908. Dr. Mitchell is a member of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity and Phi Beta Kappa Society, and is a thirty-third degree Mason. While in Cleveland he built at the corner of Euclid Avenue and East Thirtieth Street, which is regarded as the finest Methodist Episcopal Church in any part of the world, costing $350,000 exclusive of the costly memorial features. He has traveled extensively in every European country, except Portugal; also in Egypt, Palestine, Asia Minor and Turkey. Dr. Mitchell has published one volume of travel, a volume of sermons, and contributes largely to his denominational press. He also lectures in all parts of the United States during the lecture season. Dr. Mitchell married in Pittsburgh, July 6, 1882, Clara Anll. Address: 4611 Ellis Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

MITCHELL, Edmund:

Novelist; born in Glasgow, March 19, 1861; son of John and Margaret (Milne) Mitchell. He was educated in the Elgin Academy, Glasgow, and at Aberdeen University, where he received the degree of M.A. and was gold medalist for English literature. He followed the profession of journalism in India, Australia, and America, and has traveled widely as special correspondent and expert writer on industrial topics. He is now a director of several large industrial companies, being vice-president of the Murray Marine Steady-Floating Steel Structures Company, and vice-president and treasurer of the Mason Smokeless Combustion Company, and of the Pacific Exploration Company. He is author of: The Temple of Death, 1894; Towards the Eternal Snows, 1896; Chickabiddy Stories, 1899; Plotters of Paris, 1900; The Lone Star Rush, 1901; Only a Nigger, 1901; The Belforts of Cubben, 1902; The Despoilers, 1904; In Desert Keeping, 1905; all novels, also a play: The Telephone, 1901. He married in 1886, and has four sons and one daughter. Address: 426 South Spring Street, and 1710 Hobart Boulevard, Los Angeles, Calif.

MITCHELL, Edwin Knox:

Professor church history; born in Locke, Ohio, Dec. 23, 1854; son of Spencer and Harriet N. (Howard) Mitchell. He was graduated from Marietta College, B.A., 1878, D.D., 1896, Berlin University, 1884-1885, 1891-1892, Giessen University, 1885, and Göttingen University, 1885. He was installed pastor of the Memorial Presbyterian Church, St. Augustine, Fla., 1886-1890; professor of the Græco-Roman Church History, Hartford Theological Seminary, Hartford, since 1892. Professor Mitchell is a member of the American Historical Association, American Oriental Society, Society of Biblical Literature, Hartford Archaeological Society, National Geographic Society; trustee of Marietta College and George Junior Republic of Connecticut, member of the Delta Psi Fraternity, and Phi Beta Kappa Society, the Hartford Golf (president), University, Twentieth Century, Get-Together, and Congregational Clubs of Hartford, and the Municipal Art Society. He married in Brooklyn, Jan. 20, 1887, Hetty Marquand Enos, and they have three children. Residence: 57 Gillette Street. Office: Hosmer Hall, Hartford, Conn.

MITCHELL, James Tyndale:

Jurist; born at Belleville, Ill., Nov. 9, 1834. He was educated in the public schools of Philadelphia, and in Harvard College, A.B., 1855 A.M., 1857, and received the LL.D. degree in 1901, and he was graduated from the Law Department of the University of Pennsylvania in 1858, and received from Jefferson Medical College the honorary degree of LL.D. in 1872. He began the practice of law in Philadelphia in 1857; was assistant city solicitor, 1860-1863. He has been continuously on the bench from 1871, as judge of the District Court until 1875, then of the Court of Common Pleas until 1889, when he became an associate justice of the Supreme Court of the State of Pennsylvania, of which he has been chief justice since 1903. Chief Justice Mitchell is a jurist of great distinction, and a valued contributor to legal literature as author of several treatises, addresses and contributions to law periodicals, and he was formerly for twenty-five years editor-in-chief of the American Law Register at Philadelphia. Address: 1722 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.

MITCHELL, John:

Labor leader; born at Braidwood, Ill., Feb. 4, 1870; son of Robert and Martha Mitchell. He attended the public schools of Braidwood until he was ten years old and after that added to his education by night study. He began to work in coal mines at the age of thirteen, and in 1885 became a union man and a member of the Knights of Labor; he traveled in the West, mining coal in various districts, 1885-1890; became secretary-treasurer of a sub-district of the United Mine Workers of America in 1895, and has been an organizer of the National body since 1897, was elected its vice-president in 1898, and since 1899 has been president by annual reëlections. Has organizing ability, has never been surpassed in the history of the organized labor movement in America. He directed the strike of the anthracite mine workers in 1900 and 1902, and has also been active in the work of the National Civic Federation. Residence: Spring Valley, Ill. Office: State Life Building, Indianapolis, Ind.

MITCHELL, John Ames:

Editor; born in New York City, Jan. 17, 1845. He was educated at Exeter, N. H., Lawrence Scientific School, Harvard, and afterward studied architecture in Boston, and at Paris, 1867-1870, in École des Beaux Arts. He practised as architect in Boston and was engaged in artistic and decorative work, until 1876 when he again went to Paris for study and remained four years; studied in Atelier Julian, and afterward with Albert Magnan; produced several etchings published by l'Art, and received honorable mention at the Paris Exposition; returned to United States, in 1880; was always much interested in black and white drawings, and, feeling that there was a field in America for an artistic satirical journal, started Life, Jan. 3, 1883, which he has successfully conducted. He is author of: Croquis de l'Exposition, Paris; The Summer School of Philosophy at Mount Desert, 1881; The Romance of the Moon, 1886; The Last American, 1889; Life's Fairy Tales, 1893; Amos Judd, 1895; The First Affair, 1896; Gloria Victis, 1897; The Pines of Lory, 1901; The Villa Claudia, 1904; The Silent War, 1906. He is a member of the Century and City Clubs. Mr. Mitchell married in Salem, Mass., June, 1885, Mary Hodges Mott. Residence: 20 West 46th Street. Office: 17 West 31st Street, New York City.

MITCHELL, John L.:

Lawyer; born in Hooksett, N. H., Feb. 1, 1873; son of Abram and Angeline D. (Eastman) Mitchell. He was graduated from Dartmouth College. A.B., 1895. He was a member of the School Board of Portsmouth, 1904-1906, city solicitor in 1906; chairman of the Democratic City Committee and member of the State Democratic Committee. He is a member of the Kappa Kappa Society and of the Warwick Club. Residence: 34 Lincoln Avenue. Office: 1 Congress Street, Portsmouth, N. H.

MITCHELL, Mason:

Actor, soldier; born in Hamilton, New York, 1859; son of David J. Mitchell. He was educated in St. John's School, Manlius, N. Y., and Phillips Academy, Exeter, N. H. At the age of eighteen he adopted the stage as a profession, and became a member of the company at the Old Broadway Theatre, New York City. He rose rapidly and became the supporter of such stars as John McCullough, Edwin Booth and Lawrence Barrett; also supported as leading man Madame Modjeska; and in 1883 accompanied Mary Anderson to England, playing at the Lyceum Theatre, London. He was leading man at the Drury Lane Theatre, the only American in the company; returned to America in 1885, and while playing at Winnipeg, in the Northwest the Riel Rebellion broke out. His adventurous spirit caused him to leave his company and enter the service of the Canadian Government as a scout; rendered valuable service and was highly commended and decorated for same; traveled extensively through South America and the South Sea Islands, writing and illustrating articles on those countries, especially in regard to Samoa, where he remained some time in company with Robert Louis Stevenson, the novelist. Subsequently he visited the Fiji, Ellis, Gilbert, Marshall and Caroline groups of islands; and returning to America he became manager of the Garrick Theatre, New York City, and acted in support of Mrs. James Brown Potter. He served in the Spanish-American War as a member of the Rough Riders, and was desperately wounded at the battle of Santiago; accompanied Theodore Roosevelt in his gubernatorial campaign, making many effective speeches; returned to the stage for a brief period, and in 1902 was appointed consul to Zanzibar. While at this post he distinguished himself in hunting for big game, and several museums and his club in New York bear testimony to his skill in this respect. On leaving Zanzibar was decorated by the Sultan with the Order of The Brilliant Star of Zanzibar. He was recently appointed consul at Chungking, China. He married in San Francisco, Calif., Nov. 25, 1895, Edna Ellis. Address: Chungking, China.

MASON MITCHELL
U. S. Consul

MITCHELL, Samuel Chiles:

College president; born in Coffeeville, Miss., Dec. 24, 1864; son of Morris Randolph and Grace Anna (Chiles) Mitchell. He was graduated from Georgetown College, Kentucky, M.A., 1888, University of Virginia, graduate student 1891-1892, the University of Chicago, Ph.D., 1899, and Hampden-Sidney College, Va., LL.D. He was professor in Mississippi College, 1889-1891, in Georgetown College, 1891-1895; in Richmond College, 1895-1908, and president of the University of South Carolina, since 1908. Dr. Mitchell was the first president of the Virginia Anti-Saloon League; sometime rector of the Virginia Normal and Industrial Institute; member of the Executive Committee of the Virginia Historical Society, and the Board of Trustees of Virginia Union University, also a member of the Southern Education Board, the Jeanes Fund, American Historical Association and Phi Beta Kappa Society. He edited the volume on Social Life in the South, in the Building of the Nation Series. He married in Louisville, Ky., June 30, 1891, Alice Virginia Broadus. Address: Columbia, S. C.

MITCHELL, Silas Weir:

Physician and author; born in Philadelphia, Feb. 15, 1830; his father, John K. Mitchell, being a prominent physician of Philadelphia, and for many years a professor in Jefferson Medical College. He was educated in the University of Pennsylvania, leaving in his senior year on account of illness. In 1850 he graduated as M.D. from Jefferson Medical College, receiving the same degree as an honor from the University of Bologna in 1888. Dr. Mitchell has had an extensive hospital practice, being physician to various hospitals at different periods, and during the Civil War serving as sanitary inspector and acting assistant surgeon, and treating injuries and diseases of the nervous system in Turner's Lane Hospital. In his practice he has made a specialty of nervous complaints, and is the originator of the system of rest treatment, known as the Weir Mitchell treatment. He has written many medical treatises, especially on nervous diseases, and has twice been president of the Philadelphia College of Physicians, and an officer of numerous other medical associations both at home and abroad, while he is also a member of various social clubs. Aside from his reputation as a physician, Dr. Mitchell is widely known as an author, he being a poet of fine powers, a skilled novelist and an able essayist. His first literary productions were stories for children: The Children's Hour, written for the benefit of the Sanitary Fair in Philadelphia, and short stories written for the Children's Hospital. His other literary works, beginning in 1880, include: Hephzibah Grinness; Thee and You; the Hill of Stones and other Poems; In War Time; Roland Blanc: A Masque and other Poems; Prince Littleboy and other Tales; Characteristics: When all the Woods are Green; Far in the Forest; The Adventures of Francois; and Hugh Wynne, Free Quaker, the last named being especially popular and widely read; also: Autobiography of a Quack; A Comedy of Conscience; Circumstance; The Youth of Washington; Dr. North and His Friends; New Samaria; Constance Trescott, and many others. Dr. Mitchell is a member of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion and of various medical and other societies; president of the Franklin Club, and member of the Contemporary and other clubs. Address: 1524 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.

MITCHELL, William:

Lawyer; born in New York City, May 11, 1850; son of Hon. William Mitchell, justice of the Supreme Court of New York, 1850-1858, and Mary P. (Berrien) Mitchell. He was graduated from Columbia Grammar School, Columbia College, A.B., 1868, A.M., 1871, and Columbia Law School, LL.B., 1871 (valedictorian). He was admitted to the bar in 1871, and has been engaged in the general practice of law since 1872; and he is a member of the law firm of Mitchell and Mitchell, being a partner with the Hon. Edward Mitchell since 1872. He is a member of the Huguenot Society of America, Psi Upsilon fraternity, and the Union League and New York Athletic Clubs, and the Down Town Association. He married in Newark, N. J., Nov. 8, 1890, Elizabeth E. daughter of Theodore P. Howell of Newark. Residence: Bryn Mawr Park, Yonkers, N. Y. Office: 44 Wall Street, New York City.

MODJESKI, Ralph:

Consulting civil engineer; was born in Cracow, Poland, Jan. 27, 1861; only son of Gustav Modzejewski and Helena, his wife; came to the United States in 1876 with his mother, and for purposes of American naturalization the name was changed to Modjeski (of which Modjeska is the feminine form according to Polish grammatical usage), his mother being the distinguished tragedienne, the late Helena Modjeska. He was sent to the École des Ponts et Chaussées at Paris, from which he was graduated at the head of his class, in 1885, with the degree of Civil Engineer. The same year, having returned to America, he became assistant engineer of the bridge over the Missouri at Omaha, Nebraska, for two years; then was employed as shop inspector at the works at Athens, Pennsylvania, for the superstructures of the Willamette Bridge at Portland, Oregon, the Nebraska City and Sioux City bridges across the Missouri, and the Cairo Bridge across the Ohio for the firm of Morison and Corthell, engineers for those noteworthy bridge structures; afterward became chief draftsman at the New York office of that firm, and after that in the office of Mr. Morrison, of the same firm in Chicago, until, in 1890, he became assistant engineer and chief inspector of the Memphis (Tennessee) Bridge across the Mississippi, and later of the bridge at Winona, Minn. Since 1892 he has been in practice as a consulting engineer, with office at Chicago. He has gained a special distinction as a bridge engineer, having in that department designed and built for the United States Government its new bridge at Rock Island, Ill., as well as numerous bridges for railway companies, particularly the Northern Pacific Railway, and from 1903 to 1906 was a member of the firm of Noble & Modjeski, who built the great bridge over the Mississippi at Thebes, Ill. As consulting engineer both for the City of Chicago and the municipal corporation known as the Sanitary District of Chicago, Mr. Modjeski has been prominently identified with the building of bascule bridges over the Chicago River and the Sanitary Canal. While specializing chiefly in bridge engineering, Mr. Modjeski has also executed other important engineering work, notably the designing and construction for the United States of a large fire-proof warehouse in the government arsenal at Rock Island, Ill. Mr. Modjeski is a member and past director of the American Society of Civil Engineers, past president of the Western Society of Engineers, of the Association Amicale des Ingénieurs Civils des Ponts et Chaussées de France, and other engineering societies, and of the Art Institute of Chicago. He was married, in 1885, to Félicie Benda, a Polish compatriot. Residence: 5041 Washington Avenue, Chicago. Office address: Monadnock Block, Chicago, Ill.

MOELLER, Henry:

Catholic archbishop; born in Cincinnati, Dec. 11, 1849; son of Bernard and Teresa (Witte) Moeller. His general education was received in the parochial schools and St. Xavier's College in Cincinnati, and his philosophical and theological studies in Rome where he received the degree of D.D. from the Propaganda in 1876 and was ordained priest. He was for a year pastor of St. Patrick's Church, at Bellefontaine, Ohio, professor in Mt. St. Mary's Seminary, Cincinnati, three years, acting secretary to Bishop Chatard of Indianapolis, and afterward secretary and chancellor of the Archdiocese of Cincinnati until consecrated, Aug. 25, 1900, bishop of Columbus, Ohio. He was appointed coadjutor and bishop of Cincinnati, April 27, 1903, became archbishop of Cincinnati Oct. 31, 1904, and was invested with the pallium Feb. 15, 1905. Address: 636 West Eighth Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

MOELLER, Louis Charles:

Artist; born in New York, Aug. 5, 1856; educated in city schools. He served apprenticeship of three years to his father, who was engaged in New York City as a decorative painter, then pursued art studies in New York City and Munich, Bavaria. Opened a studio in New York City, and has gained distinction as a painter of genre subjects; was awarded the Halgarten prize of the National Academy of Design. He was an associate in 1884, and academician since 1895 of the National Academy of Design. Address: Wakefield, N. Y.

MOFFAT, David H.:

Banker; born in Washingtonville, Orange County, N. Y., in 1839. He was a messenger boy for the New York Exchange Bank, New York, 1854-1855; became clerk with A. J. Stevens and Company, bankers in Des Moines, Iowa, in 1855; later clerk and cashier with a bank in Omaha; started a bank in Denver in 1860; cashier in 1866; and soon after president of the First National Bank, Denver; promoter of and president 1884-1891, Denver and Rio Grande Railroad; built Florence and Cripple Creek Railroad, connecting Cripple Creek mines with Denver and Rio Grande system. Address 1706 Lincoln Avenue, Denver, Colo.

MOFFAT, R. Burnham:

Lawyer; born in Brooklyn, N. Y., Jan. 7, 1861; son of Dr. Reuben Curtis and Elizabeth Virginia (Barclay) Moffat. He was graduated from Harvard University, B.A., 1883, and from Columbia University Law School, LL.B. in 1885. He is a member of the law firm of Rand, Moffat & Webb. He is a member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, New York State Bar Association, American Bar Association, Historical Society of New York, and Society of Colonial Wars, and is a member of the University, Century, Down Town, Harvard and Democratic Clubs. Mr. Moffat married in Brooklyn, N. Y., June 5, 1895, Ellen Low Pierrepont, and they have three children. Address: 12 East 66th Street, New York City.

MOFFIT, John H.:

Banker; born at Chazy, N. Y., Jan. 8, 1843. He was educated in the public schools, and at the beginning of the war he enlisted April 27, 1861, in the New York Volunteer Infantry, in which he remained until the muster-out of his regiment, as private corporal and sergeant. For heroism at Gaines' Mills and great gallantry at Gettysburg he was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor. After the war he was for several years deputy collector of customs at Rouse's Point, N. Y. He became actively identified with political affairs as a Republican and he was elected in 1886 and reelected in 1888 member of Congress from the Twenty-first Congressional District of New York, serving in the Fiftieth and Fifty-first Congresses from 1887 to 1891. Since the close of his last term in Congress he has been identified with business interests at Plattsburgh, N. Y., and he is now president of the Plattsburgh National Bank. He is a companion of the Medal of Honor Legion of the United States and a member of other military and patriotic organizations. He married, Oct. 7, 1884, Alice H. Myers, and they have one son. Address: Plattsburgh, N. Y.

MOLLENHAUER, J. Adolph:

Capitalist; born in New York City, Feb. 10, 1857; son of John and Doris (Seimes) Mollenhauer. He received his education in public schools and in Deghnee College. He was associated with his father in organizing and conducting the Mollenhauer Sugar Refining Company, and until 1900 was the vice-president and general manager of the company. He is now investor in sugar properties and real estate, and travels much abroad and in United States. He was one of the organizers of Second Battalion of the Naval Reserves, holding the positions of lieutenant and paymaster; during the Spanish-American War he was commander of the dispatch boat presto, forwarding dispatches to naval reserve men on the south shore of Long Island, paying all expenses from his own funds; and he received a set of complimentary resolutions from his subordinates upon retirement. He is advisory member of the Mollenhauer Sugar Refining Company; director of the St. Regis Paper Company, Brooklyn Academy of Music, Long Island Auto Highway, Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences; trustee of the Manufacturers' National Bank, Title Guarantee and Trust Company, German Savings Bank, Brooklyn Bureau of Charities, Brooklyn Hospital and Dispensary. He is a member of the Engineers' Club of Brooklyn, and of the Penataquit Corinthian Yacht Club (commodore), the New York Yacht, Atlantic Yacht and Hanover Clubs. Mr. Mollenhauer married in Brooklyn, New York, 1882, Anna Diek. Address: 84 Broadway, Brooklyn, N. Y.

MONDELL, Frank Wheeler:

Congressman; born in St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 6, 1860. Both of his parents died before he reached his sixth year, and he went to live with friends in Iowa, residing on a farm until eighteen years of age. He attended the local district schools, and received instruction in the higher branches from a private tutor; engaged in mercantile pursuits, stock raising, mining, and railway construction in various Western States and Territories, and settled in Wyoming in 1887, and engaged in the development of coal mines and oil property at and in the vicinity of Newcastle and Cambria. He took an active part in the establishment and building of the town of Newcastle and the development of the Cambria mines; was elected mayor of Newcastle in 1888, and served until 1895; was elected a member of the first State Senate in 1890, served as president of that body at the session of 1892; and was a delegate to the Republican National Convention in Minneapolis in 1892. He was appointed assistant commissioner of the General Land Office, Nov. 15, 1897, and served until March 3, 1899; was elected to the Fifty-fourth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, and Sixtieth Congresses and reelected to the Sixty-first Congress from the First Wyoming District. Address: Newcastle, Wyo.

MONEY, Hernando De Soto:

United States Senator; born in Holmes County, Miss., Aug. 26, 1839 was educated at the University of Mississippi. He is a lawyer and planter; served in the Confederate Army from the beginning of the war until Sept. 26, 1864, when he was forced to retire from service by defective eyesight. He was elected to the House of Representatives in the Forty-fourth, Forty-fifth, Forty-sixth, Forty-seventh, Forty-eighth, Fifty-third, and Fifty-fourth Congresses; in Jan., 1896, was elected to the Senate for the term beginning March 4, 1899; was appointed to the U. S. Senate, October 8, 1897, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Hon. J. Z. George on August 14, 1897; in January, 1898, elected by the Legislature to fill out the unexpired term ending March 3, 1899. Was renominated by the Democratic party in primary, Aug. 6, 1903, and elected to succeed himself for the term beginning March 4, 1905, and ending March 3, 1911. Address: Carrollton, Miss.

MONNOT, John Ferreol:

Metallurgical and mining engineer; born at Classon Point, Westchester County, N. Y., May 13, 1864; son of John B. and Louise E. (Ponsot) Monnot. He was educated in Paris, France, and was graduated from the École Supérieure des Mines de Paris. He made several scientific and mining explorations in South America; and invented many valuable processes, among others one for extracting rubber from the bark and leaves of trees, improvements in steam heating and electric lighting systems, a process for making compound metals, known as Monnot metals; and he is president of the Duplex Metals Company, and a director of the Hudson Wire Company. He is a member of the Association of Mining Engineers of Paris. Mr. Monnot married in New York City, 1895, Claire Broni Yso, Comtesse de Laredo. Address: 208 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

MONROE, Harriet:

Writer of poems, plays and essays; born in Chicago, Dec. 23, 1860; daughter of Henry Stanton and Martha (Mitchell) Monroe. She was prepared in Chicago schools and was graduated from the Academy of the Visitation, Georgetown, D.C. Miss Monroe was chosen to write the text for a Cantata which was used for the opening of the Chicago Auditorium in Dec., 1889; and wrote the ode for the dedicatory ceremonies of the World's Columbian Exposition, on the quadricentennial anniversary of the discovery of America, Oct. 21, 1892. She is author of: Valeria and Other Poems, 1893; The Columbian Ode, 1893; John Wellborn Root, a Memoir, 1896; The Passing Show—Five Modern Plays in Verse, 1904. She is a member of the Fortnightly and Friday Clubs of Chicago, and the Lyceum Club of London. Address: 208 East Erie Street, Chicago.

MONTAGUE, Andrew Philip:

President of Howard College; born in Virginia, Essex County, Va., Sept. 27, 1854; son of Rev. H. W. and Columbia (Broadus) Montague. He began his education at the University of Virginia in 1873, studying there until 1875, when he entered Columbian University, Washington, D. C., from which he received the degree of A. M. and later that of Ph.D. The degree of LL.D. was conferred upon him by Richmond (Virginia) College. Upon leaving the University in 1875, he accepted while also studying there, the position of instructor in the College Department of the Columbian University later being advanced to the position of assistant professor, professor and finally of dean, retaining his connection with the college until 1897, when he resigned to accept the presidency of Furman University, at Greenville, South Carolina. In 1902 he was elected president of Howard College, Birmingham, Ala., is a member of the Masonic fraternity. He married at Richmond, Va., Nov. 3, 1881, May Christian (deceased); and he has two children. He was married, second, to Florence Wood, of Birmingham, Alabama. Address: East Lake Station, Birmingham, Ala.

MONTAGUE, Margaret Prescott:

Author; born in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.; daughter of Russell W. and Harriet Ann (Cary) Montague. She was educated at home and in schools in Richmond and Washington. Miss Montague has contributed poems and short stories to Magazines, and is author of the novels: The Poet, Miss Kate and I, 1905; The Sowing of Alderson Cree, 1907; In Calvert's Valley, 1908. Address: White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

MONTGOMERY, Edmund:

Physician, biologist and philosophical writer; born in Edinburg, Scotland, March 19, 1835. He was educated in the University of Heidelberg, 1852-1854, Berlin 1855, Bonn 1856, Würzburg 1857, the University of Prague where he was graduated as M.D. in 1858, University of Vienna 1859, and became a member of the Royal College of Physicians, London, in 1861. He was resident physician of the German Hospital, London, 1860-1861, medical attendant in Bermondsey Dispensary and Poor District, 1861-1862, and pathologist of St. Thomas' Hospital, London, 1861-1864. He was a practicing physician at Madeira, Mentone and Rome, 1865-1870, and at Hempstead, Texas, since 1872. Dr. Montgomery in addition to his medical practice, has been extensively engaged in original investigations in biology and philosophy, particularly in regard to the vital functions and the organization of the living substance, protoplasm, and the biological explanation of philosophical problems. He is author of: Refutation of the Kantian Theory of Knowledge, 1871, articles in leading scientific and philosophical periodicals, and lectures before the Concord School of Philosophy; The Vitality and Organization of Protoplasm, 1905; Philosophical Problems in the Light of Vital Organization, 1907. He is a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the Texas Academy of Sciences (of which he was president in 1903), and honorary member of the London Aristotelian Society. Address: Hempstead, Texas.

MONTGOMERY, George Redington:

Clergyman and author; born in Marsh, Turkey, June 17, 1870; son of Giles Foster and Emily (Redington) Montgomery. He was educated in Yale University, and Boston University, A.B., 1892, LL.B., 1894, D.D., 1900, Ph.D., 1901. He was engaged in law and newspaper work in Constantinople; was war correspondent for the London Standard in the Tureo-Greek War; lecturer in philosophy in Yale, 1900-1904; professor of philosophy in Carleton College, Minn., 1904-1905; assistant minister of Madison Square Presbyterian Church since 1905. He is author of: Talking English, 1898; Translation of Leibniz's "Metaphysics", 1902; The Place of Values, 1904; and numerous philosophical articles and papers. He is a member of the American Philosophical Association, the American Psychological Association, the Book and Gavel and Phi Gamma Delta fraternities. Address: East 24th Street, New York City.

MONTGOMERY, Henry:

Professor of geology; born in Cartwright, Ont., Nov. 11, 1848. He was educated in the University of Toronto, receiving first class honors, prizes, scholarship and medal, B.A. degree in 1876 and the M.A. degree in 1877; attended the University Medical School 1877-1879, received the B.S. degree from Victoria College, 1880; attended Johns Hopkins University, 1882, and received from Illinois Wesleyan University the degrees of Ph. B., 1887 and Ph.D., 1903. He was master in science at the Toronto Collegiate Institute 1876-1881, lecturer on zoölogy in the Toronto School of Medicine, 1879-1884; professor of natural science and curator of the museum in the University of North Dakota, 1884-1889; professor of natural science in the State Normal School, Cortland, N. Y., 1889-1890; professor of geology and mineralogy and curator of the Museum in the University of Utah, Salt Lake City, 1890-1894; professor of natural science, examiner in geology and curator of Museum in Trinity College, Canada, 1894-1906; curator of the new museum in the University of Toronto since 1904. He was examiner in biology in the University of Toronto, 1882-1884, chairman of the Executive Committee of St. Hilda's College, Toronto, 1901. Dr. Montgomery is a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science; fellow of the Geological Society of America; Fellow of the American Ethnological Society, New York; member of the Anthropological Society of Washington, D. C., American Anthropological Association, National Geographic Society, and charter member of the American Museum's Association; honorary member of the Toronto Natural History Society (president 1879-1881) corresponding member of the Montreal Society of Natural History; fellow of the London Society of Letters and Science. He has made many original investigations in geology, paleontology and anthropology. Among his publications are: Indian Remains in Simcoe and Muskoka (Remains of the Huron Indians in Ontario); Some Observations on Menobranchus Maculatus (Necturus lateralis); A Blastoid Found in the Devonian Rocks of Ontario (illustrated); The University Question; Aboriginal Monuments of North Dakota (illustrated); Science Teaching in the Public Schools, 1892; The So-called Sands of Great Salt Lake; A New Hydrous Aluminum Phosphate Found in Utah; Prehistoric Man in Utah (illustrated), 1894; Volcanic Dust in Colorado and Utah; A large Crystal of Spodumene; Prehistoric Man in the United States and Canada (Illustrated), 1903; A Catalogue of a Palaeontological Collection in the Biological Department of the University of Toronto; Remains of Prehistoric Man in the Dakotas (illustrated by many plates), 1906, an account of Dr. Montgomery's fieldwork and other investigations in the mounds and other earthworks of prehistoric peoples in South and North Dakota, extending over a period of seven years; Prehistoric Man in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, 1908. Address: University of Toronto, Toronto, Canada.

MONTGOMERY, John Knox:

President of Muskingum College; born at Belfast, Tenn., Aug. 4, 1861, son of the Rev. A. S. and Grace (Tate) Montgomery. He was educated at the Enfield (Illinois) College, and at the Indiana State University, later studying theology at the Xenia Theological Seminary, and receiving the degree of D.D. from Cooper College. After his ordination to the ministry in 1887, he was called successively to pastorates at Cincinnati, Chicago, and Charlotte, N. C. In 1904 he was elected president of Muskingum College, which position he still holds. Dr. Montgomery is connected in politics with the Prohibition party and is a member of the United Presbyterian Church. He is a trustee of the Allegheny Theological Seminary and a member of the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity. He married at Harshasville, Ohio, Dec. 25, 1889, Emma Zetta Patton, and has six children. Address: New Concord, Ohio.

MONTGOMERY, Thomas Harrison:

President of The American Fire Insurance Company; born in Philadelphia, Feb. 23, 1830; a younger son of Rev. James Montgomery, D.D. and Mary Harrison White. He was educated in private schools, and at the age of seventeen he entered the drug house of Charles Ellis & Company. He was graduated from the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy, 1851; after a few years entered the fire insurance business. In 1859, upon the organization of the Enterprise Insurance Company, he became assistant secretary, secretary and vice-president. He resided in New York as general agent of the National Board of Fire Underwriters 1872-1879; was elected in 1880, vice-president of the American Fire Insurance Company, and its president in April, 1882, in which duty he still continues. While with the Insurance Company of North America he was asked by the president, Mr. Charles Platt, to write the history of this venerable institution, and this was issued in 1885. He is a member of the New York Historical Society, the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, Chester County Historical Society, the Pennsylvania Societies of the Sons of the Revolution and of Colonial Wars, and the Colonial Society of Pennsylvania. He married Anna, daughter of Samuel George Morton, M.D. (Pennsylvania and Edinburgh), the distinguished ethnologist, and president of the Academy of Natural Sciences. Address: 308 Walnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

MONTGOMERY, Thomas Harrison, Jr.:

Professor of zoölogy; born in New York City, March 5, 1873; son of Thomas H. and Anna (Morton) Montgomery. He was educated in the Protestant Episcopal Academy at Philadelphia and the University of Pennsylvania and was graduated from University of Berlin, Ph.D., 1894. He was assistant professor of zoölogy in the University of Pennsylvania, 1898-1903; professor of biology and director of the Museum of the Wagner Institute of Philadelphia, 1898-1903; professor of zoölogy at the University of Texas, 1903-1908; professor of zoölogy in the University of Pennsylvania, since 1908. He is author of: Analysis of Racial Descent in Animals; and of Memoirs on Comparative Anatomy and Embryology, Cytology, and the Habits and Classification of Animals. He is a member of the American Philosophical Society, Philadelphia Academy of Natural Science, American Society of Zoologists, Entomological Society of America, Phi Beta Kappa, and Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity; and a trustee of Woods Hole Biological Laboratory. He is a member of the University Club of Austin. Mr. Montgomery married in Crosswicks, N. J., 1901, Priscilla Braislin, and they have two children. Address: Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

MONTGOMERY, Thomas Lynch:

Librarian; born in Philadelphia, March 4, 1862; son of Oswald Crathorne and Catherine Gertrude (Lynch) Montgomery. He was graduated from the Episcopal Academy of Philadelphia, and the University of Pennsylvania, A.B., 1884. He was actuary in the Wagner Free Institute of Science, 1886-1903, and has been State Librarian of Pennsylvania, since 1903. Mr. Montgomery is a member of the American Library Association Library Association, National Association of State Libraries, Association of Law Libraries, American Historical Association Pennsylvania Historical Society, Dauphin County Historical Society; trustee of the Free Library of Philadelphia, and is a member of the Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity, the University, and Philobiblon Clubs of Philadelphia and Harrisburg Club. He married in Philadelphia, Oct. 16, 1889, Brinca G. Gilpin. Residence: 904 Clinton Street, Philadelphia. Office: State Library, Harrisburg, Pa.

MOODY, William Henry:

Associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States; born at Newbury, Mass., Dec. 23, 1853; son of Henry L. and Melissa A. Moody. He was graduated from Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., 1872, and from Harvard College, A.B., 1876. He studied law and was admitted to the bar, and in 1890 was appointed by President Harrison to the office of district attorney of the United States for the Eastern District of Massachusetts, serving until 1895, in which year he was elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth Congress from the Sixth Massachusetts District to fill a vacancy, and was elected to the Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth and Fifty-seventh Congresses, resigning from the latter, May 1, 1902, to accept the office of secretary of the Navy in the cabinet of President Roosevelt. He remained in that office until July 1, 1904, when he was transferred to the Department of Justice as attorney-general, serving until appointed, in 1906, to his present office as associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States. The degree of LL.D. was conferred upon him by Amherst College and by Tufts College in 1904. Address: The Connecticut, Washington, D. C.

MOON, John Austin:

Congressman and lawyer; born in Albemarle County, Virginia, April 22, 1855. His early boyhood was spent in Bristol, Va., and in 1870 the family removed to Chattanooga, Tenn. He was educated in King College at Bristol, Tenn., afterward studying law and being admitted to the bar at Lebanon, Ala., 1874, and in the same year at Chattanooga, Tenn., where he was city attorney, 1880-1881. He was three times appointed and twice elected judge of the Fourth Judicial Circuit of Tennessee; was elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth Congresses, and was reelected to the Sixty-first Congress from the Third Tennessee District. Mr. Moon married at Jonesboro, Tenn., Oct. 8, 1884, Addie M. Deaderick, daughter of the late Chief Justice James W. Deaderick, of Tennessee. Address: Chattanooga, Tenn.

MOON, Reuben Osborne:

Congressman and lawyer; born in New Jersey; son of Aaron Moon, one of the most successful teachers of that State; descendant of John Moon, one of the earliest judges of the State of Pennsylvania. He was educated under his father's instruction, supplemented by a college course, graduating in 1874. He taught school, and later was a professor in a prominent institution of learning in Philadelphia; engaged in the educational lecture field; studied law, being admitted to the bar in 1884, to the Supreme Court in 1886, and to the United States courts in 1890. He was president of the Columbia Club, and is also a member of the Union League, Penn. Club, the Lawyers' Club, the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, and other prominent Pennsylvania associations. He was elected as a Republican, to the Fifty-eighth Congress, Nov. 2, 1903, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Hon. Robert H. Forcderer, and reelected to the Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth and sixty-first Congresses from the Fourth Pennsylvania District. He married, in 1876, Mary A. Pred-more, of Barnegat, N. J., and they have two children. Residence: Aldine Hotel. Office: 405 Pennsylvania Building, Philadelphia.

MOORE, Charles Arthur:

Merchant, manufacturer; born in West Sparta, Livingston County, N. Y.; son of William Ropes and Caroline M. (Van Ness) Moore. He was educated in public schools of Rochester, N. Y., and Lynn, Mass. Early in life he was engaged as manufacturer of steam specialties in Boston, and in 1880 he joined with H. S. Manning & Company in the formation of the firm of Manning, Maxwell & Moore, becoming in 1905. Manning, Maxwell & Moore, Incorporated. Mr. Moore accompanied President McKinley on his trip to the Pacific Coast; being the only guest outside of the Cabinet. He was presidential elector for McKinley and Hobart, and was appointed messenger to deliver the electoral vote of New York State. He is president of Manning, Maxwell & Moore, Incorporated. The Shaw Electric Crane Company, the Consolidated Safety valve Company, Ashcroft Manufacturing Company, Hayden & Derby Manufacturing Company, Hancock Inspirator Company, the United Injector Company, Windsor Machine Company, Windsor, Vermont; director of the Casualty Company of America, Continental Insurance Company, Liberty National Bank, United Bank Note Corporation and National Machinery Company of Tiffin, Ohio. He is a chevalier of the Legion of Honor of France, president of the American Protective Tariff League; member New York Civic Federation (ex-president); trustee of Adelphi College and St. John's Guild; member of the American Chamber of Commerce (Paris), Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York, National Association of Manufacturers, National Civic Federation, New York Board of Trade and Transportation, American Society of Mechanical Engineers, New England Society of Brooklyn, New England Society of New York, Ohio Society of New York, Society of the Genesee, St. Andrew's Society, the Pilgrims of the United States, the Sons of the Revolution. He is a member of the Republican, Union League, Army and Navy, Engineers' and Transportation Clubs, Automobile Club of America, Fairfield County Golf, Hamilton, Indian Harbor Yacht, Montauk, New York Riding, Rembrandt and Lotos Clubs of New York City; Metropolitan Club, Washington, D. C., Century Club of Muskegon, Mich., Touring Club of France, and Auto Club of Milan, Italy. Mr. Moore married in Norwalk, Ohio, Mary C. Campbell, and they have four children. Address: 85 Liberty Street, New York City.

MOORE, Charles Forrest:

Lawyer; born in Dunmore, W. Va., Jan. 28, 1863; son of Isaac and Alcinda H. (Arbogast) Moore. He was educated in Vanderbilt University and in the University of Virginia. He practised law after graduation until 1894; was elected judge for the counties of Allegheny and Craig, W. Va., from Jan. 1, 1894, and resigned to become counsel for the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, in 1898. He removed to New York City in 1902, where he is still special counsel for the pulp company. Judge Moore has always been active in politics as a Democrat taking a prominent part in all political campaigns; and is popular as an after-dinner speaker. He is author of Moore's History of the States, United and Otherwise; and is editor-in-chief of Freight, The Shipper's Forum. He is a member of the Southern Society, Society of Medical Jurisprudence, Kappa Alpha fraternity, and The Virginians. Judge Moore has been twice married; first, in Huntsville, W. Va., Sept. 27, 1887, to Mollie Beard and second, in Orange, Va., Oct. 30, 1895, to Janie Slaughter; and he has two children. Address: 309 Broadway, New York City.

MOORE, Charles Harry:

Civil engineer; born in Baltimore, Dec. 9, 1863; son of Charles Cadwallader and Rosa Virginia (Killin) Moore. He was graduated from Lafayette College, B. S., 1884. Mr. Moore was treasurer and vice-president of the Bethlehem, Pa. Silk Company; first assistant engineer of the Erie Railroad Company, Chicago & Erie Railroad Company, New York, Susquehanna & Western Railroad Company; director of the Edgewater & Fort Lee Railroad Company; made a reconnoissance and survey for connecting the Atlantic and Pacific oceans traffic via Amazon River and railroad across the Andes Mountains, through the Republic of Ecuador; is engineer of grade crossing of the Erie Railroad Company, Chicago and Erie Railroad Company, New York, Susquehanna & Western Company; chief and consulting engineer of the Ferrocarril al Curaray Republic of Ecuador; vice-president of the North Buttle. He is a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, American Railway Engineering and Extension Development Company; Maintenance of Way Association, the National Geographic Society, Metropolitan Museum of Art, Zeta Psi fraternity, the Masonic order, Military Order of the Loyal Legion; Sons of Veterans, New York, and of the Engineers' Club of New York City, the Art Club of Philadelphia and the Tungurahua Club of Ambato, Ecuador. Mr. Moore married in Pottsville, Pa., April 1897, Martha Fletcher Lee. Address: 50 Church Street, New York City.

MOORE, Charles Herbert:

Professor of art; born in New York City, April 10, 1840; son of Charles and Jane M. (Benson) Moore. He received from Harvard the honorary degree of A. M. in 1890. He was appointed instructor in drawing in 1871, assistant professor of fine arts in 1891, and has been professor of art and director of Fogg Art Museum since 1896 at the Harvard University. He is author of: Development and Character of Gothic Architecture, London, 1890, second edition in New York 1899; Character of Renaissance Architecture, New York, 1905. Professor Moore married first, in Schenectady, N. Y., July 19, 1863, Mary Jane Tomlinson; and second, Dec. 30, 1881, Elizabeth F. Hewins, and he has one daughter. Address: Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass.

MOORE, Charles Leonard:

Author; born in Philadelphia, March 16, 1854; son of Joseph and Mary E. (Brown)

Moore. He was educated in the public schools; trained in railroad work by Thomas Collins one of the great old-time contractors; was one of the managers of the unfortunate Madeira and Mamoré Railroad Expedition of 1878-1879, and in that connection was U. S. consular agent at San Antonio, Brazil, for nearly two years; was afterwards on other railroad work, and with the Florida Land and Improvement Company. Mr. Moore is author of the published books; Atlas; Poems Antique and Modern; Banquet of Palacios, a comedy; Odes; Book of Day Dreams; Ghost of Rosdals, a tragedy; Red Branch Crests, a trilogy. He has been a contributor of critical essays to the Chicago Dial for fifteen years. Address: 1501 Pine Street, Philadelphia.

MOORE, David Hastings:

Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church; born in Athens, Ohio, Sept. 4, 1838; son of Hon. Eliakim Hastings and Amy (Barker) Moore. He was educated in Ohio State University, A.B., 1860, A.M., 1863; and he received the degree of D.D. from that University, 1838, and of LL.D. from Mt. Union College, Ohio, 1896. and from the University of Denver, 1899. He served from private to lieutenant-colonel of Ohio Volunteers in the Civil War, after his ordination to the Methodist ministry in 1860. He was pastor in Columbus, Cincinnati, and other Ohio charges; was president of the Cincinnati Wesleyan College, 1875-1880; president of Colorado Seminary, and chancellor of the University of Denver, 1880-1889; editor of the Western Christian Advocate, 1889-1900. He was elected bishop in 1900; stationed at Shanghai with jurisdiction over the Methodist missions in China, Japan and Korea until 1904; then at Portland, Ore., 1904-1908; since then at Cincinnati. Address: Cincinnati, Ohio.

MOORE, Francis C.:

Insurance president, retired; born in Houston, Texas, in 1842; son of Dr. Francis C. and Elizabeth M. (Wood) Moore. He was educated in the Philadelphia High School and the law department of the University of Pennsylvania. He was for many years president of the Continental Fire Insurance Company and is now retired. Mr. Moore is a member of the Metropolitan Club. He married, in 1868, Cora W. Taylor. Address: 20 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

MOORE, Frank Gardner:

Professor of Latin in Trinity College; born in West Chester, Pa., Sept. 25, 1865; son of Rev. William E. Moore, DD., LL.D., and Harriet (Foot) Moore. He was graduated from Yale, B.A., 1886, Ph.D., 1890; was student at Berlin, 1890-1891; tutor in Latin in Yale, 1888-1893; assistant professor, 1893-1900, and associate professor of Latin, 1900-1908, in Dartmouth College; since then professor of Latin in Trinity College. Professor Moore has traveled in Italy and Greece. He has been secretary of the American Philological Association since 1904, and is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society. He married in Brooklyn, N. Y., Jan. 4, 1897, Anna Barnard White, and has two sons and a daughter. Address: Trinity College, Hartford, Conn.

MOORE, Henrietta Greer:

Universalist minister; born in Newark, O.; daughter of Oliver Perry and Lucinda Denton (Parsons) Moore. She was educated principally under private tutors. She became a teacher for twelve years, during seven years of which she was principal of a grammar school; entered the ministry of the Universalist Church, and also became active in the temperance and equal suffrage causes, for which she has lectured in all of the States and Territories of the United States. She has been pastor of the Church of the Good Shepherd (Universalist) at Springfield, Ohio, for the past ten years, and is also pastor of the Church of Divine Love (Universalist) at Dayton, Ohio, which she organized from the beginning and for which a chapel was built and dedicated in 1907 to house the congregation and promote all departments of church work. She was elected in 1895 to the School Board of Springfield, Ohio, from the Fourth Ward of that city in 1895. Miss Moore is president of the Women's Universalist Missionary Alliance of Ohio; of the Executive Board of the Woman's National Universalist Missionary Association, and is president of the Equal Suffrage Club of Springfield, and connected with various other organizations, religious and social. Address: The Highlands, Springfield, Ohio.

MOORE, James W.:

Dean of the Pardee School of Science, Lafayette College; born in Easton, Pa., June 14, 1844. He was graduated from Easton High School, 1860; Lafayette College, A. B., 1864, A.M., 1867; M.D. from the University of Pennsylvania 1869. Professor Moore has been a member of the Faculty of Lafayette College since Jan., 1866; tutor, 1866-1868; adjunct professor, 1868-1872; professor of mechanics and experimental philosophy since 1872. The Departments of Physics and Electrical Engineering were organized under his direction. He is a member of the American Philosophical Society; fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, American Academy of Medicine, Pennsylvania State Medical Society and on its Legislative Committee; and of the Sons of the Revolution; historian general of the Founders and Patriots of America, 1607-1657; member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society and Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity. He is author of: Electrodynamic Phenomena, 1888; Notes on a Course of Lectures on Light, 1889; The Elements of Natural Philosophy for the Use of Engineering Students, 1891; The Elements of Natural Philosophy for the Use of Junior Students in College, 1891; Methods of Investigation and Record Book of Experiments in Physics, 1892; Instruments and Methods of Physics for the Medical Profession, 1892 (Bulletin No. 17 of the American Academy of Medicine); Simple Harmonic Motion, 1894; An Attempt to Analyze the Statistics of Diphtheria in Easton, 1888-1894 inclusive, 1894 (Lehigh Valley Medical Magazine); Some Sanitary Questions (Transactions of the Pennsylvania State Medical Society); American Ancestral Chart of a Branch of the Family of Rev. John Moore, of Newton, L. I., which settled in Pennsylvania, 1897; Records of the Kingwood Monthly Meeting of Friends, Hunterdon County, N. J., 1900; Rev. John Moore, of Newton, L. I., and Some of His Descendants, 1903. Dr. Moore married at Pottstown, Pa., July 30, 1874, Rachel Phillips Flannery, daughter of Rev. James Flannery. Address: Easton, Pa.

MOORE, John Bassett:

Professor of international law and diplomacy at Columbia University; born in Smyrna, Del., Dec. 3, 1860; son of Dr. John A. and Martha A. (Ferguson) Moore. He was educated in the University of Virginia, and the honorary degree of LL.D. was conferred upon him by Yale and Columbian universities, and by Delaware College. Leaving college, he studied law in Wilmington, Del., 1880-1883. He was admitted to the bar of Wilmington, in 1883; entered the Department of State, Washington, as law clerk in 1885; was third assistant secretary of State in 1886; resigned in 1891 to become professor of international law and diplomacy at Columbia University. He was secretary to the Fisheries Conference, 1887-1888; to the American Peace Commission at 1887; assistant secretary of State in 1898, resigning to become secretary and counsel to the American Peace Commission at Paris; agent of the United States before the United States and Dominican Mixed Commission, 1903-1904; member of the Institut Colonial International; associate Institut de Droit International; member of Massachusetts Historical Society. He is author of: Report of Extraterritorial Crime, 1887; Report on Extradition, 1890; Treatise on Extradition and Interstate Rendition, two volumes, 1891; American Notes on the Conflict of Laws, 1896; History and Digest of International Arbitrations, six volumes, 1898; •A Digest of International Law, eight volumes, 1906. Mr. Moore is one of the editors of the Political Science Quarterly, and of the Journal du Droit International Privé. He is a member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, and is a member of the Century Association of New York City and the Cosmos Club of Washington, D. C. He married, in 1890, Helen Frances Toland. Address: Columbia University, New York City.

MOORE, John Howard:

Teacher and author; born in Linden, Mo., Dec. 4, 1862; son of William A. and Mary (Barger) Moore. He was educated in Os-kaloosa (Iowa) College, 1881-1885, and the University of Chicago, 1894-1898, A.B., 1898. He taught school near Cawker City, Kansas, 1887-1891; was on the lecture platform, 1891-1894, and then for four years doing graduate work in the University of Chicago. Since 1898 he has been an instructor in Chicago High Schools, now in the Crane Technical High School, Chicago. Mr. Moore is author of: Better World Philosophy, 1899; The Universal Kinship, 1904; The New Ethics, 1908; Napoleon Bonaparte-Genius and Head-hunter, 1909. He is a socialist in political belief. Address: 6260 Jackson Park Avenue, Chicago.

MOORE, John Matthew:

Congressman; born at Richmond, Fort Bend County, Texas, Nov. 18, 1862; son of Dr. Matthew A. and Henrietta (Huddleston) Moore, who removed from Greenwood, Alabama, to Texas, in 1852. He was educated in the common schools of Richmond, and attended two sessions of the Agricultural and Mechanical College at Bryan, Texas, obtained his business training in the mercantile, banking, stock raising, and farming businesses, and is now a cattle raiser and planter. Mr. Moore was elected to the State Legislature from the Forty-first district in 1896; served on the Finance and other committees; declined a renomination; was Democratic chairman of the Tenth Congressional District in 1898, and a delegate to the Democratic National Convention at Kansas City in 1900. He was elected to the Fifty-ninth Congress, June 6, 1905, to fill the unexpired term of the Hon. John M. Pinckney, deceased, and reelected to the Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses, from the Eighth Texas District. He married in 1883, Lottie Dyer. Address: Richmond, Texas.

MOORE, Joseph Hampton:

Congressman and journalist; born at Woodbury, N. J., March 8, 1864; son of Joseph B. Moore and Mary J. (Dorff) Moore. He was educated in the common schools. Mr. Moore married in Camden, N. J., Jan. 16, 1889, Adelaide Stone. He was a law office boy and student in Philadelphia, 1887-1880; a reporter in the courts and on the Public Ledger in Philadelphia, 1881-1894; chief clerk to city treasurer, Philadelphia, 1894-1897; editor and publisher, 1898-1899; secretary to the mayor, 1900; city treasurer, 1901-1903; appointed by President Roosevelt first chief of the Bureau of Manufactures, Department of Commerce and Labor, Jan., 1905; resigned June 1, 1905, to accept the presidency of the City Trust, Safe Deposit and Surety Company of Philadelphia, but on the discontinuance of its business he was appointed by the court June 24, 1905, receiver of the company. He was president of the Allied Republican Clubs of Philadelphia, 1900-1906; president of the Pennsylvania State League in 1900, and reelected in 1901; was elected president of the National Republican League, at Chicago, in 1902, and reelected at Indianapolis in 1904. Mr. Moore was elected as a Republican to the Fifty-ninth Congress for the unexpired term of the late Hon. George A. Castor and to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses. Address: Witherspoon Building, Philadelphia.

MOORE, Miles C.:

Banker and ex-governor; born at Rix-Mill, Ohio, April 17, 1845; son of Amos L. and Mary (Monroe) Moore. He was educated in the Bronson Institute, Wisconsin, went to Washington Territory, and was a member of the firm of Paine Brothers and Moore, general store, Walla Walla, Wash., 1869-1878; since then of M. C. Moore & Co., grain dealers, of which he was manager; later a member of the grain firm of C. and M. C. Moore, and he is president of the Baker-Boyer National Bank of Walla Walla, and of M. C. Moore & Sons, a corporation. He was elected Mayor of Walla Walla in 1877, and was the last governor of Washington Territory, before it acquired Statehood in 1889. He is a Republican. Governor Moore is a member of the Arlington Club of Portland, Ore., and of the Union Club of Tacoma, Wash. He married in Walla Walla, March 23, 1873, Mary Elizabeth Baker, and they have three sons. Address: Walla Walla, Wash.

MOOREHEAD, John, Jr.:

President of the Moorhead Brothers and Company iron mills, Sharpsburg, Pa.; born in Pittsburgh and prepared for college at the Western University, and Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass. In 1880 he was graduated from Yale University and was admitted into the partnership of Moorhead Brothers & Company, and was soon after placed in complete charge of the management of the company. Mr. Moorhead has been active and is connected in various capacities with many of the city's large business concerns. He is a director Exchange Bank, Monongahela Water Company, Standard Underground Cable Company, Etna & Vesuvius Coal Company, and other corporations. He has been for years a guarantor of the Pittsburgh Orchestra and a member of the Union, Pittsburgh, Duquesne, Allegheny Country, and Duquesne Kennel Clubs of Pittsburgh; the University, Yale and Brook Clubs, New York, and of the Essex Country Club, Manchester, Mass.; member of the Academy of Science and Art and the Art Society. Mr. Moorhead married April 7, 1881, Annie D. Alston of Chicago, and they have two sons and two daughters. Address: 928 Ridge Avenue, Allegheny, Pa.

MOORES, Charles Washington:

Lawyer; born in Indianapolis, Feb. 15, 1862; son of Charles Washington and Julia Dumont (Merrill) Moores. He received his preparatory education in the public schools of Indianapolis and Butler College and was graduated from Wabash College, with the degrees of A.B. and A.M. and from the Central Law School, with the degree of LL.B. in 1883. He was admitted to the bar at Indianapolis in 1883; and has been lecturer in the Indiana Law School on Illegal Contracts, Sales and Constitutional law. He has been a United States Commissioner since 1888. He was elected in 1899 a member of the Indianapolis Board of School Commissioners for two years; reelected in 1901 for four years and again in 1905 for four years; vice-president of that board 1902 to 1908 and since that date has been its president. He is a member of the firm of Pickens, Moores, Davidson and Pickens, attorneys, Indianapolis. Mr. Moores is a Republican and a Presbyterian. He is a member of the Indianapolis Bar Association, the State Bar Association of Indiana, the American Bar Association, the National Geographic Society, Indiana Historical Society, Sigma Chi fraternity, Phi Beta Kappa Society; also the Society of the Sons of American Revolution, the Sons of the Revolution, and Society of Colonial Wars. He is joint author, with W. F. Elliot, of Indiana Criminal Law, 1893; author of an article on Trusts and Trustees in the American and English Encyclopedia of Law (first edition), and is author of articles in the same work on Specific Performance (first edition), Banks and Banking, By-Laws, and contracts (second edition), of Caleb Mills and the Public School System, 1905; Life of Abraham Lincoln for Boys and Girls, 1909 (Houghton Mifflin Co.) and has been a lecturer in the Indiana Law School since 1896. Mr. Moores is a director of Butler College, University of Indianapolis, and director of the Indianapolis Art Association, 1909, and is a member of the University Club of Indiana, the Indianapolis Literary Club, the Contemporary Club and the Lawyers' Club, of Indianapolis. He married in Philadelphia, Oct. 5, 1896, Elizabeth Nichols, and they have two children: Emily Bishop Moores, and Charles Washington Moores, III. Residence: 1918 North Pennsylvania Street. Office: 1031 Lemeke Building, Indianapolis, Ind.

MORA, F. Luis:

Artist, born in Montevideo, Uruguay, July 27, 1874; son of Domingo and Laura (Gaillard) Mora. He was educated in public schools of New York City and Boston, an art education in the Museum of Fine Arts School, Boston; Art Students' League, New York City and abroad; took the Sears prize for drawing and composition at Boston, and Rothschild prize at the Art Students League. Mr. Mora has devoted much of his time in early professional career to illustrating for magazines, and teaching in New York School of Art; did important work for Lynn (Massachusetts) Public Library and for the Missouri State Building, Louisiana Purchase Exposition; has been represented in the leading art expositions; won a gold medal for painting, Philadelphia Art Club, 1901; two bronze medals for decoration and painting, Louisiana Purchase Exposition, 1904; first Hallgarten prize for painting in the National Academy of Design, 1905; also represented in permanent collections of the Boston Art Club, National Academy of Design, Lotos Club, Columbia College, and Salmagundi Club, New York City, the Highland Club of Summit, N. J., and Exeter Academy, N. H. He is an academicien of the National Academy of Design, member of the Water Color Society, Architectural League, Municipal Art Society, Society of Illustrators, and member of the Lotos, Salmagundi and Water Colors Clubs. Mr. Mora married in Perth Amboy, N. J., Sept. 12, 1900, Sophia B. Compton. Address: 142 East 18th Street, New York City.

MORAN, Thomas:

Artist; born in Bolton, Lancashire, England, Jan. 12, 1837; son of Thomas and Mary Moran; came with his parents to the United States at the age of 7. He received his education in the public schools of Philadelphia; served apprenticeship to a wood engraver, and afterward took up art, studied under James Hamilton, and in Italy. He began his professional career as illustrator and landscape artist, obtaining distinction in both departments; went with the U. S. Exploring Expedition to the Yellowstone region, in 1871, and in 1873 again went to the Far West, painting the large canvases the Grand Canon of the Yellowstone and Chasm of the Colorado, which were purchased by Congress and are now in the U. S. Capitol. He has painted many landscapes and is represented in the most important public and private collections. He has been academicien in the National Academy of Design, since 1884. Mr. Moran married in April, 1862, Mary Nimmo. Address: The Clinton, 253 West 42d Street, New York City.

MORE, Paul Elmer:

Editor of the Nation; born in St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 12, 1864. He was educated in Washington University, St. Louis, A.B., 1887, A.M., 1891, Harvard, A.M., 1893. He was assistant in Sanskrit, Harvard University for one year, associate in Sanskrit and classical literature, Bryn Mawr College for two years; literary editor of The Independent, 1901-1904; literary editor of The Evening Post since 1904, also associate editor of the Nation from 1906, of which he became editor, May 20, 1909. He is a member of the American Philological Association. Mr. More is author of: Helena and Occasional Poems; The Great Refusal; A Century of Indian Epigrams; The Judgment of Socrates; A Translation of the "Prometheus Bound" of Æschylus; Life of Benjamin Franklin; The Jessica Letters (with Mrs. L. H. Harris), 1904; Shelburne Essays (six volumes). He is a member of the Century Club. Residence: 260 West 99th Street. Address: 20 Vesey Street, New York City.

MOREHEAD, John Alfred:

College president; born in Pulaski County, Va., Feb. 4, 1867; son of James William and Barbara (Yonce) Morehead. He was graduated from Roanoke College, A.B., 1889, A.M., 1892, D.D., 1902, from Lutheran Theological Seminary, Mt. Airy, Philadelphia, 1892; was instructor in Roanoke College, 1889-1890; president of the Theological Seminary, Charleston, S. C., 1898-1903; student in the University of Berlin, 1901-1902, and president of Roanoke College since 1903. He married in Wytheville, Va., 1892, Eleanor Virginia Fisher, and has one daughter. Residence: High Street. Office: Roanoke College, Salem, Va.

MORELAND, William Hall:

Missionary bishop of Sacramento: born at Charleston, S. C., April 9, 1861; son of E. M. and Caroline (Hall) Moreland. He was graduated at the University of the South in 1881 with the degrees of B.S., B.Lit. and M. A., and received its honorary D.D. in 1899; also D.D. from Berkeley Divinity School, 1900. He was ordered deacon in 1884 by Bishop Williams, and ordained to the priesthood 1885 by Bishop W. B. W. Howe. He was assistant at Christ Church, Hartford, Conn., 1884-1885, then became rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Nashua, N. H. After eight years of activity in this parish, he became rector of St. Luke's Church, San Francisco, Calif., 1893. He was made bishop of Sacramento in 1899, being consecrated by bishops Nichols, S. L. Leonard, Kendrick, Barker, Perrin (of British Columbia), and Johnson. Bishop Moreland is author of: What is Christianity? 1886; and The Church of the Churches, Which 1894. Address: Sacramento, Calif.

MORGAN, Anna:

Founder of the School of Expression; born in Auburn, N. Y.; daughter of Allen Dennison Morgan (Hamilton College graduate, 1848, member of the New York State Legislature in 1860), and of Mary Jane Thornton, daughter of Stephen Thornton of Fleming, N. Y. Her paternal grandfather was Nathan Gallup Morgan, a member of the New York Legislature in 1840. Miss Morgan began her professional career as a reader in Chicago in 1879, in connection with Mrs. Scott Siddons. She was placed at the head of the dramatic department of the Chicago Conservatory in the Auditorium in 1883, where she remained until 1897, when she founded The Anna Morgan School of Expression, with studios in The Fine Arts Building, Chicago. In 1893 Miss Morgan was prominent in the Columbian Worlds Fair at Chicago as an exponent of her system of natural expression in dramatic art. In her numerous trips abroad she has visited at the homes of Maeterlinck and George Bernard Shaw and has given first American productions of some of their plays as well as of other foreign and native dramatists. Miss Morgan has lectured in London and before the National School of Italy at Florence. Miss Morgan has always taken an active part in furthering literature and the arts and is the author of various works on the art of expression. She is a member of the Woman's Club, the Twentieth Century and The Little Room Club of Chicago. Address: 203 Michigan Boulevard, Chicago.

MORGAN, Daniel Nash:

Merchant and banker; born in Newtown, Conn., Aug. 18, 1844; son of Ezra and Hannah (Nash) Morgan. He received his education in Newtown Academy and Bethel Institute, in addition to its district schools. He was engaged in the dry goods and carpets business at Bridgeport, Conn., 1869-1880; president of the City National Bank of Bridgeport, 1879-1893; president of the Mechanics' and Farmers' Savings Bank of Bridgeport for ten years and trustee for twenty-nine years and was president of the United States Trust Company at Washington, D. C., 1907. He was director of the Wheeler & Wilson Manufacturing Company, was vice-president and is now director of the Consolidated Rolling Stock Company; member of the firm of Morgan & Booth of Newtown, Conn., and of Birdsey & Morgan, and of Morgan Hlopson Company of Bridgeport, Conn. He was councilman, 1873-1874; member of the Board of Education, 1877-1878 and 1898-1904; mayor of Bridgeport, 1880, and 1884; member of the Legislature of Connecticut, 1883; member of the Connecticut Senate, 1885, 1886 and 1893; treasurer of the United States, 1893-1897; Democratic candidate for governor of Connecticut, 1898 and candidate for the U. S. Senate in 1899 in the Connecticut Legislature. Mr. Morgan was parish clerk of Trinity Protestant Episcopal Church, Bridgeport; then junior warden and afterward senior warden until his removal to Washington, D. C., in 1893. He was a member of the Bridgeport Scientific and Historical Society; was president of the Bridgeport Hospital, president of the Free Kindergarten Association; director of the Young Men's Christian Association, and he is a Mason, Knight Templar and Shriner; was a member of the Sea Side Club of Bridgeport, and is vice-president of the Sons of the Revolution in Connecticut. Mr. Morgan married in Huntington, Conn., June 10, 1868, Medora Huganen Judson, and they have two children. Address: Bridgeport, Conn.

MORGAN, Dick Thompson:

Lawyer and congressman; born at Prairie Creek, Ind., Dec. 6, 1853; son of Valentine and Frances (Thompson) Morgan. He was graduated from the Union Christian College, Merom, Ind., M. S., 1876, and from the Central Law School, Indianapolis, Ind., LL.B., 1880. He practised law in Terre Haute, Ind.; removed to Garden City, Kans., 1885, where he was attorney for the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fé Railway. Mr. Morgan was a pioneer in Oklahoma, having gone to Guthrie, Okla., at the first opening of lands, April 22, 1889. He has attained prominence as an authority on public land laws, and he is author of: Morgan's Manual of U. S. Homestead Laws; also of Morgan's Digest of Oklahoma Statutes and Supreme Court Decisions, 1898. He has always been an active Republican; was a member of the Indiana Legislature, 1881; register of the U. S. Land Office at Woodward, Okla., 1904-1908, and in Nov. 1908 he was elected as a Republican to the Sixty-first Congress from the Second Oklahoma District. He is a member of the Disciples of Christ, or Christian Church; is a trustee of the Oklahoma Christian University at Enid, Okla., and he was president for seventeen years of the Oklahoma Christian Missionary Society. He married in Merom, Ind., May 30, 1878, Ora, daughter of Rev. A. R. and Mary Heath. He has a son, Porter H. Morgan, an attorney of Oklahoma City, Okla. Address: Woodward, Okla.

MORGAN, Edward M.:

Postmaster of New York; he has spent thirty-four years in the service of the New York Post Office. At the age of sixteen years he became a carrier in New York City. By successive steps he rose to the position of general superintendent of delivery and afterward assistant postmaster. After the appointment of former Postmaster Wilcox as chairman of the Public Service Commission, Mr. Morgan served as acting postmaster, and in August, 1907, was appointed postmaster of New York, in succession to William R. Wilcox, resigned. He is the Republican leader in the Assembly District of Washington Heights. Residence:

JOHN PIERPONT MORGAN
Banker

583 West 146th Street. Official address: Post Office, New York City.

MORGAN, Edward Vernon:

Diplomat; born at Aurora, N. Y., Feb. 22, 1865; son of Henry A. and Margaret (Bogart) Morgan. He was graduated from Harvard College, A.B., 1890, A.M., 1891, afterward being a student at the University of Berlin, 1891-1892 and 1894-1895. Mr. Morgan was an assistant in history at Harvard University, 1892-1894, and instructor in history at Adelbert College, Cleveland, Ohio, 1895-1898, before entering upon his diplomatic career. In April, 1899, he was appointed secretary to the Samoan High Commission, became secretary to the American Legation at Seoul, Korea, and vice and deputy consul general of the United States at Seoul, in 1900. He was transferred to the American Embassy at St. Petersburg as second secretary, in 1901, appointed confidential clerk to the third assistant secretary of State at Washington, in 1902, so serving until 1904, when he was appointed consul at Dahn, Manchuria. In 1905 he was appointed envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to Korea, and transferred in 1906 to his present post as envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary and of the United States to Cuba. Mr. Morgan has received from the Government of France the decoration of Chevalier of the Légion d'Honneur. He is a member of the Metropolitan Club of Washington, D. C. Address: American Legation, Havana, Cuba.

MORGAN, Henry Hays:

Consular officer; born in New Orleans, La., Dec. 24, 1860; son of Phillip Hickey and Beatrice Leslie (Ford) Morgan. He was educated in Brussels, Belgium, and Bonn, (Germany) and afterward studied law in New York with his father. He was appointed secretary of the Legation at the City of Mexico, Sept. 27, 1882; retired June 6, 1885; consul at Horgen, June 8, 1897; consul at Aarau, May 25, 1898; consul at Lucerne, May 15, 1902; consul at Stuttgart, June 22, 1906; consul at Amsterdam, April 29, 1907. He married in New York City June 29, 1897, Laura Kilpatrick, Daughter of General Judson Kilpatrick of New Jersey. Address: American Consulate, Amsterdam, The Netherlands.

MORGAN, John Buck:

Dry goods merchant and manufacturer; born in Philadelphia, Jan. 10, 1847; son of Charles E. and Jane P. (Buck) Morgan. He was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania as A.B. (class orator) in 1866, and later received the A.M. degree. Mr. Morgan is president and director of the Berkshire Manufacturing Company, limited, cotton and woolen goods; trustee of the Pennsylvania Mutual Life Insurance Company; director of the Germantown Trust Company; The Reliance Insurance Company and the Provident Life and Trust Company. He is manager of the Pennsylvania Hospital, a member of the Pennsylvania Society, of Society of Sons of the Revolution, the Union League and Germantown Cricket Clubs of Philadelphia, and Merchants and University clubs of New York. He married Sarah Fisher Corlies of Philadelphia. Residence: 157 West Chelton Ave., Germantown. Office: 235 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia.

MORGAN, John Pierpont:

Banker; born at Hartford, Conn., April 17, 1837; son of Junius Spencer and Juliet (Pierpont) Morgan. He is a descendant in paternal line of Captain Miles Morgan, a native of Wales, who came to Boston in 1637, married Prudence Gilbert, a fellow passenger on the voyage, and who was the leader in the defense of Springfield, Mass., in the early Indian wars; in maternal lines he is grandson of Rev. John Pierpont, of Boston, and great-grandson of Rev. James Pierpont, one of the founders of Yale College. He was graduated from the English High School, Boston, and studied higher branches at the University of Göttingen. He began his business career in the banking house of Duncan, Sherman and Company, in 1857; in 1860, became agent and attorney in the United States for George Peabody and Company of London (his father's house); in 1864, junior member of the firm of Dabney, Morgan and Company, and later of Drexel, Morgan and Company, of which, by the death of partners, he eventually became head under the present name of J. P. Morgan and Company. The house, under his personal direction, has been identified with many of the greatest financial operations; he floated the $62,000,000 United States bonds issued by the Cleveland administration to buy gold, which saved the United States Treasury from a silver basis; has reorganized and consolidated many of the largest railway systems; has organized and financed many of the largest industrial corporations, notably in the anthracite and bituminous coal industries and in the organization of the United States Steel Corporation, with capital now aggregating to $1,400,000,000. He secured the subscription in the United States of $50,000,000 of the British War Loan in 1901, the largest foreign bond subscription ever made in America. He is senior partner of the London banking house of J. S. Morgan and Company, and has large investments in English corporations. His benefactions include nearly $1,350,000, given to the purchase of the present site and erecting and equipping the present buildings of the New York Lying-In Hospital; $1,250,000, for the Medical College of Harvard University; half a million dollars to the New York Trade Schools; a like sum toward the building of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine; large donations to the Young Men's Christian Association, to the Palisades Park Commission and to many other objects of charitable, religious, educational and personal character. He is distinguished also as an art connoisseur and bibliophile; his collections of books, manuscripts, paintings and objects d'art are widely famous, and, in addition, he has made valuable gifts of collections to the public, such as the Bement Collection of ten thousand mineral specimens and the Tiffany exhibit of gems and pearls to the American Museum of Natural History, the Ford collection of books and manuscripts to the New York Public Library, large gifts of money and paintings to the Metropolitan Museum of Art, and others. In his religious faith, he is an Episcopalian; warden and active member of St. George's Church, in connection with which he built the large Memorial Building, and to the work of which he has been a constant supporter. He has for the last twenty years been a deputy from the Diocese of New York to the General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church. His favorite recreation is yachting, beginning in 1881 with the Corsair, an iron steam yacht, succeeded in 1891 by Corsair II, which was sold to the United States Government at the breaking out of the Spanish-American War, and rechristened Gloucester, and Corsair III, his present yacht. He was commodore of New York Yacht Club for three years; built the cup defender Columbia, which twice defeated Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock in the international races for the America's Cup, in 1899 and 1901. He is a member of the Union, Knickerbocker, Union League, Metropolitan, Century, New York Yacht, Seawanhaka-Corinthian Yacht, Tuxedo, Racquet and Tennis, Riding, Church, City, Midway, Players', Grolier, Jekyll Island, and Turf Clubs of New York City, and the Metropolitan Club of Washington. He married first in 1861, Amelia Sturges (died in 1862); second, in 1865, Frances Louisa Tracy; and he has five children: Louisa Pierpont who married, in 1900, Herbert Livingston Satterlee; John Pierpont, Jr.; Juliet Pierpont, who married in 1891, William Pierson Hamilton; and Anne Tracy Morgan. Residence: 219 Madison Avenue. Office: 23 Wall Street, New York City.

MORRELL, Edward de Veaux:

Ex-congressman; born at Newport, R. I., Aug. 7, 1862. His ancestors were old-time Philadelphians and were prominent in the history of that city. He was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania, A.B., with high honors, in 1885; studied law at the same institution and received the degrees of M.A. and LL.B. in 1887. He was admitted to the bar in 1887; was elected to the Select Council of Philadelphia in 1891, serving three years; has been active in the business world of Philadelphia, and in the development of that section of the city in which he resides. He has held various commissions in the National Guard of Pennsylvania, and he is now judge advocate general. Mr. Morrell was elected as a Republican to fill the vacancy in the Fifty-sixth Congress caused by the death of the late Hon. A. C. Harmer, and to the Fifty-seventh and Fifty-eighth Congresses, and re-elected to the Fifty-ninth Congress. He married in 1889, Louise Bouvier, daughter of the late Francis A. Drexel. Address: Torresdale, Philadelphia.

MORRILL, Austin Winfield:

Entomologist; born in Tewksbury, Mass., Sept. 11, 1880; son of James and Elvira (Webster) Morrill. He was graduated from the Massachusetts Agricultural College and Boston University, B.Sc., 1900, Massachusetts Agricultural College, Ph.D. in 1903, graduate student there 1900-1903. He was appointed field agent of the Bureau of Entomology, U. S. Department of Agriculture, June, 1903; connected with Cotton Boll Weevil Investigations, 1903-1906; in field charge of Citrus White Fly investigations with headquarters at Orlando, Fla., July, 1906, to Aug., 1909; appointed entomologist of the Arizona Horticultural Commission, and entomologist of the Arizona Experiment Station, Sept., 1909. He is author of papers on entomology and reports of entomological investigations published in the Canadian Entomologist, Entomological News, Psyche, American Naturalist, Bulletins of the Massachusetts Experiment Station, and of the United States Department of Agriculture, Proceedings of the Florida State Horticultural Society, and several in Agricultural and Horticultural periodicals. He is a Royal Arch Mason, member of Phi Sigma Kappa general college fraternity; fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science; active member of the Association of Economic Entomologists, and member of the Entomological Society of America. He married, April 29, 1908, Florence Hall McCormick (Wellesley College, 1905), daughter of U. S. Circuit Judge A. P. McCormick and Mrs. (Lula Bell) McCormick, of Dallas, Texas. Address: Tucson, Arizona.

MORRILL, Henry Hurlbert:

Clergyman; born at Durham, Maine, Jan. 6, 1860; son of William Francis and Sarah

Nevins (Newell) Morrill. He was graduated from Harvard, B.A., 1882, and from Kansas Theological Seminary, B.D., 1886. He was ordered deacon in 1888, and ordained priest in 1889 by the Bishop of Kansas. He is now rector of St. Paul's Church, Holyoke, Mass. Mr. Morrill was formerly chaplain of St. John's School, Salina, Kan., 1888-1890; rector of Springfield, Mo., 1891-1895; rector of St. John's Church, Clinton, Iowa, 1896-1900. Dr. Morrill is chaplain of the Sons of Veterans, and is a member of the Massachusetts Division. He married at Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 16, 1884, Caroline Emily Barrington, and they have one daughter. Address: Appleton Street, Holyoke, Mass.

MORRILL, John Adams:

Lawyer; born in Auburn, Maine, June 3, 1853; son of Nahum and Anna Isabella (Littlefield) Morrill. He was graduated from Bowdoin College, A.B., 1876, A.M., 1879. He was admitted to practice in the courts of Maine, 1880, in the U. S. Circuit Court, 1886; and was appointed by the Legislature of Maine, March 21, 1901, sole commissioner to revise and consolidate the public laws of the State, and prepared the Fifth Revision of the Public Laws of Maine (Revised Statutes, 1903). He has been a member of the State Board of Examiners of Applicants for Admission to the Bar, since 1900; trustee of Auburn Savings Bank since January, 1885, and its president since January, 1906. He was a delegate to the Universal Congress of Lawyers and Jurists, St. Louis, 1904. Mr. Morrill is a member of the Maine State Bar Association, Maine Historical Society, and Phi Beta Kappa Society; trustee of Auburn Public Library since 1891; treasurer since 1902 and a member of the Board of Overseers of Bowdoin College since 1888. He married in Melrose, Mass., Nov. 1, 1888, Isabella Olive Littlefield, and they have two children. Address: Auburn, Maine.

MORRIS, Edward Lyman:

Curator; born at Monson, Mass., Oct. 23, 1870; son of the late Edward Franklin and Louise Janette (Clapp) Morris. He attended the Monson Academy; was graduated from Amherst College, A.B., 1891, A.M., 1895, and Harvard Graduate School, 1892-1893. He was laboratory assistant and instructor in biology at Amherst College, 1893-1895; instructor in botany and chemistry in the Western High School of Washington, D. C., 1895-1896, biology and chemistry, 1896-1898; director of botany, Washington high schools, 1898-1900; head of the Department of Biology, 1900-1907; and has been curator of Natural Science in the Museum of the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences, since July, 1907. Mr. Morris has been special plant expert of the U. S. National Herbarium, and the U. S. Department of Agriculture, since 1898; was field assistant of the U. S. Fish Commission, in 1900; associate editor of School Science, 1901; associate examiner of the College Entrance Examination Board, 1902-1903. He is a member of the Cosmos Club, the Biological Society of Washington, the Washington Biologists' Field Club, and the Torrey Botanical Club. He married at Charlton, Mass., Sept. 9, 1896, Florence Syvret who died Dec. 12, 1903, and again married at Washington, D. C., Sept. 13, 1907, Mary E. Bedell. Address: Museum of the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences, Eastern Parkway, Brooklyn, N. Y.

MORRIS, Effingham Buckley:

Lawyer; born in Philadelphia, Aug. 23, 1856; son of Israel Wistar and Annie (Buckley) Morris. He was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania, as A.B. in 1875, A.M. in 1878; Law Department of the University of Pennsylvania, LL.B. in 1878. He was general attorney of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, 1881-1887; member of Councils of Philadelphia, 1880-1881; trustee for Philadelphia City Bonds secured on Gas Works, 1882-1887; counsel of the Girard Trust Company, 1880-1887; president of the Girard Trust Company since 1887; trustee of the Estate of Anthony J. Drexel. He is a director of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, Philadelphia National Bank, Fourth Street National Bank, Franklin National Bank, Philadelphia Saving Fund and various other corporations; chairman of the Pennsylvania Steel Company, and the Cambria Steel Company. He is a member of the Philadelphia Club, Rittenhouse Club, University, Union League, Merion Cricket, Radnor Hunt, and the Bryn Mawr Polo Clubs. He married in Philadelphia, Nov., 1879, Ellen Douglas Burroughs, and they have four children. Address: Girard Building, Philadelphia.

MORRIS, Elizabeth Woodbridge:

Author; born in Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1870; daughter of Charles Lester and Irene (Cartwright) Woodbridge. She was graduated from Vassar College, A.B., 1892, and from Yale University, Ph.D., 1898. She married in 1899, Charles Gould Morris, and has two daughters and three sons. She is a contributor, under the pen name of Elizabeth Woodbridge of articles, chiefly light essays to The Outlook, the Atlantic (Contributors' Club), and Scribner's (Point of View). She is author of: Studies in Jonson's Comedy (Yale doctrine thesis), 1898; The Drama—Its Law and Its Technique, 1899. She is also joint author with Professor Gertrude Buck, of: A Course in Expository Writing; and of A Course in Narrative Writing. Mrs. Morris is a member of Phi Beta Kappa (Vassar Chapter), and of the Modern Language Association of America. Address: Mrs. C. G. Morris, 230 Prospect Street, New Haven, Conn.

MORRIS, George Perry:

Journalist; born in Montclair, N. J., Feb. 18, 1864; son of Charles B. and Mary (Perry) Morris. He received his education in Rutgers College, and Johns Hopkins University. Mr. Morris was on the editorial staff of the New York Mail and Express, 1888-1890; on the editorial staff of The Congregationalist, Boston, 1891-1907; and since then has been on the editorial staff of the Boston Herald. He is a member of the Delta Upsilon fraternity and the Puddingstone Club of Boston. He married in Brooklyn, N. Y., May 5, 1892, Martha Turner, and they have three children. Residence: 27 Waverly Street, Brookline, Mass. Office: Boston Herald, Tremont Street, Boston.

MORRIS, Harrison Smith:

Chairman Committee on Ways and Means of The National Academy of Design, New York. President, Wharton Steel Co. Philadelphia; born in Philadelphia, Oct. 4, 1856; son of George W. Morris. He was educated in the private and public schools in Philadelphia. Mr. Morris was engaged in the Treasury Department of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company, 1873-1893, leaving as assistant cashier; was editor of Lippincott's Magazine, 1899-1905; managing director of the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts, 1893-1905. He is author of: A Mosaic, 1891; Where Meadows Meet the Sea, 1892; In the Yule-Log Glow, 1892; Tales from Ten Poets, 1893; Tales from Shakespeare, a continuation of Lamb's 1893; The Madonna and Other Poems, 1894. Lyrics and Landscapes, 1908. He is an honorary member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society; member of the American Philosophical Society, and was member of Board of Public Education of Philadelphia, 1902-1905. He is a member of the Franklin Inn Club of Philadelphia, and of the Players' Club of New York. Address: Oak Lane Post Office, Philadelphia.

MORRIS, Henry Lewis:

Lawyer; born in New York City, 1845; son of Henry and Mary N. (Spencer) Morris. He was graduated from Columbia College Law School, LL.B. in 1868. He was admitted to bar in 1868 and since then has been engaged in the practice of law in the City of New York. He is warden of St. Bartholomew's Church, New York City; and trustee of the Board of Missions of the Protestant Episcopal Church. He is a member of the Board of Trustees of the estate and property of the Diocesan Convention of New York; trustee and vice-president of the Home for Old Men and Aged Couples and of the American Church Institute for Seamen. He is one of the governors of the Metropolitan Club; a member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, and of the Metropolitan, Lawyers', Down Town, Church and City Clubs. Mr. Morris married Anna Rutherfurd Russell, and they have two children. Address: 12 West 53d Street, New York City.

MORRIS, James Craik:

Clergyman; born in Louisville, Ky., 1870; son of J. H. M. and Fanny (Craik) Morris. He was graduated from the University of the South, M.A., 1891 Louisville Law School, LL.B., 1892. He was ordered deacon in 1896 by Bishop Dudley, and ordained priest the same year by Bishop Garrett. He is dean of St. Mary's Cathedral, Memphis, Tennessee, and was formerly assistant of St. Matthew's Cathedral, Dallas, Texas, and St. James' Church, Brooklyn, N. Y. Address: Memphis, Tennessee.

MORRIS, John Baptist:

Catholic bishop; born in Hendersonville, Tenn., June 29, 1866; son of John and Annie (Morrisey) Morris. After graduation from St. Mary's College, Kentucky, he went to Rome for philosophical and divinity courses in the North American College, and was ordained priest there in 1892. He became pastor of the Cathedral at Nashville, Tenn., and 1900-1906 was vicar general of the diocese of Nashville. He was consecrated coadjutor bishop of Little Rock, June 11, 1906, and became bishop of the same diocese, Feb. 21, 1907. Address: Little Rock, Ark.

MORRIS, John T.:

Capitalist; born in Philadelphia, 1847; son of Isaac P. and Rebecca (Thompson) Morris. He was educated at Haverford College. Mr. Morris was a member of the firm of I. P. Morris & Company until its dissolution on account of the death of his partner, John J. Thompson, in 1875, and the formation in 1876 of I. P. Morris Company, of which he was president, 1876-1891. He is a manager of The Philadelphia Saving Fund Society, chairman of The Philadelphia Contributionship for the Insurance of Houses from Loss by Fire (1752), and of the Board of Trustees, Franklin Institute; trustee of the Fairmount Park Art Association, and the Pennsylvania Museum and

School of Industrial Art; overseer of The Public School chartered by William Penn in 1711; councillor of The Historical Society of Pennsylvania. He is also ex-president of the Numismatic and Antiquarian Society of Pennsylvania; and the Chestnut Hill Horticultural Society; ex-vice-president of the Pennsylvania Institution for the Deaf and Dumb; of the Pennsylvania Museum and School of Industrial Art, and ex-manager of Haverford College. Mr. Morris is a member of the Society of Friends, and a Republican in politics. He is a member of the American Philosophical Society, the Academy of Natural Sciences and the Union League Club of Philadelphia. Address: 876 Drexel Building, Philadelphia.

MORRIS, Page:

Jurist; born in Lynchburg, Va., June 30, 1853. He received his education in the William and Mary College, and the Virginia Military Institute, and was graduated in 1872, from the latter institution where he remained a year as assistant professor of mathematics. He was for three years professor of mathematics in the Texas Military Institute until 1876, then professor of applied mathematics in the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas until 1879, when he returned to Lynchburg, Va. He was admitted to the Virginia bar in 1880, and in 1884 was the Republican nominee for Congress in the Sixth Virginia District. In 1886 he removed to Duluth, Minn., where he has since then resided. He was appointed municipal judge of Duluth in 1889; city attorney of Duluth until 1884; district judge for the Eleventh Judicial District of Minnesota in Aug., 1895, but resigned in Sept., 1896, upon his nomination as the Republican candidate for Congress from the Sixth Minnesota District. He was elected to the Fifty-fifth Congress, and reelected to the Fifty-sixth and Fifty-seventh Congresses. In March, 1903, he was appointed U. S. judge for the District of Minnesota, which office he still holds. He married, Feb. 21, 1877, Elizabeth Statham, of Lynchburg, Va. Address: Duluth, Minn.

MORRIS, Robert Tuttle:

Physician; born in Seymour, Conn., May 14, 1857. He was educated in Cornell University, biological course, in the class of 1880, received the honorary degree of A.M. from Center College of Kentucky and was graduated from the Medical Department of Columbia, M.D., 1882. He has been engaged in the practice of medicine since 1882; is professor of surgery in the New York Post-Graduate Medical School and Hospital, and visiting surgeon to same institution. Dr. Morris is a fellow of New York Academy of Medicine, American Association of Obstetricians and Gynecologists; member of American Medical Association and New York State and County Medical Societies; and is author of books and monographs on surgical topics. He is a member of the Sons of the Revolution, American Geographical Society, Linnaean Society of Natural History, and the Metropolitan, Cornell University, and Alpha Delta Phi Clubs. Dr. Morris married June 4, 1898, Mrs. Almes Reynard Mazergue. Address: 616 Madison Avenue, New York City.

MORRIS, Theodore Wilson:

Merchant; born in New York City, Jan. 15, 1842; son of James and Sarah (Whitlock) Morris. He was educated in the Mechanics' Institute and College of New York. He is senior member of Theodore W. Morris and Company, glass merchants; director of the People's Bank of New York; and vice-president of National Safe Deposit Company. He was adjutant of the Thirty-seventh Regiment of the National Guard of the State of New York, and major on the staff of General William Hall, Third Brigade, National Guard of the State of New York and commissary of the Seventy-first Regiment of the National Guard of the State of New York, with a brief service in the Civil War 1862-1863. Mr. Morris is a member of the Sons of the American Revolution, Washington Association; president of the Monmouth Battle Monument Association; member of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, Municipal Art Society, Museum of Natural History, Chamber of Commerce; trustee of the Northern Dispensary, member of the General Society of Mechanics and Tradesmen, and the Veteran Association of the Seventy-first Regiment of the National Guard of the State of New York; member and ex-president of the Wool Club and member of the New York Athletic Club. Mr. Morris married in New York City, April 2, 1867, Fannie Schanek, and they have three children. Residence: 20 Fifth Avenue. Office: 436-444 Canal Street, New York City.

MORRIS, Thomas John:

Jurist; born in Baltimore, Sept. 24, 1837. He was graduated from Harvard, A.B., 1856; and practised law in Baltimore until appointed by President Hayes to the office of U. S. judge for the District of Maryland, which he has held ever since. He is a member and has been vice-president of the American Unitarian Association, and a member of the American Bar Association. Residence: 708 Park Avenue. Office: U. S. Court House, Baltimore.

MORRISON, Andrew J.:

Educator; born at Bucks County, Pa., Feb. 14, 1844; son of Joseph and Eleanor (Addis) Morrison. He was educated in the Philadelphia public schools, the Central High School and Tennent Academy. He began teaching at Pleasantville, Bucks County; was subsequently principal of Tillyer, Wheat Sheaf, and Landreth Schools, Philadelphia; Kaighn School, Camden, N. J.; Irving School, and Northern Liberties School, in Philadelphia; professor of mathematics at the Central High School, 1881-1883; assistant superintendent of public schools in Philadelphia, 1883-1898; acting superintendent of public schools, 1891; and has been principal of the Northeast Manual Training High School since 1898. He is an active member of the National Educational Association, Philadelphia Teachers' Organizations, Pennsylvania Historical Society, and Bucks County Historical Society. He married in Bucks County, Pa., March 9, 1865, Julia H. Jones, and they have five children. Residence: 2205 West Venauga Street. Office: Northeast Manual Training High Schools, Lehigh Avenue and Eighth Street, Philadelphia.

MORRISON, Charles King:

Lawyer; born in New York City, June 24, 1867; son of George Austin and Lucy Anne (King) Morrison. He was graduated from Harvard University, A.B., 1891, and from Columbia College Law School, LL.B., 1894. He was admitted to New York bar in 1896 and has since then been engaged in practice in New York City. He is partner in the law firm of Morrison and Morrison. Mr. Morrison is a member of the Sons of Revolution, Society of Colonial Wars, St. Andrew's Society, St. George's Society, and of the Metropolitan, Westchester Country and Harvard Clubs. Address: 591 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

MORRISON, James Dow:

Bishop of Duluth; born at Waddington, N. Y.; son of Rev. John and Mary (Dow) Morrison. He was graduated from McGill University, Montreal, B.A., 1865, M.A., 1868; LL.D. in 1880; also received its D.D. from Union College in 1879. He was ordained deacon of the Church of England at Quebec, in 1869, and the following year was ordained priest at Montreal. He officiated as deacon and afterwards priest in churches at Magog, Canada, 1869, Hemmingford, Quebec, 1869-1871, and of Episcopal churches at Herkimer, N. Y., 1871-1875, Ogdensburg, 1875-1897. He was examining chaplain to the bishop of Albany, 1873-1897, and archdeacon of Ogdensburg 1881-1897. He was a deputy of the General Convention 1882-1897. He became bishop of Duluth, Minn., in 1897 and was consecrated by Bishops Doane, Huntington and Gilbert. He is author of: Reconfirmation of Romanists, 1895; Fundamental Church Principles (Paddock Lectures, 1899). Bishop Morrison married in 1869, Harriet M. Townsend of Montreal, Can. Address: Duluth, Minn.

MORRISON, John Tracy:

Lawyer and ex-governor; born in Jefferson County, Pa., Dec. 25, 1860; son of John and Sophia Elizabeth (Tracy) Morrison. He was graduated from the University of Wooster, Ohio, A.B., 1887, and A.M., 1890, and from Cornell University LL.B., 1890. He was admitted to the bar of Idaho in 1890, and practised in Caldwell. He became active in the politics of the State as a Republican, was secretary in 1896, and chairman, 1897-1890, of the State Republican Committee, and governor of Idaho, 1903-1905. Since then he has practised law at Boise. Governor Morrison is a prominent layman of the Presbyterian Church, and has been three times a commissioner from the Presbytery of Idaho to the General Assembly of that Church. He married at Jamestown, N. Y., July 8, 1886, Grace Darling Mackey. Address: Boise, Idaho.

MORRISON, Theodore Nevin:

Bishop of Iowa; born at Ottawa, Ill., Feb. 18, 1850; son of Rev. Theodore Nevin and Ann Eliza (Howland) Morrison. He was graduated from Illinois College, A.B., 1870, and from the General Theological Seminary, New York City, B.D., 1873. The degree of D.D. was conferred upon him by Illinois College in 1895, the degree of S.T.D. by the Western Theological Seminary in 1905. He was ordered deacon of the Episcopal Church in 1873 by Bishop Whitehouse and ordained priest by Bishop McLaren in 1876. During the years 1874 to 1876, he was connected with St. Paul's Church, Pekin, Ill.; in 1876 he took charge of the Church of the Epiphany, Chicago, officiating in that church until 1899 when he was made Bishop of Iowa. Address: Davenport, Iowa.

MORRISON, Thomas A.:

Jurist; born in Pleasantville, Pa., May 4, 1840. His paternal grandparents came from the North of Ireland, and his father, William Morrison, was born in Centre County, Pa., in 1804; his mother was Elizabeth McMaster, of Scottish descent. He received a common school and academic education at Pleasantville; courses at Pennsylvania State Normal School of Edinboro, Pa., and Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and at one time he taught school. In July, 1862, he enlisted as a private in Company A, 121st Pennsylvania Volunteers, and lost his left arm and received a severe wound in the left knee at Fredericksburg, Va., Dec. 13, 1862. He spent the winter of 1862-1863 in Armory Square Hospital, at Washington, D. C.; was discharged in April, 1863. He filled the office of justice of the peace at Pleasantville, Pa., 1864-1865; was treasurer of Venango County, 1868-1869; deputy internal revenue collector of Oil City, Pa. He read law and was admitted to the bar in Venango County, and practised his profession at Pleasantville, until 1879, when he removed to Smethport and was in active practice there until September, 1887, when he was appointed by Governor Beaver judge of the 48th Judicial District; in November of the same year elected to the same judicial office for a term of ten years from January, 1888; in 1897 was reelected for another term of ten years. During his second term McKean County was made a separate judicial district, and on Sept. 10, 1901, he was commissioned president judge of the 48th District. He served on the bench until December, 1902, when he was appointed a judge of the Superior Court of Pennsylvania by Governor Stone, to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of Judge John I. Mitchell; on December 30, 1902, he was commissioned a judge of the Superior Court until the first Monday of January, 1904; was nominated by the Republican party of Pennsylvania, for a ten-year term on the bench of the Superior Court, and in November, 1903, was elected and commissioned by the governor to serve term of ten years from Jan., 1904. He married at Warsaw, N. Y., March 31, 1870, Helen S. Gardner. Address: Smethport, Pa.

MORROW, Dwight Whitney:

Lawyer; born in Huntington, W. Va., Jan. 11, 1873; son of James E. Morrow, and Clara (Johnson) Morrow. He was graduated from Amherst, B.A. in 1895, and Columbia, LL.B., 1899. Mr. Morrow is a member of the firm of Simpson, Thacher and Bartlett, and director of the Montreal Locomotive Works. He is a member of the American Bar Association, New York State and City Bar Associations, also of the Railroad, City, Englewood, and Golf Clubs. He married in Cleveland, Ohio, June 16, 1903, Elizabeth Reeve Cutler, and they have three children. Residence: Englewood, N. J. Office: 62 Cedar Street, New York City.

MORROW, William W.:

Jurist; born on a farm in Wayne County, Ind., July 15, 1843; son of William and Margaret (Hood) Morrow. The family removed to Illinois in 1845, and from there to California in 1859. He was educated in the public schools of Illinois and California, afterward studied law and engaged in practice, 1869-1891. He became distinguished at the bar, was assistant U. S. attorney for California, 1870-1874, and special counsel for the United States before the French and American claims Commission, 1882-1885. He was appointed U. S. District judge for the Northern District of California by President Harrison in 1891, and in 1897 was appointed by President McKinley to his present office of U. S. circuit judge for the Ninth Circuit. Judge Morrow married, June 18, 1865, Margaret Hulbert. Residence: San Rafael, Calif. Office: Post-Office Building, San Francisco.

MORSCHAUER, Joseph:

Jurist; born in Hyde Park, Dutchess County, N. Y., March 30, 1863; son of Joseph and Henrietta (Rottman) Morschauer. He was educated in common schools and by private tutors. He was admitted to the bar of New York State, 1884, and engaged in practice of law at Poughkeepsie. He was justice of the peace, 1886-1892; also civil service commissioner, Poughkeepsie, 1889-1890; recorder of Poughkeepsie, 1899-1900; city judge, 1902-1906; elected November, 1906, justice of the Supreme Court of New York for the Ninth District, for term expiring Dec. 31, 1920. He married in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Jan. 27, 1889, Katherine W. Bauer. Address: Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

MORSE, Bushrod:

Jurist; born in Sharon, Mass., Aug. 24, 1837; son of Willard and Eliza (Glover)

Morse. He is a lineal descendant of Samuel Morse, who came to Dorchester, Mass., in 1634; and among his collateral ancestors are Professor Samuel F. B. Morse, the inventor of the electric telegraph; Benjamin Franklin, patriot and diplomat; and Chief Justice Kent. Judge Morse attended the public schools of his native town, the Providence (R. I.) Conference Seminary, and the Pierce Academy at Middleboro, Massachusetts, and in 1856 entered Amherst College. Ill health finally compelled him to abandon a cherished collegiate course, and after recuperating he took up the study of law, first in North Easton, Mass., afterward in Boston. He was admitted to the Suffolk bar, Nov. 5, 1864, and since then has been engaged in active practice in Boston, and during recent years he has given his attention chiefly to a large probate and insolvency business. In 1864 Governor Andrew appointed him a justice of the peace, which office he has ever since held, and on May 13, 1891, Governor Russell appointed him the first special justice of the District Court for Southern Norfolk, which he also still holds. He has continuously resided in Sharon on the old Morse homestead, a picturesque estate near Lake Massapong, which descended to him and his brothers from their great-grandfather, Gilead Morse, an English soldier under General Wolfe, who bought it on his return from the French War in 1764, until 1900 when he became a resident of Brookline, Mass. Judge Morse was chairman of the Sharon School Committee for a long time and served in the Massachusetts Legislature in 1870, 1883, and 1884. He was formerly a member of the Democratic State Central Committee; delegate to the National Democratic Convention at Cincinnati, 1880, and candidate for presidential elector in 1884 and 1888. In 1886 and 1890 he was the Democratic candidate for Congress in the Second Massachusetts district. Address: 27 School Street, Boston.

MORSE, Charles H.:

Director of music in Dartmouth College; born in Bradford, Mass., Jan. 5, 1853; son of Eben D. Morse, and Mary A. (Blaisdell) Morse. He received his education in the New England Conservatory of Music, and Boston University College of Music, from which he received the degree of B.M. He was professor of music, and director of the College of Music, Wellesley College, 1875-1884; founder and director of the Northwestern Conservatory of Music, Minneapolis, Minn., 1885-1891; organist and choir-master of Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, 1891-1899; president of the New York State Music Teachers Association, 1895-1897, and director of music in Dartmouth College, since 1901. Mr. Morse is a concert organist, conductor, teacher of piano, organ, voice and theory, and a composer and editor. He is a founder of the American Guild of Organists; a member of the Appalachian Mountain Club of Boston; conductor of the Connecticut Valley Choir Union. He married in West Fairlee, Vt., Dec. 24, 1874, Frances S. N. Kimball, and has two children. Address: Dartmouth College, Hanover, N. H.

MORSE, Horace J.:

Banker and broker; born in Norwalk, Ohio, 1838; son of Charles A. and Lauretta Morse. He was educated in Lockport, N. Y., and Cambridge, Mass. He was adjutant-general of the State of Connecticut during the Civil War. Mr. Morse has been a member of New York Stock Exchange since May 8, 1869; is senior member of the firm of A. M. Kidder and Company, and vice-president of the People's Trust Company. He is a member of the Sons of the American Revolution, Ohio Society of New York, Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences, Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, and of the Hamilton and Rembrandt Clubs of Brooklyn. Mr. Morse married in Hartford, Conn., 1862, Frances E. Trask. Summer residence: Greyledge, Dark Harbor, Maine. Residence: 820 St. Mark's Avenue, Brooklyn. Office: 18 Wall Street, New York City.

MORSE, Richard Cary:

General secretary of the International Young Men's Christian Association; born in Hudson, N. Y., Sept. 19, 1841; son of Richard C. and Sarah L. (Davis) Morse.

He was graduated from Yale, B.A., 1862, A.M., 1865, and studied theology at the Princeton and Union Theological Seminaries until 1867. He was assistant editor of the New York Observer, 1867-1868; was ordained to the ministry of the Presbyterian Church, in January, 1869, and has been general secretary of the International Committee of Young Men's Christian Association of North America, with headquarters in New York City, since June, 1869; and honorary American secretary since 1878 of World's Committee of Young Men's Christian Association, with headquarters at Geneva, Switzerland. He has also been an American member since 1896 of the Managing Committee of the World's Student Christian Federation, a member since 1885 of the Graduate Committee of Yale University Young Men's Christian Association. He is advisory director of the New York City Young Men's Christian Association; and member of the Phi Beta Kappa Alumni Association. He is author of: Young Men's Christian Association, as it is, 1872, 1877; Young Men United, 1886; State Work of the Young Men's Christian Association, 1891; Life of R. R. McBurney, 1899; Polity of the Young Men's Christian Association; Fifty Years of Young Men's Christian Association Federation, 1905; Relation to the Churches of the Young Men's Christian Association Federation, 1905; Relation to the Churches of the Young Men's Christian Association. Mr. Morse married in Brooklyn, 1883, Jane E. Van Cott. Address: 3 West 29th Street, New York City.

MORSE, Robert M.:

Lawyer; Born in Boston, Aug. 11, 1837. He was graduated from Harvard College in 1857. After graduating he studied at the Harvard Law School, and was admitted to the bar in January, 1860; and since that time he has been in practice in Boston. He rose rapidly to success in his profession and for the last forty years he has been retained in a large proportion of the important cases which have come before the Massachusetts courts; and has been engaged also in the United States Circuit and Supreme Courts. Mr. Morse has rarely undertaken any public work outside of his profession. In 1866 and 1867, he was a member of the State Senate, and in 1880 of the House of Representatives. In the former body he drafted and introduced the bill for the repeal of the usury laws, which became a law. In 1880 he was chairman of the House Committee on the Judiciary and leader of the House. Mr. Morse is one of the most prominent members of the legal profession, both as a general counsellor and as an advocate. Address: Boston, Mass.

LEVI PARSONS MORTON
Ex-Vice President of the United States

MORTON, Levi Parsons:

Former vice-president of the United States, and former governor of New York; Born in Shoreham, Vt., May 16, 1824; youngest son of Rev. Daniel Oliver Morton and Lucretia (Parsons) Morton; direct descendant of George Morton, of Bawtry, Yorkshire, England, one of the Pilgrim fathers who landed at Plymouth, Mass., from the ship Ann in 1623. He was educated at Shoreham Academy; and he received the degree of LL.D. from Dartmouth College, July 14, 1891, and from Middleburg College in 1892. On completion of his academy course, he engaged in mercantile business, and when twenty years old began business at Hanover, N. H., continuing about five years. In 1849 he became connected with the house of James M. Beebe and Company, Boston, as clerk; joined the firm later as partner, and after about five years came to New York City and established the wholesale dry goods commission house of Morton and Grinnell. In 1863 he went into the banking business, establishing the house of Morton, Bliss and Company, and in connection with Sir John Rose, who was late financial minister of Canada, founded the house of Morton, Rose and Company, London. He made a careful study of the financial transactions of the United States Government, and his firm was one of the syndicates which successfully assisted in funding the national debt and made the resumption of specie payments possible at a fixed rate. The London firm were the first fiscal agents of the United States Government, from 1873 to 1884, and were again appointed in 1889. In the negotiation of the United States bonds, and the payment of the Geneva Award of $15,500,000, and the Halifax Fisher award of $5,500,000, his firm was associated with Messrs. Rothschilds and other London bankers. The firm of Morton, Bliss and Company was dissolved, Oct. 1, 1899, and was succeeded by the Morton Trust Company, of which he has ever since been president; and he also continued at head of the London houses of Morton, Rose and Company until its dissolution. Governor Morton was appointed in 1878, by President Hayes, honorary commissioner of the United States to the Paris Exposition; was elected in 1878 and 1880, to the Forty-sixth and Forty-seventh Congresses, serving from 1879 to 1883, and was influential in financial legislation, and strongly opposed the unlimited coinage of silver in 1879. He was also deeply interested in international politics and the relations of the United States with other countries, and was member of the Foreign Affairs Committee of the Forty-sixth Congress. He was informally tendered the Republican nomination for vice president at the Chicago Convention in 1880, but declined it, preferring to remain in Congress; subsequently he was given choice between a place in the Cabinet as secretary of State, Secretary of the Navy or the French mission, and chose the latter, serving from 1881 to 1885. While in that position he was able to secure the removal of restrictions upon the Importation of American pork to France, and the recognition of American corporations in that country. He drove the first rivet in the Bartholdi Statue of Liberty Enlightening the World, and had the honor of accepting it for his Government; represented the United States at the Paris Electrical Exposition, and at the Submarine Cable Convention; was nominated for vice-president of the United States by the Republican party in 1888, at the Chicago Convention, and was elected on the presidential ticket with Benjamin Harrison, serving from 1889 to 1893, and discharging with ability and in an impartial manner the duties of presiding officer of the Senate; and in 1894 he was elected governor of New York, serving from 1895 to 1897. He is president and director of the Morton Trust Company; president and director of the Fifth Avenue Trust Company and a director of the Bank of Commerce, of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, of the Home Insurance Company, of the Washington Life Insurance Company and of the Guaranty Trust Company. He is president of the New York Zoölogical Society; member of the New England Society, Sons of the American Revolution, the Colonial Society of American and Mayflower descendants, and is president and director of the Metropolitan Club, and also a member of the Union, Union League, Lawyers' and Republican Clubs. Governor Morton married twice; first to Lucy Kimball, who died in 1871; second, in 1873, to Anna Livingston, daughter of W. L. Street and granddaughter of General Randolph S. Street, and descendant of the Livingstons, Van Rensselaers and Schuylers, old Manhattan families, and he had five children by his second wife, three of whom are living: Edith Livingston, who married, April 30, 1900, William Coreoran Eustis; Helen, who married in London, October, 1901, the Comte de Perigord, now Duc De Valeneery; and Alice, who married, February, 1902, Winthrop Rutherford. Country home: Elleslie, Rhinecliff, Rhinebeck-on-Hudson, N. Y. Residence: 681 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

MOSCHOWITZ, Paul:

Artist; born in Giralt, Hungary, March 4, 1876; son of Maurice and Rose (Baumgarten) Moschowitz. He was educated by private tutors in Hungary, and at public schools and evening high schools in New York City. He is an associate of the National Academy of Design, New York; and instructor in portrait painting, at Pratt Institute, Brooklyn, N. Y. He is a trustee of the Artists' Aid Society, New York. Mr. Moschowitz is a portrait and landscape painter, studied with H. S. Ombray, New York City, and with Constant, Laurens and Whistler, in Paris. He has exhibited at the Academy of Design and Society of American and the Louisiana Purchase Expositions; was awarded silver medal at Louisiana Purchase Exposition in 1904. Mr.

Moschowitz married in New York City, July 15, 1905, Madeline M. Raab. Address: 114 East 22d Street, New York City.

MOSENTHAL, Philip James:

Insurance, fire prevention expert; born at Port Elizabeth, Cape Colony, March 1, 1864; son of Herman and Marie Elise Mosenthal. He was graduated from the College of the City of New York, B.S., 1883, M.S., 1889. He became a member of the firm of H. Mosenthal and Son, founded in 1868; makes a specialty of advising with owners and architects in building construction for safety and low insurance cost; has made plans as to fire prevention and extinguishing for Manhattan and Belmont hotels, The New Theatre, Saks and Company, and B. Altman and Company's department store, Steinway and Sons piano factories, John Stephenson Company's car works, Elizabeth, New Jersey, Carnegie Hall and other important structures. These structures are considered the safest of their kind and carry the lowest rates of insurance of any similar fire risks, possibly, in the United States. He has been active in the People's Municipal League, Good Government Clubs and Citizens' Union. He was member of governing bodies of these organizations, district and general; has worked with the Reform Club's tariff committees. He was one of the founders of the University Settlement, and for twelve years actively at work in it. He is a member of the National Fire Protection Association, Natural Historical Association, American Numismatic Society, National Geographic Society, American Forestry Association, National Society of Craftsmen (treasurer), Metropolitan Museum, and American Fine Arts Society. He is also a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society and the National Arts, Underwriters, Reform and Liederkrantz Clubs. Address: 95 William Street, New York City.

MOSES, Raphael J.:

Lawyer; born in Apalachicola, Fla., Dec. 11, 1844; moved with family in 1849 to a fruit farm (which he and his sisters now own) which his father bought, six miles east of Columbus, Ga. He received his education in private schools. He entered the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., September, 1860; resigned, January, 1861; joined the Georgia Navy, February, 1861; and the Confederate Provisional Navy, April, 1861. He was with Tatnall at the battle of Port Royal, S. C., and went with him to the Merrimac (called the Virginia by the Confederate Government); was on her when she burned on James River when the Confederate Army evacuated the Peninsula. He was on staff of General Robert Toombs during the Seven Days' Battle around Richmond in 1862, and on the staff of General Benning of Georgia, on the retreat from Richmond, surrendering with General Robert E. Lee at Appomattox Court House. He was a prisoner in 1864 and January and February, 1865, in Fort Delaware, ran the blockade outward, March, 1863, as a Confederate midshipman, to go on the Laird Rams, then being built at Liverpool; ran back again on the Helen Wilmington; and went out from Charleston. He was admitted to the bar in May, 1866, in Columbus, Ga.; practised there six years, and since January, 1872, has been practising in New York City, with a specialty in insurance law and receiverships. Since 1900, he has refused all new law business and is devoting his time exclusively to closing the old cases and studying the principle of aerodynamics, especially in relation to aeroplanes. In politics he is a Democrat and in religion a Hebrew. He is a member of the American Bar Association, New York State Bar Association, Association of the Bar of the City of New York, United Confederate Veterans, and a member of the Lotus Club and Aero Club of America. Mr. Moses married in Liverpool, England, 1865, Georgina Samuel, and they have three sons living: Arthur S. Luria (name changed to keep up extinct family name), Laurence H. Moses and Percival R. Moses, and two daughters. Address: 46 West Ninety-seventh Street, New York City.

MOSHER, Robert Brent:

Consular officer; born in the District of Columbia. He was appointed clerk in the Department of State at $1,000, on probation, under Civil Service rules, July 19, 1890; permanently, class one, Jan. 19, 1891; class three Nov. 4, 1895; class four Jan. 6, 1896; designated to act as appointment clerk, Jan. 23, 1897; appointed chief of the Bureau of Appointments July 7, 1898, during which time he edited and published the "Executive Register of the United States, 1789-1902," and was a contributor to the Encyclopedia Americana. He was appointed consul at Collingwood, March 10, 1905; appointed consul at Port Elizabeth, Nov. 21, 1906. Address: Port Elizabeth, Cape of Good Hope, Africa.

MOSLER, Henry:

Genre painter; born in New York City, June 6, 1841; son of Gustav and Sophie (Wiener) Mosler; removed to Cincinnati in 1851. He studied in Cincinnati under J. H. Beard; went with the Western Army as artist correspondent for Harper's Weekly, in 1862 and 1863; and was appointed on the staff of General R. W. Johnson. He afterward studied in Paris under Hébert. He lived in Paris and had a studio for many years and received prizes and medals from the Paris Salon and the Paris Expositions, and from the Royal Academy at Munich. He was made chevalier of the Legion d'Honneur and officer d'Académie in 1892. His picture Le Retour (1879) was purchased by the French Government for the Museum of the Luxembourg. Mr. Mosler was the winner of the Clarke prize of the National Academy of Design in 1896. His picture Wedding Morning was bought by the Museum of Sidney, Australia, and he has pictures in many other permanent collections. Mr. Mosler is a companion of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion. Address: 42 West 88th Street, New York City.

MOSS, Frank:

Lawyer; born in Cold Spring, N. Y., March 16, 1860; son of John R. and Eliza (Wood) Moss. He was educated in private and public schools in New York City. Mr. Moss was president of the New York City Police Board in 1897; director and counsel for the Society of Prevention of Crime; leader in the reform movements in New York City; associate counsel in the Lexow Investigation; leading counsel in the Mazet Investigation. He is active in city campaigns on reform issues, making speeches in all parts of the city and serving on committees. As president of the City Vigilance League, and as director in and counsel for the Society for the Prevention of Crime; he has directed movements for the prevention and suppression of crime and of alliances between criminals and corrupt officials. Mr. Moss is professor of medical jurisprudence and a member of the faculty of the New York Medical College and Hospital for Women; director of the New York City Church Extension Society, and of the Federation of Churches. He is author of: The American Metropolis—a history of New York City, and pamphlets and magazine articles on civic subjects. In politics he is a Republican and in his religious affiliation a Methodist. Mr. Moss is a member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, the New York Law Institute, the New York Historic Association, the Society for the Prevention of Crime, the City Vigilance League, the Citizens' Union Executive Committee, the Epworth League and other societies of the Union League and Republican clubs. He married in New York City, in 1883, Eva E. Bruce, and they have two children. Address: 299 Broadway, New York City.

MOSS, Roswell Randall:

Lawyer; born in New York City, Oct. 16, 1845; son of Reuben E. and Harriet N. (Randall) Moss. He was educated in public schools in New York City and Brooklyn, and attended high school two winters in Elmira, N. Y. He was admitted to the bar in 1874, and has been in active practice since; member of the law firms of Youmans and Moss, and Youmans, Moss and Knipp; and practising alone since the death of Edward B. Youmans in 1898. He has been referee in bankruptcy, 1898-1900, in the Northern District; since 1900 in the Western District of New York. Mr. Moss has served as a member of Board of Education; is a member of Sons of the American Revolution, the New York State Bar Association, National Association of Referees in Bankruptcy, National Civic Federation, Elmira Academy of Sciences, and is a member of the Century and Country Clubs of Elmira. He married in Elmira, N. Y., June 7, 1876, Anna D. Mason, daughter of George W. and Elizabeth (Collingwood) Mason, and they have two children. Address: Elmira, N. Y.

MOSSMAN, John Malcolm:

Manufacturer of safes and locks; born in New York City, June 9, 1846; son of Malcolm and Christina (Watson) Mossman. He was educated in the public schools. He is president of the J. M. Mossman Company, safes and locks, and president of Rogers Land Company, Paterson, N. J. He designed and superintended the construction of the vaults of the New York Clearing House, New York Stock Exchange, Union Trust Company, United States Trust Company, Central Trust Company, Manhattan Trust Company, Metropolitan Trust Company, Chemical National Bank, Bank of America, Bank of New York, J. P. Morgan and Company, Mechanics' National Bank, Equitable Life Assurance Society, Mutual Life Insurance Company, Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, Washington Life Insurance Company, Knickerbocker Trust Company, Bank of Montreal, Montreal, Canada. He is a member of the Dutch Reformed Collegiate Church at 77th Street and West End Avenue. He is a member of the New York Historical Society, General Society of Mechanics and Tradesmen, and American Institute; trustee of Hahnemann Hospital, the North Western Dispensary, Maiden Lane Savings Bank and Fidelity Trust Company, and is a member of the New York Athletic Club. Mr. Mossman married, Nov. 9, 1887, Evelyn Angus, and they have one son. Address: 55 Maiden Lane, New York City.

MOTT, Frank Henry:

Lawyer; born in Russell, Warren County, Pa., Feb. 9, 1873; son of Aaron Van Rensselaer and Flora (Russell) Mott; his ancestors being among the pioneer settlers of the Hudson River Valley and of Rhode Island, as well as Northwestern Pennsylvania and Chautauqua County, N. Y. He received his education in the village schools of Russell, Pa., in the public high school of Jamestown, N. Y., and in Buffalo Law School. He is engaged in the general practice of law in Jamestown and professionally represents important interests. He was Democratic candidate for secretary of State in 1902, and citizens' candidate for mayor of Jamestown in 1906, being nearly elected in each instance; delegate to the Democratic National Convention of 1900, and on the committee representing New York, formally to notify Mr. Bryan of his nomination; and has been a delegate from Chautauqua County to State Conventions for past ten years. He was a member of the Board of Education of City of Jamestown for four years, resigning Jan. 1, 1907, to accept appointment as deputy attorney-general of New York State under Attorney-General Jackson. He is a frequent speaker on patriotic, memorial, literary, industrial and economic subjects. He is a member of the Elks, Odd Fellows and Knights of Pythias; member, secretary and treasurer of Jamestown Chapter of the Sons of the Revolution, and a member of the State Bar Association and Phi Delta Phi legal fraternity. Residence: 910 Main Street. Address: Fenton Building, Jamestown, N. Y.

MOTT, John R.:

Secretary of the International Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association; born at Livingston Manor, New York, May 25, 1865; son of John S. and Elmira (Dodge) Mott. He was graduated from Cornell University, A.B. in 1888 and received the honorary degree of M.A. from Yale. He has been secretary of the student Young Men's Christian Association since 1888; chairman Student Volunteer Movement since 1888; general secretary of World's Student Christian Federation since 1895; secretary of the Foreign Department of the International Committee, Young Men's Christian Associations since 1898; and associate general secretary of the International Committee since 1901. He made a tour of world, 1895-1897, in interest of the student Christian movement; again in 1901, special tours to all parts of Europe, South Africa, South America, and Australasia on a similar mission. He is author of: Strategic Points in the World's Conquest, 1897; Evangelization of the World in This Generation, 1900; Pastor and Modern Missions, 1904; Christians of Reality (published in Shanghai), 1902; The Future Leadership of the Church, 1908; also numerous brochures and magazine articles. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and was elected fellow of the Royal Geographical Society in 1903. Mr. Mott married in Wooster, Ohio, Nov. 26, 1891, Leila Ada White, and they have four children. Address: 124 East 28th Street, New York City.

MOTT, Luther W.:

Banker; born in Oswego, N. Y., Nov. 30, 1874; son of John T. and Alice J. (Wright) Mott. He was educated in Oswego High School, and was graduated from Harvard College, A.B. in 1896. He was engaged in newspaper work for one year, and since that time has been in the banking business, being vice-president and cashier of the First National Bank of Oswego, trustee of the Oswego City Savings Bank, Auburn Trust Company, Auburn, Syracuse Trust Company, Syracuse, Howard Thermo-stat Company, and the Oswego Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Mott was vice-president of the Republican League of the United States, 1902; superintendent of banks, N. Y. State, 1907, but resigned on account of ill health; delegate of the Republican National Convention, 1908, and president of the Oswego Chamber of Commerce 1905-1908. He is a member of the executive council, of the American Bankers Association, vice-president of New York State Bankers' Association, New York Genealogical and Biographical Society, American Civic Association, trustee of the Oswego Orphan Asylum, and Young Men's Christian Association. He is a member of the Society of Colonial Wars, Founders and Patriots, and Sons of the American Revolution, the City, Fortnightly, Yacht, Pleasant Point, and Country Clubs of Oswego, Harvard Club of New York City, Fort Orange Club of Albany, and the University and Harvard Clubs of Syracuse. Mr. Mott married in Oswego, Dec. 10, 1902, Ruth W. Johnson, and has three children. Residence: 73 West Schuyler Street. Address: First National Bank, Oswego, N. Y.

MOTTET, Henry:

Clergyman; born in Germany, May 20, 1845; son of Joseph and Phillipine Mottet. He was educated in the public schools, the College of the City of New York, A.B., and in the General Theological Seminary, and has received the degree of D.D. from Hobart College. He was a public school teacher in New York City for five years. He was made deacon in the ministry of the Protestant Episcopal Church in 1873, and ordained priest in 1874. While a boy he became a member of the Church of the Holy Communion more than fifty years ago, and since taking Holy Orders he has continuously ministered in that church, where he became assistant minister in 1873 and was elected rector in 1879. Since 1889 he has raised nearly $250,000 for endowment, making it possible for this free church to retain its down-town position and steadily to develop its usefulness in a section of the city abandoned by the churches; and the church membership is now larger than ever in the past. Dr. Mottet is a trustee of St. Luke's Hospital and of St. Johnland; president of the Federation of Churches in New York and a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society and of the National Arts Club. He married in New York City in May, 1895, Jeanie Gallup. Address: 47 West 20th Street, New York City.

MUCKLE, Mark Richards:

Newspaper manager; born in Philadelphia, Sept. 10, 1825; the son of a notable wood-carver and clock-maker, of German birth. In 1842 he was engaged in the office of the Public Ledger as errand boy, later as counter clerk and cashier and ultimately for forty years the general manager. He was offered a commission of second lieutenant in the Mexican War, and in 1853 was appointed on the staff of Governor Bigler, with the rank of colonel. Was one of the first to suggest the Centennial Exposition held in Philadelphia, seven years prior to its taking place. He joined the German Society in 1853, and for thirteen years was its vice president, and in 1860 was one of the founders of the German Hospital, whose vice-president he has been for many years. He was made treasurer of the Relief Society during the Franco-German War, forwarding to Germany nearly $50,000 for the relief of widows and orphans of soldiers; and subsequently was active in collecting contributions of books for the Imperial University at Strassburg, ruined during the war. He forwarded in all over 13,000 volumes in reward for which the Emperor of Germany conferred on him in 1874 the Order of the Crown, and in 1883 the Military Order of the Red Eagle. He has been treasurer of various relief funds and has distributed large sums of money to the suffering. He was one of the organizers of the American District Telegraph Company and was made secretary and treasurer, and has been president of the German-American Title and Trust Company since its origin. Colonel Mucklé has long since risen to the highest posts in the orders of Odd Fellows and Masons and is a member of the Art Association of the Masonic Temple. He organized the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and has served in it as president. Mr. Mucklé was married in 1850, and has two sons and one daughter living. Address: 1722 Pine Street, Philadelphia.

MUDD, Sydney Emanuel:

Congressman and lawyer; born in Charles County, Md., Feb. 12, 1858. He was educated at Georgetown College and at St. John's College, Annapolis, Md., graduating from the latter in 1878; read law privately and attended the Law Department of the University of Virginia. He was admitted to the bar in 1880, and has practised since; was elected to the State House of Delegates in 1879 and reelected in 1881; was an elector on the Garfield and Arthur ticket in 1880; was elected to the Fifty-first and defeated for the Fifty-second Congress; was elected to the State House of Delegates in 1895, and was speaker of that body; was delegate to the National Republican Convention of 1896, 1900, 1904 and 1908 and was chairman of the Maryland delegation in all of said conventions. Mr. Mudd was elected to the Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth Congresses, and reelected, in 1908 to the Sixty-first Congress, from the Fifth Maryland District. Address: La Plata, Md.

MUELLER, George H.:

Clergyman; born in Holstein, Germany. March 25, 1857; son of H. C. and Anna (Rohwer) Mueller. He was educated in the Realschule at Itzehoe, Holstein, and in the Seabury Divinity School at Faribault, Minn. He was ordered deacon and ordained priest by Bishop Whipple in 1881; was rector of All Saints' Church, Northfield, Minn., 1888-1892, of St. John's, Moorhead, Minn., 1892-1897, St. Peter's, St. Paul, Minn., 1897-1900 and since then rector of Christ Church at Albert Lea, Minn. Mr. Mueller is a member of the Standing Committee of the Diocese of Minnesota, and a trustee of the Albert Lea College for Women. He has been twice married, first at Shakopee, Scott County, Minn., in 1884, to Ida Sencerbox, and second, at Coopers-town, N. Y., 1902, to Emma B. Nelson. Address: 417 Grove Street, Albert Lea, Minn.

MUIR, John:

Explorer and naturalist; born in Dunbar, Scotland, April 21, 1838; son of Daniel and Anne (Gilrye) Muir. He was educated in a grammar school in Dunbar and in University of Wisconsin, from which he has received the degree LL.D. He has also received the degree of A.M. from Howard. He made long journeys afoot, mostly, and alone in Canada, the Eastern and Southern United States, California, and Alaska. In 1903 and 1904 he traveled in Europe, Russia, the Caucasus, Siberia, Manchuria, Japan, China, India, Egypt, Australia and New Zealand, interested chiefly in botanical and geological studies. He visited the Arctic Regions in 1880, on the United States steamer Corwin in search of the De Long expedition; and labored many years in cause of forest preservation. He is the discoverer of the famous Muir Glacier. Mr. Muir is author of: The Mountains of California; Our National Parks, and numerous articles on the natural history of the Pacific coast and Alaska; and edited Picturesque California. He is a member of the Washington Academy of Science; fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science; president of Surra Club; vice-president of American Alpine Club, and a member of the University Club of San Francisco. Mr. Muir married in 1879, Louise, daughter of Dr. John Strentzel of California. Address: Martinez, Calif.

MULHOLLAND, St. Clair Augustus:

United States pension agent; born at Lisburn, Ireland, April 1, 1839; son of Henry and Georgina (St. Clair) Mulholland. He came to the United States in boyhood and was educated in Pennsylvania schools. He married first, in 1864, Mary Dooner, by whom he had four children: Agnes, Mrs. Ludwig E. Faber, Edward (died in infancy), Frances H., Mrs. Joseph E. Comba, and Mary St. Clair. He married second, Mary Josephine Heeman, and by her has two daughters: Genevieve and Clare. During the first year of the Civil War, he was an active member of the National Guard of Pennsylvania, and assisted in recruiting, as first lieutenant, two companies for the front. He was appointed lieutenant-colonel of the 116th Regiment of Pennsylvania Infantry, June 11, 1862, but in February, 1863, the regiment being reduced in numbers was consolidated into a battalion of four companies, and he was retained in command but with the reduced rank of major. Six companies were added later and the battalion again became a regiment, of which he was promoted to colonel, May 3, 1864; commanded Fourth Brigade, First Division, Second Corps from October, 1864, and continued in command until honorably mustered out, June 3, 1865. He was brevetted brigadier-general, United States Volunteers, March 13, 1865, for gallant and meritorious services, and major-general, March 13, 1865; for gallant and meritorious services in the battle of Boydton Plank Road, Virginia, Oct. 27, 1864. He was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor, for having held the enemy in check all night to cover the retreat of the army at the battle of Chancellorsville, Va., May 4 and 5, 1863. He was chief of police of Philadelphia, 1869-1871, and since 1892 has been pension agent at Philadelphia. He is a Companion of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, Medal of Honor Legion, and other military organizations. Address: Post Office Building, Philadelphia.

MULLALY, John:

Journalist, author, lecturer, inventor; born in Belfast, Ireland; honorary LL.D. of St. John's University, Fordham, N. Y., and Lit.Doc. of the Christian Brothers College of St. Louis, Mo. He acquired the profession of journalism on the New York Tribune under the Horace Greely régime, and later city reporter on the New York Evening Post under the editorship of William Cullen Bryant. He was six years on the New York Herald, and its special correspondent on the expedition to lay a submarine cable across the Gulf of St. Lawrence from Cape Ray, Newfoundland, to Cape North, Cape Breton, and during the first three Atlantic telegraph expeditions of 1857 and 1858, and while on these expeditions was guest of the officers on the United States steam frigate Niagara. Although three hundred and sixty-six dispatches of more or less importance were sent through the cable after its submersion, Aug. 5, 1858, hardly four weeks elapsed before the electrical connection ceased altogether. The success of the enterprise, however, was assured, so that now there are two hundred and seventy-nine thousand seven hundred and sixty-seven miles of submarine cable in operation throughout the world. During these expeditions he also temporarily officiated as secretary to Professor Morse and to Cyrus W. Field. He afterward edited and published for fourteen years The Metropolitan Record, official organ of Archbishop Hughes, of New York, was commissioner of health one term, member of the Board of Assessors two terms;

member of the New York Press Club over twenty years; member of the United States Catholic Historical Society; originator of the idea and founder of the new system of parks and parkways north of the Harlem River, and active participator in the seven years' movement by which nearly four thousand acres were acquired by the city, and which includes Van Cortland, Pelham Bay, Bronx, Crotona, Claremont and St. Mary's Parks, Mosholu, Bronx and Pelham, and Crotona Parkways, devoting his attention during the seven years to this project which was assailed by every municipal administration from the first introduction of the bill until the final decision in its favor by the Court of Appeals. He was the discoverer of the peculiar properties of aluminum, their application to lithography, and inventor of aluminography, the new system of surface printing; is president of the United States Aluminum Printing Plate Company. Mr. Mullaly made an extensive and exhaustive investigation into the subject of the milk supply of the metropolis, finding that more than one-half of the milk supply of New York and Brooklyn consisted of adulterated and swill-milk, and made an exposure of the nefarious business which resulted after years of persistent agitation in a marked reform in the trade. He is author of: The Laying of the Cable, or The Ocean Telegraph: A Trip to Newfoundland to Lay the Gulf of St. Lawrence Cable; The Milk Trade of New York City, Exposing Its Adulterations; More Public Parks, Lungs for the Metropolis; report to the Legislature of 1884 of the commission to select the sites for the six new parks and three new parkways in the Borough of the Bronx; History of the Seven Years' Contest to Acquire and Secure Said Parks and Parkways; Biographical Sketch of Archbishop Hughes; editor of Journal of the Fair, daily illustrated publication of sixteen pages, issued from new St. Patrick's Cathedral, and comprising over 250 large folio pages; aggregate proceeds of the Fair held from October 23, to November 29, 1878, amounted to $175,000; The Seminary, monthly illustrated periodical, which was designed to aid construction of new St. Joseph's Seminary at Dunwoodie, September, 1892, to September, 1896, and containing over 850 folio pages. Address: 223 East 49th Street, New York City.

MUMFORD, James Gregory:

Physician; born in Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 2, 1863; son of George Elihu and Julia Emma (Hills) Mumford. He was educated in St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H., 1878-1881, and was graduated from Harvard, A.B., 1885, and M.D., 1890. After graduating as house-surgeon from the Massachusetts General Hospital in 1890, he began the practice of surgery in Boston, where he has resided ever since. He was appointed surgeon to Carney Hospital, 1892; out-patient surgeon to the Massachusetts General Hospital, 1894, assistant in surgery, Harvard Medical School, 1896, instructor in surgery, Harvard Medical School, 1903, and visiting surgeon of the Massachusetts General Hospital, 1905. He was surgeon of the Massachusetts Naval Brigade, 1892; surgeon of Medical Reserve Corps U. S. A., since 1908. Dr. Mumford is a fellow of the America Surgical Association, American Medical Association, and Massachusetts Medical Society, member (secretary) of the American Society of Clinical Surgery, Boston Society of Medical Improvement, Boston Society of Medical Sciences, and Boston Surgical Club; trustee of the Home for Aged Women, Boston, president of the Alumni Association of St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H., member of the A.D., Zeta Psi, O. K., Hasty Pudding, and Institute Clubs, and of the Boylston Society of Harvard University, Somerset, City, Economic, and Republican Clubs of Boston, of the University Club of New York City, and the Genesee Valley Club of Rochester, N. Y. He is author of: Mumford Memoirs, 1900; Narration of Medicine in America, 1903; Surgical Aspects of Digestive Disorders, 1905; editor, History of the Harvard Medical School, 1905; author: Narrative of Surgery in Keen's System of Surgery, 1906; Surgical Memoirs and Other Essays, 1908; and in addition, 55 surgical and historical articles in scientific journals. Dr. Mumford married in Troy, N. Y., Jan. 6, 1892, Helen Sherwood Ford. Address: 29 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston, Mass.

MUMFORD, George Saltonstall:

Banker; born at Rochester, N. Y., August 18, 1866; son of George Elihu and Julia (Hills) Mumford. He was educated in St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H., and Harvard College, in the class of 1887. He was electrical manufacturer in New York City, 1887-1893; since 1901 secretary of the City Trust Company, Boston, Mass. He is a member of the University Club of New York, and the Somerset, and Racquet and Tennis Clubs of Boston. He married in Boston, Dec. 7, 1895, Isabella M. Lee, and they have two children. Residence: Chestnut Hill, Mass. Office: 50 State Street, Boston.

MUNDY, Ezekiel Wilson:

Clergyman, librarian; born in Metuchen, N. J., June 16, 1833; son of Luther Bloomfield and Frances Eliza (Martin) Mundy. He was graduated from the University of Rochester, A.B., 1860 and A.M., 1863, from Rochester Theological Seminary in 1863 and from Syracuse University as Litt. D. in 1904. He was pastor of First Baptist Church of Syracuse, 1863-1866, of the Independent Church, Syracuse, 1866-1879, and of St. Mark's Church (Episcopalian), Syracuse, 1883-1892. Since 1880 he has been Public Librarian of Syracuse. He is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society, Alpha Delta Phi fraternity, the American Historical Association, National Geographic Society, New England Historic-Genaealogical Society, Onondaga Genealogical Society, Onondaga Historical Association, and of the University Club of Syracuse. Dr. Mundy married in Syracuse, 1873, Emily Kendall, and they have three children. Address: Public Library, Syracuse, N. Y.

MUNGER, William Henry:

Jurist; born on a farm at Bergen, N. Y., Oct. 12, 1845; son of Elbert and Anna Munger. He was educated in the public schools, and in 1865 went to Cleveland, Ohio, where he became a dry goods clerk, devoting his leisure hours to the study of law with such good effect that in 1868 he was admitted to the Ohio bar. He removed in the same year to Frémont, Nebraska, where he was in continuous practice until appointed in Feb., 1897, by President Cleveland, U. S. judge for the District of Nebraska. Address: Omaha, Nebraska.

MUNSEY, Frank A.:

Publisher: born in Mercier, Maine, Aug. 21, 1854. He came to New York City in 1882, and started the Golden Argosy, juvenile weekly. He is now proprietor of six widely circulated magazines — Munsey's, the Argosy, the All-Story, the Scrap Book, the Railroad Man's Magazine, and the Cavalier; and of four daily newspapers — the Boston Journal, the Baltimore News, the Washington Times, and the Philadelphia Evening Times. He is author of: Derrington, and other novels, and of widely quoted addresses on publishing and advertising. He is a member of the Union League, New York Yacht, Lambs', Riding and Ardsley Clubs. Residence: 524 Fifth Avenue. Office: Flatiron Building, Fifth Avenue and 23d Street, New York City.

MUNSON, C. La Rue:

Lawyer; born in Bradford, N. Y., July 2, 1854; son of Edgar and Lucy Maria (Curtes) Munson. He was educated in Cheshire Academy, 1868-1871, Yale University Law Department, 1873-1875, graduating LL.B., and received the honorary degree of M.A. in 1892. He has been engaged in the practice of law since graduation, being a member of the firm of Candor and Munson since 1875; president of the Savings Institution of Williamsport, E. Keeler Company, Williamsport Iron and Nail Company, Williamsport Passenger Railway Company, director of the Lycoming National Bank, American Wood Working Machinery Company, National Silk Dyeing Company, Scranton Life Insurance Company, Williamsport Water Company, Lycoming Foundry and Machine Company, Royal Braid Company, and the Williamsport Wire Rope Company. He has been lecturer in Yale Law School since 1891; was nominated for the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, 1909. He is author of: Manual of Elementary Practice, 1897; president of the Pennsylvania State Bar Association, 1902-1903, director of the James V. Brown Public Library. He married in Rome, N. Y., Minnie Wright Tuller, and has two sons. Addresses: Williamsport, Pa., and 27 William Street, New York City.

MUNSON, John P.:

Zoölogist author and educator; born in Jolster, Sunfjord, Feb. 21, 1860; son of Peter and Elizabeth (Dvergdsdal) Munson. He was prepared at the Northwestern College and Milton College for the University of Wisconsin, from which he was graduated Ph.B., then did two years of graduate work in Yale, chiefly in zoölogy, receiving the B.S. and M.S. degrees. He was four years a fellow in zoölogy in the University of Chicago, devoting the entire time to the investigation of the egg of the king crab, and in recognition of his scientific discoveries that university conferred upon him the Ph.D. degree. He was made an honorary fellow in biology in Clark University; has been an investigator at the Marine Biological Laboratory, Wood's Hole, Mass., and director of zoölogy at the seaside station of the University of Minnesota Port Renfrew, B. C.; and is now a lecturer at the Puget Sound Marine Station, Friday Harbor, and a member of the Governing Council of that institution. He is an investigator on the Elizabeth Thompson Science Foundation, and a collaborator on the American Journal of Anatomy. Dr. Munson was for two years a master of English; two years a master in natural science and since 1898 professor of biology. He is author of: Education Through Nature (Vol. XXI of Teachers' Library); also of several monographs as results of investigations in anatomy and cytology, including: The Ovarian Egg of Limulus, a contribution to the problem of the centrosome and yolk-nucleus (Journal of Morphology); Orogenesis of the Tortoise, Clemys marmorata (American Journal of Anatomy); Spermatogenesis of the Butterfly, Papilio rutulus (Proceedings of the Boston Society of Nat- ural History); Anatomy of Ophioglypharsis, observations on the generation and degeneration of sex-cells (Proceedings of the Seventh International Zoological Congress). He is an associate and contributor to the Norse Library of History, Biography and Literature, and author of a method of teaching science. He has made numerous contributions to journals and proceedings. Dr. Munson was a member of the Seventh International Zoological Congress; is a member of the Association of American Anatomists, American Academy of Political and Social Science, Washington Philological Society, Association of Doctors of Philosophy of the University of Chicago, National Child Labor Committee, British Medical Association of Toronto, American Medical Association, American Association for the Advancement of Science, and of several university associations. Professor Munson married in Sioux Falls, S. Dak., Dec. 30, 1897, Sophie Josephine, daughter of Rev. Prof. A. Mikkelsen. Address: Ellensburg, Wash.

MUNSON, Samuel Lyman:

Manufacturer; born in Huntington, Mass., June 14, 1844; son of Garry and Harriet (Lyman) Munson. He received his education in Williston Seminary, East Hampton, Mass. For forty years he was a shirt and collar manufacturer in Albany under a single management the entire period. He is vice-president of the Home Savings Bank of Albany; member of the Albany Advisory Board, of the United States Fidelity Guaranty Company; and former director of the National Exchange Bank. He is an extensive traveler, frequent lecturer and was a presidential elector in 1900. He is a member of the Dutch Reformed Church, and vice president of trustees of Madison Avenue Church of Albany. He is president of the Weekapaug Chapel Society, Weekapaug, R. I.; vice-president of the Masonic Veterans' Association of Albany; life member of the New England Society of New York, governor of Albany Chapter of the Society of Founders and Patriots, is a Mason and Knight Templar; and regent of Philip Livingston Chapter, and a manager of the State Society of the Sons of the Revolution. He is a member of the Fort Orange and Country Clubs of Albany, the Watervliet Golf Club, and the Republican, West Side Republican and Arkwright Clubs of New York City. Mr. Munson married in Albany, N. Y., May 21, 1868, Susan Babcock Hopkins, and they have seven children. Address: Albany, N. Y.

MUNSTERBERG, Hugo:

Professor of psychology; born at Danzig, Germany, June 1, 1863. He was graduated from the Gymnasium of Danzig, in 1882, attended the University of Geneva, Switzerland; was graduated from the University of Leipzig as Ph.D. in 1885, and from the University of Heidelberg as M.D. in 1887. He was instructor in philosophy at the University of Freiburg, from 1887 to 1891; assistant professor in 1891, and has been professor of psychology at Harvard University since 1892. He was chairman of the Harvard Department of Philosophy, 1900-1907; and has been director of the Harvard Psychological Laboratory, since 1906. Dr. Münsterberg has written sixteen volumes and about three hundred essays and articles, including: The Principles of Psychology (German); Psychology and Life; American Traits; and is editor of Harvard Psychological Studies. He is a member of the Psychological Association (president in 1899), Philosophical Association, Boston Academy, Washington Academy, the German Order of the Red Eagle, of the III. Class, the German Order of the Crown, II. Class; vice-president of the International Congress of Arts and Sciences at the St. Louis World's Fair, and he is a member of the Thursday Evening Club, Boston Authors Club, and New York City Club. He has received the honorary degrees of Litt.D. and LL.D. Professor Münsterberg, married at Strassburg, Germany, in 1887, Selma Oppler, and they have two daughters. Address: 7 Ware Street, Cambridge, Mass.

MURALT, Carl Léonard de:

Civil engineer; born in Brooklyn, N. Y., Jan. 29, 1873; son of Carl and Lily (Wegmann) de Mural. He studied at the universities of Munich and Dresden, Germany and Zurich, Switzerland, graduating as M.E., and E.E. He entered the employ of the General Electric Company, Schenectady in 1895; was sent to their German branch in Berlin in 1897, as engineer of Light and Power Department; built many important electric power plants and power transmission lines in Europe; in 1900 he entered the employ of Brown, Boveri and Company, Baden, Switzerland, did original work in three-phase alternating current electric trunk line construction, and in 1903 returned to America and opened an office as consulting engineer in New York; specialist in high tension transmission and railway electrification work; now building 110,000 volt transmission line 300 miles long for the Hydro-Electric Commission of Ontario, Can. He is a member of Muralt and Company, engineers; member of American Society of Civil Engineers; American Institute of Electrical Engineers, and The Players. He married, Schenectady, N. Y., Dec. 10, 1898, Jeanette Lathrop, and has four children. Residence: Dobbs Ferry. Office: 114 Liberty Street, New York City.

MURDOCH, John:

Zoölogist, librarian; born in New Orleans, July 9, 1852; son of John and Elizabeth (Smith) Murdoch. He attended Roxbury Latin School, and was graduated from Harvard College as A.B. in 1873, and A.M. in 1876. He was trained in zoölogy at the Museum of Comparative Zoölogy, Harvard; was acting professor of zoölogy at the University of Wisconsin, 1880-1881; naturalist and observer of the U. S. International Polar Expedition to Point Barrow, Arctic Alaska, 1881-1883; librarian of the Smithsonian Institution, 1887-1892; and since Nov., 1896, employed in the catalogue department of the Boston Public Library, and is now first assistant. He is a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, member of the American Ornithologists' Union; founder of the American Anthropological Association, and is a member of the Boston Society of Natural History; trustee of the Fellowes Athenæum of Roxbury, and member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society. He married at Highland Park, Illinois, July 23, 1884, Abby De Forest Stuart, and they have three sons. Residence: 19 Wendell Street, Cambridge, Mass. Office: Public Library, Boston.

MURDOCK, Victor:

Congressman and journalist; born at Burlingame, Kans., March 18, 1871; son of Marshall M. and Victoria (Mayberry) Murdock. After completing the courses in the public schools, he attended Lewis Academy at Wichita, Kans.; became a newspaper reporter at fifteen years of age, and in 1891 became a reporter on Chicago newspapers, returned to Wichita in 1894, and became managing editor of the Wichita Daily Eagle until elected in 1903, to fill a vacancy in the Fifty-eighth Congress from the Seventh Kansas District. He was reelected from the same district in 1904 to the Fifty-ninth Congress; and in 1906 was elected from the new Eighth Kansas District to the Sixtieth Congress, and reelected in 1908 to the Sixty-first Congress, in which he is now serving. Mr. Murdock is a Republican in politics. He married in 1890, M. P. Allen. Address: Wichita, Kans.

MURPHREE, Albert Alexander:

College president; born in Walnut Grove, Ala., April 29, 1870; son of Capt. J. E. and Helen (Cornelius) Murphree. He was educated in Walnut Grove College, Peabody College for Teachers, L. L., University of Nashville, A.B., with first honors of class, also A.M. and LL.D., from Rollin College, Florida. He was superintendent of city schools of Cullman, Ala., Blomitsville, Ala., principal of High School, Cleburne, Texas; professor of Greek and mathematics in West Florida Seminary, Tallahassee, Fla.; president of West Florida Seminary; president of Florida State College, 1897-1905, president of the State College for Women, 1905-1909, and of the University of Florida, Gainesville, since July 1, 1909. He is a member of the American Academy of Political and Social Science, National Educational Association, Florida Educational Association, Kappa Alpha fraternity, member of the Masonic Lodge, and the Elks Club of Tallahassee. He married in Tallahassee, July 27, 1897, Jennie Henderson, daughter of Colonel John A. Henderson, and they have four children. Residence: Gainesville. Office: University of Florida, Gainesville, Fla.

MURPHY, Franklin:

Manufacturer, ex-governor; born in Jersey City, N. J., Jan. 3, 1846. He was educated at Newark Academy, Newark, N. J., and was still a student there in 1862, when, at the age of sixteen he enlisted as a private in the Thirteenth Regiment of New Jersey Volunteers, in which he served in the Army of the Potomac until mustered out at the close of the Civil War in 1865, with the rank of first lieutenant. Immediately after leaving the army he established upon a small scale as a varnish manufacturer, the business steadily increasing until the firm of Murphy and Company, of which he is the head, is now one of the most extensive producers in that line in the world. While thus successfully prosecuting his business, he has given much time and efficient service to public interests, and was elected on the Republican ticket and served from 1902 to 1905 as governor of the State of New Jersey. Governor Murphy has served as chairman of the Republican State Committee since 1892, and is also a member of the National Republican Executive Committee and is a man of initiative and much influence in his party. He was a member of the United States Commission to the Paris Exposition of 1900. He is a member and was formerly president general of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, is a member of the Society of the Cincinnati, the Society of Colonial Wars and the Grand Army of the Republic. Governor Murphy married in 1868, Janet Colwell. Address: 1027 Broad Street, Newark, N. J.

MURPHY, George H.:

Consular officer; born in North Carolina. He was appointed consular clerk, June 22, 1886; appointed vice and deputy consul at Chemnitz, Sept. 7, 1886; deputy consul-general at Berlin, March 7, 1889; vice and deputy consul-general, April 8, 1890; consular agent at Hanover, Dec. 23, 1890; vice commercial agent at Luxemburg, June 30, 1893; retired as vice-commercial agent, Feb. 13, 1896. He was appointed vice consul at Colon, Jan. 17, 1898; designated to inspect consulates on the West Coast of Colombia, Central America, and Mexico, March 17, 1898; retired as vice-consul, April 18, 1898, and was designated to inspect certain consulates in Mexico, Nov. 19, 1898; appointed vice and deputy consul at Bremen, Sept. 20, 1899; vice and deputy consul at Magdeburg, Feb. 5, 1900; vice and deputy consul-general at Frankfurt, Dec. 1, 1900; designated to inspect certain consulates in Germany, Nov. 18, 1904; appointed consular agent at St. Catharines, March 13, 1905; appointed consul-general at large, May 23, 1906, to take effect July 1, 1906. Address: Department of State, Washington, D. C.

MURPHY, Hermann Dudley:

Artist; born in Marlboro, Mass., August 25, 1867; son of Daniel F. and Ellen (Ladd) Murphy. He was educated in Chauncy Hall School of Boston, Museum of Fine Arts of Boston, Académie Julian of Paris and École des Beaux Arts de Paris. He was artist of the Nicaragua Canal Construction Company in 1887; illustrator for newspapers, magazines and books; exhibitor in Salon of Champs de Mars, Paris, the Society of American Artists, Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts and Carnegie Institute, and was awarded medals at the Pan-American Exposition and St. Louis Exposition. He is instructor in Harvard University; member of the Society of Arts and Crafts, the Copley Society, American Art Association of Paris, Water Color Club of Boston and Water Color Club of New York and American Canoe Association. His favorite recreation is canoe sailing. He is a member of the St. Botolph Club of Boston, the Salmagundi, and of the Winchester Boat Club. Mr. Murphy married in New York, November 15, 1895, Caroline Bowles, and they have two children. Residence: Winchester, Mass. Office: Copley Hall, Boston.

MURPHY, James R.:

Lawyer; born at Boston, July 29, 1853; son of James and Catherine Murphy. He was graduated from Georgetown University, A.B., 1872, the Loyola College, A.M. in 1873, and from the Boston University, LL.B., 1876. He was for three years instructor in Latin in Loyola College at Baltimore, Md., and in Seton Hall, N. J. In the meantime he read law privately, and in 1875 entered the law office of Judge J. G. Abbott in Boston. He was admitted to the Suffolk bar at the close of the same year, and has practised alone ever since. He is in general practice, and his clientage is composed largely of building contractors. He was counsel in the Frye murder case, the Florence Street murder case, in the first important case tried under the new Employers' Liability Act, and in many other important cases. In politics he is a Democrat, and independent in local affairs. In his religion he is a Catholic, and has been instrumental in the organization of the Young Men's Catholic Associations. He is a member of the Catholic Union, the Royal Arcanum, and the order of United Workmen. Mr. Murphy married in Maryland, Nov., 22, 1881, Mary Randall, and they have two daughters. Residence: Hotel Buckminster. Office: 27 School Street, Boston.

MURPHY, Starr Jocelyn:

Lawyer; born in Avon, Hartford County, Conn., June 17, 1860; son of Rev. Elijah Douglas Murphy D.D. and Harriette Luce-annah (Jocelyn) Murphy. He was graduated from Amherst College, B.A., 1881 and from Columbia University Law School, LL.B. (cum laude) in 1883. He practised law in New York City since 1883; and since 1904 has been exclusively engaged as adviser and representative in benevolent matters of John D. Rockefeller. He is director of the American Linseed Company; director of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company, and of other corporations. Mr. Murphy is a member of the General Education Board, Phi Beta Kappa, Delta Upsilon fraternity, and of the Hardware Club. Mr. Murphy married in Montclair, N. J., June 9, 1887, Julia Brush Doubleday. Residence: Montclair, N. J. Address: 26 Broadway, New York City.

MURPHY, Thomas Edward, (S. J.):

President of Holy Cross College; born in New York, Jan. 27, 1856. He was educated in the New York public schools, College of St. Francis Xavier in New York, and Woodstock College, Maryland. He was professor of Latin and Greek in Georgetown University, Washington, D. C., 1882-1887; vice-president, 1891-1893, president of the College of St. Francis Xavier, 1894-1900; prefect of studies in Holy Cross College, Worcester, Mass., 1900-1906, and president since 1906. He has been a member of the Worcester Economic Club since its organization, and president, 1908-1909. Address: Holy Cross College, Worcester, Mass.

MURRAY, Charles H.:

Jurist; born in San Francisco, Jan. 2, 1855; son of Henry Kennedy and Abbie Sheldon (Billings) Murray. He was graduated from Mount Pleasant Academy, Ossining-on-Hudson, and studied law; was admitted to the bar, 1876, and since then engaged in law practice. He became republican leader of the Eighth Assembly District; president of the Lincoln League; executive member of the Republican County Committee; chairman of the Ninth Congressional Committee; member of the Republican State Committee, 1894-1896, 1901-1904, 1904-1906 and 1907-1908; member of the Executive Committee of the Republican State Committee from 1904-1906; delegate to all Republican National conventions from 1888, and all Republican State conventions from 1886. Has been Republican candidate for member of Assembly. Republican candidate for district attorney, County of New York, 1893; counsel to U. S. marshal; police commissioner of New York City, 1894; aqueduct commissioner, 1897; quarantine commissioner, 1901-1905; president of the Republican County Committee, 1904; judge of the New York Court of Claims, 1905-1906. He is a member of the Society of Colonial Wars; charter member and deputy governor-general, Sons of the Revolution; member of the Sons of the American Revolution, Society of Foreign Wars (charter member), Society of the War of 1812 (charter member and judge-advocate-general), Loyal Legion, St. Nicholas Society, Huguenot Society. Mr. Murray is a member of the Republican and New York Athletic Clubs. He married in Worcester, Mass., Feb. 11, 1893, Grace Peckham. Residence: Hotel Seymour, 50 West 45th Street. Office: 62 William Street, New York City.

MUSSER, John Herr:

Professor of clinical medicine; born in Strassburg, Lancaster County, Pa., June 22, 1856; descended from three generations of physicians, he forming the fourth. After attending public and normal schools he studied medicine in the University of Pennsylvania, graduating in 1877. He was medical register of the University Hospital 1879-1882, and chief of the Medical Dispensary from 1881 to 1887. He was pathologist to the Presbyterian Hospital, 1883-1887, since when he has been physician to that institution. In 1881 he was elected instructor in clinical medicine at the University of Pennsylvania, in 1889 was made assistant professor, and since 1899 has been professor of that branch. For the past fifteen years he has been physician to the Philadelphia Hospital. Dr. Musser was president of the Philadelphia Pathological Society, 1893-1897; of the County Medical Society, 1899-1900; of the Philadelphia Medical Club, 1897, of the American Medical Association in 1904, and is a member of many other medical associations. He has delivered many notable addresses before these societies and has written numerous treatises on medical subjects, has published a book on Diagnosis, which has reached its fifth edition. Address: 1927 Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia.

MUSSEY, Ellen Spencer:

Lawyer; born in Geneva, Ohio; daughter of Platt R. and Persis Duty Spencer. She was educated in the Geneva (Ohio) High School, Lake Erie College, Ohio, Rockford College, Illinois, and studied law in the office of R. D. Mussey and at Cornell, LL.M.

She married in Washington, D. C., June 14, 1871, Reuben Delavan Mussey, brevet brigadier general of Volunteers, U. S. A., and has had two sons, of whom the elder is now deceased. She is member of the bar of the U. S. Supreme Court, Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, and the U. S. Court of Claims. She is dean and founder of the Washington College of Law, being the only woman who ever held such a position, and is attorney for the Swedish and Norwegian Legations. As agent of the American National Red Cross Mrs. Mussey established diet kitchens at Fort Myer, Va., Camp Alger, Va., and the Arsenal, during the Spanish-American War, and went to Galveston, Texas, during the Flood there. She is local chairman of a committee from the General Federation of Women's Clubs for National Legislation. She was the author of the "Mussey Act," which first gave married women in the District of Columbia the right to their own earnings; also secured the first appropriation for free kindergartens in the District, and has largely influenced legislation to compel school attendance and establish ungraded schools. She is a member of the Board of Directors of the American Playgrounds Association; member of the Board of Education of the District of Columbia; ex-vice-president-general of Daughters of the American Revolution, ex-president of the League of Loyal Women; National counsellor of the Ladies' Union Veteran Legion; member of the National Geographic Society. Address: 1317 New York Avenue, Washington, D. C.

MYERS, Theodore W.:

Banker and broker; born in New York City, Jan. 11, 1844; son of Lawrence Myers, a prominent merchant. He was educated in the schools of New York City, France and Germany, but ill health obliged him to give up a collegiate course. He became in 1864, clerk in the banking house of Camblos & Myers, then later in business under his own name; afterward special partner in the banking house of M. E. De Rivas & Company, and in 1884 organized the banking house of Theodore W. Myers & Company.

and in 1898 was president of the present banking house of Theodore Myers & Son; continues head with branches in Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Chicago and other cities. During the Civil War Mr. Myers was active in organizing Sickles' Brigade, in which he served as captain of the Third Regiment. For many years afterward he was connected with the City Guard and later became an officer in the Ninth Regiment of the National Guard of New York. He was a member and the treasurer of the Park Commission in 1887; comptroller of the City of New York from 1887 to 1893. Was several years president of the Business Men's Association of New York City and a member of the New York Historical Society and of the American Geographical Society. He is also a member of the Manhattan, New York, Rockaway Hunt, National Hunt, Democratic, New York Yacht, Reform, New York Athletic and Thirteen Clubs. He married in 1870, Rosalie Hart, and they have one son. Residence: 21 West 46th Street, Address: 20 Broad Street, New York City.

MYERS, William Shields:

Chemist; born in Albany, N. Y., Dec. 15, 1866; son of Benjamin F. and Elizabeth (Shields) Meyers. He was educated in Albany Academy, 1881-1885, and was graduated from Rutgers College as B.Sc. in 1889 and M.Sc. in 1890. He studied at Munich, Berlin and London, (pupil of Sir William Ramsey) from June, 1890, to Aug., 1892, becoming fellow of the Chemical Society (F.C.S.) of London in 1892; D.Sc. Rutgers, June, 1908. Mr. Meyers was assistant chemist of the New Jersey Experiment Station, 1888-1889; chemist of the Lister Agricultural Works, 1892; New Jersey State Agricultural College, 1893-1901; director of the Nitrate Propaganda for the United States and Colonies, since 1901; trustee of Rutgers College, 1902-1908. Mr. Meyers was author of the bill which organized the Department of Ceramics in Rutgers College, which passed the New Jersey Legislature in 1902. He was mayor of New Brunswick, N. J., 1903-1905; president of the Excise Board of New Brunswick, New Jersey, 1905-1908. He has contributed papers to the American Chemical Society and technical journals on water, soils and clays of New Jersey; editor and publisher of monographs on Scientific Fertilization and Water Transportation, one of the few scientific men of America asked to read Scientific Paper at the Pan-American Scientific Congress in Chili 1908. He is a member of the Chemists' Club, and Drug and Chemical Club of New York City; is a life member of the Society of Chemical Industry of Great Britain, London Chemical Society, American Chemical Society, American Association for the Advancement of Science, British Association for the Advancement of Science; secretary of Rutgers College Alumni Association; editor of Alumni edition of the Monthly Rutgers Targum. He is also a member of the Chi Phi fraternity, and of the Union, Young Men's Republican and Golf Clubs of New Brunswick, New Jersey, and was president of the latter from 1902-1905 and is also a member of the Cosmos Club of San Francisco. He married at New Brunswick, N. J., Sept. 11, 1889, Annie Taylor Lambert, and they have one son. Address: 71 Nassau Street, New York City.

N

NACHTRIEB, Henry Francis:

Professor of zoölogy; born near Galion, Ohio, May 11, 1857. He was educated in the German Wallace College and Baldwin University, Berea, Ohio; was graduated, B.S., from the University of Minnesota, 1882; fellow at Johns Hopkins University, 1884-1885. He was instructor in zoölogy at the University of Minnesota, 1885-1887, head professor of the Department of Animal Biology and curator of the Zoölogical Museum since 1887; president of the General Alumni Association since its organization, and zoölogist of the Minnesota Geological and Natural History Survey since 1887. He is author of: Echinoderms of Beaufort; Permanent Preparations in Hermetically Sealed Tubes; The Lateral Line System of Polyodon; and other scientific articles and reviews. He is a member of the Association of American Anatomists, the American Society of Zoologists, the American Society of Naturalists, American Association of Museums, American Breeders' Association, Washington Academy of Sciences, and fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. He is a member of the honor societies Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi and the fraternity Psi Upsilon. Address: 905 Sixth Street, S. E., Minneapolis. Minn.

NAGEL, Joseph Darwin:

Physician; born in Galgoez, Hungary, Nov. 20, 1867; son of Adolph and Therese (Eisler) Nagel. He was graduated from the Lutheran Gymnasium of Budapest, A. B., and from the College of Physicians and Surgeons, N. Y., as M.D., receiving the Harzen Prize, 1889. He was appointed resident physician of the French Hospital, 1890, then advanced to visiting physician, 1895, and now consulting physician. He was visiting physician to Red Cross Hospital of New York, honorary member of the Societe Royale de Belgique, member of International Congress on Tuberculosis, International Medical Congress (Budapest, 1909), where paper on "Physiologic Gastric Juice" read. Dr. Nagel is a member of the New York Academy of Medicine, County Medical Society, Red Cross Medical Society, Physicians' Aid, is a Mason, medical examiner-in-chief of Loyal Association, also a member of the Belle Haven Casino Club of Greenwich, Conn., and the Cercle de L'Harmonie Club of New York. He married in New York, June 14, 1892, Dolly Adelaide Rogers, and they have two children. Address: 61 West 35th Street, New York City.

NALLY, Edward Julian:

Vice-president, general manager and director of the Postal Telegraph-Cable Company; born in Philadelphia, April 11, 1859; was educated in the public schools. In 1875, at the age of sixteen, he began his business career as a messenger boy with the Western Union Telegraph Company at St. Louis, Mo. Later he was promoted to clerk in the office of Col. R. C. Clowry, then district superintendent, with headquarters in St. Louis, and in 1882 was transferred to Minneapolis, as chief clerk to the superintendent, eighth district, same company. In 1890 he entered the service of the Postal Telegraph-Cable Company, as assistant to the general superintendent of the Western Division, in Chicago; was promoted assistant general superintendent and in 1901 was made general superintendent of the Western Division with jurisdiction over the lines and offices in twenty-two States. In Sept., 1906, he was elected vice-president and director, with headquarters in New York City, and on April 11, 1907, made vice-president and general manager. He is a member of the National Geographic Society, Union League Club, the Caxton Club, of Chicago, the Magnetic Club, the Pennsylvania Society, of New York, the Flushing Country Club of Flushing, N. Y., and vice-president of the National Business League of America. Mr. Nally married in Lexington, Ky., June 10, 1897, Lee Warren Redd, and they have two children. Address: Postal Telegraph Building, 253 Broadway, New York City.

NASH, Edwin A.:

Jurist; born at Bedford, Canada, Oct. 26, 1836; son of Adolphus Nash, of American descent. He was educated in district schools and Genesee Wesleyan Seminary, Lima, N. Y.; was admitted to the bar in 1861; and practised law until 1878, when he went to Avon, where he has since resided. He was district attorney of Livingston County for two terms, being elected in 1869 and 1872; elected county judge in 1878; reelected in 1884 and 1890; and in 1895 was elected justice of the Supreme Court and was associate justice of Appellate Division of the Fourth Department, when his term expired by constitutional limitation, Dec. 31, 1906. Address: Avon, N. Y.

NASH, George Williston:

Educator; born in Jamesville, Wis., Dec. 22, 1869; son of Newman Curtis and Jennie

E. (Williston) Nash. He was graduated from Yankton College, in 1891, receiving the degrees of S.D., B.S., and M.S.; and pursued graduate courses in the University of Leipzig, and State University of Minnesota. He was teacher of mathematics, Augustana College, Canton, S. Dak., 1891-1893; principal of Yankton College Academy, 1893-1896, professor of mathematics and astronomy, Yankton College, 1896-1902; State superintendent of public instruction of South Dakota, 1903-1905, president of the State Normal and Industrial School, Aberdeen, S. Dak., since 1905. Mr. Nash married in Pierre, S. Dak., Nov. 17, 1903, Adelaide M. Warburton. Residence: 615 Lincoln Street, S. E., Aberdeen. Address: State Normal and Industrial School, Aberdeen, S. Dak.

NASH, John McLean:

Lawyer; born in New York City, Aug. 6, 1848; son of Stephen P. and Catherine (McLean) Nash. He was graduated from Columbia College, A.B., 1868, A.M., LL.B., 1870. Mr. Nash is a member of the law firm of Nash and Jones; trustee of the New York Life Insurance and Trust Company; treasurer of Columbia College since 1885; member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, Law Institute of New York City, Delta Phi fraternity, and Columbia University Alumni Association. He is a member of the Union, Century, University, and Columbia University Clubs. Residence: 60 West 48th Street. Address: 63 Wall Street, New York City.

NASH, Paul Cleveland Bennett:

American consul-general at Budapest; born in Geneva, N. Y., April 28, 1877; son of Francis Philip and Catherine Cleveland (Coxe) Nash. He was educated by private tutors and at Hobart College, and the Boston Institute of Technology, and studied international law, etc., in preparation for diplomatic service, in Paris and at the Columbian University, Washington. He traveled one year, 1894-1895, in the Far East, and six years in Europe, 1897-1902, studying industrial and commercial conditions, the languages, etc.; was secretary of the legation and consul-general at Bangkok, Siam, 1903-1904; appointed consul at Venice, Italy, Oct., 1904; consul at Vladivostok, March 30, 1907; consul at Rhemis in March, 1908, and consul-general at Budapest, Hungary, since June 3, 1908. He is a member of the Sigma Phi fraternity and the Metropolitan Club, Washington, D. C. He married in Venice, Oct. 2, 1905, the Baroness Margherita Mayneri. Address: American Consul-General, Budapest, Hungary.

NASH, William Alexander:

Banker; born at Hudson, N. Y., Jan. 18, 1840; son of Thomas P. and Sarah J. Nash. He was educated in the public schools of Brooklyn. He is president and director of the Corn Exchange Bank, Lykens Railway and Coal Company, New York and East River Ferry Company; vice-president and director of the Audit Company of New York, International Elevating Company; director of the Home Life Insurance Company, Lloyds Plate Glass Insurance Company, Queens Insurance Company of America; trustee of the American Surety Company, the Bowery Savings Bank, and New York Produce Exchange. Mr. Nash is a member of the Union League and Metropolitan Clubs of New York, life member of the New York Athletic and member of the Hamilton Club of Brooklyn. He married, Jan. 14, 1869, Alice J. Peters, and they have two children. Residence: 19 West 73d Street. Address: 11 William Street, New York City.

NASON, Charles Pickney Holbrook:

American consul at Grenoble, France; born in Newburyport, Mass., Sept. 7, 1842; son of Rev. Elias Nason, author. He was graduated from Williams College, 1862; with Army of the Potomac as volunteer aide, Artillery Brigades, Fifth Army Corps, and in Government service, Washington (private secretary at Capitol, 1863-1865); in business, Chicago, 1865-1868; resumed studies and finished course at the Theological Seminary, Andover, Mass., 1872. He was acting pastor of Lafayette Street Presbyterian Church, Buffalo, N. Y., 1872-1874, Central Congregational Church, Chelsea, Mass., 1874-1887, Second Presbyterian Church, Germantown, Philadelphia, 1887-1901. He was appointed by President McKinley as consul at Grenoble, France, July 5, 1901, where he now represents the Departments of Isere, Savoy and Upper Savoy. In 1899 served as acting pastor of the American Church in Paris; received the degree of D.D. from William College the same year and until 1901 was president of the Pennsylvania Alumni Association of that College. He was one of the first promoters of the Site and Relic Society of Germantown; member of the Pennsylvania Historical Society, New England Historical-Genealogical Society, New England Society of Pennsylvania, and Foreign Students' Committee of the University of Grenoble. Dr. Nason has been a public lecturer on Joan of Arc, the Heroine of France, and other subjects, and is author of many publications. He married, Nov. 17, 1870, Helen Augusta Phipps, daughter of Hon. Dudley Eli Bond, of Cleveland, Ohio. Address: American Consulate, Grenoble, France.

NAVE, Frederick Solomon:

Jurist; born in Lewis Center, Ohio, Jan. 7, 1873; son of Orville J. and Anna E. (Semans) Nave. He was educated at Ohio Wesleyan University, A.B., 1895; and Northwestern University Law School, LL.B., 1897. He was instructor in Greek and Latin in Northwestern University Academy, 1895-1896, when he went to Chicago, where he was a law clerk until Jan., 1898, when he removed to Arizona. He was clerk of the Code Revision Commission of Arizona until 1901, and was also district attorney of Santa Cruz County from 1900 until 1902, when he was appointed attorney for Arizona. In Nov., 1905, he became associate justice of the Supreme Court of Arizona, which position he retained until April 1, 1901, when he established himself in practice at Globe, Ariz. He is a member of the Phi Gamma Delta College fraternity, Delta Chi law school fraternity, and is a Mason, Knight of Pythias and an Elk, and a member of Saguaro Club of Globe, Ariz. Judge Nave was married in Nogales, Ariz., March 26, 1901, to Elsie W. Jones, and has one son. Address: Globe, Ariz.

NEECE, William Martin:

Stock grower; born in Springfield, Mo., April 24, 1839; son of Ellis and Ann (Reese) Neece. He taught school in 1860; enlisted in the Federal Army in June, 1861, as private, and served till Feb., 1865, in the Sixth Missouri Volunteer Cavalry. He was promoted to lieutenant in April, 1863; and was wounded at Sabine Cross Roads, April 8, 1864. He sold dry goods and groceries from 1865 to 1869; moved to Fort Collins, Colo., in 1872, and moved to Thermopolis, Wyo., in 1897. He was superintendent of Big Horn, Hot Springs, 1904-1907. Mr. Neece married in Springfield, Mo., July 12, 1865, and has three children. Address: Thermopolis, Wyo.

NEEDHAM, Charles Austin:

Artist; born in Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 30, 1844. He began his art education in Art Students' League and with August Will, New York City. Has been represented in many exhibitions, and landscapes by him are in various important collections. Mr. Needham was awarded honorable mention and medal by the Atlanta Exposition, 1895; first honorable mention New York State Agricultural Exposition, Syracuse, 1898; bronze medal, Paris Exposition, 1900; silver medal, Charleston Exposition, 1902. He is a member of the New York Water Color Society and of the American Water Color Society. Mr. Needham married in New York City, 1868, Fannie Montross. Address: 145 East 23d Street, New York City.

NEEDHAM, James Carson:

Congressman and lawyer; born in Carson City Nev., Sept. 17, 1864, in an emigrant wagon, his parents being at the time en route across the plains to California. His early education was received in the public schools of California, and he was graduated from the San Jose High School, and subsequently took a collegiate course at the University of the Pacific at San Jose, graduating, Ph.D., 1886; he then entered the law department of the University of Michigan and spent one year, at the end of which time he was appointed, under civil service rules, to a clerkship in the adjutant-general's office at Washington, D. C. Resigning from the War Department, he returned to the University of Michigan and completed his law course, graduating, LL.B., 1889. He began the practice of law in Nov., 1889, at Modesto, Calif., where he has ever since resided. In 1890 he was nominated by the Republican party for State senator, but the district being overwhelmingly Democratic, was defeated. He has been chairman of the Republican County Committee, member of the State Central Committee, and member of the Congressional committee. He was elected to the Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, and Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth Congresses from the Sixth California District, and re-elected in 1908 to the Sixty-first Congress. Address: Modesto, Calif.

NEIDIG, William Jonathan:

Author; born in Western College, Iowa; son of Abram Hershey and Lucyna (Davis) Neidig. He was graduated from Stanford University, A.B., 1896; graduate student in the University of Chicago, 1904-1905; fellow in English, 1905. He was editor of The Railroad Gazetteer, San Francisco, 1897-1898; sub-editor of The Argonaut, 1898-1899; book editor of The Wave, 1899-1900. He was instructor in English in Stanford University, 1901-1904; instructor in English in the University of Wisconsin since Sept., 1905. Mr. Neidig was president of the Stanford Alumni Association, 1904-1905. He is a contributor of short stories to The Century, Youth's Companion and other magazines, and is author of The First Wardens, poems (nominated for the Nobel prize in idealistic literature), 1905 (published by The Macmillan Company). He is a member of the Modern Language Association of America, the Wisconsin Academy of Sciences, and the West End Club. Address: 435 Hawthorne Place, Madison, Wis.

NEILSON, Lewis:

Secretary of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company; born at Florence, N. J., Sept. 30, 1860; son of Thomas Neilson, president of the Elmira and Williamsport Railroad Company, and Sarah Claypoole (Lewis) Neilson; and is the grandson of Robert Neilson, who was at one time judge-advocate of the West Indies by appointment of the Crown, and of William David Lewis, a prominent Philadelphia merchant, bank officer, and collector of customs at the Port of Philadelphia. Mr. Neilson was educated in the Protestant Episcopal Academy, Philadelphia, and the University of Pennsylvania, A.B., 1881. On June 20, 1861, he entered the service of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, and filled various clerical positions until he was, May 1, appointed chief clerk to the secretary, and June 1, 1898, was appointed assistant secretary of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, and of the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad Company; June 27, 1898, appointed to fill the same position with the Philadelphia and Baltimore Central Railroad Company, and was elected secretary of the Manor Real Estate and Trust Company. In 1901 he was elected secretary of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and of the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad Company, to fill the vacancy caused by death of Mr. John C. Sims; also succeeded him as secretary of the Philadelphia and Baltimore Central and the Junction Railroad Companies; and on March 7, 1902, he was elected secretary of the Arcade Real Estate Company. He became the superintendent of the Employees' Saving Fund on June 1, 1906. Mr. Neilson served for several years, prior to 1894, as a director and treasurer and secretary successively of the Athletic Association, and, later, as a member of the Board of Directors and Executive Committee of the General Alumni Society of the University of Pennsylvania, as well as its secretary and treasurer. He is a member of the Orpheus, Rittenhouse, and Merion Cricket Clubs. Mr. Neilson married, Feb. 8, 1893, Clara A. Rosengarten, daughter of Harry B. Rosengarten, of Philadelphia. Address:

Pennsylvania Railroad Company, Philadelphia.

NELSON, Charles Alexander:

Librarian, author; born in Calais, Me., April 14, 1839; son of Israel Potter and Jane (Capen) Nelson. He was graduated from Harvard, A.B., 1860, A.M., 1863; began library work at Gorham (Me.) Male Academy, 1855; was assistant at the Harvard College Library and student of library economy, 1857-1860, and 1863-1864; Lawrence Scientific School, 1861-1862; teacher in classics and mathematics, 1860-1861, 1863-1864, and 1873-1874; civil engineer and draughtsman in the Quartermaster Department, U. S. Army at Newbern, N. C., 1864-1865; and at the same place was superintendent of refugees, justice of the peace, and superintendent of schools, 1865-1873. Mr. Nelson was in the book business, and in literary and library work in Boston, 1874-1881; catalogue librarian of the Astor Library, New York City, 1881-1888; librarian of Howard Memorial Library, New Orleans, 1888-1891; assistant librarian of the Newberry Library, Chicago, 1891-1893; lecturer in Columbia College Library School, 1887; at New York State Library School and the Pratt Institute Library School, 1894-1898; deputy librarian and head reference librarian at Columbia University since 1893. He is a member and ex-secretary of the American Library Association; charter member and ex-secretary and twice president of the New York Library Club; ex-member of the Library Council of the State University; member of the American Historical Association, Bibliographical Society of America, Chicago Literary Club, Booksellers' League, the Round Table, and Corda Fratres; trustee of Leland University, New Orleans, since 1890. He is author of: Waltham, Past and Present, and Its Industries; The Manuscripts and Early Printed Books Bequeathed to the Long Island Historical Society by S. B. Duryea; compiler and editor of the Astor Library Catalogue, four volumes; Catalogue of the Avery Memorial Library; Books on Education in the Libraries of Columbia University; Libraries of Greater New York, Manual and Historical Sketch of the New York Library Club; Catalogue Raisonné, Works on Bookbinding, Examples of Bookbinding of the Sixteenth to Nineteenth Centuries; Index to the Educational Review, volumes I to XXV; Index to Minutes of the Common Council of New York City, from 1675 to 1776; Bibliography of Columbiana, from 1754 to 1904; and numerous professional articles in encyclopædias, annuals and the Library Journal; one of the collaborators on Poole's Index, the Annual Library Index, and the American Library Association Index to Essays. Address: 400 West 153d Street, New York City.

NELSON, Cleland Kinlock:

Bishop of Georgia; born in Albemarle County, Va., May 23, 1852. He was graduated from St. John's College, Annapolis, Md., A.B., 1872; studied in private and for a short time at the Berkeley Divinity School, and received the degree of D.D. from St. John's College, 1891, and from the University of the South, 1892. He was ordered deacon of the Episcopal Church in 1875 by Bishop Pinckney, and ordained to the priesthood the next year by Bishop Stevens. Following that he became rector of the Church of St. John the Baptist, Germantown, Pa.; and rector of the Church of the Nativity, South Bethlehem, Pa., 1882-1892. In 1892 he was elected Bishop of Georgia, and was consecrated by Bishops Quintard, W. B. W. Howe, Lyman, Whitehead, Rulison, Coleman, Jackson and Watson. Bishop Nelson married, June 12, 1877, M. Bruce Matthews. Address: 765 Peachtree Street, Atlanta, Ga.

NELSON, George Francis:

Clergyman; born at Granville, Ohio, Dec. 11, 1842; son of Franklin and Elizabeth Jane (Asher) Nelson. He was a student of Yale, 1859-1861; of the University of Chicago, where he was graduated as LL.B. in 1871; and received the degree of D.D. from Trinity College, and St. Stephen's College, in 1896. He was in the U. S. military service, 1862-1877; in the field, 1862-1866; at General Sherman's head quarters, St. Louis, 1866-1868; at General Sheridan's headquarters, Chicago, 1868-1875; at General Rucker's headquarters, Philadelphia, 1875-1877. He was ordered deacon in 1877, by Bishop Stevens and ordained priest in 1879 by Bishop Pierce, acting for Bishop Stevens, in the Episcopal ministry. He was formerly assistant of St. Andrew's Church, Philadelphia, 1877-1879; assistant of Grace Church, New York City, 1879-1885; rector of the Church of the Nativity, New York City, 1881-1883; vicar of Grace Chapel, New York City, 1883-1895; secretary to the Bishop of New York, 1883-1908; assistant secretary of the House of Bishops since 1883; registrar of the Diocese of New York, since 1887; assistant secretary of the Diocesan Convention of New York, 1887-1903; superintendent of the New York Protestant Episcopal Church Missionary Society, 1894-1902; vice-president since 1902; archdeacon of New York since 1902. He is a member of the Century Association and of the Pennsylvania Society of New York. Address: Diocesan House, 416 Lafayette Street, New York City.

NELSON, John Mandt:

Congressman and lawyer; born in the town of Burke, Dane County, Wis., Oct. 10, 1870. He was graduated from the University of Wisconsin, A.B., 1892; was elected superintendent of schools in Dane County in 1892 and reelected in 1894; resigned to accept the position of bookkeeper in the office of the Secretary of State, where he served, 1894-1897; edited The State, 1897-1898; correspondent in State treasury, 1898-1902; was graduated from the law department of the State University, LL.B., 1896; pursued post-graduate studies at the State University, 1901-1903; and has since practised law. He was for four years a member of the Republican State Central Committee; and he was elected to the Fifty-ninth Congress from the Second Wisconsin District, Sept. 4, 1906, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Hon. H. C. Adams, and reelected to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses. Address: Madison, Wis.

NELSON, Knute:

U. S. Senator; born in Norway, Feb. 2, 1843; came to the United States in July, 1849, and resided in Chicago until the fall of 1850, when he removed to the State of Wisconsin, and from there he removed to Minnesota in July, 1871. He was a private and non-commissioned officer in the Fourth Wisconsin Regiment during the Civil War, and was wounded and taken prisoner at Port Hudson, La., June 14, 1863. He was admitted to the bar in the spring of 1867; was a member of the Assembly in the Wisconsin Legislature, 1868-1869; was county attorney of Douglas County, Minn., in 1872, 1873 and 1874; was State senator in 1875, 1876, 1877 and 1878; presidential elector in 1880, and was a member of the Board of Regents of the State University, 1882-1893. He was a member of the Forty-eighth, Forty-ninth, and Fiftieth Congresses from the Fifth District of Minnesota; was elected governor of Minnesota in the fall of 1892 and reelected in the fall of 1894; was elected U. S. Senator for Minnesota, Jan. 23, 1895, for the term commencing March 4, 1895, and reelected in 1901, and again in 1907, for the term expiring March 3, 1913. Address: Alexandria, Minn.

NELSON, Nelson O.:

Manufacturer and social reformer; born in Norway, Sept. 11, 1844; son of Anders and Gertrude Nelson. He came with his parents to the United States in early childhood, settling on a farm in Buchanan County, Mo. He attended the schools of the county, and afterward engaged in mechanical pursuits, and in 1872 established on a small scale as a manufacturer of plumbers' and steam-fitters' supplies. This business he expanded; the present firm of N. O. Nelson Manufacturing Company, having its offices and principal salesrooms at St. Louis, has large factories at Leclaire (suburb of Edwardsville), Ill., and at Bessemer, Ala. Mr. Nelson has always been a close student of economic and social problems, and was one of the earliest supporters of the single-tax philosophy of the late Henry George, whose personal friend he was; and he has been identified with social reform in a practical way, for over twenty years. He was a pioneer in profit-sharing in this country, which he began with the employes of his firm in 1886, and in 1890 he established the coöperative village of Leclaire, where the works are located and where a large proportion of the workmen in the factories have their homes. About five years ago Mr. Nelson bought a desert ranch in Indio, Riverside County, Calif., on which he established a Consumptives' Camp, which he opened for occupancy at Christmas in 1902. Mr. Nelson is an occasional contributor to periodicals and magazines on questions of economic and social reform. He married at St. Joseph, Mo., in 1868, Almeria Posegate. Residence: Edwardsville, Ill. Office: Tenth and Chestnut Streets, St. Louis, Mo.

NELSON, Richard Henry:

Bishop coadjutor of Albany; born in New York City, Nov. 10, 1859; son of Edward Delavan and Susan Blanchard (Macdonald) Nelson. He was graduated from Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., A.B., 1880; studied at the University of Leipzig, 1880-1881, and at the Berkeley Divinity School at Middletown, Conn., for two years. He was ordered deacon in 1883 and ordained priest in 1884, in the ministry of the Episcopal Church, and was curate of St. John's Church, Stamford, Conn., 1883-1884. He was rector of Grace Church, Waterville, N. Y., 1884-1887, of Christ Church, Norwich, Conn., 1887-1897; then rector of St. Peter's Church, Philadelphia, until he was consecrated bishop-coadjutor of Albany May 19, 1904. Bishop Nelson is a member of the Delta Psi fraternity. He married at Stamford, Conn., Jan. 20, 1885, Harriet Schuyler Anderson, and they have two sons. Address: 25 Elk Street, Albany, N. Y.

NESBIT, Wilbur Dick:

Author and journalist; born in Xenia, Ohio, Sept. 16, 1871; son of John Harvey and Isabel (Fichthorne) Nesbit. He was educated in the public schools and then went into newspaper work, first as a reporter, but subsequently doing feature work for newspapers in Indianapolis, Baltimore and Chicago, now being on the staff of the Chicago Evening Post. Mr. Nesbit has written the lyrics for several musical comedies, is a contributor of short stories and poems to various magazines, and is author of, The Trail to Boyland; The Land of Make-Believe; and The Gentleman Ragman. Mr. Nesbit is a member of the Indiana Society of Chicago, and the Forty, Press and Little Room Clubs. He married, in 1899, Mary Lee Jenkins, and they have two sons. Residence: Evanston, Ill. Office: The Evening Post, Chicago.

NETTLETON, Walter:

Landscape painter; born in New Haven, Conn., June 19, 1861; son of William Alfred and Eliza Lyman Norton (Thomson) Nettleton. He was educated in Williams Academy, Stockbridge, in Hopkins Grammar School and was graduated from Yale University as B.A., 1883 and received the honorary degree of B.F.A. He studied art in Paris under Boulanger and Lefebvre, Carolus-Duran, and Alexander Harrison; received several prizes at the Académie Julian; honorable mention at the Paris Salon in 1892 and was awarded the silver medal of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, St. Louis, in 1904. He is president of the Stockbridge Golf Club (Incorporated). He is chiefly known for New England winter scenes, and is exhibitor in all the principal American and French exhibitions. Mr. Nettleton is a member of the Society of American Artists; Associate of the National Academy of Design; member of New Haven Paint and Clay Club, the Psi Upsilon fraternity, the Players' Club of New York City and of the Lenox Club at Lenox, Mass. Address: Stockbridge, Mass.

NEWBERRY, Truman Handy:

Former assistant secretary of the Navy; born in Detroit, Mich., Nov. 5, 1864; son of John S. and Helen Parmelee (Handy) Newberr. He was graduated from Yale, Ph. B., 1885. He was an official of the Detroit, Bay City and Alpena Railway, 1885-1887. Since 1887, when his father died, leaving a large estate, has had entire management of it, including besides real estate, heavy interests in several important corporations. He was president and treasurer of the Detroit Steel and Spring Company, 1887-1901; is a director of the Union Trust Company, and the State Savings' Bank, vice-president of the Michigan Telephone Company and a director and officer in many other important Michigan corporations. Mr. Newberry was one of the organizers of the Michigan State Naval Brigade and was lieutenant and Navigator in that organization when the Spanish-American War began; and he was commissioned lieutenant (junior grade) in the U. S. Navy in May, 1898, and served through the war on the U. S. steamer Yosemite. In 1899 he was commissioned in the Michigan National Guard as colonel and aide-de-camp on the staff of Governor Pinckney. In 1905 he was appointed assistant secretary of the Navy, in which office he served until the end of the Roosevelt administration, March 4, 1909, and during the last few months of that administration was acting secretary of the Navy. He married in Brooklyn, N. Y., Feb. 7, 1888, Harriet Josephine Barnes. Residence: 481 Jefferson avenue, Detroit, Mich.

NEWBROUGH, William:

Civil and mining engineer; born in Philadelphia, Dec. 15, 1860; son of John B. and Rachel (Turnbull) Newbrough. He was graduated from Columbia University, receiving successively the degrees of A.B., A.M., and E.M., and was being elected to Phi Beta Kappa. He was with the Atchison, Topoka and Santa Fé Railroad, 1888; professor of engineering of the State College of Kentucky, 1889; employed by the U. S. Government, 1890, and since 1890 he has been in private practice. He is the general manager and chief engineer of Narrow Reservoir, consulting engineer of the Kemmerer Coal Company, of Kemmerer, Wyo., and of the Gunn Quealy Coal Co. of Gunn, Wyo., city engineer of Evanston, Wyo., and president of the State Board of Examining Engineers of Wyoming. His specialties are irrigation, hydraulics and coal mining, and he has constructed large irrigation works and equipped coal mines, and has the largest private business in the State of Wyoming. He is a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, president of the Wyoming Society of Engineers and Surveyors, and a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society, and of the Evanston Commercial Club. He married in Brooklyn, N. Y., Jan. 27, 1897, Gertrude Veeder Sturtevant. Address: Evanston, Wyo.

NEWBURGER, Joseph E.:

Jurist; born in New York City. He was graduated from Columbia College Law School and admitted to the bar in 1874; practised law in New York City until elected a justice of the City Court, 1890; elected a judge of the Court of General Sessions in 1895, and elected on Democratic and Republican tickets a justice of the Supreme Court for the term expiring Dec. 31, 1919. Residence: 1 West 70th Street. Official address: Supreme Court, County Court House, New York City.

NEWCUMB, Harry Turner:

Railroad expert and lawyer; born in Owosso, Mich., Jan. 4, 1867; son of Henry Martin and Lucia (Turner) Newcomb. He was educated in the public schools and George Washington University, LL.M., 1891. He began his career with the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway in 1881, and in 1888 became connected with the Interstate Commerce Commission, serving until 1895. He was chief of the Section of Transportation, Department of Agriculture, 1895-1899, and left that department to take a position as expert chief of a division in the Census Office. In 1901 he was appointed editor of the Railway World, and in 1902-1903 was counsel for the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company in the Anthracite Coal Strike Arbitration. He has been in the active practice of law since 1902, and is now senior member of the firm of Newcomb, Churchill and Frey, and is also a frequent writer on economic subjects. He is the author of: Railway Economics; The Postal Deficit; The Work of the Interstate Commerce Commission; Some Recent Phases of the Labor Problem; Municipal Socialism; Public Own- ership and the Wage Earner; Railway Capitalization; Reasonable Maximum Rates; Trusts, a Study in Industrial Evolution; and The Spoils System in Theory and Practice, etc. He is a member of the American Economic Association; American Association for the Advancement of Science; American Political Science Association; American Statistical Association; Royal (British) Statistical Society; Washington Economic Society, the Society of Colonial Wars; the Cosmos, Washington Country and University Clubs of Washington, and the City Club of New York. He married in Owosso, Mich., Oct. 11, 1893, Luey Theodora Comstock, and has two boys and five girls. Residence: Bethesda, Md. Office: National Metropolitan Bank Building, Washington, D. C.

NEWELL, Lyman Churchill:

College professor; born in Pawtucket, R. I., 1867; son of George W. and Ellen (Read) Newell. He was graduated from Brown University, Ph.B., 1890; A.M., 1891; from Johns Hopkins University, Ph.D., 1895. He was a teacher in a high school, Pawtucket, 1890-1892, in Somerville, Mass., 1895-1898, at the Normal School, Lowell, 1898-1904, professor of chemistry in Boston University since 1904. He is author of: Experimental Chemistry, 1900, Descriptive Chemistry, 1903, Inorganic Chemistry for Colleges, 1909, and pamphlets and articles in chemistry and education; associate editor of School Science. Professor Newell is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society, Delta Upsilon fraternity, American Chemical Society, New England Association of Chemistry Teachers, and the American Association for the Advancement of Science. He married in Wakefield, Mass., Sept. 7, 1898, Carolyn E. Strong. Residence: 226 Clifton Street, Malden, Mass. Business address: 688 Boylston Street, Boston.

NEWLAND, David Judson:

Lawyer; born in Lawrenceville, St. Lawrence County, N. Y., July 8, 1841; son of Peabody and Eliza (Chase) Newland; direct descendant of John and Priscilla Allen, through Daniel Grinnell, of Connecticut. He was graduated from Middlebury College as A.B. and valedictorian in 1863, and from Columbia University as LL.B. in 1868. He is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society, Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity. He was originator of the amendment of the law as to evidence in cases of disputed handwriting (in 1880) by which specimens of genuine handwriting can be introduced with which to compare a forgery, although not in the case already for other purposes; secretary of the Wellington Typewriter Company; president of Highland Spring Water Company. He is a member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, and trustee of the Baptist Church of the Epiphany. Mr. Newland married in Haddonfield, N. J., Sept. 26, 1883, Mary Nicholson, and they have three daughters. Address: 550 West 113th Street, New York City.

NEWLANDS, Francis Griffith:

U. S. senator; born in Natchez, Miss., Aug. 28, 1848; son of James Birney and Jessie (Bartland) Newlands. He entered the class of 1867 at Yale College and remained until the middle of his junior year; and later on attended the Columbian College Law School at Washington, but prior to graduation was admitted to the bar by the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia and went to San Francisco, where he entered upon the practice of law and continued in the active practice of his profession until 1888, when he became a citizen of the State of Nevada. He was elected to the Fifty-third, Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, and Fifty-seventh Congresses, and served on the committees on Irrigation, Foreign Affairs, Banking and Currency, and Ways and Means; and was elected to the U. S. Senate as a Democrat to succeed John P. Jones, Republican, for the term expiring March 3, 1909; he was elected by popular vote in 1908 and afterward by the Nevada Legislature for another term expiring March 3, 1915. He is a Democrat in politics. Address: Reno, Nev.

NEWMAN, Angie F. Thurston:

Poet, author and lecturer; born in Montpelier, Vt.; daughter of Daniel Sylvester and Matilda (Benjamin) Thurston. She was educated in the Montpelier Academy, and began teaching in Montpelier at the age of fifteen years; she was afterward graduated from Lawrence University Appleton, Wis. She first married Frank Kilgore, who was a brother-in-law of Bishop Henry W. Warren. Mr. Kilgore lived only a few months after their marriage, and three years later she married David Newman, a dry goods merchant, of Beaver Dam, Wis., where they resided several years, then removing to Lincoln, Neb. Mr. Newman met his death by railroad accident in 1893. Mrs. Newman has been an extensive traveler, and after a year in Europe, Egypt and Palestine, 1896-1897, with her daughter, she gave a series of lectures on themes associated with the tour. She also wrote a book on the novel experience of "the McKinley Button," which she and her daughter wore on the entire trip, under the title of "McKinley Carnations of Memory." She also wrote: "An Italian Winter," and "The Sacrifice of Iphigenia," having studied her themes in Italy and Greece. She is also author of a monograph "Heathens at Home," for the Missionary Societies with which she was connected, having been Western secretary eight and nine years respectively of the Woman's National Foreign and Home Missionary Societies of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and during that period lectured for those societies in all Northern and many Southern States. During the Spanish-American War she was appointed hospital inspector for San Francisco, the Hawaiian Islands and Manila, was absent eight months and executed an important commission. During four sessions of the U. S. Congress she represented the Gentiles of Utah, and before each session was accorded a hearing before the Congressional Committees, and her speeches were printed by order of Congress; and her argument against the admission of Utah as a State was by special request of Senator Edmunds to the Senate, printed in full in the Congressional Record. In response to her memorials, which were presented to the Senate appropriations amounting to $80,000 were granted for an Industrial Home for Mormon Women who wished to abandon polygamy, and Congress also made appropriations for the maintenance of the Home for the succeeding six years until Statehood was granted. Mrs. Newman engaged for several years in preparation of her book, The Tragedy of Christianity or the Vital Issues of Mormon Propagandism. She has served as superintendent of jail and prison and flower mission work in the State of Nebraska for 25 years, for the Woman's Christian Temperance Union; is an active member of the National Council of Women and the Woman's Relief Corps, and was for several years vice-president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Mrs. Newman was the first woman delegate ever elected to the Quadrennial General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and the session at New York after debating the question for six days, decided against the admission of women by a majority of one. This led to the submission of the question to the church, which was settled by the admission of women delegates to the Conferences of 1904 and 1908. Address: 1724 L Street, Lincoln, Neb.

NEWMAN, Horatio Hackett:

Professor of zoölogy; born near Seale, Ala., March 19, 1875; son of Albert Henry Newman, D.D., LL.D., and Mary Augusta (Ware) Newman. He was graduated from McMaster University, Toronto, Canada, B. A., 1896, University of Chicago, Ph.D., 1905, and was a fellow in zoölogy in the University of Chicago. Professor Newman was instructor and assistant professor of zoölogy in the University of Michigan, 1905-1908; since 1908 professor of zoölogy in the University of Texas. He is a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity, an associate member of the Phi Chi Medical Fraternity, and member of the Sigma Xi Society. Professor Newman is author of: The Significance of Scute and Plate Abnormalities in Chelonia; The Habits of Certain Tortoises; On the Permeability of the Egg Membrane to the Sperm; Spawning Behavior and Sexual Dimorphism in Fundulus Heteroelitus and Allied Fish; The Process of Heredity as Exhibited by the Development of Fundulus Hybrids; A Significant Case of Hermaphroditism in Fish; On the Respiration of the Heart; Contact Organ in Killifishes; Identical Quadruplets in the Armadillo, and numerous other zoological writings. He married at Woods Hall, Mass., Aug. 1, 1907, Isabel Currie Marshall and they have one child. Residence: 1915 San Antonio Street. Office: University of Texas, Austin, Texas.

NEWMAN, William H.:

Former president of the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad; born in Prince William County, Va., 1847. He entered railway service, July 1, 1869, beginning as station agent, Texas & Pacific Railway, Shreveport, La., 1869-1872; general freight agent, same road, 1872-1883; traffic manager Southwestern system lines in Texas and Louisiana, including Texas and Pacific, International and Great Northern, Galveston, Houston and Henderson and Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railways, 1883-1885; traffic manager, 1885-1887, third vice-president, 1887-1889, Missouri Pacific System; third vice-president Chicago and North-Western Railway, 1889-1896; second vice-president Great Northern Railway, 1896-1898; since May, 1898, president of Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railway; and from 1901 to 1908 president of New York Central and Hudson River Railroad; also 1905-1908 president of Michigan Central Railroad, and Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railway, Indiana Harbor Railroad, Lake Erie and Western Railroad and Indiana, Illinois and Iowa Railroad. Address: Grand Central Station, New York City.

NEWMAN, Willie Betty:

Artist; born in Murfreesboro, Tenn.; daughter of Col. W. F. M. Betty and Sophie (Rucker) Betty. She was graduated from Greenwood Seminary, and Cincinnati Art School, and studied with Bouguereau in Paris, Benjamin Constant, and J. P. Laurens. Mrs. Newman first exhibited in the Salon in 1891, in the Salons in 1893, 1894, 1895, 1896, 1897, 1898, and 1900, also exhibited at the Paris Exposition, 1900. She received honorable mention in 1900, given by the Government of France. Her principal works are: Le Pain Benit, Pennsylvania Museum; Museum En Penitence; Foolish Virgin (owned by William F. Fleetman); Instant Repose (owned by Charles H. Schwab); La Fille du Marin (owned by the Cincinnati Art Museum); Revue (owned by the Philadelphia Art Club), and Dreams. Mrs. Newman has traveled extensively in France, Italy, Holland, Switzerland, Belgium, and has lived ten years in Europe, painting among the peasants. Address: Nashville, Tenn.

NEWMAN, William Truslow:

U. S. judge; born in Knoxville, Tenn., June 23, 1843; son of Henry B. and Martha A. Newman. He served as private and lieutenant in the Second Tennessee Cavalry, in the Army of the Confederate States, was once captured, imprisoned and exchanged, and twice wounded, losing right arm in battle near Jonesboro, Ga., in July, 1864. After the war he studied law at Atlanta, Ga., and after his admission to the bar in 1866 practised law there for twenty years. He served as city attorney of Atlanta for twelve years. He was active in politics as a Democrat, and in August, 1886, he was appointed by President Cleveland to his present office as U. S. judge for the Northern District of Georgia. Judge Newman married in Knoxville, Tenn., September, 1871, Fannie Alexander. Address: 54 Forest Avenue, Atlanta, Ga.

NIBLACK, Albert Parker:

Commander, U. S. Navy; born in Vincennes, Ind., July 25, 1859; son of Hon. W. E. and Eliza A. (Sherman) Niblack. He entered the U. S. Naval Academy in 1876, and was graduated in 1880. During his early service he took part in the successful expedition for the survey and exploration of Alaska, and is author of a publication on the Coast Indians of Alaska and Northern British Columbia. He took part in the Alaska Boundary Survey of 1893, and in 1895-1896 was inspector of naval militia of the United States. He was naval attache at Rome, Berlin and Vienna in 1896-1897, and during the Spanish-American War was on the blockade of the north coast of Cuba. He had a brilliant service during the Philippine insurrection, and took part in the Boxer expedition in China. In 1901-1902 he was inspector of target practice of the navy, and inaugurated the methods which have been developed into the modern system of gun practice. Owing to ill health he was compelled to take up less active duties in connection with the navy, but in 1908 returned to the Atlantic coast and was assigned to duty as instructor at the Naval Academy. He has been chiefly instrumental in the development of the present system of signalling used in the navy, and is known as an international expert on signalling and tactics. He is a member of the Naval Institute; associate member of the Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers; the Army and Navy and Metropolitan Clubs of Washington, Chevy Chase Club of Maryland, Army and Navy Club of New York and the New York Yacht Club, a member of the Geographical Society. He married in San Francisco, Nov. 24, 1903, Mary A. Harrington. Address: Care Navy Department, Washington, D. C.

NICHOLAS, Francis Child:

Mining and economic geologist; born in Elizabeth, N. J., Dec. 7, 1862; son of George W. and Jane Lawrence (Child) Nichols. He was prepared by private tutors, took the Columbia University geological course, received the degree of M. Sc. and Ph.D. from Richmond College, Ohio, and, in order to better care for the men and officers during exploring expeditions under his command, he took a course in medicine, receiving the degree of M.D. from the Universidad Hispano-Americana. Dr. Nichols has served as consulting engineer in relation to mining geology during the past twenty years for many mining enterprises and corporations. He is president of the American Administration of Mining Securities, and president of the American Financial Agency Company, and has been identified with other financial and mining corporations. He traveled for about ten years in continued explorations in Central and Northern South America. Dr. Nicholas is author of: Mining Investments and How to Judge Them; Across Panama and Around the Caribbean; The Power Supreme; and of numerous scientific papers and pamphlets. He has received the decorations of the Cross of Malta Educativa, Star and Cross of Science, and Spanish-American Cross; is an honorary fellow of the American Museum of Natural History; honorary corresponding member of the New York Academy of Sciences, and of the Institute of Jamaica, B.W.I.; is delegate from the Spanish American University in the United States; and is a member of the Masonic fraternity. Address: Care of J. Edward Mastin & Co., bankers, 3 Broad Street, New York City.

NICHOLL, James Craig:

Artist; born in New York City, Nov. 22, 1846; son of John W. and Elizabeth P. (Craig) Nicoll. He was educated at the Quaker School in New York City and studied art under M. F. H. de Haas and Kruseman van Elten. He was founder, for ten years secretary and is now president of the American Water Color Society, and has been a member and secretary of the National Academy of Design for several years. He belongs, besides to the Century Club and the leading art organizations in New York City. Mr. Nicoll is the recipient of awards at various local and foreign art exhibitions. He was married at New York City in 1873, to Cora A. Noble, and has had four children. Residence: The Sonoma, 1724 Broadway. Address: 51 West Tenth Street, New York City.

NICHOLLS, Francis Tillou:

Jurist; born at Donaldsonville, La., Aug. 20, 1834; son of Thomas Clarke and Louisa H. (Drake) Nicholls. His father was a judge of the District Court and later senior judge of the Court of Errors and Appeals of Louisiana. He was appointed to the U. S. Military Academy, from which he was graduated in the class of 1855. He was commissioned second lieutenant and assigned to the Third Artillery, served against the Seminole Indians and was afterward on duty on the Western frontier, but resigned his commission, was admitted to the Louisiana bar in 1887, and practised law at Napoleonville, La., until 1861, when he entered the Army of the Confederate States as captain in the Eighth Louisiana Regiment of which he became lieutenant-colonel. In 1862 he was transferred to the Fifteenth Louisiana Regiment, as colonel, and later in the same year was promoted to brigadier-general, Confederate States Army. He lost an arm at the battle of Winchester and a foot at Chancellorsville, and during the last year of the war he was superintendent of the Conscript Bureau of the Trans-Mississippi Department. After the war General Nicholls practised law in Ascension Parish, until he was elected, in 1876 on the Democratic ticket, as governor of the State of Louisiana, inaugurating the freeing of Louisiana from carpet-bag rule. After the close of his term in 1880, he engaged in the practice of law at New Orleans. He was appointed by President Cleveland in 1886 member and president of the Board of Visitors to West Point. In 1888, he was again elected governor for another four-year term, during which he vetoed the bill renewing the charter of the Louisiana Lottery, leading to its suppression. In 1893 he became chief justice of the Supreme Court of Louisiana, serving as such until 1904, and since then as associate justice. Address: 1436 Josephine Street, New Orleans, La.

NICHOLLS, Rhoda Holmes:

Artist; born in Coventry, England; daughter of the Rev. William Groome Holmes and Marian (Cooké) Holmes. She received her education by governesses and in private school, Kensington, London. She married in Lyminster, Sussex, England, 1884, Burr H. Nicholls. Miss Holmes received the Queen's Scholarship, from the School of Art, London. She exhibited in all large exhibitions. She received medals at the Mechanics Association, Triennial Exhibition, Boston; World's Fair, Chicago; Pan-American, Atlanta, Nashville, Charleston, Interstate, Gold Medal Prize Fund, New York, and the Louisiana Purchase Exhibitions. Mrs. Nicholls was a member of the Circola Artistico and the Società degli Artisti, Rome; is member of the National Arts Club, Water Color Society, Water Color Club, Woman's Art Club, Pen and Brush Club, Woman's Art Association, Canada, Art Workers' Club, and three years a member of the Miniature Society, and Barnard Club. She is a coeditor of The Palette and Bench and an instructor at the Art Students' League; has written for The Art Interchange, Art Amateur and Keramic Studio. Address: 39 West 67th Street, New York City.

NICHOLS, Acosta:

Banker; born in Brooklyn, N. Y., June 19, 1872; son of George L. and Christina (Cole) Nichols; he was educated in the Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute, 1899, and Williams College, 1893. He is a member of the firm of Spencer, Trask & Company; director Conquista Coal Railway Company, John Lane Company, Mexican Coal and Coke Company, Mexican Mineral Railway Company, Somerset Coal Company; a life member and recording secretary of the New York Historical Society; member of St. Nicholas Society, Society of Colonial Wars, Society of the War of 1812, Long Island Historical Society, New York Zoological Society, American Museum of Natural History, Sons of the Revolution, Society of Foreign Wars, Williams Alumni Association, Metropolitan Museum of Art; veteran of Company K, Seventh Regiment, National Guard of the State of New York; member of Kappa Alpha fraternity. He is a member of the Metropolitan, Down Town, Country and National Arts Clubs. Residence: 30 East 58th Street. Address: 52 William Street, New York City.

NICHOLS, Edward Leamington:

Professor of physics; born in Leamington, England (of American parentage), Sept. 14, 1854; son of Edward W. and Maria (Watkinson) Nichols. He was graduated from Cornell University, B.S., 1875; Göttingen, Ph.D., 1879, University of Penn sylvania, LL.D., 1906; was with Thomas A. Edison at Menlo Park, N. J., 1881-1883; professor of physics and chemistry, Central University, Kentucky, 1881-1883; physics and astronomy, University of Kansas, 1883-1887; professor of physics, Cornell University, since 1887. Professor Nichols is a member of the National Academy of Sciences, American Academy of Sciences, American Philosophical Society, American Association for Advancement of Science (secretary of Section, 1889; vice-president, 1893; president, 1906-1907); American Physical Society, American Institute of Electrical Engineers, etc.; member of Delta Upsilon and Sigma Xi fraternities. He is the author of several treatises on physics and of numerous papers in scientific journals, etc.; founder (1893) and editor-in-chief of the Physical Review; editor of the Department of Physics, Johnson's Universal Encyclopedia and Webster's Dictionary. He married at South Dover, N. Y., May 25, 1881, Ida Preston, and they have two children. Address: Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y.

NICHOLS, Ernest Fox:

President of Dartmouth College; born in Leavenworth, Kan., June 1, 1869; son of Alonzo Curtis and Sophronia (Fox) Nichols. He was graduated from the Kansas Agricultural College, B.S., 1868, Cornell University, M.S., 1893, D.Sc., 1897; and he also received the honorary degree of D.Sc. from Dartmouth College, 1905; was a student in the University of Berlin, 1894-1897, and in Cambridge University, England, 1904-1905. He was Erastus Brooks fellow in Cornell, 1891; associate professor of physics 1892 and professor 1893-1898 in Colgate University; professor of physics in Dartmouth College, 1898-1903; professor of experimental physics in Columbia University, 1903-1909; also Ernest Kempton Adams research fellow in Columbia University, and research associate in Mt. Wilson Solar Observatory, 1905-1907. In 1909 he was elected president of Dartmouth College. Dr. Nichols has made original contributions to the science of physics. When at Dartmouth as professor of physics he made the first measurements of the heat received from several of the brightest stars and planets by using a radiometer of his own invention, and in 1901, in collaboration with Assistant Professor Hall he discovered the pressure of a beam of light, and he has made other experiments and discoveries of importance. He was elected a member of the National Academy of Sciences in 1908; is a fellow and was vice-president in 1903 of the American Association for the Advancement of Science; member of the American Astronomical and Astrophysical Society, American Physical Society, and American Philosophical Society. He is a collaborator on the Astrophysical Journal and is a Rumford medalist of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, 1904. Dr. Nichols is author of numerous papers, published in this country and abroad, on various researches in physics, chiefly in the field of radiation. He married in Hamilton, N. Y., June 16, 1894, Katharine Williams West, and has one daughter. Address: Dartmouth College, Hanover, N. H.

NICHOLS, George Livingston:

Lawyer; born in Brooklyn, N. Y., May 9, 1860. He was graduated from Williams College, A.B., 1881; Columbia Law School, LL.B., 1883. He is a member of the firm of Masten & Nichols; was city civil service commissioner of Brooklyn for four years; and is now the vice-president and director of Chickering & Sons; secretary and director of the Southern Improvement Company of New York, Tin Plate Decorating Company; director of Borden's Condensed Milk Company, Empire Trust Company, Lalance and Grosjean Manufacturing Company, United States Bobbin and Shuttle Company, William C. Casey Company, Woodhaven Water Supply Company, Phoenix National Bank. He is a member of the Saint Nicholas, New York Historical, Zoölogical, Long Island Historical and New York Geographical Societies, American Association, Bar Association of the State of New York, Association of the Bar of the City of New York, Williams College, Alumni Association, Sons of the Revolution, Society of Foreign Wars, Society of the War of 1812, Metropolitan Museum of Art, Botanical Gardens, and American Museum of Natural History. He is a member of the Union, Metropolitan, Grolier, University, Down Town and Hamilton (Brooklyn) Clubs. Residence: 66 East 56th Street. Address: 49 Wall Street, New York City.

NICHOLS, Henry Hobart:

Artist; born in Washington, D. C., May 1, 1869; son of Henry Hobart Nichols, and Indiana (Jay) Nichols. He received his education in public schools, and Media Academy; studied art at the Art Students League, later in Paris, under Castelnuchio, and at the Académie Julian. Mr. Nichols was awarded the Parsons prize, Corcoran Gallery of Art, 1902, 1904, 2d Corcoran prize, 1901, and Corcoran prize in 1906. He was second assistant director of fine arts, of the United States Commission to the Paris Exposition, 1900. He is a member of the Society of Washington Artists, Washington Water Color Club, New York Water Color Club, Cosmos Club of Washington, and the Salmagundi Club of New York. Mr. Nichols married in Washington, D. C., April 20, 1895, Wilhelmina von Stosch, and has two daughters. Address: Tuckahoe, N. Y.

NICHOLS, Henry Sargent Prentiss:

Lawyer; son of Joseph Darwin Nichols and Emily Darragh; born in Columbia, Lancaster County, Pa., He was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania A.B., 1879. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, the University Club, Historical Society of Pennsylvania, Presbyterian Historical Society, Presbyterian Board of Relief for Disabled Ministers, Law Association of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania State Bar Association and American Bar Association and is a trustee of the Presbyterian Hospital. Address: Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

NICHOLS, William Ford:

Bishop of California; born at Lloyd, N. Y., June 9, 1849; son of Charles H. and Margaret E. Nichols. He was graduated from Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., B.A., 1870, M.A., 1873; and from Berkeley Divinity School, 1873; he received the honorary degree of D.D. from Trinity College and from Kenyon College in 1888. Upon his graduation from the seminary, was ordered deacon, 1873, and ordained priest, 1874 in the ministry of the Episcopal Church by Bishop Williams of Connecticut. He was curate at Middletown, Conn., following his ordination, and thence consecutively rector of St. James' Church, West Hartford, Conn., Grace Church, Newington, Conn., Christ Church, Hartford, and St. James' Church, Philadelphia. He was also professor of Church history at the Berkeley Divinity School. In 1888 he was elected assistant bishop of Ohio, but declined and was two years later consecrated to the assistant bishopric of California by Bishops John Williams, Quintard, Neely, Littlejohn, Whiteaker, Niles, Adams, Scarborough, Whitehead and H. C. Potter. In 1893 he became on the death of Bishop Kip, Bishop of California. Bishop Nichols is author of: On Trial for Your Faith, 1895; Apt and Meet, 1909; and various sermons, addresses and pastorals. Address: 1215 Sacramento Street, San Francisco, Calif.

NICHOLS, William Henry, Jr.:

Chemical manufacturing and mining engineer; born in Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 14, 1873; son of William H. and Hannah W. (Bensel) Nichols. He was educated in the Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute, and Columbia School of Mines, graduating in 1894. Mr. Nichols is director, chairman of the Executive Committee, and general manager of the General Chemical Company, director and auditor, Nichols Copper Company, director and secretary, Chemical Trading Company, and Madoc Mining Company, director and president of the San Carlos Copper Company, and Linares and Gulf Railway, and director and vice-president of the Pulaski Mining Company, Thomsen Chemical Company, Baker and Adamson Chemical Company, General Chemical Company of Pennsylvania, Virginia Mining Company, Nichols Chemical Company, Limited. He is a member of the Society of Chemical Industry, American Institute of Mining Engineers. American Chemical Society, trustee of the Brooklyn Childrens Aid Society, First Presbyterian Church, Brooklyn Eye and Ear Hospital; member of the Phi Kappa Psi Society, Columbia Rowing Association, Hamilton and Heights Casino Clubs of Brooklyn, Down Town, Columbia, and Chemists Clubs of New York, and the Nassau Country Club. He married in Brooklyn, Oct. 28, 1896, Rose Tilden, and has two children. Residence: 361 Clinton Avenue, Brooklyn. Office: 25 Broad Street, New York City.

NICHOLS, William Wallace:

Engineer; born in New York City, Nov. 17, 1860; son of Edward E. and Anna (Macaulay) Nichols. He was graduated from Yale University, Ph.B., 1884, M.E., 1886. He was in the motive power department of the Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati and Indianapolis Railroad, Cleveland, Ohio, 1885-1886; assistant master of mechanics and superintendent telegraph, of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad, 1886-1890; superintendent of the Chicago Telephone Company, 1890-1893; instructor in mechanical engineering at Yale, 1893-1900; assistant manager of the Baltimore Copper Smelting and Refining Company, 1900-1904; vice-president of the Allis-Chalmers Company. Since 1904 he has been director of the Allis-Chalmers-Bullock Company, Limited, and the U. S. Trenching Machine Company. He is a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, and of the Yale, Lawyers', Engineers, and New York Railway Clubs. Mr. Nichols married at St. Louis, April 6, 1896, Mary Elizabeth Hill, and they have one daughter. Address: 71 Broadway, New York City.

NICHOLSON, John Page:

Soldier and editor; born in Philadelphia, July 4, 1842; son of James B. and Adelaide B. Nicholson. He received the degree of A.M. from Marietta College, in 1882. He enlisted as private in the 28th Pennsylvania Infantry July 3, 1861, and was sergeant from July 20, 1861; regimental commissary sergeant, Aug. 2, 1861; was discharged for promotion, July 21, 1862; first lieutenant of the 28th Pennsylvania Infantry, July 21, 1862; first lieutenant and quartermaster, Sept. 19, 1862; honorably mustered out, Sept. 1, 1863; brevetted captain of U. S. Volunteers, March 13, 1865, for faithful and meritorious services; captain, March 13, 1865, for faithful and meritorious services during the war; major, March 13, 1865, for gallant and meritorious services in the Savannah and Carolina campaigns, lieutenant-colonel, March 13, 1865, for gallant and meritorious services during the war. He served in and with Army of West Virginia, Banks' Corps; Armies of Virginia, the Potomac, the Cumberland and Georgia from Bolivar, Va., 1861, to Sherman's March to the Sea and through the Carolinas, to the final surrender of the Confederate forces. He is a member of the Historical Societies of Pennsylvania, Maine, Virginia, Maryland and Tennessee and the Ohio Historical and Archaeological Society. He is recorder-in-chief of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, since 1879; recorder of the Commandery of the State of Pennsylvania since 1879; chairman of the U. S. Gettysburg National Park Commission; secretary of the Pennsylvania Gettysburg Commission; vice-president of the Valley Forge Commission, Hanover Pennsylvania Monument Commission; chairman of the General Wayne Monument Commission; trustee of the Soldiers and Sailors and Sailors Home, Erie, Pa., and Pennsylvania Military Academy, Chester, Pa.; member of the Grand Army of the Republic, and Military Service Institution of the United States. He is the translator and editor of: The History of the Civil War in America (by the Comte de Paris), four volumes; editor and compiler of Pennsylvania at Gettysburg, two volumes. Address: 1124 North 41st Street, Philadelphia.

NICHOLSON, John Reed:

Chancellor of Delaware; born in Dover, Del., May 19, 1849; son of John Anthony and Angelica Killen (Reed) Nicholson, and a descendant of William Killen, the first chancellor of Delaware. He was graduated from Yale, A.B., 1870, and from Columbia Law School, New York, LL.B., 1873. He was connected with the paleontological expedition conducted by Dr. Othniel C. Marsh through the Rocky Mountains and the Great Plains in 1870. On graduation in law he established in practice in New York City in 1873; but in 1876 returned to Dover, Del., and engaged in practice. He was town solicitor, 1885-1892, attorney-general of Delaware, 1892-1895; and in November, 1895, became chancellor of Delaware, which office he has held ever since. He is a Democrat in politics. Chancellor Nicholson married in Lancaster, Pa., June 3, 1884, Isabella Hayes Hager. Address: Dover, Del.

NICHOLSON, Watson:

Teacher and author; born in Pendleton, Ind., Sept. 23, 1866; son of Abraham and Maria C. (Davis) Nicholson. He was educated in the Indiana public schools, Indiana University, through the junior year, Leland Stanford Jr. University, A.B., (class orator), 1892; Harvard University, A.M. (University Scholar), 1895; Yale University, fellow in English, Ph.D., 1903. He was teacher in the public schools of Indiana, 1884-1888; superintendent of schools, Dundas, Minn., 1890-1891; assistant teacher of history, Harvard University, 1895-1897; Board of Harvard Examiners, 1895-1897; head of the Department of English, Redlands (Calif.) High School, 1897-1901; lecturer in literature for the American Society for the Extension of University Teaching, 1903-1905; instructor in English in Yale University, 1905-1908. He is a member of the Southern California Teachers' Association, Harvard Teachers' Association, Modern Language Association, the National Educational Association, Phi Beta Kappa Society, the Sigma Chi fraternity, and the Southern California School Masters' Club. Mr. Nicholson has been identified with literature as well as educational work; was the founder and first editor-in-chief of Sequoia, the first Stanford Magazine, and is author of: The Struggle for a Free Stage in London, 1906 (Houghton, Mifflin & Co.), and numerous educational articles and reviews; and he is now at work on a book on The Influence of the Censor of Plays on the Acted Drama in London. Mr. Nicholson married in Fort Wayne, Ind., Sept. 1, 1897, Florence Emily Beaver. Address: 2106 Massachusetts Avenue, Cambridge, Mass.

NICHOLSON, William R.:

Physician; born in Boston, Feb. 26, 1868; son of Rt. Rev. William Rufus Nicholson, D.D., and Katherine Stanley (Parker) Nicholson. He was graduated for the University of Pennsylvania, Ph.B., 1890, M.D., 1893. He is a fellow of the College of Physicians of Philadelphia; Associate in Obstetrics of University of Pennsylvania, and gynecologist to Polyclinic Hospital, and is a member of the Phi Alpha Sigma and Phi Kappa Psi fraternities and of the University Club of Philadelphia. Dr. Nicholson married in Philadelphia, July 14, 1904, Celia J. Bolles. Address: 350 South 15th Street, Philadelphia.

NICOLL, DeLancey:

Lawyer; born at Shelter Island, N. Y., June 24, 1854; son of Solomon Townsend and Charlotte Ann (Nicoll) Nicoll, cousins. His father was a successful East India tea merchant of New York City. Mr. DeLancey Nicoll was educated in the Flushing (N. Y.) Institute, Cheshire (Conn.) Academy, St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H., Princeton College from which he was graduated A.B., with high honors in 1874, and Columbia Law School, LL.B., 1876. He was admitted to the bar in 1876 and he formed a partnership with Walter D. Edmunds. He was assistant district attorney of New York City, 1885-1888, under Randolph B. Martine. Mr. Nicoll has been the unsuccessful candidate for the office of district attorney on the Republican and Independent tickets in 1887, but at the next election he was the nominee on the Democratic ticket, and was elected, serving as district attorney, 1892-1894. Upon retiring from office, his law firm was Nicoll, Anable and Lindsay, which continues to the present time (1909). Mr. Nicoll was a member of the constitutional convention in 1894. Among the important cases that Mr. Nicoll has handled successfully are: The Aldermanic prosecution for bribery connected with the Broadway railroad franchise; People v. Jahne; People v.

O'Neil; People v. McQuade; People v. Sharp; The Richardson Will case; the Will of General Samuel Thomas; the Will of Russell Sage; the defence of all proceedings against the American Tobacco Company by the United States, including Hale v. Henkle; the litigation of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company in New York. He is a member of the Union, Metropolitan, Tuxedo, Racquet, Riding, University, Manhattan, Princeton and Democratic Clubs of New York. Mr. Nicoll married, Dec. 11, 1890, at Ossining, N. Y., Maud, daughter of Richard Cuyler Churchill, lieutenant of the Fourth Artillery, U. S. Army, and has one son, and one daughter. Residence 23 East 39th Street. Office: 31 Nassau Street, New York City.

NICOLL, James Craig:

Artist; born in New York City, Nov. 22, 1846; son of John W. and Elizabeth P. (Craig) Nicoll. He was educated in the Quackenbos School in New York City, studied art under M. F. H. de Haas and Kruseman van Elten. Mr. Nicoll has painted many scenes along the Atlantic coast, both in oils and water colors. He made his first exhibit at the National Academy of Design in 1868, and since then at many exhibitions. He received a gold medal from the New Orleans Exposition in 1885, awards from the Paris Exposition of 1900, the Boston Prize Fund, and others. He was elected associate in 1880 and academician, 1885, of the National Academy of Design, of which he was formerly secretary and is now a member of the Council. He was one of the founders, ten years secretary and is now president of the American Water Color Society; is a member and was president in 1887 of the Artists' Fund Society, and is a member and ex-secretary of the Artists' Etching Club and member of the Artists' Aid Society. He was secretary of the Jury of Award on Painting in the World's Columbian Exposition in Chicago in 1893. Mr. Nicoll married in New York City, in 1873, Cora A. Noble, now deceased, and he has four children. Residence: The Sonoma, 1734 Broadway. Studio: 51 West 10th Street, New York City.

NIEDRINGHAUS, Thomas Key:

Manufacturer; born in St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 21, 1860; son of F. G. and Dena (Key) Niedringhaus. He was educated in Washington University, St. Louis, and Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn. After completing his education in 1880, he entered the St. Louis Stamping Company, controlled by his family, a large enterprise engaged in the manufacture of the famous Granite enameled ware, as secretary of the company, and so continued until that and other leading companies in the same line were consolidated into the present National Enameling and Stamping Company, of which he is vice-president and a director; and he is also connected as officer and director with other corporations. Mr. Niedringhaus is an active Republican, was Republican caucus nominee for U. S. Senator from Missouri in 1905, and is chairman of the Republican State Committee of Missouri. He married in St. Louis, April 18, 1888, Hennie Brown Johnson, and they have a daughter and a son. Residence: 79 Vandeventer Place. Office: Cass Avenue and Second Street, St. Louis, Mo.

NIEHAUS, Charles Henry:

Sculptor; born in Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 24, 1855; son of John Conrad and Wilhelmina (Block) Niehaus. He was educated in the McMicken School of Art, Cincinnati (first prize); Royal Academy, Munich, Bavaria (first prize, medal and diploma); studied in Rome, Italy, four years; one year in Manchester, England, after three years spent in Royal Academy, Munich; elected associate in 1892, and academician in 1906, of the National Academy of Design; member Architectural League of America, National Arts Club, National Sculptor Society; medals were awarded to him in Chicago; gold medals, Buffalo, 1901; Charleston, 1902; St. Louis, 1904. His more important works are the Hahnemann Monument (Washington); Statues: Ingalls, Garfield, Allen, Morton (in rotunda of capitol), Drake Monument (Titusville, Pennsylvania); Forest equestrian (Memphis, Tenn.); Trinity Historical Doors (New York City); Pediment Appellate Court (New York City); Louis IX, equestrian (St. Louis, Mo.) statues of McKinley, Lincoln and Farragut (Muskegon, Mich.); McKinley for tomb (Canton, Ohio); Harrison (Indianapolis, Ind.); Louis IX (St. Louis); pediment, Kentucky State Capitol. He married in New York City, Aug. 3, 1900, Regina Armstrong. Address: New Rochelle, N. Y.

NILES, James Buchanan:

Clergyman; born in Newark, N. J., 1856; son of Simon Nies and Antoinette F. Landano. He was graduated from Columbia, B.A., 1882, M.A., 1887, Ph.D., 1888, and from the General Theological Seminary, 1885. He was ordered deacon in 1885, and ordained priest in 1886, by Bishop Henry C. Potter. He was formerly in charge of Holy Trinity Chapel, New York City, 1885-1886; St. John's Church, Tuckahoe, N. Y., and St. John's Upper New Rochelle, N. Y., 1886-1887; vicar of Christ Chapel, Brooklyn, 1887-1892; rector of the Church of the Epiphany, Brooklyn, 1893-1898; Oriental traveler and explorer, 1898-1905; rector of Christ Church, Sharon, Conn., 1905-1907. He is a member of the American Oriental Society, American Association for the Advancement of Science, American Archaeological Institute, American Anthropological Society, American Numismatic Society, Columbia University Club, Society for Biblical Literature and Exegesis, the Deutsche Orientals Gesellschaft, Der Verein Zur Erforschung Palästinas, and the Palestine Exploration Fund of England. He married, Sept. 3, 1891, in Brooklyn, N. Y., Jeanie Dows Orr. Address: Hotel Margaret, Columbia Heights, Brooklyn, N. Y.

NILES, Henry Clay:

U. S. judge; born at Kosciusko, Miss., Oct. 21, 1850; son of Hon. Jason Niles, a prominent member of the Mississippi bar, and Harriet Niles. He was educated in the schools of Kosciusko, and studied law there, and was engaged in the private practice of law at Kosciusko from 1872, until appointed, in 1890, U. S. attorney for the Northern District of Mississippi. In 1892 he was appointed, by President Harrison, judge of the U. S. District Court for the Northern and Southern Districts of Mississippi. Judge Niles was a member of the House of Representatives of Mississippi in 1878, and again in 1886, and has always been a Republican in politics. Address: Kosciusko, Miss.

NILES, William Henry:

Lawyer; born in Oxford, N. H., Dec. 22, 1839; son of Samuel Wales and Eunice (Newell) Niles. He was educated in public schools and under private tuition, and three years at the Providence Conference Seminary, East Greenwich, R. I. He read law in the office of Caleb Blodgett, Jr. (afterward judge of the Superior Court of Massachusetts), and was admitted to the Massachusetts bar in March, 1870; since which time he has carried on a general law practice; and he is now head of the law firm of Niles, Stevens, Underwood and Mayo, at Lynn. He is also a director of the Manufacturers' National Bank of Lynn, and is counsel for several banks and for many of the large corporations in Lynn and vicinity. Mr. Niles was a member of the School Board of Lynn for four years; president of the Lynn Bar Association ten years; and is now and for the past seven years has been president of the Essex Bar Association. He married at Bristol, N. H., Sept. 19, 1865, Harriet A. Day, and they have three married daughters. Residence: 215 Ocean Street. Office: 333 Union Street, Lynn, Mass.

NILES, William Woodruff:

Bishop of New Hampshire; born at Hatley, Lower Canada, now Province of Quebec, May 24, 1832; son of Daniel Swit and Delia (Woodruff) Niles. He was graduated from Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., 1857, and from Berkeley Divinity School, 1861. He received from Trinity College the degree of D.D. and LL.D., also D.D. from Dartmouth College, and from Bishop's College, Lennoxville, Canada, the degree of D.C.L. in 1898. He was ordered deacon of the Episcopal Church by Bishop Williams in 1861 and the following year was ordained to the priesthood by Bishop Burgess, of Maine. He was rector of St. Philip's Church, Wiscasset, Me., for several years; was professor of the Latin language and literature at Trinity College, 1864-1870, and rector of St. John's Church at Ware-house Point, Conn., 1868-1870. In the latter year he became Bishop of New Hampshire, and was consecrated by Bishops B. B. Smith, Williams, Neely, Doane, and Bissell, together with J. W. Williams, Bishop of Quebec. He has written numerous addresses, sermons and pastorals, and articles in encyclopedias, and was one of the early editors of The Churchman. Bishop Niles was many years a member of the commission for Revising the Prayer Book, of the commission for revising the marginal Readings in the English Bible, and of the commission for Revising the Lectionary of the Church; also for many years a member of the Managers of the Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society of the Episcopal Church. He has been more than thirty years chairman of the Committee on Education in the General Convention of the Episcopal Church. He has long been president of the trustees of St. Paul's School at Concord, of Holderness School for Boys, and of St. Mary's School for Girls, and is the senior member of the Corporation of Trinity College. He married in Hartford, Conn., June 5, 1862, Bertha Olmsted. Address: Concord, N. H.

NIXON, George S.:

U. S. Senator; born in Placer County, Calif., April 2, 1860. He was educated in the public schools, worked on his father's farm until 19 years of age, when he entered the employ of a railroad company and studied telegraphy. In 1881 he was transferred to Nevada, where he served three years as a telegraph operator, and in 1884 accepted a clerical position in a bank at Reno. He is now largely interested in banking, mining, stock raising, and farming; served as a member of the Nevada Legislature as a Republican in 1891; was elected to the U. S. Senate, Jan. 25, 1905, to succeed Hon. William M. Stewart for the term beginning March 4, 1905. His term of service will expire March 3, 1911. Address: Winnemucca, Nev.

NIXON, Lewis:

Naval architect and shipbuilder; born at Leesburg, Va., April 7, 1861; son of Colonel Joel Lewis and Mary Jane (Turner) Nixon. He was educated at Leesburg Academy, and the United States Naval Academy, graduating No. 1 in the class of 1882 and then attending the Royal Naval College of London, England. After graduation as midshipman in 1882, he served in the line of the Navy until 1884, when he was transferred to the Construction Corps. He designed the battleships Oregon, Massachusetts and Indiana in 1890, then resigned from the Navy to become superintending constructor of Cramp's Shipyard at Philadelphia; opened the Crescent Shipyard in 1895, and built vessels for all departments of the Government of the United States, and for foreign governments. He is president of the Standard Motor Construction Company, director of the Donald Steamship Company, and sole owner of Lewis Nixon's shipyard; built eleven men-of-war for the United States Navy, sixteen vessels for the Russian Navy, two for the Mexican Navy, five vessels for Cuba and four for Santo Domingo, and for the United States and foreign countries has built every known type of vessels. He built the Gregory, the first motor boat to cross the ocean; and built the first submarine torpedo boats for the United States Navy. He has been presented to the King of England and received in special audience by Pope Pius X and the Czar Nicholas of Russia. He was president of the East River Bridge Commission by appointment of Mayor Van Wyck, of New York City, 1897; and leader of Tammany Hall, succeeding Richard Croker, in 1902; chairman of the Democratic Congressional Finance Committee, 1902 to 1903; commissioner from New York to the St. Louis World's Fair, by appointment of Governor Odell; member of the Board of Visitors to the U. S. Naval Academy, in 1903, by appointment of President Roosevelt; delegate to the National Democratic Conventions at Kansas City and St. Louis and was chairman of the Democratic State Convention, at Buffalo, in 1906. He is a member of the Tammany Society, is member of the Council and Executive Committee of the Institution of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers; of the Executive Committee of the Institution of Naval Architects, and a fellow of the American Geographical Society; member and trustee of Webb's Academy and Home for Shipbuilders. Mr. Nixon is a member of the Union, Brook, National Democratic, Lawyers', Seneca, Coney Island Jockey, New York Yacht, Atlantic Yacht, Columbia Yacht, Richmond County Country, and Westchester Country Clubs, the Automobile Club of America, Automobile Club of Staten Island, Staten Island Club and Motor Boat Club of New York City, the Rittenhouse Club of Philadelphia, and the Metropolitan and Army and Navy Clubs of Washington, D. C. He married at Washington, D. C., Jan. 29, 1891, Sally Lewis Wood, a direct descendant of the Colonial general, Andrew Lewis of Virginia, and they have one son. Address: Tompkinsville, Staten Island, N. Y.

NIXON, William Penn:

Journalist; born at Fountain City, Ind., March 19, 1833; son of Samuel and Rhoda Hubbard (Butler) Nixon. He was graduated from Farmer's College, Ohio, and the University of Pennsylvania, LL.B., 1859. He practised law after graduation, locating in Cincinnati and continuing in the law until 1868. He was president of the Cincinnati Mutual Life Insurance Company, 1866-1871. He began his newspaper career in 1868, when with his brother, Dr. Oliver W. Nixon, he established the Daily Cincinnati Chronicle, of which he was at first commercial editor and later publisher and general manager until 1872, when the paper was consolidated with the Cincinnati Times. He then sold his interest and removed to Chicago, where he became business manager of the Chicago Inter Ocean, until 1875, and after that for twenty-two years its general manager and editor-in-chief. He sold his controlling interest in 1897, but continued to be secretary and treasurer of the Inter Ocean Company. In politics Mr. Nixon has always been an active and influential Republican. He was a member of the Ohio Legislature, 1864-1867; was delegate-at-large from the State of Illinois to the National Republican Convention at St. Louis in 1896; was appointed a Lincoln Park Commissioner in 1896, and president of the board in 1897; appointed collector of the port of Chicago in 1897, and re-appointed in 1901, serving until 1906. Mr. Nixon has been twice married, first at Cincinnati, in 1861, to Mary, daughter of Hezekiah and Ruth (Ferris) Stites, who died in 1862; and in 1869, he married Elizabeth, daughter of Charles and Sarah E. Duffield, of Chicago. Address: 743 North Clark Street, Chicago.

NOBLE, John:

Lawyer; born in Dover, N. H., April 14, 1829; son of Mark and Mary Carr (Copp) Noble; grandson of John and Sarah (Chadbourne) Noble and of George W. and Sarah (Palmer) Copp and a descendant of Lazarus Noble, Portsmouth, N. H., before 1680; William Chadbourne, Strawberry Bank, N. H., 1631; William Copp, Boston, 1635. Mr. Noble was brought up in the town of Somersworth, N. H.; was educated in Phillips Academy, Exeter, N. H., and Harvard, A.B., 1850, LL.B., 1858, and received the honorary degree of LL.D. from Dartmouth in 1902. He was sub-master of the Boston Latin School, 1850-1856; tutor in Greek, Harvard College, 1858; lawyer in active practice, 1858-1875; clerk of the Superior Judicial Court of Massachusetts, 1875-1906. He was elected an overseer of Howard University in 1898, and re-elected in 1904. Mr. Noble is a member of the Colonial Society of Massachusetts; Massachusetts Historical Society, Bostonian Society, New England Historic Genealogical Society, American Antiquarian Society, American Historical Association, Bunker Hill Monument Association, American Forestry Association. He married, June 11, 1873, Katherine Williams, daughter of William and Catherine (Williams) Sheldon of Deerfield, Mass., and they have two children. Address: Court House, Boston.

NOEL, Edmund Favor:

Governor of Mississippi; born in Holmes County, Miss., March 4, 1856; son of Le-land and Margaret (Saunders) Noel. He was educated in the public schools of Holmes County, Miss., and Louisville (Ky.) High School; studied law in Louisville, Ky., under his uncle, and was admitted to the bar at Lexington, Miss., in March, 1877. He practised law in that city, 1877-1908, in which year he was elected and inaugurated as governor of Mississippi. Previous to that he had been active politically and he was elected representative in the Legislature in 1881, district attorney, in 1887, and State senator in 1895. As a Legislator, he was author of the Compulsory Primary Election Law and other important reform measures. He is a thirty-second degree Mason, and a Woodman of the World. He married at Pickens, Miss., Sept. 12, 1905, Mrs. Alice Tye Neilson. Address: Jackson, Miss.

NOLEN, John:

Landscape architect, city planner, and lecturer; born in Philadelphia, in 1869; son of John C. and Matilda (Thomas) Nolen. He was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania, Ph.B., 1893; studied in the University of Munich, 1901-1902; and Harvard, 1903-1905, receiving the degree of A.M. He was landscape architect for Charlotte, N. C.; Savannah, Ga.; Roanoke, Va.; Madison, Wis.; La Crosse, Wis.; San Diego, Calif.; Montclair, N. J.; Glen Ridge, N. J., and Reading, Pa. Now chiefly occupied in the preparation of comprehensive town and city plans. He is a lecturer on Out-Door Art, Civic Improvement, and City Planning. Author of magazine articles and editor of Repton's "Art of Landscape Gardening." Mr. Nolen is a member of the American Society of Landscape Architects. He has made frequent trips to England, France, Germany, Switzerland, and Italy. He married in Philadelphia, in 1896, Barbara Shatte, and has three children, John, Barbara and Edward. Residence: 6 Avon Place. Office: Harvard Square, Cambridge, Mass.

NOLL, Arthur Howard:

Clergyman, author and University official; born in Caldwell, N. J., Feb. 4, 1855; son of Arthur B. Noll and Mary (Hamilton) Noll. Mr. Noll was educated in his father's schools and was admitted to the New Jersey bar, practising in Newark, N. J., until 1882. He engaged in rail-roading in Mexico and was cashier of the Mexican Central Railway in the City of Mexico, but resigned in 1885 and prepared for the ministry of the Episcopal Church at the University of the South. He was ordained priest in 1888, and held several parishes in Texas, Mississippi, Louisiana and Tennessee until 1902, when he became registrar of The University of the South. He is also a popular lecturer on anthropology, delivering series of lectures on primitive survivals in modern life and the origins of society. He is a member of the American Historical Association, of the Mississippi and Tennessee Historical Societies and is corresponding member of the New Jersey Historical Society, member of the New Jersey Society of Sons of the American Revolution, and of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity. He is the author of historical and other works, among them: A Short History of Mexico, 1890, revised and extended edition, 1903; History of the Church in the Diocese of Tennessee, 1900; From Empire to Republic. Story of the Struggle for Constitutional Government in Mexico, 1903; The Peruvians, 1907; General Kirby-Smith, 1908. He edited and extended Bishop Quintard's Memoirs of the War; Wilson Gregg's Life of Bishop Gregg (in preparation); Memorabilia Fragmenta of Dr. Thomas Dunn English, author of Ben Bolt (in preparation); The Little Giant and other wonder tales by Thomas Dunn English, and in addition has written many book reviews, monographs, and other publications on various subjects, religious, scientific and literary; and he is the managing editor of the Forensic Quarterly. Mr. Noll married at Newark, N. J., Oct. 26, 1887, Florence, daughter of Dr. Thomas Dunn English, a well known writer. Residence: Sewanee, Tenn.

NOLLEN, John Scholte:

President of Lake Forest College; born in Pella, Iowa, Jan. 15, 1869; son of John Nollen and Johanna (Scholte) Nollen. He was graduated from the Central College of Iowa as A.B. in 1885, and from the State University of Iowa in 1888; did graduate work in the Universities of Zürich, Leipzig, Berlin and Paris, and received the degree of Ph.D. from the University of Leipzig in 1893. He was an instructor in the Central College of Iowa, 1885-1887; tutor at Cham, Switzerland, 1888-1890; professor of modern languages in Iowa College, 1893-1903; professor of German in Indiana University, 1903-1907, and from 1907 president of Lake Forest College. He is editor and author of various text-books and monographs on German literature and education, contributor to literary and philological journals and while abroad wrote foreign correspondence for the Boston Evening Transcript. President Nollen is a member of the Modern Language Association, the Bibliographical Society of America, the Goethe-Gesellschaft, Schwäbischer Schillerverein, Deutsche Bibliographische Gesellschaft, the American Peace Society, and the Phi Beta Kappa Society. Dr. Nollen is a member of the University Club of Chicago, and the Onwentsia Club of Lake Forest. He married at Barrington, R. I., Sept. 11, 1906, Emeline Barstow Bartlett. Address: Lake Forest, Ill.

NORRIS, Edwin L.:

Governor of Montana; elected in November, 1908, on the Democratic ticket, governor of Montana for the four-year term expiring in January, 1913. Address: Helena, Mont.

NORRIS, Frederic William:

Clergyman; born at Bradford, England, 1862; son of William and Mary Elkins Norris. He was graduated from St. Stephen's College, B.A., 1888; ordered deacon, 1890, and ordained priest, 1891, by Bishop A. Leonard, in the Episcopal ministry. He was formerly assistant at St. Mark's Cathedral, Salt Lake City, Utah, 1890-1891, in charge of same, 1891-1894; student at Oxford University, England, 1894-1895; rector of Trinity Church, South Norwalk, Conn., 1895-1900; rector of St. Matthew's Church, Brooklyn, since 1900. He married Mary E. Cherry in 1890. Address: 180 Macon Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

NORRIS, George William:

Congressman and lawyer; born on a farm in Sandusky County, Ohio, July 11, 1861, and his early life was spent on the farm where he was born. His father died when he was a small child; his only brother was killed in the war of the rebellion, and his mother was left in straitened circumstances; was compelled to work out among the neighboring farmers by the day and month during the summer, and attended district school during the winter; afterwards taught school and earned the money to defray expenses for a higher education; attended Baldwin University, Berea, Ohio, and the Northern Indiana Normal School, Valparaiso; studied law while teaching, and afterwards finished the law course in law school. He was admitted to the bar in 1883; removed to Nebraska in 1885; was three times prosecuting attorney, twice by appointment and once by election, refusing a second nomination for the position; was elected district judge of the Fourteenth District in 1895, and reelected to the same position in 1899, which position he held when he was nominated for Congress by the Republican convention. He was elected to the Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth and the Sixtieth Congresses from the Fifth Nebraska District, and reelected in 1908 to the Sixty-first Congress. Address: McCook, Neb.

NORRIS, Henry Hutchinson:

Professor of electrical engineering; born in Philadelphia, April 26, 1873; son of Samuel W. and Mary R. (Hutchinson) Norris. He was educated in Johns Hopkins and Cornell Universities, receiving the degree of M.E. from the latter institution in 1896, with election to Sigma Xi a year later. After successful practice of electrical engineering in shop and laboratory work, he became an instructor in Cornell University in 1896, was appointed an assistant professor in 1900, and professor of electrical engineering in 1905; and head of the department in 1909. He was superintendent of the Electrical Railway Test Commission at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, at St. Louis, in 1904, and was a member of the International Jury of Award of that exposition. He is a member (manager, 1909-1912) of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers; member and secretary of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education; member and chairman of the Educational Committee of the American Street and Interurban Railway Association; director of the Cornell Cosmopolitan Club, and member of the Town and Gown Club of Ithaca, N. Y. He was married to Annie T. Ruse at Baltimore, Md., Dec. 24, 1899, and has two daughters. Residence: 103 College Avenue. Office: Franklin Hall, Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y.

NORRIS, Mary Harriott:

Author; born in Boonton, N. J., March 16, 1848; daughter of Charles Bryan and Mary L. (Kerr) Norris; and she is of Colonial ancestry from Thomas Hardy, 1651-1676, of Captain Crowell's Dragoons, killed in the Sudbury fight, 1676, and who was a resident of Roxbury, Mass.; from Sergeant John Booth of Stratford, Conn., 1653-1728, who served under Captain Seeley, King Philip's War, deputy, 1696; from Lieutenant James Trowbridge, 1636-1717, of Newton, Mass., lieutenant in King Philip's, 1675, deputy from Cambridge, 1700-1703; from Major-General Humphrey Atherton, 1610-1661, of Dorchester, Mass., deputy, 1638, et seq., speaker, 1653, governors' assistant, 1654-1661. Miss Norris, through Richard Booth of Hartford, Conn. (born in Chester, England, 1607), comes of a distinguished ancestry in England, Scotland and Ireland; she is also descended from Richard Stout, one of the original patentees of a tract extending from Sandy Hook to Raritan; also from Captain James Kent of New Jersey, captain in Maxwell's Brigade, Revolutionary Army. Miss Norris was graduated from Vassar College, 1870, with the highest honor granted by the Faculty. She was founder and principal of a private school in New York, 1880-1896, and dean of women, Northwestern University, 1898-1899. Miss Norris is author of: Fräulein Mina, 1872; Ben and Bentie Series, 1873-1876; Dorothy Delafield, 1886; A Damsel of the Eighteenth Century, 1889; Phebe, 1890; Afterward, 1893; The Nine Blessings, 1894; John Applegate, Surgeon, 1894; Lakewood, 1895; The Gray House of the Quarries, 1898; The Grapes of Wrath, 1901; The Story of Christina, 1907; The Veil, 1908. She is also editor of editions of English classics, including Silas Marner, Marmion, Evangeline, Kenilworth, and Quentin Durward, and is a contributor to magazines. Address: Colbath House, Morristown, N. J.

NORRIS, William:

Actor; born in New York City, June 15, 1872; son of Elias Black and Harriet Maye. He received his education in the Boys' High School, San Francisco. His first important success was "Baverstock" in His Excellency the Governor, followed by "Adonis the Jester" in the Palace of the King, The Burgomaster; King Dodo; "Pinchas" in Children of the Ghetto; originating all these parts; then "Pepe the Jester" in Francesca Da Rimini, "Barry" in A Country Girl, "Chambuddy Ram" in The Cingalee, "Alan" in Babes of Toyland, "Benjamin Partridge" in Tom Jones, "Mephisto" in The Soul Kiss, and "Augustus" in Fluffy Ruffles; and for the season 1909-1910, the leading comedy role in The King of Cadonia. He is a Mason, and a member of the Players and Lambs Clubs. Address: 16 Gramercy Park, New York City.

NORRIS, Zoe Anderson:

Writer; born in Harrodsburg, Ky.; daughter of Henry T. and Henrietta (Ducker) Anderson. She was graduated from Daughters' College, Harrodsburg, Ky. She married in Harrodsburg, Ky., S. W. Norris. She is author of: The Color of His Soul, The Quest of Polly Locke, Twelve Kentucky Colonel Stories, copied from the New York Sun; also a writer of short stories for the Smart Set, The Woman's Home Companion, Munsey, Everybody's, Ainslie's, People's, The Bohemian, Argosy, The Sunday Magazine and Current Literature, her specialty being on The East Side and the Slums of New York City. Mrs. Norris is also a writer for the New York Sun, New York Herald, The New York Press, The Globe, The Times, and other newspapers. She has lived in West Kansas, and Colorado; has traveled nearly all over the United States; lived abroad for several years; now resident of New York City. She is a member of the Woman's Press Club, Waldorf Astoria. Address: The New York Sun, New York City.

NORTH, Frank Mason:

Clergyman; born in New York City, Dec. 3, 1850; son of Charles Carter North and Eliabeth (Mason) North. He was graduated from Wesleyan University, A.B. (Phi Beta Kappa), 1872, later receiving the degrees of A.M. and D.D. He was a member of the New York Conference, 1873-1887, and since then of the New York East Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Dr. North filled pastorates at Florida, N. Y., 1873; Amenia, N. Y., 1874-1876; Cold Spring, 1877-1878; Church of the Saviour, New York City, 1879-1881; White Plains, N. Y., 1882-1883; Calvary Church, New York City, 1884-1887, Middletown, Conn., 1887-1892; since 1892 corresponding secretary of the New York City Church Extension and Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He is also editor of The Christian City. He is corresponding secretary of the National City Evangelization Union; a manager of the Board of Foreign Missions and of the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension of the Methodist Episcopal Church; delegate to the Ecumenical Methodist Conference, London, 1902, and to the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1908; vice-chairman of the Executive Committee and chairman of secretaries of the Inter-Church Conference on Federation, 1905; member of the Inter-Church Council; chairman of the Committee on the Church and Modern Industry, Philadelphia, 1908; chairman of the Standing Commission on the Church and Social Service of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America; member of the Executive Committee of the National Federation of Churches and Christian Workers, and of the Methodist Federation for Social Service; trustee of Wesleyan University and of Drew Theological Seminary; member of the Advisory Board of the Home for the Friendless, St. Christopher's Home, Industrial Christian Alliance; director Christodora House, Evangelistic Committee of New York City; American Bible Society, New York Federation of Churches and Christian Organizations, The Society for the Prevention of Crime, the Ethical-Social League. Dr. North is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society of New York, the Sigma Chi fraternity and the Quill Club of New York City. He married, first, in Philadelphia, Fannie L. Stewart, who died in 1878, and second, at Wellesley, Mass., 1885, Louise J. McCoy, and he has two sons. Residence: 121 West 122d Street, New York City. Office: 150 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

NORTHROP, Cyrus:

President of the University of Minnesota; born at Ridgefield, Conn., Sept. 30, 1834; youngest child of Cyrus and Polly B. (Fancher) Northrop. He was graduated from Yale, B.A., LL.B., and LL.D. He was clerk of the Senate and House of Representatives of Connecticut, 1860-1862; editor of New Haven Daily Palladium, 1862-1863; professor of rhetoric and English literature in Yale College, 1863-1884; and since 1884 has been president of the University of Minnesota. He is a member of the Congregational Club. Mr. Northrop married, in 1862, Anna Eliabeth, daughter of Joseph D. Warren of Stamford, Conn., and they have one son and one daughter. Address: Minneapolis, Minn.

NORTHROP, Harry Pinckney:

Catholic bishop; born in Charleston, S. C., May 5, 1842; son of C. B. and Hannah E. (Anderson) Northrop. He was educated in Georgetown (D. C.) College, and in Mt. St.

Mary's College and Seminary in Emmitsburg, Md., whence he went to the North American College in Rome, and was ordained priest, 1865. He was assistant in the Church of the Nativity in New York City for a year after ordination, then for two years assistant pastor of St. Joseph's Church in Charleston, S. C., and for four years missionary priest in North Carolina, located at Newbern, N. C., was assistant pastor of the procathedral, pastor of St. Patrick's, Charleston, 1878-1882, and he was consecrated Jan. 8, 1882, titular bishop of Rosalia, and made vicar apostolic of North Carolina, from which duties he was, by papal brief transferred, Jan. 27, 1883 to the see of Charleston. Address: Charleston, S. C.

NORTON, Charles Ledyard:

Soldier, author, journalist; born in Farmington, Conn., June 11, 1837; son of John Treadwell and Elizabeth (Cogswell) Norton. He was educated in public and private schools in Farmington, Conn. and Albany, N. Y.; was graduated from Yale College, 1859. He was colonel, U. S. Volunteers, Civil War (78th U. S. Colored Infantry). He is a member of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, and of the University, and Authors Clubs. He married first in Farmington, Conn., Sept. 1, 1863, Electa Melanie Richards (deceased), and second, in Brooklyn, N. Y., 1903, A. E. Phillips, and has one daughter. Address: Sandwich, Mass.

NORTON, Eliot:

Lawyer; born in Cambridge, Mass., July 1, 1863; son of Charles Eliot and Susan Ridley (Sedgwick) Norton. He was educated in private schools and public schools; graduated from Harvard University, B.A., in 1885, A.M., 1888, and from Harvard Law School, LL.B., 1888. He was admitted to the bar in 1889; since then has been engaged in the practice of law in New York City. He is a member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York; cavalier of the Order of Saints Maurizio and Lazzare; and member of the University, Grolier and Lawyers' Clubs. He married at Oyster Bay, L. I., Sept., 1891, Margaret Palmer Meyer, and they have one son. Address: 2 Rector Street, New York City.

NORTON, George W.:

Editor Evening Express; born in Strong, Me., Aug. 25, 1855; son of Jeremiah Rice Norton and Amanda F. (Stevens) Norton. He was graduated from Farmington Normal School, 1876; given honorary A.M. by Colby College, 1908. He studied law, after graduating, with the Hon. Hannibal Belcher of Farmington. He taught school for several years; was principal at Bridgton from 1878-1883, and at Westbrook, 1883-1888; went into the newspaper business as reporter for the Express in 1888, and was made editor in 1892, and has remained such since that time. Mr. Norton was delegate-at-large from Maine to the Republican National Convention in 1900; is a member of the Masons, Royal Arch Chapter, Knight of Pythias, Sons of the American Revolution, the Maine Society of Mayflower Descendants, Portland Country Club, and the Portland Club. He married in Portland, Me., Dec. 22, 1894, Hattie L. Conant of Westbrook, Me. Residence: 172 Neal Street, Portland. Office: 13 Monument Square, Portland, Me.

NORTON, John Pease:

Professor of political economy; born in Suffield, Conn., July 28, 1878; son of John Hughes Norton and Annie Lord (Lombard) Norton. He attended the West Middle School, Hartford, Conn., 1891, Los Angeles High School, 1895, graduated from Yale College as A.B. in 1899, and Yale University as Ph.D. in 1901. He was instructor in political economy from 1901 to 1904; assistant professor of political economy and railroads since 1905, actuary for Fisk and Robinson, since 1904; secretary of the Department of Economic Institutions, of the International Congress of Arts and Sciences, St. Louis, 1904; secretary of Section I of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, 1906; chairman of the Committee on Publicity and member of the executive committee of One Hundred for Establishing the National Department of Health, 1906. Mr. Norton is author of:

Statistical Studies in the New York Money Market, 1901 (Macmillan); Theory of Loan Credit in Relation to Corporation Economics, American Economical Association, 1902, Economic Advisability of Establishing a National Department of Health, Depreciation of Gold, Yale Review, 1906. He is a member of the American Economic Association, Sociological Society of Great Britain, American Association for the Advancement of Science, Connecticut Civil Service Reform Association, National Civil Service Reform Association, American Forestry Association, National Geographical Society, National Municipal League, American Political Science Association, and is also a member of the Graduates', New Haven, Yale, and Lawyers' Clubs of New York City. Residence: 551 Orange Street, New Haven, Conn. Address: Fisk and Robinson, 35 Cedar Street, New York City.

NORTON, Thomas Herbert:

Consul, chemist and university professor: born at Rushford, N. Y., June 30, 1851; son of Rev. Robert and Julia (Horsford) Norton. He was graduated from Hamilton College, A.B. (valedictorian), 1873; pursued graduate studies at the Universities of Berlin, Paris and Heidelberg, Ph.D., 1875; also received the degree of Sc.D. honoris causa, from Hamilton College in 1895. Dr. Norton was the manager of extensive chemical works at Paris, France, 1878-1883; returned to the United States and took the chair of chemistry at the University of Cincinnati, which he held until 1900. He was appointed by President McKinley in May, 1900, to establish the new American Consulate at Harput, Turkey, and remained there until 1905, when he was transferred to Smyrna, and was consul at the latter place until 1906, when he was appointed to his present position as consul of the United States to Chemnitz, Saxony. Dr. Norton is a chemist of much distinction, who has gained for himself prominence in the scientific world by his original researches into the chemistry of the rarer metals, making important discoveries as to their special properties and preparation, and also has written various papers and articles on these subjects, and upon researches in organic and technical chemistry. He is a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science; was secretary of the Chemical Section, 1891, member of the council, 1892, general secretary in 1893, vice-president in 1894, and librarian of the Association in 1897. He is also a member and was a councillor from 1892 to 1898 of the American Chemical Society, a member of the Society for Chemical Industry, fellow of the London Chemical Society, member of the Deutsche Chemische Gesellschaft, the Russian Chemical Society, and of the Société chimique de Paris. He was also trustee and secretary of the Lane Theological Seminary, 1895-1900, trustee of the Miami Medical College, of Cincinnati, 1893-1900, of the Laura Memorial Medical College, 1894-1900, and trustee and secretary of the Presbyterian Hospital, 1894-1900. He is a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, and the Phi Beta Kappa Society, and various American patriotic and hereditary societies. Dr. Norton married at Lockport, N. Y., Dec. 27, 1883, Edith Eliza Ames, and they have one son. Address: American Consulate, Chemnitz, Saxony, Germany.

NORTON, William E.:

Artist; born in Boston, June 28, 1843; son of Daniel and Mary (Carr) Norton. He began art study at Lowell Institute, and with George Inness of Boston. He studied in Paris under Jaquesson de la Chevreuse and A. Vollon, and at the École des Beaux Arts. He was awarded three gold medals in America; honorable mention, Paris Salon, 1895; Osborne prize in 1905; and again in 1906 at New York. He was apprenticed to a house, sign and decorative painter; afterwards went to sea as a sailor; and at the age of twenty-two he began his career as an artist in Boston; made two more voyages as a sailor; went to Europe for study in 1877, and returned in 1902. He is honorary member of the Gilbert-Garret Sketching Club, and the Blackheath Art Club; and member of the Boston Art Club, and of the Salmagundi Club of New York. For many years a regular exhibitor at the principal galleries in Europe and America. Mr. Norton married in New Brunswick, 1868, Sarah D. Ryan, died in 1904, and he has two daughters: Gertrude Maude and Florence Edith. Address: 1931 Broadway, New York City.

NOSTRAND, Peter Elbert:

Consulting engineer, city surveyor; born at Brooklyn, N. Y., June 15, 1856; son of John L. and Ellen (De Bevoise) Nostrand. He was graduated from the Brooklyn Polytechnic, B.S., 1875. He was assistant engineer and, in part, designed and supervised the construction of first elevated railroad in Brooklyn; was supervising engineer of the work done in 1880, and commenced the construction of the Cape Cod Ship Canal, Mass., made extensive examinations of mining properties in Mexico for foreign capital; was chief engineer of the contractors, J. T. and T. E. Crimmins, during the construction of the Broadway and Third Avenue cable railroads in New York City; and since 1890, chief engineer of the Ramapo Water Company; as consulting engineer and city surveyor he has advised regarding the foundations and proper form of construction, or has located many of the largest buildings in New York City, among which are the Columbia college buildings and the Cathedral of St. John the Divine; trustee of the Bushwick Savings Bank, Brooklyn; member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, and the University Club. Mr. Nostrand married in Brooklyn, Dec. 27, 1881, Ella Frances Arcularius, and they have two children. Residence: 235 Stuyvesant Avenue, Brooklyn, and West Neck Park, Shelter Island, N. Y. Address: 149 Broadway, New York City.

NOXON, Frank Wright:

Journalist; born in Syracuse, N. Y., March 25, 1873; son of the late Judge James N. and Sarah M. (Wright) Noxon. He was graduated from Syracuse High School, 1890, and attended Syracuse University, 1890-1891, and Harvard, 1893-1894. He was a reporter for the Syracuse Herald, 1892-1893; dramatic critic, Boston Record, 1893-1900; managing editor for the Providence News, 1900, Boston Republic, 1902-1903, Boston Trader, 1903-1905, secretary to Henry M. Whitney, 1905; editorial writer to the Boston Herald since 1906. He is a contributor to the Congregationalist, Philistine, and Smart Set; critic to the World's Work, and Printing Art; course lecturer to the Boston Public High School of Commerce, on "Choosing a Business," 1901, and identified with movement for industrial and commercial education. Mr. Noxon married in Boston, Mass., June 18, 1895, Georgie Elizabeth Mitchell, and they have two children. Residence: 17 Sacramento Street, Cambridge, Mass. Business address: Boston Herald, Boston.

NOYES, Arthur Amos:

Chemist, educator; born in Newburyport, Mass., Sept. 13, 1866; son of Amos and Anna Page (Andrews) Noyes. He was educated in the Newburyport, High School and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, S.B., 1886, S.M., 1887; and at the University of Leipzig, Ph.D., 1890. He has been connected with the Massachusetts Institute of Technology since 1887, successively holding the positions of: assistant in analytical chemistry, 1887-1888; instructor in same, 1890-1892; assistant professor in organic chemistry, 1890-1894; associate professor, 1897-1899; professor of theoretical chemistry, 1899-1907; director of the Research Laboratory of Physical Chemistry, 1903-1907; acting president of the Institute, July, 1907, to June, 1909. He is a member of the National Academy of Sciences, and American Academy of Arts and Sciences; was president of the American Society in 1904. He is author of: Qualitative Chemical Analysis; Class Reactions and Identification of Organic Compounds; General Principles of Physical Science; and numerous chemical and educational papers. Address: Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston, Mass.

NOYES, Carleton Eldredge:

Author; born in Boston, Oct. 1, 1872; son of Increase E. and Henrietta (Atwood) Noyes. He was graduated from Harvard College, A.B., 1895, A.M., 1896, Berlin University, and Sorbonne, Paris. He was assistant in English, at Harvard University, 1896-1897, instructor in English, 1899-1904, at the Chautauqua Summer School, 1901; lecturer to the American Society for Extensive University Teaching, 1904-1906. He was the editor of Coleridge's Ancient Mariner (Globe School Book Company, N. Y.) 1900, and is author of: The Enjoyment of Art (Houghton-Mifflin and Company), 1903, The Gate of Appreciation, 1907. Mr. Noyes is trustee and vice-president of the North End Savings Bank, Boston, member of the Boston Authors Club, St. Botolph Club of Boston, and the Harvard Club of New York. He married in June, 1907, Mary Charlotte Metcalfe, of Toronto, Canada. Address: 30 Francis Avenue, Cambridge, Mass.

NOYES, Charles S.:

Lawyer; born in Brooklyn, Nov. 8, 1858; son of Charles H. Noyes and Jane R. (Dana) Noyes. He attended Adelphi Academy, Brooklyn, Montclair High School, and was graduated from Amherst College, B.A., and from Columbia Law School, LL.B. Mr. Noyes engaged in the practice of law, was connected with much important Queens County litigation, and counsel for property owners in the case of Summerfield against Norton, tried in the Supreme Court of Queens County in 1906, involving titles to a large part of Rockaway Beach. Mr. Noyes is a member of the Delta Upsilon fraternity, Phi Beta Kappa Society, and the Congregational Club of New York. He married at Montclair, N. J., April 14, 1892, Ella E. Shafer, and they have one son. Residence: 249 West 104th Street. Office: 198 Broadway, New York City.

NOYES, Frank Brett:

Editor; born in Washington, D. C., July 7, 1863; son of Crosby S. Noyes, one of the founders of the Washington Star, and of Elizabeth S. (Williams) Noyes. He was educated in high school and in the Preparatory Department of Columbia University. He entered the office of the Washington Star, in 1881, and continued as its manager until 1901, and in 1902 he became editor-in-chief of the Chicago Record-Herald, in which position he continues. He has also, since 1900, been president of the Associated Press, and he has been a member of its Executive Committee since 1894. He has by natural abilities and a lifelong training taken a foremost place as a newspaper manager. He is a member of the Chicago, City and Chicago Golf Clubs of Chicago, and the Chevy Chase Club of Washington. Mr. Noyes married in Washington, D. C., September 17, 1888, Janet Thurston Newbold. Address: The Record-Herald, Chicago.

NOYES, Walter Chadwick:

U. S. Circuit judge; born in Lyme, Conn., Aug. 8, 1865; son of Richard and Catherine (Chadwick) Noyes. He was educated in Cornell University and was for years engaged in practice of law at New London, Conn., and for twelve years judge of the Court of Common Pleas of that State, until appointed by President Roosevelt in September, 1907, as judge of the United States Circuit Court for the Second Judicial Circuit, to succeed the late Judge William K. Townsend. Judge Noyes is an eminent authority on corporation law, author of: The Law of Intercorporate Relations, and of American Railroad Rates. From 1904 until his appointment as circuit judge was president of the New London, Northern Railroad Company. He married in New London, Conn., Oct. 22, 1895, Luella Shapley Armstrong. Address: New London, Conn.

NOYES, William Albert:

Professor of chemistry; born in Independence, Iowa, Nov. 6, 1857; son of Spencer W. and Mary (Packard) Noyes. He received the degree of A.B. and B.S. from Iowa College, 1879, Ph.D. from Johns Hopkins University, 1882; student in the University of Munich, 1889; received LL.D. from Clark University in 1909. He was instructor in chemistry at the University of Minnesota, 1882-1883, professor of chemistry, University of Tennessee, Knoxville, 1883-1886, professor of chemistry, Rose Polytechnic Institute, Terre Haute, 1886-1903, chief chemist, Bureau of Standards, 1903-1907, and professor of chemistry and head of the Department of Chemistry, University of Illinois, since 1907. Professor Noyes received the

H. C. P. Weber the Nichol's medal of the New York section of the American Chemical Society, for a paper on the Atomic Weight of Chlorine in 1907. He has been editor of the Journal of the American Chemical Society since 1902, and is author of: Qualitative Analysis, Organic Chemistry for the Laboratory, Text Book of Organic Chemistry, Lehrbuch der organischen Chemie, and a considerable number of scientific papers. He married in Harlan, Iowa, Dec. 24, 1884, Flora E. Collier, and of that union there are three children, married second, Minneapolis, Minn., June 18, 1902, Mattie Elwell Noyes, and of that marriage there is one child. Residence: 1005 Nevada Street, Urbana. Business address: University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill.

NUELSEN, John Louis:

Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church; born in Zürich, Switzerland, Jan. 19, 1867; son of Henry and Rosalie (Miller) Nuelsen. He was educated in gymnasium at Karlsruhe and Bremen, Germany; came to the United States in 1886; attended Drew Theological Seminary, Madison, N. J., B.D., 1890, and the Universities of Berlin and Halle; and he has received the degrees of A.M. from Central Wesleyan College, Warrenton, Mo., and D.D. from the University of Denver, 1903. He was ordained in the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1890, and after a short pastorate in Sedalia, Mo., became professor of ancient languages in St. Paul's College, Minn., 1890-1892, professor of Biblical languages in Central Wesleyan College, 1894-1899; professor of exegetical theology in the Nast Theological Seminary at Berea, Ohio, 1899-1908, until elected by the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Baltimore, 1908, to the office of bishop. Bishop Nuelsen was, from 1897, editor of Die Deutsch-Amerikanische Zeitschrift für Theologie und Kirche; also a contributor to the Realencyklopädie für Theologie und Kirche, Leipzig; and American correspondent of Theologischer Literatur Bericht, Germany. He is author of: Die Bedeutung des Evangeliums Johannes; Das Leben Jesu im Wortlaut der vier Evangelien; John Wes- ley's Ausgewählte Predigten; Luther, the Leader; Kurzgefasste Geschichte des Methodismus; Recent Phases of German Theology, etc. Bishop Nuelsen is a trustee of the Nebraska Wesleyan University and the Drew Theological Seminary. He married in Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1896, Luella Strocter, and they have three sons. Address: Omaha, Neb.

NYCE, Benjamin Markley:

President of Talladega College; born in Cleveland, Ohio, Dec. 5, 1869; son of Rev. B. M. and Melissa (Hamilton) Nyce. He attended Cleveland High School, Oberlin College, and Princeton University, from which he was graduated as A.B. in 1891, Berlin University, and McCormick Theological Seminary. He was pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Warsaw, Ind., 1894-1895, Lockport, N. Y., 1896-1904; and since 1904 he has been president of Talladega College. Mr. Nyce married in Shelbyville, Ind., Dec. 27, 1894, Ursula Strong, and they have two children. Address: Talladega, Ala.

NYE, George Hyatt:

Manufacturer, banker; born at Auburn, N. Y., Dec. 2, 1854; son of Lorenzo Ward and Caroline E. (Beardsley) Nye. He was educated at academies at Burlington, N. J., Aurora, N. Y., and at Phillips Academy, Exeter, N. H. He is president of the Nye and Wait Carpet Company; vice-president and treasurer of the American Axminster Industry; president of the Cayuga County National Bank; trustee of the Auburn Savings Bank, and interested in many other corporations. He was for many years active in politics as a Democrat of the Tilden and Cleveland School. He married in New York City, 1881, Mollie A. Wilson. Residence: Auburn, N. Y.

O

OAKMAN, Walter George:

Capitalist; born in Philadelphia, May 10, 1845; son of John and Harriet Sykes (Campbell) Oakman. He was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania, A.M., 1864, and afterward engaged in banking business in New York City. He is now the president and director of the Hudson Companies, Hudson Improvement Company, Interboro-Metropolitan Company, New Jersey Terminal Dock and Improvement Company; chairman of the Board of Directors of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York; vice-president and director of the Hudson and Manhattan Railroad Company, Jefferson and Clearfield Coal and Iron Company, Rapid Transit Subway Construction Company, Subway Realty Company; director of the Alabama Great Southern Railroad Company, American Car and Foundry Company, Brooklyn Heights Railroad Company, Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh Railway Company, Fairmont Coal Company, Hudson Street Railroad Company, Interborough Rapid Transit Company, Kings County and Fulton Elevated Railroad Company, Long Island Consolidated Electrical Companies, Long Island Railroad Company, Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company, Morristown Trust Company, Morton Trust Company, Mutual Trust Company of Westchester County, National Bank of Commerce, New York & New Jersey Railroad Company, New York & Queens County Railway, New York City Interborough Railway Company, Reynoldsville & Falls Creek Railroad, Richmond Light and Railroad Company, Rogers Locomotive Works, Sloss-Sheffield Steel and Iron Company, and Somerset Coal Company. He is a member of the Union, Riding, Turf and Field, Automobile of America, Midway, Garden City Golf, University, Metropolitan, Century and Down town Clubs of New York City. He married Eliza C., daughter of Hon. Roscoe Conkling, U. S. senator from New York; and they have one son, Walter G., Jr. Residence: 512 Fifth Avenue. Address: 62 Cedar Street, New York City.

OATMAN, Edward Le Roy:

Ophthalmic surgeon; born in Southbury, Conn., July 4, 1853; son of George B. Oatman and Francis (Canfield) Oatman. He was graduated from Bellevue Hospital Medical College, 1879. He engaged in practice in Brooklyn, N. Y., where he makes a specialty of ophthalmic surgery. Dr. Oatman is a member of the New York Academy of Medicine, American Medical Association, Kings County Medical Society, surgeon and director of the Manhattan Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital; pathologist to the Brooklyn Eye and Ear Hospital; also a member of the Rembrandt Society, and the Hamilton Club. He married in Brooklyn, Dec. 2, 1885, Jean F. Hinman, and they have one child. Address: 82 Remsen Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

OVERLY, Henry Harrison:

Clergyman; born at Easton, Pa.; son of Benjamin and Ann Elizabeth (Yard) Overly. He was graduated from Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., B.A., 1865, M.A., 1868, D.D., 1899, and studied in the Berkeley Divinity School Middletown, Conn. He was curate of the Church of the Nativity, South Bethlehem, Pa., 1867; of Trinity Church, New York, 1868-1869; rector of Holy Cross Church, Warrensburgh, N. Y., 1869-1873; Grace Church, Cherry Valley, N. Y., 1873-1874; of Trinity Church, West Troy, N. Y., 1874-1879, and of Christ Church, Elizabeth, N. J., since 1879. Dr. Overly was a member of the Standing Committee of the Diocese of New Jersey, 1892-1906; deputy to the General Convention, 1901 and 1904; is a member of the Permanent Committee of the Inter-Church Conference; and of the Executive Committee of the Church Congress. He is author of a series of Lessons on the Church Catechism; a volume, The Testimony of the Prayer Book to the Continuity of the Church; numerous essays and published sermons and contributions to magazines and newspapers. He is a member of the Corporation for the Relief of Widows and Orphans of Clergymen of New Jersey, also the Charity Organization Society of Elizabeth, N. J. He is a member of the Catholic Clerical Union of New York City, and the Psi Upsilon Club of New York City. Dr. Overly married in New York City, Oct. 2, 1871, Jane Averell Laidley, and of that union there were three children, all now deceased. Address: 1064 East Jersey Street, Elizabeth, N. J.

OBERMAYER, Charles J.:

Banker; born Nov. 8, 1869; son of Charles G. and Amelia (Moses) Obermayer. He attended the public schools, the College of the City of New York, and studied law three years. He was secretary and treasurer of the German-American Title Guarantee Company of New York City, for twelve years; is president and director of the Narragansett Finishing Company; president and trustee of Greater New York Savings Bank; director and chairman of the Executive Committee of the Home Title Insurance Company of Brooklyn; and member of the Advisory Committee of the Fifth Avenue Branch of the Mechanics' Bank. He is a member of the Dutch Reformed Church, the Bibliophile Society of Boston, National Geographic Society, American Historical Association, and American Forestry Association. He is a Royal Arch Mason, Knight Templar and Shriner; member of the Royal Arcanum, Heptasophs, South Brooklyn Board of Trade; Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences; chairman of the Advisory Committee of the Brooklyn Nursery and Infants' Hospital. He is a member of the Twelfth Assembly District Republican Club, Brooklyn League, and of the Prospect Heights Citizens' Association. Mr. Obermayer is ex-president of the League of American Wheelmen in the United States. He is also a member of the Automobile Club of America, Crescent Athletic, and Long Island Automobile Clubs of Brooklyn, and the Boston Bicycle Club. Mr. Obermayer married in Brooklyn, June 16, 1892, Ida Bell Sabin. Address: 498 Fifth Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

O'BRIAN, John Lord:

United States attorney; born in Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 14, 1874; son of John and Elizabeth (Lord) O'Brian. He was graduated from Harvard College, A.B., 1896; and from the University of Buffalo Law School, LL.B., 1898. Mr. O'Brian was chief counsel for presentors in the trial of the Rev. A. S. Crapsey, of Rochester, 1906 before the ecclesiastical courts. He is professor of medical jurisprudence in the Buffalo Medical School; church advocate of the Diocese of Western New York Episcopalian; member of the Executive Committee of the Buffalo Civil Service Reform Association; member of Council (trustee) University of Buffalo; trustee of Margaret's School for Girls; member of the Faculty of the University of Buffalo Law School. He served as Republican member of the General Assembly of New York, 1907, 1908, and 1909; from the Second District of Erie County, and was appointed, March 4, 1909, U. S. attorney for the Western District of New York. He is a member of the Delta Upsilon (Harvard) and Phi Delta Phi (Buffalo) fraternities and of the University and Saturn Clubs of Buffalo. He married in Buffalo, Sept. 17, 1902, Alma E. White; they have two daughters. Residence: 187 Anderson Place. Office: 117 Erie County Bank Building, Buffalo, N. Y.

O'BRIEN, Edward C.:

Diplomat, merchant; born at Fort Edward, N. Y. He was educated in the public schools of Fort Edward and graduated from the Granville Military Academy. He was for several years engaged in the commission flour trade, Plattsburg, N. Y., and became interested in shipping and transportation matters. He was prominent in movements in favor of the development of deep-water commerce and an advocate of a large barge canal connecting the Great Lakes with the Hudson River at Albany; was chairman of the International Deep Waterways Convention at Cleveland, Ohio, Sept., 1896; was appointed commissioner of navigation by President Harrison and served 1889-1893. He became associated with the Davis Coal and Coke Company of Virginia, as a director; was appointed by Governor Morton as commissary-general of subsistence of the National Guard of the State of New York, with rank of brigadier-general, but resigned on his appointment by Mayor Strong as commissioner of docks of New York City, of which he was elected president, serving until 1897. During his administration the great improvement in the water front of the North River was undertaken, and six well-known recreation piers constructed, and at the close of his administration the shipping and commercial men of the city gave a banquet in his honor. He was appointed by President Roosevelt, in 1905, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to Paraguay and Uruguay. General O'Brien organized the International Express Company and the Cuban and Pan-American Company, both of which he became president. He is a member of the New York Chamber of Commerce, the Maritime Association and the Board of Trade and Transportation, and is also a member of the Union League and Lawyers' Clubs of New York City. Address: United States Legation, Montevideo, Uruguay.

O'BRIEN, Miles M.:

Banker; born in Ireland in 1852; son of Dr. Miles and Fannie (Casey) O'Brien. He was educated in private schools, Christian Brothers and Model Schools, and he received the degree of LL.D. from St. John's University, Fordham, N. Y. He is the president of the New Amsterdam National Bank; vice-president of the Mercantile National Bank; director in numerous other banks and savings institutions; director of the American Ice Company. Mr. O'Brien was first vice-president of the School Board of Greater New York, after consolidation, for two terms, and served twenty years on the Board of Education. He established free lectures for the people, the High School of Commerce, and baths for the children in the schools, and advocated and helped to pass laws to pension school teachers. Mr. O'Brien is a member of the Lotos, Democratic and Catholic Clubs. He married in New York City, Thomasina E. Leahy, and they have four children. Residence: 320 West 89th Street. Address: 195 Broadway, New York City.

O'BRIEN, Morgan Joseph:

Jurist; born in New York City, April 28, 1852. He was graduated from St. John's College, Fordham, N. Y., A.B., 1872; St. Francis Xavier's College, New York

City, A.M., 1873; Columbia Law School, LL.B., 1875; and received the degree of LL.D. from St. John's College, 1887; Columbia, 1904. He was engaged in practice of law in New York City, 1875-1877; was for several years trustee of the public schools of New York City; later corporation counsel of New York City, which position he held when, in 1887, he was elected justice of the Supreme Court of New York; reelected unanimously, 1901, but resigned in 1905. He was designated to the Appellate Division by Governors Hill, Morton and Odell, and since June, 1905, has been trustee of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the U. S. Justice O'Brien is a trustee of the New York Public Library, Astor, Lenox and Tilden Foundations. Justice O'Brien is one of the most influential Democrats of New York and is a prominent Catholic layman. He is a member of the Manhattan, Century, Metropolitan, New York Athletic, Catholic, City Midway Garden City Golf, Turf and Field, and Lotos Clubs of New York. He married in New York City, Rose M. Crimmins, and they have nine children. Address: 524 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

O'BRIEN, Thomas J.:

Diplomat and lawyer; born at Jackson, Mich., July 30, 1842; son of Timothy and Elizabeth (Lander) O'Brien. He was educated in the public schools of Michigan, and the law department of the University of Michigan. LL.B., 1865. He engaged in the practice of law, first at Marshall, Mich., but in 1871 he removed to Grand Rapids, Mich., where he continued to practice with success. He at once became assistant general counsel for the Grand Rapids & Indiana Railway Company, and in 1883 became general counsel, in which capacity he continued until 1905, when he was appointed envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Denmark. He served at this post, with genuine satisfaction to his Government, until May 18, 1907, when he was appointed by President Roosevelt to be ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary to Japan. Mr. O'Brien is a Republican; in 1883 he was the candidate of his party for justice of the Supreme Court of the State of Michigan, but in that year the State went to the Democracy. He has never been active in politics, but was a delegate-at-large to the National Convention at St. Louis in 1896, which nominated McKinley, and was again a delegate-at-large and chairman of his delegation to the Chicago Convention of 1904, which nominated Roosevelt. In 1908 he was honored by the University of Michigan with the degree of LL.D. Mr. O'Brien married, Sept. 4, 1873, Delia Howard, daughter of the Hon. William A. Howard, formerly of Detroit, and they have one daughter and one son. The family home continues at Grand Rapids, Mich. Address: American Embassy, Tokyo, Japan.

O'BRIEN, William H.:

Banker; born in Lawrenceburg, Ind., Aug. 22, 1855; son of Cornelius O'Brien, a lawyer, and a native of Kilkenny County, Ireland, and Harriet Jane Hunter, born in Lawrenceburg. He was educated in the public schools of his native town and went through the sophomore year at DePauw University, and on May 9, 1882, was married to Harriet Hunter, a native of Mexico, Mo. Mr. O'Brien was a member of the Indiana State Senate, 1902-1906; mayor of Lawrenceburg, 1885-1894, and 1898-1902. He was chairman of the Democratic State Committee of Indiana, 1902-1908; district delegate to the Democratic National Convention, 1900, at Kansas City, Mo., and delegate from that State at large to the Democratic National Convention in St. Louis, 1904. Address: Lawrenceburg, Ind.

O'CALLAGHAN, Daniel J. M.:

Lawyer; born at Worcester, Mass., June 12, 1855; son of Peter and Margaret (O'Sullivan) O'Callaghan. He was graduated from the Milford (Mass.) High School, 1871, and from Harvard College in 1877. He was admitted to the Massachusetts and New York State bars, and has practised since 1883 in New York City. Mr. O'Callaghan is editor and proprietor of the Political Liberty Herald, an independent periodical, founded in 1901; was a Democrat until 1886; became member of the Anti-Poverty Society and the United Labor Party; supported Henry George in 1886 for mayor, and in 1887 for Secretary of State; voted for the presidential electors of same party in 1888; voted with the Republican party after 1888, until 1900, when he voted with Democratic party; became a member of the Political Liberty Society, upon its organization in 1900; continued voting with the Democratic party until 1904; since then member of the Political Liberty party, organized that year, and is secretary and treasurer of its National Committee. He is a Catholic in religion, is a member of the New York Law Institute, and the Phi Beta Kappa Alumni Association of New York. Address: 116 Nassau Street, New York City.

OCHS, Adolph S.:

Journalist, publisher; born in Cincinnati, Ohio, March 12, 1858. His father came to America in 1844, and before he had been in the country a sufficient length of time to gain a citizenship he enlisted in the army. He took part in the war with Mexico and proved himself a valiant soldier. A little more than a decade after the close of the Mexican War he again entered the army, this time as an officer, and as captain of a company in the Fifty-second Ohio Volunteers he won distinction for his bravery and efficiency throughout the four years' struggle for the preservation of the Union. Upon the termination of the war Mr. Ochs, with his family, moved to Knoxville, Tenn. There the son attended the public schools and made rapid progress in all the fundamental branches. At the age of eleven years he was a carrier boy on the Knoxville Daily Chronicle, supplementing his school hours by earning something on his own account. This was the beginning of his life in the newspaper world, which was in time to grow into such vast proportions. To his course in the public schools he added a short term in a business college. He then made a brief sojourn behind the counter in a drug store, this being his only evasion of the printing business, a business which had unusual charms for

ADOLPH OCHS
Proprietor of New York Times

the embryo publisher. In 1873, when he was but fifteen, he went back to the Knoxville Chronicle, where he was "devil" and copy boy, until his earnest solicitation to be put at ease was granted. Here he developed rapidly and quickly, became one of the best compositors in Knoxville. Desiring to widen his knowledge of the art, he left his position in Knoxville and went to the job office of the Louisville Courier-Journal, where he studied that branch of the business industriously for a year. He then returned to Knoxville to accept the position of general utility man on the Daily Tribune, on which he served as writer and later assistant business manager. He was connected with the Chattanooga Dispatch in 1877 and 1878; then resigned and engaged in the publication of the Chattanooga City Directory. Some time after that the Chattanooga Dispatch failed, and Mr. Ochs was appointed receiver and paid off the entire debt of the paper. He bought the Chattanooga Times, then a not very prosperous property, July 1, 1878, and it prospered greatly under his management. Mr. Ochs ran the first special news train in Tennessee, an event which was appropriately celebrated. On July 1, 1888, a jubilee number of the Times was issued, in which the business men of the city manifested great interest. In 1890 was begun the erection of a handsome office building, which was completed at a cost of two hundred thousand dollars. Upon its inauguration the citizens of Chattanooga showed their appreciation of his enterprising spirit by presenting Mr. Ochs with a handsomely illuminated address, accompanied by a beautiful and costly souvenir. In 1896 the publishers of the New York Times found themselves in need of the services of a man who would rescue the paper from its declining fortunes, and the successful career of Mr. Ochs impressed them with the belief that he was the one to accomplish the task. The matter was presented to him, and after mature deliberation he consented to assume the management of The New York Times, of which he is now the publisher and controlling owner. His administration has been attended with wonderful success, both financially and in the prestige of The Times as an exponent of what is best and cleanest in journalism, and in 1905 the office and plant of the paper removed from its old position on Park Row to one of the finest newspaper structures in the world, at Forty-second Street and Broadway (now Times Square). In 1901 Mr. Ochs obtained the controlling interest in the Philadelphia Times and the Philadelphia Public Ledger and, combining the two journals, placed them under the business management of his brother, George W. Ochs. The investment in these two well-known journals has been attended with excellent results. Mr. Ochs has always been prominent in the editorial and publishers' associations of the country, and from 1891 to 1897 he was secretary of the Southern Associated Press, and when the Associated Press was reorganized he was made a charter member and treasurer of the new organization. He is still the principal owner of the Chattanooga Times, though its management is in other hands. Address: Times Office, Times Square, New York City.

OCHS, George Washington:

Journalist, publisher; born in Cincinnati, Ohio, Oct. 27, 1861; son of Julius Ochs and Bertha (Levy) Ochs. He attended the University of Tennessee, at Knoxville. Mr. Ochs was twice mayor of Chattanooga, Tenn., 1893-1897; declined renomination; president of the Chattanooga Chamber of Commerce in 1901; president of the Chattanooga Board of Education, 1898-1900; delegate from the Third Congressional District of Tennessee to the National Democratic Convention in 1896; chosen to second the nomination of Grover Cleveland at that convention; delegate from the State-at-large to the Palmer and Buckner convention, 1896; president of the Chattanooga Library Association, 1894-1897; vice-president of the National Municipal League, 1896-1900; president of the Jewish Chautauqua Association of the United States; director of the New York Times Company, Times Printing Company of Chattanooga, Tenn.; Public Ledger Company of Philadelphia; Tradesman Publishing Company of Chattanooga, Tenn.; publisher and general manager of the Philadelphia Public Ledger. He published the Exposition Edition of the New York Times in Paris in 1900, and was decorated by the French Government with the Cross Chevalier of the Légion d'Honneur. He is a member of the American Academy of Political and Social Science, the City, Art, Mercantile, Franklin Inn and Southern Clubs, and the Nameless Clubs of Philadelphia. Address: Public Ledger, Philadelphia.

OCHTMAN, Leonard:

Artist: born at Zonnemaire, Holland, Oct. 21, 1854; son of John and Hendrika (Fontaine) Ochtmán. He was educated in the common schools of Zonnemaire, Holland, and Albany, N. Y., where, coming to America with his parents in 1866, he had settled. In his sixteenth year, he entered a wood engraving establishment as draughtsman and remained there seven years, devoting his leisure hours to the study of nature. He had a studio in Albany for two years, and finally opened one in New York City. In his specialty as a landscape painter he is self-taught. He first exhibited at the National Academy in 1882, and has ever since been represented there as well as at all important exhibitions throughout the country. He was elected associate member of the National Academy of Design in 1899, and admitted to full membership in 1904. Mr. Ochtmán received a prize from the Brooklyn Art Club, 1891, a medal from the Columbian Exposition, 1893, gold medal from the Philadelphia Art Club, 1894, and a silver medal from the Pan-American Exposition, Buffalo, 1901, and the Charleston Exposition, 1902; Inness Gold Medal from the National Academy, 1903; the Webb Prize from the Society of American Artists and two gold medals for oil and water-color at the Universal Exposition at St. Louis, 1904; also various prizes from the Salmagundi Club in 1902, 1903, 1906 and the Evans prize in 1907, the Shaw prize from the Society of American Artists, 1902, Second Corcoran prize, Washington Society of Artists, and others from prominent associations. He is a member of the National Institute of Arts and Letters, Society of American Artists, American Water Color Society, Society of Landscape Painters, Artist Fund Society, the Artist Aid Society, New York Water Color Club, Brooklyn Art Club, Salmagundi and Lotos Clubs. He was married at Laconia, N. H., June 23, 1891, Mina M. Fonda, and has had three children. Residence: "Grayledge," Coscob, Conn. Address: Carnegie Hall, New York City.

O'CONNELL, Joseph F.:

Congressman and lawyer: born in Boston, Dec. 7, 1872; son of James and Elizabeth O'Connell. He was educated in St. Mary's Parochial School, Boston College and Harvard University; was admitted to the Suffolk bar, March 19, 1897, and he has been practising in the State and U. S. Courts continuously since. He was elected in 1906, as a Democrat, to the Sixtieth Congress, and reelected in 1908 to the Sixty-first Congress from the Tenth Massachusetts District. He is a member of the Boston Bar Association and of the Knights of Columbus, and is a member of the Boston, City, Catholic, Economic, Ashmont and Young Men's Democratic Clubs. Residence: 13 Bowdoin Street, Dorchester, Mass. Address: 53 State Street, Boston.

O'CONNELL, William Henry:

Catholic archbishop of Boston; born in Lowell, Mass., Dec. 8, 1859. He was graduated from Boston College, and in 1881 went to the North American College in Rome, Italy, where he completed his ecclesiastical studies, and was ordained priest June 8, 1884. He continued with the North American College, of which he became director in Nov., 1895; was appointed domestic prelate to the Pope, June 9, 1897; appointed bishop of Portland, Me., April 22, 1901, and was consecrated bishop in the Church of St. John Lateran, in Rome, May 19, 1901. He was special papal envoy to the Emperor of Japan in Aug., 1905, and was decorated by the Emperor of Japan with the Grand Cordon of the Sacred Treasure in Dec., 1905. He was made titular archbishop of Constance by the Holy See in March, 1906, and made coadjutor to the archbishop of Boston, and upon the death of Archbishop Williams succeeded him as metropolitan. Address: 12 Union Park, Boston.

O'CONNOR, John Joseph:

Catholic bishop of Newark; born in Newark, N. J., June 11, 1855; son of Thomas and Catherine O'Connor. On completing the courses of the parochial schools he entered Seton Hall College at South Orange, N. J., whence, after six years, he was graduated A.B. and A.M., 1873, then for four years more he pursued his divinity studies in the American College at Rome and the University of Louvain, Belgium. He was ordained to the priesthood in 1877, and took up pastoral work in the diocese of Newark, of which he was appointed and consecrated bishop in 1901. Address: South Orange, N. J.

O'CONOR, Joseph Francis Xavier:

Clergyman, educator; born in New York City, Aug. 1, 1852; son of Daniel and Jane (Lake) O'Connor. He was graduated from St. Francis Xavier College, New York City, A.B., 1872; literary studies in England, philosophical studies in Louvain, Belgium; theology at Woodstock, Maryland; Oriental studies at Johns Hopkins University. He became a member of the Society of Jesus, 1872; and was ordained priest in 1885. He was successively professor of literature in Georgetown University, Boston College, St. Francis Xavier College, New York City; professor of mental philosophy in Fordham University, St. Francis Xavier, New York City, St. Joseph's College, Philadelphia. He was formerly director of the Alumni Sodality of Philadelphia; former secretary of the Catholic Historical Society of Philadelphia; lecturer, musician, author of words and composer of music of Dear Lord; Jesus the All Beautiful; lectured on Cuneiform Assyrian before any school of that language had been founded in America; vice-president of St. Francis Xavier College N. Y., and Gonzaga College, Washington; Founder of the Alumni Association of St. Ignatius Parochial School, New York, member of Authors' Society, New York, Oriental Society of Vienna, founder of Brooklyn Alumni Sodality, founder of Intercollegiate Alumni Society of Jesuit Colleges. Founder and is now president of Brooklyn College. He is author of: Lyric and Dramatic Poetry, 1883; Babylonian Inscriptions of Nebuchadnezzar in 1885; Garucci's Christian Art, 1885; Three Holy Lives, 1888; Pearls of a Year, 1889; Practice of Humility, 1890; Life of St. Aloysius, 1892; Reading and the Mind, 1904; Sacred Scenes and Mysteries, 1898; Rhetoric and Oratory, 1898; Facts About Bookworms, 1898; Christ and the Man God, 1900; Autobiography of St. Ignatius, 1900; Education in the Schools of New York, 1901; Dante, 1905. He is author and composer of the words and music of the operetta Land of the Sunrise Sea, 1907; discoverer of the laws of transition from Early Babylonian Cuneiform to Assyrian Cuneiform, 1907. His lectures, delivered in many parts of the country, have been on art, poetry, music, educational and historical subjects; lecturer on education, pedagogy, and art; director of St. Ignatius' School. Address: Brooklyn College, Crown Heights, 1125 Carroll Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

O'DEA, Edward John:

Catholic bishop. He was consecrated Sept. 8, 1896, third Bishop of the Diocese of Nesqually, which comprises the State of Washington. Address: The Cathedral, Vancouver, Wash.

O'DELL, Benjamin B., Jr.:

Ex-governor, merchant; born in Newburgh, N. Y., Jan. 14, 1854; son of Benjamin B. Odell. He was educated at Bethany College, W. Va., and took partial course in Columbia College. In 1875 he engaged with his father in business at Newburgh; subsequently became interested in various other enterprises, becoming president of the Newburgh Electric Light Company and treasurer of the Central Hudson Steamboat Company. He was active in Republican politics from his earliest voting years, but in his first nomination, that for State Senator, was defeated; was elected in 1894 and 1896, and served in the Fifty-fourth and Fifty-fifth Congresses, and declined nomination for the third term. He was elected, in 1900, and reelected in 1902, governor of the State of New York. For several years he was on the Republican State Committee, and for a time its chairman. He was a member of the National Guard for eight years, and has held prominent positions in the Masonic and Odd Fellows orders. He married, first, in 1877, Estell Cristee; second, Mrs. Linda C. Traphagen, sister of his first wife. Address: Newburgh, N. Y.

O'DONAGHUE, Denis:

Auxiliary bishop of Indianapolis; born in Daviess County, Ind., Nov. 30, 1848. He was educated in Meinrad's College and St. Thomas Seminary, Bardstown, Ky., and pursued his divinity studies in the Grand Seminary at Montreal. After his ordination as priest in 1874, he served as assistant priest of St. John's Church, Indianapolis, and was afterward, for twenty-one years, chancellor of the Diocese of Vincennes; made permanent rector of St. Patrick's Church, Indianapolis, in 1887, and April 25, 1900, was consecrated titular bishop of Pomario, and appointed auxiliary bishop of the Diocese of Vincennes (now Indianapolis). Address: Indianapolis, Ind.

O'DONOVAN, William Rudolf:

Sculptor, painter and writer; born in Preston County, Va., March 28, 1844; son of Col. James Hays and Mary (Bright) O'Donovan. He was educated in the Green Academy, Pennsylvania; self-taught in art. He served in Staunton (Va.) Artillery, in the Confederate States Army in the war between the States, from April 17, 1861, to the surrender at Appomattox, as private and non-commissioned officer. After the war, he was professionally engaged as sculptor in New York City. He executed statues of Washington for the Trenton Battle Monument, for the monument commemorating the Peace at Newburgh, N. Y., and one for Caracas, Venezuela; equestrian statues of Lincoln and Grant for the Soldiers and Sailors Arch in Prospect Park, Brooklyn; statue of Archbishop Hughes at Fordham University, New York; statue to the captors of Major Andre at Tarrytown, N. Y.; statues of General Wagner for the Saratoga Battle Monument and of General Wagner, Charleston, S. C.; bust of the late Judge Charles P. Daly, for the New York Geographical Society; portraits of Edmund Clarence Stedman, Theodore Filton, Generals R. E. Lee, "Stonewall" Jackson, and Joseph Wheeler, Helena P. Blavatzky, Walt Whitman, Bayard Taylor (Cornell University), Winslow Homer, N. A., William Page, N. A., and Thomas Eakins, N. A. (National Academy of Design), and others. Since 1900 he has devoted his time to painting and literature. Mr. O'Donovan is associate of the National Academy of Design, member of the Society of American Artists, American Sculpture Society, Architectural League, Hudson-Fulton Celebration Commission, which was really put into shape by the late Robert B. Roosevelt and himself. He married in New York City, 1894, Mary Corcoran. Address: 2923 Atlantic Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

OGDEN, George W.:

Author; born in Kansas, Dec. 9, 1871; son of Ambrose and Gibbs (Charlotte) Ogden. He received his education in public schools of Kansas. He has been engaged in general as reporter, editor, editorial writer, etc., and is author of short stories published in leading magazines, and of the novel: Tennessee Todd, 1904. He married in Kansas City, 1894, Mary Eleanor Nolan. Address: 3117 Wayne Avenue, Kansas City, Mo.

OGDEN, Robert Curtiss:

Merchant; born in Philadelphia, June 20, 1836; son of Jonathan Ogden, who died at a very advanced age in 1893. In his nineteenth year he took up his residence in New York City, where he finally became connected with the famous clothing firm of Devlin & Company. His splendid business qualifications soon earned him a partnership in the concern, which he retained until 1878, when he disposed of his interest and returned to Philadelphia, to become a leading member of the house of John Wanamaker, and later established and managed the New York store of the house. Mr. Ogden continued in charge of the store until early in 1907, when he retired. He is a Republican in politics and he is one of the leading laymen of the Presbyterian Church. He was a member of the conference of Liberal Presbyterians, Cleveland, Ohio, Nov., 1893; was a signer of the Cleveland Declaration, and served on the committee for its dissemination. He was closely associated with General Armstrong in the Work of the Hampton Institute and has, for a long time, been president of the Board of Trustees. For twenty-five years and more he has been a member of the Citizens' Permanent Relief Committee, of Philadelphia. In 1892 he was made chairman of the Finance Committee for the relief of the famine sufferers in Russia. In the educational field Mr. Ogden has been particularly active in the South, and he is the president of the Southern Education Board and a member of the General Education Board. Yale has conferred the degree of M.A. and Tulane University that of LL.D. upon Mr. Ogden and Union College that of L.H.D. When the invasion of Pennsylvania by General Lee's army, in 1863, occurred, Mr. Ogden joined the Twenty-third Regiment of the New York National Guard and performed active service in that memorable campaign. He continued with the regiment in the field until it was ordered home in connection with the suppression of the draft riots. He was a commissioned officer, and was, for some time, on the staff of the commander of the Eleventh Brigade. He is a member of LaFayette Post of the Grand Army of the Republic. Mr. Ogden is a director of the Union Theological Seminary of New York; trustee of the Tuskegee Institute, Tuskegee, Ala.; president, Conference for Education in the South; honorary member Ohio Society of Princeton University. Address: 125 East 56th Street, New York City.

O'GORMAN, James A.:

Jurist; born in New York City, May 5, 1860; son of Thomas and Ellen O'Gorman. He was educated in grammar schools and the College of the City of New York; was graduated from the Law Department of the University of the City of New York LL.B., 1882; and he has received the degree of LL.D. from the College of St. Thomas of Vellanova, Pa., 1904, and from Fordham University, 1908, and from New York University in 1909. He was admitted to the bar in 1882; practised law in New York; in 1893 became a justice of the District Court of New York; and was elected in 1899 a justice of the Supreme Court of New York for the term expiring Dec. 31, 1913. He married in New York City, Jan. 2, 1884, Anna M. Leslie. Address: 318 West 108th Street, New York City.

O'GORMAN, Thomas:

Catholic bishop of Sioux Falls; born in Boston, May 1, 1843; attended schools in Chicago and in St. Paul, Minn.; pursued collegiate studies in France, being graduated in 1863, and received the degree of D.D. directly from Pope Leo XIII in 1893. He was ordained to the priesthood in 1867, becoming pastor at Rochester, Minn., until 1878, when he became a member of the Paulist Community until 1882; pastor at Faribault, Minn., 1882-1885; was the first president of the College of St. Thomas at Merriam Park, St. Paul, Minn., where he also occupied the chair of dogmatic theology, 1886-1890; and he was then for five years professor of modern church history in the Catholic University at Washington. He was consecrated, April 19, 1896, bishop of Sioux Falls; was ecclesiastical counsellor to Mr. Taft, the governor of the Philippine Islands, in his negotiations with Leo XIII in regard to the Friars' Lands. Address: Sioux Falls, S. Dak.

OHMANN-DUMESNIL, Amant Henry:

Physician; born in Paris, France, Sept. 30, 1857; son of Francis L. and Marie Celestine (Dumesnil) Ohmann. He was educated in the Academy of the Christian Brothers in St. Louis, Mo., the University of Missouri, Washington University, St. Louis, and the Universities of Paris, London, Berlin, Leipzig, and Lyons, receiving the degrees of B.A., B.L., B.S., M.A., M.S., Ph.D., M.E., and M.D. He is engaged in practice in St. Louis, and is a specialist in dermatology. He is professor of dermatology and syphilology in the St. Louis College for Medical Practitioners, St. Louis College of Physicians and Surgeons, and Marion-Sims College of Medicine; and he is consulting physician to the St. Louis City Hospital, the Female Hospital, Alms-House and several private hospitals. Dr. Ohmann-Dumesnil is a prolific writer of books and monographs on skin diseases and syphilis. He is a member and officer in the St. Louis Medical Society, Missouri State Medical Association, the Mississippi Valley Medical Association, American Medical Association, Pan American Medical Congress, International Medical Congress, International Congress of Dermatology, and other professional societies, and he has received the French Cross of the Légion d'Honneur for military services. He is a Scottish Rite Mason, a member of the Knights of Pythias, and other orders. He married in St. Louis, May 4, 1904, Elizabeth A. Loring. Residence: 1454 South Grand Avenue. Office address: 3553 Park Avenue, St. Louis, Mo.

OLCOTT, Chauncey:

Actor; born in Buffalo, N. Y., July 21, 1869, and was educated in the public schools of that city. At the age of nineteen he became connected with a minstrel troupe as ballad singer; went to Europe at the age of twenty-three, and returning became manager and treasurer of the Standard Theatre, San Francisco. He soon after joined Denman Thompson in Old Homestead, then the Duff Opera Company; and a year later in McCaul's Opera Company. He went to London and studied for two years, while playing at the Prince of Wales and Criterion theatres; and made his appearance as a star at the Fourteenth Street Theatre, New York City, in 1893. His greatest successes have been in Mavourneen, The Irish Artist and Sweet Inniscarra, and he played in The Road to Kennmare during the season of 1906 and 1907. He is a member of the Dramatic, Lambs' and Players' Clubs of New York City and the Buffalo Club of Buffalo. Mr. Olcott married in San Francisco, September 28, 1897, Margaret O'Donovan. Address: Fruitvale, Cal., and Saratoga, N. Y.

OLCOTT, George M.:

Merchant, manufacturer; born in Brooklyn, Aug. 23, 1835; son of Charles M. and Maria C. (Underhill) Olcott. He was educated in private schools in Brooklyn and at Columbia College Grammar School. He became clerk with Osgood and Jennings, wholesale druggists, in 1851; with Dodge and Colvill, importers of drugs, in 1854, in which he was admitted to partnership in 1856. Upon the retirement of Mr. Colvill in 1861, the firm became Dodge and Olcott, incorporated 1904, of which he is president. He is also president of the First National Bank of Ridgefield, Conn.; vice-president of Lloyds Plate Glass Insurance Company; director of the Market and Fulton National Bank, Federal Insurance Company, Franklin Safe Deposit Company, and Safe Deposit Company of New York; trustee of the Franklin Trust Company. He was trustee of the Bowers Savings Bank, 1882-1895, and was president of the Phenix Chemical Works until the dissolution of that company. He is a member of the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences, Board of Trade and Transportation, and a member of the Down Town Club. Mr. Olcott married at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 10, 1858; and has three children: Cornelia A. (Mrs. Dr. J. Arthur Booth), Mary, and Dr. George N. Olcott, professor of Latin in Columbia University. Address: 87 Fulton Street, New York City.

OLCOTT, Jacob Van Vechten:

Lawyer and member of Congress; born in New York City, May 17, 1836; son of John H. and Euphemia H. (Knox) Olcott. He was graduated from the New York public schools, 1870; College of the City of New York, 1875; Columbia Law School, as LL.D. in 1877; St. Stephen's College, Annandale, New York, LL.D., 1892; Kenyon College, Gambier, Ohio, LL.D. in 1905. He was admitted to the New York bar in 1877, and has since been engaged in the practice of law in New York City. He is also a director in many corporations. Mr. Olcott served as a member of the Board of Civil Service Commissioners of the City of New York from 1895 to 1897; was elected as a Republican to the Fifty-ninth Congress, 1904, and reelected 1906 and 1908 to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses, from the Fifteenth New York District. He is a member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, the Sons of the Revolution, and the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity, the American Bar Association; of the Union League, Republican, Taxedo, South Side Sportsmen's, Alpha Delta Phi, Manhattan, Church and Merchants' Clubs of New York City, and the Metropolitan and Chevy Chase Clubs of Washington, D. C. Mr. Olcott married in New York City, Laura I. Hoffman, a daughter of Rev. Charles F. Hoffman. Residences: 31 West 72d Street, New York City, and 2223 R Street, Washington, D. C. Address: 34 Nassau Street, New York City.

OLCOTT, Richard Morgan:

Capitalist, mine owner; born in New Rochelle, N. Y., Jan. 20, 1861; son of Henry S. and Mary E. (Morgan) Olcott. He was educated in schools of England, Germany and America. He is president and director of the Olcott Coal and Iron Company, the Orinoco Steamship Company, the National Cellular Steel Company, the Black Band Colliers Company; president, treasurer and director of the Coal River and Lumber and Coal Company. He is a member of the Sons of the Revolution, and has received the decorations of Bust of Bolivar, from Venezuela, and Knight of the Order of Wasa from Sweden. His chief recreation is yachting. Mr. Olcott is a member of the Larchmont, Republican, Atlantic Yacht, Manhattan, and New York Athletic of New York City, and the Metropolitan Club of Washington, D. C., and the Lakewood Country Club, of Lakewood, N. J. He married in New York City, June 1, 1892, Alice Marie Handley, and they have one son, J. Van Vechten Olcott. Address: 27 William Street, New York City.

OLCOTT, William M. K.:

Lawyer: born in New York City, August 27, 1862; son of John N. and Euphemia H. (Knox) Olcott. He was graduated from the College of the City of New York, A.B., 1881, A.M., 1883, and from Columbia College, LL.B., 1883. He was district attorney of New York County, 1896-1898; judge of the New York City Court, 1898-1899; and is now senior member of the firm of Olcott, Gruber, Bonyne and McManus. Mr. Olcott is a trustee of the Maiden Lane Savings Bank; director and treasurer of the Suffolk County National Bank; director and vice-president of the Lawyers' Surveying and Engineering Company. He is a member of the Republican, Lawyers', and City College Clubs. Mr. Olcott married in New York City, 1888, Jessie A. Baldwin, and they have one son. Address: 58 West 84th Street, New York City.

OLDER, Cora Miranda:

Novelist; born in New York; daughter of Peter and Margaret (Sibley) Baggerly. She received her education by private teachers, and in Syracuse University. She married Fremont Older, editor of the San Francisco Bulletin, and member of the International Policy Holders Association. Mrs. Older is author of: The Socialist and the Prince, and The Giants. Address: The Fairmont, San Francisco, and San Rafael, Calif.

OLDHAM, William Fitzjames:

Methodist Episcopal bishop; born in Bangalore, India, Dec. 15, 1854; son of James and Mary Elizabeth (Burling) Oldham. His preparatory education was secured in Madras, India, and he then came to the United States, and attended Allegheny College and Boston University, and was graduated A.B. 1883, receiving from that institution the D.D. degree in 1890. He was ordained in the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1883, went to India and in 1884 founded the Malaysia mission of the Methodist Episcopal Church, at Singapore, and the following year founded there the Anglo-Chinese School, which now has an enrollment of more than one thousand students. He founded and was first professor of the chair of missions and comparative religions in Ohio Wesleyan University, 1895-1900; was assistant secretary of the Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, 1900-1904; and in 1904 was elected by the General Conference at Los Angeles missionary bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church for Southern Asia. Bishop Oldham has written much for the religious press on missionary and other subjects. Address: Singapore, Straits Settlement, East Indies.

OLIN, Stephen Henry:

Lawyer: born in Middletown, Conn., April 22, 1847; son of Rev. Stephen (D.D., LL.D.) and Julia (Lynch) Olin. He was graduated from Wesleyan University, A.B., 1866, A.M., 1869, and from Albany Law School, LL.B., 1867; and he has received from Wesleyan University the degree of LL.D. He was admitted to the New York Bar in 1869 and engaged in practice in New York City. He was a trustee of the Astor Library, 1888-1895; since then of New York Public Library, Astor, Lenox and Tilden Foundations; trustee of Wesleyan University, and president of the University Settlement Society. He is a member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York (vice-president, 1898-1899). He served in the National Guard as major and judge-advocate of the First and Second Brigades, 1882-1889; lieutenant-colonel and assistant adjutant-general, First Brigade, 1889-1898; colonel and assistant adjutant-general, 1898-1903. He is a fellow of the American Academy Political and Social Science; member of the Society of Colonial Wars, and of the Century, University, City, Down Town and Players' Clubs. He married, first, Oct. 23, 1879, Alice, daughter of S. L. M. Barlow (died Nov., 1882); second, March 21, 1903, Emiline Dodge, daughter of Oliver Harriman, and he has two daughters. Residence: Rhinebeck, N. Y. Office: 34 Nassau Street, New York City.

OLIVER, George Tener:

U. S. Senator: born in County Tyrone, Ireland, Jan. 26, 1848; while his parents (who were then residents of Allegheny City, Pa., were visiting that country), and is son of Henry W. and Margaret (Brown) Oliver. He was educated in the public schools of Allegheny, Pa., and in Betheny College, W.

Va., whence he was graduated in 1868. His first occupation was that of a lawyer, having been admitted to the bar of Allegheny County in 1871. He practised his profession with success for ten years, but retired in 1881 to engage in the wire business. He was first the vice-president and afterwards president of the Oliver Wire Company until 1899, when that company sold its plants and wound up its business. He was president of the Hainsworth Steel Company from 1889 until its merger in 1897 with the Oliver and Snyder Steel Company, of which he was also president until he disposed of several manufacturing interests in 1901. In June, 1900, he purchased the Pittsburgh Gazette, the oldest paper west of the Alleghenies, and later acquired the controlling interest in the Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph, the oldest afternoon paper in Pittsburgh. In 1906 the Pittsburgh Gazette and Pittsburgh Times were consolidated under the name of the Gazette-Times, and he is principal owner of both papers. Mr. Oliver has always been an active Republican, but never held public office except that of president of the Central Board of Education which he held 1881-1884, and then resigned. He was presidential elector in 1884, and a delegate to the Republican National Convention in 1904. He was elected by the Pennsylvania Legislature, March 17, 1909, to the U. S. Senate to fill out the unexpired term of Hon. Philander C. Knox, who had resigned to become Secretary of State. Mr. Oliver's term will expire March 3, 1911. He is a member of all the leading clubs in Pittsburgh and of the Union League and University Clubs of New York. He married in 1871, Mary Kountze, of Omaha, Neb. Address: 337 Fourth Avenue, Pittsburgh.

OLIVER, Jean Nutting:

Artist and art writer under nom de plume of "John Nutting"; born in Lynn, Mass.; daughter of Stephen and Jane Briggs Oliver. She was educated in the Museum of Fine Arts, and in private schools. She exhibited in the Boston Art Club, Copley Society of Boston, Pennsylvania Academy, New York Miniature Society, Worcester Art Museum, Twentieth Century

Club of Boston, Toledo Art Museum, the Chicago Art Institute, Poland Springs Art Exhibition, Maine, and the Providence Art Club. She has made a specialty of portrait and miniature painting, within the last five years, and has a studio at East Gloucester, Mass., where she spends her summers. Miss Oliver is a member of Copley Society of Boston. Residence: 21 Copley Hall. Studios: 198 Clarendon Street, Boston.

OLIVER, Martha Capps:

Author; born in Jacksonville, Ill., daughter of Joseph Capps and Sarah A. H. (Reid) Capps. She is an alumnae of Illinois Woman's College in the classical course. She married in Jacksonville, Ill., Dec. 28, 1865, William A. Oliver. Mrs. Oliver is author of from 500 to 1,000 poems, including hymns, songs, cantatas and anthems, and of many booklet poems; also author and compiler of: A Year of Sacred Song, A Year's Good Wishes, Round the Year with the Poets. Among her booklets are included: Lift Me Higher, Heather-bells, The Keynote, Lincoln, Easter Legend, Resurgan, Christmas Legend. Many of her poems have been published in London, and Toronto, Can. She is a member of the Belles Lettres Society. Address: Jacksonville, Ill.

OLIVER, Robert Shaw:

Assistant secretary of War; born in Boston, Sept. 13, 1847. He was graduated from Churchill's Military School, Sing Sing, N. Y.; commissioned second lieutenant, 5th Massachusetts Cavalry, Oct. 13, 1864; Aide de Camp, Cavalry Brigade, 3rd Division, 25th Army Corps, Feb. 3, 1865; assistant adjutant general, 3rd Division, 25th Army Corps, Sept. 3, 1865; honorably mustered out Oct. 31, 1865; commissioned second lieutenant, 17th U. S. Infantry, Feb. 23, 1866; second lieutenant, 8th U. S. Cavalry, July 28, 1866; first lieutenant, 8th U. S. Cavalry, March 7, 1867; regimental commissary of Subsistence, Aug. 26, 1867; resigned Oct. 31, 1869. He moved to Albany, N. Y., 1870; was stove manufacturer, Rathbone, Sard and Company, 1870-1903; colonel of the 10th Infantry, of the National Guard of New York, Aug. 25, 1873; assistant adjutant general, 9th Brigade, July 11, 1878; brigadier general and inspector general, State of New York, Jan. 1, 1880; brigadier general, 5th Brigade, Jan. 10, 1883; brigadier general 3rd Brigade, Dec. 30, 1890; honorably retired at his own request to accept the office of Assistant Secretary of War, Aug. 30, 1903. Mr. Oliver was civil service commissioner, City of Albany, May 28, 1894 to Jan. 1, 1895; police commissioner, City of Albany, June 1, 1895-1898; Assistant Secretary of War, Aug. 31, 1903. He is a member of the Grand Army of the Republic; Military Order of the Loyal Legion, Military Order of Indian Wars; Society of the Army of the Potomac, Fort Orange Club of Albany, Metropolitan Club, Army and Navy Club, Chevy Chase Club, and the Aero Club of Washington. He married Marion Rathbone, and their children are: John, Elizabeth (Mrs. Francis K. Stevens), Cora (Mrs. Joseph H. Choate, Jr.), and Marion. Address: Washington.

OLMSTED, Charles Sanford:

Bishop of Colorado; born at Olmstedville, N. Y., Feb. 8, 1853; son of Levi Olmsted and Maria (Beach) Olmsted; descendant of Richard Olmsted, one of the settlers of Hartford, Conn. He was educated in St. Stephen's College, 1869-1873, and after graduation from the General Theological Seminary in 1876 was ordered deacon by Bishop Horatio Potter, and the following year was ordained priest by Bishop Doane, in the ministry of the Episcopal Church. He received the degree of D.D. from Hobart College in 1895, and from the General Theological Seminary in 1901. He was rector of Trinity Church, Morely, N. Y., 1876-1884; rector of Christ Church, Cooperstown, N. Y., 1884-1896, and while there was also for ten years archdeacon of Susquehanna, in the diocese of Albany; and he was rector of St. Asaph's at Bala, Pa., 1896-1902. He was elected bishop-coadjutor of Colorado, Jan. 8, 1902, but on March 2, before his consecration, Bishop Spalding died, and on May 1, 1902, Dr. Olmsted was consecrated in St. Paul's Cathedral, Denver, as the second bishop of Colorado, by Bishop Tuttle of Missouri, assisted by Bishops Johnston, Leonard, Coleman, Graves, White, Brown, Williams and Taylor. He was a deputy from the diocese of Pennsylvania to the General Convention of 1901. Bishop Olmsted is author of: December musings and Other Poems; The Discipline of Perfection; Ordination Sermon. He married at Fort Edward, N. Y., May 24, 1877, Mary M. Deuel. Address: Denver, Colo.

OLMSTED, Charles Tyler:

Bishop of Central New York; born in Cohoes, N. Y., 1842; son of Charles A. and Ardelia (Wilkinson) Olmsted. He was graduated from Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., in 1865; later studied theology at Saint Stephen's College, Annandale, N. Y.; professor of mathematics, St. Stephen's College, 1866-1868. He was ordered deacon in 1867, and ordained priest in 1868 in the ministry of the Episcopal Church; was assistant of Trinity Parish, New York City, 1868-1884; rector of Grace Church, Utica, 1884-1899; vicar of St. Agnes' Chapel, Trinity Parish, New York City, 1899-1902; consecrated Oct. 2, 1902; bishop coadjutor, and July 11, 1904, became bishop of Central New York. He married in 1876, Catherine, daughter of Joseph Lawrence of New York. Address: Utica, N. Y.

OLMSTED, John Charles:

Landscape architect; born of American parents in Geneva, Switzerland, Sept. 14, 1852; son of John Hull and Mary C. B. (Perkins) Olmsted. He attended the Eagleswood Military Academy, Chelmsford Academy, New York; Knapp's Academy of Plymouth, Mass., and Yale (Scientific School) of Ph.B. in 1875. He designed, with partners, the South Parks in Chicago, and parks in Buffalo, N. Y., Brooklyn, Louisville, Charleston, S. C., Fall River, Hartford, Holyoke, Cambridge, Boston, Brookline, North Easton, Bridgeport, Niagara Falls, Montclair, Orange, Newark, Rochester, Seattle, Watertown, New Orleans, Detroit, Milwaukee and other cities. In addition to public parks, he has advised as to improvements of the grounds of universities, colleges, schools, churches, asylums, libraries, city halls, town halls, factories, railroad stations, expositions, residences, cemeteries, hotels and numerous land subdivisions and as to the improvement of city street plans. Mr. Olmsted has been successively a member of the firm of F. L. and J. C. Olmsted; F. L. Olmsted and Company; Olmsted, Olmsted and Eliot; and Olmsted Brothers. Mr. Olmsted is a member of the American Society of Landscape Architects, the American Association of Park Superintendents, the Boston Society of Civil Engineers, an associate member of the Boston Society of Architects, and the Massachusetts Horticulture Society; also a member of the American Civic Association, the American Free Trade League, the American Forestry Association, the Massachusetts Forestry Association, the Massachusetts Free Trade Association, Massachusetts Anti-double Taxation League, the American League of Civic Associations, the Appalachian Mountain Club, Yale University Alumni Association, Boston Fine Arts Museum Association, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the American Social Science Association, and a member of the Century, Reform, and National Arts Club of New York. He married in Brookline, Mass., Jan. 18, 1899, Sophia Buckland White, and they have two daughters. Residence: 16 Warren Street, Brookline. Office: 99 Warren Street, Brookline, Mass.

OLMSTED, Marlin Edgar:

Congressman and lawyer; born in Ulysses Township, Potter County, Pa. He was educated in the common schools and Coudersport Academy. At an early age he was appointed assistant corporation clerk by Auditor-General (afterwards Governor) Hartmanft; and one year later was promoted to corporation clerk, in charge of collection of taxes from corporations, Pennsylvania's peculiar revenue system. He was continued in the same position by Harrison Allen, auditor-general; read law with Hon. John W. Simonton (late president judge of the Twelfth Judicial District) at Harrisburg; was admitted to the bar of Dauphin County, Nov. 25, 1878, to the bar of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, May 16, 1881 and to the bar of the Supreme Court of the United States Nov. 12, 1884. Mr. Olmsted was elected to represent Dauphin County in the proposed constitutional convention in 1891; received the honorary degree of LL.D. from Lebanon Valley College in 1903, and from Dickinson College in 1905. He was elected to the Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth and Fifty-seventh Congresses from the Fourteenth, and elected to the Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses from the Eighteenth Pennsylvania District. He is a Republican in politics. He married, Oct. 26, 1899, Gertrude, daughter of the late Major Conway R. Howard of Richmond, Va. Address: Harrisburg, Pa.

OLNEY, George W.:

Journalist, statistician; born in Charleston, S. C., June 5, 1835; son of George W. and Olive (Bartlett) Olney. He received a preparatory education in Charleston schools, and the University Grammar School, Providence, R. I., and was graduated from Harvard University, LL.B., 1855. He entered journalism as one of the publishers of the New York Daily Day Book, 1858; returned to the South at the beginning of the Civil War, and was war correspondent for the Charleston Courier and Richmond Enquirer, from 1861 to 1864; dramatic writer for the New York Herald, 1866; editorial writer for the New York World, 1868-1876; entered insurance journalism, 1873, as editor of the Spectator and in 1879 became managing editor of the Weekly Underwriter (New York), and has been its editor since 1899; editor of The World Almanac, published by the New York World, since 1871; vice-president of the Underwriter Printing and Publishing Company; fellow of the American Statistical Association; National Geographic Society; Harvard Law School Association; secretary of the Society of the Cincinnati in Rhode Island; member of the Sons of the Revolution in New York. Society of Colonial Wars, Military Order of Foreign Wars, Society of the War of 1812, and Veteran Corps of Artillery of New York. He is author of several statistical works. He married Josephine Whittemore Vallette. Address: 58 William Street, New York City.

OLNEY, Peter B.:

Lawyer; born in Oxford, Mass., July 21, 1843; son of Wilson and Eliza L. (Butler) Olney. He was graduated from the Andover Academy, 1860; Harvard College, A.B., 1864; Harvard Law School, LL.B., 1866. He has practised law in New York City since his admission to the bar in November, 1866; served with George Bliss and William C. Whitney as a commission appointed under a law of the State, to revise the laws of the State affecting public interests in the State of New York, 1879-1881; district attorney of New York County, 1883-1885. He was formerly a member of the firm of Barlow, Hyatt and Olney, later Barlow and Olney, and since 1897 of Olney and Comstock. He is a Democrat, and was a delegate to the National Conventions of 1876 and 1880. Mr. Olney is a member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York and of the New York State Bar Association, and a trustee of Teachers' College of New York. He is a member of the Century Association and of the Harvard, Lawyers', and Blooming Grove Hunting and Fishing Clubs. He married at Quincy, Mass., Nov. 12, 1879, Mary Sigourney Butler, and they have four sons. Address: 68 William Street, New York City.

OLNEY, Richard:

Lawyer and ex-cabinet official; born in Oxford, Mass., Sept. 15, 1835; son of Wilson Olney; descended from Thomas Olney, who came to America in 1635 from Saint Albans, Hertfordshire, England; on mother's side descended from Andrew Sigourney, a French Huguenot, who came to America in 1687 on the revocation of Edict of Nantes. He was educated at the Leicester, Mass., Academy and was graduated from Brown University, A.B., 1856; Harvard Law School, LL.B., 1858, and received the degree of LL.D. from Harvard University, 1893; Brown University, 1894; Yale University, 1901. He was admitted to the bar of the Supreme Judicial Court of Suffolk County, Mass., in 1859; served one term in the Massachusetts Legislature in 1874; was attorney-general of the United States, March, 1893, to June, 1899; and secretary of the State of the United States, June 10, 1895, to March 4, 1897, during which time he conducted the negotiations with England growing out of the Venezuelan situation. On the completion of Mr. Cleveland's second term, Mr. Olney resumed the practice of law in Boston. He is a member of the Somerset Club of Boston. He married Agnes Park Thomas in 1861. Address: 710 Sears Building, Boston, Mass.

OLNEY, Warren:

Lawyer; born in Iowa, March 11, 1841; son of William Olney and Eliza (Green) Olney. He was educated in the Central University of Iowa until the Civil War began in 1861, when he enlisted in Company B, Third Iowa Infantry, May 21, 1861. He was mustered into U. S. service, June 8, 1861, as private, and served continuously until mustered out, Aug. 15, 1865, with the rank of captain. After the war he entered the University of Michigan and remained three years, and was graduated from the Law Department as LL.B. in 1868. He began the practice of law in San Francisco in 1869, and has continued in practice there ever since, now being a member of the law firm of Olney and Olney. He is also a member of the Board of Directors of the Western Pacific Railway Company and of the California Title Insurance and Trust Company, and other companies. He has been a director in many institutions, educational and public, and is now a director of Mills College. In politics he is a Mugwump, but in 1903 was nominated by acclamation for mayor of the City of Oakland, by the Republican Convention, the Democratic Convention and the Municipal League Convention, was elected and served two years. He is a member and ex-president of the San Francisco Bar Association. Mr. Olney is also a member of the University Club, Berkeley Club, Unitarian Club (ex-president) Claremont Country Club, the Sierra Club and others. He married in Washington, Iowa, Sept. 11, 1865, Mary Craven, and they have five children. Residence: 481 Twenty-ninth Street, Oakland, Calif. Office: The Merchants' Exchange Building, San Francisco, Calif.

OLSSON-SEFFER, Pehr Hjalmar:

Botanist; born at Ekenas, Finland, Sept. 14, 1873; son of Pehr Olsson, and Alma Maria (Rothstrom) Olsson. He was educated at the Swedish Classical Lyceum, Abo, Finland, 1883-1892; Helsingfors University, 1892-1897, and 1898-1899; Upsala University, Sweden, 1897; in Russian and German Universities, 1896, and, 1899-1900; and received the degree of Ph.D. from Leland Stanford, Jr., University, 1904. He was instructor in Swedish in Marihamn College, 1896, in botany at Helsingfors College, 1895-1899; was journalist and founder of a newspaper in Finland, 1895-1899; press correspondent in Russia, Sweden and England; in advisory work on colonization to the governments of Queensland and Western Australia, 1900-1902; instructor in systematic botany, Leland Stanford Jr. University, Calif., 1903-1905; professor of biology, San Francisco Veterinary College, 1904-1905; established a botanical station for rubber investigations in tropical Mexico in 1905; director of La Zacualpa Botanical Station and Rubber Laboratory, 1905-1908; director of Tezowapa Botanical Station, Mexico, since 1908. As commissioner of the Government of Mexico he investigated conditions of tropical agricultural in the Orient, 1906-1907; editor of the Department of Tropical Agriculture in the Mexican Investor, from 1906 to 1908; editor of American Journal of Tropical Agriculture, since 1908; also editor of Practical Handbooks on Tropical Agriculture, published by the Macmillan Company. He is president of the Tezonapa Valley Plantation Company, of Mexican Caravonica Cotton Company, of the Tropical Agriculture Publishing Company of Mexico, of the Mexican Agricultural Inspection and Consultation Bureau, and vice-president of the Pan-American Cotton and Industrial Company. He is also director of the Mexican Banana Company and of the Standard Castilloa Rubber Company of London. He serves as technical adviser on agriculture to numerous plantation companies. Dr. Olsson-Seffer has traveled extensively through different parts of the world. He is author of: Queensland, the land of future in Australia (in Swedish); Letters on Tropical Agriculture, 1907; Rubber and Coffee in the Orient and Mexico, 1907; Agricultura en varios paises tropicales, 1908; India Rubber or Caoutchouc, 1908; Government Reports (in Swedish and Spanish); botanical, geological, geographical and agricultural papers in technical journals in Europe, America, Australia and the Orient, numerous articles in American, Australian, Swedish, Finnish and Mexican magazines and newspapers. Dr. Olssen-Seffer is a member of the Swedish Society for Anthropology and Geography; Geological Society of Stockholm; Finland Geographical Society; National Geographic Society; Association Internationale des Botanistes; American Association for the Advancement of Science; American Forestry Association; Sociedad Científica Antonio Alzate, Sociedad Mexicana de Geografía y Estadística; Société d'Études d'Agriculture tropicale, and of the University Club and Country Club of Mexico. He married, first, in Helsingfors, Finland, in 1896, Lulu Sergeeff, by whom he has one daughter and one son; and he married, second, at San Bernardino, Calif., 1905, Helen Waterman Rolfe. Residence: 74 Calle Cordova, Mexico City; and 1488 27th Avenue, Fruitvale, Calif. Mail address: Apartado 133 Bis, Mexico City.

OLYPHANT, Robert Morrison:

Capitalist, railway official. He was graduated from Columbia in 1842. He is chairman of the Executive Committee and manager of The Delaware and Hudson Company; director of the New York and Canada Railroad Company, Chateaugay and Lake Placid Railway Company, Cooperstown and Charlottetown Valley Railroad Company, Champlain Transportation Company, Lake George Steamboat Company, Cherry Valley and Albany Railroad Company, Chateaugay Ore and Iron Company, and president and director of the Bluff Point Land Improvement Company. He is a member of the Sons of the Revolution, Saint Andrew's Society, American Geographical Society, Metropolitan Museum of Art, National Academy of Design, and American Academy of Political and Social Science. Residence: 160 Madison Avenue. Address: 32 Nassau Street, New York City.

O'MEARA, Stephen:

Police commissioner of Boston; born in Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, July 26, 1854; son of Stephen and Maria (Meade) O'Meara. He was educated in the Boston public schools; and he received the honorary degree of A.M. from Dartmouth College in 1889. In 1874 he became connected with the Boston Journal as a reporter and continued with it successively as city editor, news editor, general manager and editor and publisher until 1902, when he sold the paper, and retired. Mr. O'Meara was appointed in 1906 by the Governor of Massachusetts, and is now serving as police commissioner for the City of Boston, for a term of five years. He is a Republican and a Roman Catholic. He is a trustee of the Massachusetts State Library, a member of the Bostonian Society, New England Catholic Historical Society, American Catholic Historical Society (Philadelphia), American Social Science Association, and the Algonquin, Exchange, St. Botolph, Press, Union and Boston Clubs of Boston. Mr. O'Meara married in Boston, April 5, 1878, Isabella M. Squire, and has three daughters. Residence: 585 Beacon Street. Office: 29 Pemberton Square, Boston.

O'NEILL, James:

Actor; born in Ireland, Oct. 14, 1847; son of Edmond O'Neill. He came with his parents to the United States in 1850, settling in Buffalo, N. Y.; was educated in the public schools. In 1865 he studied under an actor playing in the National Theatre, Cincinnati. He made his first appearance in The Colleen Bawn at the National Theatre; in 1870 he was playing leading parts in Baltimore; in 1871 he was engaged as leading man at the Academy of Music in Cleveland, Ohio; went to Chicago in 1871, under management of J. H. McVicker; in 1874 formed the Hooley Comedy Company, Chicago; in 1876 he became leading man at the Union Square Theatre, New York City; in 1881 appeared at Booth's Theatre, New York, in Enoch Arden; in 1882 produced An American King; in 1883, Monte Cristo; has also produced: When Greek Meets Greek, The Dead Heart, and Fontenelle; besides reviving Hamlet, The Three Guardsmen and Virginius. Residence: New London, Conn. Address: Players' Club, New York City.

OPDYKE, Stacy B., Jr.:

Civil engineer and contractor; born in Camden, N. J., 1851; son of Stacy B. and Mary S. (West) Opdyke. He was graduated from the Polytechnic College at Philadelphia, as C.E. in 1870, and M.C.E. in 1873. Soon after leaving college, he engaged in railroading: was designer and computer for the Keystone Bridge Company at Pittsburgh, in 1878-1879; superintendent of the New Haven and Northampton Railroad; bridge engineer of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad; general superintendent of the Poughkeepsie Bridge route; in business on own account, 1891-1902; vice-president of the Levering and Garrigues Company, 1902-1906, then resumed his business of general contracting. He is a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, Engineers and Art Clubs of Philadelphia, and the Engineers' Club of New York City. He married at Philadelphia, in 1878, Belle F. Van Dusen and they have three children. Address: 1931 Broadway, New York City.

OPERTI, Albert (Jasper Ludwig Rocca-bigliers):

Arctic historical painter, scenic artist; born in Turin, Italy, March 17, 1852; son of Guiseppe Operti, pianist to Victor Emmanuel, II., King of Italy. He was educated in the high schools of Dublin, Ireland, and Glasgow, Scotland; graduated from the Naval School at Portsmouth, England, and entered the British Naval Marine, resigning therefrom in 1868; began the study of painting and sculpture; a few years later came to the United States, becoming caricaturist and scenic artist in New York theatres. He made two voyages to the arctic regions with Lieutenant R. E. Peary (now commander U. S. Navy). He made for the New York Museum of Natural History the first casts of North Greenland Eskimos. Among his more important historical paintings are: Farthest North, and Rescue of the Greeley Party, for the Navy Department at Washington; the Sehwtaka Search; Finding De Long in the Lena Delta. Among the more prominent works he has illustrated are: White World; Peary's Northward Over the Great Ice; Dr. Cook's Antarctic Night; Snowland Folk; Fiala's Fighting the Polar Ice, and Peary's Nearest the North Pole. He received a decoration from the Grand Duke Alexis of Russia. He is a member of the American Geographical Society and the National Geographic Society, the Kane Lodge of Masons; honorary member of the Indian War Veterans of California, Universal Brotherhood, Arctic and Explorers Clubs, and is president of the Shields Art Club. He married at Albion, N. Y., 1881, Martha S. Green. Address: 65 West 36th Street, New York City.

OPIE, Thomas:

Physician; born in Martinsburg, W. Va., May 14, 1842; son of Hierome Lindsay and Anne Stephenson (Locke) Opie. After attending the academic department of the University of Virginia, and the medical department of the same institution, he went to the University of Pennsylvania, from which he was graduated as M.D. in 1861. He enlisted as a private in the 25th Virginia Regiment of the Confederate Army, in 1861, but was soon after appointed assistant surgeon and later surgeon of the regiment, with which he served in the Army of Northern Virginia until the surrender in 1865. He then settled in the practice of medicine in Baltimore, where he has obtained great distinction as a gynecologist and abdominal surgeon. He was one of the founders of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Baltimore in 1872, and has been dean of that institution ever since, and he held the chair of obstetrics until 1892, and since then the chair of gynecology. He is gynecologist to the Baltimore City, Bayview and Hebrew hospitals of Baltimore. Dr. Opie is a member and was one of the founders of the American Association of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, and is a member of the American Medical Association. Address: 14 West Franklin Street, Baltimore.

OPPER, Frederick Burr:

Artist; born in Madison, Lake County, Ohio, Jan. 2, 1857; son of Lewis Oppen and Aurelia Oppen. He was educated in the public schools of Madison, Ohio. Mr. Oppen was special and humorous artist for Frank Leslie, 1877-1880; with Puck, 1880-1899, and has been doing humorous illustrative work on W. R. Hearst's New York papers since 1899. He has illustrated many humorous books; and visited Europe in 1887. He is a member of the Players' Club. Mr. Oppen married in New York City, in 1881, Nellie Barnett, and they have two children. Residence: 147 West 78th Street, New York City and Turn-of-River, Stamford, Conn. Address: New York American, New York City.

ORCUTT, Calvin B.:

Capitalist and shipbuilder; born in Wyoming, N. Y., Sept. 5, 1847; son of Phineas and Sophronia Orcutt. He was educated at Middlebury Academy, Wyoming, N. Y. His first employment was in a wholesale drug store in New York City, later entering the banking house of Fisk and Hatch. In 1878 he was placed by the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company in charge of the marketing and shipment of its coal, and subsequently was put in charge of C. P. Huntington's interests at Newport News, the Eastern terminal of the railway. Under his direction there was established at this point one of the finest shipbuilding plants in the world. He organized the Newport News Light and Water Company and is now its president, also is president of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, of the Chesapeake Coal Agency Company and of the Old Dominion Land Company. He organized the First National Bank of Newport News and is a director. He is a member of the Lawyers', Congregational, Thousand Island Yacht and Chippewa Yacht Clubs. He married in 1872, Harriet M. Willet of South Granville, N. Y. Residence: Elizabeth, N. J. Address: 1 Broadway, New York City.

ORDWAY, Samuel Hanson:

Lawyer; born in New York City, June 8, 1860; son of Aaron Lucius and Frances Ellen (Hanson) Ordway. He was graduated from Brown University, A.B., 1880; and from Harvard University, A.M., LL.B. in 1883. He was admitted to the New York City bar in 1884; has been practising his profession in that city ever since; was assistant district attorney of New York County in 1901; member of the commission to revise the tax laws of New York State, 1906; member of the law firm of Stickney and Shepard, 1887-1890; Stickney, Spence and Ordway, 1890-1903; Spence, Ordway and Wierum since 1903. In 1906 he received a nomination for justice of the Supreme Court of the State of New York from the Republican party and from the Judiciary Nominators, representing the bar of New York City. He was appointed by Governor Hughes a member of his Commission to investigate speculation in securities and commodities, 1909. Mr. Ordway is a member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, the University, Century, Harvard, and Brown University Clubs of New York City, and the Hope Club of Providence, R. I. He married in New York City, May 30, 1894, Frances Hunt Throop, and they have one son. Residence: 123 East 71st Street. Address: 27 William Street, New York City.

O'REILLY, Charles J.:

Catholic bishop; formerly a parish priest and archdiocesan official in the Archdiocese of Oregon City, and editor of the Catholic Sentinel at Portland, Ore. He was consecrated in 1903 bishop of Baker City. Address: Baker City, Ore.

O'REILLY, Mary Boyle:

Philanthropist, author, lecturer; born in Boston, May 18, 1873; daughter of John Boyle and Mary (Smiley) O'Reilly. She was educated in the Convent Sacre Coeur. Miss O'Reilly is a student of social problems, particularly in Women in Industry, Women in Prison, Prison Reform, and Child Life in Great Cities. She was a member of the President's Conference on Dependent Children, called by Mr. Roosevelt at Washington, January, 1909. She is author of Children's Stories (Harpers). Sociological Studies, and Charities and an editorial writer for the Boston Transcript. She is a trustee of the Children's Institution Department, Boston, member of the Board of Prison Commissioners Massachusetts. Address: Jamaica Plain, Mass.

O'REILLY, Robert M.:

Surgeon-general, U. S. Army, retired; born in Philadelphia, Jan. 14, 1845; son of John and Ellen Maitland O'Reilly. He was educated in the schools of Philadelphia and entered the Medical Department of the University of Pennsylvania. He was appointed a medical cadet in the U. S. Army, Jan. 7, 1864, serving until Sept. 23, 1865. He was graduated from the University as M. D. in 1866; appointed assistant surgeon, U. S. Army, May 14, 1867; captain assistant surgeon, May 14, 1867; major surgeon, Nov. 1, 1886; lieutenant-colonel, deputy surgeon-general, Feb. 21, 1900, colonel assistant surgeon-general, Feb. 14, 1902, and brigadier-general surgeon-general, Sept. 7, 1902, and he was retired from active service by operation of law Jan. 14, 1845, with the rank of major-general. During the Spanish-American War he was appointed lieutenant-colonel and chief surgeon, May 9, 1898, serving until honorably discharged from volunteer service, May 12, 1899, after having greatly distinguished himself in connection with the medical problems of that war. He is a companion of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, member of the Pacific Union Club of San Francisco, and of the Metropolitan, Chevy Chase and University Clubs of Washington. He married Miss Pardee, of Oswego, N. Y., in 1877. Address: Office of the Surgeon-General, War Department, Washington.

ORMAN, James Bradley:

Capitalist and ex-governor; born in Muscatine, Iowa, Nov. 4, 1849; son of John Orman and Sarah Josephine (Bradley) Orman. His boyhood activities were divided between work on his father's farm and attending the public schools. In 1869 he became associated with his brother, William A. Orman, as a contractor for railroad and irrigation work, and they filled large contracts in the construction of the principal railway lines and irrigating canals of Colorado and the Rocky Mountain territories. He became a citizen of Pueblo, Colo., and has been a leader in the development of that city, was five years president and is still director of the Pueblo Street Railway Company, operating an electric railway, has extensive real estate interests in Pueblo and Denver, coal lands, gold mining interests. He served in the City Council of Pueblo, and one term as mayor in 1897 and 1898. He is a Democrat in politics, was elected to the Colorado Legislature, serving 1880-1884; received twenty-seven votes on joint ballots (three less than a majority) for United States senator in the Legislature of 1883, in which there were only twenty-two Democratic votes. In 1900 he was nominated by the Democrats and endorsed by the Populists and Silver Republicans for governor of Colorado, and elected, his term expiring Jan. 10, 1903. He married in Pueblo, Sept. 27, 1877, Nellie Martin. Address: Pueblo, Colo.

ORR, Alexander E.:

Retired merchant; born at Strabane, County Tyrone, Ireland, March 2, 1831. He was educated by private tutor; came to New York City in 1851. He began his business career in New York City in the employ of William Ralph Post, shipping and commission merchant; later in same capacity with the firm of Wallace and Wickes; became connected in 1858, with David Dows & Company, shipping and commission merchants (founded 1825) and member of the firm in 1861; retiring from active business several years ago. Member of the Produce Exchange 1859, was secretary of its Building Commission when its present great building was erected, and later, for several terms, its president; was connected with the Arbitration Commission and the Benefit Assurance Company of the exchange, and was one of the organizers of the Produce Exchange Gratuity System, whereby each member pays three dollars into a fund at the death of a fellow-member, and which controls over $1,000,000. He was a member of the canal commission appointed by Governor Tilden. 1872, which exposed the canal ring frauds, leading to the placing of the canals in charge of the State Superintendent of Public Works. He was president and trustee of the New York Life Insurance Company from 1905 until 1907 when he retired from the presidency; and he resigned as trustee in 1908. Mr. Orr aided in organizing the Citizens Movement, which led to the election of Seth Low for mayor of Brooklyn in 1881; was for several years a member of the civil service commission of Brooklyn; member from organization, now president, of the Rapid Transit Railroad Commissioners of the City of New York; president and trustee New York Produce Exchange State Deposit and Storage Company; vice-president and member of the Board of Managers of the Delaware and Hudson Company; vice-president of the Mechanics' National Bank; director of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway Company, Erie Railroad, Associated Merchants' Company, Bond & Mortgage Guarantee Company, Brooklyn Academy of Music, Continental Insurance Company, Federal Insurance Company, Fidelity & Casualty Company, Harper & Brothers, Queen Insurance Company of America, Realty Associates, Trustee of South Brooklyn Savings Institution, United States Trust Company, Greenwood Cemetery, Trustee of the New York Public Library, Astor, Lenox and Tilden foundations; member of the Board of Managers of the American Bible Society; president of the Long Island Historical Society. He is a member of the Hamilton of Brooklyn, Century and Down Town Clubs. He married first in New York City in 1857, Juliet B., daughter of Ammi Dows (died. 1872); second in 1873, Margaret S. Luquer. Residence: 102 Renssen Street, Brooklyn. Office: 102 Produce Exchange Building, New York City.

ORVIS, Ellis Lewis:

President judge of the Forty-ninth Judicial District of Pennsylvania; born in Lock Haven, Clinton County, Pa., Nov. 16, 1857; son of Judge John Holden Orvis and Caroline Elizabeth (Atwood) Orvis. He removed in boyhood to Bellefonte in Center County, Pa., was prepared in the academy there and was graduated from the Pennsylvania State College, A.B., in 1876 after receiving the junior oration prize in 1875, and received the degree of A.M. in course in 1879. He studied in a law office in Bellefonte, Pa., was admitted to the bar in 1880, practising until elected, in 1905, president judge of the Forty-ninth District for the term expiring in 1915. He was a delegate to the Democratic National Convention at Indianapolis, which nominated Palmer and Buckner in 1896. He is a member of the Christian (Disciples) Church. Judge Orvis is a trustee of the Pennsylvania State College and of Bellefonte Academy; a member of the Pennsylvania Society of New York City, the National Geographic Society, and the Philobiblon Club of Philadelphia. Address: Bellefonte, Pa.

OSBORN, Frank Chittenden:

Civil engineer; born in Greenland, Mich., Dec. 18, 1857; son of Reuben Howard and Livonia (Chittenden) Osborn. He was graduated from the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, in 1880, with the degree of C.R. He entered the employ of the Louisville Bridge and Iron Company, Louisville, Ky., in 1880, as assistant engineer, and in September of the same year became principal assistant engineer, retaining that position until March, 1885, resigning to accept a similar position with the Keystone Bridge Company, later a constituent company of The Carnegie Steel Company, Pittsburgh. He became a member of G. W. G. Ferris and Company, Pittsburgh, in 1887, inspectors and designers of structural steel work for bridges and buildings, and remained with this firm until 1889; became special assistant to Mr. M. J. Becker (now deceased and a past president of the American Society of Civil Engineers), chief engineer of the Ohio Connecting Railway, in 1889, resigning in four months to accept the position of chief engineer of The King Bridge Company of Cleveland, resigning in 1892 to embark in private practice as consulting and designing engineer. He entered into partnership with A. Lincoln Hyde in 1894, under the name of The Osborn Company, and on termination of partnership in 1896 bought partner's interest, the business continuing under the same name until 1900, when it was organized and incorporated as The Osborn Engineering Company, of which he is president. He is also vice-president of the American Art Stone Company, director of the Lake Shore Banking and Trust Company. Mr. Osborn is author of: Tables of Moments of Inertia and Squares of Radii of Gyration, five editions. He is a member and ex-president of the Cleveland Engineering Society, member of the Board of Managers of the Association of Engineering Societies, member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, American Society for Testing Materials, Association of Railway Superintendents of Bridges and Buildings, Institution of Civil Engineers of Great Britain, National Geographic Society, American Forestry Association, Chippewa University, Athletic and Masonic Clubs, and the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce. He is a member of the Commission having in charge the construction of the new Cuyahoga County Court House. He married in Calumet, Mich., Oct. 27, 1880, Annie Paull. Residence: 8117 Hough Avenue, N. E., Cleveland. Office: Osborn Building, Cleveland, Ohio.

OSBORN, Henry Fairfield:

Paleontologist, educator; born at Fairfield, Conn., Aug. 8, 1857; son of William Henry and Virginia Reed (Sturges) Osborn. He was educated in Lyons Collegiate Institute, New York City, Princeton, 1877; College of Physicians and Surgeons and the Bellevue Medical School, 1878-1880; and studied biology under Balfour in Cambridge, Huxley in London, and Zittel in Munich. He received the degrees of A.B., Sc.D., and LL.D. from Princeton; LL.D. from Trinity College; LL.D., Columbia University, and D.Sc. from Cambridge University. He is president and curator of vertebrate paleontology, in the American Museum of Natural History, New York City; Da Costa professor of zoölogy in Columbia University since June, 1900; geologist and paleontologist of the United States Geological Survey since 1900. He was vertebrate paleontologist of the Canadian Geological Survey, 1900-1904; president of the American Society of Naturalists, 1891; vice-president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, 1892; second vice-president of the New York Academy of Sciences, 1897; president of the American Morphological Society, 1897; and of the Marine Biological Association, 1898-1900; president and trustee of the New York Zoölogical Society, and was active in founding the New York Zoölogical Park; president and trustee of the Brearley School, New York City. Dec. 4, 1906, Dr. Osborn was elected Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, which office he declined. He is a member of the National Academy of Sciences, Philadelphia Academy of Sciences, British Association for the Advancement of Science, Geological Society of London, Zoölogical Society of London, Literary and Philosophical Society of Manchester, England, Cambridge Philosophical Society, England; honorary fellow of the Royal Society of Edinburgh; honorary member of the Royal Society of Sweden; Imperial Society of Moscow, Royal Society of Bohemia. He has carried on annual explorations in Western United States for vertebrate fossils since 1891. He is author of: From the Greeks to Darwin (two editions), 1894 and 1897, Evolution of Mammalian Molar Teeth (1907); also over two hundred scientific and educational papers, addresses and memoirs on zoölogy, paleontology, comparative anatomy and psychology. He is a member of the University, Century, and Boone and Crockett Clubs of New York City, and the Cosmos Club of Washington. He married, Sept. 29, 1881, Lucretia Thatcher Perry, and they have two sons and two daughters. Address: American Museum of Natural History, 77th Street and 8th Avenue, New York City.

OSBORNE, Edward William:

Bishop of Springfield, Ill.; born in Calcutta, India, in 1845; son of John Francis and Louisa Osborne. He was graduated from Gloucester College, England, in 1869, and the same year was ordered deacon in the Church of England, and the following year was advanced to the priesthood. He was curate of Highbury, Wiltshire, England, 1869-1872, and of Kenn, Devonshire, 1872-1875. He became mission priest of the Anglican order of St. John the Evangelist in 1875, attached to the mission house in Oxford, England, until 1878, then became connected with the house of the Society of St. John the Evangelist in Boston, as assistant and missionary until 1889, when he was transferred to Capetown, South Africa, as superior of the mission there, chaplain of St. George's Home and priest-in-charge of St. Phillip's Church. He returned to Boston in 1898 as provincial superior of the Society of St. John the Evangelist in America, which office he held until consecrated, Oct. 23, 1904, as bishop-coadjutor of Springfield, Ill., and since the death of Bishop Seymour, Dec. 8, 1906, has been Bishop of the same diocese. Bishop Osborne is author of: The Children's Saviour, 1882; The Saviour King, 1888; The Children's Faith, 1889. Address: Springfield, Ill.

OSBORNE, Loyall Allen:

Mechanical engineer; born in Newark, N. J., June 22, 1870; son of Frederick Allen and Eliza J. (Rathbone) Osborne. He was graduated from Cornell University, with the degree of M.E. He was assistant superintendent of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, 1896, assistant to the vice-president, 1897, manager of works, 1900, fourth vice-president, 1902, third vice-president, 1904, second vice-president, 1906, his last position involving direction of the engineering and sales departments of the company. Mr. Osborne is also second vice-president and director of the Canadian Westinghouse Company, Limited, director of the R. D. Nutall Company, East Pittsburgh Savings and Trust Company, and the Western Pennsylvania Amusement Company, treasurer and director of the Laurenlede Mica Company, Limited. He is a member of the American Society of Electrical Engineers, American Electro Chemical Society, American Association for the Advancement of Science, American Geographical Society; director and president of the Chatham School Association, member of the Kappa Alpha Society, Lawyers' and Engineers' Machinery Clubs of New York, and the Duquesne, Pittsburgh, Country, Oakmont, Country, Golf, and Union Clubs of Pittsburgh. Mr. Osborne married in Newark, N. J., Nov. 27, 1895, Emma Louise Hines, and they have four children. Residence: "Woodholm," Woodland Road, Pittsburgh. Business address: P. O. Box 911, Pittsburgh.

OSBORNE, Oliver Thomas:

Physician; born in New Haven, Conn., Nov. 14, 1862; son of Oliver S. and Ellen L. (Sturges) Osborne. He took a classical course in the New Haven High School, was graduated M.D. from Yale Medical School in 1884; was a post-graduate student in medicine at the University of Leipzig, 1884-1885, and received the degree of M.A. from Yale University, 1899. He was assistant in the medical clinic, 1888-1891, in Yale Medical School, where he has since been instructor, 1891-1892, assistant professor, 1892-1895, and professor, 1895-1906, of materia medica, therapeutics, and professor of clinical medicine since 1906. He is director of Elm City Sanitarium Corporation; was chairman of the section on materia medica and therapeutics of the American Medical Association in 1904; chief of medical clinics, New Haven Dispensary; chairman of the Medical Board of the Gaylord Farm Tuberculosis Sanatorium; president of the Yale Medical Alumni, 1904; chief of medical clinic, New Haven County Medical Association in 1899; of the American Therapeutic Society in 1905. He is also director of the New Haven County Anti-tuberculosis Association, the National First Aid Association of America. He is a member of the American Therapeutic Society, the National Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, Academy of Arts and Sciences, Yale Medical Alumni Association, the Connecticut Medical Society, the New Haven Medical Association, the New Haven County Medical Association, the American Medical Association, a Mason, and a member of the Graduates' Club of New Haven. Dr. Osborne married in New Haven, April 18, 1888, Mary W. Tyler, and they have one daughter. Address: 252 York Street, New Haven, Conn.

OSBORNE, (Samuel) Duffield:

Author; born in Brooklyn, N. Y., June 20, 1858; son of Samuel Smith and Rosalie Willoughby (Duffield) Osborne. He was graduated from Columbia College, A.B., 1879, A.M., 1882; from Columbia Law School, LL.B., 1881. He was admitted to the New York bar and practised law in New York City, 1881-1893; and was member of the law firm of Adams, Valentine and Osborne. He traveled for nearly two years in Italy, Sicily, and other parts of Europe; was assistant secretary and later acting secretary of the Brooklyn Department of City Works, 1893-1895; member of the Phi Beta Kappa, Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternities. Mr. Osborne is author of: The Spell of Ashtaroth, 1888; The Robe of Nessus, 1890; The Secret of the Crater, 1900; The Lion's Brood, 1902; The Angels of Messer Ercole, 1907; and also of many short stories, poems and essays in magazines. He is editor of Livy's Roman History, 1898; Macanlay's Lays of Ancient Rome, 1901. He is a member of the Authors' Salmagundi, and National Arts Clubs. Address: Tower of Madison Square Garden, New York City.

OSBORNE, Thomas Mott:

Manufacturer; born in Auburn, N. Y., Sept. 23, 1859; son of David Munson and Eliza (Wright) Osborne. He was educated in the public schools of Auburn, Adams Academy, Quincy, Mass., Harvard College, A.B., 1884, and received the degree of LL.D. from Hobart College in 1905. He began his business career as clerk to D. M. Osborne & Company, manufacturers of agricultural implements, in 1894, and upon the death of his father was made president of the company. He is also president of the Auburn Publishing Company, the Buffalo Transparent Products Company; vice-president of the Eagle Wagon Works and the Columbian Rope Company, and director of the Auburn Iron Company. Mr. Osborne has made numerous trips abroad; went around the world in 1877-1878, and to the West Indies in 1904. He is a Democrat in politics; was a member of the Auburn Board of Education, 1885-1888, and 1893-1896; mayor of Auburn, 1902-1905; and was appointed public service commissioner by Governor Hughes in June, 1907. He was a delegate to the Democratic National Convention, 1896; candidate on the Citizens' Union (independent) ticket for lieutenant-governor, 1898. Mr. Osborne is a trustee of the George Junior Republic, and of Wells College; member of the University Club of Chicago, the Tavern Club of Boston, and the University, Harvard, City and Reform Clubs of New York City. He married in Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 27, 1886, Agnes Devens, who died March 26, 1896, leaving four children. Address: Auburn, N. Y.

OSBOURNE, Lloyd:

Author; born in San Francisco, Calif., April 7, 1868; son of Samuel and Fanny Van de Grift. He was educated in private schools and at Edinburgh University, his mother having, after his father's death, married Robert Louis Stevenson. He was being trained for a civil engineer, but a defect of sight compelled him to abandon that study, and he traveled with his step-father from 1887 to 1894, and was appointed American vice-consul-general to Samoa, during his residence there with Mr. Stevenson. In collaboration with Mr. Stevenson, he was author of: The Wrong Box; The Wrecker; and The Ebb Tide. Mr. Osbourne is also sole author of: The Queen versus Billy; Love, the Fiddler; The Motormen; Baby Bullet; Schmidt; The Tin Diskers; The Adventurer; Infatuation and in collaboration with Austin Strong, wrote the dramas: The Exile, and The Little Father of the Wilderness. He married, in 1896, Katherine Durham. Address, summer: Santa Barbara Country Club, Santa Barbara, Calif.; winter: Lambs' Club, New York City.

OSGOOD, William Fogg:

Professor of mathematics; born in Boston, Mass., March 10, 1864; son of William and Mary Rogers (Gannett) Osgood. He attended the Boston Latin School, 1877-1882, Harvard College, 1882-1887, receiving the degree of A.B., 1886, and A.M., 1887; was a student at the Universities of Göttingen, 1887-1889, and Erlangen, 1889-1890, receiving the degree of Ph.D. in 1890. He was instructor in mathematics at Harvard College, 1890-1893; assistant professor, 1893-1903, and professor since 1903. Professor Osgood is a member of the Deutsche Mathematiker Vereinigung, Circolo Matematico di Palermo; ex-president and member of the American Mathematical Society, a member of the National Academy of Sciences and the Delta Upsilon fraternity. Professor Osgood is author of: Infinite Series, 1897; Lehrbuch der Funktionentheorie, Volume I, 1905, 1907, and Differential and Integral Calculus, 1907. He married in Göttingen, Germany, July 17, 1890, Therese Ruprecht, and they have two sons and a daughter. Address: 74 Avon Hill Street, Cambridge, Mass.

OSTRANDER, Fannie Eliza:

Author; born in North Haven, Conn.; daughter of John Milton and Mary Ann (Ladd) Ostrander. She was graduated from a State Normal School, and studied under private teachers. Miss Ostrander taught for four and a half years, was critic editor and writer in a Chicago publishing house, 1899. She is author of a series of magazine articles called New Lines of Thought, writer of many small single books for order work, and contributor of prose and verse to papers and magazines. She is also author of: When Hearts are True, 1897; Beautiful Bible Stories, 1899; Baby Goose; His Adventures, 1900; Frolics of the A. B. C., 1901; the Gift of the Magic Staff, 1902; Little Pixies Abroad, Goose Family Tales, 1905; Little White Indians, 1907; and (the sequel to Little White Indians) The Boy Who Won, (in preparation). Address: 506 Elm Street, New Haven, Conn.

OSTRANDER, Russell Cowles:

Supreme judge; born in Ypsilanti, Mich., Sept. 1, 1851; son of Simon and Ellen Gardner (Cowles) Ostrander. He removed in boyhood to Lansing, Mich. After graduation from the high school there he entered the Law School of the University of Michigan, from which he was graduated, LL.B., 1876. He engaged in the practice of law at Lansing, Mich., in 1877, becoming one of the leaders at the Ingham County bar, and also prominent politically as an active Republican. He was court commissioner for Ingham County three years, prosecuting attorney two years, and mayor of Lansing, 1896-1897. In Nov., 1904, he was elected one of the justices of the Supreme Court of Michigan for the term expiring Dec. 31, 1911. Judge Ostrander married, in 1878, Dora Porter, and after her death again married, in 1892, Lou S. Davis. Address: Lansing, Mich.

OTERO, Miguel Antonio:

Ex-governor of New Mexico; born in St. Louis, Oct. 17, 1859; son of Don Miguel Antonio Otero, and descendant of an old Spanish family settled in New Mexico for many generations. He was educated in St. Louis University and the University of Notre Dame, Ind., and in 1880 became cashier of the San Miguel National Bank, of Las Vegas, N. Mex., serving for five years; and he has always been identified with large mercantile and financial enterprises there. He was city treasurer of Las Vegas, 1883-1884; clerk of San Miguel County, 1889-1890; clerk of the District Court for the Fourth Judicial District of New Mexico, 1890-1893, and he was appointed by President McKinley, June 7, 1897, governor of New Mexico, and served by reappointment of President Roosevelt until 1906. Governor Otero is an ardent Republican and was a member in 1892 and chairman in 1900 and 1904 of the New Mexico delegations in the Republican National Conventions of those years. He married, Dec. 19, 1888, Caroline V. Emmett, daughter of L. Emmett, former chief justice of Minnesota. Address: Las Vegas, N. Mex.

OTIS, Edward Osgood:

Physician; born in Rye, N. H., Oct. 29, 1848; son of Rev. Israel Taintor and Olive (Morgan) Otis. He is a descendant from John Otis, who came to America in 1635, and is grandson of a Revolutionary soldier. He was educated in Phillips Exeter Academy, was graduated from Harvard College, A.B., in 1871, and from Harvard Medical School, M.D., 1877. He has been engaged in practice, since graduation, in Boston. His specialty is diseases of the lungs and climatology; and he has done much work in the crusade against tuberculosis. He founded the Tuberculosis Department of Boston Dispensary, the first of its kind in the United States, and is its senior physician; is professor of diseases of the lungs and of climatology in Tufts College Medical School, and visiting physician of the Massachusetts State Sanatorium for Tuberculosis. He was formerly president of the American Climatological Association, is a director of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis; president of the Boston Association for the Relief and Control of Tuberculosis; member of the Public Health Association, the American Academy of Medicine, American Medical Association, Boston Society of Medical Improvement, Boston Medical Library Association; and he is a corresponding member of the International Anti-tuberculosis Association. He has written many articles, published in various medical journals, upon tuberculosis and climate; and wrote a series of articles upon climate and health resorts for Wood's Handbook of Medical Sciences, second edition. Dr. Otis is a trustee of the Montgomery (Ala.) Industrial School. In politics he is a Republican, and he is a deacon in the Congregational Church. Dr. Otis is a member of the Massachusetts Society of Sons of the American Revolution, and of the University Club of Boston. He married in Boston, June 6, 1894, Marion Faxon, and they have five children. Address: 381 Beacon Street, Boston.

OTIS, Elwell Stephen:

Major-general, U. S. Army, retired; born in Frederick City, Md., March 25, 1838; son of William Otis and Mary A. C. Otis. He was graduated from the University of Rochester, A.B., 1858, and from Harvard Law School, LL.B., 1861. He entered the army as a captain in the 140th New York Volunteers, Sept. 13, 1862; was promoted to lieutenant-colonel in 1863 and later to colonel. He was incapacitated on account of wounds, and mustered out, Jan. 24, 1865, having been brevetted brigadier-general, for gallantry and distinguished services. He was appointed lieutenant-colonel in the Regular Army, March 2, 1869; promoted colonel of the Twentieth Infantry, Feb. 8, 1880; brigadier-general, Nov. 28, 1893; major-general of U. S. Volunteers, May 4, 1898; major-general, U. S. Army, June 16, 1900. He was assigned to duty in San Francisco, May 19, 1898, mobilizing and shipping troops to the Philippines; departed for the Philippines, July 15, 1898, and relieved Major-General Merritt as commanding general of the United States Philippine forces and governor of the islands, Aug. 29, 1898. Major-General Otis conducted operations against the insurgents and performed duties of military governor until May 5, 1900. He was a member of the U. S. Philippine Commission in 1899. Subsequently he was assigned to command of the Department of Lakes and to temporary command of the Department of Dakota, a position he occupied until March 25, 1902, when he was honorably retired at the age limit. Address: Rochester, N. Y.

OTIS, Harrison Gray:

Brigadier-general, United States Volunteers, and editor of the Los Angeles Times; born in Washington County, Ohio, February 10, 1837; son of Stephen Otis and Sarah (Dyar) Otis. He enlisted as private in the Twelfth Ohio Volunteers, June 25, 1861; was promoted first sergeant, March 1, 1862, second lieutenant, Nov. 12, 1862, first lieutenant, May 30, 1863, captain July 1, 1864, on which date he was transferred to the Twenty-third Ohio Veteran Volunteers (of which Rutherford B. Hayes was colonel and William McKinley a major). In the winter of 1864-1865 he was assigned, as the senior captain present for duty, to the command of his regiment at Cumberland, Maryland, and led it up the Shenandoah Valley to Harrisonburg, where he was provost marshal up to the close of the war, when he was brevetted major and lieutenant-colonel for gallant and meritorious services and honorably discharged Aug. 1, 1865. He became owner of a small newspaper and printing plant at Marietta, Ohio, in 1865; was foreman of the Government Printing Office at Washington, 1869-1870; chief of a division in the United States Patent Office, 1871-1876; editor and publisher of the Santa Barbara Press, March, 1876; principal United States Treasury agent in charge of the Seal Islands of Alaska from 1879-1881. He became a fourth owner in the Los Angeles Times, Aug. 1, 1882, and in Oct., 1884, joined in the organization of the Times-Mirror Company for its publication, and has been its president and general manager since 1886. He is also president and director in land companies and other enterprises. In 1898 he served in the Spanish-American War, and in 1899 in the Filipino Insurrection, as brigadier-general of Volunteers, having been appointed by President McKinley, May 27, 1898, and assigned, first, to the Independent Division, Philippine Islands Expeditionary Forces, at Camp Merritt, Calif., then to the command of the second section of the fourth sea expedition to the Philippines, and subsequently to the Eighth Corps at Manila, where he commanded the First Brigade of the First Division, and then the First Brigade of the Second Division, holding the left of the American line on the northern front of Manila. He was present, in command of his brigade, at the Filipino outbreak on the night of Feb. 4, 1899, and participated with his command, constantly on the advance line, in all its subsequent actions, up to and including the capture of Malolos, March 31, 1899. On April 2, 1899, Brigadier-General Otis was relieved of his command at his own request, and returned to the United States, where he was honorably discharged from the military service, July 2, 1899; and he was brevetted major-general for meritorious conduct in action at Calocan, March 25, 1899. General Otis is an Independent Republican in politics. He was official reporter of the Ohio House of Representatives in the session of 1866-67; was a delegate from Kentucky to the National Republican Convention at Chicago, which nominated Abraham Lincoln for President in 1860; and delegate to the Soldiers' and Sailors' Convention at Chicago, 1868, which first nominated General U. S. Grant for the Presidency. He is president of the Board of Trustees of the projected Women's College of the Pacific, president of the Board of Trustees of the King's Daughters Day Nursery; member of the American Academy of Sciences, Associated Press and American Newspaper Publishers' Association; also a member of the Grand Army of the Republic, Military Order of the Loyal Legion, Society of the Army of the Potomac, Military Order of Foreign Wars, United Spanish War Veterans, National Society of the Army of the Philippines, Veteran Army of the Philippines, Manila, Landmarks Society for the Preservation of Old Missions, Sequoia League, Citizens' Alliance of Los Angeles, California Club and Jonathan Club. He married at Lowell, Ohio, September 11, 1859, Eliza A. Wetherby, who died November 1904; and who was associated with her husband in journalism for more than a quarter of a century. Residence: the Bivouac, Westlake, Los Angeles. Office address: The Times Building, Los Angeles, Calif.

OTJEN, Theobold:

Ex-congressman, lawyer; born in West China, St. Clair County, Mich., Oct. 27, 1851. He was educated in the Marine City (Mich.) Academy and in a private school in Detroit. He was employed as foreman in the rolling mill of the Milwaukee Iron Company at Milwaukee, 1870-1872; entered the law department of the University of Michigan, was graduated LL.B., 1875, and was immediately admitted to the bar at Ann Arbor. He practised law in Detroit until the fall of 1883, when he moved to Milwaukee, where he has since resided, and is engaged in the practice of law and in the real estate business. He was elected a member of the Common Council of the City of Milwaukee in April, 1887, and was reelected for three successive terms, serving seven years in all; was a trustee of the Milwaukee Public Library, 1887-1891, and a trustee of the Milwaukee Public Museum, 1891 to 1894. He was nominated as the Republican candidate for Congress in 1892 and ran against Hon. John L. Mitchell, formerly Senator, but was defeated; was again the Republican candidate in 1893 for the seat in Congress made vacant by the election of Mr. Mitchell to the Senate, but was again defeated; was elected to the Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, and Fifty-eighth Congresses, and reëlected to the Fifty-ninth Congress, from the Fourth District of Wisconsin, serving until March 3, 1907. Address: Milwaukee, Wis.

OTT, Isaac:

Physician; born in Northampton County, Pa., Nov. 30, 1847; son of Jacob and Sarah A. (La Barre) Ott. He attended Lafayette College, receiving the honorary degree of A.M. and graduated M.D., from the University of Pennsylvania, 1869. He is professor of physiology at the Medico-Chirurgical College of Philadelphia, and also consulting neurologist to the Norristown Asylum. Dr. Ott is author of: Text-Book of Physiology, 3d edition, also contributor to Physiology and Pathology of Nervous System, eighteen parts, containing over a thousand pages octavo. He is a member of the American Physiological Society, American Neurological Society, Society for Experimental Biology, and Medicine; ex-fellow in biology, Johns Hopkins University. He is a Mason, and a member of the Philadelphia Medical Club. Dr. Ott married in Belvidere, N. J., 1886, Katherine Kennedy Wyckoff. Residence: 18 North Fourth Street, Easton, Pa. Business address: Medico-Chirurgical College, Philadelphia.

OVERMAN, Lee Slater:

U. S. Senator and lawyer; born in Salisbury, N. C., Jan. 3, 1854; son of William and Mary E. Overman. He was graduated from Trinity College, N. C., A.B., 1874, A.M., 1876; taught school, 1875-1876; was private secretary to Governor Vance, 1877-1878, and to Governor Jarvis, in 1879, and in 1878 was admitted to the bar. He was a member of the North Carolina Legislature in the biennial session from 1883 until 1893 and again in 1900; and was speaker of that body in 1893. In 1895 he was candidate for United States Senator; was president of the Democratic State Convention in 1900; presidential elector in 1900, and was elected U. S. Senator in 1903, and again in 1909, for a second term, which will expire March 3, 1915. In 1894 he was president of the North Carolina Railroad, and he is now president of the Salisbury Savings Bank. Senator Overman married, Oct. 31, 1878, Mary Merrimon. Address: Salisbury, N. C.

OVERSTREET, Jesse:

Congressman; born in Johnson County, Ind., Dec. 14, 1859. He received a common school and collegiate education, and was admitted to the bar in 1886; served as secretary of the National Republican Congressional Committee through the campaigns of 1898, 1900, 1902 and 1904, 1906 and 1908, and has taken an active part in the management of these campaigns; was elected to the Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth Congresses and Sixtieth Congress from the Seventh Indiana District. He was chairman of the House Committee on Post offices and Post Roads and made valuable investigations into the details of Post Office management. He was defeated for reëlection in 1908. Address: Indianapolis, Ind.

OVERTON, Gwendolen:

Writer; born in Fort Hays, Kansas, 1874; daughter of Gilbert Edmond and Jane Dyson (Watkins) Overton. She is author of: Heritage of Unrest; Captains of The World; Anne Carmel; Golden Chain; Captain's Daughter, and numerous magazine and newspaper articles. Address: 2827 Harvard Boulevard, Los Angeles, Cal.

OWEN, Charles Lorin:

Anthropologist; born in Union Station, Ohio, Sept. 3, 1861; son of Thomas W. Owen and Elizabeth (Bishop) Owen. He was graduated from Denison University, Granville, Ohio, as A.B., 1885, graduate student of Peabody Museum, Harvard College, 1893. He was civil engineer, 1885-1893; assistant curator, Division of Archaeology, Field Museum of Natural History, since 1901. He was in charge of the Fourth and Fifth Stanley McCormick Archaeological Expeditions to the Southwest in 1900 and 1901, also various expeditions of Museum to the Southwest. Mr. Owen is a member of the American Folklore Society; fellow of the American Ethnological Society, American Association for the Advancement of Science, charter member of the Anthropological Association, member Wisconsin Natural History Society and Wisconsin Archaeological Society; member of Local Advisory Committee of the American Health League, of Committee of One Hundred on National Health, also a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity. He married in Washington, Iowa, Jan. 6, 1892, Sara McJunkin, and has two sons and two daughters. Residence: 5823 Madison Avenue. Business address: Field Museum Natural History, Chicago.

OWEN, Mary Alicia:

Author; born in St. Joseph, Mo.; daughter of James Alfred and Agnes Jeanette (Cargill) Owen. She was educated in private schools by tutors, and in Vassar College. Miss Owen has taken a deep interest in historical and anthropological research, and particularly in folk-lore, and is author of the books: Voodoo Tales; The Daughter of Alouette; Folk-lore of the Musquakie Indians; An Ozark Gypsy; The Sacred Council Hills; papers for International Folk-lore Congresses, the Congress of Religions, Encyclopædia of Religion and Ethics; also poems, tales, letters of travel, biographical and historical sketches, etc. She is president of the Missouri Folk-Lore Society; councillor and life member of the American Folk-Lore Society; honorary member of the English Folk-Lore Society; member of the Gypsy-Lore Society (Edinburgh); honorary member of the Missouri Historical Society (St. Louis), and of the Missouri State Historical Society (Columbia); member of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, American Association for the Advancement of Science. Miss Owen is first vice-president of the Board of Sheltering Arms, an institution for the care of destitute and mistreated little children; and a life member of the Humane Society. She is honorary member of the St. Louis Chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution; member of the American Civic Alliance; honorary member of the Wednesday Club of St. Louis and the Shakespeare Club of Clinton, Mo. Address: 306 North 9th Street, St. Joseph, Mo.

OXNARD, Benjamin A.:

Beet sugar refiner; born in New Orleans, December 10, 1855. He was graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1875, and after that devoted himself to the sugar refining industry in Brooklyn, New York, and latter in New Orleans, where he is president of the Adeline Sugar Factory Company; and he is also interested in other factories both for cane and beet sugar production, and has been actively identified with the promotion of the beet sugar industry. Address: 1730 Palmer Avenue, New Orleans, La.

OXNARD, Henry Thomas:

Manufacturer; born in Marseilles, France, June 22, 1860; son of Thomas Oxnard and Louise Adeline (Brown) Oxnard. After graduation from the Latin School of Roxbury, Mass., he entered Harvard College, from which he was graduated as A.B. in 1882. Mr. Oxnard has devoted his energies to the promotion of the beet sugar industry, in which he is largely interested and is vice-president and director of the American Beet Sugar Company, and also a director of the Oxnard Construction Company. He is president of the American Beet Sugar Association, a protective organization, the membership of which represents all the beet sugar factories in the United States. He is a member of the Union and University Clubs of New York. Residences: Oxnard, Calif., and Union Club, San Francisco. Office: 32 Nassau Street, New York City.

OZMUN, Edward Henry:

Consul-general; born at Rochester, Minn., Aug. 6, 1856; son of Abraham and Maria (Schenck) Ozmun. He was educated in the Universities of Wisconsin and Michigan, graduating from the latter in 1881, and afterward studied law, and was admitted to the Minnesota bar. He practised law at St. Paul, Minn., and for five years was counsel to the Northern Pacific Railroad Company. He was president of the St. Paul Bar Association for seven years, secretary of the Minnesota Bar Association for four years, and for seven years was a member of the State Board of Examiners in Law. He was also active in the political affairs of his State as a Republican, and was for four years a member of the Minnesota State Senate, and while in that position took an important place in legislation, and was author of the Corrupt Practices Act passed by the Legislature of Minnesota in 1895. He was appointed by President McKinley in 1897, American consul at Stuttgart, Germany, remaining there until promoted in May, 1906, to consul-general and transferred to Constantinople, Turkey, where he is now serving. Mr. Ozmun is a member of the Congress of Americanists, the Württemberg Geographic Society and the Stuttgart Art Society, and he is also a member of the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution. Mr. Ozmun has traveled extensively in the interiors of Egypt and Turkey, making in Asia Minor many long journeys in wagons and on horseback where few Europeans have ever been. Mr. Ozmun was appointed by Secretary of State Elihu Root a member of the Consular Reorganization Board, which consisted of five of the older Consuls General in the service and who were called to Washington in June, 1906, to assist the Department of State in reorganizing the Consular Service pursuant to the act of Congress that year, classifying that service and placing it on a permanent basis. In the winter of 1908-9 Mr. Ozmun delivered addresses before the commercial bodies of the chief cities of the U. S. on the subject of Foreign Trade, and at the larger universities of America upon the Diplomatic and Consular Services of the United States. He is a member of the Club de Constantinople. He married at Weedsport, New York, Nov. 21, 1894, Clara B. Goodman, and they have two children. Address: American Consulate General, Constantinople, Turkey.

P

PADDOCK, Robert Lewis:

Bishop of Eastern Oregon; born in Brooklyn, N. Y., Dec. 24, 1869; son of Bishop John Adams and Frances Chester (Fanning) Paddock. He was educated in the Brooklyn Polytechnic School, St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H., Trinity College, Hartford, Conn. B. A., 1894; M. A., 1897; Barkely Divinity School, Middletown, Connecticut 1897 and took Holy Orders. He was general travelling secretary of the Church Students' Missionary Association; was in charge of St. Paul's Church, Southington, Conn., St. Paul's Church, Cleveland, Ohio, 1897-1898; vicar of the Pro-Cathedral and canon of Cathedral of Saint John the Divine, 1898-1902; rector of the Church of the Holy Apostles, New York City, 1902-1908. He was elected by the General Convention of the Episcopal Church, Oct., 1907, and in Jan., 1908 was consecrated in the Church of the Holy Apostles, New York City, as Bishop of Eastern Oregon. While rector of the Church of the Holy Apostles, he was interested in the reform movement which resulted in driving out Van Wyck, Devery and Tammany and bringing in Seth Low and Jerome. He helped organize the Adelphi Club of Young ministers (Interdenominational); also Chelsea Improvement Committee; was president of the Lower West Side Association of Pastors and Other Workers, and in connection with his church had a church settlement with seven or eight resident workers. Address: Baker City, Ore.

PADGETT, Lemuel Phillips:

Congressman and lawyer; born in Columbia, Tenn., Nov. 28, 1855. He was educated in private schools and at Erskine College, Due West, S. C., being graduated A.B., 1876. He studied law in a law office, and was licensed to practise in March, 1877, but did not begin active practice until Jan., 1879, and has since continued therein at Columbia. Mr. Padgett was one of the Democratic Presidential electors in 1884; in 1898 was elected to the State Senate and served during the term; was elected to the Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth Congresses and reelected to the Sixty-first Congress from the Seventh Tennessee District. He married, Nov. 11, 1880, Miss Ida B. Latta of Columbia. Address: Columbia, Tenn.

PAGE, Carroll Smalley:

U. S. Senator, ex-governor, banker and merchant; born in Westfield, Vt., Jan. 10, 1843; son of Russell Smith and Mary Melina (Smalley) Page. He was educated in Lamoille County Grammar School, Johnson, Vt., People's Academy, Morrisville, Vt., and Lamoille Central Academy, Hyde Park, Vt.; and the degree of LL.D. was conferred upon him by Norwich University, Northfield, Vt. He is said to be the largest dealer in green calfskins in this country, having been in that business since 1855; is president of the Lamoille County National Bank, Hyde Park, and of the Lamoille County Savings Bank and Trust Company, and is trustee of the Lamoille Central Academy, Brigham Academy and of the Vermont Sanitorium (tubercular). He was a member of the Vermont House of Representatives, 1869-1872; the Vermont State Senate, 1874-1876; was savings bank examiner for the State of Vermont, 1884-1888; governor of Vermont, 1890-1892. He was elected to the U. S. Senate, Oct. 21, 1908, to fill a vacancy caused by the death of Hon. Redfield Proctor, and his term of service will expire March 3, 1911. Senator Page is a director of the St. Johnsbury and Lake Champlain Railroad Company; treasurer of the Lamoille Publishing Company; of the Morse Manufacturing Company, the Hyde Park Lumber Company. In politics he is identified with the Republican party. Governor Page married at Morrisville, Vt., April 11, 1865, Elen Frances Patch, and they have three children. Address: Hyde Park, Vt.

PAGE, Edward Day:

Merchant; born in Haverhill, Mass., May 10, 1856; son of Henry A. and Maria (Clarke) Page. He was graduated from Sheffield Scientific School of Yale University, Ph.B., 1875. In 1884 he became a partner of the firm of Faulkner, Page and Company, which was established in 1834; and since 1900 has been senior partner. He has been councilman of the Borough of Oakland, Bergen County, N. J., since 1902; is president of the South Orange and Maplewood Traction Company; treasurer of the Montrose Realty and Improvement Company; and director of the Whittenton Manufacturing Company. He is a fellow of the Royal Statistical Society of Great Britain; member Société de Économie Sociale of Paris; the Chamber of Commerce, the New York Historical Society, the American Statistical Association, the American Economic Association, the British Economic Association, the American Social Science Association, the American Association for the Advancement of Science; president of the Merchants' Protective Association; director of the Merchants' Club, and member of the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity; director of the Craftsmen Society, the Municipal Art Society, and of the People's Institute. In 1908 he was appointed by Governor Hughes to be a member of the committee to investigate the methods of Investment and Speculation in Commodities and Securities now (1909) in session. He is a member of the Century Association and of the Merchants', National Arts, Tuxedo and North Woods Clubs. Mr. Page married in South Orange, N. J., in 1883, Cornelia Lee; they have three children. Address: 58 Worth Street, New York City.

PAGE, Marie Danforth:

Portrait painter; born in Boston; daughter of John Nourse Danforth and Hannah Maria (Rhodes) Danforth. She was educated in Gannett Institute, and the School of Drawing and Painting of the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston. She married in Boston, June 10, 1896, Calvin Gates Page, M.D. Mrs. Page is a member of the Copley Society of Boston. Address: 128 Marlborough Street, Boston, Mass.

PAGE, Robert Newton:

Congressman; born in Cary, Wake County, N. C., Oct. 26, 1859; son of Allison

Francis and Kate (Raboteau) Page. He was educated at Cary High School and Bingham Military School; moved to Moore County in 1880. Mr. Page has been for more than twenty years actively engaged in the lumber business and has been treasurer of the Aberdeen and Asheboro Railroad Carolina District. He married in Manly, Company since 1890. He removed to Montgomery County in 1897, and was elected from that county to the Legislature of 1901. He was elected to the Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth Congresses and reelected to the Sixtieth Congress from the Seventh North N. C., June 20, 1888, Flora Shaw, and they have four children. Address: Bismarek, N. C.

PAGE, S. Davis:

Lawyer; born in Philadelphia, Sept. 22, 1840; son of William B. Page, an eminent physician. In 1859 he was graduated from Yale College; then read law in the office of Peter McCall, and at the Harvard Law School and was admitted to the bar in 1864. Since that time he has been actively engaged in the practice of law. Twenty years after his admission he formed the law firm of Page and Allinson, to which Boies Penrose, now United States Senator, was afterward admitted. The firm of Page, Allinson and Penrose was dissolved on death of Mr. Allinson in 1901, and is succeeded by Page and Page, in which Howard W. Page only is associated with his father. In 1883 Mr. Page was made city controller, serving nearly one year, in which he very ably managed the city's affairs. He was appointed assistant treasurer of the United States at Philadelphia in 1886, and administered the office with very general satisfaction till 1890. He also served in the Philadelphia Common Council from 1877 to 1881 and in 1882 and 1883, when he resigned, after the most active and valuable service both on important committees and on the floor of councils. In 1879 he was the Democratic candidate for city treasurer, and again in 1882, and for city controller in 1883. In 1891 he was one of the commission appointed by the governor to investigate the accounts of John Bardsley, derelict city treasurer, with the Keystone National Bank. In 1893, under commission by the governor he delivered an address on Pennsylvania before the Bankers' Convention at Columbian Exposition. Mr. Page is a director of the Quaker City National Bank, and was its president in 1890 and 1891. He has been a director of the Merchants' Trust Company since its incorporation. He is a member of the Historical Societies of Pennsylvania and Virginia, of the Sons of the Revolution, of the Colonial Wars and Colonial Society, of the American Bar Association, Pennsylvania Bar Association, Law Association of Philadelphia, of the Rittenhouse, University, City and Democratic Clubs, of Historical Societies of Pennsylvania. Married Isabel Graham, youngest daughter of the late Wm. Worth, of Philadelphia, Sept. 25, 1861, who died March 23, 1867, leaving three children: Howard, Wurts, Wm. Byrd and Ethel Nelson Page, all since married. Address: 281 Fourth Street, Philadelphia.

PAGE, Thomas Nelson:

Author; born at Oakland Plantation, Va., April 23, 1853; second son of Major John Page (late Confederate States Army) and Elizabeth Burwell Nelson. He was educated in Washington and Lee University and the University of Virginia, and has the degrees of B.L., D.L., and LL.D. He practised law in Richmond, Va., 1875-1893; delivered lectures on subjects connected with the history of the Southern States, and wrote and published stories and essays. He is author of: In Old Virginia, or Marse Chan and Other Stories, 1887; Two Little Confederates, 1888; On Newfound River, 1891; Among the Camps, 1891; The Old South, Essays, Social and Historical, 1891; Elsket, and Other Stories, 1892; Befo' de War, Poems in Negro Dialect, (with A. C. Gordon), 1888; Pastime Stories, 1894; The Burial of the Guns, 1894; The Old Gentleman of the Black Stock, 1896; Red Rock, 1898; Santa Claus' Partner, 1899; Social Life in Virginia Before the War, 1901; A Captured Santa Claus, 1902; Gordon Keith, 1903; Bred in the Bone and Other Stories, 1904; The Negro, the Southerner's Problem, 1904; Bred in the Bone, 1905; The Coast of Bohemia (poems), 1906; Under the Crust 1907. Mr. Page is a member of the Metropolitan, Cosmos and Chevy Chase Clubs of Washington, D. C.; Westmoreland Club, Richmond, Va.; the Southern Society; University, Century and Authors Clubs, New York; and the Tavern Club, Boston, Mass. Address: 1759 R Street, Washington, D. C.

PAGE, Walter H.:

Editor and publisher; born in Cary, N. C., Aug. 15, 1855; son of A. F. Page. He was graduated from Randolph Macon College, and was a fellow of Johns Hopkins University. He was editor of the Forum, (New York), 1890-1895; of the Atlantic Monthly, (Boston), 1896-1899 and of the World's Work, since 1900, and he is author of: The Rebuilding of Old Commonwealths. He is a member of the firm of Doubleday, Page and Company, publishers. Mr. Page is a member of the University, and National Arts Clubs. He married Alice Wilson, of Michigan, and they have three sons and one daughter. Address: 133 East Sixteenth Street, New York City.

PAINE, Arthur Richards:

Physician; born in Holden, Mass., 1846; son of Rev. William Pomeroy and Sarah (Mack) Paine. He was educated in the Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn, Williston Seminary, East Hampton, Mass., Amherst College, A.B., 1871, A.M., 1874; and the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University, M.D., 1875. He was house physician and surgeon of the Brooklyn Hospital, 1874-1875; attending surgeon to the Brooklyn Orthopaedic Infirmary; attending physician to the Helping Hand Dispensary; also to the Atlantic Avenue Dispensary, 1874-1880, and the Brooklyn Hospital since 1879, and is now president of the professional staff. He is a member of the council and consulting physician of the Long Island College Hospital. Dr. Paine is a member of the Kings County Medical Society, the New York State Medical Association, the American Medical Academy, Physicians' Mutual Aid Association, the Brooklyn Pathological Society; trustee of the Clinton Avenue Congregational Church, Brooklyn; and a member of the Brooklyn University Club, of which he is founder, charter member and a member of the council since its foundation. He married in Brooklyn, Sept. 17, 1883, Carrie P. Ashmead, and they have one son. Address: 379 Washington Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

PAINE, Nathaniel:

Banker; born in Worcester, Mass., Aug. 6, 1832; son of Gardiner and Emily (Baker) Paine, and a descendant of Stephen Paine of Norfolk, England, who emigrated in 1638 to Hingham, Mass., removing to Seekonk in 1643. He was brought up on his father's farm; was an errand boy and clerk in the Mechanics' Bank of Worcester; assistant cashier in the City National Bank of Worcester, 1854-1857, cashier, 1857-1898; president, 1898-1906; and was vice-president of the Worcester Trust Company from the merging of the bank with that company in 1903. He was treasurer of the Worcester County Horticultural Society sixteen years; of the American Antiquarian Society forty-four years, and of the American Historical Association; member of council of the Massachusetts Historical Society; member of the New England Historic-Genealogical Society, Worcester Society of Antiquity and National Geographic Society. Mr. Paine is vice president of the Worcester Five-Cent Savings Bank; one of the founders of the Worcester Art Society, and director of the Art Museum Corporation and Free Public Library eighteen years. His honorary membership with learned societies extends over the world, and he is the author of valuable historical and genealogical contributions to current literature and to society proceedings. He married, June 14, 1865, Susan M. Barnes. Address. Worcester, Mass.

PAINE, Robert Treat, Jr.:

Real estate trustee; born in Waltham, Mass., Aug. 9, 1866; son of Robert Treat and Lydia Williams (Lyman) Paine. He was graduated from Harvard, A.B., 1888. Mr. Paine is trustee of the Boston Suburban Development Companies One and Two, of the Church Avenue Real Estate Association, the Pelham Associates, the People's Institute, the New York Suburbs Company; the Wells Memorial Institute, the Winthrop Development Trust, the Wood-Harmon Associates, the Wood-Harmon Real Estate Association, the Wood-Harmon Real Estate Trustees, and director and secretary of the Brooklyn Development Company, the Greater New York Development Company, director of the Wood-Harmon Bond Company, the Workingmen's Loan Association, the Metropolitan Associates of New York and clerk and director of the Workingmen's Building Association. He is president of the Robert Gould Shaw Settlement House for colored people; treasurer of the Boston Home and School Association; member of the executive committee of the Boston Society for the Relief and Control of Tuberculosis, of the executive committee of St. John's Episcopal Church, Beverly Farms, Mass., the executive committee of the National Municipal League; president of the Massachusetts Public Opinion League and Massachusetts Direct Legislation League. He was a member of the Boston School Board 1902, 1903 and 1904; Democratic candidate for governor, 1899 and 1900, and captain of the Fifth Company Massachusetts Provisional Infantry, 1898. He married in Washington, D. C., Dec. 7, 1898, Marie Louise Mattingly, and their children are: Dorothy and Robert Treat, 3d. Address: 85 State Street, Boston.

PAINE, Robert Treat, 2d.:

Lawyer; born in New Bedford, Mass.; son of William Cushing and Hannah Hathaway (Perry) Paine. He was graduated from Harvard, A.B., 1882. Mr. Paine is president and director of the Railway and Light Securities Company; treasurer and director of the Workingmen's Loan Association; vice-president and director of the Brooklyn Development Company, and of the Greater New York Development Company; trustee of the Boston and Worcester Electric Companies, of the Central Aguirre Sugar Companies, of the Milton Academy, of the Staten Island Associates, the Suffolk Savings Bank for Seamen and others, and the Wood-harmon Real Estate Trustees; director of the American Gas and Electric Company, the Boston Children's Aid Society, the Brooklyn Associates, the City Trust Company, the Dallas Electric Corporation, the Electric Bond and Share Company, the Kingsboro Realty Company, the Northern Texas Electric Company, the Old Colony Trust Company, the Ponce and Guyama Railroad, the Rutland Railroad, the Tacoma Railway, and Power Company, the Tampa Electric Company, the United Electric Securities Company, the United Shoe Machinery Company, the United States Smelting and Refining Mining Company, the Winona Electric Company, and director and member of the Executive Committee of the General Electric Company, and a member of the Corporation of Simmons College. Mr. Paine married in Brookline, May 28, 1890, Ruth Cabot. Address: 60 State Street, Boston.

PALMER, Anna Campbell ("Mrs. George Archibald"):

Author; born in Elmira, N. Y., Feb. 3, 1854; daughter of James Barbour and Sally Peck (Carpenter) Campbell. She was educated in public and private schools in Elmira and Ithaca, N. Y., and was married in Elmira, N. Y., Sept. 28, 1880, to George Archibald Palmer, and has two daughters. Mrs. Palmer has held editorial positions on the Elmira Telegram and Elmira Advertiser, was editor of the Young Men's Journal (Young Men's Christian Association magazine), and of the Key-Note, a musical and social magazine, and has done a large amount of work for newspapers of all sorts, and contributed to Judge, The Youth's Companion, Harper's Bazar, Ladies' Home Journal, Delineator and other publications. She uses the pen-name, "Mrs. George Archibald," and is author of: The Summerville Prize, 1890; A Little Brown Seed, 1891; Lady Gay, 1891; Lady Gay and Her Sister, 1892; A Dozen Good Times, 1893; Three Times Three (in collaboration); Joel Dorman Steele (biography), 1900. Mrs. Palmer is a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and has been allied to various clubs and philanthropies in Elmira. Address: Elmira, N. Y.

PALMER, Frederic:

Clergyman and author; born in Boston, Mass., Aug. 6, 1848; son of Julius Auborneau and Lucy Manning (Peabody) Palmer. He was graduated from Phillips Academy, Andover, 1865, and Harvard University as A.B. in 1869, A.M., 1872, and the Andover Theological Seminary, S.T.B., 1872. He was pastor of the Congregational Church, Revere, Mass., 1874-1878; ordained to the ministry of the Episcopal Church, becoming deacon Dec. 6, 1878, and priest Dec. 18, 1879; assistant minister of Emmanuel Church, Boston, 1878-1879, in charge of Christ Church, Lonsdale, R. I., 1879-1880, rector of the Church of Our Saviour, Jenkintown, Pa., 1880-1888, rector of Christ Church, Andover, Mass., since 1888. He is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society, president of trustees of Punchard Free School, Andover, instructor in biblical literature in Bradford Academy, Bradford, Mass., and a member of the Clericus and Twenty Clubs of Boston. He is author of: Studies in Theologic Definition, 1895, The Drama of the Apocalypse, 1903, and a contributor to the Andover Review, The New World, and the Hibbert Journal. Mr. Palmer married in Brookline, Mass., May 22, 1877, Mary Towle, and they have a son, Frederic Palmer, Jr., dean of Haverford College, Pa. Address: Andover, Mass.

PALMER, George Herbert:

Professor in Harvard University; born in Boston, March 19, 1842; son of Julius Auborneau and Lucy (Peabody) Palmer. He was graduated from Harvard University A.B., 1864; was a student at the University of Tübingen, 1867-1869; graduated from Andover Theological Seminary, 1870; and has received the degree of LL.D. from the University of Michigan, 1894, Union University, 1895, and Harvard University, 1905, and that of Litt.D. from Western Reserve University, 1898. He was a tutor in Greek at Harvard, 1870-1873, assistant professor of philosophy, 1873-1883, professor of philosophy, 1883-1889, and since 1889 Alford professor of natural religion, moral philosophy and civil polity. He made a translation of the Odyssey into English rhythmic prose, published in 1891, and of the Antigone of Sophocles, 1899. Professor Palmer is author of: The New Education, 1887; The Glory of the Imperfect, 1898; The Field of Ethics, 1901; The Nature of Goodness, 1904; wrote and edited The Life and Works of George Herbert (three volumes), 1905; The Life of Alice Freeman Palmer, 1908; The Teacher, 1908. He married, first, in 1871, Ellen Margaret Wellman, of Brookline, Mass., who died in 1879; and second, in 1887, Alice Freeman, president of Wellesley College, who died in 1902. Address: Cambridge, Mass.

PALMER, Henry E.:

General underwriter; born in Lake County, Ohio, July 31, 1841; son of Levi S. and Elizabeth (Cowles) Palmer. He was educated in a country school in Wisconsin, 1853-1860. On March 7, 1860, he left home and walked 1250 miles to Central City, Colo., from Baraboo, Wis. He enlisted as a private in the Union Army, July 31, 1861; was commissioned second lieutenant Aug. 24, 1862; first lieutenant Dec. 31, 1862; captain Feb. 24, 1863; and was honorably mustered out Nov. 2, 1865. He was State agent and adjuster for Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado and the Territories for the Home Insurance Company of New York (fire), 1872-1889, since then in general insurance business in Omaha. He was department commander of the Nebraska Grand Army of the Republic, 1884; grand high priest of Masons, 1884-1885; fire and police commissioner of Omaha, two years; park commissioner of Omaha, five years; postmaster of Omaha, 1904-1908. He is president of the Omaha Board of Trade Building Company, and secretary of The Sheridan Land Company of Sheridan, Wyo. He is a Republican and was chairman of the Executive Committee of the State Republican Central Committee during the McKinley Campaign in Nebraska; is a member of the Board of Managers of the National Home for Disabled Veteran Soldiers, for the term 1902-1910. He is a Mason, Knight Templar and Shriner, Elk, Knight of Pythias, commander of the Nebraska Commandery of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, and of the Omaha and Commercial Clubs of Omaha. He married in Plattsmouth, Neb., June 25, 1870, Laura Z. Case, and has one daughter. Residence: 1608 South 32d Avenue. Office: Brander's Block, Omaha, Neb.

PALMER, Henry Wilbur:

Congressman and lawyer; born at Clifford, Susquehanna County, Pa., July 10, 1839; son of Gideon W. Palmer. He was educated at Wyoming Seminary, Kingston, Pa., Fort Edward (N. Y.) Institute, and the National Law School of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., LL.B. in 1860. He was admitted to the bar at Peekskill, N. Y., in 1860, and at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., in 1861; served in the pay department of the Union Army in the Civil War at New Orleans, 1862-1863; was a member of the Constitutional Convention of Pennsylvania, 1872-1873, and attorney-general of the State, 1879-1883. He was elected as a Republican to the Fifty-seventh Congress, Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth Congresses, in which he served until March 4, 1907. In 1908 he was again elected and is now serving in the Sixty-first Congress from the Eleventh Pennsylvania District. He married at Plattsburg, N. Y., Sept. 12, 1861, Ellen M. Webster. Address: Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

PALMER, Leslie Richard:

Lawyer; born in Thompson Ridge, N. Y., Feb. 20, 1877; son of Richard H. and Anna (Dickinson) Palmer. He was graduated from Walden High School, 1892, Ithaca High School, 1893, Cornell University, Ph.B., and LL.B., 1897. He is president of the First National Bank of Croton-on-the-Hudson, Croton Docks Company, Palmer Realty Company; secretary of the Brunswick Site Company, treasurer of the Commonwealth Securities Company, the Beneficial Holding Company, and director of the New York Architectural Terra Cotta Company, the W. L. Sutphin Realty Company, and of Wetherbee and Wood, Incorporated. He is a member of the New York County Lawyers' Association, Phi Delta Phi fraternity, is a Mason, and member of the Army and Navy Club of New York, Shattemue

Yacht, Economic, and Cornell University Clubs. Residence: Army and Navy Club. Office: 68 William Street, New York City.

PALMER, Lucia A.:

Author and artist; born in Dryden, N. Y.; daughter of Rockwell M. and Susan Chapman. She was educated in Rushford Academy, N. Y., the family school of her uncle and guardian, Hon. William G. Angel. When in Rushford Academy she met Dr. Horatio Richmond Palmer, principal of the Music Department, and two years later married him. Dr. and Mrs. Palmer spent nearly three years in the musical and art centers of Europe, and at one time they continued their travels to the Orient. Dr. Palmer who was a native of Sherburne, N. Y., and was educated in Rushford Academy, received the degree of Doctor of Music from the University of Chicago in 1882. He gained much distinction as author, composer and lecturer. He was in charge of the Church Choral Union in New York City for seven years, for fourteen years was dean of the Chautauqua Summer Music School and director of the Chautauqua Choir, and was author and composer of many of the most admired hymns, including "Yield Not to Temptation," "Galilee, Blue Galilee," "Come, Sinner, Come," "By and By We Shall Meet Him," "The Rose of Sharon," "Shall I Let Him In," and many others, and author of works on: The Theory of Music; Piano Primer; Dictionary of Musical Terms; Biographical Dictionary of Musicians, and fifty other works on musical subjects, and held a distinguished place in the musical world until his death in 1907. Mrs. Palmer began in art as a child, developing talent of a fine order, and also attained practical knowledge of art in architecture. The plans for their beautiful home overlooking the Hudson and commanding an extended view of the river and Palisades were drawn entirely from her dictation. She chose the situation, watched the construction of the house, laid out the grounds and superintended the planting of the trees and shrubbery. She was a prize winner in the Paris Exposition of 1900, and her exhibits in the Decorative Art Exhibition at Turin, Italy, in 1901, were praised by Queen Margherita and the Italian press. Mrs. Palmer began her literary work as a correspondent of a small up-State paper, afterward took up foreign correspondence and book making. She is author of: Grecian Days; Oriental Days; and Money and Misery. These books have won her much distinction. Queen Olga of Greece sent Mrs. Palmer a pleasant letter of acceptance of a volume of Grecian Days, and that book and Oriental Days, the bindings of which were designed by the author, met with much praise from the critics not only for literary merit, but also as exquisite specimens of binding and book-making. Mrs. Palmer is a press correspondent and a member of the Woman's National Press Association of Washington, D. C. Address: 73 Highland Avenue, Park Hill-on-Hudson, Yonkers, N. Y.

PALMER, Pauline:

Artist; born in McHenry, Ill., daughter of Nicholas and Francisca Lennards. She was educated in the Chicago Art Institute, and in Paris under Raphael Collin, Prinnet, Courtois and Simone. She married in Chicago, May 21, 1891, Dr. Albert Edward Palmer. Mrs. Palmer exhibited in the Paris Salon, 1903, 1905 and 1907, at the Omaha Exposition, 1898; St. Louis World's Fair, 1904, and in Chicago, Philadelphia and Buffalo. She received a bronze medal at the Grande Chaumière Academy in Paris; silver medal at the Colarossi Academy; bronze medal, St. Louis World's Fair, 1904; Marshall Field Prize, Chicago, 1907; Young Fortnightly prize, 1907; represented in the permanent Art Collection of the West End Woman's Club, Niké Club, Klio Association, and Arché Club. She was a member of the Jury of Awards, Art Exposition, State of Minnesota, 1908, is a member and trustee, Chicago Society of Artists; member of the Municipal Art League; honorary member of the North Side Art Club, Lake View Woman's Club, Chicago Water Color Club, and a member of the Chicago Woman's Club. Address: 5104 Winthrop Avenue, Chicago.

PALMER, Stephen S.:

Capitalist; born in New York City, Dec. 7, 1853. He is president and director of the Harvey Steel Company, New Jersey Zinc Company, Prime Western Spelter Company, St. Louis and Hannibal Railway Company, Green Bay and Western Railway Company, Iowa and Northern Railway, Empire Zinc Company, Kewanee, Green Bay and Western Railroad, McDonald Land and Mining Company, Palmer Water Company; vice-president and director of the Colonial Assurance Company, Detroit Hillside and Southwestern Railroad Company, Fort Wayne and Jackson Railroad Company, Bertha Mineral Company; treasurer and director of the Cayuga and Susquehanna Railway, Mineral Point Zinc Company; director of the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, National City Bank of New York, New York Edison Company, New York Mutual Gas Company and director in many other corporations. He is a member of the Union League, Metropolitan, Tuxedo, Players', Down Town, Century, New York Yacht, City Midway, Turf and Field and Essex County Clubs. Address: 52 Wall Street, New York City.

PALMER, Walter Launt:

Artist; born in Albany, N. Y., Aug. 1, 1854; son of Erastus Dow and Mary (Seaman) Palmer. He was a pupil of F. E. Church, Hudson, N. Y., and Carolus Duran, Paris. He is best known as a painter of winter scenes. He received the Hallgarten prize, New York City, 1887; medal, World's Fair, Chicago, 1893; gold medal, Philadelphia, 1894; Evans prize, New York City, 1895; first prize, Boston, 1895; second prize, Nashville Centennial, 1897; honorable mention, Paris, 1900; silver medal, Buffalo, 1901; silver medal, Charlestown, 1902; silver and bronze medals, St. Louis, 1904. He is a trustee and treasurer of the Albany Hospital; trustee of the Albany Medical College, and the Albany Rural Cemetery. Mr. Palmer has been an academician of the National Academy of Design since 1897, and is a member of the Society of American Artists, American Water Color Society, and the Century Club. He married, Dec. 26, 1895, Zoe de V. Wyndham, of Cockermouth, England, and they have one daughter. Address: 5 Lafayette Street, Albany, N. Y.

PALTSITS, Victor Hugo:

State historian of New York; born in New York City, July 12, 1867; son of William Thomas and Sidonia Ida (Loose) Paltsits. He was educated in the public and private schools of New York City, 1872-1881; took a scientific course in Cooper Institute, 1882-1886, German, Latin, Greek, Spanish and French at the high schools and by private tuition, and Coptic at Columbia University. He was connected with the Lenox Library, 1888-1907; assistant in reading-room in 1890, sub-librarian from 1893 to July, 1907, the title being changed to assistant librarian. He was nominated by Governor Charles E. Hughes as State historian, on July 15, and commissioned on July 24, 1907. Mr. Paltsits is editor of: The Journal of Captain William Pote, Jr., 1745-1747; prepared papers for the City of Charleston, relating to the Siege of Charleston in 1780, published in 1898; Captivity of Captain John Gyles, 1689-1697 (in preparation); Rev. John Miller's New York Considered and Improved, 1695, published in Cleveland, 1903; Captivity of Nehemiah How, Cleveland, 1904. He was on the editorial staff as bibliographical adviser of the Jesuit Relations and Allied Documents, 73 volumes, published in Cleveland from 1896 to 1901; revised volumes three and five of Appleton's Cyclopaedia of American Biography, edition of 1898, and furnished eighty-eight biographical sketches for the same. He is author of: Contributions to Bibliography of the Lettres Edifiantes, published in Cleveland, 1900; Bibliography of the Separate and Collected Works of Philip Freneau, New York, 1903; Scheme for the Conquest of Canada in 1746 (Worcester, 1905), which was read before the American Antiquarian Society; The Depredation at Pemaquid in August, 1689 (Portland 1905), read before the Maine Historical Society; The Almanacs of Roger Sherman (Worcester, 1907), read before the American Antiquarian Society; The Function of State Historian of New York (Albany, 1909), read before the New York State Historical Association; exhaustive bibliographies of the works of Father Louis Hennepin, of the Lewis and Clark Expedition, and of editions of Lahontan's Voyages and of Nicolas Denys; also articles in magazines and reviews on historical and bibliographical subjects; critical adviser on historical illustration for Avery's History of the United States, volumes 1 to 4, which will be fifteen volumes. As State historian he has edited large volumes of Minutes of the Commissioners for Detecting and Defeating Conspiracies in the State of New York, 1778-1781 (Albany, 1909), and Minutes of the Executive Council of the Province of New York, vol. 1: 1668-1673 (Albany, 1909). Mr. Paltsits has cooperated extensively with much of the bibliographical and historical work done by others in the United States and Canada. He is a member of the American Antiquarian Society, the American Anthropological Association, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, a fellow of the American Ethnological Society, of the American Historical Association, the Bibliographical Society of America, The Bibliographical Society of England, Gesellschaft für Typenkunde des xv. Jahrhunderts (Leipzig, Germany), the Maine Historical Society, New York Historical Society, honorary member of Schenectady County Historical Society, corresponding member of Maine and New Jersey Historical Societies, of the Prince Society of Boston, a founder of Bronx Society of Arts and Sciences; president of the New York Library Club, 1907-1908; vice-president, 1906-1907; and treasurer, 1905-1906; president of the Bronx Sunday School Association, 1905-1907; chairman of the Executive Committee of the Park Republican Club (incorporated), 1904-1906; a member of the Committee on Bibliography of the American Historical Association, 1907, and of the Public Archives Commission of the same society, 1908-1909; and Publication and Bulletin Committees of Bibliographical Society of America in 1906 to 1909, and a member of the Royal Arcanum. His favorite recreation is angling. Mr. Paltsits married in New York City, July 21, 1891, and his children are: Florence, born in 1892 and Victor John, born in 1896. Residence: New York City. Address: The Capitol, Albany, N. Y.

PARDEE, Don Albert:

Jurist; born in Wadsworth, Ohio, March 19, 1837; son of Aaron and Eveline (Eyles) Pardee, and a descendant of George Pardee who settled in New Haven, Conn., between 1637 and 1642. He was appointed to the U. S. Military Academy in 1854, but left in 1857 to study law with his father, and was admitted to the bar in 1859. He began practice at Medina, Ohio; was commissioned as major of the Forty-second Ohio Regiment in 1861, promoted lieutenant-colonel and participated in the battles of Chickasaw Bayou, Arkansas Post, Port Gibson, Raymond, Champion Hill, and two assaults on Vicksburg, serving during the siege as inspector-general of the Thirteenth Army Corps. He was mustered out in December, 1864, and on March 13, 1865, was brevetted colonel and brigadier-general for gallant services in the war. He practised law in New Orleans, 1865-1868; was registrar in bankruptcy for the Third Congressional District of Louisiana, 1867-1868, judge of the Second Judicial District of Louisiana, 1868-1881; member of the State Constitutional Convention of 1879; Republican candidate for attorney-general of Louisiana in 1880. He was appointed in 1881 circuit judge of the United States for the Fifth Judicial Circuit, and in 1898 he removed his residence to Atlanta. Address: Atlanta, Ga.

PARDEE, George Cooper:

Ex-governor, oculist; born in San Francisco, Calif., July 25, 1857; son of Dr. M. H. and Mary E. Pardee. He was graduated from the University of California, Ph.B., 1879, M.A., 1882, University of Leipzig (Germany), as M.D., 1885. Dr. Pardee was mayor, member of City Council and member of the Board of Health of Oakland; Regent of the State University, and governor of California, 1903-1907, elected on the Republican ticket. He is a member of the Alameda County Medical Society, State Medical Society of California, Astronomical Society of the Pacific, National Conservation Commission, a Mason, member of the Sons of the American Revolution, and the Nile Club. Governor Pardee married in Oakland, Calif., 1886, Helen N. Pennington, and they have four children. Residence: 672 Eleventh Street, Oakland. Office: Oakland Bank of Savings Buildings, Oakland, Calif.

PARDOW, William O'Brien:

Clergyman; born in New York City, June 13, 1847; son of Robert and Augusta Garnett (O'Brien) Pardow. He was graduated from St. Francis Xavier's College as A.B. in 1864, and took post-graduate courses in Montreal and Woodstock College, Maryland, also psychology and natural sciences in England and France, 1875-1880, studying Biblical criticism, Hebrew, theology and oratory. He was president of St. Xavier's College, 1889-1893; superior of Jesuits of New York and Maryland, 1893-1896; lectured in England and France, in Boston, New York City, Chicago, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Los Angeles, and San Francisco, also in the island of Jamaica, West Indies. Address: St. Joseph's College, Philadelphia.

PARET, William:

Bishop of Maryland; born at New York City, Sept. 23, 1826; son of John and Hester Paret. He was graduated from the academic course at Hobart College, Geneva, N. Y., 1849, receiving from it the degree of D.D. in 1867, and LL.D., 1886. He was ordered deacon of the Episcopal Church in 1852 by Bishop Chase, and ordained priest in 1853 by Bishop de Lancey. Since entering the ministry he has been connected consecutively with St. John's Church, Clyde, N. Y., Zion Church, Pierrepont Manor, N. Y., St. Paul's Church, East Saginaw, Mich., Trinity Church, Elnira, N. Y., Christ Church, Williamsport, Pa., and church of the Epiphany, Washington, D. C. He was elected Bishop of Maryland in 1884 and was consecrated in 1885 by Bishops A. Lee, Lay, Stevens, Neely, and Whitehead. Bishop Paret married in 1849, Maria G. Peck, who died, and in 1900, married Mrs.

Sarah Haskell. He is author of: St. Peter and the Primacy (New York Church Club Lectures); Pastoral Use of the Prayer Book, and canonical digests, charges and sermons. Address: 1110 Madison Avenue, Baltimore, Md.

PARK, Clara Cahill:

Portrait painter, writer and lecturer; born in Lansing, Mich., July 2, 1868; daughter of Edward Cahill, judge of the Supreme Court of Michigan and of Lucy (Crawford) Cahill; and is of distinguished Revolutionary Ancestry. After leaving the high school she went to the Cincinnati Art Academy in Eden Park, Cincinnati. Afterward to the Art Students' League in New York City, 1889-1890, studied in 1892 in the Chicago Art Institute, and later in the art galleries of Italy, and in Berlin and Strassburg. She married in Lansing, Mich., June 11, 1894, Robert Ezra Park, Ph.D., and has two sons and two daughters. Mrs. Park intended to be a portrait painter, and in that line has had some success, with pastels as a medium. She has, however, through her husband's work for the Congo and for Tuskegee and other inspiring objects, been drawn gradually into writing and speaking. She has recently become especially interested, through a study of Professor G. Stanley Hall's exhaustive work on "Adolescence," in that subject, and hopes to convey the valuable lessons derived from this study in simple and untechnical language to the people who are not versed in science. A series of Study Outlines on Adolescence by Mrs. Park, ran in the September, 1909, and subsequent numbers of The National Congress of Mothers Magazine. Mrs. Park has written various short magazine and newspaper stories; and among her articles some of the more notable are one published in Harper's Young People, March, 1894, on How an Art Student May Live in New York; a pamphlet for the Peace Congress in Boston 1904; The Treatment of Women and Children in the Congo State; also a reply to The Feminization of Boys, by G. Stanley Hall, which answer appeared in The Sunday Magazine, March 1, 1908. The first of a number of little tories suggesting the poetry of everyday life, "Being Married," appeared in The Sunday Magazine for Aug. 15, 1909. Mrs. Park is chairman of the Program Committee of the Quincy (Mass.) Woman's Club; member of Education Committee of the National Congress of Mothers, Parent-Teacher Association; was member of the Local Art Committee for the Biennial Convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs held in Boston in June, 1908; and she is president of the Mother's Club of Wollaston, Mass. Address: Hillside Avenue, Wollaston, Mass.

PARK, Roswell:

Surgeon; born in Pomfret, Conn., May 4, 1852; son of Roswell Park and Mary B. (Baldwin) Park. He was graduated from Racine College, A.B., 1872, A.M., 1875, Chicago Medical College, now Northwest University, M.D., 1876, honorary M.D. from Rush Medical College, 1892, honorary A.M. from Harvard, 1895, and LL.D. from Yale, 1902. He was demonstrator of anatomy at the Woman's Medical College, 1876, made adjunct professor of anatomy, Chicago Medical College, 1877, lecturer on surgery, Rush Medical College, 1882, professor of surgery, Medical Department of the University of Buffalo, 1883, which position he still holds, and surgeon to the Buffalo General Hospital since 1883. He is also president of the Spencer Lens Company; was for ten years brigade surgeon of the Fourth Brigade, National Guard of New York, and was on the Board of Visitors at West Point in 1907, appointed by President Roosevelt. He is author of: Park's Modern Surgery, 1907, History of Medicine, 1895, Mütter Lectures on Surgical Pathology, and of the hundred and fifty miscellaneous papers, addresses, essays and journal articles. Dr. Park is a member of the American Military Science Institute, German, Italian, French, International and American Surgical Associations, ex-president American Surgical Association, and of the Medical Society of the State of New York, member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, Buffalo Society of Natural Science, Buffalo Historical Society, ex-president Buffalo Musical Association, president of the Philharmonic Society; was medical director of the Pan-American Exposition, trustee of Buffalo State Hospital for Insane, and is a member of the Buffalo and Saturn Clubs, University, Park, and Yacht Clubs of Buffalo, and the University Club of New York. He married in Chicago, June 1, 1880, Martha P. Durkee, who died in 1900, and he has two children. Address: 510 Delaware Avenue, Buffalo, N. Y.

PARKER, Alton Brooks:

Jurist; born in Cortland, N. Y., May 12, 1852; son of John Brooks and Harriet F. (Stratton) Parker. He was educated at the Cortland Academy and the State Normal School at Cortland, and was graduated from the Albany Law School, LL.B., in 1872 (honorary chancellor and LL.D. from Union College in 1901). He was admitted to the bar in 1872; became partner with W. S. Kenyon, Jr., and practised at Kingston, N. Y. He was elected in 1877, reelected in 1883, surrogate of Ulster County; refused appointment as first assistant postmaster-general in 1885; appointed by Governor Hill, in 1885, justice of the Supreme Court of New York, to fill vacancy; elected for full term without opposition in 1886; appointed to Second Division, Court of Appeals, 1889; assigned to General Term, First Department (New York City), by Governor March, 1897; elected in 1897 chief judge of the Court of Appeals of New York; resigned in 1904. He is a Democrat; managed the successful campaigns of David B. Hill for governor in 1885, as chairman of the Democratic State Committee. He was nominated by the Democracy, July 9, 1904, for President of the United States, and on the same day sent his famous "gold standard" telegram; was defeated in the election by President Roosevelt; chosen president of the American Bar Association, Aug., 1906; now member of the law firm of Parker, Hatch and Sweeney, New York City. Mr. Parker is a member of the Century Association and of the Metropolitan Manhattan and National Democratic Clubs. He married, in 1873, Mary Louise, daughter of Moses I. Schoonmaker, a descendant of Joachim Schoonmaker one of the early Dutch settlers in Ulster County. They have one daughter. Residence: 574 Madison Avenue, New York City.

PARKER, Edmund M.:

Lawyer; born in Cambridge, Aug. 15, 1856. He was educated in private schools, the Reading and Cambridge High Schools, Harvard College, and Harvard Law School, from which he was graduated in 1882. He was admitted to the bar, and has since practised in Boston. Mr. Parker was a commissioner on the revision of the Cambridge city charter in 1890. He has been lecturer on administrative law at Harvard College since 1905; and is a member of the Union, Exchange and Oakley Country Clubs, and the Harvard Club of New York. Mr. Parker married, April 8, 1891, Alice Gray, and they have two children. Address: 131 State Street, Boston.

PARKER, Edward F.:

Physician; born in Charleston, S. C., Dec. 15, 1867; son of Francis LeJan and Elizabeth (Frost) Parker. He was educated in the South Carolina Military Academy, the University of Virginia, the Medical College of the State of South Carolina, and spent one year abroad in London in the study of a specialty, after five years general practice. He is a specialist in diseases of the eye, ear, nose and throat, and is clinical professor of diseases of the eye, ear, nose and throat and dean of the Faculty, in the Medical College of the State of South Carolina. He is a member of the American Medical Association, the American Laryngological and Otological Society, and the South Carolina Medical Association. Residence: 128 Tradd Street. Office: 70 Hasell Street, Charleston, S. C.

PARKER, Edward Melville:

Bishop-coadjutor of New Hampshire; born in Cambridge, Mass. in 1855; son of Henry Melville and Fanny Cushing (Stone) Parker. He was educated at St. Paul's School, Concord, and the University of Oxford, England, from which he was graduated

B.A., 1878 and M.A., 1881. He was ordered deacon of the Episcopal Church in 1879 by Bishop Niles, and in 1881 was ordained to the priesthood by Bishop Neely. He was master of St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H., 1879-1905, becoming priest in charge of Dunbarton, N. H., in 1880 and of East Weare, N. H., in 1890. He was consecrated bishop in 1906, and became bishop-coadjutor of the Diocese of New Hampshire. Address: Concord, N. H.

PARKER, George F.:

Journalist; born in Lafayette, Ind., Dec. 30, 1847; son of Thomas W. and Eliza Ann (Kirk) Parker. He was educated in common schools of Iowa and the State University at Iowa City. He was chairman of a district school in Iowa, 1871. Editor of papers in Iowa, Indiana, Washington, D. C., New Hampshire, Pennsylvania and New York City; was the first managing editor of the New York Press, 1887-1888; has been a contributor to London Times since 1896, and to many magazines both in England and the United States. Mr. Parker was secretary of the Democratic State Committee of Iowa, 1874-1875; connected with the Democratic State Committee of Pennsylvania in 1884; connected with the National Democratic Committee, 1880, 1888, 1892 and 1904; assistant postmaster of Philadelphia, 1885-1887; U. S. consul at Birmingham, 1893-1898; commissioner in the United Kingdom for the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, St. Louis, 1901-1904; head of the firm of Parker and Lee; secretary to the trustees of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States. He is a member of the Iowa and Pennsylvania Societies in New York, and the Church and Pilgrims' Clubs of New York City. Address: 120 Broadway, New York City.

PARKER, James Henry:

Merchant and banker; born in Johnston County, N. C., Jan. 4, 1843; son of Matthew and Martha Parker. He was educated in private schools until the beginning of the Civil War, in which he served as a cavalry lieutenant in the Army of the Confederate States. After the war he studied medicine and engaged in practice in North Carolina, but in 1870 went to Charleston, S. C., and engaged as a merchant in the handling of cotton and naval stores. He removed to New York in 1882, became a large operator in the New York cotton market, and since 1899 has been at the head of the cotton commission firm of J. H. Parker and Company. Dr. Parker is also actively identified with the banking business as president since 1891 of the United States National Bank of New York, and director and vice-president of the National Park Bank; and he was president of the Produce Exchange Trust Company of New York, 1898-1899. He is a member and was two years president of the New York Cotton Exchange. He is a member and ex-president of the Southern Society of New York, member and former commander of the Confederate Veteran Corps of New York, and is also a member of the Manhattan, New York Athletic and National Arts Clubs of New York. He married in Charleston, S. C., in 1877, Julia A. Jones. Residence: 18 East 69th Street, New York City. Office: 36 Cotton Exchange, New York City.

PARKER, Joseph Benson:

Physician; born in Carlisle, Pa., June 20, 1841; son of Rev. Joseph and Mary (Sheerer) Parker. He was graduated from Dickinson College, A.B. and A.M. and studied and was graduated in medicine in New York City. He served in the army six months before entering the navy, where he served as medical officer from 1862, until his retirement on June 20, 1903, with the rank of rear-admiral, passing through all the various grades. He is a member of various medical societies, the Masonic Order, Society of Sigma Xi, and Belles Lettres Society, also a member of the Union League of Philadelphia, and the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, having served as senior vice-commander one term. Dr. Parker married in Salem, N. J., Oct. 15, 1868, Margaret Johnson Yorke, and has two daughters, Mary Sheerer Beaman and Eleanor Yorke Bell. Residence: 4425 Spruce Street, Philadelphia.

PARKER, Moses Greeley:

Physician and surgeon; born at Dracut, Mass., Oct. 12, 1842; son of Theodore and Hannah (Greeley) Parker; grandson of Peter and Bridget (Coburn Parker and of Deacon Moses Greeley and Mary (Derby) Greely and a descendant of Deacon Thomas Parker, Lynn, Mass., 1635, and Andrew Greeley, Salisbury, Mass., before 1640. He was educated at Howe School, Billerica, Mass., Phillips Academy, Andover, Long Island College Hospital, and Harvard Medical School, M.D., 1864. He was assistant surgeon of the Second U. S. Colored Cavalry, 1864-1865; physician and surgeon St. John's Hospital, Lowell, Mass., since 1889. Dr. Parker has been a trustee of the Howe School since 1877; director of the Lowell District Telephone Company, 1879, New England Telephone and Telegraph Company from its organization; treasurer Shaw Stocking Company, Lowell, Mass.; trustee Lowell General Hospital since 1898; trustee and treasurer of the Ayer Home, Lowell, Mass., council of the Society of Colonial Wars since 1902; president of the Massachusetts Society of Sons of the American Revolution since 1905; member of the board of the managers of National Society of Sons of the American Revolution since 1905, and vice-president-general of the National Society since 1906. Address: 11, First Street, Lowell, Mass.

PARKER, Richard Wayne:

Congressman and Lawyer; born in Newark, N. J., Aug. 6, 1848; eldest son of the late Cortlandt and Elizabeth Wolcott (Stites) Parker, and a brother of Hon. Charles W. Parker, a justice of the New Jersey Supreme Court. He was graduated from Princeton College, 1867 and from the Law School of Columbia College, 1869. He was admitted to the bar of New Jersey in June, 1870; was a member of the House of Assembly of New Jersey, 1885-1886; was elected as a Republican, in Nov. 1894, to the Fifty-fourth Congress, and has since been biennially reelected, and is now serving in the Sixty-first Congress. He has for several years been an active member of the Committee on Judiciary and the Committee on Military Affairs. Address: Newark, N. J.

PARKER, Winthrop:

Lawyer; born in Ware, Mass., June 10, 1857; son of Montgomery Davis and Caroline Gilman (White) Parker. He was graduated from New York University, LL. B., 1881; was admitted to New York bar in 1881 and to the U. S. Supreme Court in 1896. He has been engaged in practice in New York City since 1881. Mr. Parker is a member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York; member of the Colonial Order, and also of the Knollwood Country, Calumet and Barnard Clubs. He married in Waterloo, N. Y., 1892, Susan A. R. (Robinson) Birdsall. Summer cottage: Spruce Camp, Christmas Cove, Maine. Residence: 102 West 93d Street. Office: 181 Broadway, New York City.

PARKHURST, Charles Henry:

Clergyman; born at Framingham, Mass., April 17, son of Charles F. W. and Mary (Goodale) Parkhurst. He was graduated from Amherst College, A.B., 1868, A.M., 1869, D.D., 1880, LL.D., 1892. He was principal of the Amherst High School, 1867-1870; professor of Greek and Latin in Willston Seminary, Easthampton, Mass., 1870-1871; studied at Halle, Leipzig and Bonn until 1873 (including special studies in Sanskrit); pastor of the Congregational Church at Lenox, Mass., 1874-1880, and since then has been pastor of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church. In 1890 he preached a sermon on municipal politics which attracted the attention of Dr. Howard Crosby, president of the Society for the Prevention of Crime, and induced him to invite Dr. Parkhurst to become a member and director of the society. He accepted, and on April 30, 1891, after Dr. Crosby's death, was elected president of the society. He made a close study of the situation, and in Feb., 1892, having fortified himself with data, delivered a sermon on the corruption of the municipal government of New York, which struck fearlessly at men in high places, and created a sensation all over the English speaking world. In New York the effect was cyclonic. Dr. Parkhurst was summoned before the grand jury, which declared his charges against the police and officials were without substantial foundation. He at once began to gather material for an even more emphatic sermon; employ detectives and even made personal visits to saloons, policy shops and houses of ill-fame, where he witnessed scenes of the lowest depravity, and gave the results in another sermon. He was again summoned before the Grand Jury in March, 1892, and convinced that body of the correctness of his charges, with the result that the jury made a strong presentment, charging the police authorities with incompetence or corruption. From this resulted the famous Lexow Committee with its startling report, and the defeat of Tammany Hall in the election of 1894. He has continued from time to time, as he has found relapses on the part of the municipal authorities into the former conditions, to make them public. Dr. Parkhurst was a trustee of Amherst College, 1892-1902. He is author of: Forms of the Latin Verb, Illustrated by the Sanskrit, 1870; The Blind Man's Creed and Other Sermons, 1883; The Pattern in the Mount and Other Sermons, 1885; Three Gates on a Side, 1887; What Would the World be Without Religion? 1888; The Swiss Guide, 1889; Our Fight With Tammany, 1895; The Sunny Side of Christianity, 1901; also many contributions to magazines. He married, Nov. 23, 1870, Nellie, daughter of Luther and Philena (Hawks) Bodman, of Williamsburg, Mass. Address: 133 East 35th Street, New York City.

PARKS, Leighton:

Rector of St. Bartholomew's Protestant Episcopal Church; born in New York City. Feb. 10, 1852; son of a clergyman. He received a college and theological education, and the degree of D.D. from St. John's College, Harvard, 1900. He took an eighteen months' trip around the world. At Geneva and Paris he had charge of English chapels for a time and then returned to this country; became rector of Emmanuel Church, Boston, 1878-1904, and since then rector of St. Bartholomew's Church, New York City. Address: 344 Madison Avenue, New York City.

PARRISH, Maxfield:

Artist; born in Philadelphia, July 25, 1870; son of Stephen and Elizabeth (Bancroft) Parrish. He received his art education in the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts in Philadelphia, and as a pupil of Howard Pyle. He first attained prominence by his decorative posters and magazine covers, and later by his work in illustration, including the illustrations for Kenneth Grahame's The Golden Age, for Mother Goose in Prose, and for Knickerbocker's History of New York. He has exhibited paintings at the principal expositions; received honorable mention from the Paris Exposition of 1900, a medal from the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo, 1901; has been a member of the Society of American Artists since 1897, and an academician of the National Academy of Design since 1906. He married in Philadelphia, June 1, 1895, Lydia Austin. Address: Windsor, Vt.

PARSONS, Edward Smith:

Dean and head professor of English; born in Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 9, 1863; son of Charles Henry and Esther Rosetta (Smith) Parsons. He was educated in the Brooklyn Collegiate and Polytechnic Institute, receiving a diploma in 1879, Amherst College, A.B., 1883, A.M., 1886, LL.H.D., 1903 (honorary), and Yale University, B.D., 1887. He was installed pastor of the First Congregational Church, Greeley, Colo., 1888-1892, professor of English, Colorado College, since 1892, vice-president since 1898, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, Colorado College, since 1901 (acting president, 1901-1902). He is a member of the Child Labor Committee, American Health League, American Institute of Civics, Concordance Society, director Colorado Prison Association, State Committee, Colorado Young Men's Christian Association, member of the Chi Psi Fraternity, Phi Beta Kappa Society, and the University Club of Denver. He edited: Milton's Minor Poems, and The Earliest Life of Milton. He married in Cleveland, Ohio, Dec. 4, 1889, Mary Augusta Ingersoll, and has six children. Residence: 1130 Woos Avenue. Office: Colorado College, Colorado Springs, Colo.

PARSONS, Frank Sears:

Physician; born in Northampton, Mass., Dec. 21, 1862; son of Enos Parsons a prominent lawyer and Harriet Eliza (Sears) Parsons. He was graduated from the Northampton High School, attended Harvard Medical School two years, 1882-1884, and was graduated from the University of the City of New York, M.D., 1886. He established himself in the Dorchester district of Boston and in Sept., 1886, began the practice of his profession, and continued to practise there until late in the spring of 1892, when he removed to Northampton, on account of the death of his father, and in 1893 moved to Philadelphia, to assume the editorship of the Medical Times and Register, which position he held for two years. In 1895 he returned to Dorchester where he continues in general practice. Dr. Parsons has for several years made a specialty of diseases of children in connection with his general practice. He was a lecturer on diseases of children in the College of Physicians and Surgeons (now Tufts College Medical Department), 1892, and has written much for medical journals upon this subject. He is author of: Rheumatism in Children, 1890; Infant Dress, 1891; Pleurisy, 1893. Dr. Parsons was a member of and visiting physician to the Suffolk Dispensary from its organization to the time of his removal to Northampton. He is a member of the Massachusetts Medical Society, and the American Medical Association. Dr. Parsons married, Sept. 8, 1891, Bertha, daughter of M. Saxman, Jr., of Latrobe, Pa., and they have three children. Address: Dorchester, Mass.

PARSONS, Harry de Berkeley:

Consulting engineer; born in New York City, Jan. 6, 1862; son of William Barclay and Eliza Glass (Livingston) Parsons. He was graduated from Columbia College, B.S., 1882; and from Stevens' Institute of Technology, M.E., 1884; since then in general practice as consulting engineer. He has been professor of steam engineering, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N. Y., since 1892; is consulting engineer for the Audit Company of New York, and the New York Zoölogical Society. He is a member of the New York State Voting Machine Commission and Metropolitan Sewerage Commission of New York, has served as consulting engineer for the district attorney, and corporation counsel; for the Departments of Street Cleaning, Docks and Ferries, Police and Fire. Mr. Parsons is author of: Steam Boilers, their Theory and Design; the Disposal of Municipal Refuse. He is a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers, Chamber of Commerce, and the Advisory Committee of Bryson Day Nursery. He is a member of the Union, Engineers', New York Yacht, American Yacht (trustee), Country and Apawamis Golf Clubs. He married in New York City, Dec. 16, 1890, Francis T. Walker; they have two children. Residence: 294 Madison Avenue. Office: 22 William Street, New York City.

PARSONS, Herbert:

Lawyer; member of Congress; born in New York City, Oct. 28, 1869; son of John E. and Mary D. (Mellvaine) Parsons. He was educated in St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H., was graduated from Yale, B.A., 1890, the University of Berlin, Germany, and Harvard Law School. He was admitted to the bar in 1894; and is now member of the law firm of Parsons Closson and Mellvaine. In politics he is a Republican. He was alderman of New York City, 1900-1903; defeated for Congress, 1900; elected to the Fifty-ninth Congress in 1904 and reelected, 1906 and 1908 to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses, from the Thirteenth New York District. He was appointed by President Roosevelt a member of the National Conservation Commission. He was elected president of the Republican County Committee of New York County, 1905, and reelected in 1906 and 1908. He is a member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, New York State Bar Association, Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity; trustee of New York Association for Improving Condition of the Poor, Society for Reformation of Juvenile Delinquents (House of Refuge), Anti-Policy Society, and Manhattan Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital. He is a member of the University. Union League, Republican, Metropolitan and City Clubs of New York and of the Metropolitan Club of Washington. Mr. Parsons married in Newport, R. I., Sept. 1, 1900, Elsie W. Clews, and they have two children. Address: 52 William Street, New York City.

PARSONS, John B.:

Railway official; born in Sussex County, Del., May 17, 1850; son of James A. Parsons. He was educated in the Salisbury (Md.) Academy; worked in his father's mercantile establishment 1866-1870; and in 1870 became clerk in the office of William W. Colket, then secretary and treasurer of the chestnut and walnut Streets Railway; and in two years he was made division superintendent of the road. In 1881 he was elected president and general manager of the Lombard and South Streets Railway, and displayed an executive ability in the management of its affairs that attracted the attention of the railway magnates of the country. He went to Chicago in 1887 as vice-president and general manager of the West Chicago Street Railway, and became there an official of several other railway companies; he was also a trustee of the Presbyterian Hospital of Chicago. Ten years later he returned to Philadelphia to become vice-president and general manager of the Union Traction Company, and he proved so efficient in this duty that in Sept., 1897, he was elected a director of this company. Since the formation of the Rapid Transit Company, which has absorbed all the former railway organizations of Philadelphia, he has been made president of this Company, which position he now holds. Address: 2013 Spring Garden Street, Philadelphia.

PARSONS, John E.:

Lawyer; born in New York City, Oct. 24, 1829. He was graduated from the University of the City of New York, 1848 and was admitted to the bar in 1852. He is the senior member of the law firm of Parsons, Closson & Melvaine. He is one of the original members and a former president of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, and was its counsel in proceedings against Judges Barnard, Cardoza and McCunn, and for the managers of the impeachment of Judge Barnard. He has been president of the City (Reform) Club; vice-president of the New York Law Institute; president of the Cooper Union for the Advancement of Science and Art, of the Alumni Association of the University of the City of New York and a member of its council, and of the Board of Trustees of the Brick Presbyterian Church; a member of the Board of Home Missions of the Presbyterian Church; of the committee to revise the creed of that church, of the committee to prepare forms of service for it, and of its committee to consider the subject of divorce and remarriage and was a member of the International Conference on that subject. Mr. Parsons is also president of the Woman's Hospital in the State of New York; one of the founders and president of the General Memorial Hospital for the Treatment of Cancer and Allied Diseases. He gave the parish house to the Protestant Episcopal Church at Lenox, Mass. (of which he is a vestryman); built the memorial stone church at New Lenox, Mass., and maintains St. Helen's Home, near Lenox, Mass., for fresh air children; built the stone memorial public school at Rye, N. Y.; and also put a memorial window in the parish church at Cubbington, Warwickshire, England, where, and in the adjoining parish of Stoneleigh, his family lived for many generations. He is a member of the Century, University, Riding, Metropolitan, City, Players' Turf and Field, and Down Town of New York City; American Yacht, and Apawanis Golf Clubs of Rye, N. Y.; the Lenox Club (of which he is a governor), and the Golf and Boat Clubs of Lenox, Mass. He married, first, Mary Dumesnil Melvaine, daughter of Bowes Reed Melvaine; second, Florence Van Cortlandt Bishop, daughter of Benjamin H. Field.

He has four daughters, and one son, Herbert (now a member of Congress). He has a large Country place Stoneover, at Lenox, Mass., the greater part of the grounds of which are open to the public and is a leader in the social and civic activities of that town. Residence: 30 East 36th Street. Office: 52 William Street, New York City.

PARSONS, Samuel:

Landscape architect; born in New Bedford, Mass Feb. 8, 1844; son of Samuel Parsons. He was educated in Haverford College and Sheffield Scientific School of Yale University, Ph. B., 1862. He is a member of the firm of Samuel Parsons and Company; and was superintendent of parks of New York City for fifteen years. He is landscape architect of parks of Greater New York; designer of the new Washington Park System, the San Diego (Calif.), Park of fourteen hundred acres, and various other parks, cemeteries and country places in the United States. He is president of the American Society of Landscape Architects and a member of the Yale Alumni Association and of the Century Association of New York. Residence: Hotel San Remo. Address: 1135 Broadway, New York City.

PARSONS, Washington Everett:

Mechanical engineer; born in Salisbury, Md., March 4, 1860; son of Milton Alfred and Caroline Travers (Williams) Parsons. He was graduated from Salisbury High School, 1876, and from Stevens Institute of Technology, as M.E. in 1887, and received the first prize for mechanical drawing. He was general business manager of the New-ark Hygiea Ice Company, 1896-1903, and has been in business for himself since, as consulting engineer, with a specialty of ice making and refrigeration. He helped to organize the American Society of Refrigerating Engineers in 1905, of which he is a charter member, and was member of the first board of directors, also one of the incorporators, and served as second president 1906-1907. Mr. Parsons has contributed technical articles to Cold Storage and Ice Tide Journal, N. Y. City, and was at one time its technical editor. He is a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, American Society of Refrigerating Engineers, Cold Storage and Ice Association of London, International Congress of Refrigerating Industries, American Civic Alliance, Stevens Institute Alumni Association, and alumnus member, of the Chi Psi fraternity. He married in Baltimore, Md., Nov. 7, 1889, Estelle Virginia Barnett, and they have had four children, two of whom are deceased. Residence: 134 Third Avenue, Newark, N. J. Business address: 1639 Third Avenue, New York City.

PARSONS, William Barclay:

Engineer; born in New York City, April 15, 1859; son of William Barclay and Eliza (Livingston) Parsons. He was graduated from Columbia University, A.B., C.E. Mr. Parsons was chief engineer of the New York Subway, 1894-1905; member of Isthmian Canal Commission, 1904; member of the Board of Consulting Engineers of the Panama Canal, 1905, Board of Advisory Engineers to the Royal Commission on London Traffic; chief of engineers and brigadier-general of the National Guard of the State of New York in 1898. He is a trustee of Columbia University; vestryman of Trinity Church; member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, and Institution of Civil Engineers of Great Britain. Mr. Parsons is author of: Turnouts, 1885; Track, 1885; American Engineer in China, 1900. Mr. Parsons married in New York City, 1884, Anna Reed, and they have two children. Residence: 35 East 50th Street. Office: 60 Wall Street, New York City.

PARTON, Arthur:

Artist; born in Hudson, N. Y., March 26, 1842; son of George and Elizabeth (Woodbridge) Parton. He was educated in the schools of Hudson, N. Y. and received his art education in Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts. He has made a specialty in landscapes, his first pictures being exhibited at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts; and he was later a regular exhibitor at the National Academy Design. He has been professionally engaged as artist in New York City since 1865; was elected associate, 1871 and has been an academician since 1884 of the National Academy of Design. Mr. Parton is a member of the American Water Color Society. He received the medal of American Art Association, 1886; Temple Medal, Philadelphia; honorary mention Paris Exposition; bronze medal, St. Louis, 1904. His pictures are included in leading collections. Mr. Parton married in Mystic, Conn., June 7, 1877, Anna Taylor, and they have five children. Residence: Yonkers, N. Y. Address: 489 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

PARTRIDGE, John Nelson:

Retired; born in Leicester, Mass.; son of Joseph Lyman and Zibiah Nelson (Wilson) Partridge. He was graduated from Leicester Academy. From 1886 to 1897 he was president of the Brooklyn City and Newtown Railroad; was fire commissioner of Brooklyn, 1882-1883; police commissioner of Brooklyn, 1884-1885; superintendent of public works State of New York, 1899-1901 inclusive; police commissioner in New York City 1902. He was colonel in the Twenty-third Regiment, National Guard of New York, 1880-1881, and also 1887-1894; and lieutenant and captain of the Twenty-fourth Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry, 1861-1864. Colonel Partridge is director of the Hamilton Trust Company of Brooklyn and of the Atlantic Terra Cotta Company of New York. In politics he is a Republican and he is a member of the Episcopal Church. He is a member of the Military Order of Loyal Legion of United States, and of the Hamilton and Riding and Driving Clubs of Brooklyn. He married, first, in 1865, Sarah Howard Manning, now deceased, and second, in 1906, Charlotte Leona Held; and he has one son, Nelson Howard, born in 1869. Country address: Westport, Conn. Address: Hamilton Club, Brooklyn, N. Y.

PARTRIDGE, Sydney Catlin:

Missionary bishop of Kyoto; born in New York City, Sept. 1, 1857; son of George Sydney Partridge, Jr., and Helen Derby (Catlin) Partridge. He was graduated from Yale College, A.B., 1889, and from Berkeley Divinity School, 1884, also receiving its degree of D.D. in 1900. He was ordered deacon of the Episcopal Church in 1884, by Bishop Williams (of Connecticut), and was ordained priest the following year by Bishop Boone. He was connected with St. John's College, Shanghai, China, 1884-1887, and with Boone School, Wuchang, China, 1887-1900. He was made missionary bishop of Kyoto, Japan, in 1900. Bishop Partridge is author of various booklets and tracts in the Chinese language. He married in Brooklyn, June 10, 1884, Charlotte Irene Mills, who died in 1886; and, again married Nov. 27, 1900, Agnes Simpson. Address: Kyoto, Japan.

PASCO, Samuel:

Teacher, lawyer, soldier, senator; born in London, England, June 28, 1834; son of John Pasco (of Launceston, England), who settled in Prince Edward Island, 1842, and moved to Boston, 1844. He was graduated from Harvard College with honors, 1858; and settled in Jefferson County, Fla., 1859; was a principal of Waukeenah Academy till 1861; entered the Confederate Army and served in the ranks till close of war, wounded at the battle of Missionary Ridge, 1863; remained a prisoner till just before the final surrender; on his return resumed his place in the academy for a few months, then studied law and was admitted to practise in 1869. Grand master of the Grand Lodge of Florida Masons, 1869-1871; chairman of the Democratic State Committee of Florida, 1876-1888; member of the Democratic National Committee, 1880-1900; member and president of State Constitutional Convention, 1885; member and speaker of Florida House of Representatives, 1887; elected to the U. S. Senate as a Democrat, 1887, and again 1893 serving until 1899; member Isthmian Canal Commission, 1899-1904. He married, in 1869, Jessie, daughter of William Denham of Monticello, Fla., and they have three sons and two daughters. Address: Monticello, Fla.

PATON, Alexander S.:

Manufacturer; born on the banks of the Clyde, Scotland, Nov. 20, 1854; son of the late James and Margaret (Sinclair) Paton, whose family consisted of three children. James Paton, his father, was a printer of cloth by trade, an honorable and upright man, and his death occurred at the early age of thirty-five years; his wife survived many years, passing away in Scotland, in 1904, aged eighty-two years. In 1870, at the age of sixteen, Alexander S. Paton came from Scotland to New York City, and at once proceeded to Leominster, Mass., where he secured employment with a horn company. Later he was an employé of the Union Horn Company, 1879, when he started in the business for himself and so successful has the enterprise proved that a frequent increase in the number of workmen and increased mechanical facilities have been needed to fill the contracts; he is now (1909) owner and president of five horn and celluloid companies in Worcester County, Mass.: The Paton Manufacturing Company, Visoloid Company, Horn and Supply Company, Sterling Comb Company and Harvard Novelty Company. Mr. Paton was the first president of the Leominster and Clinton Street Railway Company, and has been largely interested in other electric roads, as a director in the Greenfield and Turner Falls road, the Gardner road, the Leominster and Clinton, The Pawtucket Valley road, Westerly, R. I., and the Georgetown and Haverhill road. He was also president of the new Worcester and Clinton Street Railway, a director of the Columbian Life Insurance Company of Massachusetts, a director of the National Bank of Leominster, and has been moderator of the town meetings in Leominster for nearly fifteen years. He served three years on the Board of Selectmen, being its chairman during his last term. In 1897, he was elected as a Republican to the Massachusetts Legislature, was reelected in 1899 and 1900, and was chairman of the Committee on Banks and Banking, 1898-1899. He is a chairman of the County Republican Committee of his part of the county, and a member of the Republican State Committee of Massachusetts. He was president of the Town Improvement Society during its existence, and served as vice-president of the Board of Trade. He is a Mason, member of the Mystic Shrine; has passed all the chairs in the Odd Fellows Order; is past grand master of the Improved Order of Red Men; and member of the Knights of Pythias. He is also president of the Leominster Club and president of the Leominster Country Club. He is a member of the Unitarian Church. In 1882, Mr. Paton married Clara Somers, of an old Leominster family. Their Children are: Phoebe S. (Mrs. Frederic L. Perry), Somers, Agnes, Pauline P. and Clara M. Paton. Address: Leominster, Mass..

PATRICK, Hugh Talbot:

Neurologist; born in New Philadelphia, Ohio, May 11, 1860; son of Abraham W. and Mary (Talbot) Patrick. He was educated in the University of Wooster, and in the Bellevue Hospital Medical College, M.D., 1884, and studied in European universities, 1891-1894. He is clinical professor of nervous diseases, Northwestern University; professor of nervous and mental diseases, Chicago Polyclinic; is neurologist to many hospitals and is ex-president of the American Neurological Association, the Chicago Neurological Society, and the Mississippi Valley Medical Association, and is a member of other medical societies, and is a director of the University Club, Chicago. He married in Chicago April 28, 1896, Fannie E. Gary, and has one son and two daughters. Residence: 1251 La Salle Avenue. Office: 34 Washington Street, Chicago.

PATTERSON, Benjamin:

Lawyer; born in Albany, N. Y.; son of Alfred and Barbara (Sheeline) Patterson. He received his education in the Albany public schools and the Albany High School. He was admitted to the bar in Albany County in 1881 and is engaged in the practice of law in New York City. He has made a specialty of constitutional questions and of riparian rights, having been engaged as counsel in many leading litigations involving riparian grants in and about the waters surrounding Manhattan, Long Island and Staten Island; is counsel for many labor organizations; also represents many large construction companies, defending and adjusting negligence cases. He is the author of several treatises on legal subjects, and is a member of the New York State and County Bar Associations, the New York Press Club, the American Society of International Law, and a member of several clubs, societies and hospitals. His favorite recreation is traveling. Address: 302 Broadway, New York City.

PATTERSON, C. Stuart:

Banker, lawyer, and author; born in Philadelphia, June 24, 1842; son of Joseph and Jane (Cuyler) Patterson. He was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1860, A.M., then entered upon a course of study of the law, and was admitted to the bar of Philadelphia in 1865. He had some experience in the Civil War, serving in 1862 and 1863, Landis's Battery, and being wounded in the Gettysburg campaign. His legal practice grew large and important, and he became an authority in real estate and constitutional law. He was professor of the law and real estate and conveyancing, and of constitutional law, in the University of Pennsylvania, 1887-1897, and till 1897 was dean of the Law Department in that institution. He was inspector of the State Penitentiary at Philadelphia, 1884-1891. Mr. Patterson retired from practice, in 1895, and since then has been devoted to banking and railroad interests, becoming in that year a director of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. He is also president of the Western Saving Fund Society, and a director of the Commercial Trust Company. In 1897 he presided over the Indianapolis Monetary Convention, and was a member of the Monetary Commission appointed by it. He is author of treatises on: Railway Accident Law; Federal Restraints on State Action; and many historical and political pamphlets. Mr. Patterson is a member of the American Philosophical Society, the Sons of the Revolution, the Phi Beta Kappa Society, the Philadelphia Club, the Union League of Philadelphia (president, 1896-1898), the Century Association of New York and the Contemporary Club. Residence: Chestnut Hill. Office: 1000 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.

PATTERSON, Edward:

Justice of the Supreme Court; born in New York City, in 1839. He was educated in Williams College and the Columbia Law School, and he received the LL.D. degree from Williams, 1893, Hobart, 1898, Columbia University, 1906. In 1860 he was admitted to the bar and engaged in the practice of law in New York City, until elected justice of the Supreme Court of the State of New York. Since 1895, he has been serving in the Appellate Division for the First Appellate District, of which he is now presiding justice; his present term expires Dec. 31, 1909. In politics he is a Democrat. He is a member and ex-president of the Law Institute of New York City; member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, Phi Beta Kappa Society (Hobart Chapter), Alpha Delta Phi fraternity, the American Museum of Natural History, and the Century, Manhattan, Metropolitan, New York Yacht, Alpha Delta Phi, and Players' Clubs. He married Isabel Liddon Cox, and they have three sons and two daughters. Address: 124 East 39th Street, New York City.

PATTERSON, Flora Wambaugh:

Vegetable pathologist; born in Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 15, 1847; daughter of Rev. A. B. and Sarah (Sells) Wambaugh. She was educated by private tutors, and in Antioch College in 1860, and was graduated from Cincinnati Wesleyan College, 1865, A.M., 1883, student at Radcliffe College, 1892-1895, and graduated student at the State University of Iowa, 1891-1892, and received the degree of A.M., 1895. She married in Cincinnati, Aug. 12, 1869, Captain Edwin Patterson, now deceased, and has two sons. She was assistant of Gray Herbarium, Harvard, 1895, instructor in biology, in a private school in Boston, 1896, appointed assistant pathologist in charge of Herbarium, Division Vegetable Pathology and Physiology of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, 1896-1901, and since 1901, mycologist, and mycologist in charge, Pathological Collections, mycological exchange and inspection work at the Bureau of Plant Industry. Her special line of work is fungous diseases of plants and insects, and systematic myeology. Mrs. Patterson is a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, member of the National Geographical Society, Biological Society of Washington, Botanical Society of America; section president in the Needlework Guild of America, member of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Radcliffe Club, Lend-a-Hand Club, and Woman's National Press Association. Address: The Decatur, Washington, D. C.

PATTERSON, George Washington:

Professor of electrical engineering; born in Corning, N. Y., Feb. 1, 1864; son of George W. and Frances D. (Todd) Patterson. He was graduated from Yale University, B.A., 1884, M.A., 1891; from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, S.B., 1887; student at Harvard Law School, 1888-1889, and received the degree of Ph.D. in 1899, from the University of Munich (Bavaria). He was assistant in mathematics, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, 1887-1888; since then with the University of Michigan as instructor in physics, 1889-1892, assistant professor of physics, 1892-1898; junior professor of physics, 1898-1901; junior professor, 1901-1905, and since 1905 professor of electrical engineering. His research work has chiefly related the standards of electrical current and electro-motor force. Professor Patterson is vestryman and treasurer of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, Ann Arbor; treasurer of Psi Upsilon Guild, and trustee of the Ann Arbor Cattle Company. He is a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science; member of the American Physical Society, American Electrochemical Society; associate member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineering, and the Detroit Engineering Society. He is vice-president of the Patterson Library of Westfield, N. Y. Professor Patterson is also a member of Psi Upsilon fraternity, Hammer and Tongs Club, Society of Sigma Xi, Tau Beta Pi fraternity, Ames-Gray Law Club, the Arbor Club, University Club of Detroit, Scientific Research, Golf and Outing and Washtenaw Country Clubs. He married in Adrian, Mich., July 2, 1890, Merit Susan Rowley, and they have three children. Residence: 814 South University Avenue. Office: University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Mich.

PATTERSON, Harry Jacob:

Director and chemist in the Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station; son of William Calvin and Adaline (Mattern) Patterson. He was graduated from the Pennsylvania State College, B.S., 1886. He was assistant chemist of the Pennsylvania State College Agricultural Experiment Station, 1886-1888; chemist of the Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station, 1888; vice-director, 1895, director, 1898, and secretary of the Maryland State Board of Agriculture, 1908. Mr. Patterson is a director of the Hyattsville First National Bank, is brevet first lieutenant of the Pennsylvania National Guard; fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, member of the American Chemical Society, Society of Chemical Industry of London, and the Society for Promotion of Agricultural Science. He married in Washington, D. C., Oct. 25, 1895, Elizabeth Hayward Hutchinson, and they have two children. Address: College Park, Maryland.

PATTERSON, James Kennedy:

President of the State College of Kentucky; born in Glasgow, Scotland, March 26, 1833; son of Andrew and Janet (Kennedy) Patterson. He came to the United States in 1842 with his parents and was graduated from Hanover College, Ind., A.B., 1856, A.M., 1859, and received from it the degree of Ph.D., 1875, and LL.D. from Lafayette College, 1896. He was principal of Greenville Presbyterian Academy, 1856-1859; professor of Greek and Latin in Stewart College, 1859-1861; principal of Transylvania High School, Lexington, Ky., 1861-1865; professor in the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Kentucky, 1865-1869; since 1869 president of the State College of Kentucky, and also professor of history and metaphysics therein. In 1880 he secured from the State an endowment for the college, and maintained that endowment, single-handed, against all the denominational colleges which endeavored to have the law repealed in 1882; and maintained the constitutionality of the Act of 1880 in the lower courts and in the Court of Appeals. He was a delegate to the International Geographical Congress in 1875, to the British Association for the Advancement of Science, 1875-1890; elected fellow of the Royal Historical Society of Great Britain, 1879; and the Antiquarian Society of Scotland, 1880. He is a member and former president of the American Association of Agricultural Colleges and Experiment Stations, and the American Association of State Colleges and Universities. Dr. Patterson married at Greenville, Ky., Dec. 27, 1859, Lucelia W., daughter of Captain Charles F. Wing, and they have had two children, both now deceased. Address: State College, Lexington, Ky.

PATTERSON, James O'Hanlon:

Congressman and lawyer; born in Barnwell, S. C., June 23, 1857; son of Edward L. and Sarah Louise (Myers) Patterson. He was educated in private schools in Barnwell and in Augusta, Ga. Mr. Patterson was admitted to the bar in May, 1886; was twice elected probate judge of Barnwell County, and was a member of the South Carolina Legislature, 1898-1904. He was elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-ninth Congress in 1904 and reelected in 1906 and 1908 to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses from the Second South Carolina District. He married in Barnwell, S. C., Nov. 30, 1876, Hattie A. Holman. Address: Barnwell, S. C.

PATTERSON, Malcolm Rice:

Governor and lawyer; born at Somerville, Ala., June 7, 1861; son of Josiah and Josephine Patterson. He was graduated from Christian Brothers College, Memphis, and studied at Vanderbilt University. He is a lawyer by profession, and was attorney-general of Shelby County, Tenn., 1894-1900. He was elected to the Fifty-seventh and Fifty-eighth Congresses, and reelected to the Fifty-ninth Congress. He was elected governor of the State of Tennessee, Nov. 6, 1906, for a two year term and reelected in 1908 for the term expiring in January, 1911. Address: Nashville, Tenn.

PATTERSON, Raymond:

Journalist; born in Chicago, Aug. 21, 1856; son of Robert Wilson and Julia A. (Quigley) Patterson. He was educated in the Chicago High School and in Yale, class of 1878 (non-graduate). Mr. Patterson has been with The Chicago Tribune since 1878, as reporter, telegraph editor, night editor, Sunday editor, acting managing editor, and since 1894 has been Washington and general correspondent, writing daily signed Telegraphic correspondence, under the name of "Raymond," for the first column of The Chicago Tribune. He wrote a general series on Municipal Ownership from Europe, and on the Race Question, published in the New York Herald, Chicago Tribune and other papers, and other series on Child Labor, Women at Work, Immigration, Finance, the Tariff, and many other questions, and is author of "Taft's Training for the Presidency." Mr. Patterson is a professional political writer, participating as such in every campaign since 1880, and having a personal acquaintance with Garfield, Arthur, Cleveland, Harrison, McKinley, Roosevelt, Taft and political leaders North and South. His political letters are frequently syndicated, and because of demonstrated accuracy his political estimates and forecasts have a high reputation. He is a member of the Psi Upsilon fraternity and of the Gridiron, National Press and Columbia Golf Clubs at Washington. He married in Valparaiso, Ind., Oct. 11, 1892, Mary Young Hogan, and has a son and a daughter. Residence: 1309 Kenyon Street. Office: 42 Wyatt Building, Washington, D. C.

PATTERSON, Thomas MacDonald:

Former U. S. Senator; born in County of Carlow, Ireland, Nov. 4, 1840; son of James and Margaret (Mountjoy) Patterson, who came to the United States in 1849. He was educated in the common schools of New York City and Astoria, L. I., until 1853, when his parents moved to Crawfordsville, Ind. He worked in a printing office there three years, and at the bench as a watchmaker and jeweler for five years. In 1862 he entered Asbury (now De Pauw) University at Greencastle, Ind., and later Washash College, Crawfordsville, Ind., which he attended until the end of his junior year. He moved to Denver in 1872; was elected city attorney in 1874; elected the last delegate in Congress from the Territory of Colorado, 1874, and was elected representative in Congress from the State of Colorado in 1876. He was a member of the National Democratic Committee, 1876-1892; delegate to the National Democratic Conventions of 1876, 1880, 1888, and 1892, and was the Democratic nominee for governor in 1888. He refused to support Cleveland for president in 1892, and aided in carrying Colorado for General Weaver. In 1893 he united with the People's Party, and was a delegate to the Populist National Convention in 1896, and urged the nomination of both Bryan and Stevenson by that body; elected a Bryan Presidential elector in 1896; was permanent chairman of the National Populist convention of 1900; elected a Bryan Presidential elector in 1900; elected to the U. S. Senate, January, 1901, by the joint votes of Democrats, Silver Republicans, and Populists, for the term beginning March 4, 1901. His term of office expired March 3, 1907. Mr. Patterson married in Watertown, N. Y., in 1863, Katherine Grafton, who died July 16, 1902. Address: Denver, Colo.

PAXTON, John Randolph:

Clergyman; born in Cannonsburg, Pa., Sept. 18, 1843. He was educated in Jefferson College, Pa., until the end of the junior year, 1862, when he entered the 140th Pennsylvania Volunteers, in which he served as a private and 2d lieutenant, until the war closed. He returned to Jefferson College from which he was graduated A.B., 1866; and was graduated from the Western Theological Seminary, Allegheny, Pa., 1869. He was ordained in the Presbyterian ministry; pastor of Churchville, Md., 1871-1874; Pine Street Church, Harrisburg, Pa., 1874-1878; New York Avenue Church, Washington, D. C., 1878-1882; West Church, New York City, 1882-1893; since then pastor of New York Church, New York City. He is a companion of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, and member of the Century, Union League Clubs of New York City. Address: 51 West 46th Street, New York City.

PAYNE, Oliver Hazard:

Capitalist; born in Cleveland, Ohio, 1842; son of Judge and U. S. Senator Henry B. and Mary (Perry) Payne. He was graduated from Yale in 1863; and in the latter part of the War served as officer in an Ohio Regiment. He is a director of the Standard Oil Company, American Tobacco Company, Havana Tobacco Company, Chase National Bank, New York Loan and Improvement Company; vice-president of the Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railroad Company, Helena Mining Company and numerous other corporations. He aided in establishing the Medical Department of Cornell University in New York City by a gift of half a million dollars. Mr. Payne is a member of the Metropolitan, Knickerbocker, University and the New York Yacht, Clubs. Residence: Thomasville, Ga., and 852 Fifth Avenue, New York City. Office: 32 Nassau Street, New York City.

PAYNE, Sereno Elisha:

Lawyer; member of Congress; born in Hamilton, N. Y., June 26, 1843; son of Hon. William Wallace Payne (farmer, member of New York Legislature, 1838-1839) and Betsy (Sears) Payne. He removed with his family to the suburbs of Auburn, N. Y., and has since resided in or near Auburn. He was graduated from the University of Rochester in 1864, and has received the degree of LL.D. from both Rochester and Colgate Universities. He was admitted to the bar in 1866 and has since practised law at Auburn, and is now member of the law firm of Payne, Payne & Clark. He has held local offices: city clerk, 1868-1871, supervisor, 1871-1872, district attorney of Cayuga County, 1873-1879, member of the Board of Education, 1879-1882; was elected in 1882 to the Forty-eighth Congress and has been reelected (with exception of one term) biennially ever since; now being member of the Sixty-first Congress. He was appointed member of the American and British Joint High Commission, January, 1899, by President McKinley. He was member of the Committee on Ways and Means, and as one of the majority, helped to frame the tariff measures popularly known as the McKinley Bill, and the Dingley Bill; since January, 1899, chairman of Committee on Ways and Means and leader of the House of Representatives. He has been a Republican from early days of the party; stumped Cayuga County for Abraham Lincoln in 1864, when twenty-one years old, and has been on the stump in every gubernatorial and presidential campaign since, under the auspices of State and national campaign committees; was a member of the National Republican Conventions of 1896, 1900, 1904 and 1908. Mr. Payne married in Auburn, N. Y., 1873, Gertrude Knapp, and they have one son, William K. Payne, now partner in his father's law firm. Address: 131 Genesee Street, Auburn, N. Y.

PAYNE, William Morton:

Author, editor, teacher; born in Newburyport, Mass., Feb. 14, 1858; son of Henry Morton and Emma Merrill (Tilton) Payne. He was educated in the schools of Newburyport and Chicago, and received the LL.D. degree from the University of Wisconsin in 1903. He was assistant librarian in Chicago Public Library, 1874-1876, teacher in Chicago High Schools, 1876-1909; lecturer at the University of Wisconsin, Kansas and Chicago, 1900-1904; associate editor of The Dial, 1892-1909, literary of various newspapers, and is the author, editor and translator of many books, and contributor to many periodicals. He is a member of the National Institute of Arts and Letters, Phi Beta Kappa Society, New England Society of Chicago, American Peace Society, vice-president of the Anti-Imperialist League, and a member of the Chicago Literary, Chicago Twentieth Century (secretary and treasurer), the Cliff-Dwellers, and the French Clubs of Chicago. Residence: 2246 Michigan Avenue. Business address: 733 Fine Arts Building, Chicago.

PEABODY, Charles Augustus:

President of the Mutual Life Insurance Company; born in New York City, April 11, 1849; son of Charles A. and Julia C. (Livingston) Peabody. He was graduated from Columbia College, 1869; Columbia Law School, 1871. He practised as a lawyer in New York City from 1871, and on Jan. 1, 1906, became president of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York. He was a member of the General Assembly of New York in 1876. Mr. Peabody is a director of the Astor Trust Company, Callatin National Bank, National Bank of Commerce, Farmers Loan and Trust Company, Illinois Central Railroad Company, Union Pacific Railroad Company; vice-president and member of the Board of Manager's Delaware & Hudson Company; trustee Title Guarantee and Trust Company. He is a member of the Metropolitan, of the Association Bar of the City of New York; and of the University, Down Town, Union League, and Tuxedo, Clubs of New York. Mr. Peabody married in New York City, Jan. 27, 1880, Charlotte A. Damon, and has two sons and a daughter. Address: 32 Nassau Street, New York City.

PEABODY, Charles Jones:

Banker; born in Columbus, Ga., April 25, 1856; son of George H. and Elvira (Canfield) Peabody. He was educated in the public school and Deer Hill Institute of Danbury, Conn. He is captain and aide-de-camp. Third Brigade staff, National Guards of the State of New York. Partner in the banking firm of Spencer, Trask and Company; trustee of the Franklin Trust Company; director of the American Beet Sugar Company; treasurer, secretary and director of the Broadway Realty Company; treasurer and director of the Mexican Coal and Coke Company, Coalhuila Coal Railroad Company; director of the Mexican Lead Company, Montezuma Lead Company, Compania Metalurgica Mexicana, Mexican Northern Railroad Company. He is a Democrat and a member of the Reformed (Dutch) Church; member of the Albany Society of New York; trustee of the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences, and Long

CHARLES A. PEABODY
President New York Mutual Life Insurance Co.

Island College Hospital; member of the Down Town, City, Hamilton, Crescent and Heights Casino Clubs. He married in Brooklyn, Dec. 7, 1882, Helen A. Hoyt, and they have two children. Residence: 128 Willow Street, Brooklyn. Address: 54 William Street, New York City.

PEABODY, George Foster:

Retired banker and railroad financier; born in Columbus, Ga., July 27, 1852; son of George Henry and Elvira (Canfield) Peabody. He was educated in Columbus, Ga., and six months at Deerhill Institute, Danburg, Conn.; received the honorary A.M. degree from Harvard; LL.D. from Washington and Lee University and the University of Georgia. He began business life as clerk with two wholesale dry goods firms, 1866-1880, and from 1880 until he retired he was in the banking business; being a partner of the firm of Spencer, Trask and Company. He was director and vice-president of many railroad and business corporations until retiring in 1905 and 1906, such as the St. Louis, Alton and Terre Haute Railroad, Mexican National Railroad Company, Rio Grande Western Railroad, Edison Electric Illuminating Company, both of New York and Brooklyn, and the General Electric Company. He is committee member of the New York Chamber of Commerce; and was at one time a member of the New York Stock Exchange. Since 1880 he has been active in Democratic politics. He was treasurer of the Democratic National Committee in 1904; treasurer of the American Free-Trade League, in 1880; has been an advocate of the single tax on land values, and of government ownership of railroads and public franchise corporations since 1895. Mr. Peabody is active in civil service reform associations; vice-president of the American Civic Association; life member of the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences, Metropolitan Museum of Art, American Museum of Natural History, New York. He is also active in Young Men's Christian Association work in the city and United States; trustee of the International Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association; also of Colorado College; the Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute;

Tuskegee and Hampton Institutes and of the University of Georgia; treasurer of the Southern Education Board and General Education Board; deputy from the Diocese of Long Island, to the General Convention of the Episcopal Church. He is a member of the Southern Society and the Century Association, Reform, Metropolitan, City, National Arts and City Clubs, and the Down Town Association of New York City, the Hamilton Club of Brooklyn and the Cosmos Club of Washington, D. C. Residences: Abenia, Lake George, N. Y., and 28 Monroe Place, Brooklyn. Office: 2 Rector Street, New York City.

PEABODY, John Endicott:

Banker; born in Salem, Mass., Jan. 5, 1853; son of Samuel Endicott and Marianne Cabot (Lee) Peabody. He was graduated from Trinity College, Cambridge University, England, B.A. in October, 1871, after a three years' course. He engaged in mercantile business in Antwerp, Belgium, and in the banking business with Drexel, Morgan & Company, New York City, 1873-1875. He had already studied art and after 1875 traveled extensively to Europe in the interest of his art as a painter. He married in Boston, Mass., Jan. 15, 1878, Gertrude, daughter of James and Elizabeth (Prescott) Lawrence and granddaughter of Willis Hickling Prescott, the historian, died May, 2, 1883, leaving a son and daughter, and Mr. Peabody again married Aug. 25, 1887, Martha Prince, daughter of William M. and Anna Augusta (Nourse) Whitney, and by her he has another son. Residence: Cambridge, Mass.

PEABODY, Josephine Preston (Mrs. Marks):

Poet; born in New York; daughter of Charles K. and S. Josephine (Morrill) Peabody. She was educated in the Girls' Latin School of Boston, and Radcliffe College 1894-1896. She married in Cambridge, Mass., June 21, 1906, Lionel S. Marks, professor of engineering at Harvard University, and she has one daughter. Mrs. Marks has written from childhood, all her literary work being dramas and poetry. Many of the poems from her first volume are included in Stedman's American Anthology, and a great many of her shorter poems have been set to music by various composers, particularly poems from The Singing Leaves; others have been translated into German, and a few into Japanese by Yone Noguchi. She is author of: The Wayfarers, 1898; Fortune and Man's Eyes, 1900; Marlowe (Houghton and Mifflin), a drama; Old Greek Folk-Stories; The Wings, a drama; The Singing Leaves; Pan, A Choric Idyl, for music; The Book of the Little Past; The Piper (drama), and other poems and plays. Mrs. Marks is a member of the Boston Authors' Club, Fabian Associate, Cambridge Political Equality Club, American Folk Lore Society, Copley Society of Boston, and others. Address: Cambridge, Mass.

PEACOCK, Virginia Tatnall:

Author, journalist; born in Philadelphia; daughter of John Brooks and Virginia T. (Marshall) Peacock. She was educated in Eden Hall, Torresdale, Pa., and by private tutors. She began newspaper work on the Washington staff of Philadelphia Times, December, 1897, and has been a member of the editorial staff of the Washington Post since July, 1907. She is author of: Famous American Belles of the Nineteenth Century, published in 1901, and a contributor to articles in Lippincotts, Cosmopolitan, Woman's Home Companion, and Donahoe's Magazines, also the New York Tribune, World, Sun, Philadelphia Times, Record, the Washington Post, and Star. She is a member of the Columbia Historical Society, and the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Address: 2466 Ontario Road, Washington, D. C.

PEALE, Albert Charles:

Physician, geologist; born in Hecksher-ville, Schuylkill County, Pa., April 1, 1849; son of Charles Wilson and Harriet (Freel) Peale. He was educated in public schools of Central Pennsylvania, Central High School of Philadelphia, University of Pennsylvania, graduating A.B., A.M., and M.D., 1871. He was appointed mineralogist in the Hayden United States

Geological Survey of the Territories, afterwards assistant geologist, and geologist; geologist in the U. S. Geological Survey, 1883-1898; aid in charge of Fossil plants, and the U. S. National Museum since 1898. He is author of various geological papers, also on mineral springs. He married in Philadelphia, 1876, Emily S. Wiswell, daughter of Rev. G. F. Wiswell, D.D. Address: U. S. National Museum, Washington, D. C.

PEARRE, George Alexander:

Congressman and lawyer; born in Cumberland, Md., July 16, 1860; son of Hon. George A. and Mary (Worthington) Pearre. He was educated at St. James College, the University of West Virginia, and Princeton University; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1882, being graduated for the law school of Maryland University, of Baltimore, and has been in active practice ever since. In 1890 he was elected to the State Senate and served in the sessions of 1890 and 1892; in 1895 was nominated prosecuting attorney by the Republican party, and was elected and held that office until elected to the Fifty-sixth Congress in 1898; and he was reelected to the Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses from the Sixth Maryland District. He is president of the Princeton Alumni Association of Maryland, and a member of the Maryland Society of Sons of the American Revolution. Address: Cumberland, Md.

PEARSON, James John:

Consulting and advisory engineer; born in Thornhill, Dumfriesshire, Scotland, Sept. 22, 1858; son of Rev. James and Frances Pearson. He was educated in Elmfield College, St. Peter's, York, England; was an engineer apprentice under Lord (then Sir W. G.) Armstrong, and was graduated from Elswick School of Technology, Newcastle, and was medalist in all physics, 1879. Mr. Pearson was technical and traveling correspondent for Textile Manufacturer, Mechanical World, Sanitary Engineering, and Chemical News, 1879-1881; chief engineer for Palmers Ship & Iron Company, Jarrow-on Tyne, 1881-1884; assistant manager afloat and guarantee engineer for Hawthorne, Leslie & Company, St. Peters-on-Tyne, 1884-1886; in charge of machinery construction on Austrian torpedo chasers, Leopard and Panther; the fighting equipment of the Chilean cruisers Blanco Encalada and Almirante Cochrane; the steam trials of the Italian cruiser Giovanni Bausan; machinery construction in England and Yokosuka Naval Station, Japan, of the Japanese cruisers Naniwa-Kan and Tackachiho-Kan, 1886-1888; consulting and contracting engineer, Yokohama, Japan, constructing and installing textile mills, ice plants, bridges, steam vessels, arsenal equipment, etc., 1888-1891; manager of Nassau Electrical Company, New York City, 1892-1895; since then in independent practice as a consulting engineer; and is especially distinguished as an arbitrator on industrial value and trade organization issues. He is a member of the Engineers' and National Arts Clubs of New York City, and the Houverkopt Country Club, of Suffern, N. Y. Residence: 144 Remsen Street, Brooklyn. Office: 40 Wall St., New York City.

PEARSON, Richmond:

Diplomat; born in Richmond Hill, N. C., Jan. 26, 1852; son of Judge Richmond Mumford and Margaret (Williams) Pearson. He was graduated from Princeton University, A.B., 1872. A.M., 1875, and was admitted to the North Carolina bar in 1874. Mr. Pearson was appointed consul at Verviers and Liege, June 19, 1874; resigned April 22, 1877; appointed consul at Genoa, Dec. 10, 1901; appointed envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Persia, Dec. 17, 1902, and serving at Teheran until appointed, in 1908, American envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Greece and Montenegro. Address: American Legation, Athens, Greece.

PEARY, Robert Edwin:

Explorer, and civil engineer, U. S. Navy, with rank of commander; born at Cresson, Pa., May 6, 1856; son of Charles and Mary (Willey) Peary; descended from a family of Maine lumbermen. After his father's death in 1858, he lived with his mother at Portland, Maine, where he prepared for college. He was graduated from Bowdoin College with second honors and Phi Beta Kappa, 1877; was a land surveyor at Fryeburg, Maine, 1877-1879, and was employed in the Coast and Geodetic Survey at Washington, 1879-1881. In 1881 he passed the Navy Department examination for the admission of civil engineers, and was commissioned as civil engineer, U. S. Navy, Oct. 26, 1881, and is now civil engineer with the rank of commander. He planned and built a pier at Key West, Florida, in 1881; was sub-chief of the Inter-Oceanic Canal survey, in Nicaragua, 1884-1885. In May, 1886, he obtained six months' leave of absence and made his first Arctic voyage, penetrating farther into the interior of Greenland than any white man had ever gone before. He was engineer-in-chief of the surveys of the Nicaragua Canal, 1886-1888, and in 1888 was sent to superintendent the building of the new dry dock at the League Island Navy Yard in Philadelphia. He started on his second expedition in June, 1891, accompanied by Mrs. Peary and a small party, and in the spring of 1892 started North with a single companion, reaching the rocky northern shore of Greenland, which no man had ever seen before, on July 4, 1892, naming the bay beyond, Independence Bay; and on that voyage he discovered the land beyond Greenland, naming Melville Land and Heilprin Land, and he determined the insularity of Greenland. He made another Arctic voyage, 1893-1895, and two others, 1896-1897, discovering and bringing back the Cape York meteorites, the largest ever found, one of which weighed forty tons. He started on his fifth expedition in 1899, rounded the northern limit of the Greenland Archipelago in 1900 and attained the highest latitude ever reached up to that time in the Western Hemisphere (80 degrees, 50 minutes), made an unsuccessful attempt to reach the pole in the spring of 1901; encamped at Cape Sabine, among the Eskimos, in the winter of 1901-1902, and in the spring of 1902 made another start for the pole; found Greeley's outfit on his way and reached 84 degrees, 17 minutes north, but found it impossible at that time to proceed further. He named the most northerly cape in the world, Cape Morris Jesup, in latitude 83 degrees, 39 minutes. Following his return that year, The Roosevelt, a specially designed ship, was built, and he began his fifth voyage in 1905, and in 1906 he reached latitude 87 degrees, 6 minutes, planting the American colors there at the highest point north ever to that time reached by man. In the summer of 1908 he started in the Roosevelt on another expedition which ended successfully by his reaching the North Pole April 6, 1909. Commander Peary has received many medals and honors from American and foreign geographical societies. He married in 1888, Josephine Diebitsch, and they have a daughter, Marie, born in Greenland, in 1893. Residence: 2014 Twelfth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C. Address: 15 West 81st Street, New York City.

PEATTIE, Elia Wilkinson:

Author, journalist and critic; born in Kalamazoo, Mich., Jan. 15, 1862; daughter of Frederick and Amanda (Cahill) Wilkinson. She was educated in the public schools of Michigan and Illinois. She married in Chicago, in 1883, Robert Bivens Peattie, and they have three sons and a married daughter. Mrs. Peattie has been for twenty-five years a practical newspaper woman, beginning as a reporter and later devoting her energies to editorial and critical work. For the last six years she has been the literary editor of The Chicago Tribune, meantime doing work for Colliers', The Boston Transcript, the New York Saturday Evening Post, and other publications. She has written many stories and a few poems for the magazines, and once wrote a hundred stories for The Chicago Tribune, which were printed in unbroken series. The greater part of her fiction has dealt with the West. Mrs. Peattie's sentiments are democratic in the larger sense of the word, and her writing has that tone. She is author of: A Mountain Woman; Pippinus and Cheese; Ickery Ann; The Shape of Fear; The Edge of Things; Castle Knight and Troubadour; How Jaques Came to the Forest of Arden; The Beleaguered Forest. Mrs. Peattie is a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the National Geographic Society, The Fortnightly, The Little Room and The Every Day Club, Chicago, and the Lyceum, London. Address: 7660 Bond Avenue, Chicago.

PECK, Bayard Livingston:

Lawyer; born in Hudson, N. Y., Aug. 16, 1869; son of Horace R. and Anna (Van Deusen) Peck. He was educated in the Hudson High School and Hamilton College A.B., 1881, A.M., 1893. He was instructor in the Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute, 1891-1893; clerk of the Surrogate's Court of Columbia County, N. Y., 1893-1896, and engaged in the active practice of law in New York City since 1896. Mr. Peck is a trustee of the Hudson-Fulton Celebration Commission; a director of the Manganese Steel Rail Company; member of the New York County Lawyers' Association, Chi Psi fraternity, Phi Delta Phi legal fraternity; president of the Columbia County Association in the City of New York, the University and Lawyers Clubs of Brooklyn. He married in Brooklyn, Nov. 2, 1907, Elizabeth Stuart Butler. Residence: 142 Willow Street, Brooklyn. Office: 26 Liberty Street, New York City.

PECK, Ferdinand Wythe:

Exposition official; born in Chicago, July 15, 1848; son of Philip F. W. and Mary Kent (Wythe) Peck. He received a private education, was graduated from the Chicago University, then studied law and was admitted to the Illinois bar in 1869. His father left a large estate, of which he and his brothers Walter L. and Clarence L. had the management. He built several business blocks in Chicago, and he organized and was for several years president of the Chicago Auditorium Association, which built and owns the Auditorium Building, hotel and theatre. He was vice-president, and chairman of the Finance Committee of the World's Columbian Exposition, and was appointed by President McKinley in 1898, and served as U. S. commissioner-general to the Paris Exposition of 1900. Mr. Peck is a director of the American Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago. He was one of the founders of the Illinois Humane Society in 1870; was for several years president of the Chicago Athenaeum, and was for four years president of the Chicago Board of Education. He received from the French Government appointment as a grand officer of the Legion d'Honneur. He married in Chicago, in 1870, Tilla C. Spalding, and they have six children. They have a summer home at Oconomowoc, Wis. Residence: 1826 Michigan Avenue. Office: Monadnock Block, Chicago.

PECK, George Record:

Lawyer and railway official; born in Steuben County, N. Y., May 15, 1843; son of Joel M. and Amand (Purdy) Peck. The family removed to Wisconsin and he attended the common schools of that State until in 1861 he entered the Union Army as a private in the First Wisconsin Regiment of Heavy Artillery, and later became a lieutenant and captain in the 31st Wisconsin Infantry until the close of the war. He studied law, was admitted to the Wisconsin bar and in 1871 removed to Independence, Kan., where he practised law until 1874, when he was appointed by President Grant as U. S. attorney for the district of Kansas, and removed to Topeka, holding that office until 1879, and continuing in practice at Topeka until 1893. He was general solicitor of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Railroad Company, 1881-1895, and he declined an appointment to the United States Senate to fill an unexpired term in 1892. He removed to Chicago in 1893, and in 1895 he was appointed general counsel of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway Company, which position he still holds. Mr. Peck is a Republican in politics. He holds a distinguished place in the legal profession and was president of the American Bar Association, 1905-1906, and he is also distinguished as an orator of rare ability and has delivered many notable addresses. He has been honored with the LL.D. degree by the University of Kansas, Union University, and Bethany College, and with the A.M. degree by Milton College. Mr. Peck married at Janesville, Wis., in 1869, Arabella Burdick, who died March 5, 1896, and he has four children. He has a summer home at Oconomowoc, Wis. Residence: Virginia Hotel. Office: Railway Exchange Building, Chicago.

PECK, George Wilbur:

Ex-governor of Wisconsin; born at Henderson, Jefferson County, N. Y., Sept. 28, 1840; son of David B. and Alzina Peck. He was educated in the public schools, went to Wisconsin, and learned the printer's trade in the printing office of the White-water Register. He assisted in establishing the Jefferson County Republican and was later employed on the State Journal at Madison, Wis., until 1863, when he entered the Union Army as a private in the Fourth Wisconsin Infantry, later becoming a second lieutenant and serving in Texas for a year after the war. In 1866 he returned to Wisconsin and established at Ripon, The Representative, a weekly newspaper. Soon after he went to New York and was one of the editors of Pomeroy's Democrat, and later edited the La Crosse (Wis.) Democrat. In 1878 he established Peck's Sun in Milwaukee, which gained a large circulation because of its humorous character, and especially for a series of papers written by Mr. Peck and called Peck's Bad Boy and His Pa, of which three series were afterward published in book form. He is a Democrat in politics; was chief of police of La Crosse, Wis., 1874-1875; chief clerk of the Wisconsin State Assembly in 1874; mayor of Milwaukee, 1890-1891, and governor of Wisconsin, 1891-1895. He married at Delavan, Wis., in 1860, Francena Rowley. Address: 190 Farwell Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis.

PECK, John Hudson:

Lawyer; born in Hudson, N. Y., Feb. 7, 1838; son of Hon. Darius Peck, for many years judge of Columbia County, N. Y.; descendant of William Peck, an original settler of New Haven, Conn. He was graduated from Hamilton College, A.B., 1859, A.M., 1862, and received from that college his LL.D. in 1899. He was admitted to the bar at Albany, in December, 1861; is a practising lawyer in the firm of Peck and Behan, at Troy, and has been counsel for numerous corporate interests and private trusts. He became a trustee of Troy Female Seminary, 1883; was president of the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, 1888-1900; member of the Constitutional Convention of the State of New York, 1894; chairman of the New Court House Commission of Rensselaer County, 1894-1897; one of trustees for the erection of the Hart Memorial Library, and member (original incorporation) of the Scenic and Historic Preservation Society of New York; and has for years been a trustee of the Diocese of Albany. He is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society, Chi Psi fraternity, Society of Colonial Wars and Sons of the Revolution. Mr. Peck married in 1883, Mercey P. Mann, of Milton, N. Y., a descendant of one of the original land proprietors of Scituate, Mass. Address: Troy, N. Y.

PECK, William Emerson:

Export merchant; born in New Britain, Conn., June 30, 1858; son of Charles and Mary Folger (Davis) Peck. He was graduated from Williston Seminary, East Hampton, Mass., 1877, and from Yale College, 1881. During the years 1881-1888, he traveled extensively in South America, crossing the Andes five times. He is president of William E. Peck Company; vice-president of the Colonial Trade Company; treasurer of Hale Company, and the American Exporters Association. He is a member of the New York Chamber of Commerce, New England Society, the Sons of Revolution and of the National Geographic Society of Washington; trustee of Mt. Meigs Colored Institute of Alabama and the United States Savings Bank of New York. He has contributed numerous articles on export trade to various publications and the press and delivered public addresses on similar topics. He is a member of the Down Town Association, University, Yale, Barnard and Nassau Country Clubs of New York; of the New Haven Yacht and Graduates' Clubs of New Haven; Sachem's Head Yacht Club, of Sachem's Head, Conn., and The Pilgrims'

Club of London. Mr. Peck married in Liverpool, England, Jan. 30, 1884, Bertha Thompson Pierce and they have one daughter. Residence: 12 East 58th Street. Address: 116 Broad Street, New York City.

PECKHAM, Elizabeth Gifford:

Writer; born in Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 19, 1854; daughter of Charles and Mary Caroline (Child) Gifford. She was graduated from Vassar College, A.B., 1876, and A.M., 1888. She married in Pine Lake, Wis., Sept. 16, 1880, George Williams Peckham, and has three children. She is joint author (with her husband) of: Habits and Instincts of Solitary Wasps, Wasps Social and Solitary, Sexual Selection in Spiders, and of numerous scientific papers. Mrs. Peckham is a member of the Association Collegiate Alumnae, and the Wisconsin Audubon Society, also the Woman's Club of Wisconsin. Address: 646 Marshall Street, Milwaukee, Wis.

PECKHAM, George Williams:

Librarian, educator; born in Albany, N. Y., March 23, 1845; son of George William, and Mary Perry (Watson) Peckham. He was educated in Antioch College, Albany Law School, and Michigan University, M.D., and has received its degree of LL.D. He was principal of Milwaukee High School, and superintendent of the public schools of Milwaukee, and is now librarian of the Milwaukee Public Library. Mr. Peckham served in the Civil War, 1863-1865, with the First Wisconsin Heavy Artillery, private to senior first lieutenant. He is joint author (with his wife) of: Wasps Social and Solitary; Habits and Instincts of Solitary Wasps; Sexual Selection in Spiders; and numerous scientific and educational papers. He is past president of the Wisconsin Academy of Sciences of Arts and Letters, past president of the Natural History Society of Wisconsin; member of the Grand Army of the Republic, and the Loyal Legion. He married in Pine Lake, Wis., Sept. 16, 1880, Elizabeth Gifford, and they have three children. Residence: 646 Marshall Street. Business address: Public Library, Milwaukee, Wis.

PECKHAM, Rufus Wheeler:

Associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States; born in Albany, N. Y., Nov. 8, 1838; son of Judge Rufus Wheeler Peckham of the Court of Appeals of New York who lost his life in the wreck of the Ville de Havre, Nov. 22, 1873, and of Isabella (Lacey) Peckham. He was educated at the Albany Academy and in Philadelphia; studied law in his father's office, and was admitted to the bar in December, 1859. On the election of his father to the Supreme Bench in 1859, he formed a partnership with the former partner of his father, under the firm name of Tremain and Peckham, which continued until the death of Mr. Tremain, in December, 1878. He was elected district attorney of Albany County in 1868; later corporation counsel of Albany City and in 1883 was elected a justice of the Supreme Court of New York. While serving as such he was elected in 1886 as associate judge of the Court of Appeals of New York State, and while occupying a seat on that bench was, in December, 1895, appointed by President Cleveland associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States. He married in 1866, Harriette M., daughter of D. H. Arnold, president of the Mercantile Bank of New York City. Address: 1217 Connecticut Avenue, Washington, D. C.

PEFFER, William Alfred:

Former U. S. Senator; born in Cumberland County, Pa., Sept. 10, 1831; son of John and Elizabeth (Souder) Peffer. He was educated in the public schools of Cumberland County, Pa., until 1846, then taught in country schools until 1849. He went to the California gold mines in 1850, remaining until 1852, came back East and engaged in farming in St. Joseph County, Ind., in 1853, thence to Morgan County, Mo., in 1859, and from there to Warren County, Ill., in 1862. He enlisted in that year as a private in the 83d Illinois Volunteer Infantry serving with it until he was mustered out with the rank of lieutenant in June, 1865. After the war he engaged in the practice of law in Clarksville, Tenn., until 1870, when he removed to Kansas, settled on a claim in Wilson County, and established a law practice. He afterward established the Fredonia Journal and the Coffeyville Journal, and from 1881 was editor of The Kansas Farmer for over ten years, and editorial writer on Topeka Daily Capital, seven years. He was active in the Republican party, was elected to the State Senate in 1874, and was a presidential elector for Garfield in 1880. He became actively identified with the People's party movement, and its recognized leader in Kansas, and that party, gaining power in the State, elected him United States senator for the term, 1891-1897. He was Prohibition candidate for governor of Kansas in 1898, but was defeated, and in 1900, having returned to the Republican party on the issues growing out of the Spanish-American War, he took an active part in the campaign for McKinley and Roosevelt. He married, Dec. 28, 1852, Sarah Jane Barber. Address: Topeka, Kan.

PEGRAM, Henry:

Lawyer; born in London, England, Sept. 1, 1869; son of Orlando A. and Mary M. (Sandford) Pegram (Americans); educated in the Institution Lavanoux, Nanterre, France, 1877-1879, Holy Communion Church Institute, Charleston, S.C., 1879-1885, Hobart College, Geneva, N. Y., A.B., (cum laude), 1889, A.M., 1892, and the Metropolis Law School, 1893-1895. He was instructor in classics, 1889-1895 in Columbia Institute, New York City; Porter Academy, Charleston, S. C.; Georgia Military Institute, Atlanta, Ga.; and Trinity School New York City. He was admitted to the bar of the State of New York, 1895, member of the staff of the Law Department of Lawyers' Title Insurance Company, from Sept. 1895 to March, 1897; in charge of the title department of Wilson M. Powell, from March 1897 to March, 1903; in independent practice since March, 1903. Mr. Pegram was a member of the New York State Torrens System Commission of 1907, and is author of treatise in land title registration. Mr. Pegram is a member of the Bar Association of the City of New York, New York County Bar Association, New York State Bar Association, American Bar Association, Phi Beta Kappa Society, Phi Kappa Psi fraternity (attorney general, 1900-1906), the Southern Society, The Virginians, the National Geographic Society, and the German Liederkrantz Club. Residence: 44 East 63d Street. Office: 4 Hanover Street, New York City.

PEIRCE, George:

Lawyer; born in Philadelphia, Oct. 6, 1847; son of Judge William Shannon Peirce, of the Court of Common Pleas of Philadelphia County, and of Elizabeth Irwin (Baldwin) Peirce. His father was a descendant of early settlers of Delaware, holding grants from Sir Edmund Andros in 1860, and his mother was great-granddaughter of Andrew Irwin, sometime Royal governor of the island of Grenada, West Indies. Mr. Peirce was educated in the Friends' Central School, Philadelphia, at the United States Naval Academy at Newport and Annapolis, 1862-1866, but resigned to study law. He pursued his legal studies in the office of Edward Hopper of Philadelphia and in the Law School of the University of Pennsylvania, was admitted to the bar, and afterward attended lectures at Harvard Law School with the class of 1871. Since September, 1871, he has been continuously engaged in the practise of law in Philadelphia, where he is counsel for important interests and organizations. He is one of the Board of Council of the Pennsylvania Industrial Home for Blind Women; member of the Zeta Psi fraternity, the Law Association of Philadelphia, University Club, Welsh Society and Historical Society of Pennsylvania. He married, Dec. 10, 1874, Lucy, daughter of Rev. John B. Spotswood and Sarah Peters Spotswood. Residence: New Castle, Dela. Address: 920 Arcade Building, Philadelphia, Pa.

PEIRCE, Herbert Henry Davis:

Diplomat; born at Cambridge, Mass., April 11, 1849; son of Benjamin Peirce, mathematician. He was educated in the Cambridge schools, Phillips Exeter Academy, and Harvard College, class of 1871; and afterward studied geology at the Royal School of Mines in London, England. He entered upon a diplomatic career in May, 1894, as secretary to the U. S. Legation at St. Petersburg, and in 1898 he became first secretary of the American Embassy there when the mission was raised to that rank, remaining in that position until 1901. He was appointed special counsel for American claimants and counsel for the U. S. Government in the arbitration cases between the United States and Russia, which he prepared and argued at the Hague, in French. He was appointed, Nov. 15, 1901, third assistant secretary of State of the United States and served in that position until 1906. During this period he made two tours of inspection commissioned by the President to investigate and report upon the condition of the American consulates in Europe and in Far East, resulting in the institution of many radical reforms in our consular service, notably the entire abolition of the fee system of compensation of salaried consuls and the establishment of a U. S. court in China to take the place of the consular courts. As third assistant secretary of State Mr. Peirce acted several times as the representative of the President in connection with the visits to our country of guests of the nation, on the last occasion, in the summer of 1905, during the peace negotiations at Portsmouth, N. H., between Russia and Japan, the preparations for which and the reception of the plenipotentiaries were under his immediate charge, receiving from the latter, on August 20, for communication to the President, the announcement of peace. After the separation of Norway from Sweden he was appointed to his present post as the first envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to Norway. Mr. Peirce received from the French Government May 16, 1902, the decoration of commandeur of the Légion d'Honneur, and in 1903 the order of the Double Dragon from China. He married at Portland, Maine, Helen N. Jose. Address. American Legation, Christiania, Norway.

PELL, Howland:

Insurance, real estate; born at Flushing, L. I., March 19, 1856; son of William Howland and Adelaide Schleffelin (Ferris)

Pell. He was educated in public and private schools; and the School of Mines of Columbia College. He entered the service of the Highlands Chemical and Mining Company in 1877, engaged with the Commercial Union Assurance Association as cashier for ten years, and in 1888 was appointed local agent for that company, and also for the Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company, the agency having been established in this country by his uncle, Alfred Pell, in 1848. He is a veteran of Companies I and K, of the Seventh Regiment of the National Guard of New York; served six years in the Twelfth Regiment as lieutenant and captain; vice-president of The Gaillard Insurance Company; trustee of the Fulton Trust Company; member of the New York Historical Society, New York Genealogical and Biographical Society, St. Nicholas Society, Society of the War of 1812; vice-governor-general of the Society of Colonial Wars; chairman of the Committee of the Society of Colonial Wars that erected a monument at Louisburg, 1895, and at Lake George, 1903; director of the House of Mercy and of the Home for Destitute Blind. He is also a member of the Union, Tuxedo, and New York Yacht Clubs. Mr. Pell married in New York City, April 12, 1887, Almy Geollet Gallatin, and they have two children. Address: 7 Pine Street, New York City.

PENDLETON, Francis Key:

Lawyer; born in Ohio; son of the Hon. George Hunt Pendleton (member of Congress, 1856-1865, Democratic candidate for vice-president on ticket with Gen. George B. McClellan, 1864, U. S. Senator from Ohio, 1878-1885; minister to Germany, 1885-1889) and of Alice (Key) Pendleton, daughter of Francis Scott Key (author of The Star Spangled Banner, etc.) Mr. Pendleton was graduated from Harvard College, A.B., 1870, Harvard Law School, LL.B., 1875. He was admitted to the Ohio Bar, 1875; later coming to New York City where he has since practised law. He was appointed by Mayor McClellan, Aug., 1907, corporation counsel of the city of New York. He is a member of the Society of the Cincinnati and of the Knickerbocker, Union, Metropolitan, Down Town, Turf and Field, City Maddy, Riding and Meadow Brook Clubs of New York. He married Elizabeth La Montague. Address: 25 Broad Street, New York City.

PENDLETON, Louis (Beauregard):

Author; born at Tebeauville, Georgia, April 21, 1861; the seventh son of Philip C. Pendleton and Catharine (Tebeau) Pendleton. Attended primary and high schools at Valdosta, Ga., and college in Philadelphia. For years he has been a staff writer of editorials on political and other subjects to the Macon Daily Telegraph, and has contributed serials to the Youth's Companion and short stories to many magazines. He is author of: Life of Alexander H. Stephens, 1908, and previously published novels and juveniles entitled: Bewitched, and Other Stories, In the Wiregrass, a story of life in Southern Georgia; King Tom and the Runaway, the story of what befell two boys in a Georgia swamp; The Sons of Ham, a story of the race problem; The Wedding Garment, a tale of the life after death; Corona of the Nantahalas, and idyl of the North Carolina mountains; In the Okefinokee, a boys' story of the great Georgia swamp; Carita, a Cuban romance; Lost Prince Almon, a Biblical juvenile; In Assyrian Tents, the story of Sennacherib's invasion of Judea; In The Camp of the Creeks, a boy's story of an Indian uprising in Georgia in 1836; A Forest Drama (written after six summer outing trips in the Canadian Wilds). Mr. Pendleton is a member of the Franklin Inn (Author's) Club of Philadelphia. Address: Bryn Athyn, Pa.

PENFIELD, Edward:

Artist; born in Brooklyn, in 1866. He was educated in the Polytechnic Institute and the Art Students' League; was art director of Harper's Magazine, 1890-1900, originator of the Poster in America. He designed the famous Harper Posters, 1893-1898, and has made numerous covers for Collier's Weekly, Saturday Evening Post, and many drawings in Holland and Spain for Scribner's Magazine. He decorated the Breakfast Room of Randolph Hall, Cambridge, Mass., and the Rochester County Club. He has traveled in England, France, Germany, Holland and Spain. Mr. Penfield is a member of the American Water Color Society, and the Salmagundi Club of New York. Residence: Pellham Manor, N. Y. Studio: 163 West 23d Street, New York City.

PENICK, Charles Clifton:

Bishop of Cape Palmas, retired; born in Charlotte County, Va., Dec. 9, 1843; son of Edward Anderson and Mary (Hammer) Penick. He was graduated from the Theological Seminary of Virginia, 1869, and received the degree of D.D. from Kenyon College, 1877. He was ordered deacon of the Episcopal Church, 1869 and ordained priest by Bishop Johns in 1870. He was successively rector of parishes at Bristol and Goodson, Va., Mt. Savage, Md., and the Church of the Messiah, Baltimore. In 1877 he was consecrated bishop by Bishops Atkinson, Whittle, Pinckney and Dudley and made bishop of Cape Palmas and parts adjacent, West Africa. In 1883 he resigned from the Bishopric of Cape Palmas, and, coming to the United States became rector of St. Andrew's Church, Louisville, Ky., was later rector of St. Mark's Church, Richmond, Va., and of Christ's Church, Fairmount, W. Va., Bishop Penick represented the Commission for the Colored People in the General Missionary Board. He is author of: More than a Prophet; Birth, Life, Reign, and Glory of Christ in the Soul; Our Deeds, our Memories, our Duties; Hopes, Perils, and Struggles of the Negroes in the United States; The Call of the Race; Social Factor in Life of Christ; Everlasting Life. He married in 1881 Mary Hoge, of Wheeling, W. Va. Address: Fairmount, W. Va.

PENNEWILL, Simon S.:

Governor of Delaware. He was elected to the office in the general election of November, 1908, on the Republican ticket, for the four-year term expiring Jan. 21, 1913. Address: Dover, Del.

PENNYBACKER, Anna J. Hardwicke:

Teacher, author, speaker; born in Virginia, 1861; daughter of John B. and Martha (Drews) Hardwicke. She was graduated from Classical High School, Leavenworth, Kansas State Normal College of Texas, receiving Highest honors in each case, also had tutors in Greek, Latin, French and German. She married in Tyler, Texas, Oct. 1884, Percy V. Pennybacker, who died in May, 1899, and they have three children. She was principal of high school for ten years, president Lexos Federation of Women's Clubs, 1901-1903; treasurer of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, 1904-1906, auditor and chairman of the Program Committee, General Federation of Women's Clubs, 1906-1908. Mrs. Pennybacker is author of: History of Texas, which was adopted by law for universal use in public schools of Texas, during the last ten years, and a contributor to various educational journals. Address: 2606 Withis Avenue, Austin, Texas.

PENNYPACKER, Galusha:

Army officer; born in Chester County, Pa., June 1, 1844; son of Joseph J. and Tamson Amelia (Workhizer) Pennypacker. He was educated in the Classical Institute at Phenixville, Pa. He entered the Union service in the 9th Pennsylvania Volunteers, in April, 1861, and served with it as a non-commissioned staff officer, in the Shenandoah Valley, during its three months' service; entered for the War as captain, 97th Pennsylvania Volunteers, Aug. 22, 1861; promoted to major, Oct. 7, 1861; served in 10th Corps, Department of the South, participating in engagements at Forts Wagner and Gregg, James Island, and siege of Charleston, S. C.; capture of Fort Pulaski, Ga., and taking of Fernandina and Jacksonville, Fla.; commanded regiment and post at Fernandina until April, 1864, when regiment was ordered with 10th Corps to Virginia; promoted lieutenant-colonel, April 3, 1864, and colonel, June 23, 1864; participated in actions, at Swift's Creek, Drewey's Bluff and Chester Station, in May, 1864, and May 20 led his regiment in an assault on the enemy's lines at Green Plains, Bermuda Hundred, receiving three severe wounds, and losing 175 men killed and wounded out of 295 taken into the charge; assigned to command 2d Brigade, 2d Division, 10th Corps in September, 1864, and September 29 led brigade in successful assault upon Fort Harrison, where he was again wounded and had his horse shot from under him; participated in actions at Chaffin's Farm, October 7; Darbytown Road, Oct. 29; with first Fort Fisher expedition under General Butler, Dec. 1-31, 1864; with brigade, took part in the successful attack on Fort Fisher, N. C., Jan. 15, 1895, where he was severely wounded; and he received the Congressional Medal of Honor for distinguished personal gallantry in this assault and for gallant and meritorious services during the war he received brevets and promotions as follows: Brevet brigadier-general, U. S. Volunteers, Jan. 15, 1865; brigadier-general, U. S. V., Feb. 18, 1865; brevet major-general, U. S. V., March 13, 1865; colonel, 34th (designation changed to 16th) Infantry, U. S. A., July 28, 1866; brevet brigadier-general, U. S. A., March 2, 1867; brevet major-general, U. S. A., March 2, 1867; in active service until 1883, when he was placed on the retired list because of wounds received; promoted brigadier-general, U. S. A., April 23, 1904. He received the Medal of Honor from Congress for bravery at the battle of Fort Fisher. Address: 300 South 10th Street, Philadelphia.

PENNYPACKER, Isaac Rusling:

Journalist and author, born in Phoenixville, Pa., Dec. 11, 1852; son of Dr. Isaac Anderson and Anna Maria (Whitaker) Pennypacker. He was educated in Hill School, Pottstown. He was proprietor and editor of the Wilmington (Delaware) Morning News, 1880-1882, on the editorial staff of the Philadelphia Press and Inquirer, 1883-1899, ex-president of the Netherlands Society of Philadelphia, elected member of Haddonfield, N. J., town council, in March 1903; resigned in 1906. He is author of: Gettysburg and Other Poems. Life of General Meade (Great Commanders Series, published by D. Appleton Co., New York), also of articles in Philadelphia, in Johnston's Cyclopedia, and numerous historical papers; contributor of reviews to the New York Nation, and Chicago Dial. Mr. Pennypacker is a director of the Manufacturers Rubber Company, and the Pennsylvania Feldspar Company until 1907. He was formerly director of the Mt. Holly (New Jersey) Library, and is a member of the Franklin Inn Club of Philadelphia, the E. Q. B. Club of Sewanee, Tenn., Camden County Country Club, and the Montrose (Pa.) Country Club. He married in Philadelphia, 1877, Charlotte Whitaker of Hartford County, Maryland. Address: Haddonfield, N. J.

PENNYPACKER, Samuel Whitaker:

Ex governor of Pennsylvania; born in Phoenixville, Pa., April 9, 1843. His father having been appointed to a professorship in the Philadelphia Medical College, the family moved to that city, and he was sent to the Northwest Grammar School, from which he was given a scholarship in Saunders Institute, West Philadelphia. On the death of his father, after several years' residence in Philadelphia, he returned to Phoenixville, where he attended the Grove-mont Seminary. He prepared for Yale University, but was prevented from attending. In 1862 he took an examination for a teacher's certificate in Montgomery County, and that winter taught school in Mont Clare. In 1863 he enlisted and was sworn into a Company F, of Pottstown, 26th Pennsylvania Emergency Regiment, which was the first force to meet the Confederate forces at Gettysburg. On his return from military service he studied law in the Law Department of the University of Pennsylvania from which he was graduated LL.B., 1866, and during the same period was a law student in the office of Hon. Peter McCall. He was admitted to the bar in 1866, practicing in Philadelphia until he was appointed judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Philadelphia by Governor Beaver in 1889; and later in the same year he was elected to the same position for a term of ten years, and in 1899 was reelected for a similar term; and while he was acting as president judge of the Court of Common Pleas No. 2 of Philadelphia; he was elected governor of Pennsylvania on the Republican ticket and served for the four year term which expired in Jan. 1907. Governor Pennypacker is president of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania and of the Philobiblon Club; vice-president of the Sons of the Revolution and of the Colonial Society; past commander of Frederick Taylor Post No. 19, Grand Army of the Republic; member of the Society of Colonial Wars and of the Society of the War of 1812. He is also a trustee of the University of Pennsylvania. For several years he was a member of the Valley Forge Commission. He is the author of: Pennsylvania Colonial Cases; Pennypackers Supreme Court Reports; A Digest of the Common Law Reports; The Settlement of Germantown; Historical and Biographical Sketches; and over fifty books and papers. The University of Pennsylvania has conferred upon him the degree LL.D. He married, Oct. 20, 1870, Virginia Earl, daughter of Nathan B. Broomall, of Chester County, and they have three daughters and a son. Address: Pennypacker's Mills, Pa.

PENROSE, Boies:

United States senator; born in Philadelphia, Nov. 1, 1860; son of Dr. Richard A. F. Penrose. He was prepared for college by private tutors and in the schools of Philadelphia; and was graduated from Harvard College in 1881. He read law with Wayne MacVeagh and George Tucker Bispham, and was admitted to the bar in 1883; and practised his profession in Philadelphia for several years. He was elected to the Pennsylvania House of Representatives from the Eighth Philadelphia District in 1884; was elected to the Pennsylvania State Senate from the Sixth Philadelphia District in 1886, reelected in 1890, and again in 1894; was elected president pro tempore of the Senate in 1889, and reelected in 1891; was a delegate to the Republican National Convention of 1900 and 1904; was chairman of the Republican State Committee in 1903-1905; was elected a member of the National Republican Committee from Pennsylvania in 1904; and was elected to the United States Senate to succeed J. Donald Cameron, and took his seat March 4, 1897. He was the unanimous choice to the Republican caucus of both houses and was reelected by the full party vote in the legislature in 1903 and 1909. His term of service will expire March 3, 1915. Residence: 1331 Spruce Street, Philadelphia.

PENROSE, Clement Biddle:

Jurist; born in Carlisle, Pa., Oct. 27, 1832. He attended several schools in Washington, D. C.; studied in Franklin College, Lancaster, Pa., and in 1850 was graduated A.B. from the University of Pennsylvania, from which he received the LL.D. degree in 1901. He married, in 1857, Mary Linnard, and has had eight children. He subsequently read law in the office of his father, then a leading Philadelphia attorney, and was admitted to practice in 1853. He followed his profession with much success until 1878, when he was appointed by Governor Hartranft, a judge of the Philadelphia Orphan's Court to fill a vacancy. He was regularly elected in November of that year, was reelected in 1888 and again in 1898, receiving the votes of both political parties. He is one of the vice-presidents of the Law Academy of Philadelphia, a member of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, the American Academy of Political and Social Science, and the St. Elmo Club. He married in 1857, Mary Linnard, and has had eight children. Address: 182 West Chelton Avenue, Philadelphia.

PENROSE, Richard A. F., Jr.:

Geologist, mining engineer; born in Philadelphia, Dec. 17, 1863; son of Richard Alexander Fullerton and Sarah H. B. Penrose. He was graduated from Harvard, with highest honors, in 1884, and received the degrees of A.M., Ph.D., 1886. He was geologist in charge of the survey of Eastern Texas, for the Texas Geological Survey, 1888; appointed, 1889, by the Geological Survey of Arkansas to make detailed reports on the manganese and iron ore regions of Arkansas; professor economic geology, University of Chicago, 1892; gave course lectures on economic geology, at Leland Stanford, Jr., University, 1893; special geologist U. S. Geological Survey, 1894, to examine and report on gold districts of Cripple Creek, Colo.; director of the Ridge Avenue Passenger Railway Company of Philadelphia; member of the Board of Managers of the Philadelphia, Germantown and Norristown Railway Company. Dr. Penrose is a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and the Geological Society of America; member of the American Philosophical Society, Academy of Natural Sciences of Philadelphia, Washington Academy of Sciences, Geological Society of Washington, American Institute of Mining Engineers, Colorado Scientific Society, National Geographic Society, and others. He is author of: The Nature and Origin of Deposits of Phosphate of Lime, 1888; Geology of the Gulf Territory of Texas, 1889; Manganese, Its Uses, Ores, Deposits, 1890; The Iron Deposits of Arkansas, and other reports, papers, and articles, in economic geology. Address: 460 Bullitt Street, Philadelphia.

PENTECOST, George Frederick:

Clergyman and author; was born in Albion, Ill., Sept. 23, 1842; eldest son of Hugh L. Pentecost of Virginia and Emma, daughter of George Flower, of Herts, England. He was educated at Georgetown College, Washington, D. C.; and has received the degrees of D.D. from Lafayette College L.L.D. from the Central University of Kentucky. He was private secretary to the governor of the State of Kansas 1857; clerk of the U. S. District Court, 1858; captain of the Eighth Kentucky Cavalry, U. S. Army, 1862-1864; ordained to Gospel ministry, 1864; was pastor in Brooklyn, 1868-1871, and Boston, 1880-1887; in evangelical work in Scotland, 1887-1888; on a special mission to English-speaking Brahmins in India, 1888-1891; minister of Marylebone Presbyterian Church, London, England, 1891-1897; minister of the Presbyterian Church in Yonkers, N. Y., 1897-1902; special commissioner of the American Board and Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions to China, Japan, and Phillippine Islands, 1902-1903; now devoted to evangelistic work at large, and Biblical teaching. He is the author of: In the Volume of the Book, 1884; Out of Egypt, 1885; A south Window, 1886; Bible Studies (10 volumes), 1881-1891; Birth and Boyhood of Christ, 1896; Forgiveness of Sin, 1896; Systematic Beneficence 1897; Precious Truth, 1900; Christian Imperialism, 1902. He married Ada youngest daughter of Augustus Webber, M.D., of Kentucky. Address: Norfield, Mass.

PEOPLES, William Thaddeus:

Librarian; born in Wilmington, Del., Jan. 1, 1843; son of James and Catherine (Gallagher) Peoples. He was graduated from St. Mary's College, Wilmington, Del., 1862. He is librarian of Mercantile Library Association of New York; secretary of the Clinton Hall Association of New York; trustee of the American Institute of the City of New York. He was unsuccessful candidate for Congress in the Sixth Congressional District of New Jersey, on the Democratic (gold) ticket in 1896. He is a member of the American Economic Association, American Library Association, New York Library Association, American Museum of Natural History, and a member of the New York Library Club. Mr. Peoples married in New York City, Nov. 29, 1882, Kate Neimyer. Address: Mercantile Library, Astor Place, New York City.

PERINE, Edward Ten Broeck:

Auditor and accountant; born in Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 19, 1870; son of James R. and Maria V. (Ten Broeck) Perine. He was graduated from the Plainfield (N. J.) High School, 1888; entered the Columbia School of Arts, class of 1892, but did not finish the course. He was an officer in the Third National Bank of Jersey City until 1893; cashier, then treasurer of the United States Mortgage & Trust Company, 1893-1904; and is now president and a director of The Audit Company of New York. He has acted as receiver and assignee in connection with important Wall Street failures; lecturer, expert and authority on accounts, with experience in the larger accounting problems in America and Europe; expert witness in cases of important financial litigation; financial writer, and speaker at recent conventions of the American Bankers' Association. He is director of the First National Bank of Bayonne, N. J., the Mechanics' Trust Company of Bayonne, N. J., and the Peoples' National Bank of Westfield, N. J., and other corporations. Mr. Perine married, in 1891, Nancy T. Mapes, and they have two daughters, Elsie and Riti. Address: 165 Broadway, New York City.

PERKINS, Frank Edson:

Architect; born in Boston, Mass., Sept. 9, 1870; son of Charles W. and H. A. (Edson) Perkins. He was graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, 1892, École des Beaux Art, Paris, 1898. He was professor in charge of courses of architectural design, University of Pennsylvania, 1898-1902; Patron Perkins Atelier of Architecture, New York City, 1902-1905. He received honorable mention at Paris Salon, 1899, and medals at École des Beaux Arts; traveled all through Europe making restorations of ancient monuments and working drawings of modern buildings. Among the buildings constructed by him are: the building of The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York at the Paris Exposition of 1900; church in Paris, France, New York store for John Forsythe; American Fisheries Company Building; New York apartment houses and hotels; Furman University, University library at Greenville, S. C.; various residences, etc. He won in open competition (of 134 architects competing), appointment as architect of the Capitol of Porto Rico, which will contain the Senate, House of Representatives and Supreme Court. He served as professional adviser to the Building Committee of the Philadelphia City Troop of Cavalry. Mr. Perkins is a member of the American Institute of Architects, National Arts Club of New York City, Arts Club of Philadelphia, the Architectural League; Société des Architectes Diplômés par le Gouvernement Français, Beaux Arts Society of New York, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology Alumni, and the University of Pennsylvania Alumni. He married in Philadelphia, April 26, 1905, Emily Roberts Lewis, and has one daughter. Address: 225 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

PERKINS, George Clement:

U. S. senator; born at Kennebunkport, Maine, Aug. 22, 1839; son of Clement and Lucinda (Fairechild) Perkins. He was reared on a farm, and attended public school until his thirteenth year, when he shipped on board a sailing ship for New Orleans, and followed the calling of a sailor on ships engaged in the European trade. In 1855 he shipped "before the mast" on the sailing ship Galatea bound for San Francisco, where he arrived in the autumn of that year. Since that time he has been engaged in the business of merchandising, banking, farming, mining, whale fishery, and steamship transportation. In 1869 he was elected to the State Senate, serving eight years; has been president of the Merchants' Exchange in San Francisco; also of the San Francisco Art Association; is a director of the California Academy of Sciences and other public institutions. Has been grand master of the Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons of California, also grand commander of the Grand Commandery of the Knights Templar of California, and is a member of California Commandery of the Military Order Loyal Legion of the United States. In 1879 he was elected governor of California, serving until January, 1883; was appointed, July 24, 1893, United States senator to fill, until the election of his successor, the vacancy caused by the death of Hon. Leland Stanford, and took his seat August 8, 1893. In January, 1895, having made a thorough canvass before the people of his State, he was elected by the legislature on the first ballot to fill the unexpired term and reelected in 1897, 1903 and 1909. His term of service will expire March 3, 1915. Address: Oakland, Calif.

PERKINS, George Walbridge:

Financier; born in Chicago, Jan. 31, 1862. He was educated in the public schools of Chicago. He began business life in the Chicago Office of the New York Life Insurance Company, 1877, as a bookkeeper, later becoming successively cashier and inspector of agencies. He was made superintendent of the Western Department of the Company in 1889, and in 1892 third vice-president in charge of the agency force, with headquarters at the home office in New York City; promoted to 2d vice-president 1898, to vice-president, 1903 and elected chairman of the Finance Committee of the company in 1900. He has been a partner in the banking firm of J. P. Morgan & Company since 1901. He is chairman of the Executive Committee and a director of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad; chairman of the Board of Directors of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton Railroad, Pere Marquette Railroad Company; president and director of the Toledo Railroad and Terminal Company; chairman of the Finance Committee and director of the Internat Harvester Company; vice-president and director of the Great Central Dock Company; trustee of the New York Trust Company; director of the U. S. Steel Corporation, Northern Pacific Railway Company; National City Bank, The Internat Mercantile Marine Company; Astor Trust Company, Bankers Trust Company, Dayton & Union Railroad Company, German American Insurance Company, Marquette & Bessemer Dock and Navigation Company, Northern Securities Company. Mr. Perkin is a trustee of Vassar College; and he is a member of the Union League, Metropolitan, New York Yacht, Country, Merchants and Ardsley Clubs. He married Evelyn Ball. Residence: 524 Fifth Avenue, N. Y. Address: 23 Wall Street, New York City.

PERKINS, James Breck:

Congressman and lawyer; born at St. Croix Falls, Wisconsin, November 4, 1847. He was graduated from the University of Rochester in 1867; was admitted to bar in December, 1868, and has since practised his profession in Rochester. In 1874 he was elected city attorney of Rochester for a term of two years, and in 1878 was reelected for a second term. Mr. Perkins lived in Paris, engaged in work on French history, 1890-1895; in 1887 his France Under Marazins was published; in 1892, France Under the Regency; in 1897, France Under Louis XV., and in 1900 a Life of Richelieu as one of the Heroes of the Nation Series. In 1897

he received the degree of LL.D. from the University of Rochester. In 1895 Mr. Perkins returned to Rochester and in 1898 served in the New York State Assembly from the first district of Monroe County; was a delegate to the Republican National Convention in 1904; was elected to the Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth Congresses, and reelected in 1908 to the Sixty-first Congress, from the Thirty-second New York District. He is a member of the National Institute of Arts and Letters. He married in 1878, May E. Martindale. Address: Rochester, N. Y.

PERRIN, John William:

Librarian; son of Williams Jasper and Susan (Allen) Perrin. He was graduated from Illinois Wesleyan University, A.B., 1887, received the A.M. degree from Wabash College in 1889; was a graduate student in history, economics and philosophy in Johns Hopkins University, 1890-1892; at the University of Chicago as graduate student in history, political science and sociology, 1892-1893, and honorary fellow from Jan. to July, 1893, receiving the Ph.D. degree from the University of Chicago in 1895. Professor Perrin was assistant principal of the high school at Danville, Ill., 1887-1888; superintendent of city schools at Petersburg, Ill., 1888-1889; assistant superintendent of schools of Cook County, Ill., under Superintendent A. G. Lane, 1889-1890. He was professor of history and economics in the First Wisconsin State Normal School at Platteville, Wis., 1893-1894; professor of history and political science in Allegheny College, 1894-1898; also, while at Allegheny, lecturer in history for the American Society for Extension of University Teaching, 1895-1898; professor of history and economics, Chautauqua College of Liberal Arts, Chautauqua, N. Y. He was professor of history, Adelbert College of Western Reserve University, 1898-1904; Albert Shaw Lecturer on American diplomatic history in Johns Hopkins University, 1904; lecturer on American History, Allegheny College, 1905; librarian of the Case Library, Cleveland, Ohio, since June, 1905. Professor Perrin is a member of the American Historical Association, American Political Science Assoediation; active member of the National Educational Association, elected secretary of the Department of Higher Education at the Detroit meeting, 1901, for the Minneapolis meeting, 1902. While at Western Reserve University he organized, in 1899, the Conference of Collegiate and Secondary School Instructors of Western Reserve University; and he was the chairman of Executive Committee of the Conference until 1903. He has been president of the Northern Ohio Alumni Association of the University of Chicago since Feb. 1907. In October 1907 he was elected president of the Ohio Library Association for 1908. He has contributed articles and reviews to the American Historical Review, Educational Review, Journal of Pedagogy, Yale Review, Chautauquan and other periodicals on historical, educational or biographical subjects. He married April 16, 1890, Harriet Naylor Towle, of Evanston, Ill., and they have three children. Address: The Case Library, Cleveland, Ohio.

PERRY, Alfred Tyler:

President of Marietta College; born in Geneseo, Ill., Aug. 19, 1858; son of George Bulkley and Maria Louise (Tyler) Perry. He was educated in Drury Academy, North Adams, Mass., Williams College, receiving the degree of B. A. in 1880, and prizes in mathematics and oratory, and M.A. in 1891, in the Hartford Theological Seminary, 1885 and in 1901 received the degree of D.D. from Williams College. He was assistant pastor of the Memorial Church, Springfield, 1886, ordained to Congregational ministry, Dec. 29, 1886, pastor of the East Congregational Church, Ware, Mass., 1887-1891, librarian and professor of bibliography, Hartford Theological Seminary, 1891-1900, and president of Marietta College, Marietta, Ohio, since 1900. He is a member of numerous religious and educational organizations. He married in Hartford, Conn., April 13, 1887, Anna Morris, and they have two sons. Address: Marietta, Ohio.

PERRY, Bliss:

Author, professor of English literature in Harvard University; born in Williamstown, Mass., Nov. 25, 1860; son of Professor A. L. Perry, the political economist. He was educated at Williams College, A.B., 1881, A.M., 1882, and at the Berlin and Strassburg Universities, and he has received the honorary degrees of L.H.D., Princeton, 1900, Williams, 1902; Litt.D., Bowdoin, 1904, LL.D., Wake Forest, 1906. He was professor of English at Williams College, 1886-1893; Princeton University, 1893-1900; and has been editor of the Atlantic Monthly since 1899. He is author of: The Broughton House; Salem Kittredge, and other stories; The Plated City; The Powers at Play; A Study of Prose Fiction; The Amateur Spirit; Walt Whitman; Whittier; Park-Street Papers; and edited Little Masterpieces (18 volumes), besides various English and American authors for school and college use. He is a member of the Tavern and Oakley Country, Boston. He married Annie L. Bliss, of New Haven, Conn. Address: 4 Park Street, Boston.

PERRY, Enoch Wood:

Artist; born in Boston, Mass., July 31, 1831. He was educated in schools there; went to New Orleans, La., in 1848; studied art in Dusseldorf, Germany, Paris, Rome and Venice, and then returned to the United States. He established as painter of portraits in New York City, 1865, and has executed portraits of many prominent people; has also painted numerous genre pictures. Mr. Perry was elected associate of the Natural Academy of Design, 1868, and became an academieian in 1869; and he served as recording secretary of the National Academy of Design, 1871-1873. Address: 333 4th Avenue, New York City.

PERRY, Roland Hinton:

Sculptor and painter; born in New York City, Jan. 25, 1870; son of George and Ione (Winton) Perry. He was educated in private schools and in art at the Art Students' League, New York, 1885-1888, and in Paris at Ecole des Beaux Arts, 1889-1890, Académie Julian, 1890-1893, Académie Delacause, 1889-1894. He modeled the Fountain of Neptune for the Congressional Library at Washington in 1896; Lion in Love, 1899; Circé, 1898; Primitive Man, 1899; Langdon doors for the Buffalo Historical Society, 1901; Frieze for the New Amsterdam Theatre, New York City, 1903; Statue of Dr. Benjamin Rush, Washington, D. C., 1903; fountain for W. Gould Brokaw, 1904; statue, "Pennsylvania," for the dome of the Capitol at Harrisburg, Pa., 1904; statue of General Greene, 1905; Reconciliation, for Lookout Mountain, Chattanooga, Tenn., 1906; Lions on the new Connecticut Avenue Bridge in Washington, D. C., 1908. He is a member of the Architectural League (vice-president, 1903-1904); a member of the National Sculpture Society of New York, the Municipal Art Society, and the Players' Club. He married, first, in New York City, in 1895, Irma Hinton, by whom he has a daughter, and second in 1906, May Hanbury Fisher, by whom he has a son. Address: 51 West Tenth Street, New York City.

PERSHING, John Joseph:

Brigadier-General, U. S. Army; born in Linn County, Mo., Sept. 13, 1860; son of John F. and Ann E. (Thompson) Pershing. He was graduated from the State Normal School, Kirksville, Mo., A.B., 1881. In 1882 he secured, through competitive examination, the appointment to the West Point Military Academy, from which he was graduated in 1886, and commissioned second lieutenant of the Sixth Cavalry. He was promoted first lieutenant in 1892, captain First Cavalry in February, 1901, Fifteenth Cavalry, August, 1901, and commissioned brigadier-general U. S. Army, Sept. 20, 1906. He served in the latter part of the Geronimo Campaign in Arizona under General Miles in 1886; in the Sioux Campaign, 1890-1891; with the Indian Scouts until September, 1891, when he was detailed as military instructor at the University of Nebraska, serving there until 1895. He was instructor of tactics at the U. S. Military Academy, 1897-1898; served in the Spanish-American War, and was at Santiago with the Tenth Cavalry until August, 1898. In August, 1898, he was commissioned major and chief ordnance officer, U. S. Volunteers, serving as such until May 15, 1899, and in July, 1899, he was commissioned as major and assistant adjutant-general, U. S. Volunteers, serving as such until June 30, 1901. He served as the first chief of the Bureau of Insular Affairs until August, 1899, and was in the Philippines, 1899-1903. He was in the field in the Island of Mindanao from April, 1902, to June, 1903, and there gained great distinction. He conducted several expeditions against the Moros about Lake Lanao, suppressing the rebellion and pacifying the country. He became a member of the General staff, 1903-1905, and was military attaché of the American Legation at Tokyo, 1905-1906, serving with the Japanese Army in Manchuria. General Pershing is a member of the Metropolitan and Army and Navy Clubs, of Washington, D. C., Army and Navy Club, New York City, and Hamilton Club of Chicago. He married in Washington, D. C., Jan. 26, 1905, Frances Warren, and they have a daughter. Address: Care of Adjutant General's Office, Washington, D. C.

PETERKIN, George William:

Bishop of West Virginia; born in Washington County, Md., March 21, 1841; son of Rev. Joshua and Elizabeth (Hanson) Peterkin. He studied at the University of Virginia and served in the Confederate Army through the war. He was graduated from the Virginia Theological Seminary, 1868, and the degree of D.D. was conferred upon him by Kenyon College in 1878, the D.D. and LL.D. degrees by Washington and Lee University. He was ordered deacon of the Episcopal Church by Bishop Johns in 1868, and was ordained priest by Bishop Whittle a year later. He was assistant of St. James' Church, Richmond, Va., 1868-1869, rector of St. Stephens' Church, Culpepper, Va., 1869-1873, and rector of Memorial Church, Baltimore, Md., 1873-1878. He was elected the first bishop of West Virginia in 1878 and was consecrated by Bishops Bedell, Kerfoot, Whittle, Dudley and Jaggard. Bishop Peterkin married, first, Oct. 29, 1868, Constance Gardner Lee (died 1877), and second, June 12, 1884, Marion McIntosh Stewart. He is author of: Records of the Episcopal Church in West Virginia. Address: Parkersburg, W. Va.

PETERS, John Punnett:

Clergyman; born in New York City, Dec. 10, 1852; son of Thomas McClure and Alice Clarissa (Richmond) Peters. He was educated in Hopkins Grammar School, New Haven, Conn., and Yale, A.B., 1873, Ph.D., 1876, and received the degree of Sc.D. from the University of Pennsylvania, 1895. He was ordered deacon, 1876, and ordained priest, 1877, in the ministry of the Episcopal Church; studied Semitic languages in Germany, 1879-1883, and for part of that time was minister in charge of St. John's Church, Dresden. He was tutor in Latin and Greek at Yale, 1876-1879; professor of Old Testament languages and literature in the Protestant Episcopal Divinity School, Philadelphia, 1884-1891; professor of Hebrew, University of Pennsylvania, 1885-1893; explorer and director of the University of Pennsylvania Expedition to Babylonia, conducting the excavations at Nippur, 1888-1895, discovering the Temple of Bel and the most ancient inscriptions found up to that time. He spent the summer of 1902 in Palestine, with Professor H. Thiersch, of Munich, and discovered some remarkable painted tombs in a necropolis at Marissia. He was assistant, 1893-1903, rector since 1903, of St. Michael's Church in New York City; and has been canon residentiary of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, New York City, since 1904. He is author of: Scriptures, Hebrew and Christian (Vols. I and II), 1886, 1889; Nippur, or Explorations and Adventures on the Euphrates (2 vols.), 1897; The Old Testament and the New Scholarship, 1901; History of Hither Asia, including Egypt (in Vol. 32 of the Universal Anthology); Early Hebrew Story, 1904; Some Tombs in the Necropolis of Marissa (with Dr. Hermann Thiersch), 1905; Annals of St. Michael's, 1907. He edited the Diary of David McClure, 1899. Dr. Peters also collaborated in: The Bible as Literature, 1896; Lauda Zion, 1896; Historians History of the World, Encyclopedia Americana, Encyclopedia Britannica, and other works. He is a member of the Society of Biblical Exegesis; Archaeological Institute of America, Vorderasiatische Gesellschaft, Orient Gesellschaft, American Geographical Society; member of the Board of Directors of the American School for Oriental Study and Research in Palestine. He is a trustee of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, Hobart College. The Sheltering Arms, and House of Rest for Consumptives; vice-president of the Riverside and Morningside Heights Association; and is a member of the Century, City and Columbia Faculty Clubs. Dr. Peters married in Berlin, Germany, Aug. 13, 1881, Gabriella Brooke Forman, and they have six children. Address: 227 West 99th Street, New York City.

PETERS, Thomas Willing:

Consul-general; born in Philadelphia, Nov. 4, 1855; son of Francis and Maria (Miller) Peters. He was educated in private schools in Philadelphia, and Russell's Military School at New Haven, Conn., completing his education in Switzerland and France. He returned to the United States, and was engaged as a grower of live stock in Wyoming Territory, 1878-1889. He began his career in the consular service of the United States upon his appointment Dec. 9, 1889, as commercial agent at Plauen; promoted consul, June 29, 1896; was consul-general at St. Gall, Switzerland, March 18, 1903, to March 30, 1907, when he was appointed consul-general at Munich. He married at Philadelphia, March 11, 1901, Anne Bona Shober. Address: American Consulate-General, Munich, Bavaria.

PFEIFFER, Oscar Joseph:

Physician; born in Portsmouth, N. H., April 8, 1858; son of Joseph Sylvester and Genevieve (Karche) Pfeiffer. He was graduated from Dartmouth, A.B., 1877, A.M., 1897, Harvard, M.D., 1884, member of the Harvard Varsity Crew, 1881; member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society of Dartmouth in 1877. He was interne at the Massachusetts General Hospital, 1883-1884, chief surgeon of Union Pacific Railway System, 1884-1891, and has since been engaged in general practice in Denver, Colo. He was visiting surgeon to St. Luke's Hospital, Denver, 1891-1908. Dr. Pfeiffer is a member of the Massachusetts Medical Society, Colorado

State Medical Society, Denver Medical Society, American Medical Association, member of the Board of Regents (Republican), University of Colorado, 1890-1908, member of the Tri Kappa fraternity of Dartmouth, 1874-1877, honorary member of the Hasty Pudding Society of Harvard, 1881, and a member of the University Club of Denver. He married in New York City, 1884, Annie Hale Folsom, and he has two children. Residence: 521 Colfax Avenue East. Office: 8 and 9 Barth Block, Denver, Colo.

PHELPS, Erskine Mason:

Merchant; born at Stonington, Conn., March 31, 1839; son of Charles H. and Ann (Hammond) Phelps. He was educated in Williston Seminary, Easthampton, Mass., until 1857. In that year he went to St. Louis, Mo., where he was for two years connected with the firm of Allan, Copp and Nesbitt, bankers. In 1859 he went to Boston, where he engaged in the brokerage business, until February, 1864, when he went to Chicago, and in partnership with George E. P. Dodge, established in the wholesale boot and shoe business, the style of the firm changing in 1865, to Phelps, Dodge and Palmer, under which name the house attained the premier place in the wholesale shoe trade of the Northwest. In 1899 the firm sold out to the Edwards Stanwood Shoe Company, in which Mr. Phelps is a director. He is also a director of the Merchants Loan and Trust Company, the Chicago Edison Company, the Commonwealth Electric Company, and the Calumet Insurance Company. He has been president of the National Business League for the last seven years. Mr. Phelps was one of the earliest members of the Central Church, of which the late Professor David F. Swing was the minister until his death, and of which Dr. F. W. Gunsaulus is now pastor, and he is president of the Board of Trustees of this church. He is also president of the Hahnemann Hospital, and a director in various charitable and public institutions. Mr. Phelps is a Democrat; was one of the organizers and for seven years president, and is still a member of the Iroquois Club of Chicago. He took a very active part in the Tariff Reform propaganda, which was contemporaneous with the Cleveland Administration. In 1888 he was elected member of the National Democratic Committee from Illinois. He is a member of the Commercial Club of Chicago, the Chicago, Calumet, and South Shore Country Clubs, Saddle and Cycle Club, Bankers' Club, Midway, and Washington Park Clubs. He is also a member of the Manhattan Club of New York, the Temple and Algonquin Clubs of Boston, and the Thatched House Club of London. He married at Lancaster, Mass., Oct. 26, 1865, Anna Wilder. Residence: 1703 Indiana Avenue. Office: 34 Wabash Avenue, Chicago.

PHELPS, Helen Watson:

Artist; born in North Attleboro, Mass.; daughter of Thaddeus Phelps, M.D., and Mary Spencer (Watson) Phelps. She was educated in Boston, Mass., and Paris, France, and received prizes from the Buffalo Pan-American Exposition, and Woman's Art Club, 1907. She is a member of the Woman's Art Club, National Arts, Pen and Brush, and the Providence Art Clubs. Address: 58 West 57th Street, New York City.

PHELPS, John J.:

Capitalist; born in Paris, France, September, 1861; son of Hon. William Walter and Ellen (Sheffield) Phelps. He was graduated from Yale University, B.A. Mr. Phelps cruised around the world in the schooner yacht, Brunhilde, 1885-1887; and drove a four-in-hand coach 1,515 miles in the summer of 1900, being the record long-distance drive. Mr. Phelps served in the U. S. Navy during the Spanish-American War, as watch and signal officer. He is director of the Englewood Sewerage Company, the American Graphophone Company; president of Strong and Trowbridge Company; the trustee of the United States Trust Company; director of the Hackensack Trust Company, Hackensack National Bank, Cayuga and Susquehanna Railroad, and Texas Land Syndicate Numbers Two and Three. In politics he is a Republican. He is a member of the Founders and Patriots of America, the New England Society, the American Geographical Society, the National Geographic Society, Sons of the Revolution; Spanish War Veterans, Graduates' Association, Phelps Guards, Military Order of Foreign Wars (New York and New Jersey Chapters), Navy League of the United States, and also a member of the Union League, University, New York Yacht, Seawanhaka-Corinthian Yacht, Yale, Sachem's Head Yacht, New Haven Yacht, Auto Club of New Haven, Hackensack Driving, Bergen County Automobile, Hamilton, Oritani Field, Wantage Outing, Bogota Boat, New Jersey Automobile, and Teaneck, Clubs, and the American Automobile Association. He married in New York City in 1888, Rose Janet Hutchinson, and they have two daughters. Address: Red Towers, Hackensack, N. J.

PHILBIN, Eugene A.:

Lawyer; born in New York City, July 24, 1857; son of Stephen and Eliza (McGoldrick) Philbin. He was educated at the College of Saint Francis Xavier, New York City; Seton Hall College, South Orange, N. J. (LL.D., 1904), and Columbia University Law School, LL.B., 1885. He has been engaged in the practice of law in New York City since 1886, and is senior member of the firm of Philbin, Beekman and Menken. He was commissioner of the New York State Board of Charities, 1899-1900; appointed by Governor Roosevelt and served December, 1900, and January, 1901, as district attorney of New York County; member of committee appointed by the governor of New York to investigate the conditions at the Emigrant Station on Ellis Island. Mr. Philbin is a member of the New York State Bar Association, the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, Charity Organization Society of New York, Saint Vincent de Paul Society, Friendly Sons of Saint Patrick, Irish Industrial Society of America, Prisoners' Aid Association (director), State Charities Aid Society, and Legal Aid Society. He is a member of the Catholic, City, Merchants, Country and Rockaway Hunt Clubs. He married, at Chicago, June 28, 1887, Jessie Holladay; they have five children. Residence: 63 West 52d Street. Office: 54 William Street, New York City.

PHILIP, James Powers:

Lawyer, banker; born in Catskill, N. Y., Sept. 18, 1861; son of Jacob Sickler and Jane Elizabeth (Brown) Philip. He was graduated from Rutgers College, class of 1882 (M.A., Phi Beta Kappa), and Albany Law School, LL.B., 1886. He is president of the Catskill National Bank, and director of the Catskill Mountain Railway Company, Hudson River Ice Company, and the Catskill Building and Loan Association. He is a member of the American Geographic Society, director Catskill Young Men's Christian Association, member of the Chi Psi fraternity, Crescent Athletic, Brooklyn University, Long Island Country, and the Rip Van Winkle Clubs. Mr. Philip married in Catskill, N. Y., on June 15, 1898, Sarah Louise Pruyn. Address: Catskill, Greene County, N. Y.

PHILIPS, John F.:

United States judge; born in Thrall's Prairie, Boone County, Mo., Dec. 31, 1834; son of John G. Philips. He was graduated from Center College, Ky., 1855; began the practice of law at Georgetown, Mo., in 1857, and continued until 1861, when he took his stand for the Union and entered the Volunteer Army, in which he served until 1865, as colonel of the Seventh Missouri Cavalry. After the war he practised law at Sedalia, Mo., until 1882. He has also been prominent in politics as a Democrat; was a Bell and Everett elector in 1861, and a delegate to the National Democratic Convention in New York in 1868, at which Seymour and Blair were nominated. In 1876 he was nominated and elected to the Forty-fifth Congress, and he was reelected to the Forty-sixth Congress in 1878, serving until 1881. He was judge of the Kansas City Court of Appeals from 1885, until appointed by President Cleveland to his present office as judge of the United States District Court for the Western District of Missouri. Judge Phillips is a prominent Presbyterian layman. The degree of LL.D. has been conferred upon him by Center College, Ky., the University of Missouri and the Central College of Missouri. Address: 1310 Linwood Avenue, Kansas City, Mo.

PHILLIPS, Alexander Hamilton:

Professor of mineralogy; born in Lawrenceville, N. J., May 15, 1866; son of John Feaster and Hannah (Warne) Phillips. He was graduated from Princeton, B.S., 1887, Sc.D., 1899. He was instructor in biology and mineralogy at Princeton, 1889-1895, in mineralogy, 1895-1898; assistant professor, 1898-1903, and since then professor of mineralogy at Princeton University. He is a member of the Society of Naturalists and the American Chemical Society. His researches have been in the line of petrology, chiefly the mineralogical structure and chemical composition of the trap of Rocky Hill, N. J., radium in an American ore, and the structures and origin of some Patagonian rocks. Professor Phillips married in New York City, Dec. 2, 1896, Mabel Harriette Knight. Residence: 54 Hodge Road, Princeton, N. J.

PHILLIPS, Alfred Edward:

Civil engineer; born in Rouse's Point, N. Y., June 18, 1863; son of John and Jane A. (Irwin) Phillips. He was graduated from Union University, A.B. and C.E., 1887, A.M., 1890, Ph.D., 1894, and was elected to the honorary society, Sigma Xi, in 1887. He was professor of civil engineering at Purdue University, 1887-1894; assistant engineer of the New York State Board of Health in 1888; in engineering practice, 1894-1899, making a specialty of water supply, sewer design and sewage disposal, streets and pavements; acting professor of bridge and hydraulic engineering in the University of Wisconsin, 1895-1896, and professor of civil engineering at Armour Institute of Technology since 1899. He is a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, Phi Delta Theta fraternity, and the University Club of Chicago. Mr. Phillips married in LaFayette, Ind., June 19, 1895, Lizzie Langdon, and they have two children. Residence: 407 33d Street. Address: Armour Institute of Technology, Chicago.

PHILLIPS, David Graham:

Writer; born in Madison, Ind., Oct. 31, 1869; son of David G. and Margaret (Lee)

Phillips. He was educated at the De Pauw University, Greencastle, Ind., and graduated from Princeton University, in 1887. He is the author of: The Cost; The Plum Tree; The Second Generation, and other novels; also of essays on public questions in leading magazines. He is a member of the Manhattan, Princeton, National Arts and Authors Clubs. Address: 72 East 34th Street, New York City.

PHILLIPS, John S.:

Publisher; born in Council Bluffs, Iowa, July 2, 1861; son of Dr. E. L. Phillips. He was educated in Harvard College, A.B., 1885, and the University of Leipzig, Germany. He was treasurer of the S. S. McClure Company, publishers of McClure's Magazine, and general manager of that periodical, 1896-1906; also for some years vice-president of McClure, Phillips and Company, book publishers; from 1906, president of the Phillips Publishing Company, publishers of the American Magazine. He is a member of the Century, Players', Aldine, and Harvard Clubs. He married in 1890, Jane B. Peterson, daughter of Reuben Peterson, of Boston; and they have four daughters and one son. Residence: Goshen, N. Y. Address: 341 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

PHIPPS, Henry:

Manufacturer; born in Philadelphia, Sept. 27, 1839. At an early age he removed, with his family, to Pittsburgh, where he attended public schools. His first employment was as office boy and afterward as bookkeeper, with the manufacturing firm of Dilworth and Bidwell; in 1861 he formed the copartnership of Bidwell and Phipps, who were agents in Pittsburgh of the Dupont Powder Company; was eminently successful in business ventures, and at an early period in his career he became interested in the manufacture of iron as junior member of the firm of Kloman and Phipps. A year or more later Mr. Thomas M. Carnegie became interested, and in May, 1865, Andrew Carnegie joined the firm. He succeeded in building up a large fortune; is now one of the largest holders of the U. S. Steel Corporation; has traveled much during recent few years, and has devoted a considerable portion of his means to charitable and public institutions. He is a member of the Metropolitan, City and Riding Clubs. He married, Feb. 6, 1872, Annie C. Shaffer, and they have five children. Addresses: Pittsburgh; and 1063 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

PHOENIX, Lloyd:

Ex-officer, U. S. N.; born in New York City in 1841; son of I. Phillips and Mary (Whitney) Phoenix. He was graduated from the Naval Academy, 1862. He became lieutenant in 1862, served through the entire war and in 1865 resigned his commission. Since then he has been prominent as a yachtsman. He became a member of the New York Yacht Club, and has spent much of his life on the water. He is owner of the Intrepid, a three-masted schooner, with auxiliary screw, for use in time of calms, with which he has cruised in many seas. While on one of his cruises Mr. Phoenix was enabled to render valuable assistance in rescuing the officers and crew of the wrecked United States man-of-war Kearsarge, which had been driven on a reef in the West Indies, during a storm, and had become a total wreck. For this humane act he was thanked by the authorities. When not cruising, Mr. Phoenix is very fond of driving fast horses, of which he is the owner of several fine specimens. He is a connoisseur in art, and has a valuable collection of paintings, bric-a-brac, and objets d'art. He is a member of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, and of the Union, Knickerbocker, University, Metropolitan, New York Yacht, Seawanhaka-Corinthian Yacht, Larchmont Yacht, Army and Navy, and Turf and Field Clubs of New York City. Address: 21 East 33d Street, New York City.

PICKERELL, George H.:

Consular officer; born in Columbus, Ohio, July 12, 1858. He was educated in the public schools. He was appointed consul of St. Michaels, Azores, Sept. 16, 1898; appointed consul at Para, May 29, 1906. He married in Warren, Ohio, Helen C. Darling. Address: American Consulate, Para, Brazil.

PICKERING, Edward Charles:

Director of the Astronomical Observatory of Harvard College since 1877; born in Boston, July 19, 1846; son of Edward and Charlotte (Hammond) Pickering. He was educated at the Boston Latin School; Lawrence Scientific School, Harvard University, A.M., 1880; LL.D., California, 1886, University of Michigan, 1887, Chicago, 1901, Harvard University, 1903, University of Pennsylvania, 1906; D.Sc., Victoria University, England, 1900; Ph.D., University of Heidelberg, 1903; member of the Institut de France, Nova Linei, and of the Royal Societies of England, Russia, Prussia, Sweden and Ireland. He was instructor in mathematics, Lawrence Scientific School of Harvard University, 1865-1867; Thayer professor of physics, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, 1867-1877; and established the first physical laboratory in the United States. Studies of light and spectra of the stars have been special features of his work, and he has made more than a million measurements of the light of stars. By establishing an auxiliary station in Arequipa, Peru, southern stars are also observed, extending the work from pole to pole. He is the author of: Elements of Physical Manipulation, and fifty volumes of annals and other publications of Harvard College Observatory. He is a member of the Century Association of New York. Dr. Pickering married in 1874 Lizzie Wadsworth, daughter of Jared Sparks. Address: Harvard College Observatory, Cambridge, Mass.

PIER, Arthur Stanwood:

Editor, and author; born in Pittsburgh, 1874; son of William Stanwood and Alice (Moore) Pier. He was educated in St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H., and graduated from Harvard University, A.B. He is author of: The Pedagogues, The Sentimentalists, The Triumph, The Ancient Grudge, Boys of St. Timothy's, Harding of St. Timothy's, The New Boy, and The Young in Heart. He is a member of the Tavern

LLOYD PHOENIX
Yachtsman

Club of Boston. Address: 201 Columbus Avenue, Boston.

PIERCE, Charles Campbell:

Clergyman; born in Salem, N. J., Feb. 6, 1858; son of Charles C. and Ellen Toy (Brown) Pierce. He was educated at the New Jersey State Normal School, Shurtleff College, Illinois Wesleyan University, Crozer Theological Seminary, and the Divinity School of Shurtleff College and received the degree of Ph.B., A.B., B.D., and D.D. He has been pastor at Jacksonville, Ill., Leavenworth, Kan., Lincoln, Neb., and Philadelphia. While serving in the Philippines he founded the Episcopal Church in the Islands, and served as rector in Manila and in general oversight of the work of his church in Luzon until his return to the United States, 1898-1901. By appointment of the commanding general, he organized, and for two years supervised the system of the identification of the dead in the Philippines, thus making it possible for the Insular War to close without a single instance of "unidentified dead." Ill-health compelled a declination of overtures from bishops to stand for election as bishop of the Philippine Islands in 1901. In the same year he was elected by the House of Bishops as bishop of North Dakota to succeed Bishop Edsall, but confirmation by the House of Deputies was defeated by a tie-vote (a majority of seven laymen in favor of confirmation being offset by a minority of seven clergymen voting against the same), owing to uncertain information as to a question of health. While a pastor in Lincoln, he was chaplain of the Nebraska State Senate; represented the War Department at the International Prison Congresses at Pittsburgh and Baltimore, 1892-1893. In Washington, he was for seven successive seasons the special preacher at the Open-Air Services on the site of the Cathedral of Saints Peter and Paul, by appointment of the Bishop of Washington. He was appointed chaplain of the Ninth U. S. Cavalry, December, 1882, and resigned in June, 1884. After serving in the pastorate for some years, he was re-appointed to the army as a post chaplain, his latest assignment being that of chaplain of the Corps of Engineers, with whom he served at Camp Columbia, Havana, Cuba, as senior chaplain of the Army of Cuban Pacification. He was promoted to the grade of major, as "worthy of special distinction for exceptional efficiency," June 14, 1904. He retired from active service May 9, 1908; and accepted a call as rector of St. Matthew's Church, Philadelphia, in April, 1908. He is author of: The Tagals, published by the National Social Science Association of Philadelphia and republished in France, and The Hunger of the Heart for Faith (two editions), published by the Young Churchman Company, Milwaukee. Dr. Pierce married at Jacksonville, Ill., Nov. 24, 1881, Frances S. Rees, and they have one daughter, Miriam Rees Pierce. Residence: St. Matthew's Rectory, 1731 Girard Avenue, Philadelphia.

PIERCE, Rice Alexander:

Lawyer and ex-congressman; born on a farm in Weakley County, Tenn., July 3, 1849; son of Thomas M. Pierce. He attended the common schools until the Civil War, enlisted in the Eighth Tennessee Cavalry, serving two years until he was wounded and captured in a cavalry fight near Jackson, Tenn., while serving under General Forrest, and was kept a close prisoner until the end of the war. After the war he attended the high school at London, Ontario, then went to Halifax, N. C., where he read law and was admitted to the bar, then located in the practice of law at Union City, Tenn. He was elected attorney-general of the Twelfth Judicial Circuit of Tennessee, serving 1874-1883. He was elected as a Democrat to the Forty-eighth Congress and afterward to the Fifty-first and Fifty-second Congresses, and in 1896 was again elected, serving in the Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh and Fifty-eighth Congresses from the Ninth Tennessee District. Judge Pierce married at Hamburg, Mo., in April, 1873, Mary Hunter. Address: Union City, Tenn.

PIERREPONT, Henry Evelyn:

Capitalist; born in Brooklyn, Dec. 9, 1845; son of Henry E. and Anna Maria (Jay) Pierrepont. He was educated in the Rectory School and Columbia College, A.B., 1867, A.M., 1870. He is trustee of the Home Life Insurance Company, Fidelity and Casualty Company, Franklin Trust Company, Brooklyn Savings Bank, of the Brooklyn City Dispensary and of General Theological Seminary, warden of Grace Church, Brooklyn Heights and vice president of the Brooklyn Hospital and of the Brooklyn Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor, and he is a member of the Hamilton Club of Brooklyn. Mr. Pierrepont married in Brooklyn, Dec. 9, 1869, Ellen A. Low, who died, Dec. 30, 1884, and they have had six children, one now deceased. Address: 216 Columbia Heights, Brooklyn, N. Y.

PIFFARD, Henry Granger:

Physician; born in Piffard, N. Y., Sept. 10, 1842; son of David and Ann Matilda (Haight) Piffard. He received his education in Churchill's School, Sing Sing, and the New York University, A.B., 1862, A.M., 1865, LL.D. in 1899, and was graduated M.D. in 1864, from the College of Physicians and Surgeons. He has been engaged in the practice of medicine in New York City from 1864. He is emeritus professor of dermatology of the New York University; consulting surgeon at the City Hospital; fellow of the New York Academy of Medicine. He is author of several treatises on diseases of the skin and kindred topics. Dr. Piffard married in New York City, June 17, 1868, Helen Hart Strong, and they have four children. Address: 256 West 57th Street, New York City.

PILCHER, James Evelyn:

Military surgeon; born in Adrian, Mich., March 18, 1857; son of Elijah Holmes Pilcher. He was graduated from the University of Michigan, A.B., 1879; Long Island College Hospital, M.D., 1880, A.M. and Ph.D. from the Illinois Wesleyan University, 1887 and LL.D. from Allegheny College, 1902. He became managing editor of Annals of Anatomy and Surgery, Brooklyn, 1880-1883; entered the medical department of the U. S. Army, as assistant surgeon in 1883 and passing through the grades of lieutenant and captain in the regular service and major and brigade surgeon in volunteer service, and was retired for disability incurred in the line of duty in 1900. During this period he was in active service in the field against the Sioux, Crow and Cheyenne Indians, and against Mexican insurgents. He is author of the first system of drill for the U. S. Army Hospital Corps, published in the United States, and his work on First Aid in Illness and Injury, first edition issued in 1892, has ever since maintained its position as the principal text-book for instruction in that subject. In 1896 he was appointed assistant secretary of the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States, becoming secretary and editor in 1897, which position, with an interval of two years, he held until 1909. He established the Journal of the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States, as a quarterly in 1901, as a monthly in 1902, and with title changed to The Military Surgeon in 1907. Dr. Pilcher was surgeon of one of the first regiments of the army to be ordered to the South at the opening of the Spanish-American War, and served in that capacity at Mobile and Tampa, going thence to Jacksonville as chief surgeon of forces and medical supply officer of the Seventh Army Corps under Major-General Fitzhugh Lee, until the fall of 1898, when he was detached and placed in command of the Army Medical Supply Depot, established at Savannah, Ga., so continuing until the failing of health required him to relinquish active service. He has occupied the chairs of military surgery in the Ohio Medical University, Starling Medical College and Creighton Medical College, also was professor of sociology and political economy in Dickinson College and professor of medical jurisprudence at Dickinson Law School. He directed the cataloguing of the libraries of the Military Service Institution, 1889, and of the State of Pennsylvania, 1899. He is a member of the Military Service Institution of the United States; Sons of the American Revolution; corresponding member of the Société de Médecine Militaire Française; an active Mason and Elk; president of the American Medical Editors' Association, 1906-1907, of the Cumberland

Valley Medical Association; major general and director general National Volunteer Emergency Service, 1908-1909, and is a fellow or member of numerous scientific bodies. Besides being author of the book: First Aid in Illness and Injury, he is author of: Life and Labors of Elijah H. Pilcher; Columbus Book of Military Surgeons; The Seal and Arms of Pennsylvania and The Surgeon Generals of the U. S. Army, and actual editor of the fourth series of Pennsylvania Archives, in addition to being author of many articles in the medical and general press. Address: Richmond, Va.

PILES, Samuel Henry:

United States senator; born in Livingston County, Ky., Dec. 28, 1858; son of S. H. and Gabriella (Lillard) Piles. He was educated in private schools at Smithland, Ky. After being admitted to the bar he started for the West, and in 1882 located in the Territory of Washington; opened a law office in Snohomish, Wash., in 1883; in 1886 moved for a short time to Spokane, Wash., and later in the same year to Seattle, where he has ever since resided and practised law. In 1887 and 1889 he was assistant prosecuting attorney for the district composed of King, Kitsap, and Snohomish counties, 1887-1889, and was city attorney of Seattle, 1888-1889. In 1895 he was appointed general counsel of the Oregon Improvement Company, and when that company was reorganized by the formation of The Pacific Coast Company he was made general counsel of the latter company, holding this position until his election to the Senate. He has taken an active interest in Republican politics in the Territory and State of Washington for the past twenty years; was elected Jan. 28, 1905, to the U. S. Senate, to succeed Hon. A. G. Foster, and took his seat March 6, following. His term of office will expire March 3, 1911. He married, in Henderson, Ky., Sept. 15, 1891, Mary E. Barnard. Address: Seattle, Wash.

PILLSBURY, Albert E.:

Lawyer; born in Milford, N. H., Aug. 19, 1849; son of Josiah Webster and Elizabeth (Dinsmoor) Pillsbury; grandson of Oliver and Anna (Smith) Pillsbury, and a descendant from William Pillsbury, a native of Derbyshire, England, who came to Dorchester, Mass., in 1641, and settled later in old Newbury; and from John Dinsmoor, of Scotch descent, who came from Ireland to Londonderry, N. H., in 1724. He was brought up on his father's farm and his school training was at Appleton Academy, New Ipswich, N. H., and Lawrence Academy, Groton, Mass., where he was graduated in 1867, and he matriculated at Harvard in the class of 1871, but did not complete the course. He went to Illinois and was admitted to the bar of that State in 1869, and to the Massachusetts bar in 1870, beginning the practice of his profession in Boston in 1871; now practising principally as counsel for cities and towns, street railways, gas and water supply companies. He was a representative in the General Court of Massachusetts for three terms, 1876-1878; State senator, 1884-1886, and president of that body, 1885-1886. He was attorney-general of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, 1891-1894. He received the honorary degree of A.M. from Harvard in 1891. He was for many years lecturer on Constitutional Law in Boston University Law School, and is author of numerous published addresses, and legal arguments, and a contributor to various legal and other periodicals. He is a member of the American and Boston Bar Associations, the International Law Association, American Academy of Political and Social Science; the Algonquin, Art, and University Clubs of Boston; and of the Pi Eta of Harvard, besides various social, professional and political associations. He has served as president of the Sons of New Hampshire in Boston; the National Association of the Pillsbury Family; of the Mercantile Library Association of Boston; is vice-president of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and a director of the American Humane Educational Society. He is a trustee of the Franklin Savings Bank and vice-president of the United States Trust Company, and an officer in other business corporations. Address: 6 Beacon Street, Boston.

PILLSBURY, Walter Bowers:

Psychologist, educator; born in Burlington, Iowa, July, 4, 1872; son of W. H. H. and E. C. (Bowers) Pillsbury. He received his education in the schools of Southeastern Iowa, Penn College, Iowa, and was graduated from the University of Nebraska, A.B., 1892, and Cornell, Ph. D., 1896. He was assistant in Cornell University, 1895-1897; instructor in the University of Michigan, 1897-1900, assistant professor 1900-1905, and junior professor since 1905, non resident lecturer in Columbia University 1908-1909, and director of the Psychological Laboratory in the University of Michigan. He is author of: L'Attention, 1906, Attention, 1908, and a contributor to technical periodicals. He is a member of the American Psychological Association (member of the Council), American Physiological Society, Western Philosophical Society (president in 1906), the Phi Beta Kappa Society, Sigma Xi Society. He married in Port Chester, N. Y., June 16, 1905, Margaret M. Milbank, and they have a daughter. Residence: 714 South State Street. Office: University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Mich.

PINCHOT, Gifford:

Forester; born in Simsbury, Conn., Aug. 11, 1865; son of James Wallace and Mary J. (Eno) Pinchot. He was graduated from Phillips Exeter Academy in 1884 and from Yale University, B.A., 1889. Studied forestry at L'Ecole des Eaux et Forêts, Nancy, France, and in Germany, Austria, and Switzerland, and began the first systematic forest work in the United States at Biltmore, N. C., January, 1892. Mr. Pinchot was a member of the National Forest Commission, appointed by the National Academy of Sciences in 1896, at the request of the Secretary of the Interior, to investigate and report upon the inauguration of a rational forest policy for the forested lands of the United States. He afterward introduced practical forestry in the Adirondack Mountains. In 1898 he became chief of the Forest Service (then Division of Forestry) in the U. S. Department of Agriculture. He has received honorary degrees, as follows: M.A., from Yale in 1901, and from Princeton in 1904; D.Sc., from Michigan Agricultural College, in 1907. He is a member of the Committee on Organization of Government Scientific Work, appointed by President Roosevelt, March 13, 1903; of the Commission on the Public Lands, appointed Oct. 22, 1903; of the Committee on Department Methods, appointed June 2, 1905, of the Inland Waterways Commission, appointed March 14, 1907; and chairman of the National Conservation Commission, appointed June 8, 1908. At the request of the President and secretary of war he visited the Philippine Islands in 1902 to investigate the forests and forest work there. Mr. Pinchot is a member of the Society of American Foresters, American Society of Civil Engineers, American Society for Testing Materials, American Institute of Mining Engineers, American Forestry Association, New York Academy of Sciences, Washington Society of Engineers, American Association for the Advancement of Science, Washington Academy of Sciences, American Museum of Natural History, National Academy of Design, American Sculpture Society, and a member of the Century, University and Yale Clubs of New York City, the Cosmos, University and Metropolitan Clubs of Washington, and the Graduates' Club of New Haven. Address: 1615 Rhode Island Avenue, Washington, D. C.

PINGREE, Samuel Everett:

Lawyer, ex-governor; born at Salisbury, N. H., Aug. 2, 1832; son of Stephen and Judith (True) Pingree. He was graduated from Dartmouth College, A.B., 1857; then studied law and engaged in practice in Vermont, but on the breaking out of the Civil War enlisted May 8, 1861, as a private in the Third Regiment of Vermont Volunteer Infantry, in which he served in all ranks up to lieutenant-colonel of the regiment, seeing hard service and being awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor for heroism at Lee's Mills, April 16, 1862. He was mustered out July 27, 1864. He reengaged in the practice of law on leaving the army, was State's attorney of Windsor County, Vt., and for forty-eight years has been town clerk of Hartford, Vt. He was a delegate-at-large at the National Republican Convention at Chicago, which nominated General Grant for president, was lieutenant-governor of Vermont, 1882-1884, governor 1884-1886, and chairman of the State Railway Commission of Vermont, 1886-1894. Governor Pingree is a member and has served as judge-advocate of the Medal of Honor Legion of the United States. He married at Newport, Vt., Sept. 15, 1869, Lydia M. Steele, and they have a son. Address: Hartford, Vt.

PITAVEL, John Baptist:

Catholic bishop; educated and ordained to the priesthood, with the degree of D.D.; served as vicar-general at Santa Fé, N. Mex., and July 25, 1902, was consecrated titular bishop of Sora, and made auxiliary to the archbishop of Santa Fé. Address: Santa Fé, N. Mex.

PLACE, Ira Adelbert:

Lawyer; born in New York City, May 8, 1854; adopted son of Thomas and Elizabeth (Burdick) Place. He was educated at Alfred Academy and was graduated from Cornell University, A.B., and immediately thereafter studied law in the office of Vann, McLennan & Dillaye, Syracuse, N. Y. He was admitted to the bar at Buffalo, and in October, 1883, came to New York City with Judge McLennan, who had then become general counsel of New York, West Shore & Buffalo Railroad Company. Subsequent to reorganization of the West Shore Railroad Company, in March, 1886, he entered the Law Department of the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad Company, and in 1905 was appointed general counsel for all lines of the New York Central, east of Buffalo; and Dec. 5, 1906, was appointed vice-president of the New York Central lines, east of Buffalo. He is a director of the Carthage, Watertown and Sackets Harbor Railroad Company, the Tivoli Hollow Railroad Company, Troy Union Railroad Company, Little Falls & Dolgeville Railroad Company, of the Detroit, Monroe & Toledo Railroad Company, of the New York & Ottawa Bridge Company, and of the Corn-Wall Bridge Company. Mr. Place is a member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, New York State Bar Association, American Bar Association, Phi Beta Kappa Society and Psi Upsilon fraternity. He is a member of the University, Transportation, Cornell, St. Andrew's Golf, Adirondack League, Unitarian and Fort Orange Clubs. Mr. Place married at Ithaca, N. Y., Jan. 10, 1893, Katharine B. Gauntlett, and they have three children. Address: Grand Central Station, New York City.

PLANTZ, Samuel:

President of Lawrence University; born at Gloversville, N. Y., June 13, 1859; son of James and Elsie (Stollir) Plantz. He was graduated from Lawrence University, A.B., 1880, A.M., 1883; was graduated from Boston University, S.T.B., 1883, Ph.D., 1886. In 1890 he went to Germany, where he spent a year in study at the University of Berlin. The honorary degree of D.D. was conferred upon him by Albion College, 1894, and of LL.D. by Baker University, 1905. He was ordained to the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1885 and until 1894 officiated in various churches of that denomination. In 1894 he was elected president of Lawrence University. He is a trustee of Lawrence University, of the Epworth Assembly, and of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. He was a delegate to the General Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church, 1900 and 1908, and member of the commission to consolidate the benevolent organizations of the Methodist Episcopal Church, 1904-1906. He is member of the Victoria Institute, president of the Wisconsin Academy of Arts and Sciences; and member of the Wisconsin State Historical Association, Wisconsin Archeological Society, and the National Teachers' Association. Dr. Plantz is a lecturer of much merit and is author of: The Church and the Social Problem. He is also a contributor to Hastings Dictionary of Christ and the Apostles, and to various magazines and periodicals. He married at Indianapolis, Sept. 16, 1885, Myra A. Goodwin, and has two daughters. Address: Appleton, Wis.

PLATT, Charles:

Physician; born in Montclair, N. J., March 16, 1869; of an old American family of founders and patriots, dating from 1638. He was graduated from Lehigh University in 1890, and pursued post-graduate course at Ohio University. Johns Hopkins, the University of Edinburgh (medallist in anatomy), Homeopathic Hospital, London, École de Médecine, Paris, and Hahnemann College, Philadelphia. He was assistant chemist of the Cambria Iron Company, Johnstown, Pa., and chief chemist for Thomas A. Edison at the Llewellyn Park laboratory. Since 1894 he has been professor of chemistry and toxicology at Hahnemann Medical College and Hospital, Philadelphia; sometime lecturer at the Children's Homeopathic Hospital, Philadelphia; for some time associate editor of Science, New York. He is author of a text-book on Qualitative Analysis and Medical Chemistry, fourth edition, 1903; contributor to the engineering, chemical and medical journals. Dr. Platt is a fellow of the Chemical Society of London; honorary fellow of the Society of Biological Chemistry, London; member of the American Chemical Society, Société Chimique de Paris, Medical Jurisprudence Society, Medical and Surgical Society of Philadelphia, and of numerous other medical and social organizations. Address: 3612 Baring Street, Philadelphia.

PLATT, Edward Truex:

Expressman; born in Owego, Tioga County, N. Y., Aug. 7, 1853; son of U. S. Senator Thomas C. and Ellen L. (Barstow) Platt. He was educated in the Owego Academy. He was purser in the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, 1875-1885, visiting in official capacity Rio de Janeiro, Colon, Straits of Magellan, Panama, Mexican and Central American ports, Honolulu, Auckland, New Zealand, Sydney, New South Wales, Yokohama and Hong Kong. He is now treasurer, director and superintendent of the New York Division of the U. S. Express Company, treasurer of the U. S. Express Realty Company and director of the Borough Express. He is a member of the Chamber of Commerce and of the Union League and Barnard Clubs. Mr. Platt married in 1891, Harriet J. Coit. Residence: 205 West 57th Street. Office: 2 Rector Street, New York City.

PLATT, Frank Hinchman:

Lawyer; born in Owego, N. Y., in 1856; son of Hon. Thomas Collier and Ellen (Barstow) Platt. He was graduated from Yale University, A.B., 1877; Columbia Law School, 1879. He is a member of the firm of O'Brien, Boardman, Platt and Denning; president and director of the U. S. Express Realty Company; secretary and director of the Rahtjen's American Composition Company; director of the Central Hudson Steamboat Company, and U. S. Express Company. He was formerly assistant U. S. district attorney. Mr. Platt is a member of the Ardsley, University, Union League, Lotos and Yale Clubs. He married in New York City, Nov. 1, 1881, Caroline E. Livingston, and they have two children. Residence: 242 West 74th Street. Office: 35 Wall Street, New York City.

PLATT, Henry Barstow:

Transportation and insurance agent; born in Owego, N. Y., Feb. 2, 1860; son of U. S. Senator Thomas C. and Ellen (Barstow) Platt. He was graduated from Yale College in 1882. After graduation he was in the manufacturing business for three years. He was superintendent of coal properties in Pennsylvania; later made superintendent of the U. S. Express Company, which position he still holds; also vice-president of the Fidelity and Deposit Company of Maryland; treasurer and director of the Westboro Realty Company. He is a member of the Lawyers', University, Yale, Ardsley, and Barnard Clubs. Mr. Platt married Grace Lee, daughter of John Phelps, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and has three children. Residence: 303 West 76th Street. Office: 2 Rector Street, New York City.

PLATT, James Perry:

United States judge; born in Towanda, Pa., March 31, 1851; son of Orville H. Platt (United States senator from Connecticut). He was graduated from Yale,

B.A., 1873, and from Yale Law School, LL.B., 1875. From that time until 1902, he practised law in Meriden, Conn., in partnership with his father, until he went upon the bench. He was judge of the City Court of Meriden, 1893-1902, and in 1902 was appointed to his present office as U. S. judge for the District of Connecticut. Judge Platt is a Republican in politics. He married in Meriden, Conn., Dec. 2, 1885, Harriet W. Ives. Residence: Meriden, Conn. Office: Hartford, Conn.

PLATT, Thomas Collier:

Former U. S. Senator from New York; born in Owego, N. Y., July 15, 1833. He was educated in Owego Academy; was a member of the class of 1853 of Yale College; but compelled to give up course in that institution because of ill-health; and he received the honorary degree of M.A., from Yale, 1876. He began mercantile life soon after leaving school and has been in active business ever since; was president of the Tioga National Bank at its organization; became largely interested in lumber in Michigan; became secretary and director, 1879, has been president since 1880, of the United States Express Company. He was county clerk of Tioga County, 1859-1861; member of the Forty-third and Forty-fourth Congresses, 1873-1877; appointed quarantine commissioner of the Port of New York, 1880; elected U. S. Senator, Jan. 18, 1881; resigned that office May 16, 1881, with Senator Roscoe Conkling, his colleague, because President Garfield did not defer sufficiently to their wishes in making appointments in New York. The immediate ground of their resignation was the appointment by President Garfield of W. H. Robertson as collector of the Port of New York; in appeal to the Legislature for reelection, they were both defeated. Senator Platt, however, became later the controlling leader in the Republican party in New York State; delegate to every Republican National Convention from 1876 to 1904; was for years a member of the National Republican Committee; was elected U. S. Senator, 1896; took his seat March 4, 1897, and reelected 1903, for the term which expired March 4, 1909. He was twice married. Address: 2 Rector Street, New York City.

PLATZKE, M. Warley:

Jurist; born in North Carolina, Aug. 27, 1854. He was graduated from the University of New York, LL.B., 1876; and he received the honorary degree of LL.D. from Rutherford College, North Carolina, in 1899. He was engaged in the practice of law in New York City, 1876-1906, and also took a part in political affairs, as an active Democrat, and served as a member of the Constitutional Convention of New York in 1894. In November, 1906, he was elected to his present office as a justice of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, for the First District, for the term expiring Dec. 31, 1920. Judge Platzke is an essayist of merit, and is author, among others, of: Trial by Jury; American Grit; and Israel and Islam. He was formerly, for years, a trustee of the College of the City of New York. Address: 15 East 48th Street, New York City.

PLIMPTON, George Arthur:

Publisher; born in Walpole, Mass., July 13, 1855; son of Galvin Gay and Priscilla (Guild, Lewis) Plimpton. He was educated in Phillips Exeter Academy and Amherst College, A.B., 1876; also attended Harvard Law School, 1876 and 1877. He is a member of the firm of Ginn and Company, book publishers. Mr. Plimpton donated to Wellesley College, 1904, in memory of his wife, a library of early manuscripts and first editions of nearly all Italian writers, making it the best library of Italian literature in this country, and gave the Plimpton Playing Fields to Phillips Exeter Academy. He is possessor of the most complete collection of early school books in the world. He is a member of the College Board of the Presbyterian Church, trustee of Amherst and Barnard Colleges and Phillips Exeter Academy; treasurer of Barnard College and the Academy of Political Science; a member of the Board of Managers of the New York State Colonization Society, trustee of the New York Infirmary for Women and Children, director of the Union Exchange Bank, and a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, New England Society, American Geographical Society, American Association for the Advancement of Science, the Ardsley, Century, Grolier University, and Barnard Clubs of New York City, and Union Club of Boston. He married in Holyoke, Mass., in 1892, Frances Taylor Pearsons. Residence: 41 East 33d Street. Office: 70 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

PLUMLEY, Frank:

Lawyer; born at Eden, Vt., Dec. 17, 1844; son of William and Eliza Plumley. He was educated in public schools and Michigan University and was admitted to the Bar. He was State's attorney of Washington County, Va., 1876-1880; U. S. attorney for Vermont, 1889-1894; member of the House of Representatives of Vermont, 1882; member of the Senate (Vermont) and president pro tempore, 1894; delegate-at-large to the Republican National Convention of 1888. Mr. Plumley was umpire by appointment of President Roosevelt of the Mixed Commissions of Great Britain and Venezuela and of the Netherlands and Venezuela sitting at Caracas in 1903; umpire of the French-Venezuela Commission sitting at Northfield, Vt., by selection of the two countries in 1905; judge of the Court of Claims, 1902; chief judge of same 1904-1906. He is a member of the American Society of International Law; and is trustee of, and lecturer on International Law at, Norwich University from which he has received the degrees of A.M. and LL.D. He married at Eden, Vt., Aug. 9, 1871, Lavinia L. Fletcher, who died January 31, 1906, and they have two children. Address: Northfield, Vt.

PLUMMER, Mary Wright:

Director Pratt Institute Library School; born in Richmond, Ind., 1856; daughter of Jonathan Wright and Hannah A. (Ballard) Plummer. She received her education in Friends Academy, Richmond, Ind., and became a special student in Wellesley College, 1881-1882, and Columbia College, School of Library Science, 1887-1889. She is author of: Verses, 1897, Contemporary Spain, 1898, Hints to Small Libraries, third edition; Roy and Ray in Mexico, 1907; and Roy and Ray in Canada, 1908. Miss Plummer is a member of the American Library Association, New York Library Association, New York and Long Island Library Clubs, New York State Library School Association. Address: Brooklyn, N.Y.

PLYMPTON, Eben:

Actor; born in Boston, Feb. 7, 1853; son of John Bradlee and Elizabeth (Holden) Plympton. He made his first appearance on the stage in Saratoga; next appeared with John McCullough; then at the Park Theatre, Brooklyn, and afterward for two years, members of a stock company at Wallack's Theatre, New York City. In 1886 was leading man with Christine Nielson; next season supported Lawrence Barrett; afterwards was leading man with Mary Anderson during her farewell tour. He has also appeared with Julia Marlowe; he is regarded to-day as one of the foremost interpreters of Shakespearian rôles. Address: Plympton, Mass.

PLYMPTON, Gilbert Motier:

Banker; born at Fort Wood, Bedloe's Island, New York Harbor, Jan. 15, 1835; son of Joseph and Eliza Matilda (Livingston) Plympton. His father served in the War of 1812 as lieutenant in the Seminole War in Florida, as major, and in the Mexican War as lieutenant-colonel, receiving the brevet of colonel for gallant service at the battle of Cerro Gordo. His education was begun at Fort Snelling, Minn., under the chaplain of the post, and continued in a private school at Sacket's Harbor. During his father's absence in Mexico, he was sent to the house of his uncle, Gerard W. Livingston in New Jersey, and studied there; entered Shurtleff College, Illinois, upon his father's return and appointment to Jefferson Barracks, Mo.; subsequently studied at John Sedgwick's School, New York City, and after reading law was admitted to practice Nov., 1860; entered the Law Department of the University of New York and graduated LL.B., 1863. He engaged in the general practice of law, 1863, and became identified with important litigations, especially in Federal Courts. In 1889, having earned a fortune, and finding his health impaired by overwork, he went abroad for some time, and upon his return retired from active practice. In 1892 he founded the banking house of Redmond, Kerr & Company, and later the present banking house of Plympton, Gardiner & Company; and he is a director in several corporations. Mr. Plympton has been a frequent contributor to periodicals and is the author of several pamphlets, among them a monograph upon the life of his father and a sketch of the Plympton family. He is a member of the Sons of the Revolution, Sons of Colonial Wars, Metropolitan Museum of Art, Museum of Natural History, Chamber of Commerce, St. Nicholas Society, American Historical Association and St. Andrew's Society, St. Nicholas Club (was a founder and vice-president), Union, Metropolitan, Riding, Westchester County, and New York Yacht Clubs. He married in 1863, Mary A., daughter of Linus W. Stevens (well known New York merchant and first colonel of the Seventh Regiment), and they have one daughter. He has country place, "Windtryst," at Great Neck, L. I. Residence: 30 West 52d Street. Office: 27 William Street, New York City.

POLLOCK, John C.:

United States judge; born in Belmont County, Ohio, Nov. 5, 1859; son of Samuel and Jane B. (Scott) Pollock. He was graduated from Franklin College in 1882, and after studying law at St. Clairsville, Ohio, went to Newton, Iowa, where he was admitted to the bar in 1884. Four years later he established in practice at Winfield, Kans., where he continued until 1900, when he became a justice of the Supreme Court of Kansas, resigning upon his appointment, Dec. 1, 1901, as judge of the U. S. District Court for the District of Kansas. Judge Pollock is a Republican in politics. He married at Lafferty, Ohio, Sept. 24, 1886, Louise Lafferty. Address: Topeka, Kans.

POMEROY, John Norton:

Lawyer; born in South Orange, N. J., May 7, 1866; son of John Norton Pomeroy, LL.D., and Ann R. (Carter) Pomeroy. He was graduated from Yale, A.B. 1887, A.M., 1889, Columbia Law School, and the University of California Law School, LL.B., 1891. Mr. Pomeroy was editor of: Pomeroy's Equity Jurisprudence, 2d edition (3 volumes), 1892, 3d edition (4 volumes), 1905; Pomeroy's Code Remedies, 3d edition, 1894. Pomeroy's Specific Performance, 2d edition, 1897, Annotated Codes of California (in chief part, 3 volumes), 1901; Pomeroy's Equity, Students' Edition (one volume), 1907; and is author of: Equitable Remedies (two volumes), 1905-1906; articles, Cancellation of Instruments, 1903 and Specific Performance, 1909 in Cyclopadia of Law and Procedure; Lives of Stephen J. Field and John Norton Pomeroy in W. D. Lewis's Great American Lawyers, 1909. He is a member of the American Political Science Association, San Francisco Bar Association, Psi Upsilon, Phi Delta Phi, Phi Beta Kappa, and Sierra Club. He married in Oakland, Calif., Aug. 17, 1899, Annie Crevot Barrington, and they have one daughter. Address: 2312 Gough Street, San Francisco.

POOLEY, Robert Henry:

Clergyman; born at Rush, Jo Daviess County, Ill., 1856; son of Sampson and Martha (Moralee) Pooley. He was graduated from Northwestern University, A.B. (Phi Beta Kappa), 1882, and as B.D. in 1884, from Garrett Biblical Institute, and received from Northwestern University the degrees of A.M. and D.D. He joined Rock River Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church 1884; held pastorates at Richards Street Church, Joliet, Ill.; Trinity Church, Chicago; Appleton Church, Wis.; Wabash Avenue Church, and Edgewater Church, Chicago; First Church of Oak Park, Ill.; Court Street Church, Rockford, Ill., and is now superintendent of the Joliet District, Rock River Conference. He is a member of the American Institute of Christian Philosophy, of the Delta Upsilon fraternity and Phi Beta Kappa Society. Dr. Pooley married at Evanston, Ill., Aug. 14, 1884, Martha Gertrude Skelton (Northwestern University, 1884, Ph.M.), and they have had three daughters, Leila Jessica (now deceased), Eleanor Gertrude (Northwestern University, 1900), and Elizabeth Marguerite.

Address: 1434 Chicago Avenue, Evanston, Ill.

POOR, Ruel W.:

President of the Garfield Bank; born in New London, N. H., Sept. 29, 1860. He was educated in Wilton (Maine) Academy. He is president and director of the Garfield National Bank the Garfield Safe Deposit Company. Mr. Poor is a member of the New England Society, Chamber of Commerce, and the Lotos, New York Athletic and Craftsmen's Clubs. Residence: 320 West 101st Street. Office: Fifth Avenue Building, New York City.

POORE, Henry Rankin:

Artist; born at Newark, N. J., March 21, 1859; son of Daniel W. and Susan (Ellis) Poore. He was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania, 1883, studied art with Peter Moran and at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, National Academy of Design, and with Lumenais and Bouguereau in Paris. In 1891 he traveled for the U. S. Government, writing and illustrating among the Pueblo Indians of New Mexico. In 1893 he made a tour of England painting hounds and hunting scenes, and among others painted the Queen's stag hounds, at Ascot Heath. He was director of the Art School of Chautauqua, 1896-1902, and has been a lecturer on pictorial composition at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts since 1904. He received medals at the Buffalo Pan-American Exposition, and the St. Louis International Exposition; was awarded the Hallgarten prize from the National Academy of Design, and a two-thousand-dollar prize from the American Art Association of New York. He is an associate of the National Academy of Design. He is member of the Philadelphia Sketch Club (ex-president), the Art Club, the Delta Phi fraternity, Eta Chapter, and the Salmagundi and Lotos Clubs of New York City. He is author of: Pictorial Composition; The Critical Judgment of Pictures; and Figure Composition, and of lectures and article on these and similar topics. He married at Worcester, Mass., in June 1896, Katherine Goodnow Stevens. Address: 45 Ridge Street, Orange, N. J.

POPE, Albert Linder:

Manufacturer; born in Newton, Mass., July 14, 1872; son of the late Albert Augustus and Abby (Linder) Pope. He received his education at Chauncey Hall School, Boston, Phillips Exeter Academy, and Kings School, Stamford, Conn. He enlisted as a private in the First Corps Cadets, of the Massachusetts Volunteer Militia, June 12, 1891, and remained there about three and one-half years; transferred to the First Brigade staff, as provost sergeant; and was promoted on the same staff to captain and provost marshal under Brigadier-General F. A. Matthews; and was first lieutenant and quartermaster of the First Connecticut Infantry in 1900. He is president of the Pope Manufacturing Company; a director of the National Association of Auto Manufacturers, and a member of the Executive Committee, Welfare Department of the National Civic Federation, of the New York State Commandary of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, member and director of the Sons of Revolution of Connecticut; Free Mason, Knight Templar and Shriner; and a member of the Engineers' Club of New York City and of the Hartford Club of Hartford, and Country Club of Farmington, Conn. He married, April 22, 1896, Amy Jaynes. Address: Pope Manufacturing Company, Hartford, Conn.

POPE, James Worden:

Colonel U. S. Army; born in Louisville, Ky., June 6, 1846; son of Edmund Pendleton Pope and Nancy (Johnson) Pope. He studied in the University of Indiana, 1862-1864, and was graduated from the U. S. Military Academy, June 15, 1864. He was appointed second lieutenant of the Fifth Infantry, Jan. 15, 1868; stationed in the West and engaged in the Indian campaign under General Carr in 1868; under General Wood in 1869; under General Miles on his staff in 1874, against the combined tribes of Kiowas, Comanches, Arapahoes and Cheyennes, and again under General Miles against Sioux and Northern Cheyennes, 1876-1878; and against Bannocks in 1878. He was depot quartermaster at Tampa in April, 1898; chief quartermaster under Merrill and Otis in the Philippines from June, 1898, to Sept., 1899; chief quartermaster Department of the Colorado, 1900-1904; in command of the Philadelphia Depot, 1904-1907, chief quartermaster of the Department of the Gulf, 1907-1908; chief quartermaster of the Department of the Colorado, 1908-1909. He was commandant of the U. S. Military Prison, 1887-1895; and acting warden of the U. S. Penitentiary, having organized and started it at Fort Leavenworth, Kans. He traveled through China and Japan in 1879. Colonel Pope is author of various articles on professional subjects in the Military Service Journal, Arena, Cosmopolitan, Review of Reviews and other periodicals. He is a member of the National Geographic Society, Virginia Historical Society, American Academy of Political and Social Science, Association of Graduates of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, Army Athletic Association, Beta Theta Pi fraternity, Society of the Cincinnati of Virginia, Sons of the Revolution, Military Order of Foreign Wars of the United States, the War of 1812, and Army of the Philippines. Colonel Pope is also a member of the University and Country Clubs, of Denver, and others. He married, in Leavenworth, Kans., Oct. 27, 1880, Mary R. Lynch, and they have a daughter and a son. Residence: 1143 Logan Avenue. Office: The Majestic, Denver, Colo.

POPE, William Hayes:

Jurist; born at Beaufort, S. C., June 14, 1870; son of Joseph James and Emily Hayes (Mikell) Pope. He was graduated from the University of Georgia, A.M., 1889, LL.B., 1890. He was assistant attorney-general of New Mexico, 1897-1898; assistant U. S. attorney of the Court of Private Land Claims, 1896-1902; U. S. attorney for the Pueblo Indians of New Mexico, 1901-1902; judge of the Court of First Instance of the Philippine Islands, 1902-1903; associate justice of the Supreme Court of New Mexico since 1903. He was a member of the Capitol Commission of New Mexico, 1896-1900; traveled in Mexico in 1898; and in the Philippine Islands, China and Japan, 1902-1903. Judge Pope is a member of the Society of Colonial Wars. He married in Athens, Ga., Nov. 29, 1905, Mary Nisbet Hull. Address: Roswell, N. Mex.

PORTER, Eugene Hoffman:

Physician; born at Ghent, Columbia County, N. Y., Aug. 7, 1856; son of Curtis H. Porter; of old Dutch ancestry, connected with the DePeyster, Van Buren and Douw families. He was educated at Cortland Normal School, Claverack College, Cornell University, New York Homeopathic Medical College, M.D., 1885, Rutgers College, A.M., 1889. Dr. Porter was associate editor, 1885-1892, and has been editor since 1892, of the North American Journal of Homeopathy. He was professor of physiological materia medica in New York Homeopathic Medical College and Hospital; was also professor of medicine, chemistry and sanitary science for years; and is now a consulting physician of the Laura Franklin Free Hospital for Children, and the Hahnemann Hospital. He was one of the Advisory Committee on the Internal Health Exposition held in New York City, 1898; appointed Commissioner of Health for the State of New York by Governor Higgins, May 8, 1905. He is honorary member of the Société Médicale Homéopathique de France, British Homeopathic Society, member of the American Institute of Homeopathy, (general secretary, 1894-1901), New York State Homeopathic Medical Society (ex-president), New York County Homeopathic Medical Society (served as vice-president and chairman of the Legislative Committee), member of the Board of Trustees of the Hudson-Fulton Celebration Commission, member of the New York Academy of Sciences, American Academy of Political and Social Science, National Geographic Society, New York Museum of Natural History, American Public Health Association, New York State Press Association, National Editorial Association, president of Columbia County Association in the City of New York; president of several business corporations. He is a member of the Unanimous, Meissen, and Communipaw Clubs (all medical); Republican Club (member of the Board of Governors), Cornell University, Colonial, Twilight, and Quill Clubs of New York City and the Fort Orange Club of Albany. He married, in 1889, Alice A. Day, of Upper Lisle, N. Y., and they have one son. Address: 181 West 73d Street, New York City.

PORTER, Frank Chamberlin:

Theologian; born in Beloit, Wis., Jan. 5, 1859; son of William and Ellen (Chapin) Porter. He was graduated from Beloit, B.A., 1880, M.A., 1883, from Yale, B.D., 1886, Ph.D., 1889, receiving the degree of D.D., Beloit, 1895; Chicago Theological Seminary, 1881-1882, Hartford Theological Seminary, 1884-1885, and received the degree of B.D. from Yale, 1886. He was instructor in Yale Divinity School, 1889-1891, and Winkley professor of biblical theology since 1891. He is author of articles in Hastings Dictionary, on Apocrypha Book of Revelation, etc.; of articles in many theological reviews, and Yale Bicentennial Volume; President Wm. R. Harper Memorial Volume, and Messages of Apocalyptic Writers. He is a member of the Société of Biblical Literature and Exegesis (president in 1908). He married in New Haven, Conn., June 10, 1891, Delia W. Lyman, and they have two children. Residence: 266 Bradley Street. Office: 611 Yale Divinity School, New Haven, Conn.

PORTER, Horace:

Diplomat, brigadier-general, U. S. Army; born in Harrisburg, Pa., April 15, 1837; son of David R. Porter, (governor of Pennsylvania) and Josephine (McDermet) Porter. He was educated in Harvard University, and at the United States Military Academy; and received the LL.D. degree from Union University, 1894, and from Princeton University, 1906. He has been president of several railway companies and director in fourteen railway and financial institutions. He is a brigadier-general, U. S. Army; served in the field during Civil War, the last year on General Grant's staff; received six brevets for gallantry in battle; received the Congressional Medal of Honor, for a special act of gallantry at the battle of Chickamauga; served as assistant secretary of war, and he was ambassador to France, from March, 1897 to May 1905. He was delegate to the Hague Peace Conference; received from France the Grand Cross of the Légion d'Honneur, the first American who had ever received it. On May 9, 1906 he received by unanimous vote of both houses of Congress, thanks for the recovery of the body of John Paul Jones. Having after years of effort and in the face of many discouragements succeeded in locating the burial place of the first American Admiral by a series of underground explorations undertaken at his own expense. He is a member of the Military Order, of the Loyal Legion, Grand Army of the Republic Society of Foreign Wars, Sons of the American Revolution, Society of the Cincinnati, the Alliance Francis, the Union League, Metropolitan, University, Century, National Arts, Down Town, Lawyers', Players', Authors, Grolier, Army and Navy, Lotos and Republican Clubs of New York City and the Cercle de l'Union Club of Paris. General Porter married in Albany, N. Y., Dec. 23, 1863, Daphne K. McHarg, and they have two children. Address: 277 Madison Avenue, New York City.

PORTER, Valentine Mott:

Lawyer; born in Mt. Vernon, Ill., April 4, 1870; son of Samuel Smith Porter, M.D., and Helen (Van Zandt) Porter. He was graduated from Harvard University, as A.B. in 1892, and Washington University, LL. B., 1894. He has engaged in the practice of law at St. Louis, since 1894; was secretary of the Bar Association of St. Louis, 1901-1904; secretary of the Universal Congress of Lawyers and Jurists, St. Louis, 1904, held under the auspices of the United States Government, the American Bar Association and the Louisiana Purchase Exposition; also editor of the Official Report of the Congress, published 1905. Mr. Porter served in the Spanish War with Light Battery A, Missouri Volunteers, participating in the Porto Rico campaign, and is now first lieutenant in Battery A, National Guard of Missouri. He is a member of the American Bar Association, the American Academy of Political and Social Science; chairman of the Committee on Municipal Discussions of the Civic League, St. Louis, vice-president of the Missouri Historical Society since 1906, member of the Phi Delta Phi legal fraternity, Harvard Club of New York, University Club, and Florissant Valley Club of St. Louis. He married in Mackinac Island, Mich., Sept. 21, 1907, Susan Creighton Williams. Address: 919 Third National Bank Building, St. Louis, Mo.

PORTER, William David:

Judge of the Superior Court of Pennsylvania; born at Porter's Landing, Hancock County, W. Va., Jan. 3, 1850. He was educated in various academics and in the Law Department of the University of Pennsylvania. He read law with Collier, Miller & McBride, at Pittsburg, where he was admitted to the bar in 1872. Was elected district attorney of Allegheny County in 1883, and reelected in 1886; was appointed a judge of the Court of Common Pleas Number Three, of Allegheny County, in May, 1891, and elected to that office for the full term in the following Nov. While serving in that position he was, on July 4, 1898, appointed a judge of the Superior Court of Pennsylvania, and his election for the full term followed in Nov., 1898. Judge Porter is a member of the Duquesne Club of Pittsburg. Address: Pittsburg, Pa.

PORTER, William H.:

President of the Chemical National Bank; born in Middlebury, Vt., Jan. 3, 1861. He was educated in the Middlebury Academy and Saratoga High School. He is president and director of the Chemical National Bank and a director of the Fifth Avenue Bank, Bankers' Trust Company, Astor Trust Company, Astor Safe Deposit Company, Title Guarantee & Trust Company, United States Life Insurance Company, the Mutual Life Insurance Company, etc., and is trustee of the Franklin Savings Bank. He is Treasurer and a member of the Executive Committee of the Chamber of Commerce; member of the American Geographical Society, the American Institute of Mining Engineers, New England Society, and of the Union League, Metropolitan, Republican, New York Athletic, Atlantic, Yacht, Transportation, Riding, Midday, City Lunch, Railroad, and Hardware Clubs of New York City. Residence: 56 East 67th Street. Office: 270 Broadway, New York City.

PORTER, William Henry:

Physician; born in New York City, Sept. 4, 1853; son of Frederick Edward and Elizabeth Bradley (Aiken) Porter, his father being a successful manufacturer of Norwich, Conn. His paternal descent is traced back to William de la Grand, a Norman knight who came to England with William I at the Conquest, in 1066, acquiring an estate near Kenilworth, Warwickshire, and his son Ralph, who became "Grand Porter" to Henry I, whence the family name, the first American ancestor being the "original John Porter" (a cousin of the same name arrived later), who came from England and settled in Windsor, Conn., about 1628. Through his mother he is a descendant of one of the prominent Atkinson families, of Scotland. He spent his early years and received his primary education in the public school of Litchfield, Conn., later attended the Munson (Mass.) Academy, Williston Seminary, Easthampton, Mass., special student in chemistry for one year in the Sheffield Scientific School of Yale University, and later in the Medical Department of Columbia University, from which he was graduated M.D., 1877. He was a substitute interne in Bellevue Hospital for six months before graduation, since which time he has practised in New York City. He was two years on the interne staff of the Presbyterian Hospital, receiving its diploma; curator and acting pathologist, Presbyterian Hospital, 1878-1888, and also in Bellevue Hospital, 1885-1887; professor of surgical pathology and surgery in the Columbia Veterinary College of New York, 1879-1883, and during those years made a study of comparative pathology, as a result of which he was the first to declare (New York Medical Journal, 1884) that the parenchymatous changes found in the epithelial cells of the kidneys in Bright's disease were not inflammatory but degenerative and secondary in their nature. He also, in association with Professor Satter-thwaite made an extensive microscopic study of one hundred cases of cancer, and also an exhaustive study, based on hundreds of post mortem examinations of pluropneumonia. Dr. Porter has been connected from its origin in April 1882 with the New York Post-Graduate Medical School and Hospital, first as associate professor of pathology, and for the past twenty-five years as professor of pathology and general medicine; also attending physician to the Post-Graduate Hospital and pathologist to the North Eastern Dispensary. He is author of a book on Diseases of the Kidney and Urinary Analysis, also of articles on pathological subjects and on most diseases of the heart, lungs, liver and digestive system; has devoted much time to practical dietetics and the disturbances of metabolism, and is a specialist of standard authority on these conditions. He was editor-in-chief of the American Medico-Surgical Bulletin, 1892-1897, and after that for a few years assisted in the Editorial management of The Post-Graduate. He is a member of the American Therapeutic Society, American Urological Society, American Geographical Society, American Association for the Advancement of Science, American Medical Association, American Civic Alliance, American Society of International Congress of Tuberculosis, National Geographic Society, New York State Medical Society, New York County Medical Society, New York Academy of Medicine, New York Pathological Society, New York Urological Society, New York Neurological Society, Medical Association of the Greater City of New York, Medico-Surgical Society of New York, Northwestern Medico-Surgical Society, Mississippi Valley Medical Association, the Clinical Society of the New York Post-Graduate Medical School and Hospital, Society of Medical Jurisprudence, Litchfield County Medical Society, Litchfield County University Club of Connecticut, Norfolk Club of Norfolk, Conn., Republican Club of the City of New York, Twenty-seventh Assembly District Republican Club of New York, Patria Club of New York City Sons of the Revolution, Columbia University Alumni Association, Medical Department, Presbyterian Hospital Alumni Association, Williston Seminary Alumni Association, Navy League of the United States, Mens League of Broadway Tabernacle (Congregationalist) Church. Dr. Porter married, May 21, 1880, Margaret Josephine Carroll, and they have two sons, Frederick Phelps and William Carroll Porter. Country house: Elm Court, Norfolk, Conn. Residence: The Strathmore, Broadway and 52d Street, New York City.

PORTER, William Wagener:

Lawyer; born in Philadelphia, May 5, 1856; son of Hon. William A. Porter, judge of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania and Court of Alabama Claims, Washington. His grandfather was David Rittenhouse Porter, twice governor of Pennsylvania; his great-grandfather was Gen. Andrew Porter, chief of engineers on the staff of Washington during the Revolution. He was educated in private schools in Philadelphia; was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania, A.B., 1875, A.M. 1878; read law with his father, Hon. William A. Porter, and was admitted to the bar in 1877. He practised his profession in Philadelphia until 1897, when he was appointed judge of the Superior Court of Pennsylvania, and subsequently elected to a full term, but resigned in order to return to the practice of the law in 1903. Judge Porter is the author of a legal text book on: Bills of Lading, and several brochures. He is a member of the Society of the Cincinnati, Sons of the Revolution, the Union League of Philadelphia, and other social and charitable institutions. He was the orator at the unveiling of the great Washington Monument in Philadelphia, an occasion in which President McKinley also participated. Address: 2025 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.

POSEY, William Campbell:

Physician; born in Philadelphia, July 5, 1866; son of David Root Posey, M.D., and Emily Jewel (Campbell) Posey. He was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania, A.B., 1886, M.D., 1889. He is surgeon to the Wills Eye Hospital, and professor of ophthalmology in the Philadelphia Polyclinic. He was editor of the Fifth American edition of Nettleship's Diseases of the Eye; and is author of: Posey and Wright's Diseases of the Eye, Nose, Throat and Ear; Posey and Spiller, on Diseases of the Eye; and author of numerous treatises on ophthalmological subjects. He is a member of the American Ophthalmological Society. Address: 1835 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia.

POST, George Browne:

Architect; born in New York City; son of Joel B. and Abby M. Post. He was educated in the scientific Department of New York University, and studied architecture under Richard M. Hunt. He engaged in practice in New York City as an architect, and attaining distinction in the profession. He is a member and former president of the American Institute of Architects; was elected associate, and has been an academician since 1908 of the National Academy of Design; member of the Architectural League, the Fine Arts Federation; American Society of Civil Engineers. He has received from the French Government the decoration of chevalier of the Légion d'Honneur, and is an honorary corresponding member of the Royal Institute of British Architects. He is also a member and former president of the National Arts Club, and a member of the Century Association of New York City. Mr. Post married in New York City, Oct. 14, 1863, Alice M. Stone, who died Feb. 21, 1909. Residence: 129 East 69th Street. Office: 341 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

POST, George B., Jr.:

Banker, broker; born in New York City, July 30, 1864; son of George B. and Alice (Stone) Post; he was educated in St. Mark's School, Southboro, Mass., and Columbia University. He is a member of the firm of Post and Flagg; governor of the New York Stock Exchange. Mr. Post is a member of the Delta Phi fraternity, Columbia University Alumni Association; and of the Union, Knickerbocker, St. Anthony, New York Yacht, New York Athletic, Morristown, Somerset Hills Country, Morristown Golf, Midway, Garden City Golf, Racquet and Tennis, and Morris County Golf Clubs. He married Julia Cotton Smith; and has a son: George B., 3d. Residence: 18 East 37th Street. Office: 38 Wall Street, New York City.

POST, Louis Freeland:

Editor of The Public; born in Vienna, N. J., Nov. 15, 1849; son of Eugene J. and Elizabeth (Freeland) Post. He was educated in New Jersey village and New York public schools; learned the printer's trade at Hackettstown, N. J.; afterward studied law and was admitted to the New York bar in 1870; he was a law clerk and stenographer in South Carolina, 1871-1872; assistant U. S. attorney in New York, 1874-1875, editorial writer on New York Daily Truth, 1879-1882, returned to the practice of law, 1883-1890, but has since been engaged in editorial work. Mr. Post became interested in Henry George and his teachings in 1881, and is now one of the foremost editorial exponents of the Henry George philosophy. He was a candidate for Congress on the Labor ticket in 1882, for district attorney of New York, on the George ticket, 1887, and has since advocated the Single Tax and allied economic reforms; edited The Daily Leader (George campaign paper) in 1886; was contributor to The Standard, 1886-1891, and its editor, 1891-1892; editor of The Cleveland Recorder, 1896-1897, founded The Public in Chicago in 1898, and has since been its editor. He is author of: The George-Indiana Campaign, 1887; The Single Tax, 1895; Success in Life, 1902; The Ethics of Democracy, 1905; The Prophet of San Francisco, 1905; Ethical Principles of Marriage and Divorce, 1906. He is a Democrat in his political relations and was a strong supporter of the municipal ownership programme of the Dunne administration in Chicago, and a member of the Board of Education from 1906-1909. He is a member of the Manhattan Single Tax Club of New York, Chicago Press Club, the City, and the Literary Clubs of Chicago. He married, first, at Hackettstown, N. J., July 6, 1871, Anna Johnson, who died Nov. 14, 1891, leaving two children. Mr. Post again married, Dec. 2, 1893, Alice Thacher, of Orange, N. J. Residence: 1643 North Halsted Street. Office: Ellsworth Building, Chicago.

POST, Regis Henri:

Governor of Porto Rico; born in New York City, Jan. 28, 1870; son of Albert Kintzing and Marie (de Trobriand) Post. He was educated in St. Mark's School, Southboro, Mass., Harvard College, A.B., 1891. He served as a member of the General Assembly of New York for second District; auditor of Porto Rico, May 1, 1903 to Sept. 1, 1904; secretary of Porto Rico, Sept. 1, 1904 to April 18, 1907, governor of Porto Rico. Since April 18, 1907. Was chief of Bayport (N. Y.) Fire Department, 1900-1903; president of Bayport School Board, 1898-1903; member of the Republican County Committee, Suffolk County, N. Y., 1894-1903. He is a director of the Oystermans National Bank of Sayville, N. Y. He was an Episcopal vestryman and member of St. Ann's Church, Sayville, N. Y., 1896-1900; vestryman and treasurer of St. John's Church, San Juan, Porto Rico, 1908. Governor Post married in New York City March 6, 1895 Carolyn Beatrice Post, and has one son. Home: Bayport, L. I. Address: San Juan, Porto Rico.

POTHIER, Aram J.:

Governor of Rhode Island; elected on the Republican ticket in 1908, and elected governor for the term from Jan. 1909 to Jan., 1910. Address: Providence, R. I.

POTTER, Edward Clark:

Sculptor; born in New London, Conn.; son of Nathan Day and Mary (Clark) Potter. He received his academic education in Amherst College, and studied sculpture in Paris, where he was a pupil of Mercel and Fremo in 1888-1889. He was associated with Daniel Chester French in sculpture for the World's Columbian Exposition, 1892-1903, and has since been identified with notable work in equestrian statues in various cities, groups at the Pan-American Exposition, 1901, and much public portrait and ideal work. He was elected an academician of the National Academy of Design in 1906, and he is a member of the National Sculpture Society, the Architectural League, and the National Institute of Arts and Letters. Address: Greenwich, Conn. He married in Washington, D. C., Dec. 31, 1890, May Dumont. Address: Greenwich, Conn.

POTTER, Elmer Carlton:

Lawyer and senator; born in Framingham, Mass., Aug. 23, 1868; son of Edgar and Mary (Hamilton) Potter. He was graduated from Dartmouth College, A.B., 1892, and A.M., 1895. He was a teacher in Peekskill, N. Y., 1892-1895, in Worcester, 1895-1898, and has engaged in the practice of law since that date. He was a representative to the General Court of Massachusetts, from Worcester, 1903, 1904, 1905, 1906, 1907, and a senator for the term of 1908-1909. He is a Mason, and a member of the Worcester Golf, Congregational, Economic, and Dartmouth Clubs. He married in Worcester, July 9, 1895, Anna L. Arnold, and has two children. Residence: 913 Pleasant Street. Office: 340 Main Street, Worcester, Mass.

POTTER, Frederick:

Lawyer; born in New York City, July 19, 1856; son of Orlando B. and Martha Green (Wiley) Potter. He was graduated from Yale College, 1878. He is trustee of the Title Guarantee and Trust Company, director of the Bond and Mortgage Guarantee Company, Realty Associates Westchester and Bronx Title and Mortgage Guaranty Company; managing trustee of the estates of Orlando B. Potter. He is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, Board of Trade and Transportation, American Geographical Society, New England Society, American Bar Association, Association of the Bar of the City of New York, Metropolitan Museum of Art; also of the Lawyers', University, Yale and Ardsley Clubs of New York City. Mr. Potter married in Ossining, N. Y., April 7, 1885, Helen Ward Brandreth; they have five children. Residence: Ossining, N. Y. Office: 71 Broadway, New York City.

POTTER, James Brown:

Merchant, banker; born in New York City, May 17, 1853; son of Howard and Mary Louisa (Brown) Potter. He was graduated from Union College, B.A., 1873. He is president and managing director of the Tlahualilo Agricultural Company, Limited, of Mexico; trustee of the Mexican Cotton Estates, of Tlahualilo First Mortgage Bonds, and director of the Tlahualilo Company, Limited, of London; president of the Manchester Land Company; director of the London and New York Investment Corporation, Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railroad Company (Executive Committee); trustee of the English and American Mortgage and Investment Company. He is a member of the New York Chamber of Commerce; life member of the National Academy of Design, Metropolitan Museum of Art; Union College Alumni Association; member and governor of the Tuxedo Club; life member of the New York Yacht Club, and member of the Down Town Club. He married, first, in 1877, Cora Urquhart, of New Orleans; second, in 1904, Mary Handy, daughter of Captain Handy, U. S. Navy; and he has one daughter, Anne Urquhart, now Mrs. James A. Stillman. Address: 59 Wall Street, New York City.

POTTER, Paul M.:

Dramatist; born in Brighton, England, June 3, 1853 (father was headmaster of King Edward's School, Bath, and editor of the Bibliotheca Classica). He was educated in England; engaged in newspaper work; was foreign editor, 1876-1883, London correspondent, 1883-1884, and dramatic critic, 1885-1887, of the New York Herald, and from 1888-1890 on the editorial staff of the Chicago Tribune. He is author of many plays, produced by leading companies, including: The City Directory, 1889; The Ugly Duckling, 1890; The World's Fair, 1891; The American Minister, 1892; Sheridan, or The Maid of Bath, 1893; Our Country Cousins, 1893; The Pacific Mail, 1894; The Victoria Cross, 1894; Trilby, 1895; The Stag Party, with E. W. ("Bill") Nye, 1896; The Conquerors, 1898; Under Two Flags, 1901; The Red Kloof, 1902; Notre Dame, 1903; The School Girl, 1904; Nancy Stair, 1905; Barbara's Millions, 1906; Twenty Days in the Shade, 1908; The Honor of the Family, 1908; The Queen of the Moulin Rouge, 1908; The Girl from Rector's, 1909. Mr. Potter was American representative at the Congress of Dramatic Art at the Paris Exposition of 1900. Address: Empire Theater, New York City.

POTTER, William:

Lawyer and diplomat; born in Philadelphia, April 17, 1852; son of Thomas and Adeline Coleman (Bower) Potter. He was educated in the University of Pennsylvania in the class of 1874, but left college in order to accompany his father, who was ill, to Europe. He afterward studied law and was admitted to the Philadelphia bar, and he was formerly vice president and is now a director and solicitor of Thomas Potter Sons and Company, Incorporated. He is also a member of the Board of City Trusts, which has oversight of Girard College, the Benjamin Franklin Fund and all other trusts bequeathed to the City of Philadelphia; is president of Jefferson Medical College and Hospital; trustee of the Pennsylvania Institution for the Deaf and Dumb. He was U. S. minister to Italy by appointment of President Harrison, 1892-1894; was special Government commissioner to London, Paris and Berlin, to negotiate the system of marine postoffices in 1890; delegate to the Universal Postal Union at Vienna in 1891; refused the tender of the post of ambassador to Germany from President McKinley in March, 1897; was National relief commissioner to Porto Rico during the Spanish-American War, and a member of the Permanent Relief Committee of Philadelphia. Mr. Potter was chairman of the Advisory Board of Citizens called to counsel Mayor Weaver during 1905; and in January, 1907, was nominated on a uniform primary by the City and Democratic parties for mayor of Philadelphia, and, though defeated, received 97,856 votes against the Republican organization. Mr. Potter is a member, and was formerly secretary, of the Union League of Philadelphia. He married, first at Chestnut Hill, Pa., April 25, 1878, Jane Kennedy Vanuxem, who died Jan. 17, 1897, and of that marriage there were four children. Mr. Potter, after the death of his first wife, married, at Chestnut Hill, Pa., May 16, 1899, her sister, Hetty Vanuxem, who died Aug. 12, 1901. Residence: Chestnut Hill, Pa. Office: 1001 Chesnut Street, Philadelphia.

POTTER, William Plumer:

Jurist; born in Jackson County, Iowa, April 27, 1857; son of Rev. James H. and Nancy I. Potter. He was educated in Wisconsin and Iowa public and high schools; entered Lafayette College, class of 1879, but did not complete course; received the degree of LL.D. from Lafayette College, 1907; entered the banking business in Iowa; studied law and was admitted to the Iowa bar. He removed to Pittsburg, 1881; was admitted to the Pittsburg bar, 1883; practised until appointed, Sept. 25, 1900, justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, and was elected Nov. 5, 1901, to the same position for a term of twenty-one years, beginning Jan. 1, 1902. Justice Potter is a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, Historical Society of Pennsylvania, American Historical Society, and Art Club of Philadelphia, and the Country Club of Pittsburgh. He married in 1884, Jessie L. Bacon. Residence: The Schenley Hotel, Pittsburgh, and Swarthmore, Pa. Official address: Room 458 City Hall, Philadelphia.

POTTER, William Warren:

Physician; born in Strykersville, N. Y., Dec. 31, 1838; son of Lindorf and Mary Green (Blanchard) Potter. He was educated first at Arcade (N. Y.) Seminary, then at Genesee Seminary and College, Lima, N. Y., and at Buffalo University Medical College, M.D., 1859. He at once formed a partnership in the practice of medicine with his uncle, Dr. M. E. Potter, of Cowlesville, N. Y. At the beginning of the Civil War, he offered his services to the Government; passed the examination of the Army Board at Albany a few days after the surrender of Fort Sumter; was commissioned, in the summer of 1861, assistant surgeon of the 49th New York Volunteers; served in the Army of the Potomac under McClellan during the Peninsula and Antietam campaigns and under Burnside in the Fredericksburg disaster. He was left in charge of wounded soldiers while the army was retreating to Harrison's Landing; was captured by Confederates, June 30, 1862, and had an interesting interview with Stonewall Jackson. He was confined in Libby Prison, but soon exchanged, and returned to his regiment; was promoted to surgeon, Dec. 16, 1862; served with the 57th Regiment, New York Volunteers, during the Chancellorsville and Gettysburg campaigns; soon after Gettysburg was assigned to charge of the First Division Hospital, Second Army Corps, continuing until mustered out of service at the close of the war. He was brevetted by the President, for faithful and meritorious services as lieutenant colonel, U. S. Volunteers, and by the governor of New York as lieutenant-colonel, New York Volunteers. After the war he practised for some time at Batavia, N. Y., since then at Buffalo, N. Y. Of late years he has limited his practice to treatment of diseases of women. Dr. Potter is a member of the American Medical Association (chairman of the Section of the Diseases of Women, 1890); Medical Society State of New York (president, 1891), Medical Society of Erie County (president, 1893), Buffalo Obstetrical Society, 1884-1886; secretary of the American Association of Obstetricians and Gynecologists since 1888; president Section of Gynecology and Abdominal Surgery, First Pan American Congress, 1893; since 1891 president and examiner in obstetrics and gynecology, New York State Board of Medical Examiners; president of the National Confederation of Medical Examining and Licensing Boards, 1895-1899; and he is consulting surgeon at the Buffalo General Hospital. Dr. Potter is an extensive contributor to the medical press, especially in gynecology; editor of the Buffalo Medical Journal since July, 1888; also edits the annual volume of the Transactions of the American Association of Obstetricians and Gynecologists. He is a companion of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States, and a member of the Army and Navy Club of

New York City. He married March 23, 1859, Emily A. Bostwick of Lancaster, N. Y., and has two daughters. Address: 238 Delaware Avenue, Buffalo, N. Y.

POTTHAST, Edward Henry:

Artist; born in Cincinnati, 1857; son of Henry and Bernardina (Scheifers) Potthast. He was educated in the Art Institute of Cincinnati, and in Munich and Paris. He was elected Academician of the National Academy of Design, in 1906. He is a member of the Salamagundi, and Lotos Clubs of New York City. Address: 222 West 59th Street, New York City.

POU, Edward William:

Congressman; born at Tuskegee, Ala., Sept. 9, 1863; son of Edward William and Ann Maria Pou. He was graduated from the University of North Carolina; was admitted to the bar of North Carolina, Feb. 5, 1885, and has since practised law at Smithfield, N. C. He has also been active in politics as a Democrat; was presidential elector in 1888; was elected solicitor of the Fourth Judicial District of North Carolina in 1890, 1894 and 1898; while serving his third term as solicitor was elected to the Fifty-seventh Congress; and was reelected to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses from the Fourth North Carolina District. Mr. Pou is a member of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity. He married in Pittsboro, N. C., Oct. 18, 1887, Carrie Ihrie. Address: Smithfield, N. C.

POUND, Cuthbert Winfred:

Jurist; born in Lockport, N. Y., June 20, 1864; son of Alexander and Almira (Whipple) Pound. He was educated in the schools of Lockport, and at Cornell University; and studied law in the office of his brother, Hon. John E. Pound, of Lockport, N. Y. He was admitted to the bar in June, 1886, and practised law at Lockport until 1895 when he removed to Ithaca, becoming a professor of law in the College of Law of Cornell University, 1895-1904. He resigned to resume practice at Lockport as senior member of the firm of Pound & Moore. He was city attorney of Lockport, 1888-1891; elected State senator for the then Twenty-ninth Senate District, 1893; appointed State civil service commissioner by Governor Roosevelt, in June, 1900, and in June, 1903, became president of the commission. He resigned in January, 1905, being appointed by Governor Higgins as counsel to the Governor, which position he held until appointed in June, 1906, justice of the Supreme Court for the Eighth Judicial District, and he was elected Nov. 6, 1906, to the same position for full term expiring Dec. 31, 1920. He was a member of the Lexow Committee to investigate the government of New York City, and he introduced the present Compulsory Education Law. Judge Pound is a director of the National Exchange Bank, of Lockport, N. Y. He is a member of the Cornell Chapter of Delta Kappa Epsilon, the New York State Bar Association, the Town and Gown Club of Ithaca, the Buffalo and Saturn Clubs, of Buffalo, and Town and Country Club of Lockport. Address: Lockport, N. Y.

POWELL, Arthur Chilton:

Clergyman; born in Dayton, Ohio, July 22, 1854; son of John and Sarah (Latham) Powell. He was graduated from Amherst College, A.B., 1876, A.M., 1879; attended Princeton Seminary, 1876-1877, and the Philadelphia Divinity School, 1877-1879; and he received the honorary degree of D.D. from St. John's College, Md., 1905. He was ordered deacon in 1879 and ordained priest in 1880 by Bishop Jaggard of Southern Ohio. He was rector of the Church of Atonement, Riverside, Cincinnati, 1879-1882; St. John's, York, Pa., 1882-1888; dean of Convocation of Harrisburg, Pa., 1886-1888; rector of Grace Church, Baltimore, since 1888. He is trustee of the Maryland Bible Society; president and trustee of the Church Home and Infirmary, Baltimore, director and vice-president of the Consumptive Hospital of Maryland. He is a member of Chi Phi fraternity. Dr. Powell married in Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 28, 1882, Helen Buttles Hardy, and they have three sons. Residence: Grace Rectory, Baltimore, Md.

POWERS, Charles A.:

Physician and surgeon; born in Lawrence, Mass., Feb. 2, 1838; son of George Eliot and Mary (Stone) Powers. He was graduated from Columbia, M.D., 1883, and received the honorary degree of A.M. from the University of Denver in 1901. He was attending surgeon to St. Luke's and General Memorial Hospitals, New York City, 1894; attending surgeon at St. Luke's and Denver City Hospitals, Denver, 1896; and is now professor of surgery in the University of Denver. He is author of numerous papers on surgical subjects. Dr. Powers is a fellow of the American Surgical Association; member of the American Medical Association; membre de la Société Internationale de Chirurgie; and also a member of various local medical societies and the University of Denver and Denver Country Clubs. Residence: University Club. Office: Fourteenth and Stout Streets, Denver, Colo.

POWERS, James T.:

Actor; born New York City, April 26, 1867. He made his first appearance as an actor in a minor part in Rice's Evangeline; afterward was in several companies, and met success both in America and England; played "Rats" in Hoyt's comedy, A Tim Soldier; later in the Casino company in leading parts in Erminie, Nadjy and other light operas. For several years past he has been at the head of his own company. Address: The Players, Gramercy Park, New York City.

POWERS, Samuel Leland:

Lawyer; born in Cornish, N. H., Oct. 26, 1848; son of Larned and Ruby (Barton) Powers. He was educated in Kimball Union Academy, Phillips Exeter Academy, and Dartmouth, A.B., 1874; was admitted to the bar in 1875, and since then has practised law in Boston, now being senior member of the law firm of Powers and Hall. Mr. Powers was a delegate from Massachusetts to the International Treaty Convention in 1878. He was a Republican member of Congress from the Eleventh Massachusetts District, 1901-1903, and from the Twelfth Massachusetts District, 1903-1905. He is a director of the Newton Street Railway Company, the Lexington and Boston Street Railway Company, the Newton and Boston Street Railway Company, the Natick and Cohituate Street Railway Company, the Westboro and Hopkinton Street Railway Company, the Norumbega Park Company, the Waltham Gas Light Company, the Shawmut Consolidated Copper Company, the Municipal Signal Company, and the Suburban Manufacturing Company. Mr. Powers is a member of the Boston Bar Association, Middlesex Bar Association, Phi Beta Kappa, Delta Kappa Epsilon, Sons of American Revolution of Massachusetts, and trustee of Dartmouth College. He is a member of the Exchange, University and City Clubs of Boston, the Newton Club and the Hunnewell Club. Mr. Powers married in Dennis, Mass., June, 1878, Eva Crowell, and they have one son. Residence: 96 Arlington Street, Newton, Mass. Office: 101 Milk Street, Boston.

PRANG, Mary Dana Hicks:

Art educator; born in Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 7, 1836; daughter of Major and Agnes A. L. (Johnson) Dana. She was educated in the Allen Female Seminary at Rochester, N. Y., and took graduate courses in Harvard University. She was twice married, first in Syracuse, Oct. 7, 1856, to Charles S. Hicks, and second, in Boston, April 15, 1900, to Louis Prang, who died June 14, 1909. After art studies with private instructors and in the Museum of Fine Arts at Boston she became identified with art education; was president of the Social Art Club of Syracuse, 1875-1880; and director of the Prang Normal Art classes, 1884-1900, and was supervisor of art instruction in the Syracuse (N. Y.) public schools, 1868-1878; she is author of numerous books on art and art instruction, including: The Use of Models, 1886 (with John S. Clark and Walter S. Perry); The Prang Complete Course in Form Study and Drawing, comprising twelve drawing-books with manuals, 1889-1894; The Prang Shorter Course in Form Study and Drawing, comprising six drawing-books and manuals, 1888; The Prang Elementary Course in Art Instruction, twelve drawing books with manuals, 1897-1900; Suggestions for Color Instruction (with John S. Clark and Louis Prang), 1893; Art Instruction for Children in Primary Schools, 2 volumes, 1900; and other writings on art subjects. Mrs. Prang has been an extensive traveler all over this country; to Europe four times, and around the world, 1906-1907. She is a member of the American Park and Outdoor Association, National Educational Association, the Eastern Kindergarten Association, Eastern Drawing Teachers' Association, Massachusetts Floral Emblem Society (president, 1898-1901), Western Art Teachers' Association, Massachusetts Industrial Art Teachers' Association, the Copley Society, Public School Art League, Woman's Educational Association, Woman's Educational and Industrial Union, the Harvard Teachers' Association of Cambridge, Mass., the Egypt Exploration Fund, Massachusetts Prison Association, National Consumers' League, League for Social Service of New York, Appalachian Mountain Club, Onondaga County (N. Y.) Historical Association, Boston Athenæum, Boston Business League, Boston Equal Suffrage Association, Bostonian Society and the New England Woman's Unity Art and Wintergreen Clubs of Boston. Address: 45 Centre Street, Roxbury, Mass.

PRATT, Joseph Hyde:

State geologist, and a consulting mining engineer; born in Hartford, Conn., Feb. 3, 1870; son of James Church and Jennie (Peck) Pratt. He was graduated from Hartford High School, and Yale University, Ph.B., 1895, and Ph.D., 1896. He was instructor in Yale University, 1896-1897, state mineralogist of North Carolina, 1897-1899, consulting mining engineer, since 1899; lecturer at the University of North Carolina, 1899-1904, professor of economic geology, University of North Carolina, since 1905, and State geologist of North Carolina, since 1906. He is director of the Chapel Hill Realty and Investment Company, and the William Bayley Company of Springfield, Ohio. Mr. Pratt is president of the Chapel Hill Board of Trade, member of the Mining and Metallurgical Society of America, American Institute of Mining Engineers, Geological Society of America; American Association for the Advancement of Science, New York Academy of Science, North Carolina Academy of Science, American Chemical Society, Sigma Xi, and Alpha Tau Omega fraternities, and Order of Gingham, of the University of North Carolina. He is a member of the Yale Club of New York City, University Club of Washington, Capitol Club of Raleigh, and the Country Club of Chapel Hill. He married in Springfield, Ohio, April 5, 1899, Mary Dicus Bayley. Address: Chapel Hill, N. C.

PRAY, James Sturgis:

Landscape architect; born in Boston, Mass., Feb. 26, 1871; son of Benjamin Sweetser and Frances Motley (Gavett) Pray. After a preparatory education in Chauncy Hall School, Boston, in 1891, he entered Harvard College and later studied in the Lawrence Scientific School, the Bussey Institution, and the Arnold Arboretum, and in 1898 was graduated from Harvard "as of 1895." He was engaged with Olmsted Brothers, Brookline, 1898-1903, in the profession of landscape architecture, and since 1903 has had an office in Boston. He was of the firm of Pray and Gallagher, 1904-1906, and since 1906 has been of the firm of Pray, Hubbard and White. Sept. 1, 1905, he became assistant professor of landscape architecture, and since June, 1908, has been chairman of the Department of Landscape Architecture in Harvard University. Professor Pray is a fellow of the American Society of Landscape Architects, a member of the Architectural League of America, Architectural League of New York, National Municipal League, American Civic Association, National Educational Association, American Social Science Association, Massachusetts Horticultural Society, secretary of the Columbian Association of the United States, member of the Appalachian Mountain Club, and about fifty other organizations. Professor Pray married in Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 30, 1901, Florence M. Nichols, and they have two children: Benjamin Sturgis and Frances Motley. Residence: Cambridge, Mass., Office: 15 Ashburton Place, Boston.

PREBLE, Robert Bruce:

Physician; born in Chicago, March 14, 1866; son of Eber C. and Mary Kate (Barnes) Preble. He was graduated from the University of Michigan, A.B., 1889, Northwestern University, M.D., 1891, and did post-graduate work at the University of Vienna. He was professor of medicine in Northwestern University, and attending physician to Cook County, St. Luke's, St. Joseph's, and Wesley Hospitals. Dr. Preble is a member of the Association of American Physicians, American Medical Society, Illinois Medical Society, Chicago Medical Society, Phi Kappa Psi fraternity, and the University Club of Chicago. He married in Chicago, June 12, 1889, Alice Hosmer, and they have three children. Residence: 1518 Dearborn Avenue. Business address: 103 State Street, Chicago.

PRELLWITZ, Henry:

Artist; born in New York City, in 1865; son of Rudolph and Margaretha (Mauer) Prellwitz. He was educated in the public schools of New York City, the College of the City of New York, the Art Students' League of New York, the Academie Julian, Paris, and the studio of T. W. Dewing, New York City. He exhibited at the exhibitions of the Society of American Artists, the National Academy of Design, New York City; also at Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Worcester and many other places. He won the third Hallgarten prize of the National Academy of Design in 1893; the bronze medal of the Pan American Exposition, Buffalo, 1901; the silver medal at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, St. Louis, 1904; and the Clarke prize at the National Academy of Design, 1907, and studied in Paris, 1887-1890. Mr. Prellwitz is a member of the Society of American Artists (secretary, 1902-1906); an associate of the National Academy of Design, and instructor of life classes in the Department of Art, Pratt Institute, Brooklyn. He married in New York City, 1894, Edith Mitchill, and they have one son, Edwin Mitchell Prellwitz. Address: 247 West Seventy-first Street, New York City, and Peconic, Long Island, N. Y.

PRENDERGAST, Edmond Francis:

Catholic Bishop; born in Clonmel, Ireland, May 3, 1843. He came to the United States at the age of 16, after beginning his education in Ireland, pursued his divinity studies in the Ecclesiastical Seminary of St. Charles Borromeo, Philadelphia, and was ordained priest in 1865. He was assistant at St. Paul's, Philadelphia, and later at Susquehanna Depot; then rector at Allentown, Pa.; rector of St. Malchy's, Philadelphia, three years, 1894-1897, and also vicar-general of the archdiocese of Philadelphia, 1895-1897. He was consecrated bishop in February, 1897, and made auxiliary to the Archbishop of Philadelphia. Address: 1426 Warnock Street, Philadelphia.

PRESTON, Andrew Woodbury:

President of the United Fruit Company; born on a farm in Beverly, Mass., 1846; son of Benjamin and Sarah (Poland) Preston. He received a common school education, and continued on the home farm until he was twenty-three years old, when he entered the fruit business, in which he has made an eminent success, now being president and director of the United Fruit Company; of the Belize Royal Mail and Central American Steamship Company, the Fruit Dispatch Company, the Hotel Titchfield Company, the Nipe Bay Company, and of the Pittsburg Fruit and Produce Exchange; is vice-president and director of the Abangary Gold Fields of Costa Rica, the Northern Railway Company, and the Quartette Mining Company; treasurer and director of the M. D. Cressy Company; director of the American Mail Steamship Company, the City Trust Company, the Elders and Fyffes, Limited, the Costa Rica Esperanza Mining Company, the First National Bank of Boston, National Bank of Cuba, and the Tropical Fruit Steamship Company. Mr. Preston is a 32-degree Mason, is a member of the New Algonquin, Exchange, and City Clubs of Boston, New York Yacht Club, Country Club of Brookline, Mass., Tedesco Country Club of Swampscott, Mass., and Eastern Yacht Club of Marblehead, Mass. He married in Weymouth, Mass., in 1869, Frances E. Gutter-son, and has a married daughter. Residence: "The Arches," Swampscott, Mass. Office: 131 State Street, Boston.

PRICE, Charles W.:

Editor of the Electrical Review; born on a farm near Barnesville, Belmont County, Ohio; son of Samuel and Charlotte (Alder) Price. He was educated in the country school and at Barnesville high school. He served in the office of the Barnesville (Ohio) Enterprise, as, successively, devil, compositor and editor until 1878, when he went West. He assisted in establishing the Topeka Daily Capital in 1879 and was one of its editors for several years. Mr. Price became a student of electrical matters and in 1885 was called to New York City to take a position on the staff of the Electrical Review, of which he is now editor-in-chief and the largest owner, and he has also contributed extensively on electrical subjects to magazines and newspapers. He is a member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, the New York Electrical Society, the National Electric Light Association, ex-president of the Kansas Society of New York; a member of the Ohio Society of New York, a member and treasurer of the Lotos Club; member of the Electrical Club; vice-president, member and formerly chairman of the board of trustees of the New York Press Club and member of the Montauk Club. Mr. Price married in Topeka, Kan., March 16, 1882, Minnie E. Gray, and they have two daughters. Address: 13 Park Row, New York City.

PRICE, Ira Maurice:

Orientalist; born in Welsh Hills, near Newark, Ohio, April 29, 1886; son of Thomas Davies and Sarah Jane (Jones) Price. He was graduated from Denison University, A.B., 1879, A.M., 1882, and from the Baptist Union Theological Seminary, Chicago, B.D., 1882; studied at the University of Leipzig, receiving the degrees of Ph.D. and A.M., in 1886; and received the honorary degree of LL.D. from Denison University, 1903. He is distinguished as an instructor in the Semitic languages as applied to Bible study and interpretation, having begun his career as such an instructor at the Wheaton Theological Seminary in 1882. He was instructor in Harper's Hebrew Correspondence Schools, 1882-1884; instructor in Hebrew and cognate languages, Chicago Baptist Union Theological Seminary, 1886-1888; professor in same, 1888-1892; associate professor of Semitic languages and literatures, University of Chicago, 1892-1900; and professor in same since 1900. He is associate editor of The Biblical World, The American Journal of Theology, and The American Journal of Semitic Languages and Literatures, and is on the editorial staff of The Standard Dictionary, Hastings' Dictionary of the Bible, The Jewish Encyclopedia, The Standard Bible Dictionary, The Dictionary of Religion, and other publications. He is the author of: Introduction into the Inscriptions Discovered by E. de Sarzec, Munich, 1887; Syllabus of Old Testament History, 1890 (7th edition, 1907); Some Literary Remains of Rim-Sin (Arioch) of Larsa, B.C., 2250, 1905; The Great Cylinder Inscriptions A and B of Gudea, Leipzig, Germany, 1899; The Monuments and The Old Testament, Chicago, 1899 (5th edition, 1907); and The Ancestry of Our English Bible, Philadelphia, 1907. He is director of the Calumet Trust and Savings Bank, Morgan Park, Ill., and of the Chapman & Smith Co., Chicago; secretary of the International Sunday School Lesson Committee, and chairman of the Executive Committee of the Baptist Young Peoples' Union of America and is a member of the Quadrangle Club, University of Chicago. He married at Granville, Ohio, June 13, 1882, Jennie Rhoads (who died Sept. 23, 1905), and has two sons and two daughters. Address: 6043 Ellis Avenue, Chicago.

PRICE, Silas Eber:

President of Ottawa University; born in Newark, Ohio, Feb. 28, 1860; son of Thomas D. and Sarah J. (Jones) Price. He was graduated from Denison University, A.B., 1884, and from the Morgan Park Theological Seminary (now the Divinity School of the University of Chicago), B.D., 1887. After his ordination to the Baptist ministry he occupied pastorates in La Crosse, Wis., Minneapolis, Minn., Milwaukee, Wis., and Ottawa, Kan. In June, 1906, he was elected president of Ottawa University, Ottawa, Kan. He has been director of the Wisconsin Baptist State Convention and the Kansas Baptist State Convention and was trustee of Wayland University, Beaver Dam, Wis. He married at Ontario, Wis., Sept. 8, 1887, Nettie May Sandon, and has a son and a daughter. Residence: 603 Cedar Street. Address: Ottawa University, Ottawa, Kan.

PRICKITT, William A.:

Consular officer; born in Monmouth County, N. J., March 20, 1839; and was educated in the public schools. He entered the Union Army in 1862, as private and later became corporal and sergeant of the 14th New Jersey Volunteers, until in 1894, he was commissioned captain of the 25th U. S. Colored Infantry, so serving until mustered out in 1865. He engaged in financial and insurance business, 1868-1872; then operated as a member of the New York Stock Exchange, 1872-1876, after which he engaged in farming near Lakewood, N. J., until appointed consul at Rheims, Oct. 12, 1897; and was promoted to consul-general at Auckland, Nov. 6, 1905. Address: Auckland, New Zealand.

PRIME, Ralph Earl:

Lawyer, author; born in Matteawan, N. Y., March 29, 1840; son of Alanson J. Prime, M.D., and Ruth Havens (Higbie) Prime. He was educated in public schools, academy at White Plains, N. Y., medicine and later studied law (D.C.L. and LL.D.), and was admitted to the bar in 1861. He served in Army in the Civil War, in the Fifth New York Volunteer Infantry, from April 20, 1861; held four regimental commissions. He took part in the battles of the Big Bethel; campaign on the eastern shore of Maryland and Virginia; the siege of Yorktown, Williamsburg, Hanover Court House, seven days before Richmond, Mechanicsville, Gaines' Mill; White Oak Swamp Bridge, Malvern Cliff (June 30); Maryland campaign, South Mountain, Antietam, Shepardstown Ford and Blackford's Ford. He was wounded severely in the battle of Gaines' Mill. He received notices in general orders of, and was twice promoted for bravery, gallantry and service at the battle of Gaines' Mill; and was nominated, March 4, 1863, by President Lincoln, to be brigadier-general. He has practised law for more than forty years in Yonkers. He has been for more than twenty years a Presbyterian elder; was a delegate from the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America to the Pan-Presbyterian Councils, in Belfast, 1884, London, 1888, Glasgow, 1896, Washington, 1899, and Liverpool, 1904, and was chairman of the Western Section of the Pan-Presbyterian Alliance. He was moderator of the Presbytery of Westchester in 1894; moderator of the Synod of New York in 1896. He is author of monographs: Descendants of James Prime; Under the Elms; Wanderings from the Elms. Duties of Presbyterian Elders; The Elder in His Ecclesiastical Relations; The Elder an Ecclesiastic; Representation in the Church Courts; Christian Giving; The Power of God's Word; The Elder Moderator and the Ruling Elder; Inaccurate Quotations by Authors; The Revolutionary, Ante-Revolutionary and Post-Revolutionary Services of George Clinton; An Incident of the Alabama Arbitration; Religious Situation in France in 1907; A Coincidence of Admiral Farragut's Visit to Constantinople and the Robert College Troubles; Sunday Legislation; and Is This a Christian Country? He has been trustee of Village of Yonkers; city attorney of City of Yonkers; and deputy attorney-general of the State of New York. He is a member of the New York Society, of the Military Order of Loyal Legion, Empire State Society of Sons of the American Revolution, Order of Founders and Patriots of America (one of past governors-general), a life fellow of the Huguenot Society of London; president of American Flag Association. Mr. Prime married Annie Richards-Wolcott, daughter of Jacob Richards, M.D., and granddaughter and foster-daughter of Rev. Calvin Wolcott. Residence: 63 Hawthorne Avenue.

Address: 25 Warburton Avenue, Yonkers, N. Y.

PRIMER, Sylvester:

Professor of Germanic languages; born at Geneva, Wis., Dec. 14, 1842; son of Archibald and Eleanor (Jacoby) Primer; and he removed to New York early in life. He served in the Civil War in the Union Army, first in the infantry, and was wounded at the battle of Antietam and discharged for wounds. He afterward joined the cavalry, serving to the end of the war; and he participated in twenty three battles, including some of the hardest of the war, serving in Custer's brigade under Sheridan. Mr. Primer spent three years at the LeRoy Academy and three years at Phillips Exeter Academy, from which he was graduated, then went to Harvard, where he was graduated, A.B., with Phi Beta Kappa honors, in 1874. From there he went to Germany and studied at the Universities of Leipzig, Göttingen and Strassburg, and received from the latter college the degree of Ph.D. in 1880, on a thesis on The Consonant Declension. While at Strassburg he taught about a year in a military school, and returned in the latter part of 1880 to the United States. Dr. Primer was professor of modern languages at the College of Charleston, S. C., 1880-1888; taught at the Friends' School, Providence, R. I., one year, then at Colorado College, Colorado Springs, in 1890-1891, and since then has been professor of Germanic languages in the University of Texas. Professor Primer has edited: Lessing's Minna von Barnhelm; Nathan der Weisse; Goethe's Egmont; and Chamisso's Peter Schlemihl; for the Use of Schools, and has made many contributions to leading philological journals. He is a Democrat in politics, and a Methodist in religion; is a member of the Modern Language Association, the Dialect Society, Texas Academy of Sciences, and the Texas Historical Association. He married at Summerville, S. C., Sept. 17, 1895, Martha Louisa Muckenfuss, and they have had two children: a boy, born Nov. 2, 1898, who died in infancy; and Benjamin Anthony Muckenfuss Primer, born March 25, 1900. Address: 2709 Rio Grande Street, Austin, Texas.

PRINCE, George W.:

Congressman; born in Tazewell County, Ill., March 4, 1854; son of Myron Prince. He attended the public schools and was graduated from Knox College, Galesburg, Ill., in 1878. He studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1880; was elected city attorney of Galesburg in 1881; was chairman of the Republican County Central committee of Knox County in 1884; was elected a member of the lower house of the General Assembly of Illinois in 1888 and was re-elected in 1890. He was the candidate for attorney-general of Illinois on the Republican ticket in 1892; and was elected to the Fifty-fourth Congress to fill a vacancy caused by the death of Hon. P. S. Post. He was elected to the Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth Congresses, and was re-elected in 1908 to the Sixty-first Congress from the Fifteenth Illinois District. Address: Galesburg, Ill.

PRINCE, John Dyneley:

Professor of Semitic languages in Columbia University; born in New York City, April 17, 1868; son of John Dyneley and Anna Maria (Morris) Prince. He was educated in Columbia College, A.B., 1888, University of Berlin, Johns Hopkins University, Ph.D., 1892. He represented Columbia University on the expedition to Southern Babylonia, sent out by the University of Pennsylvania, 1888-1889; fellow of Johns Hopkins University, 1890-1891; professor in New York University, 1893-1902; dean of New York University Graduate School, 1895-1902; professor in Columbia University since 1902. Professor Prince has been active in New Jersey State politics since 1903; was elected president of the Passaic County Federated Boards of Education, 1905; elected to the General Assembly of New Jersey, 1905-1906, and 1907-1908, and speaker of the Assembly in 1909. He was author of the Crimes and Dependency Act of 1908, and the act providing tenure of office for public school teachers, 1909. Professor Prince is author of: Mene, Mene Tekel Upharsin, 1893; Critical Commentary on the Book of Daniel, 1899; Kuloskop the Master (with Charles Godfrey Leland), 1902; Materials for a Sumerian Lexicon, in four parts, 1905; also many contributions to technical philology, in journals, proceedings of societies and pamphlets; also staff writer on the new edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica, the Cheyne Dictionary of the Bible and Hastings Dictionary of Religions; chiefly writing on the Cuneiform Inscriptions of Babylonia and the Babylonian Literature. He is a fellow of the New York Academy of Sciences, 1903; treasurer of the Society of Biblical Literature and Exegesis; member of the American Oriental Society, American Anthropological Association, Fifteenth Congress of Americanists at Quebec, Canada; trustee of the Home for Aged Women, attached to the Church of the Holy Communion, New York City. He is a member of the Union, University and Columbia University and Tuxedo Clubs of New York; and the Hamilton Club of Paterson, N. J. He married in New York City, Oct. 5, 1890, Adeline Loomis, and they have one son. Residence: Ringwood Manor, N. J. Address: Columbia University, New York City.

PRINCE, Le Baron Bradford:

Jurist; born at Flushing, L. I., N. Y., July 3, 1840; son of William Robert Prince, a distinguished horticulturist, and Charlotte Goodwin (Collins) Prince, and he is a descendant of Governor William Bradford of Plymouth Colony. He was graduated from Columbia Law School, winning the $200 prize in political science and the degree of LL.B. "with special honor" in 1866. He engaged in the practice of law, and also became prominent in Republican politics in New York. He was for five terms a member of the Legislative Assembly of New York, 1871-1875, serving as chairman of the Judiciary Committee and conducting the investigation of 1872 which resulted in the impeachment of Judges Barnard, Cardozo and McCunn. He was a member of the New York State Senate, 1876-1877. He declined the appointment, offered him by President Hayes, as territorial governor of Idaho, in 1878, but accepted that of chief justice of New Mexico, serving until 1882, when he resigned and was elected president of the Trustees of the University of New Mexico at Santa Fé. He was appointed by President Harrison, in 1889, governor of New Mexico, and served until 1893. He was president of the Trans-Mississippi Congress of 1892 and 1893, of the International Mining Congress, 1897, 1898, and again in 1901, and since 1883 has been president of the New Mexico Historical Society of Santa Fé. Governor Prince is an enthusiastic student of American archaeology, is vice-president of the New Mexico Archaeological Society, and an honorary member of the New York Archaeological and Numismatic Society. He has made a collection of ancient American stone idols which is probably the most extensive in existence. He was vice-president of the National Irrigation Congress, 1900-1903; was president of the Board of Regents of the New Mexico Agricultural College, 1899-1904, and is an honorary member of the Wisconsin Historical Society, Missouri Historical Society and the Texas Historical Society. Governor Prince is one of the most prominent laymen of the Protestant Episcopal Church, has been a member of every General Convention from 1877 to 1907, and was the originator of the American Church Building Fund. He received the degree of LL.D. from Kenyon College and from Colorado College. He is a member of the Society of Mayflower Descendants, Society of Colonial Wars, the Order of the Cincinnati, the Sons of the Revolution, the Society of the War of 1812, and the New Mexico Pioneers. Governor Prince compiled the General Laws of New Mexico in 1881, and has written extensively on historical, political, economic and archaeological subjects. Address: Santa Fé, N. Mex.

PRITCHETT, Henry Smith:

President of Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching; born in Fayette, Mo., April 16, 1857; son of Carr Walter and Elizabeth Susan (Smith) Pritchett. He was graduated from Pritchett College, Glasgow, Mo., A.B., from the University of Munich, Ph.D.; and has received the honorary degree of LL.D. from Harvard, Yale, Johns Hopkins, the University of Pennsylvania, Williams College, the University of Michigan and Toronto University, and Sc.D. from Tufts College. He was professor in Washington University, St. Louis, 1884-1897; superintendent of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey, 1897-1900; president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, 1901-1907, and has been president of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, since 1906. He is a member of the United States Light House Board, the Board of Directors of the United States Bureau of Standards. He is a member of the Cosmos Club of Washington, D. C., of the Century Club of New York and of the Tavern Club of Boston. Dr. Pritchett married in Washington, June 9, 1901, Eva McAllister. Residence: 22 East 91st Street, New York City. Office: Carnegie Foundation, 576 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

PRITCHARD, Jeter Connelly:

U. S. circuit judge; born in Jonesboro, Tenn., July 12, 1857; son of William Hyder and Elizabeth L. (Brown) Pritchard. He is of Welsh descent on the father's and Irish descent on his mother's side. After completing the course of the common schools he learned the printer's trade in the office of the Jonesboro Tribune-Herald. In 1873 he removed to Bakersville, N. C., where he became part owner and joint editor of the Roan Mountain Republican until 1887, when he was admitted to the bar and located in the practice of law at Marshall, N. C. He became an active Republican leader, was on the Garfield and Arthur electoral ticket in 1880, and was elected to the North Carolina Legislature from Madison County in 1884, 1886 and 1890. He was the Republican candidate for lieutenant-governor in 1888, nominee for U. S. Senator in 1891; candidate for Congress in 1892, and was U. S. Senator from North Carolina, 1894-1903. At the close of his term he was appointed by President Roosevelt as an associate justice of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia; and in 1904 he was appointed judge of the United States Circuit Court for the Fourth Judicial Circuit, which office he still fills. In the summer of 1907 Judge Pritchard attracted attention by his injunction suspending the law passed by the Legislature of North Carolina reducing railway fares, and for his firm, yet conservative, attitude in support of the prerogatives of the federal judiciary when appealed to under the terms of the Constitution. Address: Ashville, N. C.

PROCTOR, Alexander Phimister:

Sculptor; born in Ontario, Can., Sept. 27, 1862; son of Alexander and Tirza (Smith) Proctor. He was a member of the Art Commission of New York City, 1902-1905; also of the Sculpture Jury, Paris Exposition, in 1900; Jury of Selection and Jury of Awards, Buffalo, Pan-American Exposition, Sculpture Jury, Louisiana Purchase Exposition, St. Louis, 1904. Mr. Proctor is Academician of the National Academy of Design; member of the National Sculpture Society, American Water Color Society, and Architectural League. He was awarded medals at the World's Columbian Exposition, Chicago, 1893; Paris Exposition (gold medal), 1900; St. Louis Exposition (gold medal), 1904. He is a member of the New York Zoölogical Society, and the Century, and Boone and Crockett Clubs. He married in Chicago, September, 1893, Margaret Gerow; they have four children. Address: Century Association, 7 West 43d Street, New York City.

PROCTOR, Fletcher Dutton:

Former governor of Vermont; born in Cavendish, Vt., Nov. 7, 1860; son of Hon. Redfield and Emily J. (Dutton) Proctor, late United States Senator from Vermont. He was graduated from Amherst College in 1882, and became interested in the extensive business operations conducted by his father, especially in the quarrying of marble. He is president of the Vermont Marble Company. Governor Proctor was a member of the House of Representatives in 1890, 1900 and 1904; and speaker of the House in the session of 1900. He was also a member of the Senate in 1892, and was elected on the Republican ticket in 1906, to the office of governor of Vermont for the term which expired in October, 1908.

He married in Westford, Vt., May 26, 1886. Minnie E. Robinson. Address: Proctor, Vt.

PROCTOR, Thomas R.:

Bank president; born in Proctorville, Vt., May 25, 1844; son of Moody S. and Betsy Nancy (Redfield) Proctor. He was educated in the English High School, Boston; at the outbreak of the Civil War he entered the U. S. Navy and served until the close of the war; received the thanks of the secretary of the Navy for his services. He is engaged in business at Utica, where he is now president of the Second National Bank, and of the American Hard Wall Plaster Company; trustee of the Utica Savings Bank, Utica Trust Company, and Utica Steam Cotton Mills. He is a member of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, Grand Army of the Republic, Sons of the Revolution, New England Society, Mayflower Society, Society of Colonial Wars, Society of Founders and Patriots, Naval Order of the United States Naval League and other societies. He is also a member and president of the Fort Schuyler, Yahmudasis Golf, and Sadaquada Golf Clubs of Utica; and the Metropolitan, Army and Navy, Players', Republican and Pilgrim, Clubs, of New York City. He married in 1891, Maria W. Williams. Address: 312 Genesee Street, Utica, N. Y.

PROSSER, William Farrand:

Educator, surveyor, pioneer, miner, soldier, legislator, farmer, news-paper publisher and writer, public official, magazine writer, historian; born in Lycoming County, Pa., March 16, 1834; son of David and Rachel Williams Prosser, the latter dying at Johnstown, Pa. in 1842. He was educated in the common schools, and Johnstown Academy, taught school, studied law and surveyed until in 1854, when twenty years old, he went by the overland trail across the plains, with ox-teams, to California. There he mined, chiefly in Trinity County; was second lieutenant of the Trinity Rangers, a volunteer company of the State, organized to assist the regular troops in the Indian War, 1858-1859, in the Humboldt Bay Country, and was mustered out in April, 1859. He was the first candidate of the Republican Party in Trinity County, for the California Legislature in 1860. At the beginning of the Civil War in 1861 he went east; was tendered a commission in the regular army by President Lincoln, which he declined. He enlisted as a private from Cambria County, Penn., in the Anderson Troop, which served as General Buell's Body Guard in the Shiloh campaign; was captured by Confederate Cavalry, near Lawrenceburg, Tenn., and a paroled prisoner from June until Sept., 1862 at Annapolis, Md., when he was ordered to Carlisle, Pa. to assist in organizing the Fifteenth Penn. Cavalry. Shortly after the battle of Stone River he was transferred to the second Tennessee Cavalry, of which he was commissioned major in March, 1863, lieutenant-colonel in March, 1864, and colonel in June, 1865. He took part in the battles of Shiloh, Stone River, Chickamauga, the Siege of Knoxville, and numerous minor engagements; was in command of the cavalry in the District of North Alabama in the fall of 1864, and was mustered out with his regiment at Nashville, Tenn., July 6, 1865. Engaged in farming, seven miles from Nashville after the war, was elected to the House of Representatives of Tennessee, from Davidson County in 1867, elected to the Forty-first Congress from the Nashville District in 1868; was postmaster of Nashville, 1872-1875; was appointed by the Governor of Tennessee in 1872, one of the commissioners from the State of Tennessee to the Centennial Exposition at Philadelphia, 1876, and was appointed on a committee to visit the Vienna Exposition in 1873, to take notes of details and methods there, with reference to the Centennial Exposition. He was for several years publisher of the Nashville Republican. Colonel Prosser was appointed in 1879, special agent for the General Land Office at Washington, for the territories of Oregon, Washington and Idaho, serving six years; was elected auditor of Yakima County, Wash., for two years, in 1886; was elected member of the Constitutional Convention of the State of Washington from the Counties of Yakima

WILLIAM FARRAND PROSSER
Treasurer of City of Seattle

and Kliekitat, which met at Olympia, July 4, 1889; member and chairman of the Board of Harbor Line Commissioners of Washington, 1890-1903; elected May, 1893, mayor of North Yakima, serving until 1905. Colonel Prosser was appointed by President Roosevelt, in 1905, a member of the Board of Visitors to the West Point Military Academy. He located a homestead in 1882 in Yakima County, Wash., upon which he subsequently founded the town of Prosser, which was incorporated in 1890; and for several years has been engaged in the real estate business in Seattle. He is the author of a History of the Puget Sound Country in two octavo volumes, which was published in 1903, and has been a frequent contributor to the newspapers and magazines, chiefly on military and historical subjects. He is a companion and a past commander of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the State of Washington; member of the Grand Army of the Republic, the Ancient Order of United Workmen; the Aretic and Commercial Clubs of Seattle, and is a life member of the Washington State Historical Society. He has been a life-long Republican in politics and is a member of the Protestant Episcopal Church of which he has been a vestryman for about thirty years. In March, 1908, he was elected treasurer of the City of Seattle, receiving for that office over 20,000, out of a total of 25,000 votes. He married at Seattle, Washington, April 6, 1880, Flora L. Thornton, a daughter of H. L. Thornton, a pioneer of Oregon and Washington, and they have three children: William Thornton, Margaret Helen and Mildred Cyrenia Prosser. Address: 1006 East Garfield Street, Seattle, Wash.

PROUTY, George H.:

Governor of Vermont; elected at the September election, 1908, on the Republican ticket, for the two-year term expiring in October, 1910. Address: Montpelier, Vt.

PRYOR, Roger Atkinson:

Justice Supreme Court of New York; born in Dinwiddie County, Va., July 19, 1828; son of Rev. Theoderick Bland and Lucy (Atkinson) Pryor. He was graduated from Hampden-Sidney College in 1845, from the University of Virginia in 1848, and he has received the LL.D. degree from Hampden-Sidney College. He was the editor, consecutively of the Richmond Enquirer, The South Richmond, Va., Washington Union and Washington States. Mr. Pryor was special minister to Greece under President Pierce; member of Congress, 1858-1861. On April 10, 1861, he delivered a speech in Charleston, S. C., of which the immediate effect was to compel Jefferson Davis, contrary to his inclination, to order an attack on Fort Sumter, and the ultimate result to precipitate the War of Secession. He became a member of the Provisional and regular Confederate Congresses. He entered Confederate service in 1861 as colonel; was promoted to brigadier-general in 1862; and was prisoner of war, 1864-1865. After the war he settled in New York City in the practice of law, and was judge of the Court of Common Pleas in 1890, Justice of Supreme Court of New York in 1894. In 1889 he initiated the first litigation in which the validity of trust combinations was challenged, a litigation which culminated in a decision by the New York Court of Appeals, that such combinations were repugnant to the principles of the common law and sufficient cause for the forfeiture of corporate charters. He married in Charlottesville, Va., Nov. 8, 1848, Sara Agnes Rice, and they have had seven children. Address: 8 West 69th Street, New York City.

PUJO, Arsène Paulin:

Congressman and lawyer; born Dec. 16, 1861, near Lake Charles, Calcasieu Parish, La.; son of Paul and Eloise M. (LeBlon) Pujó. He was educated in the public and private schools of Lake Charles, La.; was admitted to the bar Oct. 23, 1886, by the Supreme Court of Louisiana, and has followed the law as a profession. He was a member of the Louisiana Constitutional Convention of 1898, serving on the judiciary committee of that body; was elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth Congresses, and reelected in 1908 to the Sixty-first Congress from the Seventh Louisiana District. Address: Lake Charles, La.

PULITZER, Joseph:

Proprietor of New York World and St. Louis Post Dispatch; born in Hungary, April 10, 1847. He was educated by private tutors; came to the United States in 1864; enlisted in the Lincoln cavalry and served until the end of the war for the Union. He went to St. Louis in 1865; in 1868 became reporter on Westliche Post, a German newspaper edited by Carl Schurz; soon became city editor and later managing editor and part proprietor. In 1878 he bought the St. Louis Dispatch and united it with the Post as the Post-Dispatch; studied law and was admitted to practise. He was elected member of the Missouri Legislature in 1869; to the Missouri State Constitutional Convention in 1864; was a delegate to the Democratic National Convention in 1880 and a member of Platform Committee for Missouri; in 1877, contributed political articles to the editorial page of the New York Sun; later wrote a series of European letters for the same paper on political situation abroad. He bought the New York World, May 10, 1883; was elected as representative of the Ninth New York District in the Forty-ninth Congress, but resigned after a few months' service. He was a delegate from Missouri to the Cincinnati Liberal Republican Convention, which nominated Horace Greeley for President; made seventy speeches in sixteen States for Tilden, in 1876; was a strong advocate of the nomination of Cleveland in 1884 and 1892; opposed the election of Bryan on the free silver issue in 1896. In 1887 broke down from overwork and has since been an invalid, totally blind. In 1889 he established ten annual collegiate scholarships for the poorest, brightest and most deserving boy graduates of New York public schools, giving to the winners in open competition two hundred and fifty dollars annually for seven years for preparatory and college course. He gave to Columbia University $100,000 to secure free tuition to prize winners; established three free scholarships in Barnard College. In 1903 he gave $1,000,000 to Columbia University to establish and maintain a College of Journalism, to rank with the similar professional schools of law, medicine, engineering and architecture, and agreed to give $1,000,000 additional when the school had been in successful operation three years. He is a member of the Jekyll and New York Clubs. Mr. Pulitzer married Kate Davis, of Washington. City residence: 7 East 73d Street, New York City. Summer residence: Chatwold, Bar Harbor, Maine, and winter residence: Jekyll Island, Brunswick, Ga. Address: The World Office, New York City.

PULITZER, Walter:

Author, chess expert and musical composer; was born in New York City, April, 1878; son of Albert and Fanny (Barnard) Pulitzer, and nephew of Joseph Pulitzer. He was educated by private tutors and in various academies, and prepared for Harvard, but his course was interrupted by a nervous breakdown. He is an extensive contributor of humor, verse and short fiction to the leading periodicals, and has gained high rank as an epigrammatist. He has an international reputation as a maker of chess problems; is one of the founders of the American Chess Magazine; and was editor of American Tid-Bits, 1902. He is author of: Chess Harmonies (original problems), 1894; That Duel at the Chateau Marsanae (novel), 1899; A Cynic's Meditations (epigrams), 1904, which went through seventeen editions; Cozy Corner Confidences (epigrams), 1906; and Cupid's Pack of Cards. He is vice-president of the Theatregoers' Club of America. Summer residence: Pinewood, Mt. Pleasant, Catskill Mountains, N. Y. Address: Arlington Hotel, 18 West 25th Street, New York City.

PUMPELLE, Josiah Collins:

Lawyer, retired; born in Owego, Tioga County, N. Y., Aug. 16, 1839; son of George James and Susan Isabella Pumpelle. He was graduated from Rutgers College, A.B., 1860, A.M., 1863; and from Columbia Law School, LL.B., 1863. During the Civil War he recruited and drilled men for the Union Army. After some years of travel, he settled in Poughkeepsie, N. Y.,

JOSEPH PULITZER
Proprietor of New York World

and later at Morristown, N. J., and in 1890 removed to New York City, where he has been active in social betterment and philanthropic work. He aided in founding the Huguenot Society of America, the Patriotic League, the National Society of Sons of the American Revolution and its New Jersey Branch, the New Jersey State Charities Aid and Prison Reform Association and the New York Peace Society. At the celebration of the tercentenary of the signing of the Edict of Nantes, 1898, he read a paper entitled: The Huguenot Settlers of New Jersey. Among his many other published addresses are: Washington, 1888; Fort Stanwix and the Battle of Oriskany, 1888; Our French Allies, 1889; Joseph Warren, 1890; Mahlon Dickerson, 1891; Paul Jones, 1892; Incidents in the Early History of Berkshire County, Mass., and the Pumpelly, Pixley, Paterson, and Avery Families, 1896; The Jumel Mansion, Its History and Traditions, 1903. Mr. Pumpelly has also given much time and literary effort to the discussion in the public press of philanthropic and of social economic questions. In politics he is a Republican and he is a member of the Episcopal Church. He is a member of the Alumni Association of Columbia College Law School and of the Rutgers College Alumni Association; and is historian of the Empire State Society Sons of the American Revolution. He is a member of the National Council of the Church Association for the Advancement of the Interests of Labor; of the Board of Managers of the New Jersey State Charities Aid and Prison Reform Association, as well as of the Advisory Board of the Manhattan Trade School for Girls, and the Board of Publication of the New York Geological and Biographical Society. He is a member of the New York Peace Society, the West End Association, the Optimist Club of America, and is one of the veteran members of the Union League Club. He married, first, Margaret Lanier Winslow, who died in 1890; and, second, in New York City, May 20, 1896, Mary Amelia Harmer. Addresses: The Devonshire, 542 West 112th Street, and Union League Club, 1 East 39th Street, New York City.

PURDY, George S.:

Jurist; born in Panpack Township, Wayne County, Pa., Jan. 24, 1839, being a descendant on both sides of Baptist ministers residing in that county. He was educated in the public schools, and taught for four years, part of this time as principal of the Providence graded school. He was afterward bookkeeper in tanneries at Ledgesdale and Middle Valley; was commissioner's clerk, 1866-1876, meanwhile reading law and obtaining admission to the bar in 1873. He began practice in 1876, showing an ability that soon gave him a leading position at the county bar. In his first contest for the judgeship he was defeated, but in 1893 the Democrats of Pike and Wayne Counties united in again nominating him, and he was then elected without opposition, his opponent withdrawing from the contest; and he was reelected, without opposition, to succeed himself in 1903. In addition to his judicial duties, Judge Purdy is concerned in several extensive business enterprises. Address: Honesdale, Pa.

PURDY, Lawson:

Lawyer; born in Hyde Park, N. Y., 1863; son of Rev. James S. and Frances H. (Carter) Purdy. He was educated in St. Paul's School, and was graduated from Trinity College, B.A., 1884, M.A., 1887, and LL.D., 1908. He was treasurer of the New York Bank Note Company, 1891-1896; secretary of the New York Tax Reform Association, 1896-1906; appointed Nov. 10, 1906, president of the Department of Taxes and Assessments of the City of New York, which position he still holds. He was secretary of the Advisory Commission on Taxation and Finance, appointed by mayor of the city of New York, 1905; member of the Commission to inquire into the subject of Assessment and Taxation for the State and local purposes, appointed by Governor of the State of New York, delegate to the National Tax Conference, 1907-1908, 1909, by appointment of Governor of New York. Mr. Purdy is author of various articles and addresses on Taxation. He is a member of the National Municipal League, American Economic Association, American Bar Association.

tion, New York County Lawyers Association, Psi Upsilon fraternity, president of the Trinity College Alumni Association, and member of the City Club. He married in New York, 1885, Mary J. McCrackan, and they have a daughter. Residence: 535 West 152d Street. Office: Hall of Records, New York City.

PURDY, Milton Dwight:

U. S. District judge; born in Mogadore, Ohio, Nov. 3, 1866; son of Milton C. and Sarah Jane (Hall) Purdy. He was graduated from the University of Minnesota, A.B., 1891, LL.B., 1892; was admitted to the Minnesota bar in 1892, and practised in Minneapolis, where he was assistant city attorney, 1893-1897; assistant county attorney of Hennepin County, Minn., 1897-1898; assistant U. S. attorney, 1898-1901, and U. S. attorney 1901-1902, for the District of Minnesota. He was appointed assistant attorney-general of the United States, April 1, 1903, and assistant to the attorney general of the United States, July 28, 1905, holding that office until appointed in 1908, U. S. judge for the district of Minnesota. Judge Purdy married in Albert Lea, Minn., Jan. 28, 1893, Belle M. Morin. Address: U. S. District Court, Minneapolis, Minn.

PURRINGTON, William Archer:

Lawyer; born in Washington, D. C., 1852; son of Tobias and Amelia Josephine (Archer) Purrrington. He was graduated from Harvard College, B.A., 1873, Law School of Columbian University (now George Washington), LL.B. and LL.M., 1878, and the Law School of the University of the City of New York (now New York University), 1880. He has been engaged in general practice of law, and counsel to the State and County Medical and Dental Societies; consular clerk at Rome, 1875, and secretary of Legation and charge d'affaires, ad interim in Brazil, 1875-1877. He is a member of the American Bar Association, New York State Bar Association, Association of the Bar of the City of New York, New York County Lawyers' Association; trustee of the College of Dental and Oral Surgery of New York, and lecturer on the Relation of Law to Medical Practice, in the University and Bellevue Hospital Medical College. He is a member of the Century, University, Harvard, Richmond County Country, and Lawyers' Clubs, and the Southern Society. He married in New York, Dec. 31, 1895, Anna C. Wheatly (nee Russell). Residence: 43 West 42d Street, Office: 78 Wall Street, New York City.

PUTNAM, George Haven:

Publisher; born in London, England, 1844; son of George Palmer and Victorine (Haven) Putnam. He was educated at Columbia University and the Universities of Paris and Göttingen; and returned from Germany, August, 1862, to enlist, thus losing prospect of Göttingen degree. He secured, in later life, the degree of M.A., from Bowdoin, and of Litt.D. from University of Pennsylvania. He is the president of the publishing house of G. P. Putnam's Sons, New York City and London; director of the Knickerbocker Press; president and treasurer of Putnam's Monthly Company. He is the author of: Books and Their Makers in the Middle Ages; Authors and Their Public in Ancient Times; Authors and Publishers; Questions of Copyright; History of Censorship and the Index. Mr. Putnam enlisted in August, 1862, in the 167th Regiment, New York State Volunteers. He served as private, sergeant, quartermaster, adjutant and major, and was discharged August, 1865. In 1886 he organized Publishers' Copyright League, and has since served as its secretary and executive. In 1891 he received from the government of France the Cross of the Legion d'Honneur for services to France and to literature. Mr. Putnam is a member of the Loyal Legion, and of the Century, Authors and City Clubs of New York City, and the Savile Club of London. He married, first, in 1869, Rebecca K. Shepard of Boston; second, in 1899, Emily James Smith, of Canandaigua, N. Y. He had four children by his first marriage, and one child by his second marriage. Residences: 335 West 86th Street, New York City, and Westhampton Beach, L. I. Office: 27 West 23d Street, New York City.

PUTNAM, Herbert:

Librarian of Congress, since 1899; born in New York City, Sept. 20, 1861; son of George Palmer and Victorine (Haven) Putnam. He was educated in the public and private schools of New York; Harvard University, A.B., 1883, and Columbia University Law School. He was librarian of the Minneapolis Athenaeum, 1884-1887; librarian of the Minneapolis Public Library, 1887-1891; admitted to the Minnesota bar, 1886; the bar of Suffolk County, Mass., 1892; and practised law in Boston, 1892-1895. He was librarian of the Boston Public Library, 1895-1899; president of the Massachusetts Library Club, 1896-1897; president of the American Library Association in 1898 and 1903-1904; member of the Board of Overseers of Harvard University, 1902-1906. Mr. Putnam represented the United States as a delegate to the International Library Conference, London, in 1897; was a member of the Administrative Board of the Congress of Arts and Science, Louisiana Purchase Exposition, and he received the honorary degree of Litt.D. from Bowdoin College in 1898; of LL.D., Columbian University, 1903; University of Illinois, 1903; University of Wisconsin, 1904; and from Yale University in 1907. He is the author of various articles in magazines and periodicals and in professional journals. Mr. Putnam is a member of the Tavern Club of Boston, City Club of New York, and the Cosmos and Chevy Chase Clubs of Washington. Address: Library of Congress, Washington, D. C.

PUTNAM, Irving:

Publisher; born in Staten Island, New York, Feb. 4, 1852; son of George Palmer and Victorine (Haven) Putnam. He was educated at John MacMullen's School in New York City, Columbia Grammar School, and Amherst College for three years, class of 1872; but was not graduated, leaving college to go into business. He entered the house of G. P. Putnam's Sons in 1871 and has been there ever since, now being secretary. He is director of the Knickerbocker Press. He is also a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity. He is a member of the Manhattan Club. He married in New York City, June 20, 1878, Emma Louise Brock, and they have five children. Address: 27 West 23d Street, New York City.

PUTNAM, John Bishop:

Publisher; born in Staten Island, N. Y., in 1847; son of George Palmer and Victorine (Haven) Putnam. He received a public school education. Mr. Putnam has been a member of the publishing firm of G. P. Putnam's Sons, for thirty-seven years and is now treasurer. In 1867 he traveled extensively in Europe, Japan and other places. He is president of the Knickerbocker Press. Mr. Putnam is a member of the Typothetae, the Society of Mechanics' and Tradesmen, and the Union, National Arts, and American Yacht Clubs. He married in New York City in 1882, Frances Faulkner, and has three children. Residence: Rye, N. Y. Office: 27 West 23d Street, New York City.

PUTNAM, William Le Baron:

U. S. circuit judge; born in Bath, Maine, May 12, 1835. After his graduation from Bowdoin College as A.B. in 1855, he studied law in Portland, Maine, where he was admitted to the bar in 1858 and practised law until 1892. He was appointed by President Cleveland in 1887, a commissioner to negotiate with Great Britain in settlement of the rights of American fishermen in Canadian waters, and again by President Cleveland, in 1896, as a commissioner under the Treaty of Feb. 8, 1896, between the United States and Great Britain. He was appointed in 1892, judge of the U. S. Circuit Court for the First Judicial Circuit, which office he still holds. Judge Putnam is a Democrat and was the candidate of his party for governor of Maine in 1888. The degree of LL.D. has been conferred upon Judge Putnam by Brown University and by Bowdoin College; and he is a trustee of the latter. Address: Portland, Maine.

PUTNEY, Frank Howell:

Lawyer; born in Rockford, Ill., Oct. 13, 1841; son of Foskett Maynard Putney and Clarissa (Howell) Putney. He received his education in the private schools at Waukesha, the High School at Milwaukee, and Carroll College at Waukesha. After admission to the bar he established in practice at Waukesha, but having a fondness for journalism, he spent the years 1874 and 1875 in newspaper work in New York City. In 1876 he was appointed private secretary to the Governor of Wisconsin, also military secretary and aide-de-camp to the governor. In 1878 he was made assistant secretary of State of Wisconsin, and was reappointed in 1880; was elected county judge of Waukesha County in 1882; appointed postmaster at Waukesha and held that position four years. He enlisted in 1861 as a private in the Twelfth Wisconsin Infantry Volunteers, and rose through the various grades to second lieutenant. He was wounded near Atlanta, Ga., served four years, part of the time with his company; then as adjutant of the regiment, and as acting assistant adjutant-general of the First Brigade, Third Division, Seventeenth Army Corps, on the staff of General Charles Ewing. He served also in the memorable campaign of the Army of the Tennessee and was present at sixteen battles and engagements. He was one of the organizers and promoters of the Waukesha Electric Light Company; and is president of the Waukesha Gas and Electric Company; and was one of the founders of the Waukesha Malleable Iron Company, which now employs about six hundred persons. He has built and owns three of the largest and best business blocks in Waukesha, and has contributed much to permanent improvement of the city. In politics he is a Republican. He has traveled extensively in Great Britain and France. Mr. Putney is vice-president and director of the Waukesha National Bank and the Waukesha Springs Sanitarium. He is member of the National Geographic Society; the Wisconsin Academy of Sciences, Wisconsin State Historical Society, Wisconsin Bar Association; trustee of funds and property of the Episcopal Church in Wisconsin, and a member of the Standing Committee of the Diocese. He is also a member of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion; the Grand Army of the Republic, and of several Masonic bodies, also of the Waukesha Club. Residence:

215 Wisconsin Avenue. Office: 602 Grand Avenue, Waukesha, Wis.

PYLE, James Tolman:

Manufacturer; born in New York City, Feb. 9, 1854; son of James and Esther A. (Whitman) Pyle. He was educated in schools of New York City. He is the manufacturer of Pearline washing compound; president of the James Pyle & Sons (Incorporated); director of the Standard Gas Company, and the New York and Queens Electric Light Company. He is a member of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, American Institute of Social Service, New York Zoological Society, People's Institute, American Museum of Natural History, and Exploration Society of Baltimore. He is also a member of the Metropolitan, Grolier, Riding, Lawyers' and Wool Clubs of New York City; Morristown, Morris County and Golf Clubs of Morristown, N. J., and Nassau Club of Princeton. He married, Feb. 12, 1884, Frances Adelaide McAlpin; they have six children. Address: 673 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

PYNE, M. Taylor:

Lawyer and trustee; born in New York City, Dec. 21, 1855; son of Percy Rivington and Albertina (Taylor) Pyne. He was graduated from Princeton, A.B., 1877, A.M., 1880, Law School of Columbia, LL.B., 1879; honorary L.H.D., Columbia University, 1903. Mr. Pyne was admitted to the bar in 1880; was general solicitor of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad, eleven years. He is president of the Warren Railroad Company, Cayuga and Susquehanna Railroad Company, Lake Carnegie Association and the Princeton Inn Company; vice-president of the University Power Company; director of the National City Bank of New York, The Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, the Lackawanna Steel Company, the Lackawanna Iron and Coal Company, the Consolidated Gas Company, the New Jersey Zinc Company, Princeton Bank, Commercial Trust Company of Jersey City, the United Railroads of New Jersey, the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad Company, the Newark and Bloomfield Railroad Company, Morris and Essex Railroad Company, Sussex Railroad Company, Utica, Chenango and Susquehanna Valley Railroad Company, Valley Railroad Company, Harvey Steel Company, New York, Lackawanna and Western Railway Company, and the Passaic and Delaware Railroad Company. He is trustee and chairman of the Finance Committee of Princeton University; trustee of the Lawrenceville School, N. J.; trustee of the Young Men's Christian Association of New York and St. Luke's Hospital, New York City; and president of The Princeton Historical Society. He is a member of the New Jersey State Public Library Commission; and chairman of Princeton Township. Mr. Pyne was elected a Republican Presidential elector for the State of New Jersey, 1908. He is a member of the Union, University, Century, Metropolitan, Grolier, Princeton, Down Town, and Midway Clubs of New York City, the Tuxedo and Westchester Country Clubs; the Princeton Club of Philadelphia, and the Nassau and Ivy Clubs of Princeton. He is also an honorary member of the Bachelors, Cap and Gown, Tiger Inn, Colonial, Elm, Cannon, Quadrangle, Campus, Tower, Charter, Terrace and Key and Seal Clubs of Princeton. He married, June 2, 1880, Margaretta Stockton. Address: Drumthwaet, Princeton, N. J.

PLYE, Howard:

Artist and author; born in Wilmington, Del., 1853; son of William and Margaret C. Pyle. He was educated in private schools and the Art Students' League of New York. He has attained distinction both in art and literature, is one of the foremost American representatives of the art of illustration, and was elected an academician of the National Academy of Design in 1907. He is also a member of the American Institute of Arts and Letters, and of the Century Association of New York. Mr. Pyle's own books, of which he is illustrator as well as author are: The Merry Adventures of Robin Hood; Pepper and Salt; Within the Capes; The Wonder Clock; The Rose of Paradise; Otto of the Silver Iland; Men of Iron; A Modern Aladdin; Jack Bal- lister's Fortunes; The Garden Behind the Moon; Twilight Land; Rejected of Men; The Story of King Arthur and His Knights; Semper Idem; The Story of the Champions of the Round Table; The Story of Sir Launcelot and His Companions; Stolen Treasure. He is an extensive contributor both of literary work and illustrations to the leading magazines. He married in Wellington, Del., April 12, 1881, Anne Poole. Address: Wilmington, Del.

Q

QUACKENBOS, John Duncan:

Physician; born in New York City, April 22, 1848; son of George Payn Quackenbos, LL.D., the educational author and a direct descendant of Pieter van Quaakenbosch, who came from Holland to New Amsterdam about 1660. He was educated at the Collegiate School, New York City, of which his father was rector, was graduated from Columbia College, A.B., with the first honor, in 1868, at the age of twenty (A.M., 1871), and the College of Physicians and Surgeons in New York City, M.D., 1871. He was appointed tutor of rhetoric at Columbia College in 1870, adjunct professor of English language and literature, 1884-1891, professor of rhetoric in Columbia University and in Barnard College, 1891-1894 and retired in 1894 from active service at the University, retaining his connection as emeritus professor. He has since devoted himself to the practice of medicine in New York City, specializing in nervous and mental diseases, and in psychotherapy, and is one of the leading figures in connection with the reawakened interest in the relations of the physical body to mental phenomena. He is also a lecturer on scientific and literary subjects, and is to be credited with having brought to public notice the presence of a fourth charr in New England waters, viz.: the so-called Sunapee Lake trout, or American saibling. This valuable food fish, through his efforts, has been planted in Lake George. He is a member of the London Society for Physical Research, member of the New York Academy of Sciences, of the New York Medical Association, of the American Medical Association and the American Association for the Advancement of Science. He is a fellow of the New York Academy of Medicine and of the New Hampshire Medical Society. Address: 331 West 28th Street, New York City.

QUARLES, Joseph Very:

Jurist; born in Kenosha, Wis., Dec. 16, 1843. After graduation from the high school in 1861, he entered the University of Michigan, but left to go to the War, serving in the Thirty-ninth Wisconsin Infantry as first lieutenant of Company C. When his enlistment expired he returned to the University of Michigan from which he was graduated as A.B. in 1866. He studied law in offices and after his admission to the bar in 1868 began practice at Kenosha, where he served as district attorney and as mayor of Kenosha. He removed to Racine and practised law there until 1888, after that in Milwaukee, where he became not only distinguished as a lawyer, but also prominent as a leader in the Republican party. He was elected to the U. S. Senate from Wisconsin, 1899-1905, and on March 6, 1905, he was appointed by President Roosevelt to his present position as judge of the United States Court for the Eastern Division of Michigan. Address: 286 Juneau Avenue, Milwaukee.

QUAYLE, William A.:

Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church; born in Parkville, Mo., June 25, 1860; son of Thomas and Elizabeth (Gale) Quayle. He was graduated from Baker University, A.B., 1885, and later received from that university the degrees of A.M. and Litt.D.; and he has also received the degrees of Ph.D. from Allegheny College, and of D.D. from DePauw University. He was ordained in the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1886, and was pastor at Kansas City before removing to Chicago, where he was pastor of St. James' Methodist Episcopal Church until elected by the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, as one of the bishops of that church. Dr. Quayle was sent by the Church as a fraternal delegate to the English Wesleyan Church in 1902, and he has frequently delivered addresses before Annual Conferences and special gatherings. He is distinguished as an orator and lecturer and is author of: The Poet's Poem and Other Essays; A Hero and Some Other Folks; The Blessed Life; In God's Out-of-Doors; The Prairies and the Sea; and other volumes. He married in 1886, Allie Hancock Davis. Address: Oklahoma City, Okla.

QUEEN, Emmet:

President of the Great Lakes Coal Company; born in 1854 in Queenstown, Pa., and in the early seventies became actively interested in oil. He was a successful operator and in 1883 associated himself with J. M. and W. S. Guffey, and is still active in the oil business, the firm being now Guffey & Queen. In 1902 he associated himself with a number of the prominent partners of the Carnegie Steel Company in the formation of the Company of which he is now president. Preparations were made for the opening of the mines and the accommodation of the workmen, and to-day it is one of the most important independent coal enterprises of Western Pennsylvania. Address: Carnegie Building, Pittsburgh.

QUEREAU, Edmund Chase:

Geologist and educator; born in Aurora, Ill., March 18, 1867; son of George W. and Susan H. (Smith) Quereau. He was graduated from Jennings Seminary, Aurora; Northwestern University, Ph.B., 1884, Ph. M., 1888; and from Freiburg University, Ph.D., 1893. He was instructor and fellow at the University of Chicago, 1893-1895; professor of geology and geography, University of Syracuse, 1895-1900; supervisor of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway, 1900-1907, and retired since 1907. He is a fellow of the Geological Society of America, and a member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity, and author of a book and various papers on geological and other subjects. Mr. Quereau married in Syracuse, N. Y., February, 1902. Elizabeth F. Packard, and has three children. Address: Box 182, Bay City, Texas.

QUIGG, Lemuel E.:

Lawyer; born in Cecil County, Md., Feb. 13, 1863. He received a common school education, at the completion of which he removed to New York City and engaged in journalism. He was for ten years writer on the New York Tribune, later editor-in-chief of the New York Press. Mr. Quigg was a Republican member of Congress, 1893-1899; chairman of the Republican Committee of New York, 1896-1900; since his retirement from Congress has been actively engaged in business and in promoting the interests of his party in city and State. Residence: 435 West End Avenue. Address: 32 Liberty Street, New York City.

QUIGLEY, James Edward:

Catholic archbishop; born in Oshawa, Canada, Oct. 15, 1854. His parents removed in 1856 to Lima, N. Y. He was educated in St. Joseph's College of the Christian Brothers, in Buffalo, and in the Seminary of Our Lady of the Angels, Niagara Falls, thence going to the University of Innsbruck, Austria, and the College of the Propaganda, Rome, where he was graduated in 1879, and ordained priest. He returned to the Diocese of Buffalo and took up parochial duties as pastor of St. Vincent's Church, Attica N. Y., 1879-1884; St. Joseph's Cathedral, Buffalo, 1884-1896; St. Bridget's Church, Buffalo, 1896-1897; consecrated bishop of Buffalo, 1897, serving until March 10, 1903, when he was installed as archbishop of Chicago. Address: 623 North State Street, Chicago.

QUINBY, Frank H.:

Architect; born in North Castle, Westchester County, N. Y., Nov. 24, 1868; son of John Jay and Hannah Griffen (Haviland) Quinby. He is a director of the New York and New Jersey Terminal Underground Railroad Company. He is a Democrat and a member of the Society of Friends (Quaker). Fellow of the American Institute of Architects and president of the Brooklyn Chapter; member of the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences; chairman of the Board of Managers, Chappaqua Mountain Institute; member of the Crescent and Midwood Clubs. He married at Port Chester, N. Y., Elizabeth Mathews Purdy, and they have three children. Residence: 7 Tennis Court, Brooklyn. Address: 99 Nassau Street, New York City.

QUINBY, Henry B.:

Governor of New Hampshire; elected on the Republican ticket in November, 1908, for the two-year term expiring in January, 1911. Address: Concord, N. H.

QUINBY, Henry Cole:

Lawyer; born in Laconia, N. H.; son of Henry B. and Octavia Cole, Quinby. He was graduated from Harvard College, A.B., and Harvard Law School, LL.B., and has since been engaged in the practice of law in New York City. Mr. Quinby is a Republican in politics; is a member of the Society of Mayflower Descendants; the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society, New England Historic-Genealogical Society, New England Society of New York, New Hampshire Society of New York, and the Union League, Harvard, Players, and Collectors Clubs of New York City. Mr. Quinby married Florence A. Cole. Address: 165 Broadway, New York City.

QUINN, Arthur Hobson:

Professor of English at the University of Pennsylvania; born in Philadelphia, Feb. 9, 1875; son of Michael A. and Mary (MacDonough) Quinn. He was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania, B.S., 1894, Ph.D., 1899 and pursued graduate study at the University of Munich, Bavaria, 1897-1898. He was instructor in mathematics, University of Pennsylvania, 1894-1895; instructor in English, 1895-1904; assistant professor of English, 1904-1908, and professor since 1908. Director of Summer School, 1904-1907 inclusive, and secretary of the Association of Colleges and Preparatory Schools of Middle States and Maryland since 1903. He was editor of: Faire Maide of Bristowe, a comedy of 1605, 1902; George Eliot's Silas Marner, 1900, and author of Pennsylvania Stories, 1899. He is a member of the Modern Language Association of America, Phi Beta Kappa Society, Beta Theta Pi fraternity, and the Write-about Club of Philadelphia. He married in Philadelphia, May 31, 1904, Helen McKee, and they have two children. Residence: 4415 Sansom Street. Business address: University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia.

QUINT, Wilder Dwight:

Journalist, author; born in Salem, Mass., Nov. 15, 1863; son of Alonzo Hall and Rebecca (Putnam) Quint. He was graduated from Phillips Exeter Academy and Dartmouth College, A.B., 1887. He was night editor of the Boston Advertiser; night editor of the Boston News, and telegraph, literary and managing editor of the Boston Traveler; musical and dramatic editor and chief editorial writer for the Boston Journal. He is author (under joint nom de plume "Dwight Tilton") of novels: Miss Petticoats, On Satan's Mount, My Lady Laughter; The Golden Greyhound and Meyer and Son. Mr. Quint is also a writer of short stories and essays. He is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society, Psi Upsilon and Casque and Gauntlet fraternities, and of the Dartmouth and City Clubs of Boston. He married in Boston, June 19, 1902, Alice A. Hutchings. Residence: Riverbank Court, Cambridge, Mass. Office: Journal Building, Boston.

QUINTARD, George W.:

Iron manufacturer; born in Stamford, Conn., April 22, 1822. He was educated in the common schools. He removed to New York when a lad of fifteen and engaged in a mercantile business. In 1847 he was one of the proprietors of the American Iron Works, in New York City; and a few years later became a partner with Charles Morgan in the Morgan Iron Works, a notable establishment from which many of the foremost engineers of the U. S. Navy were graduated into the service, including the explorer and later engineer-in-chief of the United States Navy, Rear-Admiral George U. Melville, and others. He was the sole manager of the Morgan Iron Works from 1852, and retired in 1867. He was the principal owner of the New York and Charleston Steamship Company and in 1869 became connected with the Quintard Iron Works. Mr. Quintard was vice-president of the Eleventh Ward Bank; director of the Lorillard and Adriatic Fire Insurance Company, Metropolitan Savings Bank, Southern Steamship Company and Butchers' and Drovers' Bank and trustee of the Eastern Dispensary. He is a member of the Metropolitan, New York Yacht and American Yacht Clubs. Address: 66 Broadway, New York City.

R

RADFORD, Harry Vincent:

Journalist and author; born in New York City, Jan. 8, 1881; son of Charles A. and Leila Radford (Higgins). He received his early education in public and private schools in city and country, was graduated from De La Salle Institute, New York City, and afterward from Manhattan College as B.S. in 1901, M.S. in 1902, and C.E. in 1906. He began writing for publication at twelve years of age, and contributed to school journals, serving as associate editor. He established in 1898 Woods and Waters, a quarterly magazine of national circulation devoted to out-door sports, natural history and forestry, and owned, edited and published it until 1906. He was associate editor of Field and Stream from 1901 to 1904, conducting an Adirondack Department in that periodical. Correspondent of the Associated Press, 1908. He has contributed to various magazines and newspapers — chiefly in relation to sports and natural history, particularly with reference to the Adirondacks, concerning which he is accepted authority. He is author of: Adirondack Murray, a Biographical Appreciation (two editions, 1905, 1906), History of the Adirondack Beaver (1908), Artificial Preservation of Timber (1908), and of various scientific theses, tracts, and addresses; and he has also published some verse. Mr. Radford has been constructively active in game, fish and forest protective legislation and in the organization of clubs and associations devoted to this object. He originated the plan for restocking the Adirondack region with moose, wapiti and beaver, and has obtained several appropriations from the State Legislature for this purpose. He has also been active for years in the interest of American bison perpetuation, and in protecting forests of the Adirondack State Park. He has delivered addresses before various clubs, societies and associations. His recreations are field sports (chiefly hunting and fishing) and travel; and he has traveled extensively in North America and Europe. He is independent in politics, and a Roman Catholic in religion. Mr. Radford is founder, patron and trustee of the Adirondack Murray Memorial Association, is a life member of the Sons of the Revolution, and of the Society of the War of 1812; charter member of the League of American Sportsmen, Association for the Protection of the Adirondacks, and American Bison Society; founder and secretary of the Association for restoring Moose to the Adirondacks; associate member of the Adirondack Guides' Association and of Brown's Tract Guides' Association; he is life fellow of the American Geographical Society and a member of the New York Zoölogical Society; member of the Alumni Society of Manhattan College, Alumni Society of De La Salle Institute, Alpha Sigma Beta (local college fraternity of which he was founder and first regent); member of the Arctic and New York Press Clubs. Mr. Radford is at present engaged in a series of extensive foreign travels. Address: North Creek, Warren County, N. Y.

RAGSDALE, James W.:

Consul-general; born in Monroe County, Ind., Feb. 12, 1848; son of Daniel S. and Louisa (Lindsay) Ragdsdale. He was educated in public schools and two years at Cornell College, Iowa. When only fifteen years old he enlisted, in 1863, in Company C, of the Thirteenth Iowa Infantry, in which he served for two years, until the end of the war, with Sherman in Georgia and on the march to the sea." After the war he engaged in newspaper life in Iowa and later in California, where he has his home at Santa Rosa. He became active in politics in California as a Republican and was elected to the General Assembly of California in 1888 and to the California Senate in 1890. In 1897 he was appointed by President McKinley as consul to Tientsin, China. He was one of the besieged party at Tientsin during the Boxer troubles of 1900, and rendered efficient service to the allied troops during the subsequent military relief operations. He was promoted Feb. 2, 1903, to consul-general of the United States at Tientsin, and in 1908 transferred to St. Petersburg as consul. Mr. Ragdsdale married, at Chariton, Iowa, Feb. 3, 1870, Effie L. Hines. Address: American Consulate, St. Petersburg, Russia.

RAINES, John:

State senator and lawyer; born at Canandaigua, N. Y., May 6, 1840; son of Rev. John Raines, Methodist clergyman, and Mary (Remington) Raines. He was graduated from the Albany Law School of Union University, and his present business is that of an insurance agent and lawyer. Mr. Raines began the practice of law in Geneva soon after graduating, but in the fall of 1861 he raised a company of volunteers and was commissioned captain of Company G, of the Eighty-fifth Regiment of New York Volunteers. He served in the Army of the Potomac and in North Carolina until July 1863, when he returned to Geneva and resumed the practice of law. In 1867 he removed to Canandaigua. He early joined the Republican party: was elected to the General Assembly of 1881-1882 and 1885, and to the Senate 1886, and continued a member of that body until 1890. While a member of the Senate he was elected to the Fifty-first Congress and was afterward elected to the Fifty-second Congress. Mr. Raines, in December, 1894, was elected a State senator from the Twenty-sixth district to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of Charles T. Saxton, who had been elected lieutenant-governor. Mr. Raines was reelected to the Senate in 1895, and has had continuous service in the Senate since. Mr. Raines' chief legislative achievements have been the passage of the present Election Law of the State and the well-known Raines Liquor Tax Law. Mr. Raines was elected president pro tem, and Republican leader of the Senate in 1903, and every session since. He is chairman of the Committee on Rules and a member of the Finance, Cities Committee, and Judiciary Committees. Address: Canandaigua, N. Y.

RAINEY, Henry T.:

Congressman and lawyer; born in Carrollton, Ill., Aug. 20, 1860; son of John and Kate (Thomas) Rainey. He was graduated from Amherst College, A.B., 1883, A.M., 1886, and from the Union College of Law, LL.B., 1885; was admitted to the bar soon afterward and has since practised law at Carrollton, Ill. He is a member of the Knights of Pythias, the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, the Modern Woodmen, and the Elks. He was elected, as a Democrat, to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, and Sixtieth Congresses from the Twentieth Illinois District, and reelected in 1908 to the Sixty-first Congress. He married, June 27, 1888, Ella McBride of Howard, Neb. Address: Carrollton, Ill.

RAIRDEN, Bradstreet S.:

Consular officer; born in Louisiana. He was appointed consul at Batavia, Aug. 18, 1892; retired Sept. 1, 1897; was appointed vice and deputy-consul, Oct. 5, 1898; and reappointed consul, Oct. 10, 1900. Address: Batavia, Java.

RALSTON, Jackson Harvey:

Lawyer; born in Sacramento, Calif., Feb. 6, 1857; son of James H. and Harriet N. (Jackson) Ralston. He was graduated from Georgetown University, LL.B., 1876, and from the National University Law School, LL.D., 1897. He was American agent of the Pious Fund case before the Hague Court of Arbitration, 1902; umpire, Italian-Venezuelan Commission, 1903, and represented the American Federation of Labor in the Buck's Stove and Range litigation. Mr. Ralston is president of the First National Bank of Hyattsville, director in the National Metropolitan Bank, and a member of the law firm of Ralston, Siddons and Richardson. He was editor of The Venezuelan Arbitrations of 1903, and of The Report of French-Venezuelan Arbitration under the Protocol of 1902. He is a member of the Cosmos Club of Washington. He married in Keokuk, Iowa, June 1, 1887, Sara B. R. Rankin. Residence: Hyattsville, Md. Office: Bond Building, Washington, D. C.

RAMALEY, Francis:

Botanist; born in St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 16, 1870; son of David and Louisa M. (De Graw) Ramaley. He was graduated from the University of Minnesota, B.S., 1895, M.S., 1896, Ph.D., 1899, and has also studied in Buitenzorg, Java, in the Botanical Institute, also studied three months in the Royal Botanical Gardens, Peradeniya, Ceylon. He was instructor in botany in the University of Minnesota, 1896-1898; and has been professor of biology at University of Colorado since 1899. He has now in preparation a book giving a popular account of Rocky Mountain vegetation. He traveled around the world in 1903 and 1904. Dr. Ramaley is a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, member of the American Society of Naturalists, National Geographic Society, and the Society of Botanists of the Central States; member of Theta Delta Chi, Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi. He has made special researches in plant anatomy and ecology; and is author of articles dealing with forests and forest trees of Colorado, and plant geography of the Rocky Mountains. Mr. Ramaley married in Denver, Colo., June 14, 1906, Ethel Jackson, and they have one child. Address: 972 Pleasant Street, Boulder, Colo.

RAMSAY, George Junkin:

Educator; born in Virginia in June, 1855; son of Rev. James Beverlen and Sabra (Tracy) Ramsay. He was graduated from Hampden-Sidney College, Va., A.M., 1878, took a post-graduate course in the University of Virginia, 1879-1880, and received the degree of LL.D. from the Southwestern Presbyterian University, 1898. He was professor of Latin in Ogden College, Kentucky, 1880-1884; president of the Silliman Institute, Louisiana, 1884-1899; editor-in-chief for the B. F. Johnson Publishing Company of Richmond, Va., 1899-1903; president of Sayre Institute, Kentucky, 1904-1906; professor of education in the Central University of Kentucky since 1906. Dr. Ramsay has been secretary of the Kentucky Educational Commission since 1908. He is a member, vice-president and director of the National Educational Association; member of the Southern Educational Association (president 1897-1898); member of the Executive Committee of the Conference for Education in the Southern States since 1906; director of the Kentucky Educational Association; member of Beta Theta Pi, and a Knight Templar. He married in Bowling Green, Ky., July 1, 1884, Annie Stevens, and they have two sons and a daughter. Address 203 North Third Street, Danville, Ky.

RAND, Charles Frederic:

Mine owner; born at Canaan, Me., Aug. 17, 1856; son of Frank C. Rand and Adeline (Smith) Rand. He was for some years financial officer of a railway corporation at Milwaukee, afterward engaged in mining in the Lake Superior district and now owns and operates extensive iron mines and manganese mines in Cuba. He is president of The Spanish-American Iron Company, Pompo Manganese Company and vice-president of the Pleasant Land Company. He is a Republican in politics; and is a member of the Chamber of Commerce of New York, the Metropolitan Museum of Art, Municipal Art Society, National Geographic Society, American Historical Society, New England Historical-Genealogical Society, and is also a member of the Engineers', Lawyers', Down Town, and Jolly Mariners' Clubs of New York; Essex County Country Club, Riding and Driving Club of Orange, N. J.; Art Club of Philadelphia, Union Club of Cleveland, Milwaukee Club of Milwaukee, Union and San Carlos Clubs of Santiago de Cuba; Havana Yacht and American Clubs of Havana. He married at Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 21, 1885, Mary E. Burnham, and they have four children. Residence: 347 West End Avenue, New York, and West Orange, N. J. Office: 71 Broadway, New York City.

RAND, John Prentice:

Physician; born in Francestown, N. H., Nov. 8, 1857; son of Thomas P. and Lydia (Wheeler) Rand. He was graduated from Francestown Academy, 1880, received his M.D. at New York Homeopathic Medical College, 1883. He began the practice of medicine at Monson, Mass., where he remained for five years; then moved to Worcester, Mass., and practised for ten years, when he was called back to Monson by the death of his brother, Dr. N. W. Rand. He returned in 1905 to Worcester, where he now resides. He is a member of the Monson Savings Bank Corporation, and was formerly a member of the Monson School Committee and of the Monson Library Association. In 1897, with his brother, N. W. Rand, he published a book of verse called Random Rimes, three editions of which have been issued. He is ex-president of the Massachusetts Homeopathic Medical Society, ex-president of the Massachusetts Surgical and Gynecological Society, member of the American Institute of Homeopathy and of the American Health League; also the National Society for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis; consulting physician to the Westborough Insane Hospital; secretary of the Board of Trustees of the Massachusetts State Sanatorium; lecturer at Boston University School of Medicine; and ex-president of the Alumni Association of the New York Homeopathic Medical College and Flower Hospital. He married, first, Jan. 17, 1889, Harriet M. Anderson, and second, Sept. 3, 1904, Lena M. Adams, and has one son, Frank P. Address: Worcester, Mass.

RANDALL, Otis Everett:

Professor of mechanics and mechanical drawing; born in North Stonington, Conn., Feb. 28, 1860; son of Darius H. and Abby P. (Frink) Randall. He was educated at Brown University, and the Technische Hochschule, Berlin, A.B., A.M., Ph.D. He has been instructor and professor at Brown University since 1892, and is now professor of mechanics and mechanical drawing of that institution. He is a recognized national authority on technical work of the character indicated, and has published the following text-books: Directions in Regard to the Construction of Plates in Mechanical Drawing, (1895); Directions in Regard to the Construction of Plates in Mechanical Drawing and in Descriptive Geometry, 1902; Shades and Shadows and Perspective, 1902; and Elements of Descriptive Geometry. He is a member of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education and the American Association for the Advancement of Science. He is also director of the Congregational Brotherhood of America; member of the Sigma Chapter of Psi Upsilon Fraternity, and the Rhode Island Alpha of Phi Beta Kappa. He married in Providence, R. I., June 19, 1889, Mabel Herbert Goffe, and has a son and a daughter. Residence: 100 Alumni Avenue. Office: Brown University, Providence, R. I.

RANDELL, Choice Boswell:

Congressman; born in Georgia, Jan. 1, 1857. He received his education at the North Georgia Agricultural College; was admitted to the bar in 1878; removed to Texas in January, 1879; was elected to the Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth, and Sixtieth Congresses, and reelected to the Sixty-first Congress, from the Fourth Texas District. He married, Oct. 29, 1879, Anna Marschalk, of Natchez, Miss. Address: Sherman, Texas.

RANDOLPH, Alfred Magill:

Bishop of Southern Virginia; born at Winchester, Va., Aug. 31, 1836; son of Robert Lee and Mary B. T. Randolph. He was graduated from the academic course at William and Mary College in 1855 and from the Virginia Theological Seminary in 1858. The degree of D.D. was conferred upon him by William and Mary College in 1876. Following his graduation from the seminary, he took orders as deacon of the Episcopal Church, and was ordained priest by Bishop Johns in 1860. He was rector of St. George's Church, Fredericksburg, Va., and Emmanuel Church, Baltimore, 1858-1883. In 1883 he became bishop coadjutor of Virginia, being consecrated by Bishops Lee, W. B. W. Howe, Dudley, Perry, Burgess and Peterkin. In 1894, on the subdivision of the Diocese of Virginia, he was elected bishop of Southern Virginia, filling the bishopric since then. Address: (summer) Casanova, Va.; (winter) Norfolk, Va.

RANDOLPH, Edmund D.:

Treasurer. New York Life Insurance Company; born in Philadelphia, in 1838. He is of American colonial ancestry, his family having been among the early English settlers of the seventeenth century, and his grandfather an officer of the Continental Army in the Revolutionary War. He began business life in the Philadelphia Bank, becoming a member of the banking firm of Smith, Randolph and Company, of Philadelphia, in 1862, and came to New York in 1866, as resident partner in charge of his firm's branch office. In 1877 he was elected president of the Continental National Bank (since consolidated with the Hanover National Bank), which office he held for twenty-one years, resigning in 1898 to become an officer of the New York Life Insurance Company (of which he had been a trustee from February, 1892), and was successively elected chairman of the Executive Committee, chairman of the Finance Committee, and treasurer. Mr. Randolph is also connected with several other prominent corporate interests, as director and trustee, including the Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company, Manhattan Trust Company, New York Trust Company, Southern Railway Company, Trinity Corporation and Society of the New York Hospital. He is a member of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York Zoölogical Society and New York Botanical Society. He is also a member of the Union. Knickerbocker, Metropolitan. Merchants', Church (New York City), Country (Westchester), Philadelphia (Philadelphia) Clubs. Residence: Brookwood, Mount Saint Vincent-on-Hudson. Address: 346 Broadway, New York City.

RANDOLPH, Harold:

Musician; born in Richmond, Va., Oct. 31, 1861; son of Innes and Anna Clare (King) Randolph. He was educated in Richmond and Baltimore. He is a concert pianist, church organist and choir-master, and is at present director of the Peabody Conservatory of Music, Baltimore. He was a soloist with the Thomas Orchestra, Boston Symphony, Philadelphia Symphony, and the Kneisel Quartet. Mr. Randolph is a member of the Maryland, Baltimore, Bachelors Cotillon, Baltimore Country, and the Municipal Art Clubs. He married in Catonsville, Md., June 4, 1896, Emma L. Gary. Residence: Roland Park. Office: Peabody Conservatory of Music, Baltimore.

RANDOLPH, Lewis Van Syckle Fitz:

Banker, author; born in Somerville, N. J., May 16, 1838. He was educated in schools of Plainfield, N. J. He began business life in New York City, 1854, commencing as clerk in the American Exchange Bank and filling advancing positions until, early in 1863, he left to serve in the Union Army. Returning after the battle of Gettysburg, he became connected, in 1864, with the Illinois Central Railroad Company, of which he was at first assistant treasurer and then treasurer and director for over twenty years, in all, until 1885. He is an executor and trustee of the estate of Samuel J. Tilden, and of other considerable estates; became president of the Atlantic Trust Company, 1894 and after a successful administration retired at the end of 1902. On his return from a visit to the West Indies in 1903 he was unanimously elected president of the Consolidated Stock and Petroleum Exchange; reelected without opposition, 1904 and 1905; declined further election 1906, and retired from active business. Mr. Randolph has managed various railways, coal and iron mines and other enterprises, as well as philanthropic and religious associations. He is a past commander of the Grand Army of the Republic. He has contributed poems to magazines and is author of a volume of poems: Survivals (published by Putnams). He also published, (1907) under the auspices of the New Jersey Historical Society a volume entitled: Fitz Randolph Traditions, A Story of a Thousand Years. As a recreation, Mr. Randolph has devoted much attention to Gardening and the breeding of Jersey, Hereford and other fine cattle. He served two years as mayor of Plainfield, N. J. Mr. Randolph has been a very extensive traveler. He married, May 16, 1867, Emily Caroline, daughter of Matthias Price, of Newark, N. J., and has five daughters. Address: Plainfield, N. J.

RANDOLPH, Tom:

Banker; born in Tennessee, Nov. 13, 1854; son of J. L. and Mary B. (Bradley) Randolph. He was educated in common and private schools, and engaged in banking as messenger, advancing to cashier and since 1886 president of the Merchants' and Planters' National Bank of Sherman, Texas. He is also vice-president of the National Bank of Commerce and of the Commonwealth Trust Company of St. Louis, Mo.; a director of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of New York, the St. Louis Southwestern Railway Company of St. Louis, the Hamilton Investment Company of St. Louis and various other corporations. Mr. Randolph has traveled extensively in Europe and America. He is a Democrat and a Methodist, and is a member of the St. Louis, Noonday, Racquet, and Glen Echo Clubs of St. Louis and the Maine Hunting and Fishing Club. Residence: 4386 Lindell Boulevard. Office: National Bank of Commerce, St. Louis.

RANEY, Richard Beverley:

Retired underwriter; born in Granville County, N. C., Feb. 7, 1860; son of Thomas Hull and Eliza Partridge (Baird) Raney. He was educated in local academies, then engaged in business, and was afterward general agent for a life insurance company for fifteen years until he retired. In 1899 he built and in January, 1900, presented to the City of Raleigh, N. C., the Olivia Raney Library, costing $50,000, in memory of his deceased wife. Since retirement from business Mr. Raney has occupied himself with farming. He is also a director of the Commercial National Bank of Raleigh; is a trustee of the Olivia Raney Library, member of the National Geographic Society of Washington, D. C., North Carolina Literary Society, North Carolina Audubon Society, and the Capital Club of Raleigh. Mr. Raney has made several trips across the American continent and to Europe, and in 1892-1893 made a tour of the world, visiting its most important countries. He is a Democrat and an Episcopalian. He married first, in Raleigh, N. C., Dec. 5, 1894, Olivia Blount Cowper, who died May 4, 1896; married second, Raleigh, N. C., April 28, 1903, Kate Whiting Denson, by whom he has two daughters and a son. Residence: Capitol Square. Office: Hillsboro and Salisbury Streets, Raleigh, N. C.

RANGER, Henry Ward:

Artist; born in Western New York, Jan. 1858; son of V. and M. M. Ranger. He was educated in the public schools and in Syracuse University to the sophomore year, studied art at home and spent several years abroad in study, mostly in France and Holland. He has been awarded medals for exhibits, in Paris, Buffalo, Charleston and other exhibitions; is represented in the Metropolitan Museum, Corcoran Art Gallery (Washington) and in numerous public and private collections in America and Europe. Mr. Ranger is a director of the Sixty-seventh Street Studio Building and president of the Sixty-seventh Street Atelier Association. He is an academician of the National Academy of Design and a member of the American Water Color Society and of the Lotos Club. Mr. Ranger married in 1884 Helen E. Jennings. Address: Studio Building, 51 West 67th Street, New York City.

RANGER, Walter Eugene:

Commissioner of public schools for Rhode Island; born at Wilton, Me., Nov. 22, 1855; son of Peter and Eliza Smith Ranger. On his father's side he is descended from Nehemiah Ranger, who settled at Wilton, Me., in 1800, and his maternal grandfather served the United States in the War of 1812. He was reared on a farm, was educated at Wilton Academy and Bates College, A.B., 1879, with special honors in psychology, philosophy and ethics. He immediately entered upon his life work as an educator, becoming principal of the Nichols Latin School at Lewiston, Me., for a year, then principal of the high school at Lenox, Mass., three years, and after that principal of the Lyndon (Vt.) Institute, 1883-1896, and after that principal of the State Normal School at Johnson, Vt., 1896-1900. He was elected by the Vermont Legislature in 1900, State superintendent of education for the State of Vermont, and was twice re-elected, serving until 1905, when he was called to fill a similar position as commissioner of Public Schools for the State of Rhode Island, which he is now administering. He is ex-officio secretary of the State Board of Education, trustee of the Rhode Island Normal School, and member of the Executive Committee of the Rhode Island School of Design, and one of the managers of the Rhode Island State College. The degree of M.A., pro merito, was conferred upon him in 1883, and that of LL.D. in 1907, by Bates College, and M.A. by the University of Vermont, 1904. His record as an educator and educational administrator is one of high usefulness and distinction, and each of his successive appointments has led him to higher work. He is a member and ex-president of the American Institute of Instruction, and a member, respectively, of the National Educational Association, the Rhode Island Institute of Instruction, and was formerly a member and president of the Vermont State Teachers' Association and the Vermont Schoolmasters' Club. He is a member of the American Historical Association, Rhode Island Historical Society and the University Club of Providence, R. I.; and of the Odd Fellows and Masonic orders and in the latter has a place of special prominence and distinction, having attained to the thirty-third degree in Scottish Rite Masonry, and being past grand master of the Grand Lodge of Vermont, and commander-in-chief of Vermont Consistory. Mr. Ranger has twice married, first, to Mary M. Snowman, of Portland, Me., who died in 1885, by whom he had two children who also died. In 1889 he married Mabel C. Bemis, of Lyndonville, Vt., a teacher of ability and an accomplished musician, and they have three children. Address: Providence, R. I.

RANSDALL, Joseph Eugene:

Congressman and lawyer; born in Alexandria, La., Oct. 7, 1858; son of John H. and Amanda (Terrell) Ransdell. He was educated in the public schools and Union College, A.B., 1882. He was admitted to the bar in June, 1883, and has been engaged in the active practice of his profession since. He was elected district attorney of the Eighth Judicial District of Louisiana in April, 1884, which place he held for twelve years. He was a member of the Levee Board of the Fifth Louisiana Levee district from May, 1896, until after his election to Congress, Aug. 29, 1899; was a prominent member of the State Constitutional Convention of Louisiana, in the spring of 1898, which framed a new constitution for the State. Mr. Ransdell is interested in cotton planting as well as law, and has taken a most active interest in levee building on the Mississippi River for many years. He was elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-sixth Congress to fill the unexpired term of Hon. S. T. Baird, and to the Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, and Sixtieth Congresses, and was reelected to the Sixty-first Congress from the Fifth Louisiana District. He married at Lake Providence, La., Nov. 15, 1885, Olive Irene Powell. Address: Lake Providence, La.

RATSHESKY, Abraham C.:

President of the United States Trust Company of Boston; born in Boston in 1864; son of Asher and Fannie Ratshesky. He was educated in the Boston public schools and then engaged in business with his father, a prosperous Boston merchant. He was a member of the Boston Common Council two years and Massachusetts State Senator; was secretary of the Republican State Committee under the chairmanship of Eben S. Draper and Samuel E. Winslow, and in 1892 and 1904 was a delegate to the Republican National Conventions, serving in the former as secretary of the Massachusetts delegation. He is president of the United States Trust Company; member of the Massachusetts State Board of Charities; president of the Boston Limited Partnership Company, of the George W. Armstrong News Company, and a director of the Massachusetts Breweries Company. He is a member of the Chelsea Commission; and is president of the Federation of Jewish Charities and treasurer of the Boston Branch of the Baron de Hirsch Fund. Residence: Hotel Touraine, Boston, Mass.

RAUTENSTRAUCH, Walter:

Professor of mechanical engineering; born in Sedalia, Mo., Sept. 7, 1880; son of Julius and Anna (Nichter) Rautenstrauch. He was graduated from the University of Missouri, B.S., 1902, University of Maine, M.S., 1903, and graduate student at Cornell University, 1903-1904. He was formerly engineer of the Standard Steel Car Company, Pittsburgh; instructor in mechanical engineering, University of Maine; assistant professor of machine design, Cornell University; consulting engineer to the Crescent Burner Manufacturing Company, and Manhattan Cork Specialty Company, and is at the present professor of mechanical engineering in Columbia University, and a consulting and mechanical engineer. Mr. Rautenstrauch is a member of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education, American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Society of Engineers of Germany, Theta Beta Pi, and Sigma Xi fraternities. He married in Wichita, Kan., Sept. 7, 1904, Minnie May Babb, and has two children. Residence: Yonkers, N. Y. Business address: Columbia University, New York City.

RAVENEL, Mazyck P.:

Physician; born in Pendleton, S. C.; son of Henry Edmund and Selina E. (Porcher) Ravenel. He was educated in private schools, Charleston, S. C., University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn., Medical College of the State of South Carolina, University of Pennsylvania, Pasteur Institute, Paris, and the University of Halle, Germany. He was instructor in bacteriology, Medical Department of the University of Pennsylvania, Scott fellow in hygiene, bacteriologist of the State Line Stock Sanitary Board of Pennsylvania, assistant demonstrator of anatomy in the Medical College of the State of South Carolina, and is now professor of bacteriology in the University of Wisconsin, and director of the State Hygiene Laboratory of Wisconsin. He is a member of the American Philosophical Society; College of Physicians of Philadelphia; American Association of Pathologists and Bacteriologists, Chicago Pathological Society, Philadelphia Pathological Society, American Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis; honorary member of the Cleveland Academy of Medicine, and Philadelphia Pediatric Society; and a member of the Huguenot Society of South Carolina; president of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association; member of the Alpha Tau Omega, Sigma Xi, and Alpha Nu Pi Omega fraternities, and the University Club of Madison, Wis. He married in Philadelphia, 1898, Jennie Carlile Boyd. Residence: 419 Sterling Court. Office: University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis.

RAVNDAL, Gabriel Bie:

Consular officer; born in Norway. Appointed consul at Beirut, Jan. 22, 1898; appointed consul at Dawson City, June 5, 1905; appointed consul-general at Beirut, June 22, 1906. Address: Beirut, Syria.

RAWLE, William Brooke:

Lawyer; born in Philadelphia, Aug. 29, 1843; eldest son of Charles Wallace Brooke and his first wife, Elizabeth Tilghman Rawle (daughter of William Rawle, well-known lawyer; granddaughter of Edward Tilghman, distinguished lawyer, and great-granddaughter of Benjamin Chew, chief justice of Pennsylvania before the Revolution). His father, Charles Wallace Brooke, who was a prominent member of the Philadelphia bar, died in 1849; and his paternal grandfather, Robert Brooke, son of Captain John Brooke of the Revolutionary Army, was a well-known surveyor and civil engineer in Philadelphia; his paternal grandmother was a daughter of Colonel (afterward General) Andrew Porter of the Revolutionary Army. He was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania as A.B., 1863, A.M., 1866; received leave of absence from college during his senior year and received his bachelor's degree July 3, 1863, while actively engaged in the battle of Gettysburg. His war service extended from early in 1863 until some time after the close of the war, entering as second lieutenant, Third Pennsylvania Volunteer Cavalry, and serving with the Army of the Potomac and attaining the rank of captain, and receiving brevets of major and lieutenant-colonel for gallant and meritorious services in the battle at Hatcher's Run, and in the campaign terminating with Lee's surrender at Appomattox, respectively. When his war service closed he declined a commission in the Seventh U. S. Cavalry, studied law with his uncle, the late William Henry Rawle, and by legal authority assumed the name of William Brooke Rawle in lieu of William Rawle Brooke. He was admitted to the bar May 18, 1867; practised with William Henry Rawle until his death in 1889, and then succeeded him at the head of the law office established by his great-grandfather, William Rawle (the elder) in 1783. Colonel Rawle is a member of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, Colonial Society of Pennsylvania, and Pennsylvania Society of Sons of the Revolution. He married in Philadelphia, Feb. 7, 1872, Elizabeth Norris Pepper. Address: 211 South 6th Street, Philadelphia.

RAWSON, Edward Kirk:

Professor, U. S. Navy, retired; born in Albany, N. Y., Feb. 21, 1846; son of Rev. Thomas Reed and Louisa W. (Dawes) Rawson. He was educated in Albany Academy, Yale University, A.B., and Andover Theological Seminary, and ordained in the ministry of the Congregational Church. He was chaplain in the U. S. Navy, 1871-1890; commissioned professor, U. S. Navy, 1890; superintendent of Naval War Records, 1897-1902; head of the department of English and Law, U. S. Naval Academy, 1902-1907; retired Feb. 21, 1908. Professor Rawson is a member of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity, the Naval Academy Club at Annapolis, and the Chevy Chase and University Clubs of Washington, D. C. He married in Philadelphia, April 10, 1888, Eleanor Wade (deceased) and has two daughters. Address: Care of Navy Department, Washington, D. C.

RAY, Anna Chapin:

Author; born in Westfield, Mass., Jan. 3, 1865; daughter of Edward Addison and Helen M. (Chapin) Ray. She was graduated from Smith College, A.B., 1885, A. M., 1888, the latter degree in modern European history taken under John Bates Clark, now of Columbia. Miss Ray was one of the first three women students to take as test the Yale entrance examinations in 1881. She has been continuously writing since 1889, and since 1903 has spent much time in and near Quebec studying social and political conditions existing between the two races there. She is author of: Half a Dozen Boys, 1890; Half a Dozen Girls, 1891; The Cadets of Flemming Hall, 1892; In Blue Creek Canon, 1892; Margaret Davis, Tutor, 1893; Dick, 1896; Playground Tony, 1900; Sheba, 1903; Teddy: Her Book, 1898; Phebe: Her Profession, 1899; Teddy: Her Daughter, 1900; Nathalie's Chum, 1906; Ursula's Freshman, 1902; Nathalie's Sister, 1903; Sidney: Her Summer on the Saint Lawrence, 1905; Janet: Her Winter in Quebec, 1906; Day: Her Year in New York, 1907; Each Life Unfulfilled, 1899; The Dominant Strain, 1903; By the Good Sainte Anne, 1904; On the Firing Line (in collaboration with Hamilton Brock Fuller), 1905; Hearts and Creeds, 1906; Ackroyd of the Faculty, 1907; Quicksand, 1908; Sidney at College, 1908; Janet at Odds, 1909; The Bridge Builders, 1909; as well as much fugitive work. She is a member of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae, treasurer of the Connecticut Branch of that organization, 1893-1903; member and active worker of the Vacation School and Playground Committee of New Haven, charter member of Smith College Biological Society, and a member of the Civic Federation, the New Haven Colony Historical Society and Connecticut Humane Society of New Haven, and Lyceum Club of London. Address: Tremont, West Haven, Conn.

RAY, George W.:

Jurist; born in Otselic, N. Y., Feb. 3, 1844; son of Asher Minor and Melissa P. (Gay) Ray. He was graduated from the Norwich (N. Y.) Academy in 1866; and he received the degree of LL.D. from Colgate University in 1905. He was admitted to the bar in Sept., 1867; was elected in 1880 to the Forty-eighth Congress from the Twenty-sixth New York District, and was afterward elected to the Fifty-second, Fifty-third, Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth and Fifty-seventh Congresses. He resigned from Congress, Sept., 1902, to accept the position of U. S. district judge of the Northern District of New York, which he now holds. He served in the War of the Rebellion as private in Company B, Ninetieth New York Volunteers, and as brigade clerk in the First Brigade, First Division, Nineteenth Army Corps. He is a director of the Norwich Furniture Company. Judge Ray is a member of the American Society of International Law, Grand Army of the Republic, the Masons, Red Men, Knights of Pythias and Odd Fellows. He is president of the Board of Education of Norwich, N. Y.; and manager of the New York State Woman's Relief Corps Home, at Oxford, N. Y. Mr. Ray married in Pitcher, N. Y., June 26, 1871, Mary Johnson, and they have one son. Address: Norwich, N. Y.

RAY, John A.:

Banker; born in Greensburg, Pa., June 2, 1865; son of James Ray and Elizabeth (Smith) Ray. He was educated in Greensburg public schools. He was telegraph operator for seven years, train despatcher for seven years chief train despatcher and division operator for four years for the Pennsylvania Railroad Company; real estate agent for Pittsburgh, Buffalo Company for eight years. He is president of the Washington National Bank of Burgetstown, Pa.; Farmers' National Bank of Hickory, Pa., and Lincoln National Bank, Millsboro, Pa.; director of the Sharpsville National Bank of Sharpsville, Pa.; First National Bank of Scenery Hill, Pa., and vice-president of the Dexter Coal Company. Mr. Ray is a Republican in politics, and an Episcopalian in religious faith. He is a member of the Amerieus Republican Club and of the Elks order. Mr. Ray married in Mt. Pleasant, Pa., Jan. 9, 1888, Della M. Morrison. Address: Frick Building, Pittsburgh.

RAY, Patrick Henry:

Brigadier-general, U. S. Army, retired; born in Waukesha County, Wis., May 8, 1842; son of Adam E. and Eliza (Breastid) Ray. He enlisted as a private in the Second Wisconsin Volunteer Infantry, May 7, 1861, served in the Civil War as private, corporal, sergeant and first sergeant, until July 12, 1863; commissioned second lieutenant First Wisconsin Heavy Artillery, July 13, 1863; captain, Sept. 13, 1864; honorably mustered out, June 26, 1865; captain, Sixth U. S. Veteran Infantry, Aug. 9, 1865; honorably mustered out, April 12, 1866. He was commissioned in the Regular Service as second lieutenant in the Thirty-third Infantry, March 7, 1867; transferred to the Eighth Infantry, May 3, 1869; first lieutenant, Dec. 31, 1875; captain, May 27, 1889; major, March 2, 1899; lieutenant-colonel, Dec. 8, 1902, and colonel, Aug. 12, 1903. He served, after the Civil War, in campaigns against the Sioux Indians, under Generals Stanley and J. E. Smith, 1872-1875; against the Apaches in Arizona under Generals Crook and Kautz, 1874-1878; in command of the International Polar Expedition to Point Barrow, Alaska, 1881-1883. He was sent on a special mission, by order of the President, to Fort Yukon and along the Yukon River, to investigate and report on conditions in the Alaska gold-field at the time of the Klondike rush, starting in Oct., 1897, and returning in April, 1898. He was commissioned colonel, Third U. S. Volunteer Infantry, May 20, 1898, and was honorably mustered out, May 2, 1899, after service at Macon, Ga., and in Cuba. After the Spanish War he was in command of the District of North Alaska, from May, 1899, to October, 1900, and placed the first troops in North Alaska at Nome, St. Michael, Fort Gibbon and Egbert; seized the supplies of trading companies and fed the destitute fleeing from Dawson; then commanded Fort Snelling, Minn., to Sept., 1901, Fort Harrison, Mont., to March, 1902, then in the Philippines until May, 1905, as regimental and brigade commander. After his return to the United States, he commanded the regiment and post at Fort Thomas, Ky., July, 1905, until promoted May 8, 1906, to brigadier-general, U. S. Army, and retired. He is a member of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States, Royal Geographical Society of England, Society of Foreign Wars and the National Geographic Society. He married in Omaha, Neb., April 22, 1889, Adah Blackman. Address: Youngstown, Ohio.

RAYMOND, Andrew Van Vranken.

Clergyman and college president; born at Visscher's Ferry, Saratoga County, N. Y.; son of Henry A. and Catharine Maria (Miller) Raymond. He was graduated from Union College, A.B., 1875; New Brunswick Theological Seminary, 1878; and received the degrees of D.D. from Union College in 1887, and LL.D. from Williams College, in 1894, and South Carolina College in 1905. He was pastor of the First Reformed Church at Paterson, N. J., 1878-1881; Trinity Reformed Church, Plainfield, N. J., 1881-1887; Fourth Presbyterian Church, Albany, N. Y., 1887-1894; president of Union College, 1894-1907; and since July, 1907, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Buffalo, N. Y. He served as one of the managers of the New York State Hospital at Utica, by appointment of Governor Higgins, and was president of the Schenectady Chamber of Commerce, 1906-1907. He is a member of the University, Century, Alpha Delta Phi and Union University Clubs of New York City; the Adirondack League Club, and the University, Buffalo, Ellicott and Country Clubs of Buffalo, N. Y. He married at Middleville, Herkimer County, N. Y., Sept. 24, 1879, Margaret Morris Thomas, who died in Schenectady, June 11, 1907, and has three children. Address: 268 North Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

RAYMOND, Jerome Hall:

President of Toledo University; born in Clinton, Iowa, March 10, 1869; son of Henry Wilbur and Virginia (Hall) Raymond. He was graduated from Northwestern Academy, Evanston, Ill., 1888, and Northwestern University, A.B., 1892, and A.M., 1893; also from the University of Chicago, Ph.D., 1895. He was professor of history and political science, Lawrence University, Appleton, Wis., 1893-1894; lecturer in sociology, University of Chicago, 1894-1895; professor of sociology, University of Wisconsin, 1895-1897; president of West Virginia University, 1897-1901; associate professor of sociology at the University of Chicago, 1901-1909, resigning to accept the presidency of the Toledo University. He is a member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity. He married at Aurora, Ill., Aug. 15, 1895, Josephine Hunt. Address: 329 Melrose Avenue, Toledo, Ohio.

RAYMOND, Percy Edward:

Paleontologist; born in New Canaan, Conn., May 30, 1879; son of George Edward and Harriet F. (Beers) Raymond. He was graduated from New Canaan Institute, Cornell University, A.B., 1902, and Yale University, Ph.D., 1905. He has been assistant curator in charge of Invertebrate Paleontology, Carnegie Museum, since 1904. He is a fellow of the Geological Society of America, fellow of the Paleontological Society, member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, American Association of Museums, National Geographic Society, and the Gamma Alpha and Sigma Xi fraternities. Mr. Raymond is author of numerous papers on geology and paleontology. He married in Worcester, N. Y., Aug. 3, 1904, Eva Grace Mayham Goodenough. Residence: 1116 Princeton Road, Allegheny. Office: Carnegie Museum, Pittsburgh.

RAYNOR, Isidor:

United States senator; born in Baltimore, Md., April 11, 1850. He was educated at the University of Maryland and at the University of Virginia, where he took the academic and law courses. Upon his return to Baltimore he was admitted to the bar in 1870, and has been practising law in that city since that time. In 1878 he was elected to the Maryland Legislature for two years, served on the Judiciary Committee and was chairman of the Baltimore city delegation; in 1885 he was elected to the State Senate for four years, serving on the Judiciary Committee. He resigned his place in the State Senate in the middle of his term and became the Democratic candidate for Congress, and in 1886 was elected to the Fiftieth Congress. He was afterward elected to the Fifty-second and Fifty-third Congresses; declined a reelection for a fourth term, and was elected attorney-general of Maryland, serving 1899-1903. In 1904 he was elected to the U. S. Senate to succeed the Hon. Louis E. McComas, Republican, for the term beginning March 4, 1905. His term will expire March 3, 1911. Address: Baltimore, Md.

REA, Paul Marshall:

Educator and museum administrator; born in Cotuit, Mass., Feb. 13, 1878; son of Rev. John T. and S. Helen Rea. He was graduated from Phillips Exeter Academy, Williams College, A.B., 1899, A.M., 1901, Columbia University Graduate School, and Marine Biological Laboratory, Woods Hole, Mass. He was assistant in biology, Williams College, 1900-1902, professor of biology and geology, College of Charleston, since 1903; director of the Charleston Museum since 1903; instructor in zoology, Marine Biological Laboratory, since 1906, and secretary of the American Association of Museums since 1907. He is the editor of: Bulletin of the Charleston Museum, Contributions from the Charleston Museum; Proceedings of the American Association of Museums; Directory of American Museums (in preparation). He is a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. He married in Medford, Mass., June 28, 1904, Carolyn Morse. Residence: 2 Ashmead Place. Office: The Charleston Museum, Charleston, S. C.

REA, Samuel:

Civil engineer; second vice-president and director of Pennsylvania Railroad Company; born in Hollidaysburg, Pa., Sept. 21, 1855; son of James D. and Ruth (Moore) Rea. In 1871 he entered the Engineering Department of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. as a chairman and rodman. From 1875 to 1877, assistant engineer in construction of chain suspension bridge over Monongahela River in Pittsburgh, and upon its completion was appointed assistant engineer of Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad Co. In 1879, he reentered the service of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. as assistant engineer; appointed principal assistant engineer, 1883, and assistant to second vice-president in 1888. He resigned in 1889 and was appointed vice-president of the Maryland Central Railway Co. and chief engineer of the Baltimore Belt Railroad Co. On May 25, 1892, he again entered the service of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. as assistant to president. On Feb. 10, 1897, he was appointed first assistant to president; on June 14, 1899, elected fourth vice-president and director; on Oct. 10, 1905, third vice-president, and on March 24, 1909, second vice-president. He is also second vice-president of the Philadelphia, Baltimore & Washington Railroad Co., Northern Central Railway Co. and West Jersey & Seashore Railroad Co. He is president of nearly all branch line companies in the Pennsylvania system east of Pittsburgh, and is in direct charge of the important work of constructing tunnels into and through New York City for Pennsylvania Railroad Co and its large station in that city. Mr. Rea is director in many other railroad companies and financial institutions; for twelve years a member of New York Stock Exchange; member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, and the Institution of Civil Engineers of London. Author of: The Railways Terminating in London. Mr. Rea married Sept. 11, 1879, Mary M. Black, of Pittsburgh. Residence: Bryn Mawr, Pa. Address: Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

REDE, Wyllys:

Clergyman and editor; born in Monmouth, Ill., 1859; son of Alvin Hart and Miriam (Ballard) Rede. He was graduated from Williams College, A.B., 1882, General Theological Seminary, 1884, St. John's College, Annapolis, D.D., 1895. He was ordered deacon by Bishop Neely, 1884, and ordained priest, 1885; rector of churches at Westminster, Md., Rockford, Ill., Atlanta and Brunswick, Ga., and dean of the cathedral at Quincy, Ill. He is the editor of: The Church in Georgia, Atlanta, and of The Cathedral Chimes, Quincy. Author of: The Communion of Saints, 1893, and Striving for the Mastery, 1895. He is a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, and is a Mason. He married in Baltimore, Md., 1895, Carolyn Potter, and they have five children. Address: Trappe, Md.

REDFIELD, Edward Willis:

Artist; born in Bridgeville, Del., in 1868. He was a pupil of the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts and under Bouguereau and Fleury in Paris. He was the winner of the gold medal of the Art Club of Philadelphia, 1896; also, from Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts the Temple gold medal, 1903, Jenny Sisman gold medal, 1905, gold Medal of Honor, 1907; from the National Academy of Design, New York, 1904; from the Society of American Artists the Shaw Fund prize, 1904; also bronze medals from the Paris Exposition of 1900 and the Pan-American Exposition, 1901, Louisiana Purchase Exposition, St. Louis, 1904, Carnegie Institute, Pittsburgh, silver medal, 1905, Corcoran Gallery of Art, Washington, D. C., 1907. He was elected a member of the National Academy of Design in 1906. Mr. Redfield is a member of the Art and Sketch Clubs of Philadelphia. Address: Centre Bridge, Bucks County, Pa.

REDMOND, Granville:

Artist; born in Philadelphia, March 9, 1871; son of Charles C. and Elizabeth (Buck) Redmond. He was graduated from the California Institution for Education of Deaf and Dumb, 1890. He received honorable mention and the W. E. Brown gold medal for best study from life at San Francisco Art Association; entered Julian Academy, Paris, and studied under Benjamin Constant, and Jean Paul Laurens; exhibited at the Paris Salon in 1894, Louisiana Purchase Exposition, St. Louis, 1904, the Alaska-Yukon Exposition, Seattle, 1909 (the governor of Washington bought the picture). He married in Robinson, Ill., Nov. 1, 1899, Carrie Annabel Jean, and they have two children. Address: 2843 North Sickel Street, Los Angeles, Cal.

REED, George Edward:

President of Dickinson College; born at Brownville, Me., March 28, 1846; son of the Rev. George Reed and Ann (Hellyer) Reed. He received his preparatory education at the high school of Lowell, Mass., and at Wilbraham (Mass.) Academy. Thence he entered Wesleyan University at Middletown, Conn., graduating, A.B., 1869, and receiving later the degree of A.M. He continued his studies at Boston University Theological School, but did not remain for graduation. The honorary degree of LL.D. was conferred upon him by Lafayette College in 1889, and S.T.D. by the Wesleyan University in 1885. After being ordained to the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal Church, he officiated successively as pastor of churches in Willimantic, Conn., Fall River, Mass., Brooklyn, N. Y., Stamford, Conn., Brooklyn, N. Y., and New Haven, Conn. In 1889 he was elected to the presidency of Dickinson College, which position he now is holding. He is ex-officio president of the Board of Trustees of Dickinson College; also president of the trustees of Todd Hospital at Carlisle, Pa., and of the Anti-Saloon League of Pennsylvania. Dr. Reed was State librarian of Pennsylvania, 1899-1903, and has been before the public for many years as lecturer and orator on various occasions. He has made extensive travels in Europe and the United States. In politics he is a Republican. He is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society, of the Psi Upsilon fraternity, of the Religious Education Society, and many others, and is also a Mason. He married at Norwich, Conn., June 20, 1870, to Ella Frances Leflingwell, and has one son, George Leflingwell. Address: Carlisle, Pa.

REED, Henry Thomas:

United States judge; was actively engaged in the practice of law in Iowa, until his appointment by President Roosevelt, March 4, 1904, to his present office as judge of the U. S. District Court for the Northern District of Iowa. Address: Cresco, Iowa.

REEDER, Frank:

Lawyer; born in Easton, Pa., May 22, 1845; son of Andrew H. Reeder (governor of Kansas Territory, 1854-1856) and Fredericka Amalia (Hutter) Reeder. His father's original American ancestor came from England to Springfield, Mass., in 1636, removing to New Jersey, near Trenton, toward the end of the Seventeenth Century, and his paternal grandfather, a soldier of the Revolution, settled in Easton, Pa., near the close of the Eighteenth Century. His maternal grandfather was a lieutenant-colonel in the War of 1812. Mr. Reeder was educated in private schools in Allentown, Pa., the Lawrenceville (N. J.) School, the Edge Hill School, Princeton, N. J., and Princeton College, where he remained until his senior year, and from which he received, later, the degrees of A.B. and A.M., as of the class of 1863. In 1862 he entered the Union Army in the 5th Pennsylvania regiment, afterward becoming adjutant of the 174th Pennsylvania regiment, and later captain, and lieutenant-colonel of the 19th Pennsylvania Cavalry.

He was graduated from the Albany Law School in 1868, and practised law in New York City until 1870, being for one year associated with Hon. Chester A. Arthur (afterward President of the United States). Since 1870 he has practised law at Easton, Pa. He was collector of internal revenue, 1873-1876; was secretary of State of Pennsylvania, 1895-1897; and commissioner of Banking of Pennsylvania, 1901-1903. He is prominent in the Republican party of the Keystone State, was chairman of the Republican State Committee, 1891-1892, and again in 1899, 1900 and 1901, and has been several times delegate to the National Conventions of the party. He was appointed in 1874, by Governor Hartranft, brigadier-general of the National Guard of Pennsylvania, and commanded the Fifth Brigade, Second Division, during the Railroad Riots of 1877. He married, Oct. 21, 1868, Grace E. Thompson, of Boston, and they have three children. Address: Easton, Pa.

REEDER, William Augustus:

Congressman; born in Cumberland County, Pa., Aug. 28, 1849. When four years of age he emigrated with his parents to Ipava, Fulton County, Ill., where, at the age of fourteen years, he began teaching in the public schools, a vocation he followed until thirty years of age, the last ten years of his work being in Kansas, where he was principal of the Beloit public schools. He moved to Kansas and took a claim in Mitchell County in 1871, and has resided continuously since in this Congressional district. In 1876 he engaged in the banking business in the city of Logan, Kan., where he at present resides. In 1890, in partnership with A. H. Ellis and J. J. Wiltrout, he purchased an extensive tract of land on the Solomon River and established the largest irrigation farm in the State of Kansas. He was elected, as a Republican, to the Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth Congresses, and was reelected in 1908 to the Sixty-first Congress, from the Sixth Kansas District. He married, Aug. 18, 1876, Miss Eunice H. Andrews. Address: Logan, Kan.

REES, Thomas:

Journalist; born in Pittsburgh, Pa., in 1850. He went West when three years of age; learned the printer's trade, and worked as a journeyman. He became manager and part owner of the Keokuk Constitution in 1876; and has been manager of the Illinois State Register since 1881. Mr. Reese has served as president of the Illinois Press Association; chairman of the advisory committee of the Associated Press, and has been prominently identified with many public matters in Springfield, notably with promoting the building of the State Arsenal and the Temple of Justice. He is author of: Spain's Lost Jewels, a book on Cuba and Mexico. He has traveled in several foreign countries, writing letters from points visited for publication. Mr. Reese is a Mason. He was elected to the Illinois State Senate in 1902 as a Democrat. Address: Springfield, Ill.

REESE, Frederick F.:

Bishop of Savannah. He was rector of Christ Episcopal Church in Nashville, Tenn., for several years, was elected bishop of Wyoming in 1907, but declined; elected in 1908 and consecrated bishop of Savannah. Address: Savannah, Ga.

REESE, Stanley Chester:

Mathematician and mechanical engineer; born in Pittsburgh, May 4, 1874; son of Abram and Mary (Godwin) Reese. He was graduated from Princeton University A.B. in class of 1896, A.M. in 1897, Ph.D. in 1899; fellow in mathematics, 1896-1897; Thaw fellow in astronomy, 1897-1898. He was research assistant at Yerkes Observatory, University of Chicago, 1899-1901; in the Engineering Department, Carnegie Steel Company, 1901-1902; mechanical engineer Ritter-Conley Manufacturing Company, 1902-1907; mechanical engineer of Jones & Laughlin, 1907-1909; mechanical engineer of the United States Steel Corporation since 1909. Mr. Reese is an Episcopalian in his religious views. He is a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, charter member of the American Astronomical and Astrophysical Society, member of the Engineers' Society of Western Pennsylvania, and is a past master Mason and Knight Templar. Residence: 216 North Lang Avenue. Office: 1220 Frick Building, Pittsburgh.

REEVES, Francis Brewster:

Banker and merchant; born at Bridgeton, N. J., Oct. 10, 1836; son of Johnson and Elizabeth (Riley) Reeves. He became a partner in the firm of N. B. Thompson & Company, wholesale grocers of Philadelphia, in 1859; since 1865 widely known as Reeves, Parvin & Company. He was director of the Girard National Bank, 1881-1898, becoming vice-president in 1896 and president in 1899. He became president of the Clearing House Association of the National Banks of Philadelphia in 1907. He is also president of the Philadelphia Belt Line Railroad; first vice-president of the Philadelphia Bourse; director of the Philadelphia Mortgage and Trust Company; Bell Telephone Company of Philadelphia, Delaware Insurance Company, Audit and Appraisement Company of America, and Lake Superior Corporation; manager of Merchants' Fund and the Mercantile Beneficial Association, and of the Germantown Savings Fund Society; member of the Advisory Board of the Germantown Trust Company. He is a trustee of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, and of the Presbyterian Board of Publication and Sabbath School Work; was chairman of the Executive Committee of the noted municipal reform Committee of One Hundred of Philadelphia, 1881-1883; member of the Board of Public Education in 1888, and in 1889 was appointed a member of Citizens' Permanent Relief Committee of Philadelphia on the occasion of the Johnstown Flood, and chairman of Committee on Annuities to Johnstown Flood Orphans of the State Relief Committee. In 1892 he was commissioned to visit Russia to deliver and distribute a cargo of food supplies sent on the Conemaugh, for relief of famine sufferers, and the Emperor, Alexander III., recognized Mr. Reeves's personal service by the presentation to him of a costly silver and gold punch set of seven pieces. Address: Girard National Bank, Philadelphia.

REHN, Frank Knox Morton:

Artist; born in Philadelphia, April 12, 1848; son of Professor Isaac and Abigail Francis (Zelly) Rehn. He was educated in the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts. He is a painter of marines, landscapes and portraits. Mr. Rehn is an academician of the National Academy of Design, a member of the American Water Color Society and of the Lotus and Salmagundi Clubs of New York. He married in 1881, Margaret Selby, daughter of George C. Bower of Philadelphia. Address: The Chelsea, West 23d Street, New York City.

REICH, Jacques:

Etcher; born in Hungary, Aug. 10, 1852. He was educated in Budapest, Paris, Philadelphia and New York, and came into prominence as an illustrator of pen portraits for Scribner's Cyclopaedia of Painters and Paintings and Appleton's Cyclopaedia of American Biography. He was the originator and creator of the series of etchings of famous Americans constituting the most important national portrait gallery yet undertaken. A considerable number of these portraits have already been completed. He married in Moline, Ill., Jan. 3, 1892, to Lina Bellinger, and has three sons. Residence: New Dorp, Richmond Borough. Studio: 1 Madison Avenue, New York City.

REID, Charles Chester:

Congressman and lawyer; born in Clarks-ville, Ark., June 15, 1868; son of Charles Coleman and Sarah (Robinson) Reid. He entered the State University of Arkansas at Fayetteville in 1883, at the age of fifteen, he remained three years, and in 1885 entered the Law Department of Vanderbilt University, from which he was graduated LL.B., 1887; he also won the University's medal for oratory. At the age of nineteen he began the practice of law at Morrilton, and has remained there ever since. He was elected prosecuting attorney of his judicial district in 1894, and reelected without opposition in 1896. In 1898 he voluntarily retired from office. He was elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-seventh and Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth Congresses and reelected to the Sixty-first Congress from the Fifth Arkansas District. He married in 1890, Dine Crozier, daughter of a prominent merchant of Morrillton. Address: Clarksville, Johnson County, Ark.

REID, Daniel Gray:

Banker, manufacturer and railroad official; born at Richmond, Ind., Aug. 1, 1858. He was educated in the public schools of his native town. He began his business career as a clerk in the Second National Bank of Richmond, and later became a director and vice-president of the same; became interested in the manufacture of tin plate, 1892, and was made president of the American Tin Plate Company in 1898, and removed to Chicago. He assisted in the organization of the United States Steel Corporation and removed to New York City, 1900; and is now a director of that corporation. He became interested in the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway Company in 1900, and is now chairman of the Board of Directors and actively engaged in promoting the interests of that company; also vice-president of two national banks and a director in several others. Residence: 875 Fifth Avenue. Address: 115 Broadway, New York City.

REID, Robert:

Artist; born in Stockbridge, Mass., in 1862; son of Jared and Louise (Dwight) Reid. He was educated at the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, was student and assistant instructor, 1880-1884; in the Art Students' League in 1885; at Paris four years to 1889; since then in New York City for several years instructor at the Art Students' League and the Cooper Institute. He executed mural paintings at the World's Columbian Exposition, Chicago, in 1893, the Congressional Library at Washington, Boston State House, Appellate Court of New York City, Paulist Fathers' Church, and many other public and private buildings. Mr. Reid was awarded medals at Chicago, 1893, Buffalo, 1901, and St. Louis, 1904; a gold medal for decoration, Paris, 1900, silver, 1900; Clark Prize at the National Academy of Design in 1897, first Hallgarten Prize, National Academy of Design, 1898. He is a member of the Ten American Painters; academician of the National Academy of Design; also a member of The Players', Fencers', and Lambs Clubs. Address: 142 East 33d Street, New York City.

REID, Whitelaw:

Editor, diplomat; born Oct. 27, 1837, near Xenia, Ohio, of which town his father was one of the founders. He was graduated from Miami University, A.B., 1856, receiving from it the degree of A.M., 1859, LL.D., 1890; also degrees of A.M. from the University of the City of New York, 1872, and Dartmouth College, 1873; LL.D. from Princeton, 1899, Yale, 1901, University of Cambridge, England, 1902, St. Andrew's, Scotland, 1905; D.C.L. from the University of Oxford, 1907. Mr. Reid made speeches for the Republican Party in the Frémont Campaign, when not twenty years of age, and became editor of the Xenia News, and soon after became a correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette, in letters signed "Agate," which at the opening of the Civil War attracted wide attention because of their vigorous style and trustworthy information. He took part in the War as a volunteer aide-de-camp to General Morris, and afterward to General Rosecrans in the West Virginia campaigns. Later he was a war correspondent with the Army of the Cumberland and the Army of the Potomac, and was present at the battles of Shiloh and Gettysburg. He was librarian of the House of Representatives at Washington, 1863-1866, and at the same time Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette, of which he became one of the proprietors. After the war he accompanied Chief Justice Chase on a journey through the South, and afterward tried cotton-planting in Louisiana. In 1868, on the invitation of Horace Greeley, he took an editorial position on the New York Tribune, was quickly advanced to managing editor, and when in

WHITELAW REID
U. S. Ambassador to England

1872, Mr. Greeley accepted the nomination for the Presidency, he placed the whole control of the paper in Mr. Reid's hands, where it has remained ever since. After Mr. Greeley's death he became editor-in-chief and principal owner of the New York Tribune. Mr. Reid became in 1873, one of the pioneers in the movement for tall buildings in New York, erecting on the site of the old Tribune Building a new structure higher than any then existing in the city. It was at first an object of ridicule, and for years some of his newspaper rivals habitually alluded to him as "the young man in the tall tower," but within a little over thirty years he found this tall tower absolutely squat compared with the structures all around him, and doubled the height as well as the space occupied on the ground—making even then a building barely in proportion with its neighbors. He was the first to experiment with the imperfect linotype machine and introduce it in a daily newspaper office. He organized a syndicate to purchase the control while it was still undeveloped, organized the Linotype Company, became its first President, and established its manufactories in Brooklyn. Mr. Reid was elected, by the Legislature of New York, a regent for life of the University of the State of New York. He was offered the post of minister to Germany by Presidents Hayes and Garfield, declining in both instances. He was appointed, in 1889, American minister to France, serving until 1892. The public appreciation of his services abroad was expressed in dinners given by the Chamber of Commerce of New York, the Ohio Society, the Lotos Club and other organizations. The Chamber of Commerce elected him an honorary member, a mark of respect which, up to that time, had been bestowed on only fifteen other men during the century of the Chamber's existence. On his return to France Mr. Reid was nominated for vice-president of the United States on the ticket with President Harrison by the Republican National Convention of 1892. He was appointed by President McKinley special ambassador of the United States to Queen Victoria's Jubilee in 1897; was a member of the Peace Commission to Paris for the negotiation of a Peace Treaty with

Spain, securing Porto Rico, Guam and the Philippines, in 1898; was special ambassador to the coronation of Edward VII. in 1902; elected chancellor of the University of the State of New York in 1904, and in March, 1905, was appointed to his present post as ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary to the Court of St. James. Mr. Reid is author of: After the War, 1867; Ohio in the War, 1868; Memorial of Horace Greeley, 1873; Newspaper Tendencies, 1874; Town Hall Suggestions, 1881; Our New Duties, 1899; Our New Interests, 1900; Problems of Expansion, 1900; The Monroe Doctrine, the Polk Doctrine and Anarchism, 1903; The Thing To Do, a Phi Beta Kappa address, 1903. During his residence in Great Britain as ambassador, Mr. Reid has been called upon constantly to make speeches on all sorts of occasions. On the invitation of the University of Cambridge, in 1906, he delivered the opening address in the Senate House, for their Summer Meeting, on "The Rise of the United States in the Eighteenth Century," subsequently published under the title "The Greatest Fact in Modern History." On the occasion of receiving the freedom of Dundee, the same autumn, he delivered an address there, entitled "How the United States Faced Its Educational Problem." Before the University College Colston Society at Bristol he discussed in more detail the condition of scientific and technological education in the United States. At the dedication of the John Bright Memorial School at Llandudno, North Wales, he paid a tribute to John Bright's services to America in the Civil War. Before the Luton Chamber of Commerce he described the destruction by earthquake and fire and the rapid recuperation of San Francisco. In the autumn of 1908, in unveiling a tablet on Burke's old residence in Bath, he delivered an address on Edmund Burke as America's foremost friend in Great Britain. He has also delivered many addresses in London and throughout the United Kingdom, like those before the Nottingham Chamber of Commerce, under the presidency of the Duke of Portland, about the interdependence commercially of England and America, before the London Chamber on the same subject, and again to the commercial schools under its direction, in distributing the prizes to St. Olave's Grammar School, and to the Metropolitan School in the Royal Albert Hall, in presiding at dinners of the Royal Literary Fund, the Newspaper Press Fund, and for various hospitals, in receiving a bust of their founder for the Young Men's Christian Associations of America, in receiving a medal for an American astronomer from the Royal Astronomical Society, and in conferring one on a British explorer before the Royal Geographical Society; at the Christ Church dinner after receiving the degree of D.C.L. from Oxford, and again at Oxford to the Rhodes scholars; at the Lord Mayor's annual banquets in the Guildhall; in opening the Lord Mayor's fête for little cripples at the Mansion House, unveiling a tablet in Ware Church to the memory of the second President of Harvard, dedicating the Harvard Memorial Chapel in Southwark Cathedral, unveiling a memorial tablet in Salisbury Cathedral to the victims of the disaster to the American boat train, at the Independence day and Thanksgiving day dinners of the American Society in London, dinners of the Pilgrims, Atlantic Union, and United States Navy League; and at a multitude of other dinners for patriotic or charitable objects. Mr. Reid married, April 26, 1881, Elisabeth, daughter of D. O. Mills; and has two grown children, a son and a daughter. Residences: 451 Madison Avenue, New York City, and Ophir Hall, Purchase, Westchester County, N. Y. Present addresses: American Embassy, London, Dorchester House, Park Lane, W. C. London; and Wrest Park, Amptill, Bedfordshire, England.

REILLY, John Liguori:

Clergyman; born in Albany, N. Y., May 25, 1853; son of John and Rose (O'Neill) Reilly. He attended the Christian Brothers' Academy, Albany, N. Y., 1861-1868; Niagara University, 1868-1874; received the A.B., and A.M. degrees; also that of LL.D. in 1906; and he attended St. Joseph's Provincial Seminary, Troy, N. Y., 1874-1876, and was ordained priest there, June 10, 1876. He was successively assistant priest in the Adirondacks in 1876, St. John's Church, Syracuse, N. Y., 1876-1877; assistant priest at the Cathedral, Albany, bishop's secretary and chancellor, Albany Diocese; pastor of St. James' Church, Cazenovia, N. Y., 1882-1885; and has been pastor of St. John's Church, Schenectady, N. Y., since January, 1886. He was made dean of Schenectady, Montgomery, Fulton and Schoharie Counties in the Diocese of Albany, in 1904; made domestic prelate, with title of Rt. Rev. Monsignor, by Pope Pius X, on petition of Rt. Rev. Bishop Burke, in 1904. He is trustee of the Hospital Association of the City of Schenectady; chaplain of the Schenectady Police and Fire Departments and member of the Board of Trade of the City of Schenectady; also of the Knights of Columbus, Humane Society, Schenectady Charities Association, (chairman, committee on Dependent Children). Address: Schenectady, N. Y.

REINHARDT, Charles William:

Illustrator; born in Besigheim, Germany, March 21, 1858; son of Simon Friedrich and Karoline (Wucherer) Reinhardt. He was educated at Teachers' College in Esslingen, Germany. He landed in New Orleans in 1881, and after following various callings in the southwest entered the business of technical illustration. In 1892 he became connected with the Engineering News, and since that time has been chief draughtsman and editor of illustration of the same. He is the author of a large number of works and articles on technical illustration, including: Lettering for Draughtsmen, Engineers and Students; The Technique of Mechanical Drawing, and The Preparation of Drawings and Other Illustrations for Photo-Reproduction. He married in San Antonio, Texas, Feb. 13, 1888, Frances Demmler, and has three sons and two daughters. Residence: 62 Grand Avenue, Arlington, N. J. Office: 220 Broadway, New York City.

REMENSNYDER, Junius B.:

Clergyman; born in Staunton, Va., Feb. 24, 1844; son of Hon. John J. and Susan M. (Bryan) Remensnyder. He was graduated from Pennsylvania College, A.B., 1863 and later A.M., from Gettysburg Theological Seminary in 1865; and received from Newberry College, S. C., the degree of D.D. in 1880 and from New York University the LL.D. degree in 1902. He was pastor at Lewiston, Pa., 1866-1868; at Philadelphia, 1868-1874, Savannah, Ga., 1874-1880, and has been pastor of St. James Lutheran Church since 1881. He is president of the New York Lutheran Synod. He is author of: Heavenward, 1874; Doom Eternal, 1880; Six Creative Days, 1886; Work and Personality of Luther, 1888; Lutheran Manual, 1892; The Atonement and Modern Thought, 1905 (now in third edition). Mysticism, 1907 and The Past Apostolic Age, 1909. He served eleven months in the Army of the Potomac, in the 131st Pennsylvania Volunteers, Company B, from July, 1861, to May, 1862, and took part in the battles of Antietam, Fredericksburg and Chancellorsville. He is president of the Sigma Chi, a clerical interdenominational organization. Dr. Remensnyder married in Philadelphia, June 28, 1870, E. Louise Wagner, and they have two children: Address: 900 Madison Avenue, New York City.

REMEY, George Collier:

Rear-Admiral, U. S. Navy, retired; born in Burlington, Iowa, Aug. 10, 1841; son of William Butler and Eliza Smith (Howland) Remy, the former a native of Kentucky, the latter a native of Vermont; grandson of Nathaniel and Mathilda (Grigsby) Remy and of Seth and Harriet (Emmons) Howland, and a descendant of the Pilgrim, John Howland, who came to this country on the Mayflower, and landed at Plymouth, Mass., December, 1620. He was graduated from the U. S. Naval Academy in 1859. He served on the gunboat Marblehead at the siege of Yorktown, and operations on the York and the Pamunkey rivers succeeding; was on the blockade and engaged in the siege of Battery Wagner, August and September, 1863; for a time during this period commanded the Marblehead; commanded the Naval battery on Morris Island; took part in the bombardment of Fort Sumpter, where he commanded the second division of boats in a night assault on the fort on the night of Sept. 8, 1863, and was taken prisoner; was exchanged Nov. 15, 1864. After service in the various grades of his profession he commanded the cruiser Charleston, 1889-1892; was captain of the Navy Yard, Portsmouth, N. H., 1892-1895, and commandant of same yard, 1896-1898. He was promoted commodore June 19, 1897; commanded the naval base, Key West, Florida, during the Spanish war; afterwards commanded the Navy Yard, Portsmouth, N. H., 1898-1900. He was promoted rear admiral Nov. 22, 1898; was commander-in-chief of the Asiatic station, April, 1900, to March, 1902. He was Senior Rear-Admiral of the active list of the Navy from March, 1902, to Aug. 10, 1903, and was chairman of the Light House Board from May, 1902 to Aug. 10, 1903, when he was by operation of law retired from active service, 62 years of age. Admiral Remy took an important part in the Civil War, the war with Spain, the expedition to Peking, China, in 1900, and in the insurrection in the Philippines, April, 1900 to March, 1902. He was present at the bombardment of Valparaiso, Chile, by the Spanish fleet, April, 1866, and at the bombardment of Alexandria, Egypt, by the English fleet, July, 1882. He commanded the Naval force on the Rio Grande, November and December, 1875, and January, 1876, at a time when affairs on that border were critical. He took a conspicuous part when in command of the U. S. Cruiser Charleston in the Itata incident in the Pacific in 1891. He married July 8, 1873, Mary Josephine, daughter of Charles Mason, the first chief justice of Iowa. Address: 1527 New Hampshire Avenue, Washington, D. C.

REMINGTON, Frederic:

Painter and sculptor; born in Canton, N. Y., Oct. 4, 1861; son of Colonel S. P. Remington. He is self taught at Yale Art School and the New York Art Students' League; and for several years lived on ranch in the West. He has been connected as western correspondent and illustrator of magazines and writer of short stories; painter of pictures illustrative of Western American Life; sculptor of the Fairmount Park "Cow-Boy," in Philadelphia; and of the "Broncho-Buster," "Rattlesnake," "Mountain Man" and others. He is a member of the American Institute; and a member of the United States Cavalry Association. He is also a member of the Players' Club. He married Eva Adelle Caton, painter, sculptor and author. Address: Ridgefield, Conn.

REMSEN, Ira:

President of Johns Hopkins University; born in New York City, Feb. 10, 1846; son of James Vanderbilt Remsen and Rosanna (Sëcor) Remsen, and descendant of Rem Jansen Vanderbeek, who came to this country from the Netherlands in 1642, settling first at Albany, N. Y., and soon afterward at Wallabout (or Flatbush) Long Island. He was graduated from the College of the City of New York as A.B., 1865, and from the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Columbia University as M.D., 1867. He began the practice of medicine, but soon gave it up for the study of chemistry; went to Germany in 1867 studied at Munich under Liebig and under Volhard, and in 1868 went to Göttingen and studied under Wöhler and Fittig, and received the degree of Ph.D. in 1870. He was assistant in chemistry at the University of Tübingen under Fittig, 1870-1872, professor of chemistry at Williams College, 1872-1876; at Johns Hopkins University, 1876-1901. He was acting president in 1889 and 1890, and upon the resignation of President Gilman in 1901, he became president of Johns Hopkins University. President Remsen received the degree of LL.D. from Columbia, 1893, Princeton, 1896, Yale, 1901, and University of Toronto, 1902, and D.C.L. from the University of the South, 1907. He was vice-president in 1903 and was elected in 1907 president of the National Academy of Sciences, is a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science (president, 1903); was president of the American Chemical Society in 1902; is a member of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, American Philosophical Society; corresponding member of the British Association for the Advancement of Science; foreign member of the London Chemical Society; honorary member of the Pharmaceutical Society of Great Britain. President Remsen is the author of several chemical treatises and text-books, and many memoirs upon original researches in chemistry. He married in New York, April 5, 1875, Bessie H. Mallory. Address: Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore.

RESTARICK, Henry Bond:

Bishop of Honolulu; born in Somerset, England, Dec. 26, 1854; son of Edwin and Amelia Riall (Webb) Restarick. He was graduated from Griswold College, Davenport, Iowa, A.B., 1882 and later received the honorary degree of D.D. from King's College, Nova Scotia. In 1881 he was ordered deacon of the Episcopal Church and the following year was ordained priest by Bishop Perry of Iowa. He was in charge of Trinity Church, Muscatine, Iowa, 1881-1882, and of St. Paul's Church, San Diego, Calif., 1882-1902; consecrated bishop of Honolulu, 1902. He is author of: Lay Readers: Their History, Organization, and Work; The Love of God; also addresses on the Seven Last Words. Bishop Restarick married in 1882, May L. Baker. Address: Honolulu, T. H.

REUTER, Ludwig:

Technical and chemical expert; born in Nuremberg, Germany, July 30, 1862; son of E. C. H. Reuter, and Maria (Volek) Reuter. He was educated in the Gymnasium Humanistieum, Nuremberg, Germany, the Polytechnic School and Eckhart Laboratories, Nuremberg, the Universities of Kiel and Erlangen, where he received the degrees of D.S., A.C. and P.C. and Ph. D. from the Universities of Berne and Heidelberg. From 1879 to 1887, he studied at the Universities of Kiel, Heidelberg and Erlangen, and was chemical assistant in the laboratories at Lausanne, Switzerland, and at Nuremberg, Wiesbaden and Dresden, Germany. In 1888 he was volunteer military chemist, Germersheim-on-Rhine, Royal Bavarian Second Army Corps; and 1889-1891 he was first assistant to the University-Hospital Laboratories at Heidelberg; thesis inauguralis at the University Laboratory of Professor Dr. Krafft, Heidelberg. He was managing chemist of the Union of Chemical Works, Mannheim, 1892-1895; expert chemist with E. Merck at Darmstadt, Germany, (1895-1900) and chief chemist and director of the laboratories of Merck and Company, New York, 1895-1900; explored in Nicaragua and Mexico in 1901 and 1902; made technical investigations and did synthetic research work at Philadelphia in 1903 and 1904; 1905-1907 he was manager of the technical department and manufacturing of the New York Laboratories of Veroform Hygienic Company, of Berlin and New York City; 1907-1908 works manager of Magnesia Products Company, Berkeley, Calif.; 1908, investigations on cement, Rayolith, Radiolith materials. His travels have been extensive in the investigation of the development of industry and of new industries in Belgium, Italy, Austria, Russia, United States, Canada and Mexico. He was chief chemist to the Reserve and Landwehr, in the Royal Bavarian Second Army Corps. Dr. Reuter is a Republican in politics in the United States, a member of the National-Liberal party in Germany. In his religious denomination he is a German Lutheran. He was a member of the Board of Directors of the National Liberal party of Mannheim, Germany. He is a member of the American Chemical Society, Société Chimique de Paris, Deutsche Chemische Gesellschaft, the New York Academy of Sciences, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, American Society for Testing Materials, American Institute of Chemical Engineers, International Association for Testing Materials, the Historical Society, Chevalier de l'Ordre de Mérite Civil, 1895; and commandeur de l'Ordre pour le Mérite, 1900. He has made scientific and technical investigations and research work, covering many branches of industrial chemistry, and he has written and published technical papers on manufacturing, calculations, and patent matters, in German and American journals and exhibition of new synthetic products at numerous exhibitions. Temporary address: Syracuse, N. Y., P. O. Box 692.

REYBURN, John Edgar:

Mayor of Philadelphia; born at New Carlisle, Clark County, Ohio, Feb. 7, 1845. He was educated at Saunders' Institute, West Philadelphia; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in Philadelphia in 1870. He was a member of the House of Representatives of Pennsylvania, sessions of 1871, 1874, 1875, and 1876; was elected a member of the Senate of Pennsylvania in 1876, and reelected in 1880, 1884 and 1888, and was president pro tempore for the sessions of 1883, and was a Presidential elector in 1904. He was elected in the former Fourth District to serve out the unexpired term of Hon. William D. Kelley in the Fifty-first Congress, Feb. 18, 1890, and to the Fifty-second, Fifty-third and Fifty-fourth Congresses; was reelected in the Second District to the Fifty-ninth and to the Sixtieth Congresses, as a Republican; but resigned upon his election as mayor of Philadelphia, upon the duties of which office he entered, April 1, 1907. Residence: 1822 Spring Garden Street, Philadelphia.

REYNOLDS, D. A.:

President of the Great Eastern Telephone Company; born in Isabella County, Mich., April 21, 1854; son of John and Catherine (Grove) Reynolds. His parents were the first white family to settle in that part of the country. Mr. Reynolds engaged in farming until 1882; then spent fourteen years editing newspapers and also conducting extensive job-printing and real estate business. He, with eleven townsmen, represented the Lansing (Mich.) Board of Trade, 1896-1897; he organized a telephone and built the Lansing Telephone Exchange, of which he made a notable success, afterward organizing a company at Jackson, Mich., and subsequently others, and has assisted in securing nineteen franchises for independent companies, and is a stockholder in twenty-one independent companies. He is president and director of the Great Eastern Telephone Company; vice-president and manager of the State Line Telephone Company; president and director of the Coast Line Telephone Company; treasurer of the New York Electric Lines Company and Iron Telephone Company. He had charge of the first Bryan campaign in Michigan. He married in 1874, Seruah E. Vincent, and they have three children. Address: 2460 Seventh Avenue, New York City.

REYNOLDS, James Bronson:

Lawyer, expert in social statistics; born in Kiantone, N. Y., March 17, 1861; son of William T. and Sarah M. (Painter) Reynolds, both descendants of old New England families. He was educated in village schools at New Haven, Conn., Hopkins Grammar School, New Haven, and Yale, A.B., 1884, Yale Divinity School, 1888, and did post-graduate work in Paris and Berlin, fellow of sociology, in Columbia, and graduate in law course of New York University. As official representative of the College Young Men's Christian Association of America, he visited Great Britain and the European Continent, 1889-1893, at the same time studying the problems of social reform; returned to the United States in 1893, and in 1894 became head worker of the University Settlement, in New York City. He was an active worker on the Committee of Seventy in 1893, and served on many of its working committees; one of the committee of City Club, appointed in the fall of 1896 to prepare for the campaign of 1897, and chairman of the Executive Committee of Citizen's Union campaign of 1897; member of the State Tenement House Commission appointed by Governor Roosevelt, 1898; secretary to Mayor Low, 1902-1903; special adviser to the President on municipal affairs of the District of Columbia; member of Special Presidential Commission to Investigate the Chicago Stock Yards in 1906; chairman of the special commission appointed by the President to investigate labor and building conditions in the Isthmus of Panama, and made numerous reports in connection with important executive policies and acts of the Roosevelt administration. Mr. Reynolds is a member of the Municipal Art Society, National Municipal Reform League, and a member of the Century, City, National Arts, and Republican Clubs. He married in London, England, 1898, Florence Blanchard Dike of New York City. Address: The Century Association, 7 West 43d Street, New York City.

REYNOLDS, John Butler:

Lawyer; born in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Aug. 5, 1850. He was educated at Wyoming Seminary, Kingston, Pa., and Lafayette College. He studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1875, and practised his profession until 1887. In 1888 he was presidential elector on the Cleveland and Thurman ticket, and in 1890 candidate for Congress, but was defeated. In 1896 he was a delegate from his district to the National Democratic Convention which nominated Palmer and Buckner. In 1887 Mr. Reynolds organized the Wilkes-Barre and Kingston Bridge Company, and as its president and general manager was the leading spirit in building the three iron bridges across the Susquehanna River at Wilkes-Barre and the lowlands opposite and connecting the same with a macadamized road. In 1888 he organized the West Side Water Company, since absorbed by the Spring Brook Water Supply Company, and in 1889 he organized and built the West Side Electric Railway and was its president until its absorption by the Wyoming Valley Traction Company; organized and built the Wilkes-Barre & Harveys Lake Railroad (electric), and is prominently identified with a number of local enterprises. Mr. Reynolds married Emily Bradley Dain of Peekskill, New York. Address: Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

REYNOLDS, John Hugh:

Educator; born in Enola, Ark., Jan. 3, 1869; son of Jesse M. and Eliza (Grimes) Reynolds. He was graduated from Hendrix College, Conway, Ark., A.B., 1893; the University of Chicago, A.M., 1897, and special student in Columbia University, New York City. He was principal of the high school, Rover, Ark., 1893-1896, county examiner of Yell County, 1895-1896; professor of history and political science, Hendrix College, 1897-1902; vice-president, 1899-1902, professor of history and political science, University of Arkansas, since 1902, and president of the Arkansas Teachers Association in 1905. He is author of: Makers of Arkansas History, Educational pamphlets, and historical articles for magazines, and editor of volumes 1 and 2 of Publications of Arkansas Historical Association, and contributor to the South in the Building of the Nation. Mr. Reynolds organized in 1903, and since then secretary of the Arkansas Historical Association; author of laws of 1905, 1907, and 1909 creating and continuing the Arkansas History Commission, its secretary since its organization, and member of the American Historical Association, American Archives Commission, National Educational Association, secretary for the Arkansas National Conference of Charities and Corrections, and member of the Mississippi Valley Historical Association. He married in Brookfield, Mo., June 27, 1895, Margaret Harwood, and has four children. Address 814 West Maple Street, Fayetteville, Ark.

REYNOLDS, John Merriam:

Congressman, lawyer and banker; born in Lancaster County, Pa. He was graduated from the First Pennsylvania State Normal School, and received the degree of A. M. from Columbian University. He is engaged in the practice of law and in banking, and is associated with the Colonial Iron Company in the mining of coal and manufacture of pig iron at Riddlesburg, Pa. He represented the district of Bedford and Fulton Counties in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, 1873-1874; and was elected prosecuting attorney of his county in 1875. In 1892 he was appointed by Governor Pattison one of the five commissioners authorized by an act of Legislature to select a site and build an asylum for the chronic insane at Wernersville, Pa.; was a delegate to the conventions that nominated Mr. Cleveland at St. Louis in 1888, and at Chicago in 1892. In 1893 he was tendered by President Cleveland the office of assistant secretary of the interior, and entered upon its duties April 15, 1893. He tendered his resignation March 5, 1897, which was accepted June 1, following. In 1896 he supported Mr. McKinley for the Presidency, and has since been identified with the Republican party; in 1904 he was nominated for Congress without opposition at the primary elections of the three counties of Bedford, Blair, and Cambria, composing the Nineteenth Congressional District, and was elected to the Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth Congresses and reelected to the Sixty-first Congress from the Nineteenth Pennsylvania District. Mr. Reynolds is married and has three children. Address: Bedford, Pa.

RHINOCK, Joseph Lafayette:

Congressman and oil refiner; born in Owenton, Owen County, Ky., Jan. 4, 1863; son of Joseph and Eliza A. (Short) Rhinock. He served in the City Council of Covington, and was twice elected as chief executive of that city, serving as mayor from 1893 to 1900. He was the organizer and first president of the Jefferson Democratic Club, of Covington, now the largest and most influential political club in the State of Kentucky, and he is at present the executive head of this organization. When a Carnegie library was proposed for the city, Mr. Rhinock took the matter in charge, and it was through his efforts that the present handsome $100,000 edifice was secured. Mr. Rhinock is the present president of the Public Library Board in Covington. He is a director in two national banks, and holds important business interests in the city of Covington. He was elected to the Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth Congresses, and reelected to the Sixty-first Congress from the Sixth Kentucky District. He married in Cincinnati, Ohio, Nov. 1, 1883, Emma McKain, and they have four children. Residence: Covington, Ky. Office: Cincinnati Trust Company, Cincinnati.

RHODES, Bradford:

Banker; born in Beaver County, Pa., Feb. 25, 1849. He enlisted, 1863, as drummer in the 134th Pennsylvania Volunteers (Col. M. S. Quay's Regiment), and spent some time in Camp Curtin, at Harrisburg, but was not allowed to go to the front on account of youthful appearance and delicate health. Early in life he was principal of the Darlington Academy in Western Pennsylvania; in 1872 he came to New York City and entered upon journalism; in 1877. started Rhoades' Journal of Banking, and in 1895, he bought the Bankers' Magazine, and merged into it his first journal. In 1903 he sold the publishing business, and now gives his entire time to banking. He was elected to the New York Assembly in 1887, serving three successive terms, and was chairman of Committee on Banks and Banking during his entire service in Legislature; in 1892 received unanimous nomination for Congress by his Congressional district, but declined the honor. He is president of the Union Savings Bank of Westchester County, also of the First National Bank of Mamaronock, N. Y.; founder and first president of the Thirty-fourth Street National Bank of New York, and is head of the banking firm of Bradford Rhodes & Company. He served two terms as a member of the Executive Council of the American Bankers' Association; and was vice-president for the State of New York of that Association, 1907-1908. Residence: Quaker Ridge Farm, near Mamaronock, N. Y. Office: 76 William Street, New York City.

RHODES, Stephen H.:

President of the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company of Boston; born in Franklin, Mass., Nov. 7, 1825; son of Stephen and Betsey (Bird) Rhodes. He was engaged in manufacturing and mercantile business, until he became interested in life insurance. He was mayor of Taunton, Mass., three years; a member of the Massachusetts Senate, 1870-1871, and the following year he was appointed deputy insurance commissioner of Massachusetts. He succeeded Mr. Clark as insurance commissioner in 1874, and was appointed in 1877. Mr. Rhodes resigned in 1879 to accept the presidency of the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance. He married in Taunton, Mass., Nov. 27, 1847, E. M. Godfrey. Residence: 81 Harvard Avenue, Brookline, Mass. Office: 178 Devonshire Street, Boston.

RHODES, Thomas D.:

Railway official; born in Pennsylvania, April 27, 1858; son of Rev. Daniel and Louisa Marian (Cunard) Rhodes. He was educated in the public schools of Ohio. He was officially connected successively with the Cincinnati Southern, Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern, South Carolina and Georgia Extension, Northern Alabama, Cincinnati, Portsmouth and Virginia, and Detroit Southern railroads, (and was receiver of the latter company). He is receiver of the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railway; president of the Railways Company General, Louisburg, Milton and Watsontown Street Railway and of the Montoursville Street Railway; vice-president of the New York Westchester & Boston Railroad Company, and the City and County Contract Company; director of the Ann Arbor Railroad Company; Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railway, New York-Westchester Townsite Company and of New York, Westchester and Boston Railroad Company. He is a member of the Ohio Society, Sons of the Revolution, and Ohio Society of Sons of the American Revolution, and Republican Club. Mr. Rhodes married in Glendale (a suburb of Cincinnati), Ohio, Nov. 22, 1882, Laura May Lovell, and they have two children. Residence: East Orange, N. J. Address: 30 Broad Street, New York City.

RICE, Alice (Caldwell) Hegan:

Author; born in Shelbyville, Ky., Jan. 11, 1870; daughter of Samuel Watson and Sallie (Caldwell) Hegan. She was educated in Hampton College, a large private school in Louisville, Ky. She married in Louisville, Dec. 18, 1902, Cale Young Rice, author and dramatist. From her childhood she has delighted in the writing of stories, but never attempted anything more than occasional contributions to the comic papers until 1901, when she published Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch; and in 1903 its sequel, Lovey Mary, was published. From these two books the play, Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch was made, and this play has been running ever since, both in the United States and Europe. Her other books are: Sandy, 1905; Captain Jane, 1907; Mr. Opp, 1908; and she has also written a few short stories published in various magazines. Her books have been widely translated. Two of them appeared serially in the Bibliothèque Universelle, and have been translated into French, German, Swedish and Norwegian, and "Mrs. Wiggs" is also published in raised type for the blind. With her husband she spends much of her time in travel in Europe and the Far East, enjoys the London season, and usually spends part of each winter in New York, but retains her home in Louisville. She is a member of the Church of the Disciples, is a member of many local and several national societies (mostly philanthropic), of the Lyceum Club of London and the Woman's Club of Louisville. Address: St. James Court, Louisville, Ky.

RICE, Cale Young:

Poet and dramatist; born in Dixon, Ky., Dec. 7, 1872; son of Laban M. and Martha (Lacy) Rice. He was graduated from Cumberland University, A.B., 1893, Harvard, A.B., 1895, A.M., 1896, both with honorable mention; then became professor of English literature at Cumberland, resigning to write poetry. He is author of: From Dusk to Dusk (poem); Song-Surf (poems); Charles di Tocca, David, Yolanda of Cyprus, and A Night in Avignon (poetic dramas), the latter successfully produced in 1906; Nirvana-Days (poems). Mr. Rice is connected with various business, literary and social interests. He married in Louisville, Ky., Dec. 18, 1902, Alice Caldwell Hegan, the distinguished authoress. Address: 33 St. James Court, Louisville, Ky.

RICE, Calvin W.:

Secretary of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers; born in Winchester, Mass., Nov. 4, 1868; son of Edward H. and Lucy J. (Staples) Rice. He was graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, B.S., 1890. Mr. Rice was with the Thomson-Houston Electric Company, 1889-1895; engineer of the Silver Lake Mines in 1896; consulting engineer of the Anaconda Copper Mining Company, 1897-1898; engineer of the Kings County Electric Light and Power Company of Brooklyn, 1899; New York Edison Company, 1889-1902; second vice-president of the Nernst

Lamp Company, 1902-1903; consulting engineer of the General Electric Company, 1905-1906, and has been secretary of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers since 1906. He is a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, American Institute of Electrical Engineers, Institution of Electrical Engineers of London, Engineers' Club, and the Society of Colonial Wars. Mr. Rice married in Winchester, Mass., Aug. 6, 1904, Ellen M. Weibezahn, and they have one son. Address: 29 West 29th Street, New York City.

RICE, Isaac Leopold:

Financier; born in Wachenheim, Bavaria, Feb. 22, 1850; son of Maier and Fanny (Sohn) Rice. He was educated at the Central High School at Philadelphia, and was graduated from Columbia Law School, LL.B., 1880 and received from Bates College the degree of LL.D. in 1902. He was an instructor at Columbia Law School and lecturer at School of Political Science until 1886, when he resigned and devoted himself exclusively to the practice of railroad law, and in that specialty has been identified with many important negotiations, reorganizations and litigations, in which he has been eminently successful. He was virtually the founder of the storage battery industry of the United States and was president of the Electric Storage Battery Company; founded the electric automobile industry by organizing the Electric Vehicle Company, of which he was the first president; organized and became president of the Electric Boat Company, which purchased the Holland Torpedo Boat Company; also organized the Car Lighting and Power Company, of which he is president; organized the Casein Company of America and the Forum Publishing Company. He is president and director of all these companies, and also of the Electric Launch Company, Industrial Oxygen Company, New Jersey Development Company, Société Française de Sousmarin, of Paris, France, International Trade Development Company, National Torpedo Company; Consolidated Railway Lighting and Refrigerating Company, Consolidated Railway Electric Lighting and Equipment Company, Railway Stationary & Refrigerating Company, Lindstrom Brake Company, president, treasurer and director of the Casein Company, National Milk Sugar Company, Dry Milk Company, the Rosemary Creamery Company, the Quaker City Chemical Company, Casein Manufacturing Company; chairman of the Board of Directors of the Consolidated Rubber Tire Company; director of the Buckeye Rubber Company, and Chicago Electric Traction Company. He is a member of the Franklin Institute of Pennsylvania and of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York. His recreation is chess. He invented an opening known as the Rice Gambit and presented a handsome silver trophy for International Universities Chess Matches between America and England, and two handsome trophies to the Triangular Chess League. Has contributed many articles to the North American Review, the Forum and the Century. He is a member of the St. George's Chess Club (London), the Manhattan and Rice Chess Clubs of New York City, Brooklyn Chess Club and New York State Chess Association, also a member of the Lawyers', Harmonie, Automobile, Lotos (New York City), Union League (Chicago), City Liberal (London). He married, New York City, in 1885, Julia Hyneman Barnett, and they have six children. Residence: Riverside Drive and 89th Street. Office: 5 Nassau Street, New York City.

RICE, William North:

Geologist: born in Marblehead, Mass., Nov. 21, 1845; son of William and Caroline Laura (North) Rice. He was graduated from Wesleyan University, B.A., 1865, Yale University (Sheffield Scientific School), Ph.D., 1867, and received from Syracuse University, LL.D., 1886. He was professor of natural history and geology, Wesleyan University, 1867-1884; professor of geology since 1884; acting president, 1907-1909; assistant geologist of the U. S. Geological Survey, 1891-1892; superintendent of the Connecticut Geological and Natural History Survey, since 1903. He is author of: Geology of Bermuda; Science Teaching in the Schools, Twenty-five Years of Scientific Progress and other essays, Christian Faith in an Age of Science; (edited) Dana's Text-book of Geology; Manual of the Geology of Connecticut (with H. C. Gregory), and numerous articles in scientific, educational, and religious journals. He is a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science (fellow, vice-president, 1905), the Geological Society of America; American Society of Naturalists (president, 1891), Connecticut Academy of Arts and Sciences, Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi Societies and Phi Nu Theta fraternity and is a member of the New York East Conference, Methodist Episcopal Church. He married in Worcester, Mass., April 12, 1870, Elizabeth Wing Crowell, and they have had two children, one living. Address: Middletown, Conn.

RICHARD, Oscar L.:

Banker and steamship agent; born in Brooklyn, N. Y., June 2, 1855; son of Charles B. and Julia (Hiller) Richard. He was graduated from Charlier French Institute, New York, in 1872. He is the senior member of the firm of C. B. Richard & Company, bankers which his father founded in 1847; also general agents of the Russian Volunteer Fleet; Lloyd Italiano Steamship Company; Prince Line; and the New York and Connecticut Line. Mr. Richard is president of the State Bank. He is a member of the Produce Exchange, the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York, Italian Chamber of Commerce, New York, American Chamber of Commerce, Paris, and American Chamber of Commerce, Naples. In politics he is a Republican. He is a member of the Veterans' Association, New York Athletic, Automobile of America, Atlantic Yacht and Baltusrol Golf Clubs. Mr. Richard married in New York, Dec. 20, 1883, Alice Littauer, sister of Congressman Lucius N. Littauer, and they have three children: Harold C., Walter L., and George N. Residence: 46 East 72d Street. Address: 31-33 Broadway, New York City.

RICHARDS, Harry Sanger:

Dean of the Law School of the University of Wisconsin; born in Osceola, Iowa, 1868; son of John W. and Anna M. (Curtier) Richards. He was graduated from Parsons College, Fairfield, Iowa, State University of Iowa, Ph.B., 1892, Harvard Law School, LL.B., 1895 cum laude; and the State University of Iowa, LL.D., 1904. He practised law in Ottumwa, Iowa, 1895-1898; professor of law University of Iowa, 1898-1903, and dean of the University of Wisconsin Law School since 1903. He is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society, Theta Kappa Nu and Phi Delta Phi fraternities; Executive Committee, American Law School Association, 1903-1906; chairman of the Section on Legal Education, since 1909, and member of the American Bar Association. He is author of papers on legal education before the American Bar Association, and of articles in law magazines. Professor Richards married in Janesville, Wis., 1901, Mary C. Holt, and has one son. Address: Madison, Wis.

RICHARDS, Joseph William:

Professor of metallurgy; born in England, July 28, 1864; son of Joseph and Bridgett (Harvey) Richards. He was graduated from the Philadelphia Central High School, A.B., 1882, Lehigh University, A.C., 1886, M.S., 1889, Ph.D., 1893; Heidelberg, Germany, 1897-1898; Bergakademie, Freiburg, Saxony. He was assistant superintendent of the Delaware Metal Refinery, 1886-1887, instructor in mineralogy and metallurgy, Lehigh University, 1887-1897; assistant professor, 1897-1905, and professor of metallurgy since 1905. He is president of the Electrochemical Publishing Company, N. Y. City; secretary (first president) of the American Electrochemical Society, member of the Franklin Institute, American Institute of Mining Engineers, American Chemical Society, the Iron and Steel Institute of Great Britain, Faraday Society of Great Britain, Bunsen Society of Germany, National Geological Congress, International Electrical Congress, International Congress of Applied Chemistry, International Society of Testing Materials, American Brass Founders Association, and the Chemists' Club of New York City. Professor Richards is a patent and legal expert in chemical and metallurgical cases, particularly in electrochemistry and electrometallurgy, and is author of: Aluminium, 3rd edition; Metallurgical Calculations, part 1, 21, 3, and translator of four Electrochemical Monographs from the German. He married in Philadelphia, March 12, 1887, Annamarie Gadd (second cousin), and they have three children. Residence: University Park. Office: Lehigh University, South Bethlehem, Pa.

RICHARDSON, Clifford:

Chemical engineer; born in Worcester, Mass., March 6, 1856; son of George Washington and Lucy Dana (White) Richards. He was graduated from Harvard University, 1877; and student at Bonn, Germany, 1878. In 1878 he was appointed an assistant in the U. S. Geological Survey, and was later under the Department of Agriculture, serving until 1887 as principal assistant chemist, when he resigned and became chemist of the Engineer Department of the District of Columbia. This work involved extensive examinations into the characteristics of asphalt pavement, and he became a nationally known expert on this subject. He resigned from the service of the District of Columbia in 1894, and after two years of private practice in Washington and London was appointed superintendent of tests of the Barber Asphalt Paving Company. He retired from that position in 1900, and is now proprietor of the New York Testing Laboratory, carrying out tests and investigations in asphalt, Portland Cement and bitumen. He is a member of the American Society of Chemical Engineers; American Chemical Society; Chemical Society of London; German Chemical Society; Society of Chemical Industry, London; and associate member of American Society of Mechanical Engineers, and many other technical societies, and of the University, Century and Chemists' Clubs of New York. He is the author of: On American Cereals, 1883, 1884, 1886; Adulterations of Spices and Condiments, 1887; On the Nature and Origin of Asphalt, 1898; The Constitution of Portland Cement from a Physico-Chemical Standpoint, 1904; the Modern Asphalt Pavement, 1905. He has been a member of the Committee of Overseers of Harvard, to visit the Chemical Laboratory since 1904. He married in Washington, 1894, Teresa Stoughton. Residence: 122 East 34th Street. Office: 30 Church Street, New York City.

RICHARDSON, Henry Alden:

U. S. senator; born in Camden, Del., Jan. 1, 1853; son of Alden B. and Lucy Richardson; resident of Dover, Del., from the age of three. He was educated in the schools there and at East Greenwich, R. I. He entered his father's packing and canning establishment at the age of 16, became a partner in 1876, and sole owner on the death of his father, in 1894. He was Republican nominee for governor of Delaware in 1890, but defeated in the election. He was voted for as a candidate for U. S. senator at each session of the Delaware Legislature from 1895 to 1907, and in the later year was elected for the term expiring March 3, 1913. He is president of the First National Bank of Dover, Del., of the Dover Gas Light Company, Diamond State Telephone Company, and the Delaware Fire Insurance Company. He is a member of the Society of Colonial Wars, the Society of Mayflower Descendants, Union League Club of Philadelphia, and the Kent Club of Dover. He married in Dover, Del., in 1876, Priscilla Walker. Address: Dover, Del.

RICHARDSON, Leander:

Journalist, author; born in Cincinnati, Feb. 28, 1856; son of Albert D. and Mary Louise Richardson. He was educated in common schools; has written as correspondent and staff member for nearly all leading newspapers. He was editor of the Dramatic News, 1891-1896; on editorial staff of the New York Morning Telegraph, 1896-1900, and during that period his signed articles were a very popular feature of that publication. He is also author of various volumes of sketches, novels and plays, and adapter of various plays from the French for New York production. He is now editor of the New York Inquirer. Address: 116 West 39th Street, New York City.

RICHARDSON, William:

Congressman and lawyer; born in Athens, Ala.; entered the Confederate Army when sixteen years old, and fought until totally disabled from wounds received at Chickamauga; was paroled at Marietta, Ga., in 1865. He was elected from Limestone County to the House of Representatives of Alabama in 1866; was admitted to the bar in 1867, and located in the practice of law at Huntsville, Ala. He was judge of the Court of Probate and County Court of Madison County, Ala., 1875-1886; Democratic elector from the State at large in 1888. When General Joseph Wheeler, who was member of Congress from the Eighth Alabama District, was appointed to the Regular Army, in 1900, and resigned his seat, Mr. Richardson was elected to succeed him in the second session of the Fifty-Sixth Congress, and he was afterward reelected to the Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses, as a Democrat. Address: Huntsville, Ala.

RICHMOND, Charles Alexander:

President of Union University; born in New York, 1863; son of Archibald Murray and Margaret (Law) Richmond. He was graduated from Princeton University, A.B., 1883, A.M., 1886, and Hamilton College, D.D., 1905. He is author of: The Four Winds (musical). He is a member of the Buffalo Historical Society, Albany Historical Society, trustee of the Elmira College, Albany Girls Academy, Albany Guild for the Sick; president of the Albany Musical Association, St. Andrew's Society, Burns Club, and a member of the Fort Orange and Country Clubs of Albany, and the Century and Princeton Clubs of New York City. He married in Buffalo, N. Y., 1891, Sarah Cooper Locke, and they have three children. Address: Union College, Schenectady, N. Y.

RICHTER, Henry Joseph:

Catholic bishop; born in Neuenkirchen, Oldenburg, Germany, April 9, 1838; son of John Henry and Anna Maria Elizabeth (Albers) Richter. He received his preliminary education in Germany, came to the United States in 1854, and attended the College of St. Xavier in Cincinnati, and afterward the Seminary of Mt. St. Mary's, in that city, going thence to the American College in Rome, from which he was graduated, D.D., and ordained priest in 1865. He returned to the Mt. St. Mary's Seminary in Cincinnati, as its vice-president and professor of dogmatic theology, philosophy and liturgies, for five years; then rector of St. Lawrence and chaplain of the Academy of Mt. St. Vincent from 1870 until consecrated, in 1883, the first bishop of Grand Rapids. Address: Grand Rapids, Mich.

RICKARDS, John Ezra:

Government official, ex-governor; born in Delaware City, Del., July 23, 1848; son of David Townsend and Mary (Burris) Rickards. He has served as a member of the Upper House of the Montana Territorial Legislature; member of the Montana Constitutional Convention which framed the present State Constitution. He was first lieutenant-governor of Montana, 1889-1893, and the second governor, 1893-1897; supervisor of Census for Montana, 1900, and special agent, Bureau of Statistics, U. S. Department of Agriculture, since 1903. Mr. Rickards has also held the position of alderman of Butte, and senator of the Territory of Montana. He married, June 18, 1883, Eliza A. B. Ellis, and has five children. Residence: 2719 Derby Street, Berkeley. Office: 85 Bacon Block, Oakland, Calif.

RICKETTS, Palmer Chamberlaine:

President Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute; born in Elkton, Md., Jan. 17, 1856; son of Palmer C. and Eliza (Getty) Ricketts. He was graduated from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, C.E., 1875, receiving the degree of Doctor of Engineering (E.D.) from Stevens Institute of Technology in 1905. He was instructor in mathematics at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, 1875-1882; assistant professor, 1882-1884; professor of rational and technical mechanics in 1884; director since 1892 to date; president and director since Feb., 1901. He has also been engaged for railway and other corporations for the design and construction of bridges and hydraulic works. He is consulting bridge engineer for the Troy and Boston Railroad, and Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg Railroad; engineer for Public Improvements Commission of Troy, N. Y., etc. He is a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, and Institution of Civil Engineers of Great Britain. He is the author of: The History of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, 1895, and contributor to many technical journals and transactions of societies. He is a member of the Troy (Troy) and Union (New York City) Clubs. He married, Nov. 12, 1902, V. C. Renshaw, of Baltimore. Address: Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N. Y.

RICKETTS, Robert Bruce:

Soldier; born at Orangeville, Columbia County, Pa., April 29, 1839, of Scotch and English descent. He was educated at the Wyoming Seminary, and was reading law when the war began. He promptly entered the Union service, and, having assisted in recruiting a battery, was commissioned first lieutenant of Battery F, First Pennsylvania Artillery, Forty-third Regiment, July 8, 1861; promoted to captain, May 8, 1863; to major, Dec. 4, 1864; and to colonel, March 15, 1865. The battery was furnished during the month of Aug., 1861, with horses and equipments and four smooth-bore guns. On Sept. 12, the battery was ordered to join Banks's command at Dorranceton, Md., and was from that date in active service to the close of the war. Colonel Ricketts had his first engagement Dec. 20, 1861, with a body of the enemy's artillery and cavalry, which was attempting the destruction of Dam Number Five, on the Upper Potomac. For more than three years from that time on he was constantly at the front, and his battery became one of the most famous in the Union Army. In almost every one of the engagements of 1862, 1863 and 1864, in Maryland and Virginia, it was prominently engaged, and at Gettysburg, especially, it did brilliant service in assisting to repel the invasion of the Confederates on the right of the Union lines at Cemetery Ridge. When promoted major he left his battery and was assigned to the command of the Second Army Corps batteries in the Ninth Corps line; afterward as inspector of Artillery for the Ninth Corps. This last position he held during most of the winter of 1864-1865, and while the army was in front of Petersburg, and he retained it until after Lee's surrender. He was then inspector of the Artillery Reserve under General William Hayes. After the war he was urged to join the regular service, but returned to private life. Colonel Ricketts was a Hancock delegate to the Cincinnati Convention, where the Democracy named the great General for the Presidency, and in 1886 he was nominated as Democratic candidate for lieutenant-governor of Pennsylvania. Colonel Ricketts was a National Commissioner from Pennsylvania to the World's Columbian Exposition at Chicago in 1893; and was a delegate-at-large from Pennsylvania to the Indianapolis Convention, at which Palmer and Buckner were nominated by the Gold Democrats in 1896. Address: Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

RIDDER, Henry:

Publisher of the American Home Monthly and The Catholic News; born in New York City, Nov. 18, 1863. He was educated at De La Salle College, New York City. Mr. Ridder has always been in the publishing business, and is proprietor and publisher of the American Home Monthly; president and treasurer of the Catholic News. He is a member of the Catholic, New York Press, and German Press Clubs. Address: 27 Spruce Street, New York City.

RIDDER, Herman:

Journalist; born in New York City, March 5, 1851. At the age of eleven years he obtained employment in a hat store and shortly afterwards secured a position as messenger with a Wall Street firm, where he remained until thirteen years of age, when he entered the employ of the Trades-men's Fire Insurance Company. He left the insurance business to take up newspaper work and founded the Katholisches Volksblatt in 1878. In 1886 he established the Catholic News. Mr. Ridder became a stockholder in the New Yorker Staats-Zeitung in 1890 and was elected a director and the treasurer and manager. These offices he filled until he became the president of the corporation, which office he now holds. Mr. Ridder has taken an active part in politics, as an Independent Democrat. He was a prominent participant in the Cleveland campaigns and in the various Reform movements in New York. During the Bryan campaign of 1908 he was appointed treasurer of the Democratic National Committee, upon the resignation of Governor Haskell of Oklahoma. He is a trustee of the Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank, Mutual Life Insurance Company, and the German Hospital; director and the treasurer of the New York City Publishers' Association, the Associated Press, and president of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association. Mr. Ridder is a member of the Chamber of Commerce and of the Manhattan, Liederkrantz, Arion, Catholic, Reform, Democratic, City, New York Press, German Press and Hardware Clubs, and the Deutscher Verein. He is also a member of the Charity Organization Society, the Isabella Heimath, the German Society, the St. Vincent de Paul Society, the Legal Aid Society and a large number of similar organizations. He is a member of the American Natural History Society and of the Metropolitan Museum of Art Society and other societies of a like character. Address: The Staats-Zeitung, New York City.

RIDDLE, John Wallace:

Ambassador; born in Philadelphia, July 12, 1864; son of John Wallace and Rebecca Blair (McClure) Riddle. He was graduated from Harvard, A.B., 1887; studied law at the Law School of Columbia University, 1888-1891. but desiring to especially fit himself for a diplomatic career he went to Paris in 1891, where he entered the École des Sciences Politiques, remaining there for two years and taking the courses in international law, history and diplomacy, and he also received from the Collège de France, in 1893, a certificate of proficiency in the Russian language. He entered the diplomatic service of the United States in 1893, as secretary of the Legation to Turkey, in which position he remained until 1900; then was secretary of the American Embassy to Russia, 1901-1903, was diplomatic agent and consul-general to Egypt, 1903-1905, and he was appointed, in March, 1905, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to Roumania and Servia, maintaining his official residence at Bucharest until Dec., 1906, when he was appointed American ambassador to Russia, which important post he is now filling. Mr. Riddle is a member of the Union Club of New York, Metropolitan Club of Washington, Rittenhouse Club of Philadelphia, and the Minnesota Club of St. Paul. Address: American Embassy, St. Petersburg, Russia.

RIDEING, William Henry:

Associate editor of the Youth's Companion; born in Liverpool, England, in 1853, of a line of seafaring men, his great-uncle having been Sir Edward Walpole Browne, Royal Navy, and his father a well-known Cunard officer. He was educated privately; came to the United States in 1869; and at the age of nineteen became an assistant editor of the New York Tribune; and afterwards special correspondent of New York Times. He was with the U. S. Geographical Survey for three years; a frequent contributor of Harper's publications, The Century, Scribner's Magazine, etc.; attached to the staff of the Youth's Companion since 1881; appointed managing editor of the North American Review, 1888; resigned, 1899. He is the author of thirteen volumes of fiction, travel, and criticism, including: A Little Upstart; A-saddle in the Wild West; Thackery's London; In the Land of Lorna Doone; The Boyhood of Living Authors; How Tyson Came Home; and others. He is a member of The Players' Club of New York. Mr. Rideing married Margaret Elinor, daughter of C. E.

Bockus, editor of the Boston Herald. Office address: Care The Youth's Companion, Boston.

RIDGELY, William Barrett:

Financier; born in Springfield, Ill., July 19, 1858; son of Charles and Jane N. (Barret) Ridgely. He was graduated from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, C.E., 1879. He became vice-president of the Ridgely National Bank of Springfield, Ill., and 1884-1899 was vice-president and general manager of the Springfield Iron Company, and president of the Wilmington and Springfield Coal Company. In 1899 he left Springfield to become secretary of the Republic Iron and Steel Company of Chicago. In Oct., 1901, he was appointed Comptroller of the Currency of the United States, and served with marked ability in that responsible position, resigning March 30, 1908, to become president of the National Bank of Commerce of Kansas City, Mo., one of the leading financial institutions of the southwest. He is also president of the Witherbee Ignite Company of New York City. Mr. Ridgely was postmaster of Springfield, Ill., 1897-1899, and is a prominent member of the Republican party, having been a delegate to the National Republican Convention in 1908 from the 21st Illinois District. He is a member of the Iron and Steel Institute of Great Britain, American Institute of Mining Engineers, American Society of Mechanical Engineers, National Geographic Society, and the Chi Phi fraternity. He is also a member of the Metropolitan Club and Chevy Chase Club of Washington, D. C.; Chicago and University Clubs of Chicago; Republican Club of New York; Kansas City Country, Kansas City, University, and Mid-Day Clubs of Kansas City; and the Sangamo Club of Springfield, Ill. He married at Springfield, Ill., in 1882, Miss Ella M. Culom, daughter of Senator Culom. She died in 1902 and Mr. Ridgely married at Washington, D. C., Dec. 30, 1905, Kate Deering. He has two daughters. Residence: 46th and Walnut Streets. Office: National Bank of Commerce, Kansas City.

RIDGWAY, Robert:

Curator, Division of Birds, U. S. National Museum; born at Mt. Carmel, Ill., July 2, 1850; son of David and Henrietta J. (Reed) Ridgway. He was educated in the common schools of Mount Carmel, and received the honorary M.S. from the University of Indiana, 1884. He was zoölogist of the U. S. Geological Exploration of Fortieth Parallel, 1867-1869, and has been curator of the Division of Birds of the U. S. National Museum, since 1876. Dr. Ridgway was a member of Advisory Council of World's Congresses, at the World's Columbian Exposition, 1893; member of the International Permanent Ornithological Committee, Vienna, 1885, and second International Ornithological Congress, Budapest, 1891. He has traveled very extensively in North America; went from New York City to Alaska with the Harriman Expedition, May-Aug., 1899, and in Costa Rica, as guest of Señor José C. Zeledow, Dec., 1904, to May, 1905. He is author of: Birds of North and Middle America (eight volumes); joint author, with Professor Spencer F. Baird and Dr. Thomas M. Brewer, of the five-volume work: History of North American Birds; author of a two-volume work on: Birds of Illinois, and many other works and papers on American avifauna. He is a fellow of the American Ornithologists' Union (twice vice-president, and president, 1899-1900); member of the American Forestry Association, Washington Biological Society, Washington Academy of Sciences; corresponding member of the New York Academy of Science; member of the Philadelphia Academy of Science; corresponding member of the Boston Zoölogical Society; member of the Boston Society of Natural History; corresponding member of the Chicago Academy of Sciences, Michigan Ornithological Club, Davenport Academy of Science, Washington Philosophical Society, honorary member of Nuttall Ornithological Club, British Ornithologists' Union; corresponding member of London Zoölogical Society, Manchester (England) Literary and Philosophical Society, and Australian Ornithologists' Union. Mr. Ridgway married in Washington, D. C., Oct. 12, 1875, Julia Evelyn Perkins, and they had one son, now deceased. Residence: 3353 Eighteenth Street, N. W. Address: Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D. C.

RIDLON, John:

Orthopedic surgeon; born in Clarendon, Vt., Nov. 24, 1852; son of Noel P. and Nancy B. (Hulett) Ridlon. He was educated in Tufts College, and the University of Chicago, A.B.; the College of Physicians and Surgeons of New York, M.D.; and received an honorary A.M. from Tufts College. Dr. Ridlon's record of orthopedic surgery covers many years of successful treatment and of notable lecture courses in this special branch of surgery, in which the increase of the possibility of restoring movement and self-helpfulness to the crippled has been among the most brilliant of the surgical achievements of the present generation. In this advance Dr. Ridlon has taken a brilliant part. He is orthopedic surgeon to Michael Reese, Mercy, Presbyterian and Evanston Hospitals; surgeon in charge of Home for Destitute Crippled Children; was orthopedic surgeon to St. Luke's Hospital, and Wesley, Chicago; assistant and attending orthopedic surgeon to St. Luke's Hospital, New York, for eight years; assistant surgeon to the New York Orthopedic Hospital and Dispensary for seven years; assistant surgeon in charge of orthopedic cases at Vanderbilt Clinic for three and a half years; attending orthopedic surgeon to out patients, Bellevue Hospital, New York, two years; lecturer on orthopedic surgery, medical department of the University of the City of New York, five years; and house physician and house surgeon (Interne) at St. Luke's Hospital, New York, two years. He is a member of the American Orthopedic Association, the American Medical Association, Illinois Medical Society, Cook County Medical Society; director of Home for Destitute Crippled Children, Chicago. He is a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, and the Alpha Kappa Kappa and Alpha Omega Alpha medical fraternities; also of the University Club of Chicago and the Glen View (Ill.) Golf Club. He was married in Newport, R. I., June 4, 1879, Emily Caroline Robinson, and has three sons and three daughters. Residence: 1717 Chicago Avenue, Evanston, Ill. Office: 72 Madison Street, Chicago.

RIES, Elias Elkan:

Inventor, electrical and mechanical engineer; born in Randegg, Baden, Germany, Jan. 16, 1862; son of Elkan Elias and Bertha (Weil) Ries. He came to the United States in 1865, was educated in New York and Baltimore public schools, the Cooper Institute, New York City, Maryland Institute, Baltimore, and was a student in physical science in Johns Hopkins University. He began work, as a telegraph operator with the Gold and Stock and the Western Union Telegraph Companies. He removed to New York City in 1880, becoming identified with the development of the electric light industry in the employ of The Edison Company, the United States Electric Illuminating Company, Fuller Manufacturing Company and others, and returned to Baltimore in 1884 to devote his attention to developing his inventions in electric signalling, railroading controlling apparatus and illumination, organizing various companies to push these inventions; among these being his well-known regulating socket, which was the first practicable device for "turning down" or controlling the light or candle-power of incandescent electric lamps without the use of wasteful resistance, thereby placing the incandescent lamp on a par with gas. Also inventor and patentee of the modern alternating current of "converter" electric railway system, by which the limitations and restrictions of the 500-volt trolley systems were for the first time successfully overcome. The underlying principle of electric generation, transmission, conversion and distribution disclosed in these patents made possible the various rapid transit subways and tunnels now operating in New York City, and the electrification of suburban and long-distance steam railways now going on in the United States and other countries. His basic patents on this invention were finally adjudged in his favor after nearly fourteen years' litigation, and were purchased by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company in 1903. Has taken out over 150 patents on various pioneer inventions, many of which are in extensive use, some of the more notable being his method of electrically welding track-rails, new processes of riveting by electricity, underground electric railway conduit of sub-trolley system now used in New York and other large cities, methods and appliances for electric heating and cooking, telephone and telephonograph systems and apparatus, etc., among others in general use are his basic patents of Feb. 1, 1887 (lately expired), on electric elevator controllers, etc., covering the method and apparatus adopted by the Atis Elevator Co. and others on their electric elevators, and for general motor-starting and braking purposes. Mr. Ries is president and general manager of the U. S. Automatic Telephone Company. He is a member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, American Association for the Advancement of Science, American Electrochemical Society, New York Electrical Society, American Association of Inventors and Manufacturers; and was a member of the International Electrical Congress in 1904. He is a registered patent attorney of the United States Patent Office. Mr. Ries married in Baltimore, April 21, 1895, Helen, second daughter of Lewis H. and Rebecca Hirshberg, and they have one daughter. Address: 110-116 Nassau Street, New York City.

RIGGS, John Davis Seaton:

President of Shurtleff College; born in Washington, Pa., Jan. 29, 1851; son of Edward R. and Charlotte A. (Seaton) Riggs. He was graduated from the University of Chicago, A.B., with Phi Beta Kappa honors, 1878, A.M., 1881. He also received the degree of Ph.D. (pro merito) from the University of South Dakota in 1891, and L.H.D. (ex honore) from Ewing College in 1901. He was principal of the preparatory department of the old University of Chicago, 1878-1886, joint principal of the University Academy of Chicago, 1886-1887; organizer and principal of Granville Academy, Denison University, 1887-1896. He was president of Ottawa University, Kansas, 1896-1905, and in 1905 he became president of Shurtleff College, Upper Alton, Ill. He is a member of the National Geographic Society; the American Historical League; corresponding member of the Kansas State Historical Society; was president of the Kansas College Presidents' Association, 1899-1905; member of the State Board of Education, 1900-1903; and president of the Kansas College Athletic Conference, 1903-1905. He is also trustee of Shurtleff College, and a member of the Board of Managers, American Baptist Missionary Union of Boston, Mass. He is also a life member of the American Baptist Home Missionary Society, and is a member of the Ohio and Illinois Baptist Conventions. He is the author of: In Latinum (Cæsar), 1890; and In Latinum (Cicero), 1892. He married in Rockford, Ill., Sept. 2, 1879, Mary E. Chaney. Residence: 426 Leverett Avenue. Office: Shurtleff College, Upper Alton, Ill.

RIIS, Jacob August:

Journalist; born in Ribe, Denmark, May 3, 1849, emigrated to America in 1870. He was reporter on the New York Tribune and Evening Sun; became active reformer, lecturer and author of many articles and books on tenement house and poverty conditions; executive officer of Good Government Clubs, 1896-1897; secretary of the Small Park Committee, etc. He is the author of: How the Other Half Lives; The Children of the Poor; The Battle with the Slum; The Making of an American; Children of the Tenements; Theodore Roosevelt, the Citizen; Is There a Santa Claus? etc. He married Elizabeth Nielson, of Ribe, Denmark, in 1876. Address: 524 North Beech Street, Richmond Hill, L. I., N. Y.

RIKER, Albert Burdsall:

President of Mount Union College; born in New Albany, Ohio, Oct. 19, 1852; son of Rev. Samuel G. and Amanda (Cochran) Riker. He was graduated from the Ohio Wesleyan University, A.B. and A.M., and received from Ohio University the degree of D.D. He taught school four years at Lockbourne and Plain City, Ohio; was pastor of Methodist Episcopal Churches at Worthington, Ohio, 1879-1881; at Columbus, 1881-1884; at Athens, 1884-1887; Chattanooga, Tenn., 1887-1891; Wheeling, W. Va., 1891-1896; Charleston, W. Va., 1896-1898; and since then president of Mount Union College. Dr. Riker married in Dublin, Ohio, Aug. 18, 1881, Mary Edith Davis, and has three sons and a daughter. Residence: 1511 Union Avenue. Office: Mount Union College, Alliance, Ohio.

RILEY, James Whitcomb:

Poet; born at Greenfield, Ind., in 1854. He began life as a journeyman sign writer; joined a theatrical troupe, re-wrote their plays and improvised songs for them; in 1875 began to publish in local papers poems in the Hoosier dialect; for some years traveled about giving readings with the late Bill Nye. He is author of: The Old Swimmin'-Hole and 'Leven More Poems, 1881; The Boss Girl, and Other Sketches, 1886; Afterwhiles, 1887; Pipes o' Pan at Zekesbury, 1887; The Flying Island of the Night, 1888; Rhymes of Childhood, 1889; Old Fashioned Roses (in England, 1891); Neighborly Poems, on Friendship, Grief, and Farm Life, 1891; Green Fields and Running Brooks, 1893; Poems Here at Home, 1893; Armazindy, 1894; A Child World, 1896; Rubaiyat of Doc Sifers, 1897; Home Folks, 1900; An Old Sweetheart of Mine, 1902; The Book of Joyous Children, 1902; Out to Old Aunt Mary's, 1903; His Pa's Romance, 1903; A Defective Santa Claus, 1904; Songs o' Cheer, 1905; Home Again With Me, 1905; While the Heart Beats Young, 1906; Morning, 1907. Address: Care Union Trust Company, Indianapolis, Ind.

RINER, John A.:

U. S. judge; born in Preble County, Ohio, in 1850. After being graduated from the University of Michigan, he went to Wyoming, establishing in the practice of law at Cheyenne. He became active in politics, as a Republican; was elected city attorney of Cheyenne in 1881, and U. S. district attorney of Wyoming Territory, under appointment by President Arthur, in 1884. He was elected to the Territorial Council in 1886; was a member of the Constitutional Convention of Wyoming in 1889; then elected to the State Senate of Wyoming, resigning that office upon his appointment by President Harrison, Sept. 22, 1890, to his present office as U. S. district judge for the District of Wyoming. Address: Cheyenne, Wyo.

RIORDAN, Patrick William:

Archbishop of San Francisco; born in New Brunswick, Aug. 27, 1842; went to Chicago in boyhood and was educated in a private school there, at the University of Notre Dame, Ind.; and at the University of Louvain, Belgium, whence he was graduated in 1864. He became professor of theology in the Seminary of St. Mary's of the Lake until 1868, when he entered on the duties of a parish priest at Woodstock, McHenry County, Ill., for a short time, then for three years at St. Mary's Church, Joliet. He became rector of St. James' Church, Chicago, about the time of the Chicago Fire, and continued in those duties for twelve years until consecrated in that church, Sept. 16, 1883, titular bishop of Cadesa. He was appointed coadjutor, with the right of succession to the Metropolitan see of San Francisco, and succeeded as archbishop, Dec. 28, 1884. Address: San Francisco, Calif.

RIVES, George L.:

Lawyer; born in New York City, May 1, 1849; son of Francis R. and Matilda (Barclay) Rives. He was graduated from Columbia, A.B., 1868, A.M., 1884, and from Columbia Law School, LL.B., 1873. He served as assistant secretary of state of the United States, 1887-1889; chairman of the Charter Revision Committee of the City of New York, 1900; corporation counsel of New York, 1902-1903; director of the Bank of New York, Lawyers' Mortgage Company, Mortgage Bond Company, Mercantile Trust Company, United States Trust Company, Lawyers' Title Insurance and Trust Company; and was formerly and for many years a member of the law firm of Olin and Rives. He is a Democrat in politics; is a member of the Delta Psi fraternity; trustee of Columbia University, Cooper Union, New York Hospital, New York Public Library, Burke Memorial Fund, and he is also a member of the Century Association and the Metropolitan, Knickerbocker, Down Town, Columbia University, New York Yacht, Seawanhaka-Corinthian Yacht and Tuxedo Clubs. He married, first, in Elizabeth, N. J., May 21, 1873, Carolina Morris Kean, who died March 29, 1887; and second, March 20, 1889, Sara Swan Whiting, and he has three children. Address: 32 Nassau Street, New York City.

RIVES-WHEELER, Hallie Erminie:

Novelist; born in Christian County, Ky., May 2, 1876; daughter of Col. Stephen T. and Mary (Ragsdale) Rives. On her father's side she is descended from Sir John Rives, of Damory Court, Dorsetshire, England, and on her mother's side from John Tillotson, archbishop of Canterbury. She is a cousin of Amelia, Princess Troubetskoy. She was educated by governesses. She married in the American Embassy at Tokyo, Japan, Dec. 29, 1907, Post Wheeler, secretary of the American Embassy there. Mrs. Rives-Wheeler is author of: Smoking Flax; A Furnace of Earth; Hearts Courageous; The Castaway; Tales from Dickens; Satan Sanderson, etc.; and she retains her maiden name of Hallie Erminie Rives as a pen-name. She has traveled in Europe, including Greece and the Mediterranean, and in the Orient, particularly Japan. In 1907 she was one of the party accompanying Secretary of War Taft across Siberia, through Russia, Germany, France, etc. Her favorite recreations are horseback riding, shooting, and dogs. Address: Care of Post Wheeler, Department of State, Washington, D. C.

RIXEY, Presley Marion:

Surgeon-general of the United States Navy; born in Culpeper County, Va., July 14, 1852; son of Presley Morehead and Mary F. (Jones) Rixey. He was graduated M.D., from the University of Virginia, in 1873, and attended clinics and hospitals in Philadelphia until early in 1874, when he took the examination before the Naval Examining Board, and was commissioned assistant surgeon in the Navy, Jan. 28, 1874. He was first assigned to duty with the receiving ship Sabine, but soon transferred to the Congress, and served on various other vessels until April, 1896, when he was assigned to special duty at Washington. He became physician to the White House in 1898, and accompanied the President on all his journeys and was in Buffalo when President McKinley was assassinated. He had been detailed by the President to accompany Mrs. McKinley to the Milburn residence, so that he was not immediately on hand when the President was shot, but was promptly summoned, so that he was present and assisted at the operation, and took official charge of the case. He was promoted to surgeon-general, with the rank of rear-admiral, Feb. 5, 1902. He is a member of the American Medical Association, the Washington Medical Society and the Association of Military Surgeons. On the occasion of an explosion on the Spanish Caravel, Santa Maria, in the Harbor of New York, in 1893, he rendered prompt and generous assistance to the officers and crew of the vessel, a courtesy which was recognized by the King, who conferred upon him the Order of Naval Merit. During his service as surgeon-general the Medical Corps of the Navy has not only been brought to a high point of efficiency as to its personnel, but the naval hospitals have undergone a change that is practically a revolution, and from a condition of very little credit to the nation, have, by the untiring efforts of Admiral Rixey, been brought up to the requirements of modern medical science. Address: 909 Sixteenth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

ROACH, Abby Meguire:

Writer; born in Philadelphia, March 5, 1876; daughter of Charles A. and Emma E. (Geiselman) Meguire. She was educated in Wellesley Preparatory School, Louisville, Ky., and Wellesley College, class of 1897. She married in Louisville, Ky., June 1, 1899, Neill Roach of Louisville. Mrs. Roach wrote stories and poems for children at the age of nine, and at thirteen, wrote an epic (never published), and a novel which appeared in a Woman's Magazine in Philadelphia, and has received several short story prizes. She is author of: Some Successful Marriages, 1907, and of a series of stories: Their Husbands' Wives, Southern Lights and Shadows, and Life at High Tide; one in each volume of Harper's Novelettes; and quantities of short and long stories in the Criterion, Cosmopolitan, McClure, Century and Harpers, also in local papers. She is a member of the Kentucky Humane Society, Authors, Woman's, Musical, Woman's Suffrage, and Art Clubs of Louisville. Address: 226 East Ormsby Avenue, Louisville, Ky.

ROACH, John B.:

Shipbuilder; born in New York City, Dec. 7, 1839; son of the famous shipbuilder, John Roach. He was educated in the Ashland Collegiate Institute, Green County, New York. Mr. Roach began his business life in a wholesale coffee establishment, but later entered his father's office, leaving it for a time on account of ill-health. The elder Roach conducted an extensive engine building business, and had developed an immense trade in the Etna Iron Works. He purchased the Morgan Iron Works in 1867, and took in his son as partner, the firm name being John Roach and Son. A very large shipbuilding business grew up under the new firm, over one thousand hands being employed. In 1871, when a large shipyard was purchased at Chester, Pa., the son, John B., was placed in charge of this, which was run under the title of the Delaware River Iron Shipbuilding and Engine Works. Here, at times, more than two thousand hands were employed, and a great shipbuilding plant was developed under Mr. Roach's supervision. Many large iron vessels were built for the Pacific Mail, the Mallory and various other steamship companies, and in 1883 the firm contracted to build the cruisers Chicago, Boston, Atlanta and Dolphin, the pioneer ships of the New American Navy. A hostile Naval Board refused to accept the Dolphin in 1885, on the plea that the contract was not binding, the result being the ruin of John Roach's business and his death. The company was reorganized by John B. Roach becoming president of the Delaware River Works, and vice-president of the Morgan Iron Company, and the business has grown to be very prosperous, many large vessels having been built. Address: Chester, Pa.

ROBBINS, Alfred A.:

Merchant, miner; born in Harvard, Mass., July, 1837; son of Dr. Augustus and Juliana W. Robbins; great-grandson of Lient. Jacob Robbins who fought in the battles of Lexington, Concord and Bunker Hill. He was educated in the Brooklyn public school and by a private tutor. Since 1857 he has conducted a cracker and flour business; and for thirty-five years he has been a miner and dealer in minerals and clays. He was a candidate for Congress; one of the original members of the Twenty-third Regiment of the National Guard of New York, in which he served in the Gettysburg campaign; president of the A. A. Robbins Mining Company. In politics Mr. Robbins is a Republican, and in his religious faith a Presbyterian. He has been a member of the Board of National Temperance Society since its organization in 1866 and of the Board of the American Sabbath Union, since 1898; was for several years president of the Temperance Society of Dr. Cuyler's Lafayette Avenue Presbyterian Church, and was president of the Central Temperance Association of Kings County, N. Y., for six years; New York State Sabbath Association from the date of its organization in 1890, and for some years its president; president of the Kings County Sunday Observance Association for eighteen years, and member of various other benevolent and philanthropic societies. He married in Brooklyn, N. Y., Oct. 27, 1881, Anna Barnes. Address: 937 Kent Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

ROBERTS, Ernest W.:

Congressman and lawyer; born in East Madison, Maine, Nov. 22, 1858; was educated at the Highland Military Academy of Worcester, Mass.; graduated from Boston University Law School, and was admitted to the bar in 1881, and has since practised law in Boston. He was a member of the City Council of Chelsea, 1887-1888; was elected a member of the Massachusetts House of Representatives of 1894, 1895, and 1896; was elected a member of the Massachusetts Senate of 1897 and 1898; and was elected to the Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses from the Seventh Massachusetts District. Mr. Roberts is a Republican in politics, and during his service in Congress has been a prominent member of the House Committee on Naval Affairs. Address: Chelsea, Mass.

ROBERTS, George H., Jr.:

Postmaster of Brooklyn; born in Rochester, N. Y., 1852. At the age of ten he went with his family to St. Louis, and he was educated there, until fourteen years old, when he removed to Brooklyn, then becoming a student in the Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute and one year at Dresden, Germany. In 1873 he entered the employ of Roberts and Colin, flour merchants of New York City, and later succeeded his uncle, George H. Roberts, as a member of the firm. For years he has been a member of the New York Produce Exchange. He is also a member and a trustee of the Emmanuel Baptist Church, and a charter member of the old Franklin Literary Society. He is a Republican; was delegate to the St. Louis and Philadelphia conventions which nominated McKinley, who, before going on that fatal trip to Buffalo, had promised, not only on the score of party service, but also on that of personal friendship, to appoint Mr. Roberts to the postmastership. Appointed by President Roosevelt, and his nomination readily confirmed by the Senate, in Dec., 1901. At that time he was chairman of the Republican City Committee of the Greater New York, a position which he resigned. He is a member of the Union League of Brooklyn, N. Y., and the Marine and Field Club of New York. Address: Post Office, Brooklyn, N. Y.

ROBERTS, Henry:

Former governor of Connecticut; born in Brooklyn, N. Y., Jan. 22, 1853; son of George and Elvira (Evans) Roberts. He was educated in Yale College and Yale and Columbia Law Schools. He was alderman of Hartford, 1897-1899; chairman of the Republican State Committee, 1897-1901; State representative from Hartford, 1899-1901; State senator of the First Connecticut District, 1901-1903; lieutenant-governor, 1903-1905; and governor of Connecticut, 1905-1907. He is president of the Hartford Woven Wire Mattress Company, and of the Hartford Bedstead Company; also director of the Phoenix National Bank, the Hartford Trust Company, the State Savings Bank, the Hartford Electric Light Company, the Farmington River Power Company, and the West Side Medicine Company of New York; and is trustee of the States Academy, of Winston, North Carolina, and of the Young Men's Christian Association Training School of Springfield, Mass. He is a member of the Sons of the Revolution, Society of Colonial Wars, Guild of Organists of New York City, the Psi Upsilon Beta and Theta Psi fraternities. He married in Bridgeport, Conn., Oct. 4, 1880, Carrie E. Smith, and has two sons. Residence: 129 Lafayette Street, Hartford, Office: 618 Capitol Avenue, Hartford, Conn.

ROBERTS, Ina Brevoort:

Writer and editor; born in Yonkers, 1874; daughter of Wellard and Frances J. (Hawkins) Roberts. She was educated in Maplewood Institute, Concordville, Pa., and Elizabeth Grammar School, also Newark High School. She married in New York, 1895, James Edwards Roberts. Mrs. Roberts is author of: The Lifting of a Finger, and short stories in Lippincott's, Ladies' Home Journal, Munsey's, and The Success; editor of: The Club Woman's Weekly, and Club Women of New York. She is a member of the Woman's Press, Pen and Brush, Minerva, Post Parliament, Woman's Republican, The Rainy Day, Century Theatre Clubs, and the New York City Federation of Women's Clubs. Address: 289 Fourth Avenue, New York City.

ROBERTSON, Harrison:

Editor and author; born in Murfreesboro, Tenn., Jan. 16, 1856; son of Thomas and Elizabeth (Elliott) Robertson. He was educated in Union University, Tenn., and University of Virginia. He is author of: If I Were a Man, Red Blood and Blue, The Islander, The Opponents, The Pink Typhoon, How the Derby Was Won, etc.; is associate editor of the Louisville Courier Journal. Mr. Robertson married in Louisville, Ky., 1906, Marion Richardson. Address: Louisville, Ky.

ROBERTSON, James Alexander:

Editor; born in Corry, Pa., Aug. 19, 1873; son of John McGregor and Elizabeth (Borrowman) Robertson. He was graduated from Adelbert College of Western Reserve University, from which he received the degree of Ph.B., 1896, and received its honorary degree of L.H.D. in 1908. Mr. Robertson was proof reader of Thwaites edition of Jesuit Relations and Allied Documents, 1896-1901; assistant compiler of the index of the same series; assistant to the editor of the Iron Trade Review, 1900; co-editor with Miss E. H. Blair on the series The Philippine Islands: 1493-1898, 1902-1908; translator and editor of Magellan's Voyage Around the World, by Antonio Pigafetta, 1906; and Bibliography of the Philippine Islands, 1908. He has traveled extensively in Europe for archival research. He is a member of the American Historical Association, the American Modern Language Association, and the National Geographic Society. Address: Madison, Wis.

ROBERTSON, Morgan:

Author; born at Oswego, N. Y., Sept. 30, 1861; son of Andrew and Ruth (Glassford) Robertson. He was educated in the public schools and Cooper Union, and is a well known author of short stories and novels of the life of the sea. Mr. Robertson is author of: Spun Yarn; Futility; A Tale of a Halo; Where Angels Fear to Tread; Masters of Men; Shipmates; Sinful Peck; Down to the Sea; Land Ho; Finnegan. He married, May 27, 1894, Alice M. Doyle. Address: 41 West 24th Street, New York City.

ROBINSON, Beverley Randolph:

Lawyer; born in New York City, June 24, 1876; son of Beverley and Anna E. (Foster) Robinson. He was graduated from Harvard, A.B., 1898, Columbia Law School, LL.B., 1901. He was admitted to the bar in October, 1900, and has since been engaged in law practice in New York City. Mr. Robinson was elected to the Board of Aldermen, of New York City, serving, 1904-1906, and as a member of the General Assembly of the State of New York, 1907, 1908 and 1909. He is vice-president of the Twenty-seventh Assembly District Republican Club; corporator of the Five Points House of Industry; member and secretary of the Board of Managers of the New York Infant Asylum. He is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society, Phi Delta Phi fraternity, Association of the Bar of the City of New York, Sons of the Revolution, Society of Colonial Wars, St. Nicholas Society, and of the Knickerbocker, Union, University, Century, Down Town, Harvard, Seawanhaka-Corinthian Yacht (trustee), and Republican Clubs of New York and Fort Orange Club of Albany, N. Y. Residence: 42 West 37th Street. Office: 49 Wall street, New York City.

ROBINSON, Charles Mulford:

Author, and specialist in municipal æsthetics and town planning; born in Ramapo, N. Y., April 30, 1869. He was graduated from the University of Rochester, A.B., 1891, and A. M. (honoris causa), 1905. Mr. Robinson has made a life study of civic conditions and the possibilities of improvement in municipal government. He is author of The Improvement of Towns and Cities, now in the fifth reprint (1903); Modern Civic Art (1905); and The Call of the City. Since 1903 he has been constantly employed in making improvement reports and planning for town and city improvements, among the municipalities which have availed themselves of his services being Buffalo, Detroit, Columbus, Syracuse, Denver, Colorado Springs, Honolulu, Oakland, Watertown, Jamestown (N. Y.), Ogdensburg, Pittsburg, Dubuque, Cedar Rapids, Ridgewood (N. J.); Los Angeles, San José and Santa Barbara, Calif., Fort Wayne, Ind., and other cities. He is a member of the Architectural League of America; the American Civic Association; an honorary member of the Public Park Association of Providence; the Outdoor Art League of San Francisco; "Scapa" of England; the Psi Upsilon fraternity; a corresponding member of the 20th Century Club of Boston; a member of the executive committee, Chamber of Commerce, Rochester, N. Y.; a director of the Children's Playground League of Rochester, and a member of the State Committee on Congestion of Population; member of National Arts Club of New York. He was married in Albany, New York, April 8, 1896, to Eliza Ten Eycke Pruyn, and resides at 65 South Washington Street, Rochester, New York.

ROBINSON, De Lorme Wilson:

Physician and surgeon; born in Pulaski, Pa., Oct. 26, 1854; son of William Miller and Adeline (Stuart) Robinson. He was educated in Allegheny College, Meadville, Pa., Medical Department of Wooster University, Cleveland, Ohio, and Kentucky School of Medicine, M.D., 1882. He was president, 1893-1896, and superintendent and ex officio secretary, 1903-1907, of the South Dakota State Board of Health; surgeon to St. Mary's Hospital, Pierre, S. D.; surgeon to the Chicago and Northwestern Railway Company; district surgeon to the Pierre, Rapid City and Northwestern Railway; member of the American Medical Association, National Association of Railway Surgeons, American Anti-Tuberculosis Society, South Dakota State Medical Society, president of the South Dakota Historical Society; and member of the National Geographical Society. He is a Mason and Knight Templar. He edited: History of Dakota Territory in the Collections of South Dakota History, 1902, and has written on other historical and archaeological subjects; contributor on medical subjects: Tuberculosis Among the Sioux Indians; Metierological Conditions and Public Health, etc. He married in Pierre, S. D., Dec. 29, 1886, Kate M. Blackburn, and has three children. Address: Pierre, South Dakota.

ROBINSON, Douglas:

Capitalist. He was graduated from University of Oxford in 1876; is president and director of the Douglas Robinson, Charles S. Brown and Company, and the Douglas Land Company; trustee of the Atlantic Mutual Insurance Company, and the Real Estate Trust Company; director of the American Insurance Company, Astor National Bank, Realty Associates, and Stuyvesan Real Estate Company. He is a member of the University, Down Town, Church, Essex County and Country Clubs. He married Corinne Roosevelt (sister of ex-President Roosevelt), and they have three children. Residence: 422 Madison Avenue. Address: 160 Broadway, New York City.

ROBINSON, Edward:

Museum official; born in Boston, Nov. 1, 1858; son of Edwin A. and Ellen (Coburn) Robinson. He was graduated from Harvard A.B., 1879; attended the University of Berlin, 1883-1885; and received from the University of Aberdeen, Scotland, the degree of L.L.D. in 1905. He traveled and studied in Europe, 1881-1885, and at subsequent periods. He was curator of classical antiquities of the Museum of Fine Arts of Boston, 1885-1902, director 1902-1905; lecturer on classical archaeology in Harvard University, 1893-1894, and 1898-1902; honorary professor of the Faculty of Fine Arts, Columbia University, since 1906. He has been assistant director of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York City, since 1906; is vice-president of the Archaeological Institute of America; member of the Council of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences; and trustee of the American Academy of Rome. He married in Boston, February 21, 1881, Elizabeth, daughter of Samuel Gould, and they have one son. Address: Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York City.

ROBINSON, Henry Douglas:

Missionary bishop of Nevada; born in Lowell, Mass., March 15, 1860; son of Alexander Douglas and Clara (Boate) Robinson. He was graduated from Racine (Wis.) College, B.A., 1884, M.A., 1887, and was a student in the University of Chicago, 1885.

In 1886 he received deacon's orders and in 1888 was ordained priest in the ministry of the Episcopal Church. He taught mathematics in the Military Academy at San Mateo, Calif., 1885-1889; became head master of the grammar school of Racine College, 1889-1900, then warden of Racine College until consecrated in 1907 missionary bishop of Nevada. He married in Racine, Wis., July 12, 1885, Florence Bruce. Address: Reno, Nev.

ROBINSON, James Harvey:

Professor of history; born in Bloomington, Ill., June 29, 1863; son of James Harvey and Laticia Maria (Drake) Robinson. He was graduated from Harvard, A.B., 1887; A.M., 1888; Freiberg, Ph.D., 1890. He was lecturer in European History, University of Pennsylvania, 1891-1892; associate professor, 1892-1895; professor of history, at Columbia University since 1895; was acting dean of Barnard College, 1900-1901. He is author (with Professor H. W. Roffe) of: Petrarch the First Modern Scholar, 1898; History of Western Europe, 1903; Readings in European History, 2 volumes, 1904-1905, and, collaborating with Professor C. A. Beard, Development of Modern Europe, two volumes, 1907, and accompanying Readings in Modern European History, two volumes, 1908-1909. He is a member of the Century Association of New York City. He married in Bloomington, Ill., 1887, Grace Woodville Read. Residence: 567 West 113th Street. Office: Columbia University, New York City.

ROBINSON, Joseph Taylor:

Congressman and lawyer; born August 26, 1872. He was educated in the University of Arkansas, and began the practice of law in 1895. Mr. Robinson was elected to the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas in 1894 and served in the session of 1895; was nominated presidential elector on the Democratic ticket in 1896, but was retired under the direction of the National Democratic Committee when the fusion ticket was formed in order to make room for the fusionists; was presidential elector for the Sixth Congressional District of Arkansas in 1900; and selected as electoral messenger, which duty was performed in January, 1901. He was elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses from the Sixth Arkansas District. He married, December 15, 1896, Ewilda Gertrude Miller. Address: Lonoke, Ark.

ROBSON, James A.:

Jurist; born in Gorham, Ontario County, N. Y., Jan. 1., 1861; son of John and Isabella (Telfar) Robson. He was graduated from Canandaigua Academy, from Yale, B.A., 1873, and from Columbia, LL.B., 1876. On Oct. 19, 1903, he was appointed justice of the Supreme Court of the State of New York; and he was elected in Nov., 1904, for the term expiring Dec. 31, 1918. He was appointed associate justice of the Appellate Division of the Fourth Department, Jan. 1, 1907. He is trustee of the Clifton Springs Sanitarium. Address: Canandaigua, N. Y.

ROCKEFELLER, John Davison:

Capitalist; born in Richford, Tioga County, N. Y., July 8, 1839; son of William Avery and Eliza (Davison) Rockefeller. He was educated in the public schools. He went to Cleveland, Ohio, in 1853 and in 1855 obtained employment in the commission house of Hewett & Tuttle. In 1858 he became partner in commission firm of Clark & Rockefeller; in 1862 became associated with Samuel Andrews, an expert oil refiner, and under firm name of Andrews, Clark & Company engaged extensively in the oil business. William Rockefeller, a brother, was admitted, and a new company, William Rockefeller & Company, was formed, which, in 1865, built at Cleveland a large refinery, known as the Standard Oil Refinery; later an eastern branch was established at New York City with Henry M. Flagler as an additional partner; in 1870 the several firms were combined as the Standard Oil Company, with a capital of $1,000,000 with John D. Rockefeller as president; subsequently other organizations were formed practically controlling the entire oil business of the country. He organized in 1882 the Standard Oil Trust, but it was dissolved in 1892, and since then various companies have been operated separately, but under identical control. Mr. Rockefeller's benefactions have been large. In 1892 he founded and endowed the University of Chicago, to which he has since made many gifts, the total aggregating nearly $15,000,000. To the General Education Board, incorporated in 1903, he gave first $1,000,000, then in 1905, $10,000,000, and in February, 1907, $32,000,000 for the purposes of education; has given also $1,000,000 to Yale, large sums to Vassar, Mount Holyoke and Barnard colleges; endowed the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research in New York City, and other institutions; and has been a generous benefactor to Baptist institutions. He is a member of the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church, New York City, and of the Sons of the American Revolution. He is also a member of the Union League Club. He married in Cleveland, Ohio, Sept 8, 1864, Laura C. Spelman, and they had four children: Bessie, born in 1866, married, in 1889, Professor Charles A. Strong, and died in 1906; Alta, born in 1871 and married E. Parmelee Prentice; Edith, born in 1872 and married, in 1895, Harold F. McCormick; and John D., Jr., born in 1874. He has a large estate at Tarrytown, New York, and a home at Cleveland, Ohio. Residence: 4 West 54th Street. Address: 26 Broadway, New York City.

ROCKEFELLER, John Davison, Jr.:

Capitalist; born in Cleveland, Ohio, in 1874; son of John Davison and Laura C. (Spelman) Rockefeller. He was graduated from Brown University, A.B., in 1877. Since leaving college associated with his father in his business enterprises; he is director of various business corporations. He is a member of the General Education Board; also a member of the University, Alpha Delta Phi, City, Midday and City Clubs. He married in Providence, R. I., in 1901, Abby Greene Aldrich, daughter of U. S. Senator Nelson W. Aldrich of Rhode Island. They have a daughter and a son. Residence: 13 West 54th Street. Address: 26 Broadway, New York City.

ROCKEFELLER, William:

Capitalist; born in Richford, Tioga County, New York, May 31, 1841; son of William Avery and Eliza (Davison) Rockefeller. He was educated in the schools of Oswego, N. Y., and Cleveland, Ohio, becoming a resident of the latter city in 1853. He began his business career as bookkeeper and later was a partner of a firm in the produce commission trade; afterward became associated with the oil firm of Andrews, Clark and Company (of which his brother, John D. Rockefeller, was a member), and subsequently a new firm was formed under the name of William Rockefeller and Company, which built in 1865 the Standard Oil Refinery, and was later reorganized as the Standard Oil Company, and has ever since been connected with that company, its successors and associated interests. He is now president of the Standard Oil Company of New York, and officer and director in many other corporations. He is a member of the Union League, Metropolitan, Automobile of America, Riding, Ardsley, New York Yacht, and Jekyl Clubs. He married in Cleveland, Ohio, in 1864, Almira Geraldine Goodsell, and they have four children. Residence: 689 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

ROCKEFELLER, William Goodsell:

Capitalist; born in New York City, in 1870; son of William and Almira G. (Goodsell) Rockefeller; he was graduated from Yale, A.B. in 1892. Since leaving college he has associated with the Standard Oil Company and its allied interests; now treasurer of the Standard Oil Company of New York and director in various corporations. He is a member of the Union, Metropolitan, Apawamis Golf, Calumet, Riding, Knollwood, University, Alpha Delta Phi and the Yale Clubs. He married in 1896, Elsie Stillman. Residence: 292 Madison Avenue. Address: 26 Broadway, New York City.

ROCKHILL, William Woodville:

Diplomat; born in Philadelphia, in 1854; son of Thomas Cadwalader and Dorothy Anna (Woodville) Rockhill. He was educated in the schools of Paris (France), and in 1884 began his diplomatic career upon his appointment as second secretary of the American Legation at Peking. He was appointed secretary of that legation in 1885, and was chargé d'affaires in Korea, 1886-1887. He was occupied with two journeys of exploration in China, Mongolia and Thibet between 1888 and 1892, was chief clerk of the State Department of the United States, 1893-1894, was third assistant secretary of State of the United States in 1894-1895, and in 1896 was promoted to first assistant secretary of State. In 1897 he was appointed envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to Greece, Roumania and Servia, resigning that post in May, 1899, and became director of the Bureau of the American Republic, 1899-1905. He was appointed commissioner of the United States to China in July, 1900, and was plenipotentiary of the United States to the Congress of Peking, Feb. to Sept., 1901, and in that capacity signed the final protocol on Sept. 7, 1901. In 1905 he resigned his position as director of the Bureau of American Republics, upon being appointed by President Roosevelt to his present position as envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to the Chinese Empire. Mr. Rockhill is distinguished not only as a skilful diplomat, but also for his thorough familiarity with Oriental affairs. He is the author of several works and contributions to periodical literature on Oriental travel, history and religion. He married at Litchfield, Conn., in April, 1900, Edith H. Perkins. Address: American Legation, Peking, China.

ROCKWELL, Alfonso D.:

Physician; born in New Canaan, Conn., May 18, 1840; son of David S. and Betty (Comstock) Rockwell. He was graduated from Kenyon College, Ohio, as A.B. and from Bellevue Hospital Medical College, New York, as M.D. He is author of works on medical and surgical electricity, neurasthenia or nervous exhaustion and numerous monographs on electro-therapeutics and neurological subjects. He is neurologist to the Flushing Hospital; formerly professor of the New York Post-Graduate Medical School and Hospital; electro-therapeutist to the Woman's Hospital in the State of New York; and during the Civil War was surgeon of the Sixth Ohio Volunteer Cavalry. He is a member of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion and of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity. Dr. Rockwell married in New York City, 1868, Susie Landon, and they have four children. Address: The Sydenham, 616 Madison Avenue, New York City.

ROCKWELL, Henry Noyes:

New York State railroad commissioner; born in Utica, N. Y., July 4, 1849; son of Henry and Margaret (Noyes) Rockwell. He was graduated from the Utica (N. Y.) Academy. He was connected with the New York Central Railroad from 1865 to 1905, as telegraph operator, superintendent, chief clerk, train dispatcher and passenger train conductor. After a service of forty years with the New York Central Railroad, he was chosen from a list of seventy-three applicants and appointed by Governor Higgins as State railroad commissioner, to represent the railroad men of the State of New York, Dec. 4, 1905. He married at Hyde Park, N. J., Nov. 12, 1870, Marion Stuart Outwater, and they have three children. Address: 36 Saint Andrew's Place, Yonkers, N. Y.

RODENBECK, Adolph J.:

Jurist; he was graduated from the University of Rochester in 1885; law student, Rochester, N. Y., 1885-1887; resided in New York City in 1887; in Europe in 1888; practised law in Rochester, N. Y., 1888; second assistant city attorney in 1892; first assistant, 1892-1894; member of the State Assembly from the Second District of Monroe County, 1899-1901; mayor of the City of Rochester, 1902-1903; judge of the Court of Claims of the State of New York, since 1903; chairman of the Board of Statutory Consolidation, State of New York, 1904. Address: 728 Powers Building, Rochester, N. Y.

RODENBERG, William A.:

Congressman and lawyer; born near Chester, Randolph County, Ill., Oct. 30, 1865. He was educated in the public schools, and was graduated from Central Wesleyan College, Warrenton, Mo., in 1884. He was engaged in the profession of teaching for seven years; attended the St. Louis Law School, and was admitted to the bar in 1890. He was a delegate to the National Republican Convention in 1896, and in 1898 was elected to the Fifty-sixth Congress from the Twenty-first Illinois District, serving 1899-1901; was appointed by President McKinley, March 25, 1901, a United States civil service commissioner, and resigned April 1, 1902, in order to become a candidate for Congress in the new Twenty-second District of Illinois; and he was elected to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixty-first Congresses. Address: East St. Louis, Ill.

RODGERS, James Linn:

Consular officer; born in Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 10, 1861; son of Andrew D. and Eliza (Sullivan) Rodgers. He was educated in various schools and the Ohio State University, engaged in newspaper work as editor of the Columbus Despatch, 1889-1895; became secretary to the Governor of Ohio, 1896-1900, then engaged in business life until he was appointed consul-general at Shanghai, March 8, 1905; appointed consul-general at Habana, April 15, 1907. He married in Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 25, 1893, Frances C. Fay. Address: American Consulate General, Habana, Cuba.

RODGERS, Raymond P.:

Rear Admiral, U. S. Navy; born in the District of Columbia; son of the late Rear-Admiral C. R. P. Rodgers, one of the most distinguished officers in the navy. He entered the Naval Academy, July 25, 1864; graduated, 1868; promoted ensign, 1869; commissioned lieutenant, 1872, lieutenant commander. He served in various stations and assignments of sea and shore duty; became Naval attaché at Paris, St. Petersburg and Madrid, 1892-1897; served on the battleship Iowa, 1897-1899; took part in the blockade of Cuba and the engagements off San Juan and Santiago, and in the battle of the third of July, 1898; promoted commander, March 3, 1899; advanced five numbers for meritorious service in the battle of third of July off Santiago; commanding Nashville, 1899-1900, in Cuba, Philippines and in China; aid to the Admiral of the Navy, and member of General Board, 1901; Navy Yard, New York, 1901-1904; with North Atlantic Fleet, 1904 and 1905. Promoted to captain, March 21, 1903. Chief intelligence officer, April 6, 1906. Promoted to Rear Admiral, July 4, 1908. Address: Navy Department, Washington, D. C.

ROEBLING, Ferdinand W.:

Capitalist; born in Saxonburgh, Butler County, Pa., Feb. 27, 1842; son of John A. and Johanna (Herting) Roebling. He was educated at the Polytechnic College, Philadelphia. He is president and director of the Trenton Brass and Machine Company, Union Mills Paper Manufacturing Company; secretary and director of John A. Roebling's Sons Company of New York; treasurer and director of the New Jersey Wire Cloth Company; director of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, Interstate Railways Company, Mechanics' National Bank (Trenton, New Jersey), Mercer County Traction Company, Otis Elevator Company, Public Service Corporation, Standard Fire Insurance Company, Trenton Flint and Spar Company, Trenton Potteries Company, Trenton Street Railway Company, Wilkes-Barre and Wyoming Traction Company, Rochester, Syracuse and Eastern Railroad, United Power and Transportation Company, Trenton Transportation Company, Trenton, Hamilton and Ewing Traction Company. He married in Trenton, N. J., March 14, 1867, Margaret G. Allison. Residence: Trenton, N. J. Address: 117 Liberty Street, New York City.

ROGERS, Alfred Thomas:

Lawyer; born in St. Joseph, Mo., May 18, 1873; son of John and Martha (McBride) Rogers. He attended the University of South Dakota, and was graduated from the University of Wisconsin, LL.B. He is of the law firm of La Follette and Rogers of Madison, Wis. He was a delegate to the Republican National Convention, Chicago, 1908, Second Congressional District of Wisconsin; elected member of the Republican National Committee, Chicago, 1908. He is a member of the Delta Tau Delta and Phi Delta Phi fraternities. Address: 119 West Main Street, Madison, Wis.

ROGERS, Arthur:

Clergyman; born in Providence, R. I., Oct. 26, 1864; son of Horatio and Lucia (Waterman) Rogers. He was graduated from Brown University, B.A., 1886, the Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, B.D., 1889, D.D. from Brown University in 1909. He was rector of St. George's Church, Central Falls, R. I., 1892-1899, rector of Holy Trinity Church, West Chester, Pa., since 1899; Bohlen lecturer in Philadelphia, 1909. He is author of: Men and Movements in the English Church, 1898, Prophecy and Poetry; Studies in Isaiah and Browning, 1909; is a member of the Psi Upsilon, Phi Beta Kappa, and the Rhode Island Society of the Cincinnati. Dr. Rogers married in Newport, R. I., June 16, 1892, Cornelia Arnold, and they have four children. Address: The Rectory, West Chester, Pa.

ROGERS, Charlotte Boardman:

Author and editor; born in Bridgeton, N. J., Dec. 24, 1878; daughter of John Brown and Sara Chester (Jones) Rogers. She was educated in Dearborn-Morgan School, Orange, N. J., and by governesses. She was instructor of journalism and English branches in the United Correspondence School; editor of Literary Life, and connected with editorial staff of Toilettes, Junior Toilettes, and Dry Goods; associate editor of the Bookseller, Newsdealer and Stationer; author of: A Mistress of Many Moods translated from the French of Andre Theuriot; How to Play Chess; and co-author of: Foolish Etiquette and Foolish Almanac. She is a member of the Descendants of Colonial Governors, and the New York Criticism Club. Address: 65 West 70th Street, New York City.

ROGERS, Eustace B.:

Paymaster-general, U. S. Navy. He entered the Navy, appointed from California to the Pay Corps, March 3, 1879. He served successfully through the various grades until commissioned pay director, March 13, 1905, and from that, Nov. 1, 1906, to paymaster-general of the U. S. Navy, and chief of the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, with the rank of rear-admiral. Pay-Director Rogers was not an applicant for the office of paymaster-general of the Navy, and his appointment was made wholly as the result of the consideration of the recommending and appointing officers of the persons best calculated to meet the situation then existing. The appointment of Pay-Director Rogers has had a good influence on the morale of the service, inspiring confidence and belief that good work would be the criterion of advancement, and has been fully justified by his record of efficiency in administration. Address: Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, Navy Department, Washington, D. C.

ROGERS, Henry Wade:

Professor of law in Yale University; born in Holland Patent, N. Y., Oct. 10, 1853. He was educated at the University of Michigan, from which he was graduated in 1874, and received the degrees of A.M. and LL.D. from Wesleyan University. He was admitted to the bar in 1877; professor in Michigan University Law School in 1883; dean 1885-1890; was president of Northwestern University, Evanston-Chicago, Ill., 1890-1900; dean of the Yale Law School since 1903. He is author of a treatise on Expert Testimony. Dr. Rogers is a member of the Graduates' Club. He married, in 1876, Emma Ferdon Winner. Address: New Haven, Conn.

ROGERS, James Hotchkiss:

Composer, organist and pianist; born in Fair Haven, Conn., Feb. 7, 1857; son of Martin Lorenzo and Harriet (Hotchkiss) Rogers. He was educated in Lake Forest, Ill., and Berlin and Paris. He is the composer of one hundred and fifty or more published musical works, including songs, piano pieces, organ pieces, anthems and part-songs; also the cantatas: The Man of Nazareth, and The New Life. Mr. Rogers married in Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 20, 1891, Alice Hall, and they have three children. Residence: 2071 East 83d Street. Office: 942 Prospect Avenue, Cleveland.

ROGERS, John Henry:

United States judge; born in Bertie County, N. C., Oct. 9, 1845; son of Absalom and Harriet Rogers. His early education was received in the local schools, and in 1862, he enlisted as a private in the Ninth Mississippi Infantry Regiment in the Confederate States Army, of which he became first lieutenant, serving until the surrender. After the war he entered the University of Mississippi, from which he was graduated in 1868. He taught school for a year, was admitted to the Mississippi bar, and in 1869 he located in the practice of law at Fort Smith, Ark. He was elected a circuit judge of the State of Arkansas, serving 1877-1882; was elected to the Forty-eighth Congress in 1882 and was reelected to the Forty-ninth, Fiftieth and Fifty-first Congresses; was chairman of the Arkansas delegation to the National Democratic Convention at Chicago in 1892, and in 1896 was appointed by President Cleveland to his present office as U. S. district judge for the Western District of Arkansas. The degree of LL.D. was conferred upon Judge Rogers in 1895 by Centre College, Danville, Ky. Address: Fort Smith, Ark.

ROGERS, Watson M.:

Jurist. He was formerly engaged in practice as a lawyer at the bar of Jefferson County, until nominated by the Republican convention and elected in 1900 as a justice of the Supreme Court of New York for the term expiring Dec. 31, 1914. Address: Watertown, N. Y.

ROGERS, William Arthur:

Iron manufacturer; born at Berkshire, N. Y., Sept. 8, 1851; son of Melanethon and Mary Elizabeth (Leonard) Rogers. He was graduated from Yale, Scientific Department, Ph.B., 1874. Mr. Rogers is senior member of the firm of Rogers, Brown and Company, president of the Buffalo and Susquehanna Iron Company, Tonawanda Iron and Steel Company, Punxsutawney Iron Company, Rogers Iron Mining Company, Niagara Iron Mining Company and Munro Iron Mining Company; vice-president of the Iroquois Iron Company; director of the Cleveland Furnace Company; vice-president of the Cascade Coal and Coke Company, vice-president of the Buffalo and Susquehanna Steamship Company; trustee of the Erie County Savings Bank, and the Young Men's Christian Association of Buffalo. He is also a member of the Buffalo, University, Country and Ellicott Clubs of Buffalo, and the Century Club of New York City. He married in New Haven, Conn., 1884, Eleanor Root Silliman, and they have three children. Address: 309 North Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

ROGERS, William Evans:

Engineer and lawyer; born in Philadelphia, April 11, 1846; son of William Evans Rogers and Harriette Phœbe (Ruggles) Rogers. He was educated in Paris, France, and in the University of Pennsylvania. He was private of First Troops of Philadelphia City Cavalry during the emergency of 1863; and was graduated from the United States Military Academy, West Point, in 1867. He was stationed at the United States Military Academy, West Point, in 1867, and was lieutenant of the U. S. Engineer Corps, 1867-1869, surveying the north shore of Lake Superior and Lake St. Clair. He was civil engineer in charge of the building of the New York, Lackawanna and Western Railroad; was a lawyer in Michigan, and organized the County of Presque Isle; member and chairman of Board of Railroad Commissioners of New York from 1883 to 1889, since which time he has practised as a lawyer in New York City. He wrote many of the Reports of the New York Railroad Commission and was joint author of the Report of the Board on Bridge Strains. He is a member of the Society of Colonial Wars, the Sons of the Revolution and the Union, Metropolitan, Union League and minor clubs. Mr. Rogers married in New York, Feb. 13, 1868, Susan L. R. Fish, and they have four children. Residence: Garrison, Putnam County, N. Y., and 56 East 78th Street. Office: 37 Liberty Street, New York City.

ROHLFS, Charles:

Designer; born in New York City, Feb. 15, 1853; son of Peter and Wilhelmina F. D. (Huute) Rohlf. He was educated in the public schools and at Cooper Union in New York City, and began work as a designer of metals. He went on the stage and acted in support of Booth, Barrett, McCullough, Mary Anderson and other leading American actors and actresses, and was starred in his wife's, "The Leavenworth Case." He left the stage to take up the profession of designer again, being originator of a distinctive class of furniture known as the "Rohlf's" style, which he began in 1896, making the first piece of furniture in his own home and producing articles of distinct characteristics which have an international reputation. He exhibited at the Pan-American Exposition and in the exposition at Turin, Italy, being the only American invited to exhibit furniture at the latter. He is a member of the Royal Society of Arts, London, England, and of the Saturn and Park Clubs and a director of the Manufacturing Club of Buffalo. He married in Brooklyn, N. Y., Nov. 24, 1884, Anna Katharine Green, the authoress, and has two sons and one daughter. Residence: 105 Norwood Avenue. Office: 520 Ellicott Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

ROLFE, John Carew:

Professor of Latin language and literature; born in Lawrence, Mass., Oct. 15, 1859; son of William James and Eliza (Carew) Rolfe. He was graduated from Harvard, A.B., 1881, Cornell, A.M., 1884, and Ph.D., 1885, and in the American School of Classical Studies in Athens, 1889. He was instructor in Latin in Cornell University, 1882-1885, Harvard University, 1889-1890; professor in University of Michigan, 1890-1902, and in the University of Pennsylvania since 1902; professor in the American School in Rome, 1907-1908. He is a member of the American Philosophical Society, American Philological Association, Archaeological Institute of America, and the Phi Beta Kappa Society. He married in Ann Arbor, Mich., Aug. 29, 1900, Alice Griswold Bailey, and they have one daughter. Residence: 4400 Chestnut Street. Office: College Hall, University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia.

ROLFE, William James:

Shakespearean author; born at Newburyport, Mass., Dec. 10, 1827. He was educated at the Lowell High School and Amherst College. He followed the profession of teaching, 1852-1868, and has since been largely engaged in his internationally famous annotations and editions of the works of Shakespeare, and in other literary works. He is the author of: Shakespeare the Boy; The Elementary Study of English; The Satchel Guide to Europe, and others; and edited: Students' Series of Standard Poems; A Series of English Classics; complete editions of Shakespeare, Scott and Tennyson, with notes; Life of Shakespeare (for the Twentieth Century edition of Shakespeare; also published separately); and (in collaboration with J. H. Hanson) Handbook of Latin Poetry; and, with J. A. Gillet, The Cambridge Physics. He married, in 1856, Eliza J. Carew, of Dorchester, Mass., and they have three sons. Address: Cambridge, Mass.

ROLLINS, Jordan Jackson:

Lawyer; born in Portland, Me., Dec. 20, 1869; son of Franklin J. and Arabella C. (Jordan) Rollins. He was graduated from Dartmouth College, A.B., 1892, and from Harvard Law School. He came to New York City, and studied law with Hon. Daniel G. Rollins, was admitted to the bar in November, 1894, and formed the partnership of Rollins and Rollins, counsel for various financial and other corporations. He is director of the Acker, Merrill and Condit Company, McDonald Electrolytic Company, New York City Interborough Railway Company, and Windsor Trust Company; secretary of the New York Law Institute. Mr. Rollins is a member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, and of the American Yacht, Seawanhaka-Corinthian Yacht, University, Harvard, Manhattan, Racquet and Tennis, New York Athletic, Union League, Rockaway Hunting, Psi Upsilon and Dartmouth Clubs of New York City. Residence: 2 East 45th Street. Address: 32 Nassau Street, New York City.

ROOK, Charles Alexander:

Journalist; born in Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 11, 1861; son of Alexander W. and Harriett L. (Beck) Rook. He was educated in the Ayers Latin School, Schmidt Academy and Western University of Pennsylvania. He entered the office of The Pittsburgh Dispatch in 1880 following the death of his father, who had been for many years the senior member of the firm of Rook & O'Neill; became secretary of The Dispatch Publishing Company in 1888, treasurer in 1896, and since 1902 has been president, editor-in-chief and manager. Colonel Rook is a Republican in National politics, but Independent in city, county and state politics. He was endorsed by every labor union in Pittsburgh in 1905, for mayor of the city, but declined the nomination on account of great business pressure. In 1907 Colonel Rook was urged to become a candidate for one of the most important offices in the Pennsylvania State Government, but, as in the case of the mayoralty, was compelled to decline the honor. He was appointed, Feb. 14, 1907, on the military staff of Edwin S. Stuart, Governor of Pennsylvania, with the rank of lieutenant-colonel. Jan. 17, 1908, he was elected a member of the Board of Inspectors of the Western Pennsylvania Penitentiary. He was elected as a delegate-at-large to the Republican National Convention in 1908, after which he was chosen by the delegation to represent Pennsylvania on the committee to notify the Republican nominee (Taft) for President. He is an Episcopalian in his church relations, and a member of the Vestry of the Church of the Ascension of Pittsburgh; he is on the board of the Newsboys Home of Pittsburgh; and is a member of the Duquesne, Union and Country Clubs of Pittsburgh. He married in Pittsburgh, Sept. 9, 1884, Anna B. Wilson, and they have three children. Residence: Ellsworth and Aiken Avenues, Pittsburgh. Office: The Dispatch, Pittsburgh, Pa.

ROONEY, John Jerome:

Lawyer and verse writer; born in Binghamton, N. Y., March 19, 1866; son of John Jerome and Ellen T. (Shanahan) Rooney. He was educated at Mt. St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg, Md., with first honors of class, A.B., A.M., 1884, received the McSweeney Special Prize in Philadelphia and LL.D. from Mt. St. Mary's, 1908. Mr. Rooney was engaged for several years, on the staff of the Philadelphia Record. He was admitted to the bar and practises in New York, chiefly in mercantile customs and revenue cases, and is regarded as an expert on the Tariff. He is nationally known as a verse writer, and during the war with Spain wrote "The Men Behind the Guns" (the first use of that phrase): "Hobson of Santiago;" "Victor Blue;" "McElrath, of Malate," and other verse on the war, which were widely copied and later published in book form under title "The Men Behind the Guns," He also wrote "Right Makes Might," official hymn of the City of New York, sung first by the public school children at the 250th anniversary of the foundation of the city. Mr. Rooney is a member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, Bar Association of the State of New York, National Geographic Society, the New York County Lawyers' Association, National Bar Association, the St. Vincent de Paul Society, the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick, and the Catholic National Democratic and Pleiades Clubs. He is a second lieutenant in the Albany Burgesses Corps, in which he is also assistant judge advocate. He married in 1903, Marie Collins, of Minnesota, and has three sons. Residence: 227 Riverside Drive. Office: 24 State Street, New York City.

ROOSEVELT, Theodore:

Ex-President of the United States; born in New York City, Oct. 27, 1858; son of Theodore Roosevelt (merchant and philanthropist) and Martha (Bulloch) Roosevelt. He prepared for college under a tutor; was graduated from Harvard as A.B. in 1880, and received the degree of LL.D. from Columbia in 1889, from Hope College, Holland, Mich., in 1901, from Yale in 1901, from Harvard in 1902, from the University of Pennsylvania in 1905 and from Clark University in 1905. He was elected in 1881, and reelected in 1882 and 1883, member of the New York Assembly; in the session of 1883 (in which the Democrats had a majority), he was a candidate for the speakership; and in the session of 1884 was chairman of Committee on Cities, and of the special committee which investigated abuses in the conduct of the government of New York City. In 1884 Mr. Roosevelt was delegate to New York State Republican Convention, and later in the same year delegate-at-large, and chairman of the New York delegation to the National Republican Convention at Chicago. He supported Senator Edmunds for the presidential nomination, but when Blaine was nominated, entered actively into the campaign in his behalf. He bought a ranch in North Dakota and lived on it for two years, studying the Far West and its people thoroughly and becoming an adept as ranchman and hunter. He returned to New York City in 1886, and was made Republican nominee for mayor, but was defeated by Abram S. Hewitt; was appointed member of the United States Civil Service Commission in 1889, and served as its president, but resigned that office in 1895 to accept the presidency of the Police Commission under the administration of Mayor Strong, which office he held until April 5, 1897, when he was appointed by President McKinley assistant secretary of the Navy. When war with Spain was declared he resigned his position in the Navy Department, and with Dr. Leonard Wood, an army surgeon, organized the First Regiment of United States Volunteer Cavalry, recruited from the ranches of the West and popularly known as the Rough Riders, Surgeon Wood, because of his superior tactical knowledge, becoming colonel and Mr. Roosevelt lieutenant-colonel. The regiment went to the front, to Cuba, and participated in the fighting in front of Santiago de Cuba, and Mr. Roosevelt was promoted to the colonelcy of the regiment for gallantry at

THEODORE ROOSEVELT
Ex-President of the United States

Las Guasimas. At the close of the war he returned with his regiment to Montauk Point, where he was mustered out of service; and shortly afterward was nominated for, and in November, 1898, was elected, governor of New York; in 1900 he was nominated for vice-president of the United States by the Republican National Convention at Philadelphia, and elected, and entered on the duties of that office March 4, 1901; on the death of President McKinley, Sept. 14, 1901, he was sworn in as President. In the National Convention of 1904, Mr. Roosevelt was nominated for President, and in the November election was elected by a plurality of the popular vote of 2,512,417, and a majority of 1,692,142, for the term beginning March 4, 1905, and expiring March 4, 1909. His administration was marked by the inauguration of great works of public improvement, notably the Panama Canal; by measures for the orderly government and advancement of the people of our insular possessions, by the prosecution of faithless officials, the curbing of law-breaking corporations, the making of laws for proper inspection of the packing and meat-dressing industries, the prevention of frauds and impurities in food products and other salutary measures inaugurated in response to the President's initiative. In foreign policy Mr. Roosevelt has taken the part of a peacemaker, and through his initiative Russia and Japan, by the treaty of Portsmouth, were brought to the conclusion of an honorable peace, in recognition of which the Board of Directors of the Nobel Institute of Stockholm conferred upon him, in 1906, the Nobel Peace Prize. Although for twenty-five years past almost continuously occupied with the public service he has earned distinction also in the profession of letters. He is author of: History of the Naval War of 1812, 1882; Hunting Trips of a Ranchman, 1885; Life of Thomas Hart Benton, 1886; and Life of Gouverneur Morris, 1887 (in the American Statesman series); Ranch Life and Hunting Trail, 1888; The Winning of the West, 1889, 1896; History of New York (in Historic Towns series), 1890; The Wilderness Hunter, 1891; Essays on Practical Politics, 1892; Ameri- can Ideals and Other Essays, 1897; The Rough Riders, 1899; Life of Oliver Cromwell, 1900; The Strenuous Life, 1900. During his incumbency of the Presidential office, besides his State papers, he has written occasional articles and introductions for books and compilations. Upon the expiration of his term of office he organized and headed his internationally famous hunting and zoological expedition to East and Central Africa. He also collaborated in writing The Deer Family, published by Macmillan in 1902. Mr. Roosevelt has married twice; first, in 1880, Alice Lee, who died in 1884, leaving one daughter, Alice, who married in 1906, Hon. Nicholas Longworth. Mr. Roosevelt married, second, in 1886, Edith Kermit Carow, and they have five children; Theodore, Jr., Kermit, Ethel, Archie and Quentin. Address: Oyster Bay, L. I., New York.

ROOSEVELT, W. Emlen:

Banker; born in New York City, April 30, 1837; son of James A. and Elizabeth Norris (Emlen Roosevelt). He was educated in private schools in America and by tutors in Europe. He was sixteen years in service in the National Guard of the State of New York, with rank of major. He is a partner in the firm of Roosevelt and Son, and a trustee of the Roosevelt Hospital, New York Dispensary, and New York Eye and Ear Infirmary. He is a member of the Metropolitan Century Riding, Seawanhaka-Corinthian Yacht, City, Down Town (New York City), and Metropolitan (Washington) Clubs. Mr. Roosevelt married in Ursino, N. J., Oct. 4, 1883, Christine Griffin Kean. Address: 804 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

ROOT, Elihu:

U. S. senator; born in Clinton, N. Y., Feb. 15, 1845; in 1864 was graduated from Hamilton College, where his father was professor of mathematics. After graduation from the University Law School in the City of New York in 1867 he was admitted to the bar and engaged in active practice of his profession in New York City; in a few years he became prominent both as a lawyer and as a leader of the reform element of the Republican Party; he has held the office of president of the New England Association, of the Union League Club, of the Republican Club, and of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York. Devoting himself closely to his chosen work, he rapidly acquired an extensive practice, particularly in corporation cases, being the counsel in many of the most famous cases in the annals of New York City. He was leading counsel in the celebrated contest growing out of the will of the late A. T. Stewart; he was counsel in the Broadway surface railroad litigation, the Sugar Trust contest, the Aqueduct litigation, and, while serving as a U. S. district-attorney he convicted Joseph D. Fish, president of the Marine Bank, of criminal complicity in connection with the celebrated Grant-Ward frauds. He participated with much distinction as chairman of the Judiciary Committee and leader on the floor of the Republican majority during the Constitutional Convention of New York in 1894. Subsequent to the close of the Spanish-American War, the condition of affairs demanded that the office of secretary of war should be filled by a lawyer of great administrative ability and one in the full possession of his mental and physical powers; the duties of the office were most intricate and complicated, and called for physical self-sacrifice that few men are able to give to the work; no secretary of war since the day of Edwin M. Stanton has had anything like the difficulties to adjust, the opposition to overcome and the new systems to inaugurate. Called suddenly from his legal profession in the City of New York, Mr. Root found himself confronted with the task of placing an army of 70,000 men in the Philippine Islands to put down an insurrection attended with almost universal sympathy, if not the active support of the inhabitants of those islands. In the midst of this great work the secretary was, early in his official career, compelled to take up the great burden of sending the Chinese Expedition to rescue our minister and his household. This expedition was conducted under instructions prepared by the secretary of war; many of the most important questions arising during that trying period were left to his decision. To the untiring and painstaking efforts of Mr. Root is greatly due the establishment of civil government in Porto Rico and the Philippine Islands. Notwithstanding the demands of this great work he was able to reorganize the Army, to change the staff system and to build up a system of education and training for the Army which will long stand as a monument to his masterly ability. He resigned from the Cabinet of President Roosevelt in 1904, and resumed the practice of his profession, but on July 7, 1905, at the earnest solicitation of the President, reentered the cabinet as Secretary of State and has won equal honors in direction of the foreign affairs of the nation to those which he achieved as Secretary of War. Secretary Root has received the LL.D. degree from Hamilton, 1894; Yale, 1900; Columbia, 1904; New York University, 1904; Williams, 1905; Princeton, 1906; and Harvard, 1907. He was a member of Alaska Boundary Tribunal which sat in London in September and October, 1903, and settled the disputed boundary between Alaska and Canada. In February, 1906, he was elected U. S. Senator from New York for the term expiring March 3, 1915. He married in New York City, Jan. 8, 1878, Clara, daughter of Samuel H. Wales. Residence: 733 Park Avenue, New York City.

ROOT, Frederic Woodman:

Author and teacher of music; born in Boston, June 13, 1846; son of Dr. George Frederick and Mary Olive (Woodman) Root. His father was a celebrated musician and composer, and at the age of sixteen Mr. Root became a pupil of Dr. William Mason. He studied under other eminent musicians, and took a position as organist in Chicago in 1863. Mr. Root has studied with eminent musicians abroad and since his first year in Europe has devoted himself mainly to the department of voice culture, although he has also undertaken a considerable amount of writing on musical topics. In 1885 he became musical critic of the Chicago Herald for two seasons, is the author of numerous addresses and articles on church music, methods of voice culture, and similar subjects. He is one of the charter members of the American College of Musicians. His principal work is in connection with the teaching of singing, to which he has added a very successful career as a lecturer. He has been active in the annual meetings of the various associations, musical and educational, having occupied many official positions in these. Mr. Root's versatility is well known among musical people. Besides his playing, teaching and lecturing he has edited a musical paper and has devoted himself largely to musical authorship. His principal achievement in the latter department is a series of works for the study and teaching of singing, entitled Technic and Art of Singing. He is a member of the Chicago Literary Club (president 1904-1905), The Cliff Dwellers, Illinois Athletic, The Little Room and Homewood Country Clubs of Chicago. Mr. Root married in Cincinnati, Ohio, April 30, 1874, Fanny Smith, and has one daughter and two sons. Residence: 5333 Cornell Avenue. Office: 715-243 Wabash Avenue, Chicago.

ELIHU ROOT
Senator of the United States

ROOT, Oren, Jr.:

Street railroad manager; born in Columbia, Mo., June 20, 1873; son of Oren and Ida (Gorfion) Root. He was graduated from Hamilton College, A.B., (Phi Beta Kappa) in 1894. He has been engaged in active management of railroads since leaving college, and at the age of thirty was in active charge of the surface lines of New York City. He is now vice-president, general manager and director of the New York City Railway Company; director of the Metropolitan Securities Company; president and director of the Jerome Park Railroad Company, Second Avenue Railroad Company, Broadway and Seventh Avenue Railroad Company, Central Park, North and East River Railway Company, Forty-second Street and Grand Street Ferry Railroad Company, Central Crosstown Railway Company; general manager and director of the Forty-second Street, Manhattanville and Saint Nicholas Avenue Railway Company, and other corporations. Mr. Root is a member of the University and Suburban

Clubs of New York City. Address: 621 Broadway, New York City.

ROOTS, Logan Herbert:

Missionary Bishop of Hankow; born in Perry County, Ill., July 27, 1870; son of P. K. and Frances Maria (Blakeslee) Roots. He was graduated from Harvard College B.A., 1891 and going thence to the Episcopal Theological School at Cambridge, studied for the ministry and took the degree of B.D. in 1896. He was ordered deacon of the Episcopal Church by the Bishop of Massachusetts in 1896 and two years later was ordained priest by the Bishop of Shanghai. Following this, he was for several years missionary in China, and in 1904 was made Bishop of Hankow, being consecrated by Bishops Graves, McKim, McVicar, Lawrence, Partridge and Vinton. Bishop Roots married at Hankow, China, April 17, 1902, Eliza Lydia McCook. Address: Hankow, China.

ROPES, James Hardy:

Clergyman, professor in Harvard Divinity School; born in Salem, Mass., Sept. 3, 1866; son of William Ladd and Harriet Lawrence (Peirson) Ropes. He was educated in Phillips Andover Academy, 1881-1885; graduated from Harvard College, A.B., 1889 summa cum laude; Andover Theological Seminary, S.T.B., 1893; studied at Universities of Kiel, Halle, and Berlin (Germany), 1893-1895, received the degree of D.D. from Western Reserve University in 1905. He was instructor in New Testament criticism and interpretation, Harvard University, 1895-1898; assistant professor, 1898-1903, and Bussey professor of New Testament criticism and interpretation since 1903. Dr. Ropes is a member of the American Oriental Society, Society of Biblical Literature and Exegesis, American Institute of Archaeology, American Academy of Arts and Sciences; director of Cambridge Associated Charities, trustee of Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., associate of Radcliffe College, member of the Colonial Society of Massachusetts; also a member of the Oakley Country Club. He married in Boston, Mass., Nov. 23, 1897, Alice Lowell, and they have two children. Address: 13 Follen Street, Cambridge, Mass.

ROSE, John B.:

Manufacturer, senator; born in Haverstraw, N. Y., April 14, 1875; son of John Clark and Martha (Bailey) Rose. He was graduated from Yale. Ph.B. in 1897, and attended New York Law School in 1898. From the age of twelve he worked at his father's brick manufacturing plant in summer vacations, learning the business; and on his father's death, he succeeded to the principal ownership of the Rose Brick Company, of Roseton, N. Y., and soon after became president, treasurer and general manager of that company, which position he still holds. He is also president of the John B. Rose Company, brick brokers; vice-president of the Bartlett Brick Company; vice-president of the Toledo Computing Scale Company. He is treasurer of the Association of Brick Manufacturers, and director of the Association of Dealers in Mason's Building Material. He was a Republican presidential elector in 1904, and in November, 1908, was elected to the State Senate of New York from the 25th Senate District. He is a member of the Hudson River Lodge and Highland Chapter of Masons, Hudson River Commandery, Knights Templar, New York Consistory and Mecca Temple (Mystic Shrine); is a member of the Newburgh Boating Association, Brookside Grange, Lawson Hose Company, Newburgh, N. Y., Pavonia Grange, Patrons of Husbandry; captain in the National Guard of the State of New York; member of the Board of Managers of St. Luke's Hospital and trustee of the Masonic Hall Association at Newburgh, N. Y. He is a member of the Union League, Yale, Republican, Transportation and Columbian Yacht Clubs of New York City, the Crescent Athletic Club of Brooklyn, the Newburgh City and Powelton Clubs of Newburgh; the Fort Orange Club of Albany, the Haverstraw Club of Haverstraw, N. Y., and the Roseton Club of Roseton, N. Y. Mr. Rose married in Newburgh, Oct. 5, 1898, Maude Moir Barelay, and they have one son. Address: 640 West 52d Street, New York City.

ROSENAU, Milton Joseph:

Physician and sanitarian; born in Philadelphia, Jan. 1, 1869; son of Nathan and Mathilda (Blitz) Rosenan. He was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania, M.D., 1890; Hygienic Institute, Berlin, Germany, 1892; Pasteur Institute, Paris, 1900; Pathologic Institute, Vienna. He was appointed assistant surgeon in the U. S. Marine Hospital Service, 1890 and has ever since remained in that service, being promoted passed assistant surgeon in 1895 and surgeon in 1907. He was quarantine officer in San Francisco, 1896-1898, and in later years was appointed to similar positions in Santiago and other Cuban ports. Upon his return from Cuba he was detailed as director of the Hygienic Laboratory, U. S. Public Health and Marine Hospital Service, in which position he has continued until the present time, taking a leading part in the investigations undertaken by the service into the characteristics of the plague and other infectious diseases in reference to tropical diseases and their prevention. He was sanitary attaché at the International Conference of American States, 1902; delegate to the 10th International Congress of Hygiene and Demography and the 13th International Congress of Medicine and Surgery, Paris, 1900; member of the International Commission to revise the nomenclature of causes of death, Paris 1900; delegate to International Sanitary Conference, Washington, 1902; delegate on part of the U. S. Government to a large number of medical and scientific meetings and congresses. Dr. Rosenau has lectured before numerous scientific schools and organizations, and is one of the leading bacteriologists of the United States from the point of view of sanitation. He is a member of the Association of Pathologists and Bacteriologists, Society of Bacteriologists, American Medical Association, American Public Health Association, Anti-Tuberculosis League, Association of Military Surgeons, Society of American Physicians, American Society of Tropical Medicine, Society for Experimental Biology and Medicine, American Association for the Advancement of Science, and the Cosmos Club of Washington, D. C. He married in Allegheny, Pa., July 16, 1900, Myra Blitz Frank, and has one son and one daughter. Residence: 1311 13th Street, N. W. Office: 25th and E Streets, N. W., Washington, D. C.

ROSENDALE, Simon W.:

Lawyer; born in Albany, N. Y., June 23, 1842; son of Sampson R. and Fannie (Sachs) Rosendale. He was educated in the Albany public schools and Barre (Vermont) Academy, and received the LL.D. degree from Union University in 1908. Mr. Rosendale practised law at Albany, N. Y. since his admission to the bar in 1863. He was formerly of the firm of Peckham & Rosendale (with Rufus W. Peckham, Justice U. S. Supreme Court); now of Rosendale & Hessberg. He has served as assistant district attorney of Albany Company, as recorder and corporation counsel of the City of Albany, and was attorney-general of the State of New York, 1891-1893. He is trustee of the National Savings Bank; director of the Commerce Insurance Company of Albany; and he is now a commissioner of the New York State Board of Charities; president of the Board of Governors of Union University; president of the Board of Trustees of Albany Medical College; president of the Ninth (1908) New York State Conference of Charities and Correction, vice-president of the American Jewish History Society. He is honorary vice-president of the American Jewish Publication Society. He is a member of the Bar Association; now director of the Albany Institute and Historical Society; member of the American Historical Society, Society of International Laws, American Academy of Political and Social Science, National Municipal League, Fort Orange, Adelphi, and Albany Country Clubs and the Megantic Fish and Game Corporation. He was former president of the New York State Bar Association. Mr. Rosendale married in Albany, N. Y., Feb. 9, 1870, Helen Cone. Address: 57 State Street, Albany, N. Y.

ROSENFELD, Sydney:

Dramatist; born in Richmond, Va., Oct. 26, 1855. He received his education in the schools of Richmond and New York City, engaged in journalism and was for some time editor of Puck until he became a writer of plays in which profession he has taken a leading place in America, being author of many successes. Address: 308 West 95th Street, New York City.

ROSENTHAL, Herman:

Author, editor, librarian; born in Friedrichstadt, Russia, Oct. 6, 1843. He was educated at Bauske and Jacobstadt; translated from the Russian Nekrassov's poems; published collection of poems, Gedichte, 1870; served in the Red Cross Society in the Russo-Turkish War, receiving the society's medal for distinguished service, 1877-1878; master printer in Smela, government of Kiev, and in the city of Kiev until 1881. He assisted in founding the Zarya (Dawn), a daily paper appearing at Kiev, 1878; was corresponding member of the St. Petersburg Society for the Promotion of Culture among the Russian Jews; sailed for the United States in 1881. He established agricultural colonies for Russian Jewish immigrants in Louisiana and South Dakota, in 1881 and 1882; took part in the Woodbine Colony, 1891; engaged in the book trade in 1887 and 1888; was chief statistician of the Edison General Electric Company from 1888 to 1891; was sent by the Great Northern Railroad Company to investigate the economic conditions and trade of China, Korea and Japan, 1892. Mr. Rosenthal was elected secretary of the German-American Reform Union, New York City, and a member of the Press Bureau of the Committee of Seventy. He was chief of the Discharging Department of the Immigration Bureau on Ellis Island, New York, from 1894 to 1896, and has been chief of the Slavonic Department of the New York Public Library since 1896. He joined the Editorial Board of the Jewish Encyclopedia as chief of the Russian Department in December, 1900. In the United States he edited and published the Hebrew monthly, Ha Modia La-Hadasim, 1901; founded the Society of Ohole Shem, of which he is president; translated into German verse, Ecclesiastes, 1895, and the Song of Songs, 1893; translated from the German. Hugo Ganz's Land of Riddles, 1904. He is author of Spätherbstnebel, 1906; also Das Neue Russland, a series of articles on Russia in the New York Staats-Zeitung; and he is editor of the Year Book, published by the Verband Deutscher Schriftsteller in Amerika. Address: Astor Library, 425 Lafayette Street, New York City.

ROSEWATER, Victor:

Editor of the Omaha Bee; born in Omaha, Neb., Feb. 13, 1871; son of the late Edward Rosewater; He was educated in Johns Hopkins University and Columbia University, Ph.B., 1891, A.M., 1892. University fellow 1892-1893, Ph.D., 1893. Mr. Rosewater was a regent of the University of Nebraska, 1896-1897; special lecturer on municipal finance, University of Wisconsin, 1904; member of the Omaha Public Library Board, 1894-1905; delegate to the National Conference on Conservation of Natural Resources, 1908; delegate-at-large for Nebraska to the Republican National Convention, 1908; and he is a member of the Republican National Committee and of its Executive Committee; member of the National Civic Federation, American Economic Association, Nebraska Historical Society. He is author of: Laissez-faire (in Palgrave's Dictionary of Political Economy); Special Assessments, a Study in Municipal Finances; Omaha (Encyclopedia Britannica); and Omaha, in "Historic Towns of the West." He is a member of the Omaha, and Sons of the Omaha Clubs of Omaha, the City Club of New York City, and the Society of the U. S. Telegraph Corps. Mr. Rosewater married in 1904, Katie Katz, of Baltimore, and they have one daughter and one son. Address: The Bee, Omaha, Neb.

ROSS, Albert:

Rear-admiral U. S. Navy; born in Clarion, Pa., Jan. 3, 1846; son of James Ross, M.D., and Mary Ann (Wilson) Ross. He was graduated from the U. S. Naval Academy in 1867, but was retired from the navy in 1871. He was restored to active duty in 1874 and served on the various stations of the navy and on light-house and other shore duty until 1904, when he was appointed inspector of the naval colliers, having charge of the transportation of the coal supply of the navy. Upon the inception of the plan of establishing a training station for enlisted men of the navy on the Great Lakes, Captain Ross was selected to develop the proposed station and was made commandant of the location selected near Chicago and superintendent of construction and installation of the equipment therefor. He was promoted to be rear admiral in October, 1907, and was retired Jan. 3, 1908, but has been continued as commandant of the training station. He married in Annapolis, Md., March 15, 1870, Alice Brewer, and has one daughter and one son. Home: Clarion, Pa. Office address: Naval Training Station, Great Lakes, North Chicago, Ill.

ROSS, Albert Randolph:

Architect; born in Westfield, Mass., Oct. 26, 1868; son of John Wesley and Clara Louise (Scarlett) Ross. He was educated in the public schools; studied sculpture at the Metropolitan Museum of Art Schools; studied architecture in the offices of McKim, Meade and White, and in Greece, Italy and France. He was the architect of the Carnegie Library at Washington, D. C.; Union County Court House, Elizabeth, N. J.; the public libraries of Columbus, Ohio, Denver, Colo., and many others. He is a member of the Architectural League, the National Sculpture Society, the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, and the Arts Club. He married in Brookline, Mass., Oct. 30, 1901, Susan Chadwick Husted. Address: 16 East 42d Street, New York City.

ROSS, Edward Alsworth:

Professor of sociology; born in Virden, Ill., Dec. 12, 1866; son of William Carpenter and Rachel (Alsworth) Ross. He was graduated from Coe College, A.B., 1886; studied at Berlin University, and graduated from Johns Hopkins, Ph.D., 1891; Phi Beta Kappa honors. He was professor in Indiana University, 1891-1892; associate professor, Cornell University, 1892-1893; professor in the Leland Stanford, Jr., University of California, 1893-1900; the University of Nebraska, 1901-1906, and in the University of Wisconsin since 1906. He is a member of the Institut International de Sociologie, and vice-president of the American Institute of Criminal Law and Criminology. He is author of: Sinking Funds; Social Control; Foundations of Sociology; Sin and Society; Social Psychology; and a lecturer in Harvard University, 1909, and in the University of Chicago, 1896 and 1905. He married in Washington, D. C., June 16, 1892, Rosamund C. Simons, and they have three children. Address: Madison, Wis.

ROSS, Erskine Mayo:

U. S. circuit judge; born at Bell Pré, Culpepper County, Va., June 30, 1845; son of William Buckner and Elizabeth (Mayo) Ross. After graduation from the Virginia Military Institute in 1865 he studied law, went to California and was admitted to the bar of that State in 1869, engaging in practice at Los Angeles, Calif. He became a justice of the Supreme Court of California in 1869 and held that office until appointed by President Cleveland in 1886 to the office of U. S. judge for the Southern District of California, serving as district judge until his appointment by President Cleveland, Feb. 22, 1895, U. S. judge for the Ninth Circuit. He married in Los Angeles, May 7, 1874, Inez H. Bettis. Address: Los Angeles, Calif.

ROSSITER, Stealy B.:

Clergyman; born in Berne, Albany County, N. Y., May 22, 1842; son of John and Eva (Ball) Rossiter. He was educated in the Preparatory School, Kinderhook, N. Y., and graduated from Union College, class of 1865, with Phi Beta Kappa honors, and Union Theological Seminary, N. Y.; received the degree of D.D. from Union. He was pastor of the Congregational Church, Elizabeth, N. J., for four years, the North Presbyterian Church, New York City, for over twenty-seven years, was for three years secretary of McCall's Mission, and pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Manila for the past six years. He is a member of the Chi Alpha fraternity. He married in Elizabeth, N. J., July 16, 1873, Mary Augusta Ropes, and has two children. Residence: 532 Calle Real, Manila, P. I.

ROSSITER, Van Wyck:

Banker; born in Brooklyn, May 12, 1871; son of William Wickes and Emma (Richmond) Rossiter. He was educated in the Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute. Mr. Rossiter is president and director of the Rockland County Trust Company, Nyack, N. Y.; director and ex-president of Rossiter, McGovern and Company, New York City; proprietor of Gregory and Sherman (lumber merchants), Nyack; and president of the Braeburn Association (real estate), Nyack, N. Y. He is a member of the American Scenic-Historic Preservation Society; vice-president of the Palisades Stony Point Driveway Association, and of the New York, Nyack Country, and Tappan Zee Yacht Clubs. He married at Livermore, Calif., in Oct., 1895, Mabel Fuller, and they have four children. Address: Nyack-on-Hudson, N. Y.

ROTCH, Abbott Lawrence:

Director of Blue Hill Meteorological Observatory and professor of meteorology at Harvard University; born in Boston, Jan. 6, 1861. He was graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology with the degree of S.B. in mechanical engineering, in 1884, and received the degree of A.M. (Harvard) honoris causa, in 1891. Mr. Rotch has traveled extensively for scientific purposes. He was a juror for instruments of precision at the Universal Exposition at Paris, in 1889; established in 1885 and has since maintained Blue Hill Meteorological Observatory near Boston, noted for its investigations of the upper air by means of cloud observations and the earliest self-recording instruments lifted by kites; obtained first meteorological records with kites over the Atlantic Ocean, and with balloons at great heights in America. He is librarian of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and trustee of several educational institutions of Boston. For ten years he was associate editor of the American Meteorological Journal; is corresponding member of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, and of the Berlin Aeronautical Society; honorary member of the Royal (London), Austrian and German Meteorological Societies, and of the French Alpine Club, etc. Chevalier Legion of Honor; Prussian Orders of Crown and Red Eagle. His publications are: Observations and Investigations made at the Blue Hill Observatory, in Annals of Harvard College Observatory; Sounding the Ocean of Air (Romance of Science Series) in 1900; The Conquest of the Air, in 1909; and numerous articles in scientific journals. He is a member of these clubs: St. Botolph and Somerset of Boston; University and Century of New York; Cosmos, of Washington. Address: 235 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston; Blue Hill Observatory, Hyde Park, Mass.

ROTCH, Thomas Morgan:

Physician and surgeon; born in New Bedford, Mass., Dec. 9, 1849; son of Rodman and Helen (Morgan) Rotch. His ancestor in the generation, five removes, was Thomas Macy, who married Deborah Coffin. Mr. Rotch was graduated from Harvard as A. B., 1870, and M.D., 1874. He was medical house officer of Massachusetts General Hospital, 1873-1874; studied in the Universities of Berlin, Vienna and Heidelberg, 1875-1876; was physician to the Boston Dispensary in 1876; visiting physician to Channing Home for Consumptives from 1878; clinical lecturer on diseases of children in Harvard Medical School, 1878-1885, and lecturer, 1885-1888; assistant professor of diseases of children, 1888-1893, and full professor since 1893, the title being changed to professor of pediatrics in 1903. He is secretary of the Suffolk District Medical Society; served as visiting physician of Boston City Hospital for ten years, when he was made consulting physician and surgeon. He was made censor of the Suffolk District Medical Society and counselor of the Massachusetts Medical Society. He has served as president of the American Pediatric Society since 1891 and of the Suffolk District Medical Society since 1902. The Thomas Morgan Rotch, Jr., Hospital for Infants was founded by friends of Dr. Rotch in memory of his son and he served the institution from its foundation as visiting physician. He has been largely instrumental in establishing milk laboratories, both in America and Europe, and he was made consulting physician to the St. Francis Hospital for Infants in London in 1903. He is author of: Pediatrics, the Hygienic and Medical Treatment of Children, used in Harvard and other medical schools as a text-book. He married, June 4, 1874, Helen, daughter of William J. and Emily (Morgan) Rotch of New Bedford, and their only child, Thomas Morgan Rotch, Jr., died March 13, 1902. Residence: 197 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston.

ROTH, Frederick G. R.:

Sculptor; born in Brooklyn, April 28, 1872; son of Johannis and Jane Grey (Beau) Roth. He studied art at the Academy of Fine Arts in Vienna, 1893-1895, Academy of Fine Arts, Berlin, 1895-1897. He is an academicien of the National Academy of Design; member of the National Sculpture Society, and Architectural League of New York. He is also a member of the Salmagundi Club. He married in New York City, April, 1905, Madeleine E. G. Foster. Address: Salmagundi Club, New York City.

ROTHROCK, Joseph Trimble:

Former commissioner of forestry; born April 9, 1839, at McVeytown, Millin County, Pa.; son of Dr. Abraham and Phebe B. Rothrock. He was graduated from Harvard, B.S., 1864, and from the University of Pennsylvania, M.D., 1868. He enlisted, Aug. 7, 1862, as a private in Company D, 131st Pennsylvania Infantry, for nine months; was severely wounded in thigh at the battle of Fredericksburg in Dec., 1862; commissioned captain of Company E, 20th Pennsylvania Cavalry, serving for six months; and 1865-1866 was exploring in British Columbia. He practised medicine in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., 1870-1873, and was then made surgeon to the Wheeler Exploring Expedition, U. S. Engineers, operating west of the One Hundredth meridian, serving until 1875, in Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico and California. In 1876 he established a camp for physical culture for boys; was elected to the chair of botany in the University of Pennsylvania, 1877. In 1896 he was made general secretary of the Pennsylvania Forestry Association, which position he still holds; was made commissioner of forestry in the Department of Agriculture in 1897, and the head of a division in the new department. In 1901 he was made head of State Department of Forestry, and resigned that position on June 1, 1904. He has served under four successive governors as commissioner of forestry, and has established a consumptive camp on South Mountain, in Franklin County, also the Mountain Side Sanatorium for Consumptives. As member of Pennsylvania Conservation Commission he represents the State in National Conservation Commission in Washington. He is a writer on scientific subjects. Dr. Rothrock is a member of the Pennsylvania Commandery of Military Order of the Loyal Legion. He married, May 27, 1869, Martha E. May. Address: 428 North Church Street, West Chester, Pa.

ROTHSCHILD, Alonzo:

Author; born in New York, Oct. 30, 1862; son of John and Katherine (Meyer) Rothschild. He received his education in public schools, College of the City of New York, and Harvard College. He is author of: Lincoln, Master of Men. He married in New York, Sept. 11, 1895, Meta Robitscheck, and they have three children. Address: Brook Farm, East Foxboro, Mass.

ROUNDS, Arthur Charles:

Lawyer; born in Cleveland, Ohio, Dec. 28, 1862; son of Dr. Charles Collins and Kate Nixon (Stowell) Rounds. He was graduated from Hallowell (Me.) Classical Academy, and State Normal School, Farmington, Me., Amherst College, A.B., 1887, Harvard Law School. LL.B., A.M., 1890, and the honorary degree of LL.M. from New York University. He was professor of law in the Metropolis Evening Law School, New York, 1893-1895; professor of law in New York University, 1895-1901; lecturer at the Harvard Law School, 1898-1899, 1900-1901. He is a director of the Union Buffalo Mills Company, and the American Deli Tobacco Company, also a member of the law firm of Rounds and Schurman, trustee of Amherst College; member of the Chi Psi and Phi Delta Phi fraternities, and the University, Harvard, Lawyers, Barnard, Nassau Country, and Farmachenee Clubs, and the Association of the Bar of New York. Residence: 256 West 100th Street. Office: 96 Broadway, New York City.

ROWE, Basil W.:

Express official; vice-president, treasurer, trustee and member of the Board of Managers of The Adams Express Company; vice-president and director of The Adams Land and Building Company; vice-president, treasurer and director of The Adams Vehicle Company; president and director of Hollywood Hotel and Cottage Company; director of Dunlap's Express Company; Morris European and American Express Company, Limited; Standard Trust Company of New York. Mr. Rowe is a member of the Ohio Society of New York, Metropolitan Museum of Art, American Museum of Natural History, Monmouth County Horse Show Association, and of the New York Club, Railroad Club, Automobile Club of America, and New Jersey Automobile and Motor Club. Residence: 47 East 58th Street. Office: 71 Broadway, New York City.

ROWE, Leo S.:

Economist; born in McGregor, Iowa, Sept. 17, 1871; son of Louis Rowe. He was educated in the Philadelphia Central High School, the University of Pennsylvania, Ph.B., 1890, LL.B., 1895, and is a Ph.D. of the University of Halle, Germany, and an LL.D. of the National University of La Plata, Argentine. University of San Marcos, Lima, Peru, and the University of Chile, Santiago. He was admitted to the bar of Pennsylvania, and in 1903 was appointed head of the department of political science of the University of Pennsylvania, which position he holds at the present time. Professor Rowe has been one of the chief factors in formulating the laws under which a portion of the island possessions of the United States are now governed. In 1900 he was a member of the Commission to Revise and Compile the Laws of Porto Rico, and in 1901-1902 he was chairman of the Insular Code Commission which reported codes, which, with some modifications, have been adopted as the law under which Porto Rico is now governed. He was United States delegate to the Third International Conference of American States at Rio Janeiro in 1906, and chairman of the delegation of the United States to the First Pan-American Scientific Congress at Santiago, Chile, Dec., 1908-Jan., 1909. Dr. Rowe is president of the American Academy of Political and Social Science; member of the American International Law Association, American Economic Association, American Political Science Association; corresponding member of the Société d'Anthropologie, Paris; and in July, 1909, was made honorary member of the Mexican National Geographic and Statistical Society. He is the author of: The Finances of Berlin and Paris; Report of the United States Commission to Revise the Laws of Porto Rico (with Judge Daly and Hon. Juan Hernandez-Lopez), 2 volumes, 1901; Report of the Insular Code Commission (with Hon. J. M. Keedy), 8 volumes, 1902; The United States and Porto Rico, 1904; Problems of City Government, 1908, and also of many reports, monographs, and articles in economic journals, reviews, and Annals of American Academy of Political and Social Science. His address is University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, Pa.

ROWE, Peter Trimble:

Bishop of Alaska; born in Canada in 1856. He was graduated from Trinity College, Toronto, with the degree of B.A. and later taking that of M.A. He received, in 1895, an honorary degree of D.D. from Hobart College and from his alma mater. He was ordained deacon of the Church of England in Canada, later becoming priest and, in 1878, was missionary at Garden River, Ontario. In 1887 he accepted the rectorate of St. James' Church in Sault Sainte Marie, Mich., remaining here until his advancement to the episcopate. He became bishop of Alaska in 1895, being consecrated by Bishops Doane, Potter and Davis. Bishop Rowe was married, June 5, 1882, to Dora H. Carry. Address: Sitka, Alaska.

ROWELL, John W.:

Chief judge of Vermont Supreme Court; born in Lebanon, N. H., June 9, 1835. He was educated in the common schools and at West Randolph (Vt.) Academy, read law and was admitted to the bar of Orange County, Vt., in 1858, and engaged in practice at Randolph. He served as State's attorney for Orange County, 1862-1863; represented the town of Randolph in the House of Representatives of Vermont, 1861-1862; was a member of the Vermont Senate from Orange County, in 1874. He was elected reporter of the decisions of the Supreme Court in 1872, and held the office by continuous reflections and appointment until Dec., 1880, when he declined another appointment. He was appointed sixth associate judge of the Supreme Court by Governor Farnham, receiving his commission Jan. 11, 1882; was elected fifth associate judge in 1884, and promoted to fourth associate judge by Governor Dillingham; elected second associate judge in 1890 and on the death of Judge Russell S. Taft, March 22, 1902, was appointed chief judge. The University of Vermont conferred upon Judge Rowell the degree of LL.D. in 1893. He married, Aug. 1, 1858, Mary L. Wheeler. Address: Randolph, Vt.

ROWLAND, Eugene A.:

Lawyer; born in Boonville, N. Y., Feb. 29, 1864; son of Samuel S. and Alice J. (Barton) Rowland. He was educated in Rome public schools, and Madison (now Colgate) University, class of 1884, salutatorian. He was admitted to the bar, Jan., 1887, and has been engaged in general practice since then; U. S. commissioner since 1890. He is a director of the Rome and Clinton Railroad, and trustee of the Church Insurance Association of Rochester; was commissioner of the Rome City Board of Charity, 1904-1908. Mr. Rowland is a member of the Oneida County Bar Association, the Bar Association of the State of New York, and the Bar Association of the City of New York; trustee of the Central New York Institution for Deaf Mutes, member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, Phi Beta Kappa Society, Sons of the Revolution, the University, Teugega Golf, Lake Placid, Rome Country Clubs, and president of the Rome Republican Club. He married in Rome, N. Y., April 8, 1896, Jeanie M. Barton, and they have one daughter. Residence: 304 North George Street. Office: Farmers' National Bank Building, Rome, N. Y.

ROWLEY, Richard:

Clergyman; born in Burslem, Staffordshire, England, March 2, 1872; son of Thomas Rowley and Jane (Yoxall) Rowley. After attending the local national school, he was educated at St. Paul's Missionary College, Burgh, Lines (in connection with the University of Durham), England, 1894; Queen's Theological College, Newfoundland, 1897, was graduated as M.A. in 1900, and received the honorary degree of D.D. in 1903 from the Northern Illinois College. He was ordered deacon in May, 1898, and ordained priest in Dec. of the same year by Bishop Nicholson of Milwaukee. For some three years he was engaged in missionary work in Wisconsin; in 1901 was appointed priest-in-charge of Trinity Church, Wheaton, Ill., by Bishop Anderson, and since Dec., 1903, has been rector of St. Paul's-by-the-Lake, Rogers Park, Chicago. He married in Baraboo, 1901, Cornelia, daughter of Walworth D. and Ellen Porter of Baraboo, Wis. Address: St. Paul's Rectory, Rogers Park, Chicago, Ill.

ROYAL, George:

Physician and surgeon; born in Alfred, Mass., July 15, 1853; son of Ambrose and Adelaide (Buchner) Royal. He studied one year at Amherst College, and was graduated from the New York Homeopathic Medical College and Hospital, M.D., 1882. Dr. Royal practised medicine in Rockville, Conn., 1882-1883; then removed to Des Moines, Iowa, where he has been practising since 1883. He has been professor of materia medica, since 1892, and dean of the College of Homeopathic Medicine, since 1899, of the State University of Iowa. Dr. Royal is a member of the American Institute of Homeopathy, of which he was president, 1904-1905, the Hahnemann Medical Society of Iowa, the Des Moines Homeopathic Society, and is honorary vice-president of the British Homeopathic Medical Society. He is a director of the Roadside Settlement, Des Moines, and a trustee of the Institute of Drug Proving, of the American Institute of Homeopathy. He married at Coventry, Conn., Nov. 27, 1879, Ella J. Kingsbury, and they have four children. Address: Des Moines, Iowa.

RUBLEE, William Alvah:

Consul-general; born at Madison, Wis., in 1861; after a thorough preparation in the best Wisconsin schools he entered Harvard University, from which he was graduated as A.B. in 1883, and after leaving college engaged in newspaper work. He was appointed U. S. consul to Prague, Bohemia, in 1890, serving there until 1894, then became editorial writer on the Daily Sentinel, at Milwaukee, Wis., until 1901, when he was appointed consul-general of the United States to Hong Kong, China. He was transferred to Havana, Cuba, in 1902, and in 1903 to his present post as consul-general of the United States at Vienna. Address: American Consulate, Vienna, Austria.

RUCKER, William Waller:

Congressman and lawyer; born near Covington, Va., Feb. 1, 1855; son of William P. and Margaret A. (Scott) Rucker. At the beginning of the war he moved with his parents to West Virginia, in which State he attended the common schools, and in 1873 removed to Chariton County, Mo., where he taught school until 1875. studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1876. He was elected prosecuting attorney of Chariton County in 1886 and served until 1892, when he was elected circuit judge of the Twelfth Judicial Circuit, serving until 1899. He was elected, as a Democrat, in 1898, to the Fifty-sixth Congress from the Second Missouri District, has since been biennially reelected, and is now serving in the Sixty-first Congress. He married at Keytesville, Mo., May 20, 1880, to Fannie Applegate. Address: Keytesville, Mo.

RUCKSTUHL, Frederick Wellington:

Sculptor; born in Breitenbach, Alsace, France, May 22, 1853; son of John and Jeannette (Steeb) Ruckstuhl. He was educated in the art schools of Paris. Mr. Ruckstuhl has executed many notable works in sculpture, among which is the marble figure, Evening, in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York; the colossal granite heads of Franklin, Goethe and Macaulay on the facade and the heroic bronze statue of Solon in the interior of the Library of Congress in Washington; equestrian statue of General Hartranft on the Capitol Hill at Harrisburg, Pa., the idealized heroic statues of Wisdom and Force in marble at the entrance of the Appellate Court Building of New York City; equestrian statue of General Wade Hampton, at Columbia, S. C.; Confederate monuments at Baltimore and Little Rock, heroic marble statue of John C. Calhoun in Statuary Hall, Washington, and many others. Mr. Ruckstuhl has traveled extensively and studied in Europe, Egypt, and in Greece. He received honorable mention in the Paris Salon of 1888, and a grand medal from the World's Columbian Exposition, Chicago. Mr. Ruckstuhl is a member of the National Institute of Arts and Letters, the National Sculpture Society, Municipal Art Society, the Architectural League of New York, and the Lambs' and National Art Clubs. He married Adelaide Pohlman, and they have a son. Address: The Arts Club, Gramercy Park, New York City.

RUFFIN, Margaret Ellen Henry:

Writer, lecturer; born in Daphne, Ala.; daughter of Thomas and Mary (Nugent) Henry; was educated in the Immaculate Conception School, Mobile, St. Joseph's College, Emmitsburg, receiving the degree of LL.D., 1907; and received a letter from the King and Queen of Norway for Norwegian history. She was asked for her picture to place in the great Library of Paris, as a writer of distinction; received the "acclaim" and was admitted as an honored confrere by the Sorbonne, and by Dublin University. She wrote the Centennial Ode for St. Joseph's College at Emmitsburg, Md., and also the Centennial Song, which was sung at the Centenary in June, 1909. She is author of: Drifting Leaves, 1884; John Gildart, 1900, and the North Star, 1904. She married in Mobile, Ala., April 20, 1887, Francis G. Ruffin, Jr., of Richmond, Va. (died 1902), and has six children. Address: 404 Church Street, Mobile, Ala.

RUGG, Arthur Prentice:

Associate justice of the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts; born in Sterling, Mass., Aug. 20, 1862; son of Prentice Mason and Cynthia (Ross) Rugg. He was graduated from Amherst College, A.B., 1883, Boston University Law School, LL.B., 1886, and received the degree of LL.D. from Amherst, 1908. He was admitted to the bar, 1886, in co-partnership with the Hon. John R. Meyer, 1888-1906, assistant district attorney, 1895-1897, city solicitor of Worcester, 1897-1906; appointed associate justice of the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts, Sept., 1906. He is trustee of the Worcester Mechanics' Savings Bank since 1897, and vice-president since 1907. He is a member of the American Antiquarian Society, trustee of the School of Expression, Boston, and a member of the Union Club of Boston and the Worcester Club of Worcester. He married in Worcester, Mass., April 10, 1889, Florence May Belcher, and they have three children. Residence: 488 Pleasant Street, Worcester. Office: Court House, Boston.

RUHRÄH, John:

Physician; born in Chillicothe, Ohio, Sept. 26, 1872; son of D. C. and Mary (Fincknauer) Ruhräh. He was graduated from the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Baltimore, M.D., 1894. He is visiting physician of Mercy, Robert Garrett Hospital for Children, Nursery and Child Hospital, and consulting physician to the Church Home and Infirmary. He is author of: A Manual of the Diseases of Infants and Children (with J. Friedenvald); Diet in Health and Disease, and Dietetics for Nurses. Dr. Ruoff is a member of the American Pediatric Society, secretary of the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty of Maryland, and a member of the University and Baltimore Clubs. Address: 839 North Eutaw Street, Baltimore.

RUOFF, Henry Woldmar:

Author and journalist; born in Germantown, Pa., Nov. 3, 1867; of Austro-German ancestry. He was graduated from Indiana University, 1890; was a graduate student in Harvard University two years; student in the Law Department of Columbian University, Washington, D. C., three years, and received its degree of D.C.L., 1901, also D.C.L. George Washington University, 1901; and he was auditor in the University of Oxford, England, the University of Berlin, and the École des Sciences Politiques, Paris, 1901-1902. He was successively assistant in ethnology to the World's Columbian Exposition, 1891-1892; lecturer in philosophy and history in Pennsylvania State College, 1892-1893; engaged in literary work and publishing, 1895-1904; editor and adviser with The King-Richardson Company, Springfield, Mass., 1898-1904; on editorial staff of the American Spectator, Ridgeway's, and The Nashville Tennessean, 1904-1908. He has traveled very extensively in Europe, Asia and Northern Africa. Mr. Ruoff is a member of the American Academy of Political and Social Science, the National Geographic Society, and the Phi Delta Phi fraternity. He is author and editor of several volumes, including The Century Book of Facts; Leaders of Men; The Capitals of the World; Syllabus of American Politics; The Standard Dictionary of Facts; and has been a prolific contributor to other publications of a popular character. Mr. Ruoff is an independent Republican and a Unitarian. Residence: 225 Norwood Avenue. Office: 806 Mutual Life Building, Buffalo, N. Y.

RUSSELL, Charles Edward:

Author; born in Davenport, Iowa, Sept. 25, 1860; son of Edward and Lydia (Rutledge) Russell. He received his education in the Davenport High School and the St. Johnsbury (Vt.) Academy. He began work on his father's newspaper, the Davenport Daily Gazette, and was subsequently night editor of the Minneapolis Tribune, managing editor of the Minneapolis Journal; managing editor of the Detroit Tribune; reporter on the New York Herald; city editor of the New York World, managing editor of the New York American, and publisher of the Chicago American. He traveled all through Europe and around the world, for Everybody's Magazine. Mr. Russell is author of: Such Stuff as Dreams (verse), 1902; The Twin Immortalities (verse), 1904; The Greatest Trust in the World, 1905; The Uprising of the Many, 1907; Thomas Chatterton: the Marvelous Boy, 1908; Lawless Wealth, 1908. Mr. Russell is a member of the Authors' Club and Liberal Club of New York. He is a member of the Socialist party. He married at St. Johnsbury, Vt., March 12, 1884, Abby Osborne Rust, who died Jan. 12, 1901, and he has one son. Address: Windermere Hotel, Chicago, Ill.

RUSSELL, Charles Wells:

Assistant attorney-general; born Wheeling, W. Va., March 16, 1856; son of C. W. and Margaret Wilson (Moore) Russell. He was educated in Georgetown University; Academic and Law Departments, and in 1886 entered the Department of Justice and thereafter argued many French Spoliation and other cases. In 1895 he was legal adviser of the Dockery Joint Congressional Commission to reform the Government, and especially Treasury methods. In 1897 he investigated and Jan., 1898, reported on the reconcentrado starvation and military situation in Cuba, which country he revisited in 1905 in preparing the defense of General Brooke, ex-governor of Cuba, against the Countess O'Reilly de Buena Vista (209 U. S. 45). In Aug., 1898, he was sent as legal adviser of the Porto Rico Military Evacuation Commission. He used his influence in favor of Cuban independence when forcible annexation was much in favor. In 1901 he argued the Maine explosion cases before the Spanish Treaty Claims Commission. In 1902 he was sent by Attorney-General Knox to Paris to report on the validity of the title the Panama Canal Company could transfer to United States and in 1904 was sent back to Paris to effect the transfer of the Panama Canal Company's title and property. He arranged with J. P. Morgan to convey the price to Paris, forty million dollars in gold. From Paris he was sent to Panama as legal adviser of the first Canal Zone Government; assisted in delimiting the Zone, and organizing the government. From 1902 to 1906 he was special assistant attorney-general in charge of Insular and Territorial Affairs, including the Pacific Cables. Since Oct., 1906, he has been investigating and prosecuting peon slavery and like offenses in the Southern States. In Nov., 1907, and July, 1908, argued the Bettie Ligon and Fleming cases and instituted at Muskogee suits against several thousand defendants; all in the interest of the Five Civilized Tribes. He married, first, in 1879, Lucy Floyd Mosby; and second, in 1885, Lelia James Mosby (her sister). Address: Department of Justice, Washington, D. C.

RUSSELL, Gordon:

Congressman; born in Huntsville, Ala.; son of Henry A. and Mary (Gordon) Russell. He was graduated from the University of Georgia, A.B., and was a member of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity while in college. He taught school at Dalton, Ga., and during that time read law and was admitted to the bar by the superior court for Whitfield County; removed to Texas in the latter part of 1879 and located in Van Zandt County; removed to Tyler, Smith County, in 1895; was elected county judge of Van Zandt County in 1884, and at the end of one term relinquished that office to resume the practice of his profession. In 1892 he was elected district attorney of the Seventh Judicial District of Texas. Upon the death of Hon. R. C. De Graffenreid was elected as a Democrat from the Third Texas District to fill out the remainder of his term in the Fifty-seventh and Fifty-eighth Congresses. He was reelected to the Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses. Address: Tyler, Texas.

RUSSELL, Harry Luman:

Dean of the College of Agriculture in the University of Wisconsin; born at Poynette, Wis., March 12, 1866; son of E. Fred and Lucinda E. (Waldron) Russell. He was graduated from the University of Wisconsin, B.S., 1888, M.S., 1890, and from Johns Hopkins University, Ph.D., 1892. He was assistant professor of bacteriology at the University of Wisconsin, 1893; professor of bacteriology in 1896; director of the State Hygienic Laboratory, in 1903; dean of the College of Agriculture and director of the Wisconsin Experimental Station since 1907. Dr. Russell is a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the Society of American Bacteriologists, Washington Academy of Science, and the American Public Health Association; president of the Advisory Board of the State Tuberculosis Sanatorium, trustee of the Poynette Presbyterian Academy, member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society, Alpha Zeta, and Sigma Xi fraternities, and of the University Club of Madison. He married at Poynette, Dec. 20, 1893, H. May Russell, and they have two children. Address: Madison, Wis.

RUSSELL, Horace:

Jurist; born in Bombay, N. Y., June 19, 1843; son of Charles and Hannah (Wright) Russell. He was graduated from Dartmouth College, A.B., 1865, and from Harvard Law School, LL.B., 1867, and received the LL.D. degree from Dartmouth in 1893. He engaged in the practice of law in New York City in 1867; was appointed assistant district attorney of New York County in 1873; judge advocate-general of New York, 1879-1882; judge of the Superior Court of

New York, 1880-1883. He was receiver for the West Shore Railway Company, 1884-1886; general counsel for the Stewart Estate, 1880-1889. He is a member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, Law Institute, Metropolitan Museum of Art; member and ex-president of the New England Society, and president of the Metropolitan Golf Association. He is a member of the Union League, University, Metropolitan, Republican, Garden City Golf, and Shinnecock Golf Clubs. He married, Feb. 26, 1878, Josephine Hilton, and they have three daughters. Residence: 47 Park Avenue. Address: 280 Broadway, New York City.

RUSSELL, Joseph Ballister:

Merchant; born in Boston, Oct. 24, 1852; son of Charles Theodore and Sarah E. (Ballister) Russell. He was educated in public and private schools in Boston and Cambridge. He is president and director of the West End Street Railway Company; vice-president and director of the State Street Trust Company; treasurer and director of the Boston Wharf Company; director of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company, Boston Steamship Company, Boston & Philadelphia Steamship Company, Cambridge Trust Company, Conveyancers Title Insurance Company, Fitchburg Railroad Company, National Shawmut Bank; trustee Lovejoy's Wharf Trust, Massachusetts Gas Companies, New England Coal and Coke Company, New England Gas and Coke Company and of Quincy Market Real Estate Trust. He is director of the Boston Merchants Association, Boston Chamber of Commerce and of the Boston Real Estate and Auction Board of which he is president; trustee of Mount Auburn Cemetery Corporation and of Cambridge Hospital; is a member of the Somerset, Union, Exchange, New Riding, Papyrus, Commercial and Boston City Clubs of Boston, of the Country Club of Brookline, Mass., Oakley Country Club of Watertown, Mass., of which he is president, and of the Strollers' Club of New York City. Mr. Russell married in Wilmington, Del., May 20, 1880, Lillian Hillyard Tenney, and they have five children. Residence: 69

Sparks Street, Cambridge, Mass. Address: 114 State Street, Boston.

RUSSELL, Robert Howard:

Publisher; born in Stratford, Conn., in 1866; son of Robert H. and Mary E. Russell. He is the author of many articles and a book of travel in the East, and publisher of C. D. Gibson's, Frederick Remington's and many other artists' drawings and of fine art books generally. He is publisher and editor, also president of The Metropolitan Magazine Company and proprietor of the business of R. H. Russell, Publisher. He is a member of the Union, Racquet and Tennis, The Brook, and Turf and Field Clubs of New York City, and also of The National and Prince's Clubs of London, England. Address: 3 West 29th Street, New York City.

RUTHERFORD, Mildred Lewis:

Author and teacher; born in Athens, Ga., July 16, 1851; daughter of Williams and Laura Battaile Rootes (Cobb) Rutherford. She was graduated from the Lucy Cobb Institute, Athens, Ga., with first honor in a class of twenty-seven members. She has been teacher of literature for twenty-eight years and principal for seventeen years of the Lucy Cobb Institute; president of the Bessie Mell Industrial Home (an organized charity) for fourteen years; director of Athens Night School, eight years; president of the Georgia Division of United Daughters of the Confederacy, four years, and is State historian for life of the same division; historian of the Elijah Clarke Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution; member of the American Committee of the Young Women's Christian Association for years and president of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Young Men's Christian Association. She is author of several volumes, including: English Authors; American Authors; French Authors; The South in History and Literature (a concise but complete compendium); Mamie Brown and Susan Kennedy; farces and school plays, and several books still in manuscript. Address: The Villa, Athens, Ga.

RYAN, James:

Catholic Bishop; born in Thurles, County Tipperary, Ireland, 1848. He came to the United States as a boy and was educated in this country. His ecclesiastical studies were made in St. Joseph's Seminary, Bardstown, Ky., was ordained priest and remained for some time as professor, was afterward pastor in Kentucky until 1878, and afterward parish priest in Wataga, Danville and Ottawa, Ill., until consecrated, in 1888, bishop of Alton, Ill., which see he has since administered. Address: Alton, Ill.

RYAN, Patrick John:

Roman Catholic Archbishop of Philadelphia; born in Thurles, County Tipperary, Ireland, Feb. 20, 1831. He was sent to St. Vincent's College, Castlenock, four miles northwest of Dublin, which he left in his sixteenth year, in 1847, to enter Carlow College. He left Carlow College in 1852, just after receiving the holy order of deaconship, and emigrated to the United States, becoming affiliated with the Archdiocese of St. Louis. Though not yet a priest, being too young to be ordained, for the first three months after his arrival he was assigned to preach in St. Patrick's Church, and also performed the same office in the Cathedral. He was soon afterward appointed professor of English literature and elocution in the Theological Seminary at Carondelet, Mo. His first mission as a priest was as an assistant at the Cathedral. He became rector of the Cathedral, and remained as such until 1860, when he was chosen to take charge of the Annunciation parish, whose church and school he built. In addition to his parochial duties here he also performed those of chaplain of the Gratiot Street Military Prison, where many Confederate prisoners were confined during the Civil War. Soon after the war he was transferred from the Annunciation Church to St. John's Church, St. Louis, which he relieved of a debt of thirty thousand dollars. In 1866 he was called upon to attend the Second Plenary Council of Baltimore in an official capacity, and the same year he received the degree of Doctor of Laws from Columbia University of New York. The following years he accompanied Archbishop Kenrick to Rome, to attend the celebration of the eighteenth centenary of the martyrdom of St. Peter. While in Rome he preached, upon the direct invitation of the Pope, a Lenten course of sermons in English. Father Ryan returned to St. Louis in 1868, where he was appointed Vicar-General of the Diocese. In 1871, Archbishop Kenrick having applied for a coadjutor, and his request being granted, the choice fell upon the Very Reverend Patrick John Ryan, Vicar-General, who was assigned to the titular See of Tricomia. The silver jubilee of this event was celebrated by the Catholics of Philadelphia and St. Louis jointly on April 14, 1897, at St. Louis, in the church of which he was the rector, St. John the Evangelist. In the fall of 1883 he visited Rome for the second time, on this occasion as the representative of Archbishop Kenrick at the conference assembled at the invitation of the Pope to make preparations for the Third Plenary Council at Baltimore. He had arrived home but a short time when he received notice of his promotion to an archiepiscopal titular see, that of Salamis. The Metropolitan See of Philadelphia had been vacant for some time, and he was appointed thereto June 9, 1884. Among the new charitable institutions founded in the archbishopric under Archbishop Ryan are the St. Vincent's Home and Maternity Hospital, St. Joseph's Home for Industrious Boys, St. Francis de Sales' Industrial School at Eddington, the religious order of the Blessed Sacrament and its school at Cornwells, Houses of the Good Shepherd in Norristown, Reading and Germantown, a Home for Catholic Working Girls under the care of the Sisters of Mercy, and the Catholic Protectory for Boys, erected at Flatlands, in Montgomery County, near Philadelphia. He delivered several addresses before the Congress of Religions at the World's Columbian Exposition, and many of his lectures and sermons have been published. He is author of: What Catholics Do Not Believe, The Causes of Modern Religious Skepticism, etc. Address: 225 North Eighteenth Street, Philadelphia.

PATRICK JOHN RYAN
Catholic Archbishop Philadelphia

RYAN, Thomas Fortune:

Financier; born in Nelson County, Va., Oct. 17, 1851. He was educated in the schools of that county. He went to Baltimore at the age of 17 and worked in the dry goods commission house of John S. Barry until 1870, when he went to New York City and became connected with a house in Wall Street. He became a member of the New York Stock Exchange in 1874, and soon became identified with corporation interests and securities and especially with consolidating and extending the street railway and lighting systems of New York City, Chicago and other large cities, being associated in and having active charge of the enterprises of the late William C. Whitney for nearly thirty years; notably in effecting the consolidation of the various street railway systems of New York City for a combination of capitalists, in 1886; went to London, in 1902, to take charge of the fight which the American Tobacco Company was then making against the Imperial Tobacco Company, for a division of the world territory for the tobacco trade, and in a few weeks won the fight completely, established harmonious relations with the British corporation, and greatly enhancing the value of the American company's business. He was a leader in the reorganization of the Richmond & Danville System into the present Southern Railway; formed and executed the plans for the Central of Georgia Railroad, and Banking Co.; secured control of the Seaboard Air Line Railway after an 8-year contest; arranged the merging of the street railways with the elevated railways and the subways system in such a way as to give to him and his associates practical control of the entire rapid transit system of New York City; purchased a controlling interest in the stock of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, in 1905; and is interested in and practically controls many important interests, domestic and foreign. Mr. Ryan is vice-president of the Morton Trust Company, vice-president and director of the National Bank of Commerce; director of the Carolina, Clinchfield and Ohio Railway Company, the American Congo Company, American Tobacco Company, Commercial Trust Company of Philadelphia, Fifth Avenue Trust Company of New York, Industrial Trust Company of Providence, R. I., Mercantile Trust Company of New York and the Seaboard Air Line Railway. His legal residence is in Virginia, and he represented that State in the Democratic National Convention of 1904, where he was largely instrumental in reconciling the delegates to the acceptance of Mr. Parker's telegram declaring for the gold standard. Mr. Ryan is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, of the Southern Society in New York; is a member of the Army and Navy, Catholic, City Midday, Lawyers', Manhattan, Metropolitan, New York Athletic, National Democratic, Riding, Tuxedo, and Union Clubs and The Virginians, of New York; Country Club of Westchester, Knollwood Country Club, New York; the Columbus Club of Columbus, Ohio, and Metropolitan Club of Washington, D. C. Mr. Ryan married, Nov. 25, 1873, Ida M. Barry, of Baltimore, and has five sons. He has a home called Oak Ridge, on the site of his birthplace in Virginia; another in Washington, a country place at Suffern, N. Y., and in the winter time lives in his beautiful ivy-covered mansion on lower Fifth Avenue. Residence: 60 Fifth Avenue. Office: 38 Nassau Street, New York City.

RYDER, Albert Pinkham:

Artist; born in New Bedford, Mass., March 19, 1847; son of Alexander Gage and Elizabeth (Cobb) Ryder. He received his art education under William Edgar Marshall, and at the National Academy of Design. He toured Europe for the purpose of viewing the museums. Mr. Ryder has been academician of the National Academy of Design since 1906. Address: 308 West 15th Street, New York City.

SSAAR, Louis Victor:

Composer; born in Rotterdam, Dec. 10, 1868; son of Louis and Fannie (Jaquemar) Saar. He was graduated from Realgymnasium, Strassburg, 1886 with great dis-tion from the Royal Academy of Music Munich, 1889. He received the Mendelssohn prize, Vienna, 1892; was awarded the Kaiser Prize in Baltimore, 1903, and many minor prizes. He lived in New York for ten years as composer and teacher, connected with leading musical schools (Institute of Musical Art under Frank Damrosch), and critic at G. Schirmer's, and is now principal of the Theory Department, and conductor of College Chorus at the Cincinnati College of Music. He married in New York, Oct. 6, 1898, Emilie Scholl and has three children. Residence: 2126 Alpine Place. Office: Cincinnati College of Music, Cincinnati, Ohio.

SABIN, Alvah Horton:

Chemical engineer; born in Norfolk, N. Y., April 1, 1851; son of Henry S. and Zaida (Vernal) Sabin. He was graduated from Bowdoin College, B.S., 1876, M.S., 1879. He was professor of chemistry and physics, at Ripon, 1876-1880, at the University of Vermont, 1880-1886; state chemist of Vermont from 1882 to 1886; chemist and director of Edward Smith and Company (varnishes and paints), 1888-1905; lecturer on paints and varnishes at the University of New York since 1897, at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, 1898-1904, 1907, University of Michigan, 1898-1902, Purdue University, 1899-1902, University of Wisconsin, 1901-1902; president and manager of the American Milk Sugar Company, 1885-1886. He is author of: Technology of Paint and Varnish, 1905, Painting, 1908; is the inventor and patenter of modern process by which all sugar of milk is made, the inventor of processes and materials for preventing corrosion of iron and steel. Professor Sabin is a member of the American Chemical Society, Society of Chemical Industry, American Society for Testing Materials, American Society of Civil Engineers, American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers, National Geographic Society, the Phi Beta Kappa Society, American Association for the Advancement of Science, Society of Arts of London; fellow and member of Council of the North British Academy of Arts and Science; member of the Chemists Club of New York, and the Fireside Club of Flushing, N. Y. He married in Chicago, 1880, Mary Ellen Barden, and has two children. Address: 432 Sanford Avenue, Flushing, N. Y.

SABIN, Elbridge Hosmer:

Lawyer; born in Middletown Point, N. J., Jan. 10, 1865; son of Henry and Esther Frances (Hotchkiss) Sabin. He was graduated from Clinton, Iowa High School, 1882, and the University of Iowa, A.B., 1886. He is author of: Early American History for Young Americans, Stella's Adventures in Starland, The Magical Man of Mirth (to be published in 1910). Mr. Sabin served in Troop C, First Texas Volunteer Cavalry of the Spanish-American War. He is a member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity, and Phi Beta Kappa Society. Residence: 1300 Seventh Street. Office: Manhattan Building, Des Moines, Ia.

SABINE, William Tufnell:

Bishop of the Synod of New York and Philadelphia, of the Reformed Episcopal Church; born in New York City, Oct. 16, 1838; son of Dr. Gustavus A. and Julia H. (Tufnell) Sabine. He was educated in the New York University School, the Thayer School, and Columbia University, A.B., 1859, A.M., 1862, and was graduated from the General Theological Seminary, 1862; and the degree of D.D. was conferred upon him by the University of New York in 1890. He was ordained in the ministry of the Episcopal Church in 1862; became assistant pastor of St. George's Church, New York City, 1863, and later in the same year rector of the Church of the Covenant, Philadelphia. He became rector, in 1866, of the Church of the Atonement, New York City, and, left in 1874 to accept the pastorate of the First Reformed Episcopal Church of New York City, which he held until 1907. In 1902 Dr. Sabine was elected bishop of the Synod of New York and Philadelphia. Bishop Sabine is member of the American Bible Society, American Tract Society, American Sunday School Union, and National Temperance Society. He married in New York City, Oct. 6, 1868, to Maria Theresa Shieffelin, and by this union there have been ten children. Address: 960 Madison Avenue, New York City.

SACKETT, Henry Woodward:

Lawyer; born in Enfield, N. Y., Aug. 31, 1853; son of Solon P. and Lovedy K. (Woodward) Sackett, and a lineal descendant of John Sackett, who came to Massachusetts Bay from England with Roger Williams in 1630. He was educated in Ithaca Academy, and Cornell University, A.B., 1875 (class essayist and elected to Phi Beta Kappa). In 1879 he was admitted to the New York Bar. He early became a law writer and later editorial writer and counsel for the New York Tribune; and he is now a member of the firm of Sackett, Chapman and Stevens. He was for six years a member of Troop A and Squadron A, National Guard of New York, holding various positions, and in 1897 was appointed aide on the military staff of Governor Black, with the rank of colonel. During the Spanish-American War he did recruiting service and also served as assistant paymaster-general of New York in the Southern States. Colonel Sackett is a trustee and secretary of the Hudson-Fulton Celebration Commission; trustee and vice-president of the American Scenic and Historic Preservation Society; trustee of Cornell University; trustee and counsel of the Clarkson Home for Children; member of the American, New York State and City Bar Associations, Municipal Art Society, Founders and Patriots of America, Sons of the American Revolution, St. Nichols Society and St. George's Society. He is a frequent contributor to the editorial columns of the New York Tribune and other publications on legal topics; also a lecturer at the Cornell University Law School. He is a warden of St. Thomas' Church, Mamaroneck, N. Y. Colonel Sackett is a member of the University, Union League, Republican, Cornell University, National Arts, Barnard, Garden City Golf, Apawamis Golf, and Hardware Clubs. He married in Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1866, Elizabeth Titus, daughter of the late Edmund Titus, one of the founders of the New York Produce Exchange. Residence: Quaker Ridge, Mamaroneck, N. Y. Office: Tribune Building and 515 Madison Avenue, New York City.

SAGE, Agnes Carolyn:

Author; born in Brooklyn, N. Y.; daughter of Robert Francis and Caroline O. (Tisdale) Sage. She was educated in public and private schools of Oswego, N. Y., and Dearborn Seminary, Chicago. She is author of: Christmas Elves, The Jolly Ten, A Little Colonial Dame, A Little Daughter of the Revolution, The Boys and Girls of the White House, and of numerous magazine articles, stories, essays, and poems; received two prizes for short story contests. Miss Sage was a director of the Kings Daughters Day Nursery in Brooklyn; is honorary president, and for twelve years president of the Brooklyn Shakespeare Club, and is member of the Kit Kat Literary Club of Hackensack, N. J. Address: 294 Union Street, Hackensack, N. J.

SAGE, Eben Charles:

Clergyman; born in Virden, Ill., Nov. 14, 1855; son of Charles T. and Sophia E. (Gunnison) Sage. He was graduated from Shurtleff College, A.B., later receiving its degrees of A.M. and D.D.; from Chicago University, Divinity School, B.D., and received from Yale University the Ph.D. degree. He was pastor of Baptist churches in Illinois and Connecticut: at New Haven, Conn., 1886-1904, and of the First Baptist Church there, 1901-1904. Since then he has been office secretary of the General Education Board. Dr. Sage is a director of the Charity Organization Society of New Haven, trustee of the Connecticut Baptist Education Society, and the Connecticut Literary Institution. He married in Virden, Ill., in 1879, Nora Amanda Cowen, and they have three children. Residence: 425 West 118th Street. Office: 2 Rector Street, New York City.

SAGE, William H.:

Lawyer; born in New York, April 28, 1852; son of Francis P. S. and Mary E.

(Robson) Sage. He was graduated from Columbia, A.B., 1871, A.M., 1874, and Columbia Law School, LL.B., 1874. He has practised in New York City since 1874; studied law in the office of Burrill Davison and Burrill; in partnership with Francis Forbes, 1876-1884, and since 1884 practised alone. He is a trustee of the North River Savings Bank, and director of the Vogue Co.; ex-member of the New York County Republican Committee, member of the Republican Town Committee of Scarsdale, and a frequent delegate to the Assembly District Committees. He is a member of the Bar Association of the City of New York, New York County Lawyers Association, Seventh Regiment Veteran Association, Columbia College Alumni Association; warden of St. Andrew's Protestant Episcopal Church, director of the New York Sunday School Association, director and chairman of the Executive Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association; ex-member of the Grand Lodge of Masons, and past master of the St. Nicholas Lodge of Masons; director of the Aldine Club, and a member of the Scarsdale Golf Club, and is a trustee of Scarsdale Public School. He married in New York, June 20, 1893, Amelia G. Whitney, and they have two children. Residence: Hartsdale, Westchester County, N. Y. Office: 156 Broadway, New York City.

SALTER, William Mackintire:

Lecturer and writer; born in Burlington, Iowa, Jan. 30, 1853; son of Rev. William Salter, D.D. and Mary Ann (Mackintire) Salter. He was educated at Knox College, A.B., 1871, Yale Divinity School, Harvard Divinity School, B.D., 1876; Göttingen University, 1876-1877, and Columbia University School of Political Science, 1881-1883. Mr. Salter was the lecturer of the Society of Ethical Culture from 1883 to 1907. His service includes two periods in Chicago, 1883-1892, and 1897-1907, the intervening years being spent as lecturer of the Society for Ethical Culture in Philadelphia. He retired from the lectureship of the Chicago Society for Ethical Culture to devote himself to philosophical study and is now lecturer in the Department of Philosophy of the University of Chicago. He is the author of: On a Foundation for Religion, 1879; Die Religion der Moral (Leipzig), 1885; Moralische Reden (Leipzig), 1889; Ethical Religion, 1889; First Steps in Philosophy, 1892; Anarchy or Government? An Inquiry in Fundamental Politics, 1895; Walt Whitman, 1900. He married in Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 2, 1885, Mary Sherwin Gibbens. Residence: 107 Irving Street, Cambridge, Mass. (winter); and Silver Lake, N. H. (summer).

SALTUS, Edgar Evertson:

Writer; born in New York, Oct. 8, 1858; son of Francis Henry and Elizabeth (Evertson) Saltus. He was educated in the Bibliothèque Nationale, British Museum and other libraries. He is author of a dozen novels and various works on history, religion and philosophy, the important ones being: The Lords of the Ghostland, Imperial Purple, Historia Amoris, Anatomy of Negation. He is a member of the Capucines Club of Paris, the Blenheim Club of London, and the Manhattan Club of New York. He married in Paris, France, Oct. 8, 1895, Elsie Welsh Smith, and they have one daughter. Address: Manhattan Club, City.

SAMMONS, Thomas:

American consul-general; born in New York City, Feb. 7, 1863; son of John and Julia (Flynn) Sammons. He was educated in the Albany Law School and later in Columbian (now George Washington) University. He was a telegraph operator, 1879-1885; engaged in newspaper work as reporter and editor, 1886-1898; private secretary to a United States senator, 1898-1905; appointed consul-general at Niuchwang, March 8, 1905; assigned to Mukden and Antung in May, 1906, in connection with the negotiations for the opening of these ports under the Treaty of 1903; appointed consul-general at Seoul, March 30, 1907. Address: Seoul, Korea, Japan.

SAMPSON, Archibald:

Lawyer; born in Harrison County, Ohio, June 21, 1839; son of Francis and Margaret Griffith (Evans) Sampson. He was educated in Hagerstown Academy, Mt. Union College, Alliance, O., Cleveland Law School, and received the degrees of A.B., A.M., LL.D. He served in the Civil War as lieutenant, adjutant and captain, 1861-1865; was superintendent of Union schools in Ohio, County superintendent of schools in Pettis County, Mo., city attorney, county attorney, district attorney, and attorney-general of Colorado; was appointed by President Grant, U. S. consul to Jerusalem, but declined, and by President Harrison, consul to Acapulco, Mexico, but declined; was American consul to Paso del Norte, Mexico, 1889-1893, American envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to the Republic of Ecuador, South America, 1897-1905. He is a director of the Phoenix Board of Trade, member of the Bar Association, trustee of Denver University for eight years, member of the Grand Army of the Republic, Loyal Legion, Masonic Lodge, and the Maricopa Club of Phoenix, and the Loyal Legion Club of Chicago. He married first in Cadiz, Harrison County, Ohio, Oct. 12, 1866, Katherine I. Turner, and second in Atlanta, Ga., March 19, 1892, Frances S. Wood, and has four children. Address: 650 North Third Avenue, Phoenix, Ariz.

SANBORN, Arthur Loomis:

U. S. district judge; born at Brasher Falls, N. Y., Nov. 17, 1850; son of Simpson E. and Harriet (Blount) Sanborn. He removed to Wisconsin in early boyhood, was educated in the public schools of Geneva, Wis. He engaged in business pursuits at Elkhorn, Wis.; was register of deeds of Walworth County, Wis., 1875-1879, was graduated from the Law School of the University of Wisconsin, LL.B., 1880, then engaged in the practice of law until appointed by President Roosevelt, Jan. 10, 1905, U. S. district judge for the Western District of Wisconsin. Address: 210 Langdon Street, Madison, Wis.

SANBORN, Frank Berry:

Professor of engineering; born in Hampton Falls, N. H., Jan. 15, 1865; son of Albert James and Sarah Ann (Johnson) Sanborn. He was educated in the high school of Newburyport, Mass., Dartmouth College, B.S., 1887, Thayer School of Civil Engineering, C.E., 1889, and Harvard University, M.S., 1898. He was municipal engineer, Brookline, Mass., 1889-1890; fire protection engineer, Eastern States and Canada, the main office being at Boston, 1890-1899; assistant professor and professor of engineering at Tufts College, since 1899, except the year of 1908, when he was substitute professor at the University of Illinois. Professor Sanborn is the inventor of Nozzle Piezometer, V-P shaft-speed counter, and hydraulic devices, and is author of: Mechanics-Problems. He is a member of the Boston Society of Civil Engineers, American Society of Civil Engineers, Sigma Chi fraternity, and the University Club of Urbana. He married in Boston, Sept. 21, 1892, Grace Adelaide Cobb, and they have three children. Residence: 8 Buena Vista Park, Cambridge, Mass. Office: Tufts College, Mass.

SANBORN, Walter Henry:

U. S. circuit judge; born on Sanborn's Hill, Epsom, N. H., Oct. 19, 1845; son of Henry F. and Eunice (Davis) Sanborn; and a lineal descendant of Eliphalet Sanborn of Epsom, who served in the French and Indian wars and the Continental Army, and of William Sanborn, who came from England to Hampton, N. H., about 1632. He was graduated from Dartmouth College, A.B., 1867, A.M., 1870, and received the honorary degree of LL.D. from the same college in 1893. He was principal of the High School at Milford, 1867-1870, and during the same period studied law with Bainbridge Wadleigh (afterward U. S. Senator from New Hampshire), and in February, 1870, removed to St. Paul, Minn.; continuing his studies in the office of his uncle, General John B. Sanborn, with whom, after his admission to the bar of Minnesota in 1871, he practised until 1892. He was appointed by President Harrison, March 17, 1892, U. S. circuit judge for the Eighth Judicial Circuit, which office he still holds. He was a member of the City Council of St. Paul for nine years, and is a prominent Mason, and was grand commander of Knights Templar of Minnesota in 1889. Judge Sanborn married at Milford, N. H., Nov. 10, 1874, Emily Frances Bruce. Address: St. Paul, Minn.

SANDERS, Dallas:

Lawyer; born in Philadelphia, Jan. 13, 1848. He was a student at the University of Western Pennsylvania (now University of Pittsburgh), for three years, and studied law with Judge George M. Dallas, in Philadelphia. He was admitted to the bar Jan. 16, 1869; was editor of the Legal Intelligence for several years; and assistant district attorney of Philadelphia County, 1878-1881. He was a member of Common Councils, 1882-1884, and chairman of the Survey Committee; delegate to many Democratic city and State conventions; national delegate, 1880; State chairman, 1887. He was appointed, practically for life, by the judges of Philadelphia County, member of the Board of City Trusts on March 6, 1893, which has charge of all bequests and charities of the City of Philadelphia, especially of Girard College and the Wills Eye Hospital. He married Anita Watts, daughter of Clarke Merchant. Address: 609 Land Title Building, Philadelphia.

SANDERS, Jared Y.:

Governor of Louisiana; elected on the Democratic ticket in November, 1908, for the four-year term expiring in 1912. Address: Baton Rouge.

SANDERS, Thomas.

Founder of the telephone business; born in South Danvers, Mass., Aug. 16, 1839; son of George Thomas and Mary Ann (Browne) Sanders; grandson of Thomas and Elizabeth (Elkins) Sanders and of Samuel and Nancy (Twiss) Browne, and a descendant of Thomas Sanders, who came from England to Gloucester, Cape Ann, Mass., in 1640. Mr. Sanders is the sixth in the direct line bearing the name of Thomas. He was brought up in Salem, spending his summers on a farm and attending studies in the winter months, directed by private tutors and at private schools. He took up farming as a profession when eighteen years of age at East Brookfield, Vt. In 1870 he added the business of manufacturing leather to that of farming, and he was sole owner and president of the Sanders Leather Company of Haverhill, 1870-1890. He was the organizer and first president of the Haverhill Board of Trade, and he joined Charles E. Adams in organizing the Massachusetts State Board of Trade. In 1885 he established the Vermont Live Stock Company, for the purpose of systematically improving the live stock of Vermont and incidentally of New England. He promoted the patents of Alexander Graham Bell, and placed his telephone before business men as a commercial and social necessity, and risked his entire fortune in manufacturing telephones and introducing the same, and this before he had secured the rights of Mr. Bell, under his patent of Feb 14, 1876, and without help from any other capitalist. His foresight and energy were rewarded by the acquirement of a large fortune which he has administered in many ways to the benefit of the communities in which he is interested. He is a Mason and Knight Templar; member of the Pentucket and Fortnightly Clubs of Haverhill; senior warden of Trinity Protestant Episcopal Church of Haverhill, and with the exception of voting for Abraham Lincoln in 1864, has always voted the Democratic ticket. He married, June 6, 1866, Susan Bradley, daughter of Nathaniel Saltonstall and Sarah (Bradley) Howe of Haverhill, and they have eight children, of whom seven are living. He has a fine estate, "Birchbrow," at Haverhill, where he resides, and a farm at East Brookfield, Vt. Address: Haverhill, Mass.

SANDO, Michael Francis:

Jurist; born in Scranton, Pa., May 8, 1863. He was educated at the Scranton High School, and after his graduation took up the study of law in the office of W. H. Gearhart and was admitted to practice at the bar in Lackawanna County in 1884. He is a Democrat in politics, and active in the interests in his party; served on the city and county committees for about fourteen years, was a delegate to the State conventions, and from 1882 to 1885, was deputy collector of Internal Revenue. He was twice elected to the State Legislature, serving from 1888 to 1892. In 1898 he was a candidate for Congress from the Eleventh District, but failed of election; in 1902 he was nominated for judge of the Orphans' Court of Lackawanna County, and in November of that year was elected for a ten years' term. Judge Sando married in Scranton, Aug. 28, 1885, Anna L. Blair, and they have two children. Residence: 505 Quincy Avenue. Office: 522 Cornell Building, Scranton.

SANER, Robert E. Lee:

Lawyer; born in Washington, Ark., Aug. 9, 1871; son of John Franklin and Susan Crawford (Webb) Saner. He was educated in the Hope (Ark.) High School, Searcy (Ark.) College, Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn., and the University of Texas, whence he was graduated B.L., 1896. He won several medals in oratory while in college and university. He began the practice of law in Dallas, Texas, in 1896, and is senior member of the law firm of Saner and Saner; attorneys for the Landed Endowment of the University of Texas, since 1900. He is president of the United Securities Company; general counsel of the Caro Northern Railway Company, and director of the Commonwealth National Bank of Dallas. His practice is confined to civil business, with specialties in corporation, commercial and land litigation. Mr. Saner has been a member since 1901 and chairman since 1904 of the Board of Directors of the Texas Bar Association; vice-president of the American Bar Association for Texas since 1904; delegate to the International Congress of Lawyers and Jurists, St. Louis, 1904; member of the International Law Association. He was a director of the Dallas Commercial Club, 1898-1901; is a member of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity (member of High Council, 1904-1906), and of the Knights of Pythias. Mr. Saner was campaign secretary of the Sayers (gubernatorial) Campaign Committee, 1898; secretary of the Democratic State Executive Committee of Texas, 1900-1901; member for Texas of the Democratic National Committee of College Democratic Clubs, 1908. He married in Brenham, Texas, March 31, 1903, Heleine Smith, and has one daughter. Residence: 217 Annex Avenue. Office: Commonwealth National Bank Building, Dallas, Texas.

SANFORD, Edward Terry:

U. S. district judge; born in Knoxville, Tenn., July 23, 1865. He was graduated from the University of Tennessee, Ph.B., 1883, Harvard, A.B., 1885, A.M., LL.B., 1889; received LL.D. from University of Cincinnati, 1908. He was admitted to the Tennessee Bar in 1889, and practised in Knoxville, Tenn., until 1907, when he was appointed assistant attorney-general of the United States. In 1908 he was appointed to his present office of judge of the U. S. District Court for the Eastern and Middle Districts of Tennessee. Judge Sanford has been a member of the General Council of the American Bar Association since 1905; was a member of the Universal Congress of Lawyers and Jurists held in St. Louis, 1904, and president of the Tennessee Bar Association 1905. He is a trustee of the University of Tennessee, the East Tennessee Female Institute and is a member of the Board of Governors of the Knoxville City Hospital. He is a vice-president of the Harvard Law School Association; recently selected as one of the trustees of the George Peabody College for Teachers. Address: Knoxville, Tenn.

SANFORD, John:

Manufacturer; born in Amsterdam, N. Y.; Son of Hon. Stephen Sanford (member of the Forty-first Congress). He was graduated from Yale, A.B., 1872. On leaving college, he became associated with his father, Stephen Sanford, in the carpet manufacturing industry, at Amsterdam, N. Y., established by his grandfather, John Sanford, in 1842, and has since been connected with that enterprise, which is now one of the most important of its kind in the country, employing over three thousand people. He was a member of the Fifty-first and Fifty-second Congresses, elected on the Republican ticket. The firm of S. Sanford & Sons owns a celebrated stable of race horses at Amsterdam. Mr. Sanford is a member of the State Racing Commission, of the Metropolitan University, Republican, he Brook, and Turf and Field Clubs of New York City, and the Metropolitan Club of Washington; Meadowbrook, Racquet, and Jockey Clubs. He married Ethel Sanford in 1892. Residence: Amsterdam, N. Y., and Bayonette Cottage, Aitken, S. C.

SANFORD, Stephen:

Manufacturer, ex-congressman; born at Mayfield, N. Y., May 26, 1826; son of John Sanford, a descendant of Thomas, son of Anthony and Jane Sanford of Stowe, England, who came to Boston with the John Winthrop Colony in 1631, received a grant of land near Dorchester, in 1634, and afterward removed to Connecticut, where he became high sheriff of the town of Milford. Besides this first American Sanford, there are in his paternal line others who attained prominence, and his father, John Sanford, who removed from Connecticut to New York in 1820, was a State senator and a member of Congress. Mr. Sanford was educated in the public schools, at the academy at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and Georgetown College, D. C., and the U. S. Military Academy, from which, after two years, he was called home by his father to assist in the large carpet manufacturing business which he had established in 1842. Under his intelligent management the business begun by his father grew from a comparatively small beginning, employing only about 100 persons to one affording work and livelihood for over 3,000 people, and one of the largest of its kind in the country. In 1868 he was elected on the Republican ticket to the Forty-first Congress, and he was appointed by Mr. Blaine, then speaker, to serve on several important committees. He declined a re-nomination in 1870 because his business affairs demanded his personal presence. He has been prominent in movements for the betterment of his town; instituted the movement for new waterworks; has been instrumental in the erection of many of the finest business structures and public buildings of Amsterdam, notably the Homestead Block; owns two farms in the vicinity of Amsterdam, which are the best exemplars in that region of improved farming and stockraising; has been liberal in his aid of the churches, charities and benevolent organizations of his city, and on the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of his entering upon his business career he was honored by his townsmen with a public celebration, when he was the recipient of testimonials in English, German, French and Italian from the various church committees, all containing warm expressions of gratitude for generous assistance in their church work. Address: Amsterdam, N. Y.

SANGER, William Cary:

Born in New York, May 21, 1853; son of Henry and Mary E. (Requa) Sanger. He was graduated from Harvard University, A.B., 1874, A.M., 1875, Columbia Law School, LL.B., 1878, and Hamilton, LL.D., 1902. He was a member of the State Assembly, 1895-1897; lieutenant-colonel of the 203d Regiment, New York Volunteers in the Spanish-American War; was assistant secretary of war, 1901-1903; president of the American delegation to the International Conference, 1906, to revise the Treaty of Geneva. He was a member of the American Delegation to International Red Cross Conference, London, 1907; chairman of the National Guard Commission appointed by Governor Hughes, 1907. Colonel Sanger is author of: The Reserve and Auxiliary Forces of England and the Militia of Switzerland (a report prepared for the U. S. Government), 1903, and is a contributor to military journals on coast defenses. He married in New York City, Feb. 23, 1892, Mary Ethel Cleveland Dodge, and has five children. Address: Sangerfield, N. Y.

SARGENT, Franklin Haven:

Dramatic teacher; born in Boston, March 31, 1856; son of Rev. John Turner and Mary Elizabeth (Fiske) Sargent. He was graduated from Harvard College, A.B., 1877. He was a private teacher in Boston and London, 1878-1880; instructor in elocution, Harvard University, 1881-1882; dramatic director of Madison Square Theatre, New York, 1883-1884, and president of the American Academy of Dramatic Arts, (chartered by the Board of Regents, of the University of the State of New York), since 1885. Mr. Sargent is a member of the Players' Club of New York City. Residence: 24 West 60th Street. Office: Carnegie Hall, New York City.

SARGENT, John G.:

Lawyer; born in Ludlow, Vt., Oct. 13, 1860; son of John Henman and Ann Eliza (Hanley) Sargent. He was graduated from Black River Academy, Ludlow, Vt., 1883, and from Tufts College, 1887 as A.B. He is a member of the firm of Stickney, Sargent and Skeels, lawyers; states attorney of Windsor County, 1898-1900; and attorney general of Vermont since 1908. He is a member of the Zeta Psi fraternity, Kappa Chapter; trustee of Black River Academy, and member of the Arctic Club. He married in Ludlow, Vt., Aug. 4, 1887, Mary L. Garden, and they have one daughter, Gladys Gordon Sargent. Residence: 67 Main Street, Ludlow. Office: State House, Montpelier, Vt.

SARGENT, Porter Edward:

Teacher; born in Brooklyn, N. Y., June 6, 1872, son of Francis Porter and Roslyn (Hitchcock) Sargent. He was graduated from Harvard University, A.B., 1896, and A.M., 1897. He was assistant in zoölogy at Harvard University, 1895-1896, assistant in botany, 1895-1896, research student in comparative neurology, Harvard University, 1896-1900, master of science, Browne and Nichols School, Cambridge, Mass., 1896-1904, and director and proprietor of the Mr. Sargent's Travel School for Boys since 1905. Mr. Sargent is the discoverer of the optic reflex apparatus in nervous system of vertebrates; inaugurator of the College Preparatory Travel School, and author of many papers and monographs on subjects in comparative neurology. He is a member of the American Morphological Society, Association of American Zoölogists, and the University Club of Boston. He married in Rome, Italy, March 9, 1907, Margaret Upham. Residence: 233 Bay State Road. Offices: Cambridge, Mass., and 50 Congress Street, Boston.

SATTERLEE, Eugene:

Lawyer and banker; born at Glens Falls, N. Y., July 11, 1847; son of Leroy and Harriet (Hudnut) Satterlee. He prepared for college at the Rochester Collegiate Institute, of which his father was principal; graduated from the University of Rochester in 1867; was a student at Heidelberg and Berlin; and was graduated from the Albany Law School and admitted to the bar in 1872. He practised his profession in Rochester 1874-1905; member of the law firms of Satterlee & Yeoman, Satterlee, Yeoman & Taylor, and Satterlee, Bissell, Taylor & French; and is now president of The National Bank of Rochester, formed Jan. 1, 1906, by the consolidation of the German-American Bank and the Flour City National Bank, and the merger in May, 1906, of the Commercial Bank of Rochester. He was also, in 1905, elected president of The Rochester German Insurance Company. Mr. Satterlee is also a director of the Rochester Trust & Safe Deposit Company and of the Fidelity Trust Company and has been an officer and director of a number of other corporations, from most of which he withdrew upon his election to the presidency of the Bank and the insurance company. In 1905 he was President of the Village of Pittsford, where he resides and in 1907 President of the Alumni Association of the University of Rochester. He is an Episcopalian in his church relations; is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society and the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity, and of the Genesee Valley and Rochester Country Clubs. He married, April 17, 1879, Olivia Sanger Moore, and they have two children: Hugh and Mildred. Residence: Pittsford, N. Y. Office: The National Bank of Rochester, Rochester, N. Y.

SATTERLEE, George Reese:

Physician; born in Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., Nov. 2, 1873; son of Edward Rathbone and Joanna Mesier (Reese) Satterlee. He was graduated from Columbia College, A.B., 1894, M.A., 1898, and the College of Physicians and Surgeons, 1898. He was a graduate of the J. Hood Wright Memorial Hospital, 1900, Sloane Maternity Hospital, 1900; instructor in histology and embryology, New York University and Bellevue Hospital Medical College, 1903-1909; pathologist of Gouverneur Hospital, 1906-1908; attending physician and pathologist of Washington Heights Hospital since 1906, assistant pathologist of St. Vincent's Hospital since 1905. He is author of: Outlines of Human Embryology, 1906. Dr. Satterlee was private of Company K, Seventh Regiment, Dec. 13, 1893, in private Hospital Corps, May 16, 1900, corporal Sept. 28, 1900, assistant hospital steward, June 21, 1901, and assistant surgeon of the Seventh Regiment, grade of captain Nov. 29, 1907. He is a member of the New York Academy of Medicine, fellow of the Pathological Society, member of the Greater New York Medical Association, Alumni Association of the J. Hood Wright Memorial Hospital, Alumni association of the 'Sloane Alumni Hospital, Psi Upsilon fraternity, Society of Engineers Corps of the Seventh Regiment, and a member of the Columbia University, and University Clubs of New York City. Address: 117 West 58th Street, New York City.

SATTERLEE, Herbert Livingston:

Lawyer; born in New York City, Oct. 31, 1863; son of George B. and Sarah Satterlee. He was graduated from Columbia, B.S., 1883, A.M., 1884, Ph.D., LL.B., 1885, and was admitted to the bar in the latter year. In 1886 and 1887 he was private secretary to Senator William M. Evarts, 1886-1887. Mr. Satterlee was navigator of the First Naval Battalion of New York, 1891-1895; colonel and aide-de-camp to Governor Morton, and naval aide to Governor Black; lieutenant in the U. S. Navy in the Spanish-American War and chief of staff to Captain J. R. Bartlett. Mr. Satterlee is author of: Political History of the Province of New York. He is a founder of the Navy League, and master of the missionary yacht Sentinel. He is also a member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, the Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers, Municipal Art Society, Society of Colonial Wars, Naval Order of the United States, and a member of the St. Anthony, Union League, New York Yacht, University, Lawyers' and Columbia University Clubs. Mr. Satterlee married, in 1900, Louisa Pierpont Morgan. Residence: 37 East 36th Street. Office: 120 Broadway, New York City.

SAUNDERS, Edward Watts:

Congressman and lawyer; born in Franklin County, Va., Oct. 25, 1860, and has always resided in that county. He was educated at home, at the Bellevue High School of Bedford County, and at the University of Virginia, from which he was graduated as Bachelor of Laws in 1882, and he has since been engaged in the practice of law in his native county. He was elected as a Democrat in 1905 to fill the vacancy in Congress from the Fifth Virginia District, caused by the resignation of Hon. Claude M. Swanson, who had been elected governor of Virginia; and in 1906 and 1908 he was reelected to the Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses. Address: Rockymount, Va.

SAUNDERS, Eugene Davis:

U. S. district judge; born in Campbell County, Va., July 25, 1853; son of Robert and Caryetta (Davis) Saunders. He was educated in the University of Virginia, being graduated LL.B., 1874. He was admitted to the bar in 1876, practised in New Orleans, and became professor of common law and equity jurisprudence in the Tulane University of Louisiana. He was appointed in 1907 judge of the U. S. District Court for the Eastern District of Louisiana. He is a Democrat in politics. Judge Saunders is author of Saunders on Taxation, and of the Saunders edition of the Civil Code of Louisiana. Residence: 2925 Coliseum Street, New Orleans, La.

SAVAGE, Albert R.:

Jurist; born in Ryegate Vt., Dec. 8, 1847; son of Charles W. and Eliza M.

(Clough) Savage. He was educated in Dartmouth College, in the class of 1871, and received the degree of LL.D. from Bates College in 1897. He was a practising lawyer from 1875; county attorney 1881-1885; judge of probate 1885-1889; mayor of Auburn, Me., 1889-1891; representative to the Maine Legislature, 1891-1893, speaker of the House, 1893; member of the Maine Senate, 1895-1897, and has been associate justice of the Supreme Judicial Court of Maine since 1897. He is a trustee of Bates College, a 32^d degree Mason, Odd Fellow and Knight of Pythias, and a member of the Calumet Club of Lewiston. Judge Savage married at Lunenburg, Vt., Aug. 17, 1871, Nellie H. Hale, and they have had three children. (two now deceased). Address: Auburn, Me.

SAVILLE, Marshall Howard:

Professor of American archæology; born in Rockport, Mass., June 24, 1867. He was a fellow in Harvard University, 1889-1893. He is professor of American archæology in Columbia University, and is an honorary curator in the American Museum of Natural History. He is a corresponding member or member of many scientific societies in America and abroad, Officier d'Académie of France; secretary of the American Ethnological Society, first vice-president of the Explorers' Club, and member of the Century Club. He married in Salem, June 14, 1893, Annie W. Lyon, and they have two children. Address: 292 West 92^d Street, New York City.

SAWYER, Samul N.:

Justice of the Supreme Court of New York; practised law in Palmyra, N. Y., until elected on the Republican ticket, in 1907, a justice of the Supreme Court for the Seventh Judicial District of New York for the term expiring Dec. 31, 1921. Address: Palmyra, N. Y.

SAYRE, Reginald Hall:

Surgeon; born in New York City, Oct. 18, 1859; son of Lewis Albert and Eliza Ann (Hall) Sayre. He was educated in Churchill and Maury's School; was graduated from Columbia College, A.B., in 1881, and Bellevue Hospital Medical College, M. D., 1884. He was assistant to the chair of surgery at Bellevue Hospital Medical College, 1885-1890; the chair of orthopedic surgery, 1890-1897; and adjunct professor, 1897; clinical professor of orthopedic surgery of New York University and Bellevue Hospital Medical College since 1898; consulting surgeon of Hackensack (N. J.) Hospital, the Home for Crippled Children of Newark, N. J., Mountainside Hospital of Montclair, N. J., Englewood (N. J.) Hospital, and New York State Orthopedic Hospital, Haverstraw, N. Y.; first lieutenant of Squadron A of the National Guard of New York, and inspector of small arms practice. He was president of the American Orthopedic Association, 1904; treasurer of the New York Academy of Medicine; member of the Pathological Society (vice-president, 1893), County Medical Society, State Medical Society, American Medical Association, Phi Beta Kappa Society, and of the University, City, Columbia University, and New York Athletic Clubs. Address: 9 East 45th Street, New York City.

SAYRES, Edward Stalker:

Lawyer; born in Philadelphia, July 30, 1850; son of Edward Smith and Jane (Hume) Sayres. His father was a prominent Philadelphia merchant; honorary consul for Brazil; vice-consul of Sweden and Norway, vice-consul of Denmark and vice-consul of Portugal, and at the date of his death dean of the consular corps at Philadelphia. He was educated in the Friends' Central School in Philadelphia, read law with John Hill Martin, and was admitted to the bar in 1873, and his practice is confined to Orphans' Court, real estate, conveyancing and mercantile law. He is an honorary member of the Law Academy of Philadelphia; member of the Law Association of Philadelphia, Historical Society of Pennsylvania. He entered Company D of the First Regiment Infantry, National Guard of Pennsylvania, in 1874; served during the coal riots of 1875 and labor riots of 1877, and was first lieutenant of his company, 1879-1880. He was one of the founders in 1865, and secretary of the Merion Cricket Club; an original member and former treasurer of the Civil Service Reform Association of Pennsylvania; a vice-president of the Board of Trustees of the Northern Home for Friendless Children and Associated Institute for Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans; secretary of the Board of Managers of the Children's Hospital of Philadelphia; vice-president of the Merchants' Trust Company; life member and manager and one of the counselors of the Mercantile Beneficial Association; he was interested in the formation of the Land Title and Trust Company, and for a brief period its secretary; a director and counsel for the Delaware Insurance Company of Philadelphia; a founder and recording secretary of the Genealogical Society of Pennsylvania; member of the Geographical Society of Pennsylvania, and of the National Geographic Society; secretary of the Society of Colonial Wars in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; one of the founders of the Colonial Society of Pennsylvania; a member of the Board of Managers of the Pennsylvania Society of the Sons of the Revolution, and several times a delegate; treasurer of the Society of the War of 1812, and a delegate to the General Society, and a member of the Rittenhouse Club, Radnor Hunt, and Bryn Mawr Polo Club. He was for several years treasurer-general of the National Commandery of the Military Order of Foreign Wars of the United States. Residences: 1825 Spruce Street, Philadelphia, and Black Rocks, Haverford, Pa. Address: 217 South Third Street, Philadelphia.

SAYRES, William Seaman:

Clergyman; born in Jamaica, N. Y., Oct. 16, 1851; son of Gilbert and Anna Leah (Seaman) Sayres. He was graduated from Dartmouth College, A.B., 1876, and D.D., 1906, Berkeley Divinity School, 1878. He was a missionary in China, 1878-1885, at St. John's College, Shanghai, and Boone College, Wuchang, China, and arch-deacon of the Diocese of Michigan since 1899. He is a member of the Theta Delta Chi fraternity, is a Consistory and Knight Templar Mason and Shriner. He married in Shanghai, April 13, 1882, Anna Stevens, and has six children. Address: 163 Willis Avenue West, Detroit, Mich.

SCADDING, Charles:

Bishop of Oregon; born at Toronto, Ont., Canada, Nov. 25, 1861; son of Henry Simcoe and Elizabeth Windner Scadding. He was educated at Trinity College, Toronto, Canada, from which he received the D.D. degree in 1906; in 1885 was ordered deacon of the Church of England, and in 1886 was ordained priest by the Bishop of Toronto. He became assistant at St. George's Episcopal Church, New York City, and after four years was made rector of Grace Church at Middletown, N. Y. In 1891 he went to fill the rectorship of Trinity Church, Toledo, Ohio, and in 1896 that of Emmanuel Church, La Grange, Ill. After ten years of activity in this locality, he became bishop of Oregon in 1906. Bishop Scadding has been deputation lecturer for the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, London, England, on The Church in America. He is author of: Dost Thou Believe? What Can We Do? (Brotherhood Manual); Direct Answers to Plain Questions (Handbook for American Churchmen); and a workable graded system of Sunday School instruction. He married, in May, 1896, Mary R. Pomeroy of Toledo, Ohio, great-granddaughter of General Seth Pomeroy of Colonial fame. Address: Bishopcroft, Portland, Ore.

SCANLAN, Lawrence:

Catholic bishop; born in County Tipperary, Ireland, Sept. 29, 1843; son of Patrick and Catherine (Ryan) Scanlan. He was educated in Ireland, was graduated from All Hallows College, Dublin, in 1868, was ordained in 1868 and went to San Francisco, where he began his ministry as assistant pastor of St. Patrick's Church, 1868-1870, and of St. Mary's Cathedral, 1870-1871; became pastor of Woodland, Calif., and later of Pioche, Nev., 1871-1872, and for a short time in Petaluma, Calif. He was sent to Utah, in Aug., 1873, as pastor of Salt Lake City and the whole of Utah. He was consecrated June 29, 1887, titular bishop of Laranda in Asia Minor, and appointed, in 1891, first bishop of the newly created diocese of Salt Lake. Address: Salt Lake City, Utah.

SCANNELL, Richard:

Catholic bishop; born in County Cork, May 12, 1845. He was educated in Ireland, being graduated from All Hallows College, Dublin, and ordained priest in 1871. He went direct to the diocese of Nashville, Tenn., where he was pastor of St. Columba's Church in East Nashville, and afterward rector of Nashville Cathedral. He became administrator of the Diocese of Nashville, 1880-1883, and after that rector of St. Joseph's Church, Nashville, until consecrated, Nov. 30, 1887, first bishop of the newly created Diocese of Concordia, Kan., whence he was transferred to the Diocese of Omaha, of which he has been bishop since 1891. Address: Omaha, Neb.

SCARBOROUGH, John:

Bishop of New Jersey; born at Castle-Wellan, Ireland, April 25, 1831; son of John and Anna Bella Hannah Scarborough. He was graduated from Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., B.A., 1854, M.A., 1857, and received the honorary degrees of D.D., 1872, and LL.D., 1904. He was ordered deacon of the Episcopal Church in 1857 and ordained priest in 1858, by Bishop Horatio Potter. He was assistant of St. Paul's Church, Troy, N. Y., 1857-1860, then became rector of the Church of the Holy Comforter, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., until in 1867 he accepted a call to the rectorship of Trinity Church, Pittsburgh, and remained until, in 1875, he was consecrated bishop of New Jersey by Bishops H. Potter, Stevens, Kerfoot, Littlejohn, Doane, M. A. De Wolf, Howe and Paddock. Address: Trenton, N. J.

SCHAUFFLER, Adolf Frederick:

Clergyman; born in Constantinople, Turkey, Nov. 7, 1845; son of William G. and Mary (Reynolds) Schaufller. He was graduated from Williams College, 1867, and received the honorary degree of D.D. from Williams College, 1909, and from the University of the City of New York, 1887. He is president of the New York City Mission, and chairman of the International Sunday School Lesson Committee. He is trustee of the United Charities Board, member of the Delta Psi fraternity, and Century Club. He married in St. Moritz, Engasline, Aug. 24, 1884, Julia Baker. Residence: 515 Madison Avenue. Office: 105 East 22d Street, New York City.

SCHELLING, Felix Emanuel:

Professor of English literature; born in New Albany, Ind., Sept. 3, 1858; son of Felix and Rose (White) Schelling. He was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania, B.A., 1881, LL.B., 1883, M.A., 1884; Ph.D. from Franklin and Marshall, 1898, Litt.D. from Pennsylvania, 1904, LL.D., 1909. He was admitted to the Philadelphia bar in 1883, law orator in the class of 1883; instructor of English, University of Pennsylvania, 1886; assistant professor of English literature, 1889; John Welsh Centennial professor of English literature since 1893; professor of the Summer School, University of Chicago, 1904; lecturer at Johns Hopkins University, winters of 1908-1909, and 1909-1910. He is a member of the Philo-ophical Society, Modern Language Association, Phi Beta Kappa and Phi Kappa Psi, and the University and Franklin Inn Clubs of Philadelphia. He married in Philadelphia, March 7, 1887, Caroline Derbyshire, and has two children. Residence: 4211 Sanson Street. Office: College Hall, University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia.

SCHENCK, Frederick Brett:

Banker; born in New York City, June 9, 1851; son of Oscar and Cornelia A. Schenck. He was educated in Brooklyn, N. Y. He is president and director of the Liberty National Bank; director of the Brunswick City Dock and Improvement Company. He is treasurer of the International Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association, and is a member of the Holland Society of New York and of the Union League, Railroad and Lawyers' Clubs of New York City. Residence: Englewood, N. J. Address: Care of the Liberty National Bank, New York City.

SCHERER, James Augustin Brown:

President of Throop Polytechnic Institute, Pasadena, Calif.; born in Salisbury, N. C., May 22, 1870; son of Rev. Simeon and Harriet Isabella (Brown) Scherer. He was graduated from Roanoke College, A.B., 1890, A.M., 1895, and Pennsylvania College, Ph.D. (English literature), 1897. He has also received the honorary degree of LL.D. from the University of South Carolina. He began preaching at the age of seventeen years as a missionary worker in the Virginia mountains. At twenty-one he was sent to Japan to found a Lutheran mission, and accomplished this end by entering the educational employ of the Japanese government. Owing to a breakdown in health he returned to the United States in 1897 and held pastorates until 1904, when he became president of Newberry College. In 1908 he accepted his present position. He is a member of the Asiatic Society of Japan, and of many academic associations; and of the Annandale, Gnome, and Twilight Clubs of Pasadena; Schoolmasters and Sunset Clubs of Los Angeles, and Sierra Club of San Francisco. He is author of: Four Princes of the Church, 1903; Japan To-Day, 1904; Young Japan, 1905; The Holy Grail, 1906; and What is Japanese Morality, 1906. He is also a contributor to the magazines, and a lecturer. He married in Kobe, Japan, July 5, 1894, Bessie Brown, and has one son and one daughter. Address: 415 South El Molino Avenue, Pasadena, Calif.

SCHIEREN, Charles Adolph:

Manufacturer and ex-mayor; born in Düsseldorf, Rhenish Prussia, Feb. 28, 1842; educated in public schools in Germany until 1856, when, at the age of fourteen, he came to the United States. He learned the cigar-maker's trade and afterward assisted his father in the business in Brooklyn until 1864, when he began as a clerk in the leather belting factory of Philip F. Pasquay, in New York City. In 1868 he established for himself in the belting business with an original capital of two thousand dollars, and from that the enterprise has grown until the firm of Charles A. Schieren and Company now has, besides its New York headquarters and factory, branch houses in Philadelphia, Boston and Chicago, Pittsburgh, Denver, and Hamburg, to supply the European trade, and large tanneries in Brooklyn and Bristol, Tenn. Much of the success of the business is due to Mr. Schieren's inventions, including the Electric Belt, the American Joint Leather Link Belt, and other improvements in belting for swift running machinery. From his first vote Mr. Schieren has been a Republican, and was for three years president of the Young Men's Republican Club of Brooklyn. In 1893 he received the nomination of the Republican party for mayor of Brooklyn, and was elected by a very large majority, and gave the city a wise and conservative administration, declining a re-nomination. He is a member of the Lutheran Church, and he was actively concerned in the erection of the beautiful bronze statue of Martin Luther at Washington, D. C. He has for many years served as a trustee of the Young Men's Christian Association. He was a member of the Committee appointed for the erection of a statue of Henry Ward Beecher, and of that of J. S. T. Stranahan. He is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, the Metropolitan Museum of Art, Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences, Long Island Historical Society, the Germania and Hamilton Clubs of Brooklyn, and the Down Town, Drug Trade, Fulton and Union League Clubs of New York City. Residence: 405 Clinton Avenue, Brooklyn. Office: Schieren Building, Ferry and Cliff Streets, New York City.

SCHIFF, Jacob Henry:

Banker; born in Frankfort-on-the-Main, in 1847. He was educated in the schools of Germany until he was eighteen years old, when he came to New York and entered upon his business career as a bank clerk, and a few years later became a partner in the firm of Budge, Schiff and Company, bankers and brokers, in which he

JACOB HENRY SCHIFF
Banker

continued until 1875, when that firm went out of business and Mr. Schiff became junior member of the firm of Kuhn, Loeb and Company, of which his father-in-law, Solomon Loeb, was then the senior partner; and when the latter retired in 1885, Mr. Schiff became the head of the firm, and has so continued ever since. The firm are private bankers constantly identified with the largest operations; financed and were largely interested in the reorganization of the Union Pacific in 1897, and the subsequent transactions by which the control of the Southern Pacific and other railroads were acquired; placed the large Japanese loan in this country during the war with Russia, and have been identified constantly with practically every financial operation of national importance. Mr. Schiff is a director of the National City Bank, the Morton Trust Company, Title Guarantee and Trust Company, the Bond and Mortgage Guarantee Company, Union Pacific Railway Company, and numerous other financial corporations. Mr. Schiff was a conspicuous member of the second Committee of Seventy, and of the later committees of Fifteen and Nine, which were similarly employed in work for civic betterment. He has labored for the interests of the Chamber of Commerce of New York, as its vice-president and as a member of its principal committees. He is also prominent in charitable work, is vice-president of the Baron de Hirsch Fund, and president of the Montefiore Home for Chronic Invalids. Mr. Schiff has encouraged particularly the study of Semitic literature, a subject in which he is himself deeply versed. In this connection he founded the Semitic Museum at Harvard, and the Jewish Theological Seminary of New York, besides giving a fund of ten thousand dollars to the New York Library toward the purchase of a Semitic library. He is a member of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the American Museum of Natural History and the Lawyers' and Republican Clubs of New York City. He married, in 1875, Therese Loeb. Residence: 965 Fifth Avenue. Office address: 52 William Street, New York City.

SCHIFF, Mortimer L:

Banker; born in New York City, June 5, 1877; son of Jacob H. and Therese Schiff. He was graduated from Amherst College, 1896, and received the honorary M.A. degree in 1906. He is a member of the firm of Kuhn, Loeb and Company; secretary and trustee of the Provident Loan Society of New York; director of the Fidelity Bank, Mercantile Trust Company, United States Mortgage and Trust Company, Social Halls Association, and of the New York Yacht, Whist, Republican, Lotos and City Midway Clubs, the Automobile Club of America, Lawyers' and St. Andrew's Golf Clubs. He married in New York City, April 30, 1901, Adele G. Newstedt. Address: 52 William Street, New York City.

SCHLEY, Grant Barney:

Banker; born at Chapinville, N. Y., Feb. 25, 1845. He was educated in the Canandaigua Academy until 1861, when he became an express clerk at Syracuse. He was appointed express agent at Suspension Bridge, N. Y., in 1863, and in 1866 removed to New York City, where he was connected with the money department of the American Express Company until 1874; then with the First National Bank of New York until 1880; member of the firm of Groesbeck and Schley, bankers and brokers, until 1885, and since then of Moore and Schley, of which he has been for years senior member. Mr. Schley is connected as officer or director with many large manufacturing, financial and mining corporations. He is a member of the Union League, Manhattan, Metropolitan, New York Yacht and other clubs, and of the American Fine Arts Society. Mr. Schley married in New York City, in 1879, Elizabeth Baker. He has a summer residence at Far Hills, N. J. Residence: 845 Fifth Avenue. Office: 80 Broadway, New York City.

SCHLEY, Winfield Scott:

Rear-admiral, U. S. Navy; was born near Frederick, Md., Oct. 9, 1839; being son of John Thomas and Georgiana Virginia Schley. He was appointed acting midship-man in the U. S. Navy in 1856, and was graduated from the U. S. Naval Academy in 1860; promoted to master in 1861; commissioned Lieutenant, July 18, 1862; lieutenant-commander, July 25, 1866; commander, June 10, 1874; captain, March 31, 1888; commodore, Feb., 1898; rear-admiral, March 3, 1899; retired, Oct. 9, 1901. He served through the Civil War, and afterward on various duties and stations. He took charge of the Greely Relief Expedition and rescued Lieutenant (now Major-General) A. W. Greely and six other survivors at Cape Sabine. After the declaration of war with Spain, he was ordered to command the Flying Squadron, on duty in Cuban waters; he was the senior officer present and in immediate command at the destruction of Cervera's Fleet, off Santiago de Cuba, July 3, 1898. He was presented with a gold sword by the people of Pennsylvania, and a silver sword by the Royal Arcanum, a gold and jeweled medal by the Legislature of the State of Maryland, a silver service and various other gifts, for his services at the Battle of Santiago. He was promoted to rear-admiral, March 3, 1899, and from Nov. 9, 1899, was in command of the South Atlantic Station until Oct. 9, 1901, when he was placed upon the retired list, having attained the age of sixty-two years. He is author of: The Rescue of Greely, 1886; and of Forty-five Years Under the Flag, 1904. He married, Sept. 10, 1863, Annie R. Franklin, of Annapolis, Md. He is a member of the Military Order of Foreign Wars, and of the New York, New York Yacht, Seawanhaka-Corinthian Yacht, and of the Army and Navy Clubs, New York City, and the Metropolitan Club of Washington. Address: 1826 I Street, Washington, D. C.

SCHMIDT, Max Eberhardt:

Civil engineer; born in Berlin, Germany, Oct. 18, 1848; son of Albert and Angelica (Hoefer) Schmidt. He was graduated from the Prussian Military Academy, Berlin, in 1866, and from the Prussian Academy of Engineers' Officers in 1869. He served during the Franco-Prussian War, 1871-1872; was engineer of the U. S. Government Surveys, West of the One Hundredth Meridian, and the U. S. Geodetic Survey and Government Works in Minnesota and Dakota, until 1875; was chief assistant engineer on the construction of the jetties at the mouth of the Mississippi under Captain James B. Eads until 1879; in charge of Government works for the improvement of the Mississippi River at Memphis and St. Louis until 1881; chief engineer of the Mexican Central Railroad, 1881-1889; engaged in business as general consulting engineer in Chicago and New York until 1896; and was president of Electric Axle Light and Power Company until 1900. He invented and constructed the first moving platform, which operated at the World's Columbian Exposition. Mr. Schmidt is president, general manager and chief engineer of the Continuous Transit Securities Company, and director of the Multiple Speed and Traction Company; and is a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers. He is a member of the Down Town and Whist Clubs of New York City, the Whippany River and Morris County Golf Clubs of Morristown, N. J., and the Chicago Club of Chicago. Mr. Schmidt married in Winona, Minn., Sept. 22, 1875, Mary Everhart, and they have two children. Residence: Madison Avenue, Convent, N. J. Office: 45 Broadway, New York City.

SCHMUCKER, Samuel D.:

Jurist; born in Gettysburg, Pa., Feb. 26, 1844; son of Rev. Samuel S. Schmucker, president of the Evangelical Lutheran Theological Seminary and Mary Catherine (Steenbergen) Schmucker. He was graduated from Pennsylvania College, Gettysburg, A.B. in 1863, from the law school of New York University, LL.B. in 1865, and received his LL.D. from Pennsylvania College in 1898, and also from St. John's College, Annapolis. He served in the Union Army as sergeant in the Twenty-sixth Pennsylvania Regiment, in 1863. He practised law in Baltimore, 1866-1898, and in the latter year was elected on the Republican ticket as one of the associate justices of the Court of Appeals of Maryland, in which office he is still serving. Judge Schmucker attained an enviable place at the bar, and has served as president of the Bar Association of Baltimore; and he was a member of the commission which prepared the charter under which the City of Baltimore is now governed. He married Nov. ... 1869, Helen J. Bridges. Residence: ... Park Avenue, Baltimore. Office address: Court of Appeals, Annapolis, Md.

SCHOFF, Hannah Kent:

Philanthropist; born in Upper Darby, Pa.; daughter of Thomas and Fanny (Leonard) Kent. She was educated in the Mary Anna Langstreth School, Philadelphia, Waltham (Mass.) School, and by private tutors. She married in Clifton Heights, Pa., Oct. 23, 1873, Frederic Schoff, and has seven children. She planned and led the work of securing Juvenile Court and Probation laws in Pennsylvania in 1900, also detention houses for children awaiting trial; organized the probation work for Philadelphia in 1901, aided in the effort to secure these laws in Canada, Great Britain, Hungary, and many of the States; compiled the statutes of every State in the U. S., concerning children, in 1900, organized, in 1899, the Pennsylvania Congress of Mothers, which first established the Parents' Association in Pennsylvania schools, being president since 1902. Mrs. Schoff is vice-president of the National Congress of Mothers, under whose auspices the first International Congress in America on the Welfare of the Child was held in Washington, March, 1908; every nation being invited to participate. She is a member of the Daughters of the Revolution and president of the Philadelphia Juvenile Court and Probation Association, and member of the New Century Club of Philadelphia. She is author of magazine articles and Juvenile Court pamphlets and editorials, and is editor of the National Congress of Mothers Magazine for the Welfare of the Child. Address: 3418 Baring Street, Philadelphia.

SCHOULER, James:

Lawyer and author; born in Arlington, Mass., March 20, 1839; son of William Schouler (adjutant-general of Massachusetts, 1860-1866) and Frances (Warren) Schouler, and grandson of James Schouler of Kilbarchan, near Paisley, Scotland, who came to the United States in 1816. Mr. Schouler was graduated from Harvard as A.B. in 1859, and he received the degree of LL.D. from the National University at Washington in 1891, and from Johns Hopkins University in 1902. After his graduation from Harvard he taught school one year, studied law, and was admitted to the Suffolk bar in 1862. He served a year in the Union Army, as a lieutenant in the Forty-third Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry and in the Signal Corps, and after the war practiced in Boston and Washington. He was a lecturer and professor in the Boston University Law School from 1885 to 1903; non-resident professor in the National University Law School at Washington from 1887, and from 1891 to 1908, lecturer on American History in Johns Hopkins University. Professor Schouler is author of legal text-books and treatises of high authority, including: The Law of Domestic Relations, 1870; The Law of Personal Property, 1873; The Law of Bailments, 1880; The Law of Husband and Wife, 1882; Law of Executors and Administrators, 1883; and Law of Wills, 1887; all of which have passed through several editions. He is also prominent as a historian, his principal historical work being his History of the United States from 1783 to 1865 (six volumes), and he is also author of Lives of Jefferson and Hamilton; Americans of 1776; Ideals of the Republic; and other books. He is a member and corresponding member of the Massachusetts Historical Society, and is an ex-president of the American Historical Association. Professor Schouler married in Boston, in 1870, Emily F. Cochran, who died in 1904. Address: 2 Newbury Street, Boston; or Intervale, N. H.

SCHRADER, Frank Charles:

Geologist; born in Sterling, Ill., Oct. 6, 1860; son of C. C. and Angeline Marie (Piepo) Schrader. He was educated in the University of Kansas, 1886-1891, graduating B.S., M.S., and Harvard University, 1892-1896. He was assistant in entomological work for the State of Kansas, 1888-1891, and for the Massachusetts Board of Agriculture, 1893-1895; teacher in geology in Harvard, 1895-1896, and, since 1896, with the U. S. Geological Survey, doing economic geologic work, mainly in various parts of Alaska and the Western United States, and in the New England and middle States. He is a contributor to reports of the U. S. Geological Survey and geographic magazines. He has traveled widely on professional work in nearly all parts of Alaska, including the Arctic Ocean, Behring Sea and Pacific coasts, British Columbia, Canada, the United States, including the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, and Mexico. He is a fellow of the Geological Society of America (life), member of the American Institute of Mining Engineers, Mining and Metallurgical Society of America, National Geographic Society, American Forestry Association, Washington Academy of Sciences, Geological Society of Washington, Cosmos Club of Washington, Washington Harvard Club, and Washington Kansas University Club. Residence: 1327 R Street, Washington. Office: U. S. Geological Survey, Washington, D. C.

SCHRADER, Frederick Franklin:

Playwright; born in Hamburg, Germany, Oct. 27, 1857; son of George Frederick and Sophia (Hemmicke) Schrader. Mr. Schrader is a newspaper man by profession, but has had a wide experience in many lines of activity. He managed Pope's Theater in St. Louis, 1885-1886; was secretary of the Board of Trade at St. Joseph, Mo., 1887-1891, and for many years has been connected with the Washington Post and the New York Globe as dramatic editor. He is the author of several successful plays, including: At the French Ball (Fanny Rice); A Modern Lady Godiva (Amelia Bingham); The Man from Texas; the novel, "Jose," from the German; and Paris Sketches, from the German of Max Nordau. He has also been prominent in political affairs, having been acting and assistant secretary of the Republican Congressional Committee, 1896-1900, and editor of the Republican Campaign Textbook of 1898. He married, first, June 6, 1879, Anna McNulty, who died Feb. 16, 1894, and second, at Washington, D. C., Nov. 6, 1895, Marie R. Bailey, a well-known writer, and has one son. Residence: Hotel Orleans, 100 W. 80th Street, New York City.

SCHREITER, Henry:

Lawyer; born in Freiwaldau, Austrian Silesia, 1858; son of Franz Ferdinand Schreiter R. von Schwarzenfeld and Antoinette Louise C. (Janowski) Schreiter von Schwartzfeld. He was educated in the Military Academy at Wiener Neustadt, Lower Austria, Teresianum and the Polytechnic School at Vienna; Law School and School of Political Science, Columbia University. He is engaged in the practice of law as a member of the firm of Schreiter & Mathews; almost exclusively as counsel in patent, trade-marks, copyright and in corporation cases. He is president of the New York Asbestos Manufacturing Company; president and treasurer of Ravenswood Paper Mills Company; treasurer of the Panzl Digester Lining Company. Mr. Schreiter married in Yonkers, N. Y., Sept. 14, 1894, Harriett A. Baker, and they have two children. Country home: Avon-by-the-Sea, N. J. Residence: 59 West 87th Street. Office: 20 Nassau Street, New York City.

SCHROEDER, Seaton:

Rear-admiral, U. S. Navy; born in Washington, D. C., Aug. 17, 1849; son of Francis and Caroline (Seaton) Schroeder. He was appointed from South Carolina to the U. S. Naval Academy in 1864, and was graduated with the class of 1868. He was promoted to ensign, April 19, 1869; master, July 12, 1870; lieutenant, Oct. 29, 1872; lieutenant-commander, Sept. 27, 1893; commander, March 3, 1899; captain, Aug. 10, 1903; rear-admiral, July 11, 1908. He served in various sea and shore duties as a naval officer, and, 1879-1880, was on leave and engaged, in association with H. H. Gorings, in removing the Obelisk from Egypt to New York. He was executive officer of the Massachusetts, 1897-1899; was advanced three numbers in rank for eminent and conspicuous conduct in the War with Spain, in 1898; he was naval governor of the Island of Guam, and commander of the Yosemite, 1900-1903; chief intelligence officer, Navy Department, 1903-1906; commanded U. S. S. Virginia, 1906; commanding Third Division Atlantic Fleet, 1906-1909; and 1909 became commander-in-chief of the Atlantic Fleet, on the flagship Connecticut. Address: Care of Navy Department, Washington, D. C.

SCHULTZ, Alfred Reginald:

Geologist; born in Tomah, Wis.; son of John Frederick and Ida May (Kirst) Schultz. After graduation from the Tomah High School in 1896, he pursued the scientific course in the University of Wisconsin, whence he was graduated, B.S., 1900, and graduate work in the University of Wisconsin and in the University of Chicago, where he received the degree of Ph.D., 1905. He was professor of sciences in the Wausau (Wis.) High School, 1900-1902; associate editor of the Wisconsin Handbook of Track and Field Athletics, 1902; research assistant in the University of Wisconsin, 1902-1904; resident hydrologist of the United States Geological Survey in Wisconsin, 1903; chief of an exploration party in the Province of Ontario, Canada, summer of 1904, and a fellow of the University of Chicago, 1904-1905. Since 1905 he has been engaged as a geologist in the United States Geological Survey. He is a Republican in politics, and a Lutheran in religion. Dr. Schultz has traveled extensively in North America. He is a member of the Chicago chapter of the Sigma Xi Society, the National Geographic Society, Washington Geological Society, the Pick and Hammers (geological society) and the American Association for the Advancement of Science. His published papers include: Underground Waters of Wisconsin: Water Supply and Irrigation Paper (U. S. Geological Survey No. 214), 1904; Underground Waters of Wisconsin: Wisconsin Geological and Natural History Survey (in press); Some Observations on the Movement of Underground Waters in Confined Basins (Journal of Geology, Vol. XV, No. 2), 1907; Coal and Oil Maps of southern Uinta County, Wyoming: Bull. (U. S. Geological Survey No. 285), 1905; Professional Paper U. S. Geological Survey (No. 56), 1907; also bulletins of the U. S. Geological Survey on Gold Developments in Central Uinta County, Wyoming, and Other Points on Snake River (No. 315), 1906; Coal Fields in a Portion of Central Uinta County, Wyoming (No. 316), 1906; Geology and Geography of Central Uinta County, Wyoming (in press); Labarge Oil Field, Central Uinta County, Wyoming (No. 340), 1907; Northern Part of the Rock Springs Coal Field (No. 341-B), 1907; Southern Part of the Rock Springs Coal Field: Survey, 1909. Home: Tomah, Wis. Official address: Care of U. S. Geological Survey, Washington, D. C.

SCHUMANN, Walter:

U. S. consul; born in New York City, July 1, 1870. He was graduated from Columbia Grammar School; was with an importing house of New York City, having a large trade in China, Japan and Italy, from 1888 to 1891, with structural iron and steel works, 1891-1893, and, when the company failed, with former superintendent of works, bought out the business, stock and unfinished contracts and continued until Feb. 1, 1898, when he sold his interest to his partner. He was appointed, June 23, 1897, U. S. consul to Mainz, Germany; and transferred March 30, 1907, to Odessa. He is author of: The Law of Marriage and Divorce of the German Empire; Outline History of the City of Mainz, Germany; also a History of American Literature (in the German language). Address: American Consulate, Odessa, Russia.

SCHURMAN, Jacob Gould:

President of Cornell University; born at Free-town, Prince Edward Island, May 22, 1854; son of Robert Schurman, and grandson of Caleb Schurman, who was born at New Rochelle, N. Y., and whose ancestors came from Holland in the Seventeenth Century. He won in 1875 the Canadian Gilchrist Scholarship to the University of London, where he was graduated in 1877 with the degree of A.B. and received that of A.M. in 1878. At the same time he took graduate work in Paris and at the University of Edinburgh during the years 1877 and 1878, receiving from the latter university the degree of D.Sc. Having won the Hibbert Traveling Fellowship, which was open to all graduates of British universities, he studied from 1878 to 1880 at Heidelberg, Berlin, and Göttingen, and in Italy. The degree of LL.D. was conferred upon him by Columbia University in 1892, by Yale in 1901, and the University of Edinburgh in 1902. After holding professorship in Acadia College and in Dalhousi College, he was, in 1886, appointed Sage professor of philosophy at Cornell University, becoming some years later head of the Sage School of Philosophy. In 1892 he was elected to the presidency of Cornell University, which office he still holds. In 1899 he was appointed by President McKinley chairman of the United States Philippine Commission, for the purpose of investigating the conditions of those islands. He is a life member of the American Academy in Rome, and also member of the University and Union League Clubs of New York, and the Town and Gown Club of Ithaca. He is fond of out-door sports, and spends his leisure hours in walking, golfing, skating or tobogganing. President Schurman is a prolific writer and is author of many philosophical works, among them being: Kantian Ethics and the Ethics of Evolution, 1881; The Ethical Import of Darwinism, 1888; Belief in God, 1890; and others. He is also author of: A Generation of Cornell, 1898; and Philippine Affairs—A Retrospect and Outlook, 1902. He married, Oct. 1, 1884, Barbara Forrest Munro, and by this union there have been eight children. Residence: 41 East Avenue. Address: Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y.

SCHUYLER, Montgomery, Jr.:

Diplomatic and consular officer; born in Stamford, Conn., Sept. 2, 1877; son of Montgomery Schuyler and Katherine Beeckman (Livingston) Schuyler, and grandson of Rev. Anthony Schuyler, for many years rector of Grace Church, Orange, N. J. After being graduated from Columbia College, A. B., 1899, he remained as university scholar one year and university fellow two years in Indo-Iranian languages, receiving his A. M. degree in 1900. He began a diplomatic career in 1902 as second secretary of the American Embassy at St. Petersburg, and in 1904 became secretary of the American Legation and consul-general at Bangkok, Siam, remaining there until 1906, when he was appointed to his present post as secretary of the American Legation and American consul-general at Bucharest, Roumania. Mr. Schuyler is author of: an Index Verborum of the Fragments of the Avesta, 1901; and of a Bibliography of the Sanskrit Drama; and he has contributed to various publications on Oriental and philological subjects. He is a member of the American Oriental and other learned societies, the Society of Mayflower Descendants, Society of Descendants of Colonial Governors, and others. Residence: 1025 Park Avenue, New York City. Official address: American Legation, Bucharest, Roumania.

SCHWAB, Charles M.:

Capitalist; born in Williamsburg, Blair County, Pa., Feb. 18, 1862. The family removed to Loretto, Cambria County, Pa., in 1872. He was graduated from St. Francis College at sixteen. As a boy he worked for neighboring farmers, and drove a coach to and from Cresson, Pa., his father having, at one time, a contract for carrying the mails between Loretto and Cresson. After leaving school he became clerk in a grocery store at Braddock, Pa. He was anxious to become a civil engineer, and in 1881 made his ambition known to Captain Jones, one of the superintendents in the Edgar Thomson Steel Works, of the Carnegie Company, whom he asked for employment. He began by driving stakes at a dollar a day, but in less than a year he was Captain Jones' chief assistant, and in seven years was chief of the engineer department, and it was principally under his direction that the Homestead plant was erected. On the death of Captain Jones, in 1889, he was made superintendent of the Edgar Thomson Works, and in 1892 the Homestead Works was also placed in his charge. He was elected a member of the Board of Managers of the Carnegie Company in 1896, and its president in 1897, and when the Carnegie interests were merged in the larger United States Steel Corporation, in 1901, he became the first president of the corporation, remaining until 1904, when he resigned the presidency. He is now president of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, a trustee of the New York Trust Company, and a director in the Carnegie Steel Company and many other iron, steel, coke and coal corporations. Mr. Schwab built a magnificent Catholic church at Loretto, Pa., and established a complete electric lighting plant there; built a convent house at Cresson, Pa., a thoroughly equipped industrial school at Homestead, Pa., and fitted up on the southern shore of Staten Island, New York, a sanitarium for the benefit of sick and crippled children during the summer months. He has a fine summer residence at Braddock, Pa., and a house in Pittsburgh, besides the magnificent residence which he has built on Riverside Drive at Seventy-fourth Street, in New York. Mr. Schwab married at Loretto, Pa., in 1883, Emma Dinkey. Residence: 323 West 74th Street. Office: 111 Broadway, New York City.

SCHWAB, Gustav H.:

Merchant; born in New York City, May 30, 1851; son of Gustav Schwab and Catherine Elizabeth (von Post) Schwab. He was sent to Europe when thirteen years old to be educated in the gymnasium (Latin School) at Stuttgart, Germany, and at seventeen he entered the office of a firm in Bremen for a mercantile training and after that spent six months in Liverpool. Mr. Schwab on July 1, 1876, entered the firm of Oelrichs and Company (founded by his great-grandfather in 1798), and took charge of the steamship business of the firm, which had held the agency of North German Lloyd Steamship Company since 1861, relieving his father of that duty. He is chairman of the Committee on Foreign Commerce and the Revenue Laws of the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York; conducted the sound money campaign of the Chamber of Commerce against free silver, and was prominent in the work of agitation for the enlargement of the Canal System of New York State. He is first vice-president of the Merchants' Association of New York; a partner in the firm of Oelrichs & Company; a director of the United States Trust Company, the Merchants' National Bank, the Produce Exchange Safe Deposit Company, and the Atlantic Mutual Insurance Company. He is senior warden of All Souls' Church, New York City and vestryman of St. Mary's Church, Scarborough, New York. Mr. Schwab is a director of the German Society of the City of New York; chairman of the Canal Committee of the New York Produce Exchange; director of St. John's Guild. He received the Prussian decoration of the Red Eagle of the third class and the Italian decoration of SS. Maurizio e Lazaro (cavaliere), the Oldenburg Decoration of Ritterkranz. Mr. Schwab married at Fordham, N. Y., Oct. 25, 1876, Caroline Wheeler, and they have two children. Country home: Scarboro. Residence: 31 West 47th Street. Office: 5 Broadway, New York City.

SCHWAB, John Christopher:

Librarian; born in New York City, April 1, 1865; son of Gustav and Catherine Elizabeth (von Post) Schwab. He was graduated from Yale in 1886 with the degree of B.A. and received the M.A. degree in 1888, also receiving the degree of Ph.D. from the University of Göttingen, in 1889. He was professor of political science in Yale University from 1898 to 1905 and is now librarian of Yale University Library. Since 1892 editor of the Yale Review. Dr. Schwab is corresponding member of the Massachusetts Historical Society; a member of the American Economic Association; the British Royal Economic Society and a director of the Lowell House. He is a member of the Century Association and the Graduates' Club of New Haven. Mr. Schwab married in New Haven, Conn., Oct. 5, 1893, Edith Aurelia Fisher and has a son and a daughter. Residence:

310 Prospect Street, New Haven, Conn. Address: Yale University Library, New Haven, Conn.

SCHWARTZ, Julia Augusta:

Author; born in Albany, N. Y., Feb. 3, 1873; daughter of George and Emma G. (Young) Schwartz. She was graduated from Albany Academy, and Vassar College, A.B., 1896, and A.M., 1898. She is author of: Vassar Studies; Five Little Strangers; Famous Pictures of Children; Beatrice Leigh at College; Wilderness Babies; Elinor's College Career; and Wonderful Little Lives. She is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society, Vassar Alumnae Association, and the Association of Collegiate Alumnae. Address: 911 South 20th Street, Omaha, Neb. *

SCHWEBACH, James:

Catholic bishop; born in the Duchy of Luxemburg, Aug. 15, 1847. He received a classical education under private instruction and in the College of Diekirch; came to the United States in 1864, and took philosophical and theological courses in St. Francis' Seminary, near Milwaukee, Wis., becoming a priest in 1870. He was pastor of St. Mary's Church, La Crosse, Wis., for twenty-two years, became vicar-general and later administrator of the diocese of La Crosse, of which he was consecrated bishop, Feb. 24, 1892. Address: La Crosse, Wis.

SCIDMORE, George H.:

Consular officer; born in Iowa. He was appointed consular clerk May 6, 1876; appointed vice-consul at Dunfermline, Scotland, Aug. 24, 1877; appointed vice-consul at Osaka and Hiogo, Japan, Sept. 13, 1884; vice-consul-general at Shanghai, China, June 24, 1885; vice and deputy consul-general at Kanagawa, Japan, Dec. 23, 1885; appointed special agent to investigate the claims of American citizens to lands in the Fiji Islands, Sept. 7, 1891; appointed deputy consul-general at Kanagawa June 1, 1894; deputy consul-general at Yokohama, Nov. 5, 1902; detailed a legal adviser to the American Legation at Tokyo March 17, 1904; appointed consul at Nagasaki, March 30, 1907. Address: Nagasaki, Japan.

SCOLLARD, Clinton:

Author; born in Clinton, N. Y., Sept. 18, 1860; son of James I. and Elisabeth (Stephens) Scollard. He was graduated from Hamilton College, class of 1881, A.B., A.M., 1884, L.H.D., 1906, and took post-graduated course in Harvard, and Cambridge, England. He was for eight years professor of English literature in Hamilton College, and is president of the Rome and Clinton Railroad Company, and director in the Utica, Clinton and Binghamton Railroad Company. He is author of: Pictures in Song, 1884; With Reed and Lyre, 1886; Old and New World Lyrics, 1888; Giovia and Giulia, 1891; Songs of the Sunrise Lands, 1892; Under the Summer Skies, 1892; On Sunny Shores, 1893; The Hills of Sons, 1895; Skenandoa, 1896; A Boy's Book of Rhyme, 1896; A Man-at-Arms, 1898; The Son of a Tory, 1900; A Knight of the Highway, 1901; The Lutes of Morn, 1901; The Cloistering of Ursula, 1902; Lyrics of the Dawn, 1902; Count Falcon of the Eyrie, 1903; Footfarings, 1904; The Lyric Bough, 1904; Ballads of Valor and Victory (with Wallace Rice), 1904; Lyrics and Legends of Christmas-Tide, 1904; Odes and Elegies, 1905; A Southern Flight (with Frank Dempster Sherman), 1905; Easter Song, 1906; Blank Verse Pastels, 1907; Voices and Visions, 1908; Pro Patria, 1909, and a contributor of poems to leading magazines. Mr. Scollard is a member of the Century, Authors', and Chi Psi Clubs of New York City. He married in Jackson, Mich., July 3, 1890, Georgia Brown, and has a daughter. Address: Clinton, N. Y.

SCOTT, Austin:

President of Rutgers College; born at Maumee, Lucas County, Ohio, Aug. 10, 1848; son of J. Austin and Sarah (Ramney) Scott. The family removed to Toledo, Ohio, in 1859. He went to Yale where he edited the College Conrart, and was graduated as A.B. in 1869; was a student in the University of Michigan, 1869-1870, receiving the degree of A.M., and continued his studies at the Universities of Berlin and Leipzig, receiving from the latter the degree of Ph.D. in 1873; and the degree of LL.D. was conferred upon him by Princeton in 1891. While engaged in his studies abroad he was private secretary to George Bancroft, the historian, who was then United States minister to Germany. Dr. Scott was an instructor in German in the University of Michigan, 1873-1875; then became associate in history at Johns Hopkins University until 1881, establishing there the Seminar of American History, and while so engaged aiding Mr. Bancroft in the collection of materials for his History of the Constitution of the United States. He became connected with Rutgers College as acting professor of history in 1883, and later in the same years became Voorhees professor of history, political economy and constitutional law, which chair he retained until elected, in 1890, to his present office as president of Rutgers College. He is author of the volume, New Jersey, in the American Commonwealths Series. He married at Newark, N. J., Feb. 21, 1882, Anna Prestiss Stearns. Address: New Brunswick, N. J.

SCOTT, Charles Fredrick:

Congressman and editor; born on a farm in Allen County, Kan., Sept. 7, 1890; son of John W. Scott and Maria (Protsman) Scott. He was educated in the State University of Kansas, from which he was graduated with the B.S. degree in 1881, receiving the M.S. degree some years later. Immediately after leaving the university he went West and spent the next year and a half in Colorado, New Mexico, and Arizona, engaging chiefly in clerical work. In the latter part of 1882 he returned to Iola, the county-seat of his native county, and bought a small interest in the Iola Register, a weekly newspaper, and in the course of five years he acquired entire control of the paper which he has ever since owned, published and edited. In 1891, he was appointed regent of the State University of Kansas for a term of four years, and was twice reappointed. He is a Republican in politics; was elected to the State Senate of Kansas in 1892 and served four years; he was a Republican presidential elector in 1896; was elected in 1900 to the Fifty-seventh Congress from the State of Kansas at large, and was reelected to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses from the Second Kansas District. Mr. Scott has served as president of the State Editorial Association of Kansas; president of the Kansas League of Republican Clubs, and president of the Kansas Day Club, an organization of the young Republicans of the State. He married in 1893, May Bevard Ewing. Address: Iola, Kan.

SCOTT, Francis Markoe:

Jurist; born in New York City, March 14, 1848; son of Thomas Scott and Eleanor A. Scott. He received his early education in the public schools, was graduated from the College of the City of New York as A.B. in 1867, and from Columbia Law School as LL.B. in 1869; and he received the A.M. degree from the City College. He was admitted to the bar of New York in 1869; was appointed assistant corporation counsel of New York City in February, 1885; aqueduct commissioner of New York City in August, 1888; corporation counsel of the City of New York in February, 1895, and in 1897 was elected a justice of the Supreme Court of New York for the term expiring Dec. 31, 1911. Judge Scott is a Democrat in politics. He is a member of the Century Association, and of the University, Manhattan, Larchmont Yacht, Oakland Golf, and Garden City Golf Clubs. He married, at Perth Amboy, N. J., in 1878, Lucy Parkman Higgins, and they have three children. Residence: 42 Park Avenue. Office: County Courthouse, New York City.

SCOTT, Frank Hall:

Publisher; born in Terre Haute, Ind., April 7, 1848; son of William Clement and Maria Frances (Crawford) Scott. He was educated in the Pennsylvania Military Academy, and received the degree of LL.D. from Marietta College, Ohio, in 1894. After a slight business experience in Indiana he came to New York City in 1870, and entered the employ of Scribner & Company; helped to launch the first number of Scribner's Monthly and when the name of magazine was changed to The Century, in 1881, he became treasurer and since 1892 has been president of The Century Company. He is active in all general movements affecting the publishing world. He was one of the founders and later president of Aldine Club; director and president from 1904 to 1906 of the American Publishers' Association, and is a member of the Aldine, City, Century and Players' Clubs. Mr. Scott married in New York City, 1878, Julia Draper Davis, and they have two children. Address: 33 East 17th Street, New York City.

SCOTT, Hugh Lenox:

Officer, United States Army; born at Danville, Ky., Sept. 22, 1853; son of William M. and Mary (Hodge) Scott. He was graduated from the U. S. Military Academy, June 14, 1876; commissioned first lieutenant Seventh Cavalry, June 28, 1878, captain Seventh Cavalry, Jan. 24, 1895; major and assistant adjutant-general, U. S. Volunteers, May 12, 1898; lieutenant-colonel and assistant adjutant-general of Volunteers, Aug. 17, 1899; major Fourteenth Cavalry, Feb. 25, 1903. He served in the Sioux Expedition, 1876; Nez Percés Expedition, 1877; Camp Robinson, Neb., and the Cheyenne Expedition, 1878; on routine duty, principally with Indians of the Plains, 1878-1891; received honorable mention from the War Department, for services in Oklahoma, 1891; in charge of investigation of the Ghost Dance disturbances, 1890-1891; enlisted and commanded the Kiowa, Comanche and Apache Indians, Troop L, Seventh Cavalry, 1892, until mustered out after five years' enlistment (the last Indian troop mustered out); in charge of Geronimo's band of Chiricahua Apaches, 1894-1897. He was on duty at the Bureau of Ethnology, Smithsonian Institution, writing a work on the sign language of the Plains Indians of North America, from Nov., 1897, until the beginning of the Spanish War. He served as adjutant-general of the Second and Third Divisions of the First Army Corps, May, 1898, to Feb., 1899; adjutant-general of the Department of Havana, under General Ludlow, March, 1899, to May, 1900; adjutant-general of the Division of Cuba until Nov. 15, when the Division of Cuba was changed to the Department of Cuba; adjutant-general of the Department of Cuba, 1900-1902, and acting governor-general of Cuba; took part in turning over the Government of Cuba to the Cubans, May 20, 1902; was on duty with General Wood winding up the affairs of the Military Government of Intervention in Cuba, 1902; served in the Philippines, 1903-1906, in the establishment of civil government, as governor and commander of the troops of the Sulu Archipelago; the conquest and pacification of the Sulu Archipelago and brought about the abolishment of slavery, and the slave trade therein. Since Sept. 1, 1906, he has been on duty as superintendent of the United States Military Academy with the rank of colonel. Colonel Scott is a member of the Geological Society of America, American Anthropological Association, Historical Society of Texas, Society of Moro Campaigns, Society of Foreign Wars, Society of the Spanish-American War. He is author of various monographs and reports relating to the Plains Indians. Colonel Scott is a member of the Metropolitan Club of Washington, D. C., Army and Navy and Union League Clubs of New York City, the Boone and Crockett Club and the Ends of the Earth Club. He married at Standing Rock, Dakota, in June, 1880, Mary Merrill, and they have five children. Address: U. S. Military Academy, West Point, N. Y.

SCOTT, John, Jr.:

Lawyer; born in Huntington, Pa., June 28, 1857; son of John and Annie E. (Eyster) Scott. He was graduated from Princeton University with the degree of A.B. in 1877 and A.M. in 1880, and was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania as B.L. in 1880. He was assistant city solicitor of Philadelphia, 1881-1884, and he has been in general practice ever since. He is director of the Centennial National Bank, and of sundry coal companies; also is trustee of the Polytechnic Hospital, and has been its president since 1902. In politics he is a Republican and he is a member of the Presbyterian Church. Mr. Scott is member of the Union League and Lawyers' Clubs of Philadelphia. Mr. Scott married at Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia, July 17, 1884, Mary Lane Landis, and they have one son. Residence: The Gladstone, Eleventh and Pine Streets. Office: 1612 Stephen Girard Building, Philadelphia.

SCOTT, Nathan Bay:

United States senator; born Dec. 18, 1842, in Guernsey County, Ohio; received a common school education; enlisted in the Army in 1862 and was mustered out in 1865. After the war he engaged in the manufacture of glass at Wheeling, West Virginia, where he has resided ever since; is president of the Central Glass Works and president of the Dollar Savings Bank of that city. He was elected to the city council in 1880, and served two years as president of the second branch; was elected in 1882 to serve four years in the State Senate, and reelected in 1886; was selected as a member of the Republican National Committee in 1888, and has served continuously since, and has been a member of the Executive Committee a greater portion of the time. He was appointed Commissioner of Internal Revenue by President McKinley, and entered that office Jan. 1, 1898; was elected to the U. S. Senate on Jan. 25, 1899, and reelected in 1905. His term of service will expire March 3, 1911. Address: Wheeling, W. Va.

SCOVILLE, Wilbur Lincoln:

Chemist; born in Bridgeport, Conn., Jan. 22, 1865; son of Lemuel and Augusta C. (Fuller) Scoville. He was graduated from Massachusetts College of Pharmacy, Ph.G. He was professor of pharmacy in the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy, Boston, 1892-1904, analytical chemist, 1904-1907, and research chemist with Parke Davis and Company, Detroit, Mich., since 1907. He is a member of the Committee of Revision of the U. S. Pharmacopœia, member of the Committee of Revision of the National Formulary, third and fourth revisions. He married in Wollaston, Mass., Sept. 1, 1891, Cora B. Upham, and they have two daughters. Residence: 73 Brainard Street. Office: Care Parke Davis and Company, Detroit.

SCREWS, William Wallace:

Publisher of Montgomery Advertiser; born in Barbour County, Ala., Feb. 25, 1839; son of Benjamin and Mourning Jones (Drake) Screws. He studied law at Montgomery, Ala., and was admitted to the bar in 1859 at the age of twenty. He enlisted on the Confederate side in the Civil War, and took part in the capture of the Navy Yard at Fort Barancas, Fla. He was with Bragg's army at Chickamauga and Knoxville, and during the last twelve months of war was with Lee in Virginia. During the war he wrote letters to the Montgomery Advertiser, and since 1865 he has been connected with the editorial department, and is now president and editor-in-chief of the paper. He was secretary of State of Alabama, 1878-1882; postmaster of Montgomery, 1893-1897. He is a prominent member of the Protestant Episcopal Church, and was a delegate to the General Convention in Boston in 1904 and Richmond in 1907. He was formerly trustee of the Alabama School for Deaf and Blind. He married in Montgomery, Ala., April 25, 1867, Emily Frances Holt, and has three sons. Residence: 115 Grave Street. Office: Montgomery Advertiser, Montgomery, Ala.

SCRIBNER, Arthur Hawley:

Publisher; born in New York City, March 15, 1859; son of the famous publisher, Charles Scribner and of Emma L. (Blair) Scribner. Mr. Scribner was graduated from Princeton University, A.B., 1881; then entered the publishing business of his father, founded in 1846, and is now treasurer and vice-president of Charles Scribner's Sons. He is a director of the New York City Mission and Tract Society, and a member of the Century, University, Grolier, Riding, Racquet and Tennis, Ardsley, and Princeton clubs. Mr. Scribner married in New York City, January, 1900, Helen C. Annon. Residence: 39 East 67th Street. Office: 157 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

SCRIBNER, Charles:

Publisher; born in New York City, Oct. 18, 1854; son of Charles Scribner (founder of the Scribner publishing house) and of Emma E. (Blair) Scribner. He was graduated from Princeton in 1875. He has been connected with the publishing house since his graduation in 1875. He is a director of the National Park Bank, the Bank of the Metropolis and the Plaza Bank. Mr. Scribner is a member of the National Academy of Design, of the Century Association and of the University, Union, Morristown, Riding, Racquet and Tennis, Morris County Golf, and Princeton Clubs. He married Louise, daughter of Rev. Jared B. Flagg, D.D. Residence: 12 East 38th Street. Address: 155 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

SCRIPTURE, Edward Wheeler:

Physician and psychologist; born in Mason N. H., May 21, 1864; son of Orin M. and Mary (Wheeler) Scripture. He was graduated from the College of City of New York, A.B., 1884. A.M., 1890, and has studied at the universities of Leipzig (Ph.D. 1891), Berlin, Zurich and Munich, M.D., 1906. In 1892 he became director of the psychological laboratory of Yale University, serving until 1902, later becoming investigator on the voice for the Carnegie Institution at Washington, and lecturer in experimental phonetics at the University of Marburg, Germany. He is now director of the psychiatric laboratory of Columbia University; and is practising as physician specialist in neurology and speech defects in New York City. Among his important contributions to psychology and medicine are his discovery of the law of "mediate association of ideas," of a method of measuring hallucinations and imaginations, of the existence of a special epileptic voice, of the melody cure for stuttering, and of a method of producing anesthesia by electricity. He is the inventor of a color-sight tester for detecting color-blind and color-weak employees in railroad and marine service, etc., and is especially known for work on the voice. He has been awarded numerous medals for scientific research; notably 1901. William II, the German Emperor, by the Franklin Institute, 1894; the gold medal from the Paris Exposition in 1900 and medal from the Buffalo Exposition in permitted Prof. Scripture to make records of his voice, which are preserved in the form of metal molds in the National Museum and the Congressional Library at Washington and at Harvard University. These are the only records of his voice that exist. Dr. Scripture is a member of the Circolo Nazionale Italiano. He is the author of Thinking, Feeling, Doing, 1895; The New Psychology, 1897; Elements of Experimental Phonetics, 1901; and Researches in Experimental Phonetics, 1906. He married in Leipzig, in 1890, May Kirk, the author, and has three children. Address: 87 Madison Avenue, New York City.

SCRIPTURE, William Ellis:

Jurist; born in Westmoreland, N. Y., Nov. 2, 1843; son of Parker A. and Harriet Standish (Snow) Scripture. He was educated in Hamilton College and Albany Law School. He was admitted to the New York bar, 1867, and engaged in the general practice of law in Oneida County, N. Y., until 1895, when he was nominated on the Republican ticket and elected justice of the Supreme Court of the State of New York for the Fifth Judicial District for the term expiring Dec. 31, 1909. Mr. Scripture married, in 1867, Emma C. Goodwin. Address: Rome, N. Y.

SCRUGGS, William Lindsay:

Lawyer, journalist, diplomat; born near Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 14, 1834; son of Frederick and Margaret (Kimbrough) Scruggs. He was educated in private school and Strawberry Plains College, and received the honorary degree of LL.D. from Furman University, Greenville, S. C. He was a college professor, journalist, and lawyer, was consul-general to China, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to Colombia and to Venezuela; was legal adviser of Venezuela at Washington, D. C., and assessor of internal revenue in 1872. He was the arbitrator for Great Britain in the Cotesworth-Powell Case, against Colombia, coun-seller for Venezuela in the boundary case with Great Britain, and is author of several works. Mr. Scruggs is a member of the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C., member of the International Peace Society; vice-president and director of the International Cotton Exposition in 1895. He married in Chattanooga, Aug., 1858, Judith A. Potts (now deceased), and has five children. Address: 445 Peachtree Street, Atlanta, Ga.

SCRYMSER, James A.:

Telegraph company official; born in New York, July 18, 1839; grandson of James Serymgeour, of Dundee, Scotland, and eldest son of James Serymsier and Ann (Thompson) Serymsier. He graduated from College Hill Academy, Poughkeepsie, in 1856. He projected and organized in 1865, the International Ocean Telegraph Company, operating a cable line between the United States and Cuba, West Indies and South America; also the Mexican Telegraph Company, 1879, and the Central and South American Telegraph Company, in 1880. These three companies established 12,000 miles of cable and 2,500 miles land line connecting the United States with Mexico, Central and South America; and he is now president of the Mexican Telegraph Company. He is a veteran of the Civil War; enlisted in the Twelfth New York Militia, April 19, 1861; later appointed lieutenant of the Forty-third New York Volunteers; was detailed as aide-de-camp to Major-General Baldy Smith's Division, Army of the Potomac; captain and aide-de-camp of the Sixth Army Corps; also the Left Grand Division, Army of the Potomac, Army of the James, of the Eighteenth Army Corps. He was a vice-president of the New York Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor; promoted and established the first vacation schools in the City of New York, the system of vacation schools later extending throughout the United States, Canada, Australia, England, Wales and Scotland; promoted the Constitutional Amendment of the State of New York, prohibiting the use of public funds for sectarian education; promoted and obtained from the New York Legislature the School Census Bill; promoted and organized the first public meeting respecting the enlargement of school accommodations in the City of New York, since which time over $50,000,000 has been expended by Greater New York for this purpose. He promoted and provided for the first public meeting calling upon the public to sustain Dr. Parkhurst in his reform movement; obtained subscriptions amounting to $30,000 for the Dr. Parkhurst Fund in behalf of the City Vigilance League; original promoter and contributor to the United Charities Building, which was subsequently completed through the liberality of John S. Kennedy, and established at a cost of about one million dollars. He is a member of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion; director of the New York Botanical Garden; fellow of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, and of the Century Association and Metropolitan. Riding, Army and Navy and Jekyl Island Clubs of which he is vice-president. He married in New York City, 1869, Mary C. Prime. Residence: 107 East 21st Street. Address: 66 Broadway, New York City.

SCUDDER, Doremus:

Clergyman; born in New York, Dec. 15, 1858. He was graduated from Yale College, as A.B., in 1880, studied at College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York, in 1881 and 1882; graduated from Northwestern University Medical College, Chicago, M.D., in 1884; studied in Union Seminary, New York, 1880-1882; D.D., Whitman College, 1898. He was medical missionary of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, Niigata, Japan, from 1884 to 1889; ordained to the ministry in 1885. He was pastor of Doremus Church, Chicago, 1890-1892, and of East Congregational Church, Brooklyn, N. Y., from 1892 to 1895; pastor of the First Church, Woburn, Mass., from 1895 to 1901; superintendent of Japanese Department of the Hawaiian Board of Missions, Honolulu, from 1902 to 1904; corresponding secretary and general superintendent from 1904 to 1907; pastor of the Central Union Church, Honolulu, since 1907. He is editor-in-chief of The Friend, Honolulu; is a life member of the American Economic Association, and Royal Economic Association; trustee of the Mid Pacific Institute, Honolulu; second vice-president and member of the Executive Committee of Civic Federation of Honolulu. He married in Niigata, Japan, June 21, 1888, Eliza Canfield Kendall. Address: 910 Prospect Street, Honolulu, T. H.

SCUDDER, Henry Townsend:

Clergyman; born in New York City, Sept. 7, 1854; son of Henry J. Scudder and Louisa Henrietta (Davies) Scudder. He received his preparatory education in Columbia Grammar School; was graduated from Columbia College with the degrees of B.A. in 1874, and M.A. in 1877; studied in the Berkeley Divinity School, Middletown, Conn., and received from Trinity College, Hartford, the degree of M.A. He was assistant of Grace Church, Brooklyn, N. Y., and for almost eighteen years rector of St. Stephen's Church, Brooklyn. He is rector of Christ Church, Tarrytown, N. Y. Mr. Scudder is a member of the Long Island Historical Society, the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences, the Order of Foreign Wars, Colonial Wars, Sons of Revolution, Phi Kappa Psi fraternity, New York Alumni Association, Phi Kappa Psi, and Columbia College Alumni Association. His favorite recreations are sailing and boating. Mr. Scudder is author of: Fairy Tales for Children; Aleuin, in Church Eclectic; Clerical Support; Clerical Pensions; and other Essays; and short stories. Mr. Scudder is a member of the University, Grolier, Columbia University, and St. Nicholas Clubs, and the Bibliophile Society. He married in Brooklyn, N. Y., June 5, 1889, Margaret Mott Weeks, and they have three children: Edna Hewlett, Henry Halloway and Dorothy Weeks. Address: Christ Church, Tarrytown, N. Y.

SCUDDER, Townsend:

Jurist; born in Northport, Suffolk County, N. Y., July 26, 1855; son of Townsend and Sarah Marie (Frost) Scudder. He was educated in Switzerland, Germany, France, Italy, and the United States; Flushing (N. Y.) Institute, Columbia College Law School, LL.B., 1888. He was a member of Congress from the First New York District, two terms, serving in the 56th and 58th Congresses; elected, Nov., 1906, justice of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, 2d District, for the term expiring Dec. 31, 1920. He is a grand master of Masons, State of New York; director of the Nassau County Bank, and member of the Association Bar of the City of New York, New York Law Institute, Society of Colonial Wars; director of Nassau Hospital; member of the Standing Committee and trustee of the Fund for Aged and Infirm Clergy of the Diocese of Long Island, also a member of the Hamilton Club of Brooklyn, the Seawanhaka Yacht, Lotos, Nassau Country, and Democratic Clubs. He married in Brooklyn, N. Y., June 3, 1891, Mary Dannat, daughter of George A. Thayer, and they have three children. Address: Glen Head, Nassau County, L. I.

SEABROOK, Harry Hartshorne:

Physician, ophthalmologist and now also engaged in business; born at Keyport, N. J., Oct. 23, 1859; son of Henry Hendrickson and Theresa (Walling) Seabrook. He was educated in district and private schools and at Peddie Institute, Hightstown, N. J., and graduated from the College of Physicians and Surgeons as M.D. in 1881. He was lieutenant in the Third Regiment, National Guard of New Jersey, from 1878 to 1881. Dr. Seabrook was interne in the Bellevue Hospital from 1881 to 1883, and afterwards spent six months in Europe. He was instructor in ophthalmology in the University of the City of New York, and had eye and ear clinics in the Presbyterian, Bellevue and other dispensaries from 1884 to 1890; attending ophthalmological surgeon of St. Luke's Hospital from 1894 to 1897 and an ophthalmological surgeon of the New York Eye and Ear Infirmary from 1891 to 1907. Among other writings he published a book on Heterophorias and Insufficiencies in 1901, in 1903 a paper on the protection of strained and diseased eyes from injury from chemical light by means of amber yellow glasses, and in 1908 another on effect of light upon the eye for the illuminating Engineering Society. Dr. Seabrook was formerly a vice-president New York County Branch State Medical Association; is a member of the New York Academy of Medicine, New York County Medical Society, New York State Medical Society, American Medical Association, Alumni of Bellevue Hospital, the Society of Medical Jurisprudence; and the Lenox Medical and Surgical Society of which he was formerly president and director, and is president of the Nason Manufacturing Company, manufacturers of and dealers in engineering specialties. He is a director of the Water Witch Club, member of the Sons of the Revolution, the Machinery Club, the American Physical Education Society, Illuminating Engineering Society, National Geographic Society, president of Plaza-Central Park Republican Club and Twenty-ninth Assembly District Republican Clubs. He married at Montclair, N. J., Nov. 2, 1881, May Nason, and they have two children. Residence: 118 East 72d Street. Summer residence: Water Witch Park, Highlands, N. J. Address: 71 Fulton Street, New York City.

SEABROOKE, Thomas Quigley:

Actor; born in Mount Vernon, N. Y., Oct. 20, 1860; he was educated in the public schools there. He made his first appearance on the stage in 1880 and his first New York appearance in 1882. He made his first great success in the Isle of Champagne in May, 1892, which ran for nearly three years. In the season of 1906 he played in vaudeville with Pauline Hall. He married, in 1883, Elvia Crox, an actress. Address: 102 West 85th Street, New York City.

SEABURY, Samuel:

Jurist; was engaged in the practice of law in New York City until nominated on the Independence League ticket, in 1906, and elected a justice of the Supreme Court of New York for the First District for the term expiring Dec. 31, 1920. Address: County Court House, New York City.

SEAMAN, Alfred P. W.:

Justice of the Municipal Court of New York City; born in Winsted, Conn., Sept.

7, 1856; son of Rev. Samuel A. Seaman. He was graduated from Columbia in 1879, Mr. Seaman was admitted to the bar in 1880, and from then was actively engaged in practice in the City of New York. He was elected Municipal Court Justice in 1903, upon an independent Reform nomination. He is one of the founders of the Tenement House Building Company, one of the first to build model tenements in New York City. He has been an active official of the Citizens' Union from its organization and of the Committee of One Hundred on Transit Reform. He is a member of the Sons of the Revolution and of the Columbia College Alumni Association. Psi Upsilon fraternity and of the University City, Psi Upsilon and Fencers' Clubs of New York. Summer residence: New Canaan, Conn. Address: 147 West 87th Street, New York City.

SEAMAN, Henry Bowman:

Civil engineer; born in New York, Jan. 20, 1861; son of Valentine H. and Rebecca C. Seaman. He was graduated from Swarthmore College, C.E., 1881. He was assistant engineer of Kings County Elevated Railway Brooklyn, bridge engineer Erie Railway System, resident engineer of construction of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad, Mt. Vernon, N. Y.; chief of engineers of Audit Company of New York; engineer of the Abolition of Grade Crossings, Syracuse, N. Y., 1898; consulting engineer of the Department of Bridges, New York, and chief engineer of Public Service Commission, New York. He is a member of the New York Bar Association, American Society of Civil, Mechanical and Mining Engineers, the University and Engineers Clubs of New York, and the Engineers and riding and Driving Clubs of Brooklyn. He married in East Orange, N. J., 1904, Grace Dutton, and they have two children. Residence: 140 Clinton Street, Brooklyn. Office: 154 Nassau Street, New York City.

SEAMAN, William Henry:

U. S. circuit judge; born at New Berlin, Wis., Nov. 15, 1842. He was educated in the public schools of Sheboygan, Wis., and afterward worked at the printer's trade until 1861, when he enlisted as a private in the First Wisconsin Infantry, U. S. Volunteers, serving until 1864, when upon the expiration of his term of service he took up the study of law at Sheboygan, and was admitted to the bar there, and was engaged in the practice of law until he was appointed United States judge for the Eastern District of Wisconsin in 1893. He served in that office until he was appointed by President Roosevelt, May 1, 1905, judge of the Circuit Court for the Seventh Circuit. He was president of the Wisconsin State Bar Association 1893-1898. Residence: Sheboygan, Wis. Office: Milwaukee, Wis.

SEARS, Clinton Brooks:

Brigadier-General, U. S. A., retired; born at Penn Yan N. Y., June 2, 1844; son of Rev. Clinton W. and Angeline (Brooks) Sears. He enlisted as a private in Company G. of the Ninety-fifth Ohio Volunteer Infantry, July 24, 1862; served as a corporal during the campaign in Kentucky and Tennessee, in battles in Richmond, Ky., Perryville, Ky., and Stone River, Tenn., and acting color sergeant in the Vicksburg campaign; was in both assaults on Vicksburg and the two attacks on Jackson, Miss. He was appointed by President Lincoln, upon the nomination of Generals Sherman and Grant, as a cadet at the United States Military Academy, Sept. 15, 1863, and was graduated in 1867; and he received the honorary degrees of A.B., and A.M. from the Ohio Wesleyan University. On graduation he was commissioned second and first lieutenant, and assigned to the Engineer Corps of the United States Army, in which he has since served continuously, being commissioned captain, April 9, 1880; major, Sept. 20, 1892; lieutenant-colonel, April 21, 1903, and colonel, Jan. 11, 1907, retired with rank of brigadier-general, June 2, 1908. He has served as engineer officer on the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts, the Northern Lakes, the Mississippi and Missouri Rivers, in the Yellowstone National Park, on Southern rivers and in the Philippine Islands, having had charge of various important works of river and harbor improvement and of fortifications. Has been a member of many Boards of Engineering on river and harbor improvements, and for several years was member and president of the Mississippi River Commission. He is a member of the Society of Mayflower Descendants, Society of Colonial Wars, Society of Foreign Wars, the Sons of the Revolution, and Military Order of the Loyal Legion; and a fellow of the National Academy of Design of New York City. General Sears is author of: Ransom Genealogy; Tidal Harbor Improvements, and other publications. He is a member of the St. Nicholas, University and Army and Navy Clubs of New York City. Address: Bradford Court, Newton Centre, Mass.

SEARS, George Gray:

Physician; born in Boston, Oct. 22, 1859; son of George O. and Sarah G. (Richards) Sears. He was graduated from Amherst College, A.B., 1880, and from Harvard, M.D., 1885. He was physician to the Out-Patients Carney Hospital, 1889-1892, Boston City Hospital, 1892-1896, assistant visiting physician to the Boston City Hospital, 1896-1903, and visiting physician since 1903; assistant in clinical medicine at the Harvard Medical School, 1893-1897, instructor 1897-1901, and assistant professor since 1901. He is a member of the American Medical Association, Massachusetts Medical Society, Association of American Physicians, Boston Society for Medical Improvement, the St. Botolph and Brookline Country Clubs. He is author of numerous papers dealing with the clinical manifestations of disease. He married in Boston, Feb. 1904, Ruth Williams, and has two children. Address: 426 Beacon Street, Boston.

SEAVERNS, Joel Herbert:

Merchant; born in Boston, 1860; son of Joel Seaverns, M.D., and J. M. (Swain) Seaverns. He was graduated from Harvard, A.B., 1881 magna cum laude. He has been European partner in Henry W. Peabody and Company of New York, and elsewhere since 1887. Mr. Seaverns has been a member of Parliament for the Brixton Division of Lambeth, London, since 1906, and is the first American born graduate of Harvard University to hold a seat in the House of Commons. He is a member of the National Liberal, and City Liberal Clubs of London. He married in Portland, Me., 1892, Helen G. Brown, and they have one son. Residence: 25 Grosvenor Road, Westminster. Office: 16 Eastcheap, London, England.

SEAWELL, Molly Elliot:

Novelist; born in Gloucester County, Va.; daughter of John Tyler and Frances (Jackson) Seawell. She was educated privately at home. She became a writer of stories in 1890, when her first book, entitled Throckmorton, was published; took a prize offered by the Youth's Companion for the best story in 1890, the story being: Little Jarvis, and took the New York Herald prize of $3,000 for the best novelette in 1895, entitled The Sprightly Romance of Marsac. She is author of: Midshipman Spaulding, 1891; Paul Jones, 1892; Maid Marian, Decatur and Somers, 1894; A Strange Sad Comedy, 1895; A Virginia Cavalier, 1896; The Rock of the Lion, 1897; Gavin Hamilton, 1899; The House of Egremont, 1901; Papa Bouchard, 1901; Franczka, 1902; Children of Destiny, 1903; Fifi, 1903; The Chateau of Monplaisir, 1905; The Victory, 1906; The Secret of Toni, 1907, and author of the plays: Maid Marian, 1894; Sprightly Romance of Marsac, 1900. Miss Seawell is a member of the Chevy Chase Club of Washington. She has a home in Washington, near Dupont Circle, and spends her summers in Europe. Address: 1767 P Street, Washington, D. C.

SEE, Horace:

Engineer and naval architect; born in Philadelphia, in 1835; son of Richard Calhoun and Margaretta (Hilyard) See. He received a classical and mathematical education in private schools. Mr. See began his professional career with I. P. Morris and Company, Philadelphia, passing through their shops and office; later with Neafie and Levy, Philadelphia, the National Iron Armor and Shipbuilding Company, Camden, N. J., George W. Snyder, Pottsville, Pa., and William Cramp and Sons, Philadelphia, becoming superintending engineer for the latter firm in 1879, and introducing methods by which the standard of work in that establishment was raised to an enviable success, designing vessels and machinery of greatly improved construction and performance. He came to New York City in 1889, and became consulting engineer of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company; superintending engineer of the Southern Pacific Company; superintendent of the Cromwell Steamship Company; superintending engineer of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company; also consulting engineer for various other parties. He has designed many vessels and introduced many improvements in hull and machinery which have come into international use. Mr. See is a member of the British Institute of Naval Architects, American Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers, North-East Coast Institute of Engineers and Shipbuilders (England); associate member of the American Society of Naval Engineers, United States Naval Institute; past president of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers; fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science; the American Geographical Society, Chamber of Commerce of New York, Maritime Exchange, Colonial Society of Pennsylvania, Sons of the Revolution. He was a private in the Gray Reserves in the early part of the Civil War; and corporal of the Seventh Regiment, Pennsylvania Militia in Maryland, 1862; adjutant of the Twentieth Pennsylvania Regiment during the July riots of 1877, and later captain of the First Pennsylvania Regiment; and he is a member of the Century Association and the New York Yacht Club. Mr. See married, Feb. 20, 1879, Ruth Ross, daughter of William Ross Maffett of Wilkes-Barre, Pa. Residence: Glen Summit Springs, Pa. Office: 1 Broadway, New York City.

SEE, Thomas Jefferson Jackson:

Astronomer, mathematician and physicist; born near Montgomery City, Mo., Feb. 19, 1866; son of Noah and Mary A. (Sailor) See; lineal descendant of Adam See, Virginia planter, who came from Silesia with the Schwenkfelders in 1734. Mr. See was graduated from the University of Missouri, A.B., L.B., and S.B., 1889; A.M., L.M., and S.M., 1892; and from the University of Berlin, A.M., Ph.D., 1892. He was in charge of the observatory of the University of Missouri, 1887-1889; volunteer observer at the Royal Observatory, Berlin, in 1891; traveled in Italy, Egypt, Greece, Germany and England, 1890-1892; organized and had charge of the Department of Astronomy, and aided in the organization of the Yerkes Observatory of the University of Chicago, 1893-1896. He was astronomer of Lowell Observatory, in charge of a survey of the Southern heavens, 1896-1898; with a 24-inch Clark refractor at Flagstaff, Ariz., and the City of Mexico, he examined about two hundred thousand fixed stars, in the zone between 15 and 65 degrees south declination, which led to the discovery and measurement of about six hundred new double stars and the remeasurement of about fourteen hundred double stars, previously recognized by Sir John Herschel and other southern observers. Dr. See was lecturer on sidereal astronomy in Lowell Institute, Boston, in 1899; since then professor of mathematics, U. S. Navy; in charge of the 26-inch equatorial telescope of the U. S. Naval Observatory, 1899-1902; professor of mathematics at the U. S. Naval Academy, 1902-1903; in charge of the Naval Observatory, at Mare Island, Calif., since 1903. During 1901-1902, he investigated the diameters of planets and satellites by daylight, deducing their constants of irradiation and absolute densities. He has published researches on Laplace's Invariable Plane, and on the internal densities, pressures, temperatures and moments of inertia of principal bodies of the planetary system, 1903-1905. In 1905 he developed the monatomic theory of the physical constitution, and in 1906 the gravitational method for determining the rigidity of the heavenly bodies, generalizing researches of Lord Kelvin and Sir G. H. Darwin; confirming their conclusions that the rigidity of the earth exceeds that of steel and showing that the average rigidity of the sun is over two thousand times that of nickel steel used in armor plate; and has also published many other original and important astronomical discoveries. Professor See has computed about forty-five orbits of double stars and published about two hundred scientific papers in technical journals and the proceedings of learned societies, including also several important works in German and English on the evolution of stellar systems, extending to the double stars the researches of Darwin and Poincare, on the figures of equilibrium, and the theory of tidal evolution first developed by Darwin in his work on the origin of the moon; on the cause of earthquakes, volcanoes, mountain formations, seismic sea-waves, and the like, which he holds to be caused by imprisoned steam resulting from the leakage of the ocean bottoms into the heated layers just beneath the earth's crust. In 1907-1908 he showed that not only the mountains, but also the plateaus and the continents themselves have been uplifted by the expulsion of lava from beneath the sea and its injection under the land. Heretofore, geologists have erroneously attributed these phenomena to the secular cooling of the globe. In 1908-1909 Professor See greatly extended the Theory of Universal Cosmical Evolution, on which he has been occupied for a quarter of a century, and discovered and definitely proved with all mathematical vigor (July 14, 1908) that our solar system originated from the automatic coiling up of a spiral nebula of such extreme tenuity that it was essentially free from hydrostatic pressure between its parts; that the planets and satellites were not detached from the sun and planets which now govern their motions, as supposed by Laplace in the nebular hypothesis, and since accepted by astronomers for more than a century; but, on the contrary, that the planets and satellites are all captured bodies whose orbits have been reduced in size and rounded up into almost perfect circles under the secular action of the resisting medium formerly pervading the solar system. The ancient geometers, such as Aristarchus, Apollonius and Archimedes, had remarked on nature's apparent preference for the circle, and the same tendency was noticed by Galileo, Kepler and Newton, but modern mathematicians remained without an explanation of the roundness of the planetary paths till Laplace, in 1796, imagined that these bodies had been detached by gentle rotation and thus set revolving in orbits of small eccentricity. The remarkable discovery and proof that the circularity of these orbits is due to the action of a resisting medium, and not to detachment from the central bodies which now govern their motions, throws an unexpected light on the development of our system, explains and harmonizes all known phenomena, and indicates that the solar system does not terminate at Neptune, but that there are other unseen planets beyond still to be discovered. This discovery and others in the second volume of his Researches on the Evolution of the Stellar Systems (1909) has enabled Dr. See to reduce cosmogony to the basis of an exact science, and to formulate definite laws of cosimical evolution which will be of great value in interpreting the phenomena of the starry heavens. Dr. See is a fellow of the Royal Astronomical Society, the Deutsche Astronomische Gesellschaft, the American Philosophical Society, Washington Academy of Sciences, Philosophical Society of Washington, Academy of Sciences of St. Louis, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, British Association for the Advancement of Science, British Astronomical Association, Société Astronomique de France, Astronomical Society of the Pacific, honorary member of the Sociedad Astronomica de Mexico, American Mathematical Society, London Mathematical Society, Deutscher Mathematiker Vereinigung, Société Mathématique de France, Circulo Matematico di Palermo, American Physical Society, Société Française de Physique, Seismological Society of America, Phi Beta Kappa Society, and other academic and scientific societies. On June 18, 1907, Mr. See married Frances, daughter of Dr. James F. and Fannie (Jefferson) Graves of Montgomery City, Mo. Address: Naval Observatory, Mare Island, Calif.

SEELYE, Laureus Clark:

President of Smith College; born in Bethel, Conn., Sept. 20, 1837. He was graduated from Union College, A.B., 1857, and received from it the degree of D.D. 1875, and from Amherst College, LL.D., 1894. He also studied in Andover Theological Seminary, 1858, and in the Universities of Berlin and Heidelberg, 1861-1862. He was pastor of the North Church at Springfield, Mass., 1863-1865; professor of rhetoric and English literature in Amherst College, 1865-1873; and has been president of Smith College since 1873, when he was elected the first president of that institution. He married in Brooklyn, N. Y., Nov. 17, 1863, Henrietta Sheldon Chapin, and had four sons and three daughters. Residence: Elm Street. Office: Smith College, Northampton, Mass.

SEITZ, Don Carlos:

Business manager of the New York World; born in Portage, Ohio, Oct. 24, 1862; son of Rev. J. A. and Rebecca J. (Brown) Seitz. He was educated in the Liberal Institute, Norway, Me., and received the honorary degree of A.M. from St. Lawrence University in 1906. In 1887 he became Albany correspondent of the Brooklyn Daily Eagle, serving for three years. During this time he exposed the famous State Capitol ceiling scandal. He was appointed city editor of the Eagle in 1889, and went with the New York Recorder in 1891 as city editor and assistant publisher. He was managing editor of the Brooklyn World, 1893-1894, and has been business manager of the New York World from 1898 to date. Mr. Seitz is the author of Discoveries in Every Day Europe. He married in East Deering, Me., April 15, 1890, Mildred E. Blake, and has two daughters. Residence 310 Stuyvesant Avenue, Brooklyn. Office: 61-63 Park Row, New York City.

SELIGMAN, Isaac Newton:

Banker; born in Staten Island, N. Y., July 10, 1855; son of Joseph Seligman, a well-known New York banker and Babette (Steinhart) Seligman. He was educated in Columbia Grammar School and was grad-

nated from Columbia College as A.B. in 1876 (he was one of the famous university crew that won the intercollegiate races in 1874). On leaving college he became connected with the banking firm of J. & W. Seligman & Company (founded by his father), at their New Orleans branch, from 1876 to 1878, and in 1878 was called to the New York house; became a partner on the death of his father, and since the death of his uncle, Jesse Seligman, in 1895, has been active head of the house. This firm reorganized the American Steel and Wire Company (now part of the United States Steel Corporation), the Cramp Steamship Company and other large corporations. He was member of the Republican National Finance Committee; trustee of Manhattan State Hospital for Insane (appointed by Governor Morton, and reappointed by Governor Roosevelt); He is a director of the United States Savings Bank, Munich Fire Insurance Company; trustee of Russia Insurance Company; director of Western New York and Pennsylvania Railroad Company (now part of the Pennsylvania system); trustee of the Mount Morris National Bank, Lincoln Trust Company, and trustee of the United Hebrew Charities. He is a director of Columbia University; and of the New York Forest Preserve Association; trustee and treasurer of St. John's Guild; director of General Grant Tomb Committee; trustee of the McKinley Memorial Association; was treasurer and member of the Executive Committee of the Hudson-Fulton Celebration Commission; treasurer and member of the Executive Committee of the Carl Schurz Memorial Committee; vice president and treasurer of the Andrew Green Memorial Committee; trustee of the United Hebrew Charities, People's Institute, Coöperative Committee on Playgrounds, Hebrew Charities Building (founded by his father-in-law); Legal Aid Society, University of Wichita, Kan.; trustee, treasurer and member of the Finance Committee of the National Child Labor Association; member of the Chamber of Commerce (and member of its Committee on Taxation). He is a member of the Lotos, University, New York Athletic, City (trustee and treasurer), National Arts, Columbia University, City, Midway, Lawyers', St. Andrews, Lakewood Country, Garden City Golf, Seabright and Republican Clubs. Mr. Seligman married, in Frankfurt, Germany, 1883, Guta, daughter of Solomon Loeb of Kuhn, Loeb & Company of New York City, and they have two children: Residence: 36 West 54th Street. Address: Mills Building, New York City.

SÉLINCOURT, Anne di (Anne Douglas Sedgwick):

Novelist; born in Englewood, N. J., March 28, 1873; daughter of George Stanley and Mary (Douglas) Sedgwick. She married in London, England, Dec. 11, 1908, Basil di Selincourt. She left America at the age of 9, lived in England and Paris, where she was educated, and studied painting in Paris, exhibiting in the Salon. She began writing in 1898, and is author of: The Dull Miss Archinard, The Confounding of Camilia, The Rescue, Paths of Judgment, The Shadow of Life, Valerie Upton, and Amabel, and writer of short stories. Address: Far End, Kingham, Chipping Norton, Oxfordshire, England.

SELL, Edward Herman Miller:

Physician; born in Upper Sancon Township, Lehigh County, Pa., Aug. 16, 1832; son of Samuel and Mary (Miller) Sell. He was educated in Muhlenberg College and Pennsylvania College at Gettysburg, A.B., 1856, A.M., 1859. He also attended the Gettysburg Theological Seminary, and was five years in the ministry. He then studied medicine in the Bellevue Hospital Medical College and other medical schools in New York, receiving the degree of M.D. in 1866 from the institution named. He also studied in the University of Vienna, receiving the degree of master of obstetrics in 1872. In 1871 he organized the first practical gynecological operative course at the University of Vienna. He was one of the seven organizers of the American Academy of Medicine in 1876, and has been a frequent contributor to medical literature. He has been an extensive traveler, has been around the world and has traveled more than fifteen hundred miles in Africa and from five to six thousand miles in East India alone. He is a fellow of the American Academy of Medicine and the New York Academy of Medicine; and a life member of the Huguenot Society of America. For several years he was trustee of the Medico-Legal Society of New York; formerly a censor of the New York County Medical Society; chairman of the section on Theory and Practice of Medicine of the New York Academy of Medicine; is a member and first president of the Gettysburg Club of New York, and has been vice-president and treasurer of the American Academy of Medicine. He married in Delphos, Ohio, Jan. 17, 1894, Anna J. Lloyd, and has two sons. Residence: Craig Mawr Villa. Office Woodcrest Avenue, White Plains, N. Y.

SELLERS, Coleman, Jr.:

Mechanical engineer; born in Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 5, 1852; son of Coleman and Cornelia (Wells) Sellers. He was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania, B.S., 1875, M.S., 1876. He started in the firm of William Sellers and Company, in 1873, later became chief draftsman, assistant manager, engineer, and is now engineer and president. He is a member of the Franklin Institute, American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Society of Naval Architects, and Marine Engineers, and the American Philosophical Society; and he is also a member of the University and City Clubs of Philadelphia. He married in Brooklyn, N. Y., June 3, 1880, Helen Graham Jackson, and they have four children. Residence: 410 33d Street. Office: 1600 Hamilton Street, Philadelphia.

SELLEW, Walter Ashbel:

Bishop of the Free Methodist Church; born in Gowanda, N. Y., Feb. 27, 1844. He was graduated from Dartmouth College with Phi Beta Kappa honors. He entered the ministry of the Free Methodist Church in 1874, and filled a number of important pastorates, most of them in Western New York. From 1888 to 1898 he was presiding elder, and he was elected bishop in 1898. In 1905-1906 he made a tour of the world, visiting extensively the mission work of the Free Methodist Church in Africa, India, China and Japan. He is president and treasurer of the "Gerry Homes" at Gerry, N. Y., president and treasurer of The A. M. Chesbrough Seminary at North Chili, N. Y., president of the General Missionary Board of the Free Methodist Church; and several other governing bodies in the same denomination. He was married in Mechanicsville, N. Y., June 1, 1873, Jennie R. Peters, and has two daughters. Residence: 68 Faleoner Street, Jamestown, N. Y.

SENER, Charles Parsons:

Cotton merchant; born in Trenton, Tenn., Feb. 14, 1870; son of William M. and Lucy Jane (Wilkins) Senter. He was educated in Smith Academy, St. Louis, and the University of Virginia, and after leaving the university was engaged in banking and real estate offices in St. Louis until 1893, when he entered the house of Senter & Co., engaged as cotton commission merchants. This business, which his father established in 1864, was incorporated in 1900 as the Senter Commission Company, of which he is president, and which is a leading factor in the cotton trade of St. Louis. Mr. Senter is a member and was president of the St. Louis Cotton Exchange two terms, 1907-1908, a member of the Merchants' Exchange of St. Louis, and of other organizations of that city. He is a prominent Baptist layman, and president of the Baptist State Mission Board as well as of the Baptist City Mission Board of St. Louis. Residence: Beverly Place. Office: Third and Walnut Streets, St. Louis.

SESSUMS, Davis:

Bishop of Louisiana; born at Houston, Texas, July 7, 1858; son of Alexander and Mary (Runnels) Sessums. He studied at the University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn., and was graduated with the degree of M.A. in 1878, receiving from same university and from Griswold College the degree of D.D. in 1891. He was ordered deacon of the Episcopal church in 1882; and was ordained to the priesthood the same year by Bishop Gregg. He was curate of Grace Church, Galveston, Texas, in 1883, and assistant and then rector, of the Cathedral at Memphis, Tenn., 1883-1887. In the latter year he became rector of Christ Church, New Orleans, La., officiating until 1891, when he became bishop-coadjutor, and the same year, bishop of Louisiana. He was consecrated by Bishops Quintard, Tuttle, Garrett, Gallaher, Thompson and Watson. Bishop Sessums married at New Orleans, Dec. 18, 1890, Alice C. Gallaher, daughter of Bishop J. N. Gallaher. Address 2919 St. Charles Avenue, New Orleans, La.

SETON, Ernest Thompson:

Writer, illustrator and lecturer; born at South Shields, Durham, England, Aug. 14, 1860. He was educated in Canada, England, and France. He went to Canada at the age of five, and after that lived in the backwoods until 1870, then went to Toronto to be educated at the public schools and at the Collegiate Institute; went to London for art training, 1879-1881; went to Manitoba to follow natural history; and became naturalist to the Government of Manitoba. He published his Wild Animals I Have Known, the biographies of eight wild animals, in 1898. This went through ten editions in one year. He is author of: Birds of Manitoba; Mammals of Manitoba; Anatomy of Animals; Trail of the Sandhill Stag; Biography of a Grizzly; Lives of the Hunted, 1901; Two Little Savages; Pictures of Wild Animals; Monarch, the Big Bear; Woodmyth and Fable; The Birchbark Roll of the Woodcraft Indians; Animal Heroes; Biography of a Silver Fox, 1909. President of the Camp-fire Club, 1909. He is the founder of a society for outdoor life, known as the Woodcraft Indians. He has lectured extensively and before large audiences in America and England. His favorite recreations are hunting with the camera, natural history, and woodcraft. He married in New York City, 1896, Grace Gallatin, and they have one daughter, Ann, born in 1904. Address: Wyndygoul Park, Coscob, Conn.

SETON, Grace Gallatin:

Writer, book designer; born in Sacramento, Calif.; daughter of Albert and Nemie (Rhodes) Gallatin. She was educated in the Chicago Female College, Packer College Institute of Brooklyn, and privately. She married in New York City, June 1, 1896, Ernest Thompson Seton, and has one daughter. Mrs. Seton is author of: A Woman Tenderfoot, Nimrod's Wife, and magazine articles; of songs: If You Were I and I Were You, Sweetheart, and others. She designed the cover, title page, and several make-ups of the following books; Art Anatomy of Animals; Wild Animals I Have Known; The Trail of the Sandhill Stag; the Biography of a Grizzly; The Wild Animal play; A Woman Tenderfoot; Lives of the Hunted; Pictures of Wild Animals; Two Little Savages; Wood Myth and Fable; Animal Heroes; Nimrod's Wife. She is a member of the Advisory and Library Committees of the School of Applied Design for Women, New York delegate of the League of the American Pen-Women; councillor of the American Civic Association, president for ten years of the Pen and Brush Club, member of the Woman's Press, Wednesday Afternoon, and National Arts Clubs, and the MacDowell Association. Address: "Wyndygoul," Coscob, Conn., and 30 West 44th Street, New York City.

SEVERENS, Henry Franklin:

U. S. circuit judge; born in Rockingham, Vt., May 11, 1835; son of Franklin and Elizabeth (Pulsifer) Severens. He was graduated from Middlebury College, A.B., 1857; studied law for two years, and was admitted to the Vermont bar in 1859. The following year he located in practice at Kalamazoo, Mich., where he has ever since made his home. He was appointed, May 25, 1886, United States district judge for the Western District of Michigan, which office he held until appointed, Feb. 20, 1900, United States Circuit judge for the Sixth Circuit. He received the honorary degree of LL.D. from the University of Michigan in 1897, and from Middlebury College in 1901. Judge Severens married at Medina, N. Y., Dec. 1, 1863, Sarah Clarissa Ryan. Address: Kalamazoo, Mich.

SEVIER, Clara Driscoll:

Author; born in St. Mary's, Texas, April 2, 1881; daughter of Robert and Julia

(Fox) Driscoll. She was educated in Mrs. Gregory's School, San Antonio, Texas, Misses Peebles and Thompson's School, New York City, Chateau Diendonne, France. She married in New York City, July 31, 1906, H. H. Sevier. For years, Mrs. Sevier had her home on her father's extensive 500,000-acre Palo Alto Ranch, in Nueces County, Texas, but spent considerable time in travel, at various times, over Europe and Oriental countries. She became interested in preserving the site of the historic Alamo Mission for the organization of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas, and when the money for its purchase could not be raised otherwise, put up the money for the property, $75,000, herself; was afterward reimbursed by a special act of the Twenty-ninth Texas Legislature, and was made honorary custodian of the Alamo by the organization. Mrs. Sevier is author of: Letters of Travel, Girl of La Gloria, Mexicana (comic opera), In the Shadow of the Alamo. She is a member of the Texas Woman's Press Association, Pen and Brush Club of New York, Texas Historical Association, and Daughters of the Confederacy. Address: 37 Madison Avenue, New York City.

SEWALL, Henry:

Physician; born in Winchester, Va., May 25, 1855; son of Thomas and Julia Elizabeth (Waters) Sewall. He was graduated from Wesleyan University, B.S., 1876, Johns Hopkins University, Ph.D., 1879, University of Michigan, M.D. (honorary), 1888, and the University of Denver, M.D., 1889. He was assistant, fellow and associate in biology, at the Johns Hopkins University, 1876-1881; research student in the Physiological Laboratories of Foster, Cambridge, England, Ludwig in Leipzig, and Kühne in Heidelberg, 1879-1880; professor of physiology in the University of Michigan, 1882-1889; professor of physiology, University of Denver, 1890-1909. He is a member of the Association of American Physicians, American Physiological Society, American Climatological Association, American Medical Association, Colorado State Medical Society, and the University Club of Denver. He is author of numerous researches in physiology and medicine since 1878. He married in Toronto, Canada, Sept. 21, 1887, Isabel Josephine Vickers. Residence: 1360 Vine Street. Office: 433 Majestic Building, Denver, Colo.

SEWARD, Fredrick W.:

Lawyer; born in Auburn, N. Y., July 8, 1830; son of William H. Seward and Frances A. (Miller) Seward. He was graduated from Union College, in 1849. He studied law with Judges Kent and Davies in New York City; was admitted to the New York City bar in 1851; became associate editor and later one of the proprietors of the Albany Evening Journal. In 1861 he was sent from Washington to Philadelphia to warn President Lincoln of a plot to assassinate him in Baltimore; was appointed assistant secretary of State, and held the office during the administrations of Presidents Lincoln and Johnson. His assassination was attempted on the same night that President Lincoln was murdered by Booth. His chief diplomatic work was during Johnson's administration; he was instrumental in carrying through the purchase of Alaska and negotiating a new treaty with China; retired from office in 1869; was elected to New York Legislature, in 1874, and had charge of the bill for the first elevated railroad in New York City. He returned to the State-Department in 1877; introduced reforms in the Consular Service; conducted negotiations securing a Samoan harbor for United States vessels, and aided in developing commercial and diplomatic relations with Oriental powers. He was a member of the International Arbitration Conference at Washington, 1904; presided at the Semi-Centennial of the Republican party at Saratoga, 1904. He is author of a biography of William H. Seward; and Journal of a West Indian Cruise. He married in Albany, Nov. 9, 1854, Anna M. Wharton. Address: Montrose, N. Y.

SEWARD, George Fredrick:

Insurance president; born in Florida, N. Y., Nov. 8, 1840. He was educated in Seward Institute and Union College, from which he received the degree of LL.D. He was consul at Shanghai, 1861-1863; consul-general, 1863-1876; minister to Corea, 1869; minister to China, 1876-1880; on a special mission to Siam, 1867; president of the North China branch of the Royal Asiatic Society, 1865-1867; since 1893, president of the Fidelity and Casualty Company of New York City, and president of Virginia Electrolytic Company. He is member of the American Geographical Society, American Academy of Political and Social Science, American Institute of Civics, American Electro-Chemical Society, American Peace Society, Chamber of Commerce (chairman of Committee on Taxation), Civil Service Reform Association, New England Society of Orange, N. J., Historical Society of New Jersey, National Municipal League, Sons of the Revolution, Union College Alumni Association of New York; trustee of Union College. He holds the decoration of Danish Government (commander of Danebrog) and of the French Government (commander of the Dragon of Annam), vice-president of Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York. He is author of: Chinese Immigration in Its Social and Economic Aspects, 1881 (Scribner); Digest of Taxation System, New York; Rapid Transit in New York and Other Great Cities, 1906. He is a member of the Authors', Lawyers', and Reform Clubs. Mr. Seward married, in 1870, Kate Sherman, daughter of Isaac Sherman of Ohio and California. Address: 99 Cedar Street, New York City.

SEWARD, John Perry:

Physician; born in Philadelphia, Dec. 20, 1868; son of Rev. Samuel S. and Chrissie F. (Kimber) Seward. He was educated in public schools, Gibbens and Beach School, and was graduated from Columbia, A.B., 1890, New York Homeopathic Medical College, M.D., 1893. He was house physician to the National Homeopathic Hospital, Washington, 1893-1894; demonstrator and lecturer on anatomy, New York Homeopathic Medical College, 1894-1900; professor of hygiene and dietetics, New York Medical College for Women, 1899-1901; professor of materia medica, New York Homeopathic Medical College, 1901-1903. He is a member of the American Institute of Homeopathy, New York State and County Homeopathic Medical Societies, Academy of Pathological Science, New York Homeopathic Materia Medica Society, Columbia College Alumni Association, Phi Beta Kappa Society, and the Dunham and Columbia University Clubs. He married in New York City, June 2, 1900, Edith de Charms Hibbard, and they have four children. Address: 200 West 70th Street, New York City.

SEWELL, Albert Henry:

Jurist; born in Hamden, N. Y., Oct. 30, 1847; son of William H. and Celinda Sewell. He was graduated from Cornell, A.B., 1871, and from the Albany Law School, LL.B., in 1873. He engaged in the practice of law at Delhi, N. Y., 1873-1888; was a member of the General Assembly of New York, county judge and surrogate of Delaware County in 1878; and county judge and surrogate of Delaware County, 1889-1899. In 1899 he was nominated by the Republican party, and elected justice of the Supreme Court for the Sixth Judicial District of New York, for the term expiring in 1913. He is a Republican in politics. Judge Sewell married, in 1889, Mary E. Wright. Address: Delhi, N. Y.

SEWELL, Robert van Vorst:

Artist, mural painter; born in New York City, 1860; son of Robert and Sarah (van Vorst) Sewell. He was graduated from Columbia in 1883; art student under Lefebvre and Boulanger in Paris. His work includes the mural paintings in many private residences and public buildings, notably that in the residence of George Gould, at Georgian Court, Lakewood, and in the St. Regis Hotel, New York. He was awarded the first Hallgarten prize of the National Academy of Design, 1888; silver medal at the Pan-American and other exhibitions. He is a member of the Architectural League; associate of the National Academy of Design; member of the Society, Mural Painters, the Municipal Art Society, and of the Century Association and the Union League and Lotos Clubs. He married Lydia Amanda Brewster. Address: 25 West Sixty-seventh Street, New York City.

SEYMOUR, Edmund:

Banker, broker; born in St. Albans, Vt., Oct. 3, 1858; son of Henry Edmund and Susan K. (Hubbell) Seymour. He was educated in St. Albans Academy, and Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., and was graduated from Williams College, B.A., in 1882 (Alpha Delta Phi, captain of football team and president of Athletic Association). He was engaged in the cattle business for eight years; banker and broker at Tacoma, Wash.; in firm of Seymour, Barto & Company, 1889; Seymour Brothers & Company, 1893; now Edmund Seymour & Company, New York City; deals principally in municipal and corporate bonds. He is vice-president and director of the Orleans County Quarry Company; president and director of the Washington State Land Company and of the Ellensburg Water Supply Company; director of St. Albans Furniture Manufacturing Company, and Nebraska Land and Feeding Company. In politics he is a Republican and in religion a Congregationalist. Mr. Seymour is a member of the Board of Governors of the American Bison Society. He is a member of the Alpha Delta Phi Club of New York City; president of The Manor Club of Pelham Manor; member of the Wykagyl Country Club of New Rochelle; treasurer of the Camp Fire Club of New York City. Mr. Seymour married in Plattsburg, N. Y., Sept. 2, 1891, Anne Sprague Beekwith, and they have three children. Summer home: "Bord-de-l'Eau," Chazy, Lake Champlain. Residence: Pelham Manor, N. Y. Office: 45 Wall Street, New York City.

SHACKFORD, Martha Hale:

Educator; born in Dover, N. H., Aug. 25, 1875; daughter of Charles Burnham and Caroline (Cartland) Shackford. She was graduated from public school of Dover, N. H., Wellesley College, B.A., and Yale University, Ph.D., 1901. She was awarded the Cook Poetry Prize at Yale, 1898; taught English at Vassar College, 1898-1899, English literature at Wellesley College since 1901, now being associate professor. She edited: Spenser's Faerie Queene, Book I, Macaulay's Lays of Ancient Rome; author of: A First Book of Poetics, European Literature, and English Literature of the Nineteenth Century (jointly with Margaret Judson, of Composition, Rhetoric, and Literature. She is a member of Modern Language Association of America, and the Phi Beta Kappa Society. Address: Wellesley, Mass.

SHACKLEFORD, Dorsey W.:

Congressman and jurist; born in Saline County, Mo., Aug. 27, 1853. He was a teacher in 1877, 1878 and 1879, during which period he carried on the study of law. He began the practice of that profession at Booneville, Mo., May 9, 1879, served as prosecuting attorney of Cooper County for two terms, 1882-1886, and 1890-1892; was elected and served as judge of the Fourteenth Judicial District of Missouri, June 1, 1892, to Sept. 9, 1899, resigning that office to take his place in the Fifty-sixth Congress, to which he was elected, as a Democrat, Aug. 29, 1899, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Hon. Richard P. Bland. He was elected to the Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses, from the Eighth Missouri District. Judge Shackleford married, Dec. 7, 1887, Florida Hall, of Saline County, Mo., and they have a son and a daughter. Address: Jefferson City, Mo.

SHAFFER, Sara Andrew:

Author; born in La Porte, Ind.; daughter of Dr. George Lafferty and Catherine (Piatt) Andrew. She married in La Porte, Nov. 19, 1884, Carlton Shafer, of Frederick, Md., who died in 1906. Mrs. Shafer is the author of: The Day Before Yesterday, 1904; Beyond Chance of Change, 1905; A White Paper Garden, 1910; three chapters in Historic Towns of the United States, 1901-1902, and is a contributor to The Outlook, The Dial, and other first-class periodicals. She is a member of the La Porte Historical Society, charter manager of the Home for Aged, of Frederick, Md., and a member of the Civic Improvement Association, La Porte. Address: 1250 Monroe Street, La Porte, Ind.

SHAFFER, Newton Melman:

Orthopedic surgeon and philanthropist; born in Kinderhook, N. Y., Feb. 14, 1846; son of Rev. James Newton and Jane Emeline Nielman (Hale) Shaffer. Dr. Shaffer commenced his professional career, in his seventeenth year, leaving the Free Academy, N. Y., to enter as a medical student of the Hospital for the Ruptured and Crippled, on the day it opened its doors to the public, May 1, 1863. He performed the duties of an acting assistant surgeon to the hospital while still an under-graduate, under Dr. James Knight, the founder of the hospital, up to his graduation from the New York University Medical College, March 1, 1867. He was then made the assistant resident surgeon, resigning from this position, Nov. 1, 1868. While performing this work in the hospital he was also associated with his father, the eminent missionary, in the work of the Five Points (old Bowery) Mission. He spent much of his afternoons and evenings in conducting a dispensary in connection with the mission, while still an undergraduate. His experience in this work, during the Civil War from 1863 to 1865, was unique in many respects—a medical service in the midst of crime, misery and squalor at a period when the Five Points was at its worst. Upon leaving the hospital, in 1868, being without capital and wishing a further experience, he associated himself with a younger brother in a drug store enterprise in the 9th Ward, with borrowed money, and at the end of three years' work he had acquired a capital of $5,000. While engaged in this work he was approached by Dr. Charles Fayette Taylor, and Theodore Roosevelt (the father of President Roosevelt), and asked to become an assistant surgeon to the New York Orthopedic Dispensary and Hospital. He accepted this position in 1871. In 1876, upon the resignation of Dr. Taylor, he was made surgeon-in-chief to the hospital, serving as such until 1898, bringing the hospital to a high state of efficiency and reputation, saving the hospital during many critical periods from dissolution, and continuing the great work which was founded by Theodore Roosevelt and Howard Potter. In 1872 he was selected by the authorities of St. Luke's Hospital to inaugurate the methods so successful in the Orthopedic Hospital in this larger and more important institution. His appointment as orthopedic surgeon to St. Luke's Hospital was the first of the kind made in a large general hospital. He resigned in 1884. Dr. Shaffer married, Oct. 15, 1873, Margaret H. Perkins, of Gardiner, Me. Address: 28 East 38th Street, New York City.

SHAFROTH, John F.:

Governor of Colorado; born in Fayette, Mo., June 9, 1854; son of John F. Shafroth. He was graduated from the University of Michigan, B.S., 1875, was admitted to the Missouri bar in 1876, and practised law in Fayette, Mo., until Oct., 1879, when he removed to Denver, where he soon took a prominent place at the bar. He was city attorney of Denver, 1887-1891, and afterward continued in general practice, now being of the law firm of Rogers, Shafroth and Gregg. He also became prominent in politics as a Democrat, and in 1894 he was elected to the Fifty-fourth Congress from the First Colorado District. He was reelected to the Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh and Fifty-eighth Congresses, but an investigation into the election of 1902 disclosing a taint of fraud, Mr. Shafroth declined to be the beneficiary of a questionable election and resigned his seat. In 1908 he was elected governor of Colorado for the two-year term expiring in Jan., 1909. He married in Fayette, Mo., Oct. 26, 1881, Virginia Marrison. Residence: 1537 York Street. Office: McPhree Building, Denver, Colo.

SHAINWALD, Ralph Louis:

Manufacturer; born at Great Falls, N. H., Feb. 8, 1851; son of Nathan and Minna Shainwald. He was educated in New York City public and private schools. Mr. Shainwald began business life in the private bank of Culver, Penn and Company; was later with the Importers' and Traders' National Bank of New York, then removed to San Francisco, Calif., where he remained eleven years, organizing and managing the Vulcan Powder Company, the Tonite Powder Company, the Western Chemical Company, the California Explosive Cap Company, the Paraffine Paint Company. He returned to New York City in 1886 and organized The Standard Paint Company and later the Ruberoid-Gesellschaft of Hamburg, the Ruberoid Company, Limited, of England, and the Compagnie Française du Ruberoid of France. All these organizations have been successful, and the business interests under Mr. Shainwald's executive charge are of international scope and importance. He is president of the Standard Paint Company of New Jersey, Standard Paint Company of Canada, Limited, and chairman of the Ruberoid Company, Limited, of England. Mr. Shainwald is an Independent in politics. He is a member of the Society for Ethical Culture, the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York Chamber of Commerce; trustee of the Packard Commercial School. His favorite recreations are golf and motoring. He is a member of the Lotos, Patria, and Drawing Room Clubs of New York City and the Automobile Club of America. He married in New York City, in 1881, Riette Hart, and they have three children: Ralph L., Jr., Maisie and Marion Dorothy. Residence: 667 Madison Avenue, New York City. Office address: 100 William Street, New York City.

SHALLENBERGER, A. C.:

Governor of Nebraska; elected in Nov., 1908, on the Democratic ticket, for the two-year term expiring in Jan., 1911. Address: Lincoln, Neb.

SHANK, Samuel Herbert:

American consul; born in Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 4, 1871; son of William H. Harrison and Mary E. (Kuhn) Shank. He was graduated from Butler College, Indianapolis, A.B., and from the Indiana Law School, Indianapolis, B.L. Mr. Shank was clerk of the Superior Court of Marion County, Ind., 1899-1903. He was appointed vice and deputy consul at Winnipeg, Nov. 7, 1903, consul there in 1904 and March 30, 1907 American consul at Mannheim, Germany. He married in Minneapolis, Feb. 28, 1907, Norma Romano. Address: American Consulate, Mannheim, Germany.

SHANKLIN, Arnold:

American consul-general to Panama; born in Carrollton, Mo., Jan. 29, 1866; son of Wesley D. and Locke (Arnold) Shanklin. He was graduated from the Law Department of Washington University, St. Louis, LL.B., practised law in Kansas City, Mo., for nine years, and was a St. Louis World's Fair commissioner to the Republic of Mexico. Mr. Shanklin is a member of the American Society of International Law and the National Geographic Society; is a thirty-second degree Mason; is a member of the St. Louis University and Missouri Athletic Clubs of St. Louis and University and Commercial Clubs of Panama. Address: American Consulate-General, Panama, Panama.

SHANTZ, Homer LeRoy:

Botanist; born in Kent County, Mich., Jan. 24, 1876; son of A. K. and Mary E. (Ankney) Shantz. He was educated in Kent County public grammar schools, in Colorado City Grammar School, in Cutler Academy, was graduated from Colorado College, B.Sc., 1901, and received the degree of Ph.D. in 1905, from the University of Nebraska; and he was fellow in botany at the University of Nebraska, in 1903 and 1904. He was instructor in biology in 1901 and instructor, in charge of biology, in 1902 at Colorado College; instructor in botany at the University of Nebraska,

School of Agriculture, 1903-1904; acting instructor in botany, in 1905, instructor in botany, 1906-1907, in the University of Missouri; professor of botany and bacteriology, University of Louisiana, 1908. He was special field agent of the Alkali and Drought — Resistant Plant Breeding Investigations of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, June-Sept., 1907, and collaborator on those investigations, 1907-1908. He was instructor in science at the Colorado Teachers' Institute, Colorado Springs, in 1902, and instructor of botany at the Summer School of the University of Missouri in 1906. He is now expert in alkali and drought-resistant plant breeding investigations, Bureau of Plant Industry of U. S. Department of Agriculture. His chief lines of investigation have been in relation to the vegetation of the Great Plains, the relation of the natural vegetation to crop production, economic botany, and the relation of the plant to the physical factors of its habitat. He is author of: A Study of the Vegetation of the Mesa Region East of Pike's Peak; The Bouteleoua Formation, 1906; Notes on the North American Species of Branchinecta and Their Habitats, 1905, and a Biological Study of the Lakes of the Pike's Peak Region, 1907. He is an associate member of the Botanical Society of America; fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science; member of the Sigma Xi Society, American Microscopical Society, Society of Botanists of the Central States, of the Botanical Society of Washington, and of the American Society of Agronomy. Mr. Shantz married in Oshkosh, Wis., Dec. 25, 1901, Lucia Moore Soper, and they have two children. Address: Bureau of Plant Industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

SHARPLESS, Isaac:

President of Haverford College; born at Chester County, Pa., Dec. 16, 1848; son of Aaron and Susanna (Forsyth) Sharpless. He was graduated from the Lawrence Scientific School of Harvard University, S.B., 1873; and the degree of Sc.D. was conferred upon him by the University of Pennsylvania, that of LL.D. by Swarthmore College, and that of L.H.D. by Hobart College. He was instructor at Westtown School, 1873-1875, resigning in the latter year to take a similar position at Haverford College. In 1879 he was appointed to the chair of mathematics at Haverford College, five years later becoming dean. In 1887 he was appointed to the presidency of that college, which office he still holds. Dr. Sharpless is a member of the Society of Friends. He is author of textbooks in geometry and astronomy and also of the volumes: Quaker Experiment in Government; Two Centuries of Pennsylvania History; Quakerism and Politics; and English Education. He married at West Chester, Pa., Aug. 10, 1876, Lydia T. Cope, and has six children. Address: Haverford, Pa.

SHARTS, Joseph William:

Lawyer and novelist; born in Hamilton, Ohio, Sept. 14, 1875; son of Joseph William and Sarah Belle (Ealy) Sharts. He was graduated from Harvard College with the degree of A.B., 1897, magna cum laude. He is author of: Ezra Caine, The Romance of a Rogue, the Hills of Freedom, The Black Sheep, and other novels. He was a corporal in Company C, First Ohio Infantry, U. S. Volunteers, in the War with Spain; afterward engaging in the practice of law in California. Address: Escondido, San Diego County, Calif.

SHATTUCK, Aaron Draper:

Artist; born in Francetown, N. H., March 9, 1832. He received his general education in the schools of Lowell, Mass., and his art education in the National Academy of Design. The principal subjects of his pictures are landscapes and pastoral scenes. Mr. Shattuck became an academician of the National Academy in 1861, and shares with one other, elected the same year, the distinction of being the oldest living National academician. He is, in addition to his prominence as a painter, well known as the inventor of the standard and convenient "Shattuck" stretcher frames for artists' canvases. Address: Granby, Conn.

SHAW, Albert:

Editor; born in Shandon, Ohio, July 23, 1857; son of Griffin and Susan Shaw. He was graduated from Iowa College in 1879; took a post-graduate course in constitutional history, and a course in history and political science at Johns Hopkins University, receiving the degree of Ph.D. in 1884; and received the degree of LL.D. from the University of Wisconsin in 1904. Mr. Shaw was editorial writer on the Minneapolis Tribune, 1883-1890; student in Europe, 1888-1889; established the American Review of Reviews, in 1891; is president of the Review of Reviews Publishing Company. Mr. Shaw is a member of the Academy of Political and Social Science, American Association of Political Science, Civil Service Reform Association, American Statistical Association, American Historical Association, American Society of International Law, National Municipal League, and other societies, and associations. He is trustee of the General Education Board, the Southern Education Board, and of Iowa College; and was president of the Jury of Awards, Jamestown Exposition, 1907. Mr. Shaw is author of: Icaria, A Chapter in the History of Communism, 1884; Local Government in Illinois, 1883; Coöperation in the Northwest, 1888; Municipal Government in Great Britain, 1895; Municipal Government in Continental Europe, 1895; The Business Career, 1904; Political Problems in American Development, 1907; The Outlook for the Average Man, 1907; and is editor of The National Review, 1888; also numerous articles in American and foreign periodicals. He is a member of the Aldine, Authors', City, Century, Quill, Barnard and National Arts Clubs, the Ohio Society of New York, the Minnesota Society of New York, and the Iowa Society of New York. Mr. Shaw married in Reading, Elizabeth Bacon, and they have two sons. Address: 13 Astor Place, New York City.

SHAW, Charles A.:

Commissioner of the Board of Water Supply of New York City; born at New York Mills, Whitestown, Oneida County, N. Y., Nov. 8, 1839; son of Charles and Isabella Hutchison (Ure) Shaw. He was educated in Whitestown Seminary. After leaving school he became a teacher; then entered the Union Army as private in the Fourteenth New York Heavy Artillery, and served till the end of the war. He entered the office of the Hanover Fire Insurance Company in 1866, passing through various positions of trust, and being appointed assistant secretary in April, 1884; second vice-president, Jan., 1896; vice-president, Jan. 19, 1899, and secretary, Feb. 16, 1899; elected president, May, 1900, which position he resigned in April, 1906, to devote the entire time to his duties as commissioner of the Board of Water Supply of the City of New York, having been appointed to that non-partisan board, June 9, 1905, by Mayor McClellan, as representative of the New York Board of Fire Underwriters. He was secretary of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, from 1902 to 1906; and is a director of the Hanover Fire Insurance Company. He is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, of the State of New York; fellow of the American Geographical Society; National Geographic Society of Washington, D. C., Prince Society of Boston, Society of Old Brooklynites, Brooklyn Masonic Veterans, Rankin Post, Grand Army of the Republic; member of Mistletoe Lodge, Brooklyn, and representative of the Grand Lodge of Masons of Wisconsin. He is also a member of the Masonic Club of New York City, and the Masonic Club of Brooklyn. He married in New York Mills, Aug. 23, 1864, Sarah E. Forsey, who died in Feb., 1901; and they had one son. Residence: The Touraine, Brooklyn. Address: 299 Broadway, New York City.

SHAW, Charles Gray:

Educator; born in Elizabeth, N. J., June 23, 1871; son of Horace Gray and Emma Catherine (Gonge) Shaw. He was graduated from Cornell University, B.L., 1894, from New York University, Ph.D., in 1897, and from Drew Theological Seminary, B.D., 1897. The next two years were spent abroad, when Dr. Shaw pursued studies in philosophy at Jena and Berlin. He has been professor of philosophy in New York University since 1899; and in addition to his academic work he is constantly engaged in the work of public lecturing. He is author of: Christianity and Modern Culture, 1906. He is a member of the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity and the Sphinx Head (Cornell), the American Philosophical Association, Religious Education Association, Society of Mayflower Descendants, Society of Colonial Wars, and the Sons of the Revolution. He married in Ocean Grove, N. J., Sept. 21, 1897, E. Belle Clarke, and they have a daughter. Residence: Morris Heights. Office: New York University, University Heights, New York City.

SHAW, Leslie Mortier:

Financier; born in Morristown, Vt., Nov. 2, 1848; son of Beardman O. and Louisa Shaw. When he was four years of age his people moved to Stowe, Vt., where he received a common school education, with a few terms in the village high school and in People's Academy, at Morristown. When twenty-one years of age he went to Iowa, was graduated from Cornell College, 1874, and from the Iowa College of Law in 1876, having earned the means with which to educate himself. After graduation he located in Dension, county seat of Crawford County, Iowa, and engaged in the practice of law. He was led by the demands of the community into the negotiation of farm loans, and from that into general banking at Dension, at Manilla, and at Charter Oak, in the same county. While keeping the practice of law in the foreground, he was thus kept in touch with financial matters, both East and West. Until 1896 he took no active part in politics, excepting in national campaigns, when he frequently made speeches in defense of the principles of the Republican party. In 1896, at the request of the State Central Committee, he placed his entire time at its disposal. This led to his nomination and election as governor, in 1897, and his reelection in 1899, in which he doubled his previous plurality and quadrupled his previous majority. He peremptorily declined a third term, and planned to return to his law practice and business interests. A few days before the close of his term, however, without solicitation or suggestion from himself or friends, he was tendered the position of secretary of the Treasury, and assumed the duties of that office, Feb. 1, 1902. This latter official position he resigned March 4, 1907, to resume a business career, and is now president of the First Mortgage Guarantee and Trust Company of Philadelphia. Governor Shaw is a prominent layman of the Methodist Episcopal Church, was a delegate to the General Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1884, 1888, 1892 and 1896, and has been a trustee of Cornell College, Iowa, since 1890. He married, Dec. 6, 1877, Alice, daughter of James Cranshaw, of Clinton County, Iowa. Residence: Dension, Iowa, and 340 West 72d Street, New York City. Office: 111 Broadway, New York City.

SHEA, Daniel William:

Professor of physics; born in Portsmouth, N. H., Nov. 27, 1859; son of Timothy and Margaret (McCarthy) Shea. He was educated in public schools of Greenland, N. H., in Brackett Academy, Greenland, N. H., and was graduated from Harvard University, A.B., magna cum laude, 1886, A.M., 1888, and from Friedrich-Wilhelms Universität, Berlin, Germany, Ph.D., 1892. He was assistant in physics, Harvard University, 1889-1892; assistant professor of physics, University of Illinois, 1892-1893; professor of physics in the same institution, 1893-1895; and has been professor of physics in the Catholic University of America, Washington, D. C., since 1895. He was director of the School of Technological Sciences, the Catholic University of America, 1897-1906, secretary-general of the Catholic University of America, 1897-1904; and has been dean of the Faculty of Science of the Catholic University of America since 1906. He has traveled in Ireland, England, Wales, Holland, Germany, Austria, Switzerland, Italy and Canada. He was a member of the New Hampshire General Court, from the town of Greenland, 1886-1888, and is a Demo-erat in politics. He is a member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, American Physical Society, American Association for the Advancement of Science, National Geographic Society, Phi Beta Kappa, Knights of Columbus, American-Irish Historical Society, the University Club of Washington, D. C., and the Mathematical and Physical Club of Boston, Mass. He has published several articles on Electricity and Light in American and German scientific journals. Address: The Catholic University of America, Washington, D. C.

SHEDD, John Graves:

Merchant; born in Alstead, N. H., July 20, 1850; son of William and Abigail (Wallace) Shedd. He was educated in the common schools of Alstead and Langdon, N. H.; began his business career at the age of seventeen, and from that time to the present has been continuously connected with the dry-goods trade, first in Bellows Falls, Vt., for one year, then at Alstead, N. H., 1869-1870, then for two years in a retail dry-goods establishment at Rutland, Vt. In Aug., 1872, he entered the employ of Field, Leiter & Company, in Chicago, remaining with that firm and its successor, Marshall Field and Company, in which he advanced steadily and of which he was vice-president until the death of Mr. Marshall Field, in Jan., 1906, following which he was elected to the presidency of the company, which he now fills. Residence: 4515 Drexel Boulevard. Office: Marshall Field and Company, Adams Street and Fifth Avenue, Chicago.

SHEEDY, Morgan M.:

Catholic clergyman; born in Ireland, Oct. 8, 1853; son of Michael and Mary (Madden) Sheedy. He was educated in St. Colman's College, and Maynooth College, in Dublin, Ireland, 1867-1876, and received the degree of LL.D. from Notre Dame University in 1906. He was ordained in the Pittsburgh Cathedral by Bishop Tuigg, Sept. 22, 1876. Father Sheedy on his ordination was immediately assigned as professor of theology and history in St. Michael's Seminary, where he continued until the closing of that institution. He has been most successful in pastoral work and in Pittsburgh became widely known through his work along educational lines with young men, establishing there a school hall and free library. He has been one of the leaders in the temperance movement; was four years vice-president of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America; and has taken an active part in the development of reading circles and the Catholic Summer School, of which he was first president. He is the author of: Christian Unity; Social Problems; Briefs for Our Times, and a large number of articles on labor and education, and is editor of the Quarterly, a church publication. Father Sheedy is now permanent rector of St. John's Church, Altoona Pa. He is a member of the American Academy of Political and Social Science, the Pittsburgh Academy of Science, the Western Pennsylvania Historical and Philadelphia Historical Societies, and was the founder of the Pittsburgh Polytechnic Society. Address: Altoona, Pa.

SHEEN, Daniel Robinson:

Lawyer; born in Radnor Township, Peoria County, Ill., Nov. 29, 1852; son of Peter and Melissa Sheen. He received a common school and business education, and attended the Normal School for one term. He read law with Ingersoll, Puterbaugh Brothers and McCune, was admitted to the bar in 1874, and has practised at Peoria ever since. He was elected to the House of Representatives of Illinois in 1904, on the Prohibition ticket, and as a candidate in 1907 for mayor of Peoria and on Independent ticket, and with Democrat, Republican and Socialist competing, he held second place. He has served as delegate to several National Prohibition conventions and has taken active part as a speaker in many campaigns. Mr. Sheen is also a popular lecturer. He married at Peoria, Ill., June 28, 1876, Sarah A. Stiehl. Address: Peoria, Ill.

SHEFFIELD, James Rockwell:

Lawyer; born in Dubuque, Iowa, Aug. 13, 1864; son of Frederick W. H. and Sarah (Kellogg) Sheffield. He was educated in Williston Seminary, was graduated from Yale University, A.B., and from Harvard Law School. He was a member of the State Assembly, 1893-1894; president of the Board of Fire Commissioners of New York City, 1895-1898; and was appointed president of the Gas Commission by Governor Higgins, but declined. He is a member of the law firm of Betts, Sheffield & Betts. In politics he is a Republican and in religion a Presbyterian. M. Sheffield is a member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, and trustee of Chestnut Hill Academy. He has been an occasional contributor of articles to magazines. He is a member of the University, Yale, Union League, Republican and Lawyers' Clubs. Mr. Sheffield married, in Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 2, 1898, Edith Todd, and they have one son. Address: 5 William Street, New York City.

SHELBY, David D.:

United States circuit judge; born in Madison County, Ala., Oct. 24, 1847; son of Dr. David and Mary (Boulding) Shelby. He studied law in Cumberland University, Lebanon, Tenn., was admitted to the bar in 1870, and practised at Huntsville, Ala., until appointed by President McKinley, March 2, 1899, judge of the U. S. Circuit Court for the Fifth Judicial Circuit, in which office he is still serving. Judge Shelby was formerly active in politics as a Republican leader, was a member of the Alabama Senate, 1882-1884, and was the Republican nominee for chief justice of Alabama in 1886. He married in Huntsville, Ala., in 1872, Annie Davis. Address: Huntsville, Ala.

SHELDON, John Lewis:

Professor of botany and bacteriology; born in Voluntown, Conn., Nov. 10, 1865; son of Samuel H. and Luey A. (Lewis) Sheldon. He was graduated from Ohio Northern University, B.Pd., B.Sc., 1895; University of Nebraska, B.Sc., 1899, A.M., 1901, and Ph.D., 1903. He was instructor in mathematics, Mt. Hermon School, 1892-1894; instructor in botany, Preparatory School to the State University (Nebraska), 1898-1899; acting head of the Department of Biology, Nebraska State Normal School, 1899-1900; instructor in botany, University of Nebraska, 1900-1903; fellow in botany, 1900-1903; professor of bacteriology and bacteriologist of the West Virginia Agricultural Experiment Station, 1903-1907, and professor of botany and bacteriology at the University of West Virginia since 1907, also collaborator to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Professor Sheldon is a member of the Sigma Xi fraternity, fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, associate member of the Botanical Society of America; honorary member of the Kappa Psi fraternity, Monongalia County Medical Society, and the American Health League. He married in Hopkins, Mo., Aug. 21, 1907, Clara Adams Fleming, and they have one son. Address: Morgantown, W. Va.

SHEPARD, Charles Sidney:

Capitalist, manufacturer; born in Buffalo, N. Y., July 29, 1856; son of Sidney and Elizabeth DeAngelis (Wells) Shepard. He was graduated from Yale, A.B., 1878, and Hamilton College, LL.B., 1879. After Admission to the New York State Bar in 1879, was in the law office of Marshall, Clinton and Wilson, Buffalo; then became a partner in Sidney Shepard and Company of Buffalo, manufacturers, taking active interest in the management. He was relieved of this in 1891, but was partner until 1905, when the firm became The Republic Metalware Company. After his father's death in 1893, he succeeded to many of the latter's positions of trust, and to the care of his estate he has since devoted his time. Mr. Shepard is a special partner of S. D. Loring and Son, bankers, of Boston; director and chairman of The Republic Metalware Company of Buffalo, and director of the Western Union Telegraph Company; Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company; Continental Trust Company of Baltimore; International Trust Company of Maryland, Baltimore; the Savannah Trust Company, Savannah, Ga.; the Cumberland Corporation; Carolina, Clinchfield and Ohio Railway; the Electric Properties Company; United Railways Investment Company, and the Seaboard Air Line Railway. He is a trustee of Cornell University, member of the Delta Kappa, Phi Theta Psi, Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternities, the Phi Beta Kappa Society, the Buffalo and Saturn Clubs of Buffalo, the Fortnightly Club of Oswego, and the University and Lawyers' Clubs of New York City. Address: New Haven, Oswego County, N. Y.

SHEPARD, Edward Martin:

Geologist and educator; born in West Winsted, Conn., May 15, 1854; son of Samuel and Mary Isabella (Dennis) Shepard. He was educated in Russell's Collegiate and Military Institute, New Haven, Conn., Williams College, Mass., A.B., 1878, A.M., 1881; Peabody Academy of Science, Salem, Mass.; and he received the degree of Sc.D. from Waynesburg College in 1902. He was curator of the Museum of Roanoke College, Va., 1877-1878; professor of natural history in Waynesburg College, Pa., 1878. He then went to Drury College, Springfield, Mo., in which he was professor of biology and geology, 1878-1907, professor of geology and mineralogy, 1907-1908; acting president of Drury College, 1893-1894, and in the summer of 1907, and dean of the college faculty, 1903-1908, following which service he took a trip around the world, having also, ten years before, traveled extensively among the Pacific Islands and to Australia, Tasmania and New Zealand. He is editor of the Bulletin of the Geological Field, and is author of: Systematic Mineral Record (A. S. Barnes & Co., New York); Table for Plant Analysis, Springfield, Mo.; Report on the Geology of Greene and Portions of Polk, Dallas and Webster Counties, Mo., Volume XII, Missouri Geological Survey; papers in Bulletins of the U. S. Geological Survey—notably Bulletin 190 on The Underground Waters of Missouri; article on The New Madrid Earthquake, in the Journal of Geology, Jan., 1905; and geological papers in various journals. Professor Shepard is a member of the American Institute of Mining Engineers; fellow of the Geological Society of America; member of the American Mining Congress, and National Geographic Society; member and delegate to the Tenth International Congress of Geologists, Mexico. He is an assistant geologist of the Missouri Geological Survey; was a member of the Board of Managers, 1893, vice-president, 1901-1906, secretary, 1906, and acting State geologist, 1901. He was field assistant of the U. S. Geological Survey, Department of Hydrology, in charge of Missouri, 1903-1907. Professor Shepard is also consulting geologist to the Sphalerite Mining Company of Aurora, Mo. He is historian of the Missouri Society of Sons of the Revolution; lieutenant-governor of the Missouri Society of Colonial Wars, and a member of the Missouri Historical Society, the Springfield Club and the Springfield Country Club (vice-president). He married in Madison, N. J., June 28, 1881, Harriett Elma Ohlen, and they have two children. Address: 1403 Benton Avenue, Springfield, Mo.

SHEPARD, Edward Morse:

Lawyer; born in New York City, July 23, 1850; son of Lorenzo B. and Lucy (Morse) Shepard. He was educated in public schools, the preparatory school of Oberlin (Ohio) College, the College of the City of New York, A.B., 1869; and he has received the degree of LL.D. from Washington and Lee University, Williams' College and Tulane University. As special attorney-general he directed the prosecution of the famous boss, John Y. McKane, and twenty other offenders, for ballot-box stuffing at Gravesend, Coney Island, in 1893. He is active in Democratic and reform politics; was chairman of the Civil Service Board of Brooklyn; was a leader in the Democratic Reform Party, Brooklyn, 1892-1893; was Democratic candidate for mayor of New York in 1901; and is a promoter of tariff reform, civil service reform, ballot reform, tax reform, and other reforms. Mr. Shepard is president and director of the Berkshire Apartment Association; director of the Alvarez Land and Timber Company, Brooklyn Academy of Music, Brooklyn Trust Company, Coahuila Coal Railroad Company; Compania Metallurgical Mexicana, Mexican Coal and Coke Company, Mexican Mineral Railway Company, Mexican Northern Railway Company, Montezuma Lead Company, Morristown and Erie Railroad Company; Patterson, the Gottfried and Hunter Company, Potosi and Rio Verde Railway Company; Sombrete Mining Company; Teziutlan Copper Company, and the Tetziutlan Copper Mining and Smelting Company. He is chairman of the Board of Trustees of the College of the City of New York; vice-president of the Winifred Masterson Burke Relief Foundation, and trustee of the Packer Collegiate Institute. Mr. Shepard is author of: A Life of Martin Van Buren, and monographs, articles and addresses on social, economic, political and historical subjects. He is vice-president of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, a member of the Century, University, Alpha Delta Phi, and Reform Clubs of New York City and the Hamilton and University Clubs of Brooklyn. Residence: 44 Pierrepont Street, Brooklyn. Office: 128 Broadway, New York City.

SHEPARD, Frederick M.:

Manufacturer, merchant; born in Norfolk, Conn., Sept. 24, 1827; son of John A. and Margaret (Mills) Shepard. He was educated in the public schools and Norfolk Academy. He is president of the Goodyear Rubber Company, Rubber Clothing Company, Lambertville Rubber Company, Orange Water Company, Norfolk Water Company; director of the United States Rubber Company, Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company of Newark, N. J.; president of the East Orange Safe Deposit and Trust Company; member of the New England Society of Orange, N. J.; Metropolitan Museum of Art; president of the Essex County Park Commission and the Advisory Board of Orange Memorial Hospital. He married at Colebrook, Conn., Sept. 28, 1854, Annie C. Rockwell, and they have three sons and two daughters. Residence: East Orange, N. J. Address: 787 Broadway, New York City.

SHEPARD, Seth:

Jurist; born in Washington County, Texas, April 23, 1847; son of Chauncey Berkeley Shepard, who was one of the early settlers of Texas, and of Mary Hester (Andrews) Shepard. After attending private schools, and a short time in the Texas Military Institute at Bastrop, he enlisted July 4, 1864, in the Fifth Texas Mounted Volunteers, in the Confederate States Army, and served until the surrender. He then entered Washington College in Virginia (now Washington and Lee University), and was graduated, B.L., 1868. He practised law at Brenham, Galveston and Dallas, Texas, from admission in 1869, and held a leading place at the Texas bar until appointed by President Cleveland in 1893, as one of the associate justices of the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia, from which position he was promoted Jan. 5, 1905, to his present office as chief justice of that court. Judge Shepard is a Democrat, and in 1874 was elected to the State Senate of Texas; and was a member of the Board of Regents of the University of Texas, 1883-1891. Georgetown University conferred upon Judge Shepard the degree of LL.D. in 1895, and in the same year he was appointed a lecturer on constitutional law, equity jurisprudence, and the law of corporations in the School of Law of Georgetown University, in which connection he continues. Judge Shepard is a fellow of the Texas Historical Association, the Southern Historical Association, United Confederate Veterans, Sons of the American Revolution, Society of Mayflower, Descendants, and the American Bar Association, and is president of the Southern Industrial Educational Association. He married, first, Jan. 18, 1882, Caroline Nelson Goree, and second, March 25, 1890, Etta K. Jarvis. Address: 1447 Massachusetts Avenue, Washington, D. C.

SHEPPARD, John Evans:

Physician; born in Greenwich, N. J., June 1, 1859; son of George Wood and Ruth (Bacon) Shepard. He was educated in Yardley Warner Private School, Germantown, Pa., 1868-1871, Westtown Boarding School, 1872-1874; graduated from Harvard College, A.B., 1879, and University of Pennsylvania, M.D., 1882. He was interne at the Pennsylvania and University Hospitals, Philadelphia, 1882-1883, in general practice in Atlantic City, N. J., 1883-1888, and while there attending physician to Mercer Memorial Home, and the Sea Shore Annex of Friends Insane Asylum of Frankford, Pa., also a term as health officer, and in special practice of the ear, nose and throat in Brooklyn, since 1889. He is a director of the Borough Bank of Brooklyn, and the Brooklyn Development Company. He is a member of the American Otological Society, American Laryngological, Rhinological and Otological Society, American Academy of Medicine, American Medical Association, New York Otological Society, New York State Medical Society, Kings County Medical Society, Kings County Pathological Society, the Associated Physicians of Long Island, trustee of the Kings County Medical Society (president in 1904, 1905); member of the Hamilton, Dyker Meadow Golf, Long Island Automobile, and the Winter's Night Clubs. He married in Brooklyn, Aug. 11, 1894, Janet A. Campbell, and they have a daughter. Residence: 37 Pierrepont Street. Office: 130 Montague Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

SHEPPARD, Morris:

Congressman and lawyer; born at Wheatville, Morris County, Texas, May 28, 1875; son of John Levi and Alice (Eddins). He was graduated from the University of Texas, A.B., 1895, LL.B., 1897; entered the University of Texas in 1891, taking the degrees of A.B. in 1895, and LL.B. in 1897; was commencement orator in the academic department, University of Texas, 1895; entered Yale University in 1897, taking the degree of LL.M., 1898, winning Wayland prize debate, Yale Law School, 1898 and delivering the master's oration at the commencement of Yale Law School, 1898 and was elected a member of the Phi Beta Kappa (Alpha of Texas) in 1904. He has been sovereign banker, or national treasurer of the Woodmen of the World since 1899, and was elected the first president of the Texas Fraternal Congress at Dallas, 1901. He began the practice of law at Pittsburg, Texas, in 1898, and moved to Texarkana in 1899. He has been a National campaign speaker for Democratic nominees since 1903. He was elected to the Fifty-seventh Congress to fill out the unexpired term of his father, the Hon. John L. Shepard, deceased; also elected to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses from the First Texas District. Address: Texarkana, Texas.

SHEPPARD, William B.:

U. S. district judge; born in Liberty County, Fla., Oct. 4, 1860; son of Joseph and Cynthia (McAlilly) Sheppard. After pursuing literary and law courses in the University of North Carolina he was admitted to the bar and practised law at Apalachicola, Fla. He became prominent in politics as a Republican, served as collector of customs through the Benjamin Harrison administration, 1889-1894, and the first McKinley administration, 1897-1901; was mayor of Apalachicola, Fla., 1894; was appointed by President Roosevelt U. S. district attorney for the Northern District of Florida, serving, 1903-1907, and was appointed Sept. 5, 1907, to his present office as judge of the United States District Court for the Northern District of Florida. Address: Pensacola, Fla.

SHERLEY, Swagar:

Congressman and lawyer; born in Louisville, Ky., Nov. 28, 1871; son of Thomas H. and Ella (Swagar) Sherley. He studied law in the University of Virginia, and was graduated, B.L., 1891; was admitted to the practice of law, September, 1891, at the Louisville bar, and has practised continuously in State and Federal courts since. He was admitted to the bar of the Supreme Court of the United States, 1898. Mr. Sherley was elected to the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses from the Fifth Kentucky District, as a Democrat. Residence: 207 West Breckenridge Street. Office: Louisville Trust Building, Louisville, Ky.

SHERMAN, Elijah Bernis:

Master in chancery of the U. S. Circuit Court; born in Fairfield, Vt., June 18, 1832; son of Elias Huntington and Clarissa (Wellmarth) Sherman; descendant of Samuel Sherman of Dedham, England, who settled in Stratford, Conn., in 1634, and on the maternal side from the Welsh pioneer, patriot and preacher, Peter Worden. He was graduated from the Middlebury College, Vt., A. B., with honors, 1860, A.M., and later receiving its degree of LL.D.; and was afterward engaged in teaching for two years, enlisting in the spring of 1862 in Company C, Ninth Vermont Infantry, of which he was elected second lieutenant. The regiment captured at Harper's Ferry, paroled and sent to Camp Douglas, Chicago. Weary of enforced idleness he resigned in Jan. 1863, began the study of the Law and was graduated from the Law Department of the University of Chicago, LL.B., 1864. He was admitted to the Illinois bar, 1864, and to the bar of the Supreme Court of the United States in 1880; was attorney for the auditor of Illinois, 1877-1889; and since 1879 has been master in chancery of the U. S. Circuit Court. He was a member of the Illinois Legislature, 1876-1880; and served eight years as lieutenant-colonel and judge advocate of the First Brigade, Illinois National Guard. He has been president of the Illinois State Bar Association, vice-president of the American Bar Association; is a member of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, and the Grand Army of the Republic; a 32d-degree Mason, and a past grand master of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows. Mr. Sherman was the president from 1893 to 1900, and ever since that time he has been honorary president of the Delta Upsilon fraternity; is a member of the Union League and Delta Upsilon Clubs of Chicago, and has been president of the New England Society of Chicago, the Illinois Association of the Sons of Vermont, the Saracen Club, Alliance Club, and the Oakland Culture Club of Chicago; and he is a trustee of Middlebury College, Vt. Mr. Sherman married in Chicago, Sept. 7, 1866, Harriet Gertrude Lovering, of Iowa Falls, Iowa, and they have one son. Residence: 3985 Drexel Boulevard. Office: Federal Building, Chicago.

SHERMAN, Frank Dempster:

Professor of graphics; born in Peekskill, N. Y., May 6, 1860; son of John Dempster and Lucy (MacFarland) Sherman. He was graduated from the School of Mines, Columbia University, Ph.B., 1884, post-graduate 1884-1885, Harvard University. He is author of: Madrigals and Catches; Lyrics for a Lute, Little-folk Lyrics, Lyrics of Joy, New Waggings of Old Tales (with John Kendrick Bangs), and a Southern Flight (with Clinton Scotland). He is a member of the Century Club of New York, National Institute of Arts and Letters, and the Psi Upsilon fraternity of Columbia. He married in Peekskill, N. Y., Nov. 16, 1887, Juliet Merscreau Durand, and they have one son. Residence: 158 West 105th Street. Office: Columbia University, New York City.

SHERMAN, Gordon Edward:

Lawyer; born in Morristown, N. J., Aug. 11, 1854; son of Byron and Julia A. (Burnham) Sherman; his lineal ancestor on his father's side was a graduate of Emmanuel College, Bainbridge, England; and on that of his mother of Oxford University. He began his education in College Gillard, Lausanne, Switzerland; and was graduated from the Sheffield Scientific School (Yale), Ph.B., 1876 and from Washington University Law School, St. Louis, LL.B. 1878. He was admitted to the New Jersey bar in 1879, and the New York bar in 1885. Mr. Sherman was instructor at Yale University in comparative constitution of law and the German imperial code, 1906-1907. He served for some years as secretary of a local improvement society at Morris Plains, where he owns extensive real estate interests. He brought to light in the Yale Law Journal, in 1905, the case of Chandler vs. The Secretary of War, the first case in which the U. S. Supreme Court ever held an act of Congress void, because repugnant to the United States Constitution. This case was known to Chief Justice Marshall, but had remained lost to the legal profession for a century. He has also contributed other articles on comparative constitutional law, citizenship, etc., to the Yale Law Journal. Mr. Sherman is a member of the Morristown Civic Association, of the New Jersey Historical Society, the American Historical Association, the American Political Science Association, the American Society of International Law, the New York State Bar Association, the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, the American Bar Association (of whose Comparative Law Bureau he is the editor for Switzerland), the International Association of Comparative Jurisprudence and Political Economy of Berlin, Prussia. In politics he is a Republican, and he belongs to the Presbyterian Church. He has sailed twice around the Cape of Good Hope, and has traveled extensively in Switzerland, France, Germany and England. He is a trustee of the Morris County Bar Association, of the South Street Presbyterian Church of Morristown, and is a director of the Morristown Memorial Hospital. He married in Morristown, N. J., June 12, 1894, Harriet E. Shelton. Residence: Ogden Place. Office: Morristown, N. J.

SHERMAN, Henry Handrick:

Lawyer; born in Lynn, Pa., Jan. 4, 1860; son of Henry N. and Estella Theresa (Handrick) Sherman. He was graduated from the College of the City of New York and the Law School of Columbia College; and was admitted to the bar in New York City, in 1883. For several years he was a clerk in the law office of Governor Samuel J. Tilden, and he has practised in the New York Courts since 1883. Mr. Sherman was associated in law practice for many years with Hon. Charles F. MacLean, now justice of the Supreme Court of New York. He was private secretary to Mayor Abram S. Hewitt, 1887-1888, under sheriff. 1895-1897, deputy register, 1903-1905, and member of the Board of Education, 1906-1907. Mr. Sherman is trustee of the Normal College of the City of New York; treasurer of the General Church Club of the Bronx; member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, Association of the Bar of the Borough of the Bronx, Royal Arcanum, and of the Schnorer and Bronx Clubs, being secretary of the latter. He married in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., March 31, 1888, Jessie Wheaton Rhodes, and they have three children. Address: 1006 Trinity Avenue, New York City.

SHERMAN, James Schoolcraft:

Vice-President of the United States; born in Utica, N. Y., Oct. 24, 1855; son of Richard W. and Mary Francis Sherman. He was graduated from Hamilton College in the class of 1878; was admitted to the bar in 1880, and has since been engaged in the practice of law. He is president of the Utica Trust and Deposit Company, and president of the New Hartford Canning Company. Mr. Sherman was mayor of Utica, 1884; delegate to the Republican National Convention in 1892; chairman of New York State Republican Convention in 1895 and again in 1900. He was elected to the Fiftieth, Fifty-first, Fifty-third, Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth Congresses from the Twenty-seventh New York District. In 1908 he was nominated for the vice-presidency on the Republican ticket and took an active part in the campaign, and elected for the term ending March 3, 1913. Residence: Utica, N. Y. Official address: Washington, D. C.

Sherman Philemon Tecumseh:

Lawyer; born in St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 9, 1867; son of General William T. and Ellen (Ewing) Sherman. He was graduated from St. Louis University, A.B., 1886, from Yale, Ph.B., 1888, and studied in the Columbia Law School until 1890. That year he was admitted to the bar in New York and is now a member of the law firm of Taft and Sherman. He was alderman of New York City, 1898-1899, and he was commissioner of labor of the State of New York, 1905 to 1907. Mr. Sherman is author of: Inside the Machine. He is a member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, the Ohio Society; a member of the Board of Managers of the State Charities Aid Association; treasurer of the Anti-policy Society, and a member of the Union League of New York City, the Metropolitan Club of Washington, and the Fort Orange and University Clubs of Albany. Address: 15 William Street, New York City.

SHERRILL, Charles Hitchcock:

American minister to the Argentine Republic; born in Washington, D. C., April 13, 1867; son of Charles Hitchcock and Sarah Fulton (Wynkoop) Sherrill. He was graduated from Yale, A.B., 1889, LL.B., 1891, A.M., 1892. He engaged in the general practice of law in New York City, but chiefly corporation practice. He was colonel and aide-de-camp on the staff of Governor Higgins, also for four years aide-de-camp on the staff of Governor Odell. He has always been interested in politics. In the two McKinley campaigns he organized the Lawyers' Sound Money Club, and was one of the committee of five that conducted the monster business parades of those two campaigns. He was also, during the Roosevelt campaign, one of the committee of five in charge of the Business Men's Republican Association, and its third vice-president. He was appointed by President Taft, March 25, 1909, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to the Argentine Republic. Colonel Sherrill is a member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, Sons of the Revolution, Colonial Wars, Founders and Patriots, War of 1812, and the Delta Kappa Epsilon Association. He is much interested in athletic sports, being chairman of Yale Graduate Advisory Committee on Track Athletics. He was the originator of the idea of international inter-university track athletic meetings, having arranged the Yale-Oxford match in London in 1894, and the Yale-Cambridge match in New York City in 1895. He won the intercollegiate championship for 100-yards four years; 220-yards three years, and the American 100-yard championship in 1887. He is a member of the University, Union League, Yale, Army and Navy, and New York Athletic Clubs; Luncheon Club of New York; Metropolitan Club of Washington; Graduates' Club of New Haven, and the Sports, Isthmian, and Leander Clubs of London. He married, Feb. 8, 1906, G. B. Gibbs. Home: 20 East Sixty-fifth Street. Official address: American Legation, Buenos Aires, Argentina.

SHERWOOD, Bradford Wyckoff:

Physician and surgeon; born in Jamesville, N. Y., April 18, 1859; son of Bradford and Adelaide (Wyckoff) Sherwood. He was graduated from the Syracuse Classical School, 1877, Hamilton College, A.B., 1882, A.M., 1885, Hahnemann Medical College of Philadelphia, M.D., 1890, and the Philadelphia Lying In Charity. He has been practicing medicine in Syracuse since 1890, his specialty being general surgery; also prominent in public health questions; chairman of the Health Committee, Syracuse Chamber of Commerce, 1907-1908, and vice-president of the New York State Homoeopathic Medical Society, 1905-1906; ex-president of the Medico Chirurgical Society, member of the Onondaga County Medical Society, Medico-Chirurgical Society, New York State Homoeopathic Medical Society, American Institute of Homoeopathy; director of Syracuse Chamber of Commerce, 1907-1908, 1909-1910; member of the Theta Delta Chi fraternity; is a Mason and a member of the University Club of Syracuse. He married in Syracuse, Nov. 1, 1883, Cora L. Poland, and they have three children. Address: 1117 South Salina Street, Syracuse, N. Y.

SHERWOOD, Isaac R.:

Journalist and congressman; born in Stanford, Dutchess County, N. Y., Aug. 13, 1835; son of Aaron and Maria (Yeomans) Sherwood, and descendant of Dr. Thomas Sherwood, who sailed from Ipswich, England, in 1634, and settled at Fairfield, Conn. General Sherwood was educated at the Hudson River Institute, Claversack, N. Y., Antioch College, Ohio, and Ohio Law College, Poland, Ohio. He bought the Williams County Gazette, Bryan, Ohio, and was elected probate judge of Williams County in 1860. On April 16, 1861, the day following President Lincoln's call for volunteers, he enlisted as a private in the 14th Ohio Volunteer Cavalry, in which he served in the first battles of the war: Philippi, Laurel Mountain, and Carriek's Ford. He recruited the 11th Ohio Volunteer Infantry, and was mustered in with his regiment at Toledo, and made adjutant, Sept. 11, 1862. He was promoted major, Feb. 14, 1863; lieutenant-colonel, Feb. 2, 1864; colonel, Sept. 8, 1864. Owing to detail or sickness of ranking officers he commanded the regiment throughout its entire field service, beginning with the John Morgan campaign in Kentucky, in 1863, to the muster out in July, 1865, embracing over thirty battles and engagements, and, Feb. 16, 1865, he was brevetted brigadier-general by President Lincoln for long and faithful service and conspicuous gallantry at the battles of Resaca, Franklin and Nashville. After the war he was editor of the Toledo Commercial, and later editorial writer for the Cleveland Leader. He was elected in 1868, and reelected 1870, secretary of State of Ohio, serving four years; and he was elected in 1872 to the Forty-third Congress, from the Sixth Ohio District. He bought the Toledo Journal and edited it for nine years. He was elected probate judge of Lucas County, Ohio, in 1878, on the National ticket, and was reelected in 1881, as a Democrat and Independent, serving six years. He was elected to the Sixtieth Congress in 1906, as an independent Democrat, and reelected in 1908 to the Sixty-first Congress. General Sherwood has been a continuous contributor of political and historic articles to newspapers and magazines, and his Army Gray Back (illustrated poem) was published in book form and ran through three editions. He is a member of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, Grand Army of the Republic, Society of the Army of the Ohio, and Society of the Army of the Cumberland. He married in Poland, Ohio, Sept. 1, 1859, Kate M. Brownlee. Address: 2123 Ashland Avenue, Toledo, Ohio.

SHERWOOD, Kate Brownlee:

Editor; born in Poland, Ohio, Sept. 24, 1841; daughter of Judge James and Rebecca (Mullen) Brownlee. She was educated in the Poland Union Seminary, and married in Poland, Ohio, Sept. 1, 1859, Isaac R. Sherwood, by whom she has a son and a daughter. Mrs. Sherwood has been a constant contributor to magazines and newspapers, and is especially well known as a poet and song-writer. Her verse has appeared in many of the magazines and in several standard anthologies, and she has also published two volumes: Camp Fire and Memorial Poems; and Dream of the Ages, a Poem of Columbia. Mrs. Sherwood has also made numerous translations from the French and German. She has taken an active part in the Woman's Relief Corps of the Grand Army of the Republic, in which she has served as national organizer and as the second national president. She is honorary president of the Ohio Newspaper Women's Association; is chairman of the committee on citizenship of the National Council of Women of the United States. She is active in women's clubs and the Daughters of the American Revolution. Address: 2133 Ashland Avenue, Toledo, Ohio.

SHERWOOD, Margaret Pollock:

Author and college professor; born in Ballston, N. Y., Nov. 1, 1864; daughter of Thomas Burr and Mary Frances (Beatrice) Sherwood. She was graduated from Vassar College, B.A., 1886, University of Zurich and Oxford, 1888, and Yale University, Ph.D., 1898. She is author of: An Experiment in Altruism, Henry Worthington, Story of King Sylvain and Queen Aimee, Daphne, The Coming of the Tide, and the Princess Pourquai, and contributions to magazines: Scribner's, the Atlantic, and McClure's. She is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society. Address: Wellesley, Mass.

SHERWOOD-DUNN, Berkeley:

Banker; born at Rushford, Allegheny County, N. Y.; son of William Erwin and Harriet Isabella (Peterson) Dunn. He was educated in New York University, the University of France, Paris, graduating as bachelier-ès-lettres, 1887; bachelier-ès-sciences, 1888. He practised medicine in Paris, France, 1888-1895; and traveled over continental Europe and all over the United States. He was appointed American member of the committee to revise the laws governing foreign students admitted to the University of France, in 1892; was one of the founders and director of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, Paris; delegate from the U. S. Government to the International Medical Congress, Amsterdam, Holland, 1897; reëntered business, 1898; was part owner and editor of Annals of Gynecology and Pædiatry, Boston, 1898. He is author of: Medical Education in France; How I Married in France; Mothers and Daughters; The Sociological Aspect of the Dreyfus Case; Gynecic Surgery in Its Relation to Nervous Diseases; From Obscurity to Fame in One Day. He is now president and a director of the New Jersey and Delaware Railroad Company; director of the Delaware and Northampton Railroad, Bankers' Life Insurance Company, Quaker Portland Cement Company, Lehigh Construction Company; vice-president and director of the First National Bank of Aiken, S. C., and director of the Aiken Savings Bank and of the Bank of Wagner, S. C. He was elected foreign corresponding member of the Société Obstétrique et Gynécologique de Paris, 1895; member of the Société Clinique des Praticiens de France; member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, American Geographical Society, American Association of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, American Forestry Association, Alumni Society of New York University, Société de l'Alliance Française de New York. He was decorated by the French Government, 1893, with the cross of Officier d'Académie Française. Dr. Sherwood-Dunn is a member of the Automobile Club of America, Lawyers', and the New York Athletic Clubs. He married at Nice, France, 1892, Louise Lacy Knapp, daughter of Royal C. Knapp of Rochester, N. Y., and they have four children. Residence: Montclair, N. J.; winter, Aiken, S. C.

SHINN, Florence Scovel:

Illustrator; born in Camden, N. J.; daughter of Alden Cortlandt and Emily (Hopkinson) Scovel. She married in Philadelphia, 1898, Everett Shinn. Among the books she illustrated are: The Autobiography of a Tom-boy, The Tom-boy at Work, Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch, Lovey Mary, The Mennonite Maid, Coniston, The Van Dwellers, The Talking Woman. Address: 112 Waverly Place, New York City.

SHIPLEY, George:

Editor of the Baltimore American; born in Baltimore, March 13, 1867; son of Rev. J. Lester and Elizabeth Augusta (Gere) Shipley. He was graduated from Randolph-Macon College, A.B., 1887, A.M., 1888, Ph.D. from Johns Hopkins University, 1897, received the mathematical prize from Randolph-Macon in 1887, and prizes in English in 1888. He taught in various schools, 1888-1891 and 1894-1897, and editor of The American since 1897. He is a member of the Modern Language Association, of the Advisory Council of the Simplified Spelling Board, the Phi Beta Kappa Society, and Beta Theta Pi fraternity, also a member of the University Club of Baltimore, and the Baltimore Country, and Johns Hopkins Clubs. Address: 801 North Charles Street, Baltimore.

SHIPP, Scott:

Soldier, educator; born in Warrenton, Va., Aug. 2, 1839; son of John and Lucy Blackwell (Scott) Shipp. He was educated in Westminster College, the Virginia Military Institute, and Lexington Law School, and received the LL.D. degree from Washington and Lee University. He was a civil engineer for one year; assistant professor of Latin at the Virginia Military Institute; was commandant and superintendent of the Virginia Military Institute. He is a director of the Bank of Lexington, Va., trustee of the Ann Smith Academy; was member of the Board of Visitors of the U. S. Military Academy, in 1890, and president of the Board of Visitors of the U. S. Naval Academy in 1894. He is a Democrat and an Episcopalian. General Shipp married in Warrenton, Va., Aug. 19, 1869, Anne Alexander Morson, and they have three children. Address: Virginia Military Institute, Lexington, Va.

SHIPPEN, Rush Rhees:

Clergyman; born in Meadville, Pa., Jan. 18, 1828; son of Henry Shippen, a judge, and Elizabeth Wallis (Evans) Shippen. He was graduated from Meadville, Pa., private school, Allegheny College as A.M., and Meadville Theological School. He taught school one year and eight months; minister of the First Unitarian Church of Chicago, 1849-1857; preached a year at Meadville, minister of Unity Church, Worcester, Mass., 1858-1871; secretary of American Unitarian Association of Boston, 1871-1881; minister of All Souls Church, Washington, 1881-1895; minister of Unity Church, Brocton, Mass., 1895-1905, and since 1905 has been retired, spending most of his time in Europe. He married in Oriskany Falls, N. Y., Oct. 10, 1855, Zoe Rodman, and they have two children. Address: 295 Ash Street, Brocton, Mass.

SHIRLAW, Walter:

Artist; born in Paisley, Scotland, Aug. 6, 1838, and was brought to the United States when two years old. After completing his courses in the public schools, he was apprenticed to a bank-note engraver, and worked at that occupation until 1861. He studied painting, making his first exhibit at the exhibition of the National Academy of Design in 1861, since which time he has been professionally engaged as an artist. Mr. Shirlaw studied and worked in Munich, Bavaria, 1870-1877. He makes a specialty of genre paintings and has also done much illustration, and has executed many important commissions for decorative work. He was elected associate in 1887, and academician since 1888, of the National Academy of Design; and was one of the organizers and first president of the Society of American Artists. Address: 39 West 25th Street, New York City.

SHIVELY, Benjamin F.:

U. S. senator from Indiana; born in St. Joseph, Ind., March 20, 1857. He was graduated from the University of Michigan, LL.B., 1886, afterward taught school, and later engaged in journalism. He was elected to the Forty-eighth Congress to fill a vacancy, and was afterward elected to the Fiftieth, Fifty-first and Fifty-second Congresses, serving 1887-1893. Mr. Shively has long been a leader of the Indiana Democracy; was the Democratic nominee for governor in 1896, and received the Democratic vote for United States senator in the Indiana Legislature, in 1903, 1905 and 1909, being elected in the latter session for the term expiring March 3, 1915. Address: South Bend, Ind.

SHOEMAKER, Henry Francis:

Capitalist; born at Orwigsburg, Pa., March 28, 1845; son of John Wise and Mary A. (Brock) Shoemaker. He was graduated from the Genesee Seminary, Lima, N. Y., in 1861, and received an appointment to the U. S. Naval Academy, but entered the Army instead, at the opening of the Civil War; was on the staff of General McClelland, 1861-1862, and commissioned first lieutenant of the Twenty-sixth Pennsylvania Regiment in 1863. He was engaged in the anthracite coal business, 1865-1881; was interested in railroads for many years; chairman of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railway, 1887-1904; chairman of the Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific Railway, 1899-1904; and is now a director of the Trust Company of America, the Chatham National Bank, Night and Day Bank, and Battery Park National Bank, all of New York; the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railway Company, Pere Marquette Railway Company, New River Coal Company of Ohio, the People's Bank and Trust Company of New Jersey, and other corporations. He is a director of the Good Samaritan Dispensary of New York, a member of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, and also a member of the Metropolitan, Union League, Lawyers', New York Yacht, Automobile of America, Riding, Army and Navy, and other New York clubs. Mr. Shoemaker married, April 22, 1874, Blanche Quiggle, and has three children. Mr. Shoemaker has country seats at Lititz, Pa., and Riverside, Conn. Address: 26 West 53d Street, New York City.

SHONTS, Theodore Perry:

Railway official; born in Crawford County, Pa., May 5, 1856; son of Dr. Henry Daniels and Margaret Nevin (Marshall) Shonts. He went with his parents, in boyhood, to Appanoose County, Iowa, and he was graduated from Monmouth (Ill.) College, in 1876. After graduation he became an accountant, and in a very short time was employed by national banks in Iowa to standardize and simplify their methods of bookkeeping. While so engaged he studied law and practised a short time at Centerville, Iowa. He became associated with General Drake, who had large financial and railroad interests, and who placed much of the work of management and construction in his hands; and he had charge of the construction of the Iowa Central Railroad, and afterward built the Missouri, Iowa and Nebraska Railroad, and later the Indiana, Illinois and Iowa Railroad, and its controlling owner, later selling it to the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railroad Company; then, after a few months of rest and travel, he returned to the railroad business, and with associates secured the control of the Toledo, St. Louis and Western Railroad (Clover Leaf Road), which he rehabilitated and made successful. He was selected in the spring of 1905, by President Roosevelt, as chairman of the Isthmian Canal Commission, formulating the plans for that great work, and he continued at its head until Feb., 1907, when he took his present position as president of the Interborough-Metropolitan Company, in charge of the surface car and rapid transit systems of New York City; also president of the Chicago and Alton, Toledo, St. Louis and Western, Detroit and Toledo Shore Line, Minneapolis and St. Louis and Iowa Central Railway companies. Mr. Shonts married at Centerville, Iowa, in 1882, Harriet Amelia Drake, daughter of General (afterward governor) Francis M. Drake of Iowa, and they have two daughters. Address: 115 Broadway, New York City.

SHRIVER, Alfred Jenkins:

Lawyer and author; born in Baltimore, June 5, 1867; son of Albert and Anne (Jenkins) Shriver. He was graduated from Johns Hopkins University, A.B., 1891, University of Maryland, LL.B., 1893, winner of the Hopkins and University scholarships; and he received the degree of A.M. from Loyola College, 1894. He has been engaged in the practice of law in Baltimore since 1893, is counsel to several corporations and sole trustee of property descended from Charles Carroll of Carrollton. He is author of various legal publications, is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa; secretary for past ten years of the General Alumni Association of Johns Hopkins University; director of St. Mary's Female Orphan Asylum of Roland Park, Md., and the School of Expression of Boston. He is a member of the Maryland State Bar Association, Bar Association of Baltimore City, Baltimore Reform League, University Clubs, Johns Hopkins Club (one of the founders), Baltimore Country, Bachelors' Cotillion, Junior Cotillion and Baltimore Assembly Club. Residence: University Club. Office: 700-705 Equitable Building, Baltimore.

SHUBERT, Lee:

Theatrical manager; born in Syracuse, N. Y., March 15, 1875; son of David and Catherine Shubert. He was educated in public schools of Syracuse, N. Y. He is president and director of the Babes in the Woods Company, Baker Theater Company, Casino Theater Company, De Wolf Hopper Company, Grand Opera House Company, Henry Miller and Company, Hyperion Theater Company, Lyric Theater Company, Majestic Theater Company, Princess Theater Company, Sam S. and Lee Shubert, Incorporated; the Shubert Theatrical Company, the Shubert-Anderson Company, the Wilbur-Shubert Theater Company, the Shubert Realty Company, the Lew Fields-Shubert Company, and the Greenwich Bank; vice-president and director of the Garrick Theater Company of Chicago, Garrick Theater Company of St. Louis, S. S. Shubert Amusement Company, Washington Theater Company; secretary, treasurer and director of the Broadway and Thirty-ninth Street; president of Shubert-Anderson Company, which manages and controls the Hippodrome; vice-president of the United States Amusement Company, and director of the Mutual Bank. Address: 1416 Broadway, New York City.

SHUMWAY, Edgar Solomon:

Educator; born in Belchertown, Mass., June 6, 1856; son of Solomon and Susan A. (Perry) Shumway. He was graduated from Amherst College, 1879, Universities of Berlin and Marburg, Archaeologische Institut, Athens and Rome, M.A., Ph.D. He was principal of High School, Granby, Mass.; professor of Latin and Greek, Potsdam, N. Y., State Normal School; professor of Latin, Rutgers College, N. J., 1883-1900; lecturer on Roman Law and in charge of graduate instruction in Latin, University of Pennsylvania; head of the Department of Classics, Manual Training High School, of New York City. Mr. Shumway was the editor of Latine, 1882-1886, and is author of: Latin Synonyms, A Day in Ancient Rome, Syllabus of Greek, and Roman Art, Synopsis of Roman Law, and of numerous articles and papers on scholastic and pedagogical subjects. He is a member of the American Philological Association, American Institute of Archaeology, Academy of Political and Social Science, Phi Beta Kappa Society, member of the managing committee of the American School at Rome; president New York Association of Men Teachers and Principals, and Male High School Teachers' Association, member Delta Kappa Epsilon, Brooklyn League, Flatbush Taxpayers' Association, and the Republican Club of the Eighteenth Assembly District of Kings County. He married in Worcester, Mass., Florence Snow, and they have four children. Address: 472 East 18th Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

SHURTLEFF, Roswell Morse:

Artist; born in Rindge, N. H., June 14, 1838; son of Asabel Dewey and Eliza (Morse) Shurtleff. He was educated in Dartmouth College, B.S., 1857; worked as a lithographer at Buffalo, 1858-1859, drawing on wood for the engraver, Boston and studying in evening classes at Lowell Institution, 1859. He worked as illustrator in New York City, and student of the National Academy of Design, 1860-1861. He enlisted as a private in the 99th New York Volunteers, April 16, 1861. He was promoted first lieutenant and adjutant; wounded and taken prisoner July 19, 1861, and spent eight months in the Southern hospitals and prisons before being released on parole. He continued as illustrator of magazines and books in New York City, since 1870 painter in oils and water colors of animal pictures and landscapes and has specialized in recent years on scenes in the Adirondacks. He was elected associate in and has been academician since 1890, of the National Academy of Design, and is a member of the American Water Color Society. He married in Hartford, Conn., June 14, 1867, Clara E. Halliday. Address: 44 West 22d Street, New York City.

SIBLEY, Frank J.:

Mining engineer and president; born in Niagara County, N. Y., Aug. 11, 1847; son of Jonathan and Ruhamah (James) Sibley. He received his education in high schools of New York, and the University of Arizona. He is engaged extensively in real estate and mining. He established and founded the town of Demorest, Ga., 1889; opened and developed the great Copper Creek copper mines in Arizona, and has been president and general manager of the corporation from the beginning; president of the Pioneer Auto and Manufacturing Company of Tucson, Ariz., first vice-president and general manager of the Minnesota-Arizona Copper Company, and president and general manager of the Great Southwest Land and Mining Company. Mr. Sibley was deputy collector, U. S. Customs, 1872, and since 1876 has been identified with the Prohibition party, serving on its National Committee for the past twenty years; served as State chairman and campaign manager of the Prohibition party in Nebraska, 1884, and California, 1900; managed the campaign of Alonzo E. Wilson of Illinois, in 1904, the first straight Prohibition party member ever elected to a State legislature. He was the founder, editor and publisher of the New Republic, 1884; The Georgian, 1890; Motive, 1895; and author of: Prohibition in Kansas, 1882; The Templar at Work, 1884; Life of John B. Finch, 1887, and numerous political pamphlets. He is a member of the International Order of Good Templars. He married in Akron, N. Y., Oct. 11, 1866, Alice F. Barney; married, second, in Oakland, Calif., Sept. 28, 1905, Mary Charlton Edholm, and he has two children. Address: Tucson, Ariz.

SIEBECKER, Robert G.:

Jurist; born in Sauk County, Wis., Oct. 17, 1854. He was graduated from the University of Wisconsin. A.B., 1878, LL.B., 1880. He was admitted to the bar on examination in Sept., 1879, and in Oct. of that year began the practice of law at Madison, and this he continued until appointed judge of the Ninth Judicial Circuit, Jan. 7, 1890. In March, 1886, he was elected city attorney of Madison and was annually reelected until he went on the circuit bench. In April, 1891, he was elected judge of the Circuit Court, for the unexpired term and for the ensuing term. He was twice thereafter reelected to this position without opposition, and April 7, 1903, he was elected a justice of the Supreme Court, for the term beginning in Jan., 1904, and on April 9 was appointed for the unexpired term in this office, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Justice C. V. Bardeen. Address: Madison, Wis.

SIEGEL, Henry:

Merchant; born in Eubigheim, Germany, March 17, 1852; son of Lazarus Siegel (burgomaster of Eubigheim) and Zerlina (Koch) Siegel. He was educated in Germany, and came to the United States in 1867. His first business experience was gained in Washington, D. C., Parkersburg, Va., and Lanceburg, Pa. He established the firm of Siegel, Hartsfield and Company in Chicago, in 1876; and ten years later he established the department store of Siegel, Cooper and Company, Chicago. In 1896 he established Siegel, Cooper and Company in New York City; purchased the Simpson-Crawford Company in Jan., 1902; opened the Fourteenth Street Store, New York City, April, 1904, and Henry Siegel and Company, Boston, 1905; and he controls the largest department stores in the world, as in 1909 he consolidated his New York and Chicago department stores under the name of the "Siegel Stores Corporation." He is also a director of several banks. He is a member of the American Geographical Society, New York Historical Society, the National Museum of Art, and the Westchester Hunt Club. He married, first, in 1885, Julia Rosenbaum, who died in 1886, and married, second, Marie Vaughan Wilde, widow of George Wilde, and daughter of Judge J. G. and Isabelle Oliver (Peters) Vaughan; and he has one daughter, Julia, wife of Tyrell W. Cavendish of England. Address: Westchester County, N. Y. Office: Care of Simpson-Crawford Company, New York City.

SIGSBEE, Charles Dwight:

Rear-admiral, United States Navy, retired; born in Albany, N. Y., Jan. 16, 1845; son of Nicholas and Agnes (Orr) Sigsbee. He entered the Naval Academy in 1859; served in the Civil War, 1863-1865; has been head of several departments of the Naval Academy; has commanded the Kearsarge, Dale (twice), Constellation, Portsmouth, Maine, St. Paul, and Texas, and commanded the Maine, when she was destroyed in Havana, Feb. 15, 1898. From 1874 to 1878, he engaged in deep sea exploration in command of the U. S. Coast Survey Steamer Blake (won a gold medal and two diplomas of honor for deep sea inventions at the International Fisheries Exhibition, London; and Red Eagle of Prussia, in 1880); in charge of the U. S. Hydrographic Office, 1893-1897; commanded the St. Paul in the war with Spain in 1898; and was advanced for extraordinary heroism, Feb. 11, 1901; promoted rear-admiral, Aug. 10, 1903. From 1903 to 1906 he was successively commandant of the League Island Navy Yard and Station, commander-in-chief of the South Atlantic Station, commander of the Caribbean Squadron and of the Second Squadron of the Atlantic Fleet. In June-July, 1905, he commanded the John Paul Jones Expedition to France, and was then made commander of the Legion of Honor of France. In the winter of 1905-1906 he cruised in the Mediterranean in command of a division of vessels. He has been chief intelligence officer of the Navy Department, member of the General Board, and the Board of Construction, and is a member of various naval, military and scientific societies. He retired, Jan. 16, 1907. He is author of: Deep Sea Soundings and Dredging (U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey), 1880; The Story of the Maine, 1898; Graphical Method for Navigators (U. S. Hydrographic Office). He married, in 1870, Eliza Rogers Lockwood, daughter of General Henry H. Lockwood. Address: Navy Department, Washington, D. C.

SILVER, Edgar Oscar:

Publisher; born in Bloomfield, Vt., April 17, 1860; son of Albert A. and Sarah W. (Jenne) Silver. He was educated in the common schools and in Derby Academy, Vt., Waterville Classical Institute, Me., Colby College, Waterville, Me., and was graduated from Brown University, A.B., 1883, A.M., 1886. He was with D. Appleton & Company, publishers, 1883-1885; and founded, April 21, 1885, the business of the present house of Silver, Burdett & Company, of which he has been president since its incorporation in 1892, the firm being publishers of school and college text-books, musical instruction books, and standard literature, and having offices in New York, Boston, Chicago, Philadelphia, Atlanta, Dallas, San Francisco and London, England. He is a director of The Century Bank of New York. Mr. Silver has made investigations in economics and has made addresses on The Ethics of Business, before the students of Dartmouth College in 1905, and the New England Society of the Oranges, and on other kindred subjects before other institutions and societies. He traveled in Europe in 1891 and 1899, in the Hawaiian Islands, 1901, and through every State and Territory of the Union, save Alaska. He was appointed by Governor Proctor, a commissioner from the State of Vermont to the Jamestown Ter-Centennial Exposition in 1907. In politics he is a Republican and in religion a Baptist. He is a member of the visiting committee of the Department of Economics in Brown University; has been a trustee of Brown University since 1896; is trustee of Shaw University (chairman of board since 1892), Storer College, Derby Academy, Vt., and of Peddie Institute, Hightstown, N. J. (chairman of board); and has been a member of the Executive Board of the American Baptist Home Missions Society since 1901. Mr. Silver is a member of the Aldine Association, New England Society, Phi Beta Kappa, Delta Kappa Epsilon, The Laurentian Club of Canada, and is a Mason. He is a member of the University Club of Boston, of the Brown University Club of New York, and of numerous other associations and societies. Mr. Silver married in Providence, R. I., Jan. 4, 1888, Susan Florence Maine, and they have seven children. Summer home: Derby, Vermont. Residence: East Orange, N. J. Office: 239 West 39th Street, New York City.

SIMKHOVITCH, Mary Kingsbury:

Head resident of Greenwich House, and adjunct professor of social economy, Barnard College; born in Chestnut Hill, Mass.; daughter of Isaac Franklin and Laura D. (Holmes) Kingsbury. She was graduated from Boston University, B.A., one year graduate work in Radcliffe, Berlin, Germany, and in Columbia University. She married in New York, Jan. 7, 1899, Professor Vladimir G. Simkhovitch, and they have two children. She is a member of the American Association for Labor Legislation, National Consumers League; director of the Playground Association of America, Metropolitan Parks Association; member of the council for the Association of Neighborhood Workers, director of the Greenwich House, member of National Board of Woman's Trades Union League, Kappa Kappa Gamma fraternity, Church Association for the Advancement of Interests of Labor, Public Education Association, Woman's Municipal League, College Equal Suffrage League, and the Woman's University Club. She is author of articles for Political Science Quarterly, The Commons, Charities and the Commons, and the Ethical Record. Address: Greenwich House, 26-28 Jones Street, New York City.

SIMMONS, Furnifold McLendel:

United States senator; born in Jones County, N. C., Jan. 20 1854; son of Furnifold Greene and Mary (McLendel) Simmons. He was graduated from Trinity College, N. C., A.B., 1873; was admitted to the bar in 1875, and has since then been engaged in the practice of law. He was elected to the Fiftieth Congress in 1886 from the Second Congressional District of North Carolina. He was appointed by President Cleveland, in 1893, collector of internal revenue for the Fourth Collection District of North Carolina, and served until 1897. In the campaigns of 1892, 1898 and 1900 he was the chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee of North Carolina. He was elected to the U. S. Senate in 1901 to succeed Hon. Marion Butler, Populist, and was nominated by the Democratic State Convention in 1906, and elected by the Legislature in 1907 for a second term expiring March 4, 1913. Trinity College, N. C., conferred upon him, in June, 1901, the degree of LL.D. Address: Raleigh, N. C.

SIMMONS, George H.:

Physician; born in Moreton, England, Jan. 2, 1853. He was educated in public schools, Tabor College, Iowa, and the University of Nebraska, and he was graduated from Hahnemann Medical College, Chicago, 1882; Rush Medical College, 1892, and received the degree of LL.D. from Northwestern University, and the degree of M.A. from Tabor College. He has been editor for the Journal of the American Medical Association, and general secretary since 1899. Residence: 4217 Kenmore Avenue. Office: 535 Dearborn Avenue, Chicago.

SIMMONS, J. Edward:

Banker; born in Troy, N. Y., Sept. 9, 1841; son of Joseph Ferris and Mary Sophia (Gleason) Simmons. He was graduated from Williams College, A.B., 1862, from the Albany Law School, LL.B., 1863; and later received the degree of A.M. and in 1888, the degree of LL.D. from the University of Norwich, Vt. He was admitted to the bar in 1863 and practised at Troy until 1867; then went to New York City, and engaged there in banking and brokerage. He was elected president of the Stock Exchange in 1884 and 1885. Mr. Simmons rendered important assistance in the presidential campaign of Grover Cleveland in 1892; accepted in 1886 the presidency of the Board of Education of New York City, of which he had been appointed commissioner in 1881; and served as president five years. Mainly through his influence, a bill was passed through the Legislature in 1888, conferring collegiate rank and powers on the New York Normal College; and he successfully worked for the development of the College of the City of New York. He has been president of the Fourth National Bank since 1888; served as a receiver of the American Loan and Trust Company of New York; was president of the Clearing House in 1898; and of the Panama Railroad Company for ten years, and he is a trustee of the Metropolitan Trust Company; and a director of the Bank for Savings, the Ann Arbor Railroad Company, National Surety Company, United State Casualty Company and the Standard Milling Company. He is president of the Chamber of Commerce, ex-president of the New York Infant Asylum; governor and treasurer of the New York Hospital and life trustee of Williams College. He is a member of the University, Metropolitan, New York Athletic, Lawyers', Tuxedo and National Democratic Clubs of New York City. Mr. Simmons married in New York City, April 12, 1866, Julia Greer, and has a son and a daughter. Address: 28 West 52d Street, New York City.

SIMMONS, James S.:

Congressman; born in Frederick County, Md., Nov. 25, 1861; son of R. E. Simmons and Sarah E. (Urner) Simmons. He was educated in Liberty Academy and Frederick College. He has been engaged in real estate business ever since he left college.

Mr. Simmons is president of The James S. Simmons Real Estate Company, International Building Company, Homestead Building Company, Insides Property Company, Electric City Building Company, Cataract Building Company; treasurer of The Simmons and Baker Company, and director of the Niagara Falls Trust Company. He is a Mason. He was elected as a Republican in 1908 as a member of the Sixty-first Congress from the Thirty-fourth New York District. Mr. Simmons married in Union Bridge, Md., Feb. 26, 1890, Agnes McKinstry, and they have two children. Residence: 654 Chilton Avenue. Office: 335 Third Street, Niagara Falls, N. Y.

SIMMS, Joseph Milburn:

Retired senior captain of the U. S. Revenue Cutter Service; born in Patuxent, Md., Feb. 19, 1841; son of Joseph Milburn and Ann (Craig) Simms. He was educated in the public schools of the District of Columbia; served three months in Company F, Sixth Battalion, District of Columbia Volunteers, from April 22, to July 22, 1861; was master's mate in the U. S. Navy, Aug. 27, 1863; promoted to acting ensign, June 13, 1866; served on the U. S. Steamer Daylight, and the frigate Minnesota, of the North Atlantic Blockading Squadron, and the Wateree in the South Pacific. He was wounded in the land attack upon Fort Fisher, Jan. 15, 1865; resigned from the Navy, July 31, 1868, and was granted an honorable discharge in lieu thereof, as certificate of meritorious service, having been appointed third lieutenant in the U. S. Revenue Cutter Service, July 30, 1868. He has served upon stations from the coast of Maine to the Gulf of Mexico, having command, as first lieutenant, of several revenue cutters. He was executive officer of the schoolship upon two foreign voyages, and he retired May 3, 1895, as first lieutenant, on account of physical disability, resulting from wounds received in the Civil War. By an act of Congress approved, March 11, 1902, he was advanced to captain on the retired list, of the U. S. Revenue Cutter Service, for meritorious acts of public service and wounds received in the United States service as appears upon the public records of the U. S. Army, Navy and Revenue Cutter Service. He is a member of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States Army and Navy Club of New York, Grand Army of the Republic, Knights of Honor and Royal Arcanum. Captain Simms married, first, in Portland, Me., in 1870 Belle D. Haskell, and second, in New Bedford, Mass., March 17, 1892, Catherine J. Seabury, and he has one daughter. Address: New Bedford, Mass.

SIMONS, Algie Martin:

Editor of the Chicago Daily Socialist; born in North Freedom, Wis., Oct. 9, 1870; son of Horace B. and Linda (Blackmun) Simons. He was graduated from the University of Wisconsin, B.L., 1895, receiving special honors in economics for thesis. He was with the Cincinnati Associated Charities from September to December, 1895; agent for the Chicago Bureau of Charities to March, 1898, and resident of the University of Chicago Social Settlement; editor of: Workers Call, International Socialist; reviewing editor to the Daily Socialist since 1907. He is author of: The American Farmer, Class Struggles in America, and numerous small pamphlets, and translator of several German works. He is a director of the Workers Publishing Society; member of the National Executive Committee of the Socialist Party, and delegate to the International Socialist Congress in 1908, and is a member of the American Peace Society. He married in Baraboo, Wis., June 15, 1896, Eleanor May Wood, and they have a daughter. Residence: 2319 Sherman Avenue. Office: 180 Washington Street, Evanston, Ill.

SIMONS, George Albert:

Clergyman; born in La Porte, Ind., March 19, 1874; son of Rev. George Henry and Otilie (Schulz) Simons. He was educated in Adelphi College, Brooklyn, N. Y., German Wallace College Berea, Ohio, A.B., and M.A., New York University, A.B. Drew Theological Seminary, Madison, N. J., B.D. and has received the degree of D.D. from German Wallace College, Berea, Ohio. He became a member of the East German Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church; pastor of the Wycoff Street Methodist Episcopal Church Brooklyn, 1899-1902, having succeeded his father on latter's decease; transferred to the New York East Conference, 1903, and appointed associate pastor of the Sixty-first Street Methodist Episcopal Church, New York City, remaining two years, from April, 1905 to August, 1907. He was pastor of the Bayside Methodist Episcopal Church, Bayside Borough of Queens, New York City. Dr. Simons was appointed superintendent of the Finland and St. Petersburg Mission Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church in August, 1907. He published a memorial edition of Der Lebens-Compass (by Rev. George H. Simons, his father) a year after his father's decease. Dr. Simons is editor of the quarterly Methodism in Russia and Associate editor of the Continental quarterly; Methodism in Europe. Address: 9th Line, 18, W. O., St. Petersburg, Russia.

SIMPSON, Charles Torrey:

Retired; born in Tiskilwa, Ill., June 3, 1846; son of Jabez and Matilda H. (Cook) Simpson. He was educated in common schools of Tiskilwa. He was a member of the scientific staff of the United States National Museum, 1889-1902, and lecturer on zoölogy in Georgetown University. He is corresponding member of Davenport Academy of Natural Sciences, member of the Biological Society of Washington. He married in Revere, Mass., Sept. 17, 1902, Flora G. Roper, and he has a son. Address Little River, Fla.

SIMS, Edwin W.:

U. S. district attorney for the Northern District of Illinois; born in 1871; son of Walter and Elizabeth (Knowles) Sims; brought up in Bay City, Mich.; resident of Chicago since 1894; graduate of the law department of the University of Michigan, class of 1894. Previous to 1892 he served at different times as reporter, editor and special correspondent on the staff of Bay City (Mich.) newspapers. He was admitted to the bar in 1894, and engaged in the practice of law in Chicago in the same year; was appointed county attorney of Cook County, Chicago, June 4, 1900, reappointed Dec. 1, 1902; resigned to accept position as special attorney of the Bureau of Corporations under Commissioner of Corporations Garfield, Sept. 15, 1903; was appointed solicitor of the Department of Commerce and Labor by President Roosevelt March 4, 1905; sent by the Government to make special investigations of the Alaskan Fur Seal Fisheries on the Pribilof Islands in Behring Sea in June, 1906. He was appointed U. S. attorney for the Northern District of Illinois, Sept. 1, 1906. As U. S. Attorney he has had charge of a large number of important suits involving violations of the Interstate Commerce and Anti-Trust law. Notable among these is the case against the Standard Oil Company which resulted in the conviction of the company and the imposition of a fine by Judge Landis of $29,240,000. Mr. Sims is a Republican; is a member of the American, Illinois and Chicago Bar Associations; and member of the Union League, South Shore Country, Chicago Press, Hamilton, Law and Woodlawn Park Clubs. He married in 1898, Charlotte, daughter of the late Frank J. Smith, and he has five children. Residence: 6520 Kimbark Avenue. Office: 826 Federal Building, Chicago.

SIMS, Thetus Willrette:

Congressman and lawyer; born April 25, 1852, in Wayne County, Tenn. He was educated at Savannah College, Savannah, Tenn.; was graduated from the Law Department of Cumberland University at Lebanon, Tenn., in June, 1876; located at Linden, Tenn., where he has resided ever since in the practice of his profession; was elected county superintendent of public instruction for Perry County, Tenn., in 1882, and held that office for two years; was chosen an elector on the Cleveland and Stevenson ticket in 1892; and was elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses, in the latter of which he is now serving. He married, Dec. 26, 1877, Nannie H. Kittrell of Maury County, Tenn. Address: Linden, Tenn.

SIMS, William Sowden:

Commander, U. S. Navy; born in Canada. He was appointed from Pennsylvania to the Naval Academy, June 24, 1876; was appointed midshipman, June 22, 1882; ensign (junior grade), March 3, 1883; ensign, June 26, 1884; lieutenant (junior grade), May 9, 1893; lieutenant, Jan. 1, 1897. He served on the Tennessee, North Atlantic Station, 1880-1882; Colorado, 1882, New York Navy Yard; Swatara, 1883-1885, North Atlantic Station; Yantic, North Atlantic Station, 1885-1887; nautical school-ship Saratoga, Dec. 1889-1893; Philadelphia, Pacific Station, 1893-1894; Charleston, China Station, 1894-1896; Richmond, League Island, 1896-1897; naval attaché, U. S. Embassies of Paris and St. Petersburg, March, 1897, to November, 1900; Kentucky, China, 1900-1901, Monterey, China, 1901-1902; lieutenant-commander, Nov. 21, 1902; inspector of target practice, 1902-1909; promoted commander, July 1907. Commander Sims is regarded here and in the services as the best gunnery officer in the world, and in appreciation of his invaluable services for seven years in building up a system of gunnery in the U. S. Navy which has greatly increased our fighting efficiency as a sea-power, President Roosevelt, March 1, 1909, assigned Commander Sims to the command of the battleship Minnesota. Address: Care Navy Department, Washington, D. C.

SINGER, Isidor:

Publisher, editor; born in Weisskirchen, Moravia, Austria, Nov. 10, 1859. He was educated in high schools, Ung. Hradisch, Troppau, and Kremsier; the University of Vienna (where he received the Ph.D. degree), and the University of Berlin. He founded and published the Allgemeine Oesterreichische Literaturzeitung, Vienna, 1884-1885; went as secretary and librarian to the late French ambassador at Vienna, Count Alexander Foucher de Careil (editor of Leibnitz's works), to Paris in 1887; became employee of the French Foreign Office in the Bureau de la Presse; founder and editor-in-chief of La Vraie Parole (paper founded to counteract Ed. Drumont's anti-semitic La Libre Parole); went to Italy in 1891, and came to New York City in 1895, to carry out his life work of The Jewish Encyclopedia, of which he was managing editor, and whose twelfth and final volume was issued Dec. 30, 1905. He is literary manager of the American Encyclopedia Library Association and managing editor of The International Insurance Encyclopedia, 4 volumes, (if you wish to have additional information on this score see my letterheads). He has taken active part in the East Side campaigns in favor of the Republican party and in 1905 in the Jerome campaign. He was president of Justice Lodge, No. 536 of the Independent Order of B'nai B'rith. He is author of: Berlin, Wien und der Antisemitismus, 1882; Presse und Judenthum, second edition, 1882; Sollen die Juden Christian werden? (with prefatory letter by Ernest Renan), second edition, 1884; Briefe Berühmter Christlicher Zeitgenossen über die Judenfrage, 1884; Die Beiden Elektren-Humanistische Bildung und der Klassische Unterricht, 1884; Auf dem Grabe Meiner Mutter (translated into Hebrew by Dr. Solomon Fuchs), 1888; Le Prestige de la France en Europe, 1889; La Question Juive, 1893; Anarchie et Antisemitisme, 1894; Der Juden Kampf ums Recht, 1902; Russia at the Bar of the American People, 1904; Mr. Jacob H. Schiff and the Zionists; Rabbi and Pope, 1907; Who is Who in Insurance (1908); Christ or God (1908); also numerous translations of French works into German. Residence: 571 East 140th Street. Office address: 22 Thames Street, New York City.

SIOUSSAT, St. George Leakin:

Professor of history; born in Baltimore, March 13, 1878; son of Albert W. and Annie Middleton (Leakin) Sioussat. He was graduated from University School, Baltimore, Johns Hopkins University, B.A., 1896, Ph.D., 1899, and Tomkins University scholar in history. He was assistant and instructor in history, Smith College, Northampton, Mass., 1899-1904, professor of history, University of the South since 1904, and dean since 1909; lecturer on economics, Biltmore (N. C.) Forest School since 1904; lecturer in history at the University of Michigan, summer sessions, 1908 and 1909; secretary of the Conference of the State and Local Historical Societies of the American Historical Association, 1908, and chairman, 1909; secretary of the Committee on Uniform Entrance Examinations, of the Associations of Colleges and Preparatory Schools of Southern States since 1909. Professor Sioussat is a member of the American Historical Association, American Political Science Association, National Geographic Society, American Academy of Political and Social Science, Tennessee Historical Society, and various educational and literary associations; member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society, Delta Phi fraternity, the E. Q. B. Club of Sewanee, and the Baltimore Country Club. He married in Houston, Texas, Dec. 19, 1906, Alma (Cleveland) Dailey. Residence: Sewanee. Office: University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn.

SIVITER, Anna Pierpont:

Writer; born in Fairmont, Va.; daughter of Francis Harrison, loyal war governor of Virginia, and Julia (Robertson) Pierpont. She was educated by governesses and tutors. She married in Fairmont, W. Va., June 24, 1886, William Henry Siviter, and she has one daughter. Mrs. Siviter comes of a line of ancestors on her father's side extending back to William the Conqueror, who have given the world many reformers, statesmen and writers. The State of West Virginia has lately placed in the capitol at Washington, a statue of Governor Pierpont, who was called "the father of West Virginia," having been largely instrumental in the formation of that State. On her mother's side she is of distinguished ancestry, coming from the old Platt family of New York State. Mrs. Siviter was for several years associate editor of Our Young People, and later editor of the Sunday School publications of the Methodist Protestant Church. She is author of: Nehe, a Tale of the Times of Artaxerxes; The Statue, and Other Poems; Songs of Hope, and many poems and stories in the leading magazines and weeklies. She is a member of the Daughters of 1812; director of the Pittsburgh Hospital for Children, Pittsburgh and Allegheny

Free Kindergarten Association, and member of the Civic Club of Pittsburgh, and the Tuesday Music Club. Address: 132 North Dithridge Street, Pittsburgh.

SKELTON, William B.:

Lawyer; born in Bowdoin, Me., Aug. 9, 1871; son of Thomas W. and Mary L. (Holbrook) Skelton. He was graduated from Bates College, Lewiston in 1892. Mr. Skelton was county attorney for Androscoggin County, 1901-1905; mayor of Lewiston, 1903-1905; judge advocate-general, with the rank of colonel, on Governor Cobb's staff, 1905-1909; and he has been bank examiner for the State of Maine since July 20, 1906. He is a member of the firm of Newell and Skelton. He is a member of the American Bar Association, and of its Local Council for the State of Maine; also a thirty-second degree Mason, and a member of the Calhoun Club. Mr. Skelton married in Auburn, Me., May 21, 1894, Florence L. Larrabee, and they have six children. Residence: 491 Main Street. Office: 228 Lisbon Street, Lewiston, Me.

SKINNER, Henrietta Channing Dana:

Author; born in Cambridge, Mass.; daughter of Richard Henry Dana, Jr., the author, and Sarah (Watson) Dana. She is of a distinguished literary family, her grandfather, Richard Henry Dana, Sr., having been a poet and essayist, and her great-grandfather, Francis Dana, was many years chief justice of Massachusetts, a member of the Continental Congress, where he served on many important committees, and was sent by Congress on diplomatic missions to France and Russia. He married a daughter of William Ellery of Rhode Island, a signer of the Declaration of Independence. The father of Francis Dana, a prominent patriot, barrister and orator in Boston, just before the Revolution, married the sister of Judge Trowbridge and granddaughter of Judge Jonathan Remington, and through her Mrs. Skinner is descended from Anne Dudley Bradstreet, the first American woman of letters. Mrs. Skinner's early youth was spent chiefly in Cambridge and Boston, where her father and mother were intimate with Lowell, Longfellow, Holmes, Agassiz, Bryant, Sumner, Fields and the literary set of that day, all of whom she met frequently in her girlhood. From her seventh to her twelfth year she shared the studies of Mr. Longfellow's youngest daughters, with an English governess; was two years in school in Stuttgart, Germany, one year in the convent of Assumption, Paris, three years in private schools in Boston and two years at Radcliffe College. She studied music two years in the Artist School of Stuttgart under Professor Prückner; studied eleven months under César Franck in Paris; and harmony and counterpoint under Professor Faisst in Stuttgart and one year with Professor John K. Paine, of Harvard. She entered the Catholic Church in Chicago, March 27, 1878. She lived seven years in Europe, chiefly France, Italy and South Germany. She was married in Cambridge, Mass., June 25, 1892, to Henry Whipple Skinner, of Detroit, Mich., of which place she has since been a resident, and she has a son, Richard Dana Skinner. She is author of the novels: Espiritu Santo, 1899 (Harper); Heart and Soul, 1901 (Harper); also of the contributions: A Queen at School, Scribner's, April, 1878; What French Girls Study, Atlantic Monthly, Feb., 1892; Love Songs of the Tuscan Peasantry, Italian Harvest Scenes, Don Jaime's Honey-moon, A Montauk Incident, and poem to the Catholic World Magazine, 1894, 1898; Poncho's Happy Family, Harper's Magazine, Nov., 1898; Our Revolutionary Diplomacy, Harper's Magazine, 1902; also several articles in the Sacred Heart Review of Boston. Mrs. Skinner was governor-general (national president) of the Order of Descendants of Colonial Governors; is a Colonial Dame of Massachusetts, a Daughter of the American Revolution, and an active member of the Tuesday Musicales Society of Detroit. Address: 360 Jefferson Avenue, Detroit, Mich.

SKINNER, Henry Whipple:

Land owner; born in Detroit, Mich., June 8, 1852; son of Edwin Adolphus and Catherine Sophia (Whipple) Skinner; of an old Virginia family on his father's side, and of a prominent Massachusetts family on his mother's side. He was educated in public and private schools in Detroit, at Mount St. Mary's Seminary in Cincinnati, Ohio, and for two and one-half years attended the Harvard Law School, and while there was a member of the Institute of 1770, the Varsity Glee Club and the Hasty Pudding Club. Mr. Skinner is a large landowner; and was also interested as director and stockholder in various corporations and business enterprises of his home city. Mr. Skinner has been identified with the Michigan State Militia, serving six years as an active member and as vice-president of the Detroit Light Guard Veteran Corps, Company A, Third Regiment. He is a member, by inheritance, of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion; member of the Order of Founders and Patriots of America of New York, Order of Descendants of Colonial Governors, Society of Colonial Wars, Sons of the American Revolution, Society of the War of 1812 of New Jersey, and the University Club of Detroit. Mr. Skinner married in Cambridge, Mass., June 25, 1892, Henrietta Channing Dana, daughter of Richard Henry Dana, 2d, and they have one son, Richard Dana Skinner. Address: 360 Jefferson Avenue, Detroit, Mich.

SKINNER, Robert P.:

Consul-general; born at Massillon, Ohio, Feb. 24, 1866; son of Augustus T. and Cecelia (Van Rensselaer) Skinner. He was educated in the public schools of Massillon, Ohio, and at the Woodward High School at Cincinnati. In 1897 he was appointed consul at Marseilles by President McKinley, and in 1901 was promoted to the grade of consul-general at the same place. In 1903, Mr. Skinner was temporarily relieved by President Roosevelt from his consular duties, and appointed commissioner and plenipotentiary with orders to proceed to Abyssinia. He organized the first official American expedition to Etheopia with five officers and twenty-five U. S. marines and sailors in the autumn of 1903, and he negotiated the first treaty, subsequently ratified, between the United States and Etheopia. He was promoted consul-general at Hamburg, Germany, in 1908. He is author of: Abyssinia of To-day, published by Longmans, Green & Company. Mr. Skinner is an honorary member of the Society of the Felibridge, a fellow of the American Geographical Society, and a member of the American Society of International Law. He married at Massillon, Ohio, June 17, 1897, Helen Wales. Residence: 11 Alsterufer. Consular office: 2 Alstergracio, Hamburg.

SLATER, Jennie E.:

Singer and teacher; born in Battle Creek, Mich., daughter of Zophar Thiers Slater, M.D., and E. Elvira (Paeker) Slater. She received her education in Chicago, and in Europe Miss Slater was a pupil of Phelps of Chicago, of Vannucini of Florence, Italy, Randegger of London, and Reinhold L. Herman, Berlin. She was decorated by the Societa Filarmonica Fiorentina, and is a member of the McDowell Association of New York. Address: 152 West 49th Street, New York City.

SLATER, John E.:

U. S. district judge; appointed by President Roosevelt in 1908, judge of the U. S. District Court for the Southern District of Ohio. Address: Columbus, Ohio.

SLAYDEN, James L.:

Congressman; born in Graves County, Ky., June 1, 1853; son of Thomas A. and Letitia E. Slayden. He was educated in Washington and Lee University, Virginia; was a cotton merchant; now engaged in mining in Mexico; was a member of the Twenty-third Legislature of Texas in 1892 and declined reelection; was elected as a Democrat to the Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses from the Fourteenth Texas District. He married in Charlottesville, Va., June 12, 1883, Ellen Mauray. Address: San Antonio, Texas.

SLEDD, Andrew:

President of the University of the State of Florida; born in Lynchburg, Va., Nov. 7, 1870. He was educated in the Randolph-

Macon College, Ashland, Va., A.B., A.M., 1894, Harvard, 1895-1897, A.M., 1896, University Scholar, 1896-1897, Yale University, University Scholar, 1902-1903, and received the degrees of LL.D. from South Carolina University, 1905. He was professor of Latin and Greek at Emory College, 1898-1902, professor of Greek in Southern University, Greensboro, Ala., 1903-1904, president of the University of Florida, 1904-1905, and president of the University of the State of Florida since 1905. He is a member of the American Philological Association, the Southern Historical Society, National Educational Association, Florida Educational Association and the Phi Delta Theta fraternity. Professor Sledd married in Oxford, Ga., March 1899, Annie Florence Candler, daughter of Bishop W. A. Candler, and they have four children. Address: Gainesville, Fla.

SLEDD, Benjamin:

Teacher and writer; born in Bedford County, Va., Aug. 27, 1864; son of William E. and Arabella (Hobson) Sledd. He was educated in Washington and Lee University, 1881-1886, receiving the degree of M.A., 1886; and Litt.D., 1907; Johns Hopkins University, 1886-1887. He has been professor of English, Wake Forest College, N. C., since 1888. He is author of: From Cliff and Seaur, 1898; The Watchers of the Hearth, 1902; and La Princess de Cleves, 1897. He married in Wake Forest, N. C., June, 1889, Neda Purefoy, and they have three children. Address: Wake Forest, N. C.

SLEEPER, Henry Dike:

Professor of music; born in Patten, Me., Oct. 9, 1865; son of Rev. W. T. and Emily (Taylor) Sleeper. He was educated at Worcester Academy, Harvard, class of 1889, Hartford Theological Seminary, 1891, and studied music in Worcester and Boston. He was ordained in the Congregational ministry, in 1891, as a church musician and from that year until 1894, was instructor of music at Beloit College, Wis. He was professor of music at Georgetown College, Ky., 1894-1895, and in 1895 became instructor in music at the University of Wisconsin. Since 1898 he has been connected with Smith College, Northampton, Mass., having been first instructor, second, associate professor, and since 1904, professor of harmony, composition. Mr. Sleeper is a fellow of the American Guild of Organists and held many prominent positions as organist, in Madison, Wis., Worcester, Mass., and Hartford, Conn., and has composed music for choirs, the organ and for other instruments. He married at Good Hope, Ill., Aug. 28, 1894, Mary Peet, and they have three children. Address: Northampton, Mass.

SLOAN, Benson Bennett:

Banker and stock broker; born in New York City, March 29, 1867; son of Samuel and Margaret (Elmendorf) Sloan. He was graduated from Columbia College, A.B., 1888. He was a member of the Seventh Regiment of the National Guard of the State of New York, 1884-1889. Mr. Sloan is a member of the firm of Post and Flag, and of the New York Stock Exchange; director of the Fort Wayne and Jackson Railroad, and the Valley Railroad Company. He is a member of the South Reformed Church; member of the Committee of Management of the Young Men's Christian Association, Twenty-third Street Branch; life member of the New York Zoölogical Society; member of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, American Museum of Natural History, Delta Psi fraternity, and of the Society of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick. He is also a member of the University, Racquet and Tennis, St. Anthony, Knollwood Country, and Baltusrol Golf Clubs, and the Automobile Club of America. He married in New York City, Nov. 27, 1889, Anna L. Worth. Address: 141 36th Street, New York City.

SLOANE, William:

Merchant; born in New York City, Feb. 18, 1873; son of John and Adele (Berry) Sloane. He was graduated from Yale University in 1895. Mr. Sloane is president and director of W. and J. Sloane, Oldham Mills, Philadelphia; vice-president and director of the Nairn Linoleum Company, Kearny, N. J.; trustee of the Bank for Savings in the City of New York, Atlantic Mutual Insurance Company, and the Provident Loan Society; director of Alexander Smith and Sons' Carpet Company, Hudson Trust Company of New Jersey, Knickerbocker Trust Company, Bank of Manhattan County, New Amsterdam Gas Company, Northern Pacific Railway Company, Northern Securities Company, Second National Bank, Westchester Trust Company; treasurer of the Archaeological Institute of America, member of the International Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association, Society of Colonial Wars, Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, and of the University, Metropolitan, Union League, Republican, and Yale Clubs. He married in New York City, 1904, Francis G. Crocker. Residence: Mount Kisco, N. Y. Address: 884 Broadway, New York City.

SLOCUM, Clarence Rice:

Consular officer; born in Brooklyn, June 22, 1868; son of Henry Warner and Clara (Rice) Slocum. He was educated in the Adelphi College, Brooklyn, and in William College, A.B. He was appointed consul at Warsaw, March 9, 1903; consul at Weimar, March 8, 1905; consul-general at Boma, June 28, 1906; consul at Zittau since May 6, 1907. Mr. Slocum is a member of the Republican Club of New York. He married in Brooklyn, April 6, 1893, Anne Louise Boyle. Address: Zittau, Saxony, Germany.

SLOCUM, William F.:

President of Colorado College; born at Grafton, Mass., July 29, 1851; son of William F. and Margaret (Tinker) Slocum. He was graduated from Amherst College, A.B., 1874, studied in Germany, 1874-1875; was graduated from Andover Theological Seminary, B.D., 1898; and received his LL.D. from Amherst in 1893. He was pastor of Amesbury, Mass., 1878-1883; Baltimore, 1883-1888; and in 1888 became president of Colorado College. He was organizer of the State Board of Charities and Corrections, and was its president for five years, also of the State Board of Pardons of Colorado; and he declined to accept the nomination for governor on Republican ticket. President Slocum is a lecturer and writer on educational subjects, and is author of various articles on educational, sociological, and ethical themes in leading periodicals. He is a member of the University Club of Denver, and the Tavern Club of Boston. He married in 1880, Mary Goodall Montgomery. Address: Colorado Springs, Colo.

SMALL, John Humphrey:

Congressman and lawyer; born in Washington, N. C., Aug. 29, 1858; son of John Humphrey Small. He was educated in Trinity College, North Carolina; and is a lawyer in active practice. He left college in 1876 and taught school 1876-1880; was licensed to practise law in January, 1881. He was elected reading clerk of the State Senate in 1881; was elected superintendent of public instruction of Beaufort County in the latter part of 1881; elected and continued to serve as solicitor of the interior court of Beaufort County, 1882-1885; proprietor and editor of the Washington Gazette, 1883-1886; attorney of the Board of Commissioners of Beaufort County, 1888-1896; a member of the City Council, 1887-1890, and for one year during that period was mayor of Washington. He was elected presidential elector on the Democratic ticket in the First Congressional District of North Carolina, 1896; and was elected to the Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses. He married, June, 1890, Isabella C. Wharton. Address: Washington, N. C.

SMART, Isabelle Thompson:

Physician; born in Jersey City, N. J.; daughter of James Frazer and Catherine Louisa (Green) Smart. She is a direct descendant (maternal) from Captain Francois Jansen Bloodgood, chief military officer and privy councillor to the Governor of New Amsterdam, 1635-1676, and a descendant from the Scotch clans of Campbell, Frazer and Leslie, and from the Covenanters of Scotland; her mothers family were among the early settlers of Monmouth County, N. J. She received her education in private and public schools of Jersey City, and Monmouth County, N. J., College Preparatory, West Chester, Pa., graduate diploma, honor student and Diploma of Merit from the New York School of Expression; Columbia University and Teachers College; the University of the State of New York, M.D.; New York Medical College for Women, honor student in medical jurisprudence; and took post-graduate medical work in Europe and New York City. Dr. Smart was a teacher of science in college preparatory schools for girls, sometimes supervisor of physical training in schools of New York; lecturer in the New York training School for Nurses; special lecturer at the New York Normal School of Physical Education, and in the New York Medical College for Women on physical diagnosis, medical examiner for women and lecturer in Yale University Summer School from 1905 to 1906; examiner in lunacy, State of New York, and medical examiner of mentally defective children to the Department of Education, New York City. She is a member of the American Medical Association, fellow of the New York Academy of Medicine, member of The Women's Medical Society of the State of New York, State and County Medical Societies, New York, American Association for the Study of the Feeble-Minded, American Physical Education Association, Playground Association of America, International Congress of Tuberculosis, Society of Moral and Sanitary Prophylaxis, American Hygiene Association, American Red Cross, American Academy of Political and Social Science, National Association for the Feeble-Minded of England, National Educational Association, International Congress of School Hygiene and the Epsilon Tau fraternity. She is author of miscellaneous articles on medical subjects. Address: 101 West 80th Street, New York City.

SMEDLEY, William Thomas:

Artist; born in Chester County, Pa., March 26, 1858; son of Peter and Amy A. Smedley. After completing the courses in the public schools he entered a newspaper office in Philadelphia, studied engraving, took an art course in the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts; later studied in New York, and in Paris under Jean Paul Laurens. Since 1880 he has been professionally engaged as an artist in New York City and has done much illustration work for Harpers and other periodicals. He has exhibited in the Paris Salon and other exhibitions and was elected an academicien of the National Academy of Design in 1905. He is also a member of the American Water Color Society, New York City. Mr. Smedley married in 1892, May Rutter Darling, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa. Address: Carnegie Hall, New York City.

SMILLIE, Charles Francis:

Banker, merchant; born in New York City, June 4, 1848; son of James Smillie, the noted landscape engraver, and Catharine (Van Valkenburgh) Smillie. He was prepared for college in the New York schools, but entered business instead. After leaving school he spent two years in the rudimentary study of architecture, but finally decided upon a mercantile course. When eighteen years of age he enlisted in the Seventh Regiment of the National Guard of the State of New York, serving five years; he became a commissioned officer in the Seventy-first Regiment, resigning after two years' service. For twelve years, 1884-1896, he was largely identified with the cattle industry on the Western Plains, being president of one of the very few successful cattle companies of Wyoming; has traveled very extensively, including cruises in Arctic Ocean up to the 80th degree North latitude. He is a member of the firm of Winter and Smillie; director and incorporating member of the Standard Trust Company; and an incorporating member and director of the Gerard Ozone Process Company. He is a fellow of the Metropolitan Museum of Art and a member of the Museum of Natural History, American Geographical Society, New York Zoölogical Society, New York Botanical Gardens. His favorite recreations are travel, music, art, books, and he is very extensively interested in the artistic side of photography, his photographic work having been well and favorably known in artistic circles since 1882. He is a member of the Century Association and the Union League, and several other clubs in New York and Boston. Address: 64 Wall Street, New York City.

SMILLIE, George Henry:

Artist; born in New York City, Dec. 29, 1840; son of James and Catherine (Van Valkenburgh) Smillie. His father, a native of Edinburgh, Scotland, who came to the United States when young, was an eminent engraver on steel, and a member of the National Academy of Design. After an education in the schools of New York City, Mr. Smillie entered a business house before his majority, but soon gave that up and entered the studio of James M. Hart, under whom he studied art. He soon became so successful that he exhibited in 1862 at the National Academy of Design. In 1864 he was made associate member of the Academy and in 1882 was elected academicien. He has specialized in landscape painting and has made many pictures now in public galleries and private collections in Europe and America. He has traveled extensively for the purpose of study both in Europe and the United States. Mr. Smillie is a member and has been treasurer for four years of the American Water Color Society, and on the council of the National Academy of Design, and is a member of the Century and Lotos Clubs. He married in New York City in June, 1881, to Nellie Sheldon Jacobs, and has three sons. Address: 156 East 36th Street, New York City. Country address: Ridgefield, Conn.

SMILLIE, Helen (Nellie) T. J.:

Artist; born in New York; daughter of Samuel J. and Helen (Sheldon) Smillie. She received her education in Cooper Union School, then entered the studio of J. O. Eaton, and later that of James D. Smillie. She married in New York, June 28, 1881, George H. Smillie, artist, and has three sons. Mrs. Smillie is one of the only three women who was elected to the full membership in the American Water Color Society. Address: 156 East 36th Street, New York City.

SMITH, Alexander:

Professor of chemistry; born in Edinburgh, Sept. 11, 1865; son of Alexander W. and Isabella (Carter) Smith. He was graduated from Edinburgh University, B.Sc., 1886 and from Munich University, Ph.D., 1889. He was assistant chemist at Edinburgh University, 1889-1890; professor of chemistry and mineralogy at Wabash College, 1890-1894; assistant professor of chemistry, University of Chicago, 1894-1898; associate professor, 1898-1903, has been dean in the junior College since 1899, and professor of chemistry and director of the Laboratories of general and physical chemistry since 1904 in the University of Chicago. He has made researches on amorphous sulphur and has written six papers on that subject; and is author of: Teaching of Chemistry and Physics (Longmans), and numerous addresses on teaching chemistry; Introduction to General Inorganic Chemistry, 1906 (Century Company), of which three editions were printed in the first six months and which has been translated into German; also Laboratory Outline of General Chemistry, third edition (Century Company), translated into German and Russian. He is fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science; member of the American Chemical Society, and Indiana Academy of Science; fellow of the Edinburgh Royal Society, London Chemical Society, and the Deutsche Chemische Gesellschaft. He is a member of the Quadrangle Club of Chicago. Dr. Smith married in Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 16, 1905, Sara Potter Bowles. Residence: 5603 Monroe Avenue. Address: University Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

SMITH, Charles A.:

Lumber manufacturer; born in Sweden, Dec. 11, 1852, and received his education in the University of Minnesota. He is president of the C. A. Smith Lumber Company, C. A. Smith Timber Company, C. A. Smith Fir Company of Oregon, C. A. Smith Redwood Company of California, C. A. Smith Sugar Pine Company of California, the Northwestern Compo-Board Company, the Lauritzon Malt Company, Minneapolis

Red Lake and Manitoba Railway Company, and other Minneapolis corporations, and a few years ago incorporated the C. A. Smith Lumber and Manufacturing Company, and several other subsidiary companies for the operation of some of his timber holdings on the Pacific Coast, which are quite large, and that company, of which he is president, has erected a saw mill plant at Marshfield, Ore. He was a delegate to the National Republican Convention, in 1892 and 1906, and a Republican elector in 1900. Mr. Smith has received from the King of Sweden the decoration of commander of the Order of Vasa, trustee of the Lutheran Seminary at Chicago, and treasurer of the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of the Northwest. In politics he is a Republican, and he is a member of the Lutheran Church. He has traveled in this country, Mexico and Europe. Mr. Smith is a member of the Minneapolis, Commercial, Odin, Lafayette and Mannikada Clubs. He married in Minneapolis, Feb. 14, 1875, Johanna Anderson, and they have five children: Nann, Adeline, Myrtle, Vernon and Carroll. Residence: 2324 Emerson Avenue, South. Office: 411 Andrus Building, Minneapolis, Minn.

SMITH, Charles Bennett:

Editor of the Buffalo Courier and the Buffalo Enquirer; born in Wyoming County, N. Y., Sept. 14, 1870; son of James and Mary (Barnes) Smith. He was educated at the Arcade (N. Y.) Academy. He was reporter on the Buffalo Courier, 1889-1891; legislative correspondent at Albany, 1892-1894; editor of the Buffalo Times, 1895-1896; and editor of the Buffalo Courier since 1897. His favorite recreations are hunting, fishing, photography and motoring. Mr. Smith married in 1902, Frances G. Stanton. Address: 392 Porter Avenue, Buffalo, N. Y.

SMITH, Charles Sprague:

Educator; born in Andover, Mass., 1853; son of Charles and Caroline L. (Sprague) Smith. He was graduated from Amherst College, M.A., attended Universities of Berlin, Oxford, making a continuous study of five years in Europe. He was the organizer and head of Modern Language Department in Columbia University, 1880-1891, lecturer before universities and on public platforms since 1888. He founded the Comparative Literature Society in 1896, The People's Institute, 1897, and the Ethical Social League, 1908, and is a member of various civic committees, and member of the executive boards of many civic societies, the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity, Phi Beta Kappa Society, and the Authors' Club, and Century Association. He is author of: Barbizon Days; Working with the People; Poems; and various articles in magazines and the daily and weekly press. He married in Clinton, N. Y., 1884, Isabelle J. Dwight, and has a daughter. Residence: 29 West 68th Street. Office: 318 East 15th Street, New York City.

SMITH, Delavan:

Journalist; born in Cincinnati, Ohio, Dec. 28, 1861. He was educated in Lake Forest (Ill.) University; son of William Henry and Emaline (Reynolds) Smith. After service with the Associated Press and becoming assistant general manager of that organization, he became proprietor of the Indianapolis News, and brought that paper to its present considerable success. Mr. Smith is also vice-president of the Oliver Typewriter Company and the Street Railways Advertising Company, and president the Cox Multi-Mailer Company. He is a member of the American Historical Society, Chicago Historical Society, and Indiana Historical Society; trustee of the Winona Technical Institute, Indianapolis; and is a member of the University and Saddle and Cycle Clubs of Chicago; University and Country Clubs of Indianapolis; City Club of New York; and the Onwentsia Club of Lake Forest, Ill. Mr. Smith is an independent Republican and a Presbyterian. Residence: Lake Forest, Ill. Office: Indianapolis News, Indianapolis.

SMITH, Ellison DuRant:

U. S. senator; born in Lynchburg, S. C., Aug. 1, 1866; son of Rev. William H. and Mary Isabella (McLeod) Smith. He was educated in the University of South Carolina, Wofford College, A.B., 1889, winning gold medals in debate, science and literature. He is a merchant and planter, began the cotton movement in 1901 which resulted in the organization of the Farmers' Protective Association after the Sully failure, when cotton dropped from 17 to 6½ cents; began a study of the cotton movement; attended the boll-weevil convention at Shreveport, La., which resulted in plans for the New Orleans Convention of January, 1905, which culminated in the Southern Cotton Association, of which he was field agent and general organizer, covering the entire South, 1905-1908. He was a member of the South Carolina Legislature from Sumter County, 1896-1900; was nominated for U. S. Senator at a Democratic primary election in September, 1908 and elected to the U. S. Senate in January, 1909, for the six year term expiring March 3, 1915. Senator Smith has been twice married, first May 26, 1892, to Miss Mattie Moover, by whom he has one son; and second, to Miss Annie Farley of Spartanburg, S. C. Address: Florence, S. C.

SMITH, Garret:

Journalist and writer; born in Rochester, N. Y., May 17, 1878; son of Hugh Alexander and Julia Elizabeth (Garretsee) Smith. His maternal grandfather, John R. Garretsee, was one of the pioneer journalists and educators of Western New York; and his paternal grandmother is descended from the old Condé and Alexander families. He was graduated from the Brockport, N. Y., State Normal School, 1897, with life teachers' certificate, and from the University of Rochester, A.B., 1903. He was principal of Union Free School, Collins Center, N. Y., 1897-1898, and reorganized the school into a Regents' academy; principal of Honoye Falls High School, 1899-1901; private tutor and instructor in English in the schools of Rochester, N. Y., during his resident college work. Since 1896 he has been a well-known and popular contributor of poems, special articles, novelettes, and short stories to newspapers and magazines; and since 1903 he has been connected with the New York Tribune in an editorial capacity. He is a member of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity, Masonic fraternity, Society of the Genesee, the New York Alumni Association of the University of Rochester, and the New York Alumni Association of Brockport Normal School, and Alpha Delta Phi Club of New York. Residences: 136 West 44th Street, New York City, and Brockport, N. Y. Office: New York Tribune, New York City.

SMITH, George Carson:

Identified with the Westinghouse interests; born in Granville, N. Y., March 4, 1855; son of Harvey J. and Olivia Cordelia (White) Smith. He was educated at North Hebron Institute in Washington County, N. Y., and at Castleton Seminary, Vt., and subsequently graduated from Adrian College, Mich., in 1877. Mr. Smith filled the position of private secretary to the governor of Michigan, 1877-1881. In 1881 he entered railroad service as secretary to the general manager of the Texas & Pacific and International and Great Northern Railways. Subsequently, in 1887, he became assistant to the vice-president of the Missouri-Pacific System, and, 1890-1894, was assistant general manager of the Missouri-Pacific and general manager of the Kansas City, Wyandotte and Northwestern Railroad; president and general manager of the Atlanta and West Point Railroad and The Western Railway of Alabama, 1894-1900. He afterwards became general manager of the St. Louis-Louisville lines of the Southern Railway, and, 1901-1908, he held the position of vice-president of the Security Investment Company of Pittsburgh, Pa., of which George Westinghouse is president. Mr. Smith is president of The Lackawanna and Wyoming Valley Rapid Transit Company, Grand Rapids, Grand Haven and Muskegon Railway Company, and Westinghouse Inter-Works Railway Company, and vice-president of the Manila Electric Railroad and Lighting Corporation, Electric Power Securities Company of Niagara Falls, The East Pittsburgh Improvement Company, and a director of the Westinghouse Air Brake Company, Westinghouse, Church Kerr & Company, Union Switch and Signal Company, Electric Properties Company, Niagara, Lockport and Ontario Power Company, Atlanta Water and Electric Power Company, Canadian Westinghouse Company, Westinghouse Lamp Company, and other Westinghouse companies. Mr. Smith is a member of the Engineers' and Railroad Clubs of New York City; and Duquesne Club of Pittsburgh. He married, in 1878, Miss Jennie Prosser of Pittsburgh, and they have four children: A daughter, Olivia, now Mrs. H. A. Cornelius of Pittsburgh, and three sons, Somers Hayes, George C., Jr., and Warren Prosser Smith. Address: 165 Broadway, New York City.

SMITH, Herbert Knox:

U. S. commissioner of Corporations; born in Chester, Mass., Nov. 17, 1869; son of Edward Alfred and Melissa E. (Knox) Smith. He was graduated from Yale University, A.B., and from Yale Law School. He practised law in Hartford, Conn., 1895-1903, and was a member of the Connecticut Legislature, 1903-1905. Mr. Smith was deputy commissioner of corporations of the Department of Commerce and Labor, 1903-1907, and since March, 1907, has been commissioner of corporations. He was a member of the U. S. Commission investigating the Slocum disaster, which was in session from June to Oct., 1904. He is a director of the Farmington (Conn.) Savings Bank, the American School for the Deaf, and vice-president of the Hartford Young Men's Christian Association. Mr. Smith is a member of the Hartford Club, Conn., Yale Club of New York, and the Metropolitan and Chevy Chase Clubs of Washington. He married at Farmington, Conn., Sept. 29, 1908, Gertrude E. Dietrich. Residence: The Highlands. Office: Bureau of Corporations, Washington, D. C.

SMITH, Hoke:

Former governor of Georgia; born at Newton, N. C., Sept. 2, 1855. He was educated at home, by his father, moved to Georgia when he was seventeen years old; engaged in teaching school. He studied law and engaged in practice at Atlanta; became proprietor of the Atlanta Journal in 1887, and conducted it until 1898, when, on account of the tax placed by it upon his time, sold the paper to give his entire time to practising law. He has been actively identified for years with the politics of Georgia, as a Democratic leader, and upon the beginning of the second Cleveland administration, in 1893, he was called to the cabinet as secretary of the Interior, resigning from that office, Aug. 22, 1896. He was nominated by the Democratic party for governor, and elected in Oct., 1906, for the two-year term beginning in June, 1907, which he served. Address: Atlanta, Ga.

SMITH, Jane Luella Dowd:

Teacher and author; born in Sheffield, Mass., June 16, 1847; daughter of Almeron and Emily (Curtiss) Dowd. She attended Westfield (Mass.) High School, and was graduated from the Westfield State Normal School (essayist), and from North Granville Ladies' Seminary (valedictorian). She married in Westfield, Mass., May 18, 1875, Henry Hadley Smith, M.D. She taught school for ten years, being principal of public schools for six years and of South Egremont Academy for four years. Mrs. Smith has written for many years for temperance papers and for the National Temperance Publication House, and has edited temperance suffrage and humane columns in city and county papers. She is author of the books: Wayside Leaves (verse); Wind Flowers (verse); Flowers from Foreign Fields (translations of poetry); Ways to Win (prose); also of the pamphlets: The Church from a Woman's Standpoint; In Memoriam—Mrs. Ella Roys Gore; and various Temperance tracts. She formerly used various pen-names, but now publishes over the signature Luella D. Smith. Mrs. Smith has been superintendent of the Universalist Sunday School in Hudson, N. Y., for nine years, and gives much of her time to the work of temperance and philanthropy, and occasionally gives temperance addresses. She is State Superintendent of a department of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union; director of the Needlework Guild; director of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children and of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals; member of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Independent Order of Good Templars, Ladies of the Maccabees and the New York State Woman's Suffrage Association. Address: 533 Warren street, Hudson, N. Y.

SMITH, John Walter:

U. S. senator; born at Snow Hill, Worcester County, Md., Feb. 5, 1845; son of John Walter and Charlotte (Whittington) Smith; and in 1850 his father died. He was educated at private schools and the Union Academy at Snow Hill, receiving a classical education and excelling in mathematics. At the age of eighteen he took a position with the mercantile house of George S. Richardson & Brother, in which he later became a partner. In 1887 he assisted in organizing the First National Bank of Snow Hill, of which he has ever since been president; and he has been very successful in that and other business lines, and has accumulated a large fortune. He was elected to the State Senate, serving 1889-1899, and was president of the Maryland Senate in 1894; chairman of the State Democratic Committee, 1895; Democratic nominee for U. S. senator, 1896; elected in 1898 to the Fifty-sixth Congress, but resigned upon his election as governor of Maryland, in which office he served, 1900-1904. In the election of Nov., 1907, ex-Governor Smith received the Democratic nomination for the U. S. senatorship for term beginning March 4, 1909, and ending March 3, 1915, to which, in regular course, he was elected by the Maryland Legislature of 1908, and at the same session was elected to fill the unexpired term of the late Hon. William Pinkney Whyte, who died March 17, 1908. He married at Snow Hill, Md., in 1869, Mary Frances Richardson, a sister of his former partner, the late George S. Richardson. Address: Snow Hill, Md.

SMITH, Mabel Shippie Clarke:

Writer; born in Boston; daughter of Edward Augustus May and Frances Dexter (Young) Clarke. She was graduated from the Girls' Latin School, Boston, 1883, Boston University, A.B., 1887, and the University of North Carolina, A.M., 1905. She married in Boston, Oct. 17, 1891, F. Alarie Pelton; second, Oct. 22, 1907, James Ravenel Smith of Charleston, S. C. Mrs. Smith was member of the School Committee of Dedham, Mass., 1893; secretary of the Massachusetts Society for the University Education of Women, 1893; president of the Boston Branch of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae, 1892; third vice-president of the Southern Association of College Women, 1904; acting dean of women, University of Tennessee, 1904. She is a member of the Society of Mayflower Descendants, Daughters of the American Revolution, North Carolina Society of Colonial Dames, the Kappa Kappa Gamma fraternity, and the Lyceum Club of London. Address: Arden, N. C.

SMITH, Merritt Haviland:

Civil engineer; born in New York City, May 21, 1862; son of Merritt Haviland and Mary Adelia (Howard) Smith. He was educated in common schools and by private tutors, at the Military School, Yonkers, N. Y., and the Pennsylvania Military College, where he was graduated, C.E., 1880. He studied law, 1880-1881; was engineer with the Pittsburgh and Western Railroad, 1881-1884, at Pittsburgh, engaged on the location and construction of the Pittsburgh Junction Railroad. He was engineer with the New York City Department of Public Works on the New York Croton Aqueduct, 1884-1889; engineer with the comptroller of New York City, 1894-1906; and department engineer of the New York Board of Water Supply since March, 1906, in charge of the South Aqueduct Department of the Catskill Aqueduct. He is a director of the Underhill Land and Improvement Company; was Park commissioner of the City of Yonkers, 1900-1903; police commissioner of the city of Yonkers; and secretary and treasurer of the department, 1905-1906. He was member of Company F of the Seventh Regiment of the National Guard of New York, 1880-1889; member of Squadron A, National Guard of New York, 1895 to 1907, 1st lieutenant, 1901-1906; captain, 1906-1907, in the First Troop of that organization, and he was captain and major of the First United States Volunteer Engineers from June 18, 1898, to Jan. 24, 1899, and during the Spanish-American War, served in Porto Rico with General Miles. He is a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, the Military Service Institution, the New York State Rifle Association, and member of the Chamber of Commerce. He married in Yonkers, N. Y., Dec. 31, 1890, Maude M. Underhill, daughter of Edward and Ann Underhill, and they have had two children: Merritt Haviland, Jr., born in 1892, and Roderick Wray, deceased. Address: Realty Building, White Plains, N. Y.

SMITH, Minna Caroline:

Author, journalist; born in Monterey, Calif.; daughter of William Nelson and Jane (Letts) Smith. She was educated at Harvard Annex. She removed with her father in early childhood, after the death of her mother in California, to Illinois; and after a journey of a year in Europe, went to college, and also attended lectures at the College of France. She became a member of the editorial staff of the Boston Transcript, in which position she was active for nearly nine years. Miss Smith is author of: Mary Paget, A Romance of Old Bermuda; Red Top Ranch; and of verse, In Fruitful Lands. She translated: Saragossa from the Spanish of Galdos; Jose and the Joy of Captain Ribot, from the Spanish of Valdes; Trilby the Fairy of Argyle, from the French of Charles Nodier. Miss Smith is also a contributor to the International Studio on work of American artists. Address: Care of the International Studio, New York City.

SMITH, Nicholas:

Journalist and author; born in Blackburn, England, Oct. 31, 1836; son of William and Sarah (Bailey) Smith. He is self-educated; worked on the farm and in the coal mines, 1844-1860, in Southern Wisconsin, having come to the United States in 1841. He studied law in 1861, and was admitted to the Lafayette county (Wis.) Bar in 1862. He enlisted as a private in the Thirty-third Wisconsin Infantry in August, 1862; was commissioned second lieutenant in October, 1862, first lieutenant, May, 1863; captain, August, 1863; participated in the expedition through Central Mississippi, 1862-1863; the siege of Vicksburg, 1863; capture of Jackson, Miss., 1863; the ill-fated Red River expedition in the spring of 1864; the expedition against Marmaduke in Arkansas and Missouri in the latter part of 1864; resigned by special order, on account of disability, Jan. 10, 1865. He was commissioned colonel by Governor Smith, 1880. In 1869 he abandoned the practice of law and began his newspaper career on the Waukesha (Wis.) Freeman, and from 1874 to 1891 was editor of the Janesville (Wis.) Daily Gazette. He was press secretary of the Republican State Central Committee, 1891-1894, and for the following four years and a half was editor of the Fond du Lac Daily Commonwealth. He is author of: Stories of Great National Songs, 1899; Hymns Historically Famous, 1901; Songs from the Hearts of Women, 1903; Our Nation's Flag in History and Incident, 1903; Masters of Old Age, 1905; Grant, the Man of Mystery, 1909; and he has contributed historical articles to various publications. Colonel Smith was seven years member of the State Board of Supervision, having in charge all the charitable, reformatory and penal institutions of the State. He is a member of the Masonic fraternity; of the Wisconsin Commandery of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States, and of the Grand Army of the Republic. He married at Meeker's Grove, Wis., Aug. 14, 1862, Julia Clara Meeker, and has two daughters and a son. Address: The Belvedere, Milwaukee, Wis.

SMITH, Walter Lloyd:

Judge of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court of New York; born in Elmira, N. Y., April 18, 1856; son of H. Boardman and Ellen H. Smith. He was graduated from Princeton, A.B., 1877; studied law in offices in Elmira, 1877-1879; was admitted to the bar and practised, 1879-1888; and he was elected in 1888 and re-elected in 1902, on the Republican ticket, as justice of the Supreme Court of New York, from the Sixth Judicial District, the present term expiring Dec. 31, 1916. He is now serving as presiding justice of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court in the Third Department. Judge Smith is a member of Fort Orange Club of Albany, the Elmira City, University, and Princeton Clubs. He married in Elmira, N. Y., in 1893, Jessie Gonzales. Address: Elmira, N. Y.

SMOCK, John Conover:

Geologist; born near Holmdel, Monmouth County, N. J., Sept. 1, 1842. He was graduated from Rutgers College, A.B., 1862; tutor in chemistry there, 1865-1867, and studied in Berlin, 1869-1870. He was assistant geologist in the New Jersey Geological Survey, 1864-1885; assistant in charge of the New York State Museum, 1885-1890; State geologist of New Jersey, 1890-1901. He is a member of the Board of Managers of the New Jersey Geological Survey; of the New Jersey Forest Reservation Commission; fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science; a member of the Geological Society, the American Institute of Mining Engineers, the Forestry Association, and the American Philosophical Association. Address: Trenton, N. J.

SMOOT, Reed:

U. S. senator; born Jan. 10, 1862, at Salt Lake City, Utah. He was educated at the State University and Brigham Young Academy, being a graduate of the latter institution; is a banker and woolen manufacturer. He was elected to the United States Senate to succeed Joseph L. Rawlins, Democrat, and took his seat March 4, 1903. His term of service expired March 3, 1909. An effort to deprive Senator Smoot of his seat on an allegation of polygamy ran through several sessions of Congress and was unsuccessful because of the non-proof of the statements made. He married, Sept. 17, 1884, Alpha M. Eldredge. Address: Provo, Utah.

SNELL, Henry Bayley:

Artist; born in Richmond, Surrey, England, Sept. 29, 1858; son of Edward and Elizabeth Snell. He studied art in the Art Students' League, New York City, and engaged in professional work as artist. He was elected associate and, in 1906, academician of the National Academy of Design, and was assistant director of fine arts to the U. S. Commission to the Paris Exposition of 1900, receiving there the decoration of Officier de l'Académie and Officier de l'Instruction publique; and his works exhibited in various exhibitions have received many favorable awards, including the gold medal of the Philadelphia Art Club, honorable mention at the Paris Exposition of 1900, silver medals at the Pan-American Exposition of 1901 and the Louisiana Purchase Exposition of 1904. Mr. Snell is a member and was president of the New York Water Color Club, and is a member of the American Water Color Society. Address: 37 West 22d Street, New York City.

SNOWDEN, Archibald Loudon:

President of Board of Commissioners of Fairmount Park; son of Dr. Isaac Wayne Snowden, surgeon under General Jackson (descendant of Judge John Snowden, an early settler of Philadelphia); grandson, on maternal side, of Archibald Loudon of Cumberland County, Pa. He was educated in Jefferson College, which afterward gave him the A.M. and LL.D. degrees, and studied in the Law Department of the University of Pennsylvania. Mr. Snowden was admitted to the Philadelphia bar. At the request of his uncle, Hon. James Ross Snowden, then director of the United States Mint, he entered that institution as registrar, and then was promoted to chief coiner. He was appointed postmaster of Philadelphia in 1877, and afterward, by President Hayes, superintendent of the Mint. In 1889 he was appointed minister resident and consul-general of the United States to Greece, Roumania and Servia, and the grade was soon after raised to envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary, and later he was transferred from Athens to Madrid. At the beginning of the Civil War he organized, partly clothed, and fed for weeks a regiment, and was commissioned its lieutenant-colonel, and later participated in the skirmishes preliminary to the battle of Gettysburg, as a member of the First City Troop of Philadelphia, and was commissioned its commanding officer in 1877. He organized the great parade, Dec. 6, 1879, in honor of General Grant's return from his journey around the world, and the great civic parade in 1889 under the auspices of the Constitution Centennial Commission. Colonel Snowden received from the King of Greece the Grand Cordon of the Saviour; from the King of Roumania, the Grand Cordon of the Crown of Roumania, and from the Queen Regent of Spain, the Grand Cordon of the Order of Isabella the Catholic. He is a member of the American Philosophical Society, St. Andrew's Society, and the Union League of Philadelphia. He married Elizabeth Robinson Smith, daughter of Isaac Robinson Smith of Philadelphia. Address: 1812 Spruce Street, Philadelphia.

SOLEY, James Russell:

Lawyer; born in Boston, Oct. 1, 1850; son of John J. Soley. He was graduated from Harvard University, A.B., 1870, and from Columbian (now George Washington) University, LL.B. He studied law in the office of Judge A. B. Hagner, of Washington, D. C.; and was admitted to the bar of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia. He was appointed professor, with the rank of lieutenant-commander in the U. S. Navy, and head of the Department of History and Law in the U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis; lecturer on International Law in the Naval War College at New Port, R. I.; on special duty under the Commission General, Paris Exposition, 1878; on special duty in the Bureau of Navigation and office of the Secretary, Navy Department, with rank of commander, 1882-1890. In 1890 he was appointed assistant secretary of the Navy, which position he filled with marked ability, but resigned in 1893 to engage in the practice of law in New York City. He was a member of the firm of Boardman, Platt and Soley until 1906. As counsel for the Brooklyn Traction Company he conducted the reorganization of the company and the lease and sale of the Atlantic Avenue and Brooklyn, Bath and West End Railroads. He was counsel for Venezuela at the Paris Arbitration in 1899, of the Venezuela-British Guiana Boundary; counsel for the Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific Company, Union Bridge Company, Harvey Steel Company, San Francisco Bridge Company and other Corporations. He conducted the mandamus proceedings of the Empire City Racing Association against the Stella Racing Commission in 1907; and was counsel for the Resumption Committee of the Knickerbocker Trust Company in 1908, and in the organization of the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railway Company in 1908. Mr. Soley is author of: History of the Naval Academy; Foreign Systems of Naval Education; The Blockade and the Cruisers; Boys of 1812; Sailor Boys of 1861; The Rescue of Greeley (with Winfield S. Schley); Life of Admiral Porter; and many magazine and other articles. Mr. Soley is a trustee of the New York Institution for the Blind, a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity; the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, the Union, University, The Brook, and Harvard Clubs of New York, and the Alibi and Metropolitan Clubs of Washington, D. C. He married in New York City, Dec. 1, 1875, Mary Woolsey Howland, and has two daughters. Residence: 22 East 56th Street. Office: Hanover Bank Building, 5 Nassau Street, New York City.

SOMERVILLE, Henderson Middleton:

United States general appraiser; born in Madison County, Va., March 23, 1837. He was graduated from the University of Alabama, A.B., 1856, A.M., 1859, LL.D. in 1887; from the Cumberland Law School, Tenn., LL.B., 1859, and he received the LL.D. degree from Georgetown College, Ky., 1886, and from Southwestern University, Tenn., 1887. After leaving the law school in 1859, he became editor of the Memphis Appeal until 1862; then engaged in teaching as associate professor of mathematics and languages at the University of Alabama, until 1865. He then engaged in the general practice of law at Tuscaloosa, Ala., and while so engaged founded the Law School of the University of Alabama, in 1873, holding the chair of constitutional, statutory and common law there until 1890. He was a member of the Democratic State Executive Committee of Alabama, from 1872 until elected in 1880, associate justice of the Supreme Court of Alabama, in which position he served until appointed in 1890 member of the Board of the United States General Appraisers, in which position he has continued ever since, serving as chairman until 1904. He is one of the trustees of the Peabody Education Fund; was trustee of the Alabama Insane Hospital, 1874-1892; was a member of the Medico-Legal Society of New York, and its president, 1892-1893, and is a member of the Southern Society of New York, and the Alpha Delta Phi Society. Residence: 265 Central Park West. Office: 641 Washington Street, New York City.

SONNE, Otto:

Civil and landscape engineer; born in Denmark. Dec. 2, 1855; son of H. C. and Margaret (Rothe) Sonne. He was graduated from the Polytechnic Institute at Copenhagen, Denmark, C.E., 1877. He was engaged on Government engineering work in Denmark, 1877-1884; served in the Danish Army and Navy, 1879; on the U. S. improvement of the Missouri River, 1885-1886; the Sibley Bridge over the Missouri, 1886-1887; various bridge work and surveys in Colorado and Tennessee, 1887-1891; private office in Boston, 1891-1906, and in New York City since 1906. Since 1891 Mr. Sonne has been principally devoted to landscape work on private country places, among which U. S. Senator Nelson W. Aldrich's estate at Warwick, R. I., is prominent; also public grounds, cemeteries, etc. He has been a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers since 1887, and is a member of the St. Botolph Club of Boston. He married in New York City, Aug. 12, 1894, Harriet Rothe, and they have four children. Address: 134 Nassau Street, New York City.

SOPER, Erastus Burrows:

Lawyer and bank president; born in Pitcher, Chenango County, N. Y., Sept. 15, 1841; son of Jacob and Celinda (Harvey) Soper. He attended Western College from 1857 to 1861, was graduated from Cornell College, Iowa, A.B., 1868, A.M., 1871, (LL.D., 1904). He taught in Cornell College, 1868-1869; studied law at Marion, Iowa, 1869-1871, and located at Estherville, as a practising attorney, 1871-1879. He removed to Emmetsburg, and kept offices in both places, and engaged in all important litigation in the adjacent counties for thirty-five years. He is now retired and devotes his attention to the management of his personal fortune, invested in land and bank stock. He served in the Civil War as a private in Company K, First Regiment, Iowa Infantry Volunteers, April-Aug., 1861; second and first lieutenant and captain of Company D, Twelfth Regiment, Iowa Infantry Volunteers, Sept., 1861, to Jan., 1865; was engaged in battles at Wilson's Creek, Mo., in 1861; at Fort Henry, Fort Donelson and Shiloh, Tenn., in 1862; and in Corinth, Miss., in 1862 (May-Oct.); at Vicksburg and Jackson, Miss., in 1863; Tupelo, Miss., in 1864; the campaign against Price in Missouri, Oct.-Nov., 1864, and at Nashville, Tenn., Dec., 1864. He was a lay delegate to the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Los Angeles, 1904; chairman of the Iowa Shiloh Monument Association, and built monuments in Shiloh Park; and is past commander of the Iowa Commandery of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, and vice-president of the Society of the Army of Tennessee. He has traveled in all the States and Territories, except five; over British America from the Atlantic to the Pacific; also around the Mediterranean Sea and through Europe. He is president of the First National Bank of Emmetsburg, the First National Bank and the Provident Savings Bank, both of Estherville, the First National Bank of Titonka, the State Bank of Armstrong (all in Iowa); the Faribault County State Bank of Winnebago, Minn., the Savings Bank of Doliver, Iowa, Savings Bank of Huntington, Iowa, and the Savings Bank of Gruver, Iowa. Mr. Soper is a member of the Iowa State Bar Association; member of the Board of Trustees of Cornell College, since 1877, and of the Executive Committee of the Board for twenty years. He is also a member of the Grand Army of the Republic, Sons of American Revolution (Iowa Society), and a member of Grant Club of Des Moines, Iowa. He married in Mt. Vernon, Iowa, Nov. 19, 1867, Elizabeth A. Corey, and they have three children. Address: Emmetsburg, Iowa.

SOTHERN, Edward H.:

Actor; born in New Orleans, Dec. 6, 1859; second son of Edward A. Sothern the famous actor. For several years after his father's death, he played in England in his brother's company. He returned to the United States in 1883; his first great success was in Lord Chumley; several years ago he took up Shakespearean and other classical rôles in connection with Julia Marlowe, and together they scored tremendous success here and abroad. He married, Dec. 3, 1896, Virginia Harned, a leading actress: Address: 34 West 69th Street, New York City.

SOUSA, John Philip:

Bandmaster, composer and author; born in Washington, D. C., Nov. 6, 1854; son of Antonio and Elizabeth Sousa. At the age of eleven he appeared in public as a violin soloist, at fifteen he was teaching harmony, and in 1876 he became one of the first violins in the orchestra conducted by Offenbach, when the latter visited America. Later he became conductor for various theatrical and operatic companies, among them the Church Choir Pinafore Company. In 1880 he was appointed leader of the band of the U. S. Marine Corps, the National Band, serving under Presidents Hayes, Garfield, Arthur, Cleveland and Harrison, until Aug. 1, 1892, when he resigned from United States service to organize the Sousa Band, which, up to Jan. 1, 1909 had made thirty-three semi-annual tours through the United States, and has four times visited Europe, giving a total of 7947 concerts in 930 cities and covering 319,298 miles of travel. As a music composer he has originated a "march" style that is recognized the world over, his productions in this field including, as best known and most popular: The Washington Post; Liberty Bell; Manhattan Beach; High School Cadets; Semper Fidelis; The Gladiator; The Stars and Stripes Forever; The Invincible Eagle; Hail to the Spirit of Liberty; Hands Across the Sea; The Charlatan; The Bride-Elect; El Capitan; King Cotton; Imperial Edward; Jack Tar; The Diplomat; The Free Lance, marches. He has also written several suites, including Three Quotations; Looking Upward; At the King's Court; Last Days of Pompeii, and Sheridan's Ride; also a symphonic poem, The Chariot Race; a long list of songs and miscellaneous compositions and the comic operas: The Smugglers; Désirée; The Queen of Hearts; El Capitan; The Bride-Elect; The Charlatan; Chris and the Wonderful Lamp, and The Free Lance. As author he compiled under the auspices of the Government: National Patriotic and Typical Airs of all Countries; wrote the book and lyrics for his opera, The Bride-Elect; also numerous verses and magazine articles, and has produced two novels: The Fifth String, and Pipetown Sandy. With his band he has appeared twice by command before King Edward and Queen Alexandra, once at Sandringham, then at Windsor, and on the first occasion was honored by His Majesty with the decoration of the Victorian order. He also received the Grand Diploma of Honor at the Academy of Hainaut, Belgium, and was decorated by the French Government with the Palms of the Academy, besides being made an Officer of Public Instruction. Mr. Sousa is a member of various Masonic bodies, the Sons of Veterans, and the National Geographic Society. He is a member of the Gridiron Club of Washington, and the Republican, Salmagundi, Players, Baton and Dramatists Clubs of New York City. Address: Astor Court, 18-20 West 34th Street, New York City.

SPEAR, Lawrence York:

Naval architect; born in Warren, Ohio, Oct. 23, 1870; son of Judge W. T. and Francis (York) Spear. He was graduated from the U. S. Naval Academy in 1890, and as B.Sc., from the University of Glasgow, Scotland, in 1893. In 1890 he was attached to the Pensacola, flagship of the South American Squadron. He was present during the Balmaceda revolution in Chili, and transferred to the Charleston; he brought home the captured Itata; was detached from the Charleston in 1891, and ordered to the University of Glasgow for a special course in naval architecture. He was commissioned assistant constructor in 1892. He took the first prizes at Glasgow, including the Harvey prize; returned to the United States in 1893; was on duty at various places on the Pacific Coast in connection with the build of the Oregon, Olympia, and other vessels. He was commissioned naval constructor in 1898; ordered in charge of the post-graduate school at Annapolis; and later on duty in Washington and as superintendent of vessel building in and around New York City. He resigned in 1902, to take a position as naval architect and general manager of Holland, and vice-president of the Electric Boat Company, in which position he is in charge of the design and construction of all Holland submarines. He is a member of the Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers, and the American Society of Naval Engineers. Mr. Spear is a member of The Lambs and The Strollers Clubs. He married in New York City, June 12, 1902, Lilian, daughter of the late Charles Tudor Wing. Address: 11 Pine Street, New York City.

SPEED, John Gilmer:

Journalist and author; born in Kentucky, Sept. 21, 1863; son of Philip and Emma (Kets) Speed. He was graduated from the University of Louisville, A.B. and C.E. He began his career as civil engineer and was for a time city engineer of Louisville, Kentucky. He became managing editor of the New York World and went to London in 1877 as secretary of the American Exhibition. He is one of the best known of American editors having edited the American Magazine and Leslie's Weekly, and is author of: Life and Letters of John Keats; The Gilmers in America; A Deal in Denver;

A Fall River Incident; The Horse in America; and is a contributor to various magazines and periodicals, and a lecturer before many societies and lyceums. Mr. Speed has served as commissioner to buy horses to improve the breed of stock in the Philippine Islands. He married in Kentucky, Jan. 14, 1881, Mary C. Pondexter, and has one daughter. Residence: Mendham, N. J. Office: 139 East 19th Street, New York City.

SPEER, Emory:

Jurist; born in Culloden, Ga., Sept. 3, 1848; son of Rev. Eustace W. and Annie E. Speer. He served in the Fifth Kentucky Regiment in the Confederate Army, 1864-1865, then entered the University of Georgia, from which he was graduated A.B. in 1869. He began the practice of law in Athens, Ga., 1869, and was solicitor-general of Georgia, 1873-1876. He was elected to the Forty-fifth Congress as an Independent Democrat, but disagreeing with his party he affiliated with the Republicans on protection and other issues, and was re-elected to the Forty-sixth Congress as an Independent. He was appointed U. S. attorney for the Northern District of Georgia, 1883-1885; and in Feb., 1885, was appointed U. S. judge of the Southern District of Georgia. He is distinguished as an orator and has made many addresses on important national occasions; was trustee of the University of Georgia, 1877-1885; and president of the law department of Mercer University. Judge Speer is author of a work on the Removal of Causes from the State to the United States Courts, and of Lectures on the Constitution of the United States. Address: Macon, Ga.

SPENCER, Edgar A.:

Justice of the Supreme Court of New York; born in Cherry Valley, N. Y., Nov. 23, 1847; son of William D. and Mahitable P. (Glazier) Spencer. He received his education in Cooperstown Seminary. He was admitted to the bar in 1875, and was engaged in the general practice of law until 1901; was city clerk and city attorney of Gloversville, and in Nov. 1894, was elected as a Republican to the Constitutional Convention of the State of New York. In 1901 he was elected for a full term of fourteen years as justice of the Supreme Court of New York; and is now serving as such in the Fourth District. He married in Gloversville, N. Y., Sept., 1879, Frances B. Hosmer. Address: Gloversville, N. Y.

SPERRY, Charles Stillman:

Rear-admiral, U.S. Navy, retired; born in Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 3, 1847; son of Corydon Stillman and Catherine Elizabeth (Leavenworth) Sperry. He attended the public schools of Waterbury, Conn., entered the Naval Academy, Sept. 27, 1862. He served on the U. S. Steamship Sacramento in 1866-1867; was promoted to master March 26, 1869; commissioned lieutenant March 21, 1870; lieutenant-commander March, 1885; commander July, 1894; captain, July 1, 1900, and rear-admiral May 26, 1906; retired by operation of law, Sept. 3, 1909. He served on many vessels and stations, was in the Bureau of Ordnance, 1893-1895; in the New York Navy Yard, 1895-1898; commanded the Yorktown, 1898-1900; commanded the New Orleans, 1901-1903; president of the Naval War College, 1903-1906; naval member of the National Coast Defence Board, 1906; delegate to the Conference at Geneva in June, 1906, to revise the Convention of 1864 for the treatment of the sick and wounded in war, and to the Second Conference at The Hague in 1907. He was ordered in Nov. 1907 to command a division of the U. S. Atlantic Fleet, then about to sail on its cruise around the world. Succeeded to the command in chief May 15, 1908, made the cruise through the Pacific and homeward, arriving at Hampton Boards, Va., Feb. 22, 1909 where the fleet was reviewed by the president. He was relieved by Rear-Admiral Seaton Schroeder, U. S. N., March 8, 1909. Address: Navy Department Washington, D. C.

SPEYER, James:

Banker; born in New York City in 1861. He received his education at Frankfort-on-Main. Mr. Speyer began business in his father's banking house in Frankfort. He went to London and Paris and in 1885 returned to New York. He is now senior partner of the New York banking house of Speyer and Company; also partner in Frankfort and London houses, and European branches. He is treasurer and trustee of the Provident Loan Society of New York; vice-president and director of the Société Financière Franco-Américaine; a member of the Board of Managers of the Girard Trust Company, Philadelphia; trustee of the Central Trust Company, the German Savings Bank, the Title Guarantee and Trust Company, the Union Trust Company, of New York, the Rock Island Company of New York; director of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, Banco Mexicano de Comercio é Industria, Bank of the Manhattan Company, Citizens Saving and Trust Company, Cleveland; General Chemical Company, Guaranty Trust Company of New York, Lakawanna Steel Company, Maryland Trust Company, Baltimore; National Railways of Mexico, North British and Mercantile Insurance Company of New York, the Underground Electric Railways Company of London, Limited. Mr. Speyer is a member of the Board of Managers of the Isabella Heimath, trustee of Mt. Sinai Hospital; Hospital Saturday and Sunday Association; a member of the Executive Committee of the National Civic Federation, The Pilgrims; treasurer of People's Symphony Concerts; chairman of the Finance Committee of Teachers College; treasurer and member of council of the University Settlement Society; member of the Finance Committee of the State Charities Aid Association; treasurer and member of Executive Committee of the American Committee on Moral Training Inquiry; director of the Peace Society of New York; honorary vice-president of the Navy League of the United States; member of the Executive Committee of the Economic Club of New York; member of the City, Players', Lotos, Reform, Lawyers', Whist, Racquet, City, Midday, New York Yacht and Deutscher Verein Clubs. He married, Nov., 1897, Ellin L. Prince (Mrs. John A. Lowery). Address: 257 Madison Avenue, New York City.

SPINNEY, George Franklin:

President and manager of the St. Paul Daily and Sunday Globe; born at Great Falls, N. H., July 9, 1852. He was educated in the public schools of Lawrence, Mass. He was successively printer, proof-reader, foreman, reporter, political correspondent, and managing editor and publisher of the New York Times, New York City. Mr. Spinney is a member of the Lotus, Press and New York Clubs of New York. Address: Globe Office, St. Paul, Minn.

SPOFFORD, Paul N.:

Merchant; successor and surviving partner of Spofford, Tileston Company; born in New York City; son of Paul and Sarah Spofford. He received his education in the select school of Daniel P. Bacon. Among his schoolmates were Theodore Roosevelt, father of President Roosevelt, and Charles Carow, father of President Roosevelt's wife. He has been a director in banks, railroads, insurances and other companies; was president of the Grocer's Steam Sugar Refining Company, his immediate successor being Hon. Moses H. Grinnell; of the Texas Land Company, his immediate successor being Hon. William Walter Phelps; and vice-president and later president of the Samana Bay Company, his predecessor being William G. Fargo, of the Wells-Fargo Express. He was on the staff of Governors Young and Hamilton Fish as engineer-in-chief of the State of New York, with the rank of brigadier-general; and as first engineer, organized that department, his immediate successor being General James Watson Webb. In politics he is a Republican and in his religious affiliations a Presbyterian. Mr. Spofford is a member of the Society of Colonial Wars, the New York Historical Society, the American Geographical Society, the National Geographic Society, the Conservation (formerly the Forestry and Irrigation) Society, the American Bible Society, the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the Charity Organization Society, the Presbyterian Hospital, the New York Botanical Gardens, the Essex Institute of Massachusetts, the New York Chamber of Commerce, and is a member of the Union and Union League Clubs. Address: 29 Broadway, New York City.

SPOONER, John Coit:

Ex-U. S. senator; born at Lawrenceburg, Dearborn County, Ind., Jan. 6., 1843. He moved with his father's family to Wisconsin and settled at Madison, June 1, 1859. He was graduated from the State University in 1864; was private in Company D, Fortieth Regiment, and captain of Company A, Fiftieth Regiment, Wisconsin Infantry Volunteers; was brevetted major at the close of service, and was private and military secretary of Governor Lucius Fairchild, of Wisconsin. He was admitted to the bar in 1867, and served as assistant attorney-general of the State until 1870, when he moved to Hudson, Wis., where he practised law, 1870-1884. He was member of the Assembly from St. Croix County in 1872; member of the Board of Regents of the Wisconsin University; was elected U. S. senator to succeed Angus Cameron, Republican, for the term beginning March 4, 1885. He was succeeded as U. S. senator March 4, 1891, by William F. Vilas, Democrat. He was unanimously nominated as Republican candidate for governor of Wisconsin in 1892, but was defeated; moved from Hudson to Madison in 1893; was actively engaged in the practice of his profession, 1892-1897; unanimously nominated in Republican caucuses, Jan. 13, 1897, and duly elected, Jan. 27, 1897, U. S. senator for the term beginning March 4, 1897, to succeed William F. Vilas, Democrat. He was tendered by President McKinley, December, 1898, a position in his cabinet, as secretary of the interior, vice Cornelius N. Bliss, resigned, and declined it; was also tendered in 1898 by President McKinley membership of the United States and British Joint High Commission, and declined it; was tendered by President McKinley, Jan. 3, 1901, position of attorney-general to take office March 4, 1901, and declined it; on July 6, 1900, in a communication to Republicans of Wisconsin announced his purpose not to be a candidate for reelection; but on Jan. 27, 1903, was, notwithstanding, elected for another term, beginning March 4, 1903; and resigned in 1907, engaging in the practice of law in connection with a number of important litigations. Address: 150 Langdon Street, Madison, Wis.

SPRAGUE, Frank Julian:

Electrical engineer and inventor; born at Milford, Conn., July 25, 1857. In 1874 he won a competitive appointment to the U. S. Naval Academy, from which he was graduated in 1878. He took a special course in electrical matters and developed strong inventive faculties; was ordered to the U. S. Steamship Richmond, bound for the Chinese Station, and was special correspondent of the Boston Herald during this cruise and General Grant's visit to China and Japan; returned in 1880 and carried on electrical experiments at the Stevens Institute shops and the Brooklyn Navy Yard; ordered to duty on the training ship Minnesota, where he made the first attempt to introduce the incandescent electric light; later continued experiments at the Torpedo Station at Newport. He was ordered to the U. S. Steamship Lancaster, Mediterranean Squadron, and subsequently assigned to the Crystal Palace Electrical Exhibition, Sydenham, England. He was the youngest member and only American on the jury, his associates on which included Horace Darwin, Captain de Abney, and Professors Frankland, W. Gryll Adams and Fleming Jenkin, all famous scientists. He was made secretary of his section, and organized and conducted experiments on dynamo machines, electric lights and gas engines. He later resigned from the Navy to become assistant to Mr. Edison, during which connection he made important improvements in matters connected with electric light distribution. Becoming interested in the electric transmission of power, he resigned a year afterward, and, with E. H. Johnson, organized the Sprague Electric Railway and Motor Company, and began the development of electric motors. In 1884, he exhibited several of these at the Philadelphia

Electrical Exhibition, which were soon afterward endorsed by the parent Edison Electric Light Company, for use by its licensed companies. In May, 1887, he took the contract for the equipment of the Union Passenger Railway of Richmond, Virginia, with eighty motors for forty cars, complete overhead system and a central station, the first commercial electric road on a large scale, and the foundation of the modern electric trolley development. The Sprague Company was absorbed about 1890 by the Edison General Electric Company, with which Mr. Sprague remained for a time as consulting engineer. He then took up the development of electric elevators, organized the Sprague Electric Elevator Company, and developed the high speed screw elevator, automatic house elevator, and double-motor drum elevator; and meanwhile, in 1892, with Drs. Louis Duncan and Cary Hutchinson, he designed one of the earliest large electric locomotives. In 1897 he took a contract for carrying out the multiple unit system of train equipment on the South Side Elevated Railway in Chicago, which was the beginning of a train system which has now become universal with electric train operation on underground, elevated and other roads. Mr. Sprague was selected as a member of the Electric Traction Commission of the New York Central Railway, and for four years has been active in the inauguration of the electric system on that road, collaborating with its chairman, Vice-President W. J. Wilgus, in the development of the protected under-contact third rail. He was awarded a medal at the Philadelphia Electrical Exhibition; gold medal at the Paris Exposition, 1889; the Elliott Cresson medal of the Franklin Institute, 1902; and grand prize by the Louisiana Purchase Exposition for his inventions and developments in electric motors and electric railways. He is past president and member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, and the New York Electrical Society; member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, English Institutions of Civil and Electrical Engineers, and United States Naval Institute; associate member of the Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers. He is consulting engineer of the Sprague Electric, General Electric and the Otis Elevator Companies, and has been selected by the Southern Pacific Company to prepare, in collaboration with its officers, a report on the possibility and practicability of electrifying the Sierra Nevada Mountain section of the Sacramento Division of that Company, to increase its capacity. Residence: 116 Riverside Drive, New York City. Office: 20 Broad Street, New York City.

SPRECKELS, John Diedrich:

Merchant: born at Charleston, S. C., Aug. 16, 1853; son of Claus Spreckels. He was educated at Oakland College, Calif., and the Polytechnic School at Hanover, Germany. He founded the J. D. Spreckels and Brothers Company, shipping and commission merchants, owning a large fleet of tugs and vessels trading with Hawaii, Australia, and New Zealand; the Beaver Hill Coal Company; the Western Sugar Refining Company; and is proprietor of the San Francisco Morning Call. He took the leading part in the effort for civic reform in San Francisco, which led to the exposure of many corrupt methods and prosecution of violators of the laws. Address: 327 Market Street, San Francisco.

SPRING, Alfred:

Jurist: born in Franklinville, N. Y., Feb. 19, 1851; son of Samuel S. and Ellen (Hogg) Spring. He was graduated from the Ten Broeck Free Academy in 1870; attended the University of Michigan for two years; read law in his father's office for three years and during that time taught district school two winters. He received from the University of Michigan the degree of LL.D. in 1901. He was admitted to the bar Oct., 1875, and practised law at Franklinville, N. Y. He was elected supervisor of Franklinville in 1876; surrogate of Cattaraugus County in 1879, and was reelected in 1885, holding the office twelve years. In January, 1895, he was appointed justice of the Supreme Court by Governor Morton, and was elected, Nov., 1895, on the Republican ticket for the full term expiring Dec. 31, 1909. In Jan., 1899, he was transferred to the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court in the Fourth Department in which he has since continued. Judge Spring is author of articles on The Monroe Doctrine, the Revolution in Panama, and Hamilton Fish, published in the American Law Review. He is a member of the University and Saturn Clubs of Buffalo and the Genesee Valley Club of Rochester. He married in 1877, Anna Tarbell, and they have three children. Address: Franklinville, N. Y.

SPROUL, William C.:

State senator, publisher, president; born in Octoraro, Lancaster County, Pa., Sept. 16, 1870; son of William Hall and Deborah Dickinson (Slokom) Sproul. He was prepared in public high schools in Negaunee, Mich., and Chester, Pa., and was graduated from Swarthmore College as B.S. in 1891. He purchased a one-half interest in the Chester Daily Times in 1892; was elected vice-president of Roach's Shipyard in 1898; and organized, in 1900, the Seaboard Steel Casting Company of Chester, of which he is president; also organized the Chester Shipping Company, of which he is president, in 1900. He became interested in coal and timber properties in West Virginia in 1901, and has since given much attention to these and railroad interests in that State. He is president of the Coal River Railway of West Virginia, the Ohio Valley Electric Railway Company, of West Virginia, Kentucky and Ohio; Kanawha Valley Traction Company, Charleston and Southside Bridge Company, and the Coal River Land Company; treasurer of the Kanawha Bridge and Terminal Company; director of the Commercial Trust Company of Philadelphia, Delaware County Trust Company of Chester, of the First National Bank, and Delaware County National Bank of Chester. He has traveled in Europe, Mexico and Alaska. Mr. Sproul entered politics early in life; was elected in 1896 to the Senate of Pennsylvania by the Republicans of the Ninth Senatorial District and reelected in 1900, 1904 and 1908.

In 1903 he was chosen president pro tempore of the Senate and reelected in 1905. He has been a member of the most important committees of the Senate and of several State commissions. Senator Sproul is probably best known as the author of the Sproul Road Bill, passed by the Legislature in 1903, under which a comprehensive system of road improvement has been inaugurated in Pennsylvania; and he is also the author of the bills providing for the Congress to consider the question of uniform divorce laws. In March, 1907, he gave Swarthmore College funds for building and equipping an observatory to contain one of the largest telescopes in the world. In religion he is a member of the Religious Society of Friends. He is a member of the Pennsylvania Historical Society; trustee of Swarthmore College; trustee of the Pennsylvania Training School for Feeble-Minded Children; member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity, Book and Key society, Masonic fraternity, Benevolent Protective Order of Elks and Patrons of Husbandry. He is a member and director of the Union League of Philadelphia, and is also a member of the University, Corinthian Yacht, Bachelor's Barge and Pen and Pencil Clubs of Philadelphia; Manhattan and Engineers' Clubs of New York; Penn Club of Chester; Harrisburg Club, Rose Tree Fox Hunting and Springhaven County Clubs. Mr. Sproul married in Chester, Pa., Jan. 21, 1892, Emeline W. Roach, daughter of John Roach, Shipbuilder, and they have two children. Address: Chester, Pa.

SPRY, William:

Governor; elected on the Republican ticket in November, 1908, to the office of governor of the State of Utah for the four-year term expiring in January, 1913. Address: Salt Lake City, Utah.

SQUIRES, Herbert Goldsmith:

Diplomat; born at Madoc, Canada, April 20, 1859; son of John T. and Elizabeth J. Squires. He was educated in the public schools, the Canadawana, (N. Y.) Academy, Minnesota Military Academy and the Maryland Agricultural College. He was appointed from civil life as second lieutenant of the First Regiment of U. S. Infantry, Oct. 12, 1877, and was graduated from the U. S. Artillery School in 1880. He was transferred, Aug. 31, 1880, to the Seventh Regiment of U. S. Cavalry, was promoted to lieutenant of cavalry, Dec. 17, 1890, and resigned from the Army, Nov. 28, 1891. He was on duty as professor of military science and tactics at St. John's College, Fordham, N. Y., 1885-1890, and that college conferred upon him the honorary degrees of M.A., 1889, and Ph.D., 1907. He was appointed second secretary of the U. S. Embassy at Berlin, Nov. 15, 1894, and retired from that position in May, 1897. He was appointed secretary of the American Legation at Peking, Jan. 10, 1898, and during the siege of Peking, 1900-1901 served as chief of staff to Sir Claude Macdonald, and for his services in that capacity received the thanks of the British Government. He was appointed in May, 1902, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to Cuba, serving until 1905, when he resigned, and in 1906 he was appointed envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to the Republic of Panama; in which position he continues. Mr. Squiers married, first, at Hampton, Va., Oct. 11, 1881, Helen L. Fargo (daughter of W. G. Fargo), who died Jan. 14, 1886; and second, at Ossining, N. Y., Nov. 12, 1889, to Harriet Bird Woodcock, daughter Dr. William P. Woodcock. Address: American Legation, Panama, Panama.

STANCHFIELD, John B.:

Lawyer; born in Elmira, N. Y., March 30, 1855; son of John K. and Glovina S. Stanchfield. He was graduated from Elmira Academy, 1872, Amherst College, A.B., 1876; was a law student in Harvard Law School and in the office of David B. Hill at Elmira, N. Y. He was admitted to the New York Bar, 1878; was a law partner of David B. Hill until 1885; district attorney of Chemung County, 1880-1885; mayor of Elmira, N. Y., 1886-1888; member of the Assembly of New York, 1895-1896; Democratic candidate for governor of New York 1900; Democratic nominee for United States senator, 1901; and he is now senior member of the law firm of Reynolds, Stanchfield & Collin, having offices at Elmira, N. Y. Mr. Stanchfield is a member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, New York County Lawyers' Association and the University, Manhattan, and Psi Upsilon Clubs of New York City. He married in Elmira, N. Y., Sept. 2, 1886, Clara Spaulding. Residence: Elmira, N. Y. and 36 West 86th Street. Office: 5 Nassau Street, New York City.

STAPLETON, Luke D.:

Jurist; was engaged in the practice of law in Brooklyn until elected in November, 1908, on the Democratic ticket a justice of the Supreme Court of the State of New York for the Second District for the term expiring Dec. 31, 1922. Address: County Court House, Brooklyn, N. Y.

STARR, Louis:

Physician, pediatricist; born in Philadelphia; son of Isaac and Lydia Starr. He was prepared in Philadelphia schools and entered Haverford College, from which he was graduated A.B., 1868, (LL.D., 1908); and was graduated from the Medical Department of the University of Pennsylvania, M.D., 1871. He was an interne at the Episcopal Hospital of Philadelphia for two years, assistant physician in the same institution, 1873-1874, and visiting physician for ten years. He was appointed assistant physician in the Children's Hospital in 1874, and visiting physician in 1879. He is a specialist in the diseases of children, consulting pediatricist to the Maternity Hospital since 1879; lecturer on diseases of children, 1880-1884, and clinical professor of diseases of children, 1884-1890, in the Medical Department of the University of Pennsylvania. Dr. Starr is author of: Diseases of the Digestive Organs in Infancy and Childhood; Hygiene of the Nursery; Diet for Infants and Children in Health and in Disease. He was assistant editor of Pepper's System of Medicine;

American editor of Goodhart's Diseases of Children; editor American Text Book of the Diseases of Children; and editor of the department of diseases of children in The American Year Book of Medicine and Surgery. Dr. Starr married in 1882, Mary Parrish, of Philadelphia. Address: 1818 South Rittenhouse Square, Philadelphia.

STARRETT, Theodore:

Engineer and building constructor; born in Lawrence, Douglas County, Kan., Jan. 21, 1865; son of William Aiken and Helen (Ekin) Starrett. He began his collegiate education in the University of Kansas, and was graduated from Lake Forest University, Ill., A.B., 1884. Since leaving college he has been engaged solely in the study of methods of construction of buildings, especially skyscrapers. He began as a student in the office of Burnham and Root, architects, of Chicago; became engineer of the firm, and designed the construction of a number of the first skyscrapers of the country, notably the San Francisco Chronicle Building, the Society for Savings Building, Cleveland, O., where steel columns were first used in a building; and left the firm to go into a business of his own. He constructed the Isabella Building, Chicago, 1892-1893; and the Fisher Building, 1895-1896, in record time; and has since constructed over one hundred skyscrapers. He is a member of the Engineers' Club of New York, and the Chicago Athletic Association. Mr. Starrett married in Chicago, in 1889, Belle Ostrander, and they have two sons. Address: 103 Park Ave., New York City.

STEINHART, Frank Maximilian:

Transportation official; born in Munich, Germany, May 12, 1864; son of Simon and Regina (Levinger) Stein. He was educated in public and high schools of Munich, Germany, also took special studies in foreign languages and a course in law. He came to the United States and in 1882 enlisted as a private in the United States Army, serving as enlisted man until 1889. He was transferred to the headquarters of the Division of the Missouri, at Chicago, as clerk, and later becoming assistant chief clerk at that headquarters, where he served consecutively under Generals Schofield, Crook, Terry, Niles, Ruger, Merritt and Brooke. He was appointed chief clerk of the First Army Corps in May, 1898, and accompanied General Brooke to Porto Rico, whence he was transferred to Cuba as chief clerk of the military government, serving in that capacity under General Wood, until May 20, 1902, when he was appointed agent of the War Department of the United States, with residence in Cuba, and in charge of the archives of the military government. Mr. Steinhart was appointed, March 26, 1903, American consul-general at Havana, Cuba, in which position he continued until 1908, when he resigned to take the management of the electric car service of Havana controlled by American capital. Mr. Steinhart married at Racine, Wis., Feb. 8, 1890, Alice Florence Ledder. Address: Havana, Cuba.

STEPHENS, Alice Barber:

Artist, illustrator; born near Salem, N. J.; daughter of Samuel C. and Mary (Owen) Barber. She was educated in Philadelphia public school, School of Design for Women, the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts (Academie Julien and Carlo Rossi, Paris). She married in Philadelphia, 1890, Charles Hallowell Stephens, and she has one son. She received the Mary Smith prize and also honorable mention for portraits at the Annual Academy exhibitions, gold medal from Earle's Court, London, for series of illustrations; a bronze medal from Atlanta Exhibition, member of the Jury of Awards, St. Louis, Woman's Auxiliary Committee of the World's Fair, Chicago, and illustrator in leading magazines and for books. Address: Moylan, Pa.

STETSON, Francis Lynde:

Lawyer; born at Keeseville, Clinton County, N. Y., April 23, 1846; son of Hon. Lemuel Stetson, member of the Twenty-eighth Congress, and Helen (Haskell) Stetson. He was graduated from Williams College, A.B., with honors, 1867, from Columbia Law School, LL.B., 1869, and also received from Williams College the degree of A.M. Mr. Stetson has been engaged in the practice of law in New York City since 1869, and is now senior member of the law firm of Stetson, Jennings and Russell. He is general counsel of the United States Steel Corporation, the United States Rubber Company, International Mercantile Marine Company, and other large corporations, and a director and vice-president of the Cataract Construction Company, and a director of the Niagara Development Company, Niagara Falls Power Company, Erie and Jersey Railroad Company, Chicago and Erie Railroad Company, Alabama Great Southern Railway Company, New York, Susquehanna and Western Railroad Company, United States Express Company, United States Rubber Company, and other corporations. Mr. Stetson is a member of the Board of Trustees of Williams College, a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society, and the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity. He is a member of the Century Association, and of the Metropolitan, University, Down Town, National Arts, Tuxedo, Riding, Grolier, Alpha Delta Phi and Church Clubs of New York City. Mr. Stetson married at Rahway, N. J., June 26, 1873, Elizabeth Ruff. Residence: 4 East 74th Street, New York City. Office: 15 Broad Street, New York City.

STETSON, Willis Kimball:

Librarian; born in Natick, Mass., May 8, 1858; son of Daniel Kimball and Mary Weeks (Samborn) Stetson. He was graduated from Wesleyan University, A.B., A.M., 1881. He was librarian of Russell Library, Middletown, Conn., Wesleyan University Library, and to the Free Public Library since 1887. He is a member of the American Library Association, Phi Nu Theta fraternity, and Phi Beta Kappa Society, also the Congregational Club of New Haven. He married in Middletown, Conn., Nov. 25, 1886, Lillian A. Miner, and they have three children. Residence: 76 Mansfield Street. Office: Free Public Library, New Haven, Conn.

STEVENS, Frederick C.:

Superintendent of public works of the State of New York; born at Attica, N. Y., 1856; son of Hon. Robert S. Stevens and grandson of Judge Alden S. Stevens. He was graduated from Cornell University. Mr. Stevens has been actively engaged in business enterprises in various parts of the country, especially in Washington, D. C., where he is president of the Commercial National Bank. He first established the West End National Bank, subsequently merged it with the Citizens', becoming president of that institution, and afterward selling it to the National Metropolitan and later withdrew from the concern, establishing the Commercial. He arranged the consolidation of all the city and suburban street railroad lines of Washington, with the single exception of the Capital Traction, and withdrew after placing the amalgamated lines on a good foundation. At one time he was largely interested in the Potomac Electric Lighting Company, and effected its consolidation with the United States Electric Lighting Company. He maintains a residence in Washington, but has his home in Attica, N. Y. He was elected and served as State senator from the Forty-sixth Senate District of New York, and was chairman of the New York Legislature Committee to investigate city lighting. He was appointed, January, 1907, by Governor Hughes as superintendent of public works of the State of New York. Address: Albany, N. Y.

STEVENS, George Thomas:

Physician; born in Essex County, N. Y., July 25, 1832; son of Rev. Chauncey Coe and Lucinda (Hoadley) Stevens, both descended from early settlers of New England, and both children of soldiers who served through the Revolutionary War. He was graduated from Castleton Medical College, Vermont, M.D., 1857, and received his Ph.D. from Union College. He began the practice of medicine in Northern New York in 1857; was commissioned in 1861 assistant surgeon of the Seventy-seventh New York Volunteers, and soon promoted to surgeon; was operating surgeon of his division two and one-half years, and for some time medical inspector of the Sixth Army Corps, with which he served in all the campaigns of the Army of the Potomac, and in the Shenandoah campaign under Sheridan. He practised at Albany, N. Y., 1865-1880; was professor of physiology and diseases of the eye in Union University Medical College, 1870-1876 and surgeon to Albany Hospital. Since 1880 he has been practising in New York City. He received the highest prize from the Royal Academy of Medicine of Belgium for a treatise on Functional Diseases of the Nervous System in 1883; has devised many instruments for surgical, philosophical and optical purposes, which are standard in America and Europe; and is well known among oculists for his researches on anomalies of the ocular muscles. Dr. Stevens is author of: Three Years in the Sixth Corps, 1866; Flora of the Adirondacks, 1868; Maladies des Centres Nerveux, 1883; Functional Nervous Diseases, 1884; Coaching in North Wales, 1875; Le Muscles Moteurs de L'Oeil et Expression du Visage, 1892; Treatise on the Motor Apparatus of the Eye, 1906; and many articles on ophthalmological subjects. He is a member of the American Medical Association; the American Ophthalmological Society; the American Association for the Advancement of Science; Academy of Sciences; Torrey Botanical Club, Phi Beta Kappa Alumni of New York, and a member of several international congresses of medical or other sciences. Dr. Stevens is a member of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, the National Sculpture Society, and a member of the National Arts, Grolier and Republican Clubs. He married, April 17, 1861, Harriet W., daughter of William L. Wadhams, and their children are: Frances Virginia (Mrs. George T. Ladd), and Dr. Charles W. Address: 22 East 46th Street, New York City.

STEVENS, Thomas Holdup:

Rear-Admiral, United States Navy; born in Honolulu, Sandwich Islands; son of the late Rear-Admiral Thomas Holdup Stevens, 2d, and grandson of Commodore Thomas Holdup Stevens, who died in command of the Washington Navy Yard in 1841, and who was one of Perry's captains in the Battle of Lake Erie. He was appointed to the Naval Academy in 1863, by President Lincoln, from among sons of officers. He was graduated in 1868, and then for a year was attached to the steamer Resaca, of the Pacific Fleet, on the Mexican and Lower California coasts, and on the Mohican, on a scientific expedition to Siberia for observation of a total eclipse of the sun. He was promoted to ensign, July 22, 1869, and served on the Michigan and Colorado, 1869-1870. He was promoted to master in 1870; on duty in the Pacific Squadron, 1870-1873, on the flagship Ossipee and the sloop Cyane, and while attached to the latter ship, participated in the survey of the Isthmus of Tehauntepec for the construction of the Inter-oceanic Canal; on the flagship Pensacola, 1872-1873, in the South Pacific. In May, 1873, he commanded a company of blue jackets during the temporary occupation of Panama by armed forces from the Pensacola and the Tuscarora, for the protection of American interests in time of rebellion; and later the same year was on duty at the Norfolk Navy Yard. In November, 1873, he was navigator of the torpedo-boat Mayflower, at the time of the Spanish-American complications. He was commissioned lieutenant Jan. 23, 1874, and served on varied duties and stations in that rank until promoted lieutenant-commander, Feb. 2, 1896. In 1898-1899 he was executive officer of the flagship Philadelphia, and commanded the combined naval battalion and Hawaiian National Guard on the occasion of the substitution of the United States for the Hawaiian flag, a singular coincidence, as he was at the time the only native of Honolulu who was a commissioned officer of the United States Navy. He was promoted commander March 29, 1899; was at the Navy Yard at Norfolk, Nov. 2, 1899, and July 16, 1900, was placed in command of the gunboat Manila, with which he served for eighteen months during the Philippine Insurrection; then after service at the Mare Island and Puget Sound Navy Yards (captain of the yard at the latter), he attended the course at the Naval War College in the summer of 1903, then was captain of the Yard at Pensacola Navy Yard. He was promoted to captain in 1904, and Feb. 11, 1905, at his own request was retired with the rank of rear-admiral. Address: Metropolitan Club, Washington, D. C.

THOMAS H. STEVENS
Rear Admiral U. S. Navy

STEVENSON, Eugene:

Jurist; born at Williamsburg, N. Y. (now the Eastern District of Brooklyn), June 28, 1849. He was carefully prepared for college and he entered the New York University, from which he was graduated as A.B., 1870, and was also graduated from the Law School of the same university with the degree of LL.B. He was engaged in the practice of law at Paterson, N. J., served a term as prosecutor of the Pleas for Passaic County, and continued practice until he was appointed to his present office of vice-chancellor of New Jersey. Address: Paterson, N. J.

STEWART, John Aikman:

Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the United States Trust Company; born in New York City, Aug. 22, 1822; son of John Stewart, who emigrated when quite young, and settled in New York City, where he was for many years ward assessor, and afterward receiver of taxes. He was graduated from Columbia College in 1840. Mr. Stewart was clerk of the Board of Education of New York City, 1842-1850; actuary of the United States Life Insurance Company, 1850-1853; and in 1853 he became secretary of the United States Trust Company, which had been chartered by the New York Legislature chiefly through his efforts. He was assistant treasurer of the United States at New York City in 1864 and served until the end of the war, when he resigned to become president of the United States Trust Company, on the resignation of Mr. Lawrence, the former president; and under his control the company became the largest institution of the kind in America. He resigned the presidency in 1902, but continues president of the Board of Trustees of the Company, also director of the Merchants' National Bank, and of the Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company. He is a trustee of Princeton University; a director of the New York Eye and Ear Infirmary; trustee of the John F. Slater Fund, and member of the Metropolitan and Union League Clubs. He married, first, in New York City, in 1845, Sarah Y. Johnson, who died in 1886, and second, in 1890, Mary O. Capron, of Baltimore. Residences: 125 East 37th Street, and Morristown, N. J. Address: 45 Wall Street, New York City.

STEWART, John Appleton:

Manufacturer; born in Morrisville, N. Y., Nov. 8, 1868; son of James Stephen and Emeline Elizabeth (Tucker) Stewart. He was educated at Cazenovia Seminary and Fort Edward Collegiate Institute. He is president Carbonating Company of America; director and secretary Reynolds Ice Machine Company; president International League for Highway Improvement; president Republican League of Clubs of the State of New York. Mr. Stewart is a trustee of the State School of Agriculture at Morrisville, N. Y.; trustee Colonial Society of America (an educational organization especially devoted to the preservation of noted scenes in art and literature); member of the American Museum of Natural History; the National Civic Federation; the National Child Labor Committee; the National Geographic Society; the Manufacturers' Association and a member of the First Class, Loyal Legion of the United States. He is also a member of the Lawyers', Entertainment, Press and Republican Clubs of New York; the Cosmos, Washington, D. C.; the Fortnightly, Oswego, N. Y., and the Abbeyeroff Hunt Club, Quebec, Canada. He married in Oswego, N. Y., Feb. 22, 1900, Alice Josephine Collins. Address: 135 Broadway, New York City.

STEWART, Thomas J.:

Adjutant-General of Pennsylvania; born near Belfast, Ireland, Sept. 11, 1848, and was brought by his parents to Norristown, Pa., in 1849. He was educated in the public schools, and at the Quaker City Business College in Philadelphia; and at sixteen years of age he enlisted as a private in the 138th Regiment of Pennsylvania Volunteers. Mr. Stewart was engaged as a manufacturer and dealer in window glass, 1870-1882; was assistant adjutant-general of the Department of Pennsylvania, Grand Army of the Republic, 1882-1888; and was elected Department Commander in 1890. In 1883 he was appointed assistant adjutant-general and in September, 1897, adjutant-general of the Grand Army of the Republic in the United States by Commander-in-Chief J. P. S. Gobin; reappointed September, 1898, by Commander-in-Chief James A. Sexton, and in September, 1899, by Commander-in-Chief Albert D. Shaw; and was elected commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, Oct. 8, 1892. He was a member of the House of Representatives of Pennsylvania, in 1885 and 1886; has been connected with the National Guard of Pennsylvania since 1868; was appointed adjutant of the Sixth Regiment, National Guard of Pennsylvania, in 1877; and Sept. 20, 1889, was appointed assistant adjutant-general of the First Brigade, and reappointed in 1894. He was appointed on the part of the House of Representatives a member of the commission to locate and establish the Pennsylvania Soldiers' and Sailors' Home, and afterward as a member of the Board of Trustees of the same institution on the part of the Grand Army of the Republic, and acted as secretary of both the commission and Board of Trustees; in 1890 was appointed a member of the commission in charge of the Soldiers' Orphan Schools; elected secretary of Internal Affairs, 1886, and reelected in 1890; was appointed adjutant-general by Governor Hastings, Jan. 15, 1895, reappointed by Governor Stone in 1899, by Governor Penypacker in 1903, and again in 1907 by Governor Stuart. Address: Harrisburg, Pa.

STICKLE, Charles Waldo:

Physicians and surgeon; born in Elba, Genesee Co., N. Y., Nov. 2, 1870; son of Charles Wesley and Emily Anna (Waldo) Stickle. He took a classical course in Batavia, N. Y., 1886, and was graduated from the University of New York, M.D., 1893. Dr. Stickle was engaged in general practice for eleven years, and since 1904 has limited his work to the special branches of otology, rhinology and laryngology. He is surgeon to the Methodist Episcopal Hospital, Jewish Hospital, and Angel Guardian Home. He is a Mason; a member of the Medical Society of Kings County, and associate sections, and Associated Physicians of Long Island, New York State Medical Society, Medical Society of Greater New York, Sons of the Revolution, and the Hamilton and Republican Clubs of Brooklyn, and trustee and director of the Brooklyn Development Company. He married in Inverness, Livingston County, N. Y., April 3, 1895, Anna Densmore MacVean, who died Jan. 3, 1900, and he has a daughter. Residence: Hamilton Club, 146 Rensen Street. Office: 130 Montague Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

STILLMAN, James:

Merchant and banker; born in Brownsville, Texas, June 9, 1850. He comes of an old English family, which emigrated to America, and settled at Hadley, Mass. The family was prominent in the Revolutionary War, two of his great grandfathers having been officers in the Continental Army, and his father, Charles Stillman, was a shipping merchant in New York City, in the first half of the nineteenth century. His parents returned from the South, to Hartford, Conn., shortly after his birth and he was brought up in that city, but obtained his education principally at Churchill's School at Sing Sing, N. Y. On attaining his majority he entered the firm of Smith, Woodward and Stillman, cotton merchants of New York City, and has maintained an unbroken connection with that house ever since, becoming a partner, in 1873, of the firm of Woodward and Stillman, which succeeded the earlier firm. From 1891 he was president of the National City Bank of New York, which under his management has become by far the largest bank in capital, resources and business in the United States, until he retired Jan. 1, 1909. He was also president of the Second National Bank, the Bowery Savings Bank, Fifth Avenue Safe Deposit Company, Consolidated Gas Company of New York, trustee of the American Surety Company; director of the Audit Company of New York, the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, Central Realty, Bond and Trust Company, Deer Hill Company, Northern Pacific Railway Company, Queens Insurance Company, Southern Pine Company, Terminal Warehouse Company, Western Union Telegraph Company; a member of the Executive Committee of the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad Company; director of the Delaware and Lackawanna Railroad Company; Hanover National Bank, Mobile Street Railway; a member of the Executive Committee and trustee of the United States Trust Company, and a member of the Chamber of Commerce, and Cotton Exchange. Mr. Stillman is a member of the Century, Metropolitan, Union League, Reform, New York Yacht, Seawanhaka-Corinthian Yacht, Eastern Yacht, St. Augustine Yacht, Jekyl Island, Storm King, Tuxedo, Riding and Lawyers' Club. He married Elizabeth Rumrill, and their children are: Elsie, now Mrs. William G. Rockefeller; James A., Isabel Goodrich, Charles Chauncey, and Ernest Goodrich. Residence: 8 East 73d Street. Office: 54 Wall Street, New York City.

STIRES, Ernest Milmore:

Clergyman; born in Norfolk, Va., May 20, 1866; son of Van Rensselaer and Letty M. (Milmore) Stires. He was graduated from the University of Virginia, LL.B., 1888; from the Theological Seminary of Virginia, 1891; and received from Trinity College, Hartford, the honorary degree of D.D. in 1901; and the degree of LL.D. from Kenyon College in 1902. He was rector of St. John's Church, West Point, Va., 1891; the Church of the Good Shepherd, Augusta, Ga., 1893; Grace Church, Chicago, 1893-1901, and since 1901 rector of St. Thomas' Church, New York City. He is trustee of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, a member of the Board of Missions; and is a director of various church institutions. Dr. Stires is also a member of the Pilgrims, The Virginians, the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity (ex-president); the Southern Society and the University Club. He married in Augusta, Ga., Jan. 11, 1894, Sarah McKinnie Hardwick, and they have four sons. Summer Home: Brook Hill Farm, Lake George, N. Y. Office: St. Thomas's Rectory, 1 West 53d Street, New York City.

STODDARD, William Osborn:

Author and journalist; born in Homer, N. Y., Sept. 24, 1835; son of Prentice S. and Sarah A. (Osborn) Stoddard. He was educated in the Courtland Homer Academy, private schools and the University of Rochester, from which he was graduated A.B. and A.M., with Phi Beta Kappa honors. Mr. Stoddard went to Illinois, and was engaged in newspaper work and farming in Chicago and Champaign, Ill., the most notable item in this part of his career being the first editorial advocacy of Abraham Lincoln for the Presidential nomination, written and printed in his own paper, the Central Illinois Gazette, in April, 1859. He was in the first company of U. S. volunteers for three months in 1861, then was appointed secretary to sign land patents and assistant private secretary to President Lincoln, serving 1861-1864; was U. S. marshal for the District of Arkansas, 1864-1866; then removed to New York, where he has been connected with many periodicals and publishing houses. Mr. Stoddard is author of more than seventy bound volumes of all sorts, many of which are now out of print. Among them are several of the most popular juveniles, a Life of Lincoln and other books in prose and verse. He served as chief clerk of the Engineers' Bureau, Department of Docks, New York City, 1871-1873. He is a Republican in politics and an ordained deacon of the Baptist Church. Mr. Stoddard is a member of the Grand Army of the Republic, the Alpha Delta Phi Association, University of Rochester Alumni Association, Society of the Genesee, National Geographic Society, National Peace Society, National Forestry Association, American Civic Association. He has taken an interest in mechanics as well as literature, and has taken out nine patents for inventions of various kinds. Mr. Stoddard married in New York City, July 25, 1870, Susan E. Cooper, who died in 1896. Of their seven children four are deceased, and two sons and one daughter survive. Address: 131 Central Avenue, Madison, N. J.

STOKES, Anson Phelps:

Retired banker and merchant; born in New York City, Feb. 22, 1838; son of James and Caroline (Phelps) Stokes. His education was received under tutors and in private schools, and he became a member of the firm of Phelps, Dodge & Company, merchants, and subsequently of Phelps, Stokes & Company, bankers, and is connected as officer and director with various corporations. Mr. Stokes has been active in the civil service reform and free trade movements, was the first president of the Reform Club of New York City; and he was president of the National Association of Anti-Imperialist Clubs at Chicago in 1900. He is a director of the New York Eye and Ear Infirmary, the Home for Incurables and other charities. Mr. Stokes is a prominent yachtsman, formerly vice-commodore of the New York Yacht Club, and owner of several yachts, with which he has cruised around the world. He is a member of the Society of Colonial Wars, the Century Association, and of the Knickerbocker, Metropolitan, New York Yacht, Seawanhaka-Corinthian Yacht, Riding, City, and Church Clubs. He married Oct. 17, 1865, Helen Louisa, daughter of Isaac Newton Phelps of New York City. Residence: 230 Madison Avenue. Office: 100 William Street, New York City.

STOKES, Anson Phelps, Jr.:

Clergyman, secretary of Yale University; born in New Brighton, Staten Island, N. Y., April 13, 1874; son of Anson Phelps and Helen Louise (Phelps) Stokes. He was graduated from Yale, B.A., 1896, was winner of the Junior Exhibition, and the DeForest Medal, was chairman of the Board of Editors of the Yale Daily News in his senior year and member of the Yale Debate Team which won the inter-university debate with Harvard in 1896; and he was graduated from the Episcopal Theological School at Cambridge, Mass., in 1900, receiving from Yale, the same year, the degree of M.A. He was ordained in the ministry of the Episcopal Church in 1900, and is assistant minister of St. Paul's Church, at New Haven, Conn. He was elected secretary of Yale University in June, 1899, and has since edited the triennial Directory of Living Graduates of Yale University, as well as other Yale publications. He is a director of Wellesley College, the New Haven Young Men's Christian Association, Lowell House (social settlement), the New Haven Hospital and other benevolent organizations. Mr. Stokes married in New York City, Dec. 30, 1903, Caroline Green Mitchell. Address: 73 Elm Street, New Haven, Conn.

STOKES, Edward Casper:

Banker and former governor; born in Philadelphia, Dec. 22, 1860; son of Edward H. and Matilda G. (Kemble) Stokes; descendant in the seventh generation from Thomas Stokes of Lower Shanwell, England, who emigrated to New Castle, Del., in 1677. His father is president of the Millville National Bank, Millville, N. J., and the son was educated in the public schools there, and later in the Friends University, whence he was graduated as A.B., 1883. He was receiving teller of the Millville National Bank, 1883-1889, was superintendent of the Millville public schools, 1889-1895, became a member of the State Assembly of New Jersey, 1891; State senator, 1892-1900 (president of the Senate, 1895), clerk in chancery, 1900-1904, and in 1904 was elected as governor of New Jersey, serving the three-year term. He has been president of the Mechanics National Bank of Trenton, N. J., since 1899. Governor Stokes has always been an active Republican, and since 1896 has been vice-chairman of the New Jersey State Republican Committee. He was the first president of the New Jersey Bankers' Association. Address: Trenton, N. J.

MELVILLE ELIJAH STONE
General Manager Associated Press

STOKES, Frederick Abbot:

Publisher; born in Brooklyn, N. Y., Nov. 4, 1857; son of Frederick Abbott and Caroline (Allen) Stokes. He was graduated from Cheshire Academy, salutatorian, 1875, and from Yale College, B.A. in 1879. He founded, in 1881, the business now known as Frederick A. Stokes Company. He succeeded Irving Bacheller as editor of the Pocket Magazine, in 1898; and has edited The Poems of Sir John Suckling, 1886. Mr. Stokes is author of: College Tramps, 1880. He is president of Frederick A. Stokes Company; secretary of the American Publishers' Association; trustee of the Edward MacDowell Memorial Association, and a member of Psi Upsilon and Wolf Head Societies. He is also a member of the University Club, the Yale Club (secretary 1902-1903), the Mendelssohn Club (president three years), and was secretary of the Aldine Club, 1895-1897. He married, in Detroit, Mich., May 10, 1883, Ellen R. Colby, and they have two sons. Residence: 307 West 98th Street. Office: 334-341 Fourth Avenue, New York City.

STOKES, Henry B.:

President of the Manhattan Life Insurance Company; born in New York City, Dec. 23, 1847; son of Henry and Mary A. (Stiles) Stokes. He was educated in the Columbia Grammar School. Mr. Stokes is vice-president and trustee of the Manhattan Savings Bank; trustee of Mechanics' National Bank, and of the Citizens' Central National Bank. He is a member of Union League, Riding and Larchmont Yacht Clubs. He married in New Rochelle, N. Y., Oct. 7, 1874, Sophia I. Lockwood, and they have two daughters. Address: 66 Broadway, New York City.

STONE, I. Frank:

President of the National Aniline and Chemical Company; born in Chicago, March 2, 1867; son of Theodore and Mary (Owen) Stone. He was educated in public schools, Chicago. He was a member of the firm of I. F. Stone, 1888; Stone and Ware, 1890; Stone and Ware, 1897; president of the National Aniline and Chemical Company, 1906; vice-president of Schoellkopf, Hartford and Hanna Company, 1900; director of the Contact Process Company, South Nevada Company, and Board of Trade and Transportation, New York. He is a member of the Society of Chemical Industry, College of Pharmacy, Chamber of Commerce (New York), the Advisory Committee of the Metropolitan Bank, Palestine Commandery of Knights Templar, and of the New York Athletic, Chemists', City and Lotos Clubs, and the Drug and Chemical Clubs. He married in Chicago, June 5, 1889, Mary L. Peck, and they have two children: Grace H., and Truman. Address: 100 William Street, New York City.

STONE, Melville Eliah:

General manager of the Associated Press; born at Hudson, Ill., Aug. 22, 1848; son of Rev. Elijah Stone, a Methodist minister; removed with parents to Chicago in 1860, and was educated in the high school there, beginning his newspaper career by reporting for the Chicago Tribune while still a student in the high school, and graduating from there in 1867. After graduation he turned his attention to mechanics, and he conducted a machine-shop from 1869 to 1871, when, in the great fire of October 8-9 his property was all destroyed. He then became an editor on the Chicago Inter-Ocean, later a special correspondent at Washington. While engaged in newspaper work he became impressed with the idea that a daily newspaper of independent views, which should stand for all that was best, and which would give all the news for a cent, would be a success in Chicago, and in 1875 he, with partners, established the Daily News, soon afterward buying out the other interests and selling them to Victor F. Lawson. A morning edition was started in 1881, which a few years later became the Chicago Record. Mr. Stone started the News with the idea that the work of the reporter was the foundation of the success of the newspaper, and his force of local newsgatherers and of correspondents included men and women many of whom have since made themselves famous in journalism and literature. The paper scored many brilliant coups in publishing the first news of important events, and while thus distinguished for its enterprise, the paper became also a great moral and civic force in its absolutely independent stand for civic righteousness in Chicago. The Daily News was a great success, but in 1888, his health being seriously impaired by overwork, he sold his entire interest in the two newspapers to Mr. Lawson, and for two or three years traveled abroad. On his return to Chicago he organized the Globe National Bank and conducted it as president until 1898, when it was consolidated with the Continental National Bank of Chicago. He became general manager of the Associated Press in 1893, and has since filled that office and he has made it the most effective news-gathering agency in the world, with organized divisions covering every section of the country, and with foreign connections of the most widely ramified character. The modern newspaper in our larger American cities represents the most complete and accurate statement of daily history the world has ever seen, and this completeness is largely due to the fact that Mr. Stone has brought to his task a knowledge of news values and a genius for news gathering which is probably greater than that of any other man. Mr. Stone has, during the past few years, received the following foreign decorations: Officer of the Légion d'Honneur of France; officer of the Order of the Prussian Crown (2d class); grand officer of the Crown of Italy; Imperial Order of the Sacred Treasury of Japan (2d class); Order of the St. Stanislaus of Russia-cordon; Knight Commander of the First Class of the Order of the Polar Star, of Sweden. Address: Western Union Building, New York City.

STOOKEY, Lyman Brumbaugh:

Physiologist; born in Bellville, Ill., July 30, 1878; son of Dr. Lyman Polk and Louise (Brumbaugh) Stookey; great-grandson of Daniel Stookey, who settled in Southern Illinois at the close of the War of the Revolution. He was educated in the Bellville High School, Yale, A.B., 1900, held a graduate scholarship in psychology at Yale, 1900-1902, A.M., Ph.D., 1902; and did graduate work in the University of Strassburg. He was associate in physiology and physiological chemistry in the New York State Pathological Laboratory, 1903, 1904; professor of physiology and medical chemistry in the New York State Pathological Laboratory, 1902-1904; professor of physiology and medical chemistry in the University of Southern California since 1905. Dr. Stookey has published more than thirty original contributions to medicine, chiefly physiology, in American and European journals of research. He was American contributor to the International Year Book of Chemical Physiology and Pathology, 1905; fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, 1906; is a member of the American Physiological Society, American Chemical Society, New York Society of Physiological Chemistry, Society of Biological Chemists, Society of Experimental Biology and Medicine, Nu Sigma Nu (medical fraternity), and the University Club of Los Angeles. He married, Dec. 31, 1903, Margaret Powell, granddaughter of the late Brevet Major-General William H. Powell. Address: Hermosa Beach, Los Angeles, Calif.

STOUGHTON, Arthur Alexander:

Architect: born in New York City, son of Charles Stoughton and Sarah J. Warren, seventh in descent from Ensign Thomas Stoughton, who came from England to Dorchester Mass., in 1638. He was graduated from Columbia University School of Architecture, Ph.B., 1888, and was the first holder of the Columbia Fellowship in Architecture (for foreign study), becoming a pupil of M. Redon at the Ecole des Beaux Arts in Paris. Mr. Stoughton has been in professional practice since 1894, in partnership with his brother Charles W. Stoughton, as Stoughton & Stoughton. They were architects of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Memorial Monument in Riverside Park, New York City, the Canton Christian College, China; the American College in Madura, India, etc. Mr. Stoughton is a member of the Society of Beaux Arts Architects, member of the Board of Governors of the Society of Columbia University Architects (formerly president), member of the Council of the Fine Arts Federation of New York, founder and director of the Former Bronx Free Library and of the present Bronx Society of Arts and Sciences. Office: 96 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

STRAUS, Adolph D.:

Consul-general of Nicaragua. He has represented Nicaragua for many years as consul-general in the United States, and in other diplomatic capacities, and is the only citizen of the United States holding a military position in the Army of Nicaragua. He was formerly one of the best known war correspondents in the Civil War, and later in Mexico, being the only journalist who witnessed the execution of Emperor Maximilian, and for years was the representative of the New York Associated Press and correspondent of the New York Times. On leaving the newspaper field, he engaged in the export business, and is now senior partner of A. D. Straus Company, export commission merchants, whose trade is largely with Nicaragua and Central America generally. Address: 18 Broadway, New York City.

STRAUS, Nathan:

Merchant; born in Rhenish Bavaria, Jan. 31, 1848; son of Lazarus and Sara Straus. He came to the United States in 1854, with the family and settled in Talbotton, Ga. He received his education in the schools there, and later in the public and business schools of New York City. He joined his father in importing pottery and glassware, as the firm of L. Straus and Sons, in which he has retained an interest; has been a partner in the department store of R. H. Macy and Company since 1888, and is a member of the firm of Abraham and Straus, department store in Brooklyn. In politics he is identified with the Democratic party, and in 1894, received the nomination for mayor, but declined it. In 1893 he was appointed by Mayor Grant, as park commissioner of New York City, and established many improvements in the park system of the city; and in 1898 was president of the Board of Health of New York City. Mr. Straus has been identified with many practical charities, notably that of the distribution of Pasteurized milk to the poor people of New York City, maintaining the dispensaries at his own expense, with results, as shown by the Health Department statistics, of the saving of the lives of many thousands of babies. This initial experiment has been copied in other cities at home and abroad. During the panic period of 1893-1896 he provided lodging houses for the poor and homeless, and for many winters past has maintained depots for the distribution of coal at cost to the poor. During the campaign of 1908 Mr. Straus was a prominent member of the committee in charge of the Bryan campaign. He married in 1875, Lina Gutherz. Residence: 27 West 72d Street. Office: R. H. Macy & Company, Broadway and 34th Street, New York City.

STRAUS, Oscar Solomon:

Former secretary of Commerce and Labor; born Dec. 23, 1850; son of Lazarus and Sara Straus. He was educated in the schools of Georgia until 1865; was graduated from Columbia, A.B., 1871, A.M., 1873, LL.B., 1873; received the degree of L.H.D., from Brown University, 1878; LL.D., from Washington and Lee University, the University of Pennsylvania, and Columbia University. While in the Law School of Columbia he also studied law in the office of Charles O'Connor. In 1873, he formed the law firm of Hudson and Straus, later Sterne, Hudson and Straus, and afterward known as Sterne, Straus and Thompson, and continued in practice of law until 1881, when he joined the importing pottery and glassware house of L. Straus and Sons, in which he continued until Jan. 1, 1907. He was United States minister to Turkey under appointment of President Cleveland, 1887-1889, and of President McKinley, 1897-1900; rendered especially valuable service in establishing the right of Christian missionaries and Christian colleges in Turkey, and in securing the right for the selling of bibles and tracts by American colporteurs; also secured for American universities the right to excavate on the site of ancient Babylon; and after the Spanish-American War, he secured the aid of the Sultan in inducing the Mohammedan sultans of Mindanao to accept protection of the United States, rather than join hands with Aguinaldo. He was appointed, Jan. 14, 1902, member of the Permanent Court of Arbitration at The Hague, to fill the place made vacant by the death of ex-President Harrison; appointed and confirmed secretary of commerce and labor of the United States, taking office Dec. 17, 1906. He has served as president of the New York Board of Trade and Transportation, and vice-president of the National Civic Federation, vice-president of the International Law Association, Columbia Alumni Association. Mr. Straus is author of: The Origin of the Republican Form of Government in the United States, 1886; Roger Williams, the Pioneer of Religious Liberty, 1894; The Development of Religious Liberty in the United States, 1896; Reform in the Consular Service, 1897. He is a member of the Lawyers' Club of New York. Address: 2600 Sixteenth Street, Washington, D. C.

STRONG, Mason Romeyn:

Civil engineer and architect; born in Passaic, N. J.; son of J. Paschal and Cornelia Whitney (Heyer) Strong. He was prepared in the Albany Academy and was graduated from Columbia University, A.B., 1889, and afterward spent a year in the School of Architecture. He is a consulting engineer, and was formerly engineer of bridges and buildings, with jurisdiction extending over the entire Erie Railroad system. In 1896, and subsequent years, he was in charge for the railroad company of the design and execution of the great Grade Crossing Revision in the City of Buffalo, N. Y., and has been connected with numerous kindred undertakings. In 1908, he succeeded to the architectural business of the late W. Wheeler Smith, which he is continuing in connection with his engineering practice. Mr. Strong is a member of the Dutch Reformed Church. He is a commissioner of the Board of Health of Passaic, N. J., and has membership in the American Society of Civil Engineers, the Columbia University Club, and the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity. He married in Racine, Wis., in 1901, Nina Colville, and they have three children: Elizabeth Grier, Nina Colville, and Nathaniel Olecott. Address: 7 Wall Street, New York City.

STRYKER, Melancthon Woolsey:

President of Hamilton College; born at Vernon, N. Y., Jan. 7, 1851; son of Isaac Pierson and Alida (Woolsey) Stryker. He was graduated from Hamilton College, A.B., 1872. He thence entered the Auburn Theological Seminary where he was graduated in 1876. The degree of D.D. was conferred upon him in 1889 by Hamilton and Lafayette Colleges, and that of LL.D. by Lafayette College in 1892. After being ordained to the ministry of the Presbyterian Church in 1876, he became pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Auburn, and there preached for two years. In 1878 he accepted the pastorate of the church at Ithaca, N. Y., and five years later was called to fill the pulpit of the Second Congregational Church at Holyoke, Mass. After two years of service there, he became pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian Church of Chicago, where he remained until 1892. In the latter year he was elected to the presidency of Hamilton College. Dr. Stryker is also trustee of this college and of the Auburn Theological Seminary. He is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society and the Sigma Phi fraternity. He finds diversion in fishing, riding and tennis. Dr. Stryker is author of various volumes of verse, sermons and addresses, and is the editor of several hymnals. He married at Auburn, N. Y., Sept. 27, 1876, Elizabeth Goss, and has had six children. Address: Clinton, N. Y.

STUART, Edwin Sidney:

Governor of Pennsylvania; born in Philadelphia, Dec. 28, 1853; son of Hugh and Anna (Newman) Stewart. He was educated in the public schools until, at 14 years of age he became an errand boy in Leary's old book store, then at Fifth and Walnut Streets. Mr. Leary died in 1874, and Mr. Stuart, who had long had much of the care of the business, conducted it for two years for the benefit of the estate. At the end of that time he purchased it, removed it soon after to 9 South Ninth Street, and has there built it up to the largest establishment of its kind in the United States. The most important of the works published by him has been Watson's Annals of Philadelphia. Mr. Stuart has always taken a warm interest in political matters; as a member of the Republican Party he was treasurer of the Young Republican Club during the Garfield campaign of 1880, and in 1882 was elected its president. He was a delegate to the National Conventions of Republican League Clubs at New York in 1887, and at Baltimore in 1889; was an elector on the Blaine ticket in 1884, a delegate to the National Convention of 1888, and was president of the Electoral College of Pennsylvania in 1901. In 1886 he was elected by a very large majority to the Select Council of Philadelphia and was re-elected in 1889. An effort was made to nominate him for mayor in 1886, and in 1890 he received the nomination and was elected for the four years' term by the largest majority known to that time for a mayor of Philadelphia. In 1906 he was nominated and elected governor of Pennsylvania, for the four-year term expiring Jan. 17, 1911. He is one of the trustees of the Girard Estate. Residence: 1538 South Broad Street, Philadelphia. Official address: Harrisburg, Pa.

STUART, Ruth McEnery:

Writer; born in Avoyelles Parish, La.; daughter of James and Mary Routh (Stirling) Stuart. She received her education in New Orleans. She married in Hempstead County, Arkansas, Aug. 6, 1879, Alfred Oden Stuart, and has had one son, now deceased. Mrs. Stuart has for some years done considerable platform work, reading her own stories for literary and other clubs and societies. She is author of: Sonny, Holly and Pizen, Moriah's Mourning, In Simpkinsville, A Golden Wedding, Carlotta's Intended, Solomon Crow's Christmas Pockets, The Story of Babette, George Washington Jones, The Second Wooing of Salina-Sue, The River's Children, and Aunt Amity's Silver Wedding and Other Tales. She is a member of the Barnard, Wednesday Afternoon, and MacDowell Clubs. Residence: 220 Central Park South. Address: Care of Century Company, Union Square, New York City.

STUBBS, Walter R.:

Governor of Kansas; elected on the Republican ticket, in November, 1908, to serve for the two-year term expiring Jan. 10, 1911. Address: Topeka, Kan.

STURDEVANT, James Warner:

President of the Densmore Typewriter Company; born in Chautauque County, N. Y., Dec. 9, 1850. He was graduated from Cornell University as B.S. in 1876, and was senior editor of The Cornell Era. He was superintendent of schools for several years, advocated the New Education and obtained for the improvement of his teachers such advanced lecturers as Colonel Francis Parker and Prof. Thomas Balliett. He organized the Densmore Typewriter Company in 1891, and has ever since been an officer of the company. He married at Philadelphia, Dec. 21, 1878, Augusta Densmore and they have two daughters. Address: Cragmoor, Ulster County, N. Y.

SULLIVAN, Andrew T.:

President of the Nassau Trust Company; born in Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 11, 1854; son of Andrew and Ann E. (Harrington) Sullivan. He was graduated from St. Francis Xavier's College, New York City, A.B., 1872. He was appointed by President Cleveland, April, 1893, postmaster of Brooklyn, N. Y.; and held the office until October, 1897. He was a member of the Board of Education of the City of Brooklyn, during the four years previous to consolidation; chairman of the Committee on Sites; and chairman of the Finance Committee of the board to the expiration of his term. He is president and trustee of The Nassau Trust Company; and the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences. Mr. Sullivan is a member of the Alumni Association of St. Francis Xavier's College, of the Knights of Columbus, Catholic Benevolent Legion, the Roman Catholic Orphan Asylum Society, Brooklyn League, and the Brooklyn, Hanover, Bushwick, and Bayswater Yacht Clubs. He married in Brooklyn, 1884, Mary E. Kavanah, and they have four children. Residence: 933 St. Mark's Avenue. Address: 356 Fulton Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

SULZBERGER, Ferdinand:

President of Schwarzchild & Sulzberger Company, one of the oldest and largest packing firms in the United States; born in Obergrombach, Germany; son of Moses and Theresa (Schrage) Sulzberger. He is president of Schwarzchild & Sulzberger Company, Cold Blast Transportation Company and the Lackawanna Live Stock Transportation Company. He is a director of the Montefiore Home and is interested in many other charitable organizations. Residence No. 21 East 67th Street, New York City. Address: Care Schwarzchild & Sulzberger Company, 45th Street and First Avenue, New York City.

SULZER, William:

Congressman and lawyer; born in Elizabeth, N. J., March 18, 1863; son of Thomas Sulzer—one of the heroes of Germany in the struggle of 1848 for Constitutional Government. William Sulzer is the second of seven children. He was educated in the public schools and Columbia Law School, and he was admitted to the bar in 1884, and has practised in New York ever since. He early gained prominence as a political speaker, and has been on the stump in every campaign since 1884. He was elected to the General Assembly of New York, from the Fourteenth District in November, 1889, and was four times reelected, and was speaker of the Assembly in 1893. He was elected in 1894 to the Fifty-fourth Congress, and he has been biennially reelected and is now serving in the Sixty-first Congress. He was a delegate to the National Democratic Conventions of 1896, 1900, 1904 and 1908. Residence: 175 Second Avenue. Office: 115 Broadway, New York City.

SUTHERLAND, Arthur Eugene:

Jurist; born in Geneva, N. Y., Sept. 20, 1862; son of Andrew and Mary (McLean) Sutherland. He was graduated from Wesleyan University, A. B., 1885. He was admitted to the bar in 1887, was engaged in general law practice. He was elected county judge of Monroe County, serving 1894-1905; was elected in November, 1905, on the Republican ticket; justice of the Supreme Court of New York for the Seventh District for the term expiring Dec. 31, 1919. Judge Sutherland is a director of the Union Trust Co., of Rochester. He is a member of the Genesee Valley and Oak Hill Country Clubs of Rochester, N. Y. He married in Nunda, N. Y., June 30, 1888, Nellie Reed. Residence: 406 Lake Avenue. Office: Court House, Rochester, N. Y.

SUTRO, Theodore:

Lawyer, author; born at Aix-la-Chapelle, Prussia, March 14, 1845; son of Emanuel Sutro and Rosa (Warendorff) Sutro. He was graduated from Baltimore City College, 1863; from Phillips-Exeter Academy, New Hampshire, in 1864; and from Harvard, A.B., in 1871; and from Columbia University Law School, as LL.B., in 1874. While a student at Harvard he established and conducted a commission business in Boston. He was admitted to the bar in 1874, and from 1887 to 1892 conducted large litigations in Nevada, involving the interests of the Sutro Tunnel Company. He reorganized the company into the Comstock Tunnel Company, by buying the property in on mortgage foreclosure for the stockholders for $1,000,000 cash, which he raised from a syndicate of bankers, and was its president from 1887 to 1894. He is engaged in general practice but of late years has made a specialty of questions and litigations relating to taxation. He is a member of the law firm of Sutro and Wright. Mr. Sutro is an independent Democrat in politics, and was one of the organizers and second president of the German-American Reform Union, which played an important part in the anti-Tammany movement of 1894, and in the election of Mayor Strong; a commissioner of taxes and assessments for the City of New York, from 1895 to 1898, under appointment; delegate in 1896 to the National Democratic Convention, at Indianapolis, which nominated Palmer and Buckner. He was appointed by Mayor Van Wyck as a member of the committee on the Dewey Reception in 1899, and by appointment of Mayor McClellan is a member of the Hudson-Fulton Celebration Commission. In his religious connection he is a German Lutheran. Mr. Sutro was a delegate to the International Congress of Lawyers and Jurists, St. Louis, 1904; is a member of the Association of Bar of the City of New York, the New York State, and the American Bar Associations and the New York County Lawyers' Association, International Law Association, International Tax Association, American Political Science Association; former president and chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Society of Medical Jurisprudence. He is a member of the Phillips-Exeter Academy Alumni, Phi Beta Kappa Alumni, Columbia University Alumni, Harvard Club, Genealogical and Biographical Society and many others. He is president of the United German Societies of the City of New York, of the German American Alliance of the State of New York, and is a member of many other German Societies, literary, educational, scientific and social. Mr. Sutro has written works and articles on various subjects, including taxation, medical jurisprudence, and other legal topics, and art, and many poems. He is an art collector, and his collection of the Edward Moran thirteen historical marine paintings has attracted attention throughout the United States. He exhibited them for over a year at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, and is exhibiting them at the Smithsonian Institution (National Museum) Washington, D. C. He married in Jersey City, N. J., Oct. 1, 1884, the beautiful Florence Edith Clinton, musician, painter, speaker, and social leader, who died April 27, 1906. Residence: 320

West 102d Street. Address: 280 Broadway, New York City.

SWAIN, Joseph:

President of Swarthmore College; born in Pendleton, Ind., June 16, 1857; son of Woolston and Mary Ann (Thomas) Swain. He was graduated from Indiana University in 1883 as B.L. and M.S. in 1885, and received from Wabash College the degree of LL.D. in 1893; and he was a student in Edinburgh, 1885-1886. He was professor of mathematics in the Indiana University, 1886-1891; professor of mathematics in Leland Stanford University, 1891-1893; president of Indiana University, 1893-1902, and since then president of Swarthmore College. He has been a member of the National Council of Education from 1900; a member of the National Council of Religious Education from 1904, and has been a member of the State Board of Education in Indiana for nine years. He married in Knightstown, Ind., Sept. 22, 1885, Frances Morgan. Address: Swarthmore, Pa.

SWAN, Henry Harrison:

United States judge; born in Detroit, Mich., Oct. 2, 1840; son of Joseph G. and Mary C. Swain. He was prepared in the public schools and educated in the University of Michigan; studied law and practiced at Detroit until appointed by President Harrison, Jan. 19, 1891, to his present office as U. S. judge of the District of Michigan. Address: Detroit, Mich.

SWANK, James Moore:

General manager of the American Iron and Steel Association; born in Westmoreland County, Pa., July 12, 1832; son of George W. Swank and Nancy (Moore) moved with his parents in 1838 to Johnstown, Pa. On both the paternal and maternal sides his ancestors have been Pennsylvanians for four generations. He returned, Pa., and there he received a careful common school and academic education. Washington and Jefferson College conferred upon him the degree of Ph.D. in 1900. In 1852 he was asked to take charge of the local Whig newspaper and in 1853 he founded the Johnstown Tribune and with brief intervals was its editor and publisher until 1870 when he became clerk of the Committee on Manufactures of the House of Representatives, and in 1871 and 1872 he filled the office of chief clerk of the Department of Agriculture. In December, 1872, he took charge of the work of the American Iron and Steel Association in Philadelphia as its secretary, and as secretary and general manager he has devoted thirty-five years to the service of the association, the success of which is in the largest measure due to his efforts; and he is still its general manager. In 1878 Mr. Swank published, in book form, an Introduction to a History of Iron Making and Coal Mining in Pennsylvania. He was selected by General Francis A. Walker to collect the statistics of iron and steel for the Tenth Census of the United States, in 1880, and in 1881 he accompanied his final report with a historical sketch of the manufacture of iron and steel in all countries, and particularly in the United States, giving special attention to the work of colonial and other pioneers in the manufacture of iron and steel. He afterwards enlarged the historical part of his report and published it in book form in 1884, under the title of: History of the Manufacture of Iron in All Ages, of which a second edition appeared in 1902. In December, 1897, he published for the members of the American Iron and Steel Association a souvenir volume of 228 pages under the title of: Notes and Comments on Industrial, Economic, Political, and Historical Subjects. While chief clerk of the Department of Agriculture he prepared a history of that department. He has now in preparation a work entitled: History of Western Pennsylvania, with Special Reference to Its Industrial Development. Mr. Swank is known throughout the country as one of the ablest advocates of the protective tariff. Address: 261 South Fourth Street, Philadelphia.

SWANSON, Claude Augustus:

Governor of Virginia; born at Swansonville, Pittsylvania County, Va., March 31, 1862; son of John M. Swanson. He was educated in the public schools until he was sixteen years old, then taught public school for one year; attended for one session the Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical College; clerked for two years in a grocery store in Danville, Va., then entered Randolph-Macon College, from which he was graduated, A.B., 1885; and was graduated from the University of Virginia as B.L. in 1886. He practised law from 1886 at Chatham, Va. He was elected from the Fifth Virginia District in 1892 to the Fifty-third Congress, and after that to the Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh and Fifty-eighth Congresses, resigning from the latter upon his election in 1905 as governor of Virginia, for the four-year term from February, 1906, to February, 1910. Residence: Chatham, Va. Official address: Richmond, Va.

SWARTZ, William Paley:

Clergyman; born in Circleville, Ohio, Dec. 24, 1858; son of Rev. Joel D.D., and Adelia (Rosenerans) Swartz. He was graduated from Pennsylvania College, Gettysburg, A.B., 1881, with first honors of his class, having received also a number of other honors, prizes and distinctions, also the degrees of A.M. and Ph.D. He spent five years as a book and job printer before going to college. Mr. Swartz was principal of the High School at Hazelton, Pa., 1881-1882, tutor at Pennsylvania College, 1882-1883; missionary to Guntur, India, 1883-1887; pastor of the Fifth Presbyterian Church of Trenton, N. J., 1887-1888; and of the Central Church of Wilmington, Delaware, 1888-1896; and since then of the First Presbyterian Church of Poughkeepsie, N. Y. He has been an extensive traveler in Europe, Asia and Africa, as well as in all parts of the United States and Alaska. He is a member of Vassar Brothers Institute, of the American Bible League; life member of the American Bible Society, American Tract Society, Dutchess New England Society, and Phi Gamma Delta fraternity; and is a member of the Controlling Board of the New York Sabbath Association, the International Missionary Union, the Pringle

Home for Aged Literary Men. He has published essays upon important religious and social topics, among which are: Is the Bible Trustworthy?; In or Out; The Young Men and the Churches; The Authority of the Sunday Sabbath; The Financial Problem; The Gospel for the Times; The Temperance Question; the Family and Religion; Economic Consumption and The Social Welfare. He is an honorary member of the Poughkeepsie Yacht Club and the Central Labor Council. Dr. Swartz married in Frazer, Pa., May 9, 1888, Florence Allen Reed; and they have four sons: Philip Allen, Charles Benjamin, Howard Villeroy, and William Crosby. Address: Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

SWIFT, Fletcher Harper:

Educator; born in New York City, May 20, 1876; son of Rev. Judson and Julia Elizabeth (Peters) Swift. He was educated in Dartmouth College, A.B., 1898; Union Theological Seminary, D.D., 1903; Columbia University, A.M., 1904; Columbia University, Ph.D., 1905. He won the Dartmouth college prizes in English and Latin. He also received honors in philosophy; Phi Beta Kappa. He was Teaching Fellow, Teachers' College, Columbia University. Professor Swift was assistant in History of Education, Teachers' College, Columbia University, New York, 1904-1905. Assistant Professor of Education, University of Washington, 1905-1907. Assistant Professor of Education, University of Minnesota, 1907-1909. Professor of Education, University of Minnesota, 1909. He was lecturer in History of Education, Institute of Arts & Sciences, St. Paul, Minnesota, 1907-1908. Lecturer in Principles and History of Religious Education, Chicago Theological Seminary, 1908-1909. Lecturer in History and Theory of Education, Dartmouth College Summer School, 1909. Professor Swift is author of: The Most Beautiful Thing in the World, 1905; Joseph, a Play for Children, 1907; The History of Permanent Public Common School Funds in the United States, 1795-1905, 1909. Professor Swift is an Insurgent Republican and Congregationalist. He is a member of the National Educational Association; Religious Educational Association; Minnesota Educational Association and Alpha Delta Phi. Address: College of Education, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minn.

SYLVESTER, Herbert Milton:

Author; born in Lowell, Mass., Feb. 20, 1849; son of Ezekiel J. and Miriam T. (Sargent) Sylvester. He was educated at Bridgeton Academy; studied law in the office of U. S. Senator William Pitt Fessenden, at Portland, Maine, and was admitted to the Cumberland bar, Maine, in 1872, and the Suffolk bar, Boston, 1885, also to the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals. He practised law in Portland, 1872-1885, and in Boston, 1885-1900, then retired from law practice. Mr. Sylvester has made for himself a notable place as writer of essays, illustrator, historian, also as a writer of fiction and contributor to magazines. He is author of: Prose Pastorals; Homestead Highways; Maine Pioneer Settlements (five volumes—Olde Cascoec, Old York, Sokoki Trail, Ancient Pemaquid, Land of St. Castin); Old Kitterie and the "Scarlet Letter"; Last of the Wawenmooks, a Penobscot Romance (fiction); Red Gables (fiction) in press; Early Voyages to New England (in press); A Relation of the Pioneer Settlements of Maine, 1607 to 1690; Indian Wars of New England (two volumes). Mr. Sylvester is president and general manager of the Aleppo Book Company of Boston. He is a member of the Bostonian Society; one of the founders of the Woman's Rescue Mission, Boston; Knight Templar and Shriner; member of the Authors Club of London, Maine Sportsmen's Fish and Game Club. He married in Portland, Maine, Aug. 5, 1872, Clara Marie Elder, and has one son. Residence: Harrison, Maine (summer); Boston (winter).

T

TAFT, Oren Edwin:

Investment banker; born in Paxton, Ill., Oct. 28, 1868; son of Oren Byron and Frances (Schlosser) Taft. He was graduated from Yale University as Ph.B., 1889. Mr. Taft is president of the Illinois Land Company; and vice-president of the Pearsons-Taft Land Credit Company and of the Wyoming Sulphur Company. He is a member of the Book and Snake of Yale University, and of the University, Chicago, Bankers' and Chicago Boat Clubs of Chicago. Mr. Taft married in New York City, April 25, 1894, Josephine Stewart, and they have two children. Residence: 66 Cedar Street. Office: 181 La Salle Street, Chicago.

TAFT, William Howard:

President of the United States; born in Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 15, 1857; son of Hon. Alphonso Taft, attorney-general of the United States in the cabinet of President Grant, and Louise M. (Torrey) Taft. He received his primary and preparatory education in the public schools and Woodward High School in Cincinnati, and was graduated from Yale, A.B., 1878, and from the Cincinnati College of Law, LL.B., 1880. He was salutatorian and second in his class at Yale, with Phi Beta Kappa honors, and divided the first prize on his graduation in law. In 1880 he was admitted to the bar of the Supreme Court of Ohio, in 1881 he was appointed assistant prosecuting attorney of Hamilton County, Ohio, and in 1882 was appointed a collector of internal revenue under President Arthur. After holding this position for a year, he resigned to resume the practice of law, and in four years' time had attained so considerable a place in his profession that in 1887 he was appointed judge of the Superior Court of Cincinnati. In 1890 he was appointed solicitor-general of the United States, taking the second place in the Department of Justice, where his father had been attorney-general in years before his son had grown to manhood. In 1892 Secretary Taft was appointed a United States circuit judge for the Sixth Judicial Circuit, and in 1896 became dean of the Law Department of the University of Cincinnati. In 1901, Judge Taft was appointed by President McKinley the first civil governor of the Philippine Islands under American rule, facing many problems entirely new in American administration, and meeting them with a degree of wisdom and courage which won him the respect of the people of those islands and the admiration and confidence of the people and government of the United States. Upon the retirement of Secretary Root from the War Department in 1904, Mr. Taft Succeeded him as Secretary of War in which, in addition to the usual duties devolving upon that Department he had the added duties of the administration of the Philippines, and the construction of the Panama Canal. He undertook and successfully completed many important missions of diplomacy and administration; conferred with Pope Leo XIII. concerning the purchase of agricultural lands of religious orders in the Philippines in 1902, with the result of a favorable settlement of that important question; went to Panama and conducted the negotiations with the Panama authorities in connection with the government of the Canal Zone; adjusted the political disputes between the parties in Panama which were reaching the stage of anarchy, and inaugurated the administration of pacification, personally acting as governor until a suitable governor was found to continue that work. In 1905, with a Congressional delegation, he went on a tour of inspection to the Philippines, and in September, 1907, he again started on another official visit to Manila. Secretary Taft received the Presidential nomination of the Republican party in 1908; was elected by a popular vote of 7,061,875, a plurality of 1,045,715 votes; and by an electoral vote of 321 to 162, and inaugurated March 4, 1909, for the term expiring March 4, 1913. He has received honorary degrees of LL.D. from the University of Pennsylvania, 1902, Yale, 1903, Harvard, 1905, Miami University, 1905, and the University of Iowa, 1907. He married in Cincinnati, in 1886, Helen Herron, and they have three children. Home: Cincinnati. Summer home: Beverly, Mass. Official residence and address: The White House, Washington, D. C.

TALBOT, Ethelbert:

Bishop of Central Pennsylvania; born at Fayette, Mo., Oct. 9, 1848; son of John A.

WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT
President of the United States and Alice (Daly) Talbot. He received in 1887 the degree of D.D. from Dartmouth College and from the General Theological Seminary, and that of LL.D. from the University of Missouri. He was ordered deacon of the Episcopal Church in 1873, and ordained to the priesthood by Bishop Robertson in 1874. Following his entry to the ministry he was rector of St. James' Church, Macon City, Mo., and rector also of the Military Academy in that city, 1873-1887. In 1887 he was consecrated bishop by Bishops Whipple, Quintard, Tuttle, Spalding, Perry, Burgess and Seymour, becoming bishop of Wyoming and Idaho, remaining in this diocese until 1898, where he was made bishop of Central Pennsylvania. Address: South Bethlehem, Pa.

TALIAFERRO, James Piper:

U. S. senator; born at Orange, Va., Sept. 30, 1847. He was educated in Virginia, leaving the school of William Dinwiddie, at Greenwood, in 1864, to volunteer in the Confederate Army, in which he served until the war ended. He returned to his home after the war and resumed his studies, removing later to Jacksonville, Fla., where he engaged in business; was elected April 19, 1899, on the first joint ballot of the Florida Legislature to the U. S. Senate to succeed Hon. Samuel Pasco, and reelected in 1905. His term of service will expire March 3, 1911. Address: Jacksonville, Fla.

TAPPAN, John Butler Coles:

Lawyer; born in Dosoris, Oyster Bay, N. Y., April 4, 1860; son of DeWitt and Margaret (Coles) Tappan. He was graduated from Yale University, B.A., 1880, Columbia University Law School, LL.B., 1882. He was admitted to the bar in 1882, and has practised continually in New York since then, now being head of the firm of Tappan and Bennett. He is a frequent counsel and referee on cases affecting riparian rights and water fronts, and is regarded as an expert in these subjects; also a frequent speaker on questions of public interest. Mr. Tappan was president of the Board of Education, Glen Cove, N. Y.; is a director of the Legal Aid Society, member of the Sons of the Revolution, Bar Association of New York City, New York State Bar Association, American Bar Association, New York County Bar Association, Nassau County Bar Association, of which he is president, the Long Island Farmers Club, and Civil Service League; vice-president of the Navy League; president of the Republican Club of Glen Cove, and member of the Yale, City, Republican, Psi Upsilon, and Economic Clubs, director of the Nassau Country Club, and member of the Graduates Club of New Haven. He married in Glen Cove, L. I., May 21, 1885, Caroline Alice Titus. Residence: The Buckingham, Fifth Avenue and 50th Street. Office: 49 Wall Street, New York City.

TARKINGTON, (Newton) Booth:

Author; born in Indianapolis, Ind., July 29, 1869; son of John Slosson and Elizabeth (Booth) Tarkington. He was graduated from Phillips Academy, Exeter, N. H., in 1889, and from Princeton, as A.B. in 1893. He is author of: The Gentleman from Indiana, 1899; Monsieur Beaucaire, 1900; The Two Vanrevels, 1902; Cherry, 1903; In the Arena, 1904; The Conquest of Canaan, 1905; The Beautiful Lady, 1905; The Guest of Quesnay. Also plays: Monsieur Beaucaire, 1901 (in collaboration with E. G. Sutherland); The Man on Horseback, four-act drama, 1903. He is a member of the Players' Club of New York City. Mr. Tarkington is a Republican in politics, and was elected to the Indianapolis Legislature in November, 1908. He married, June 18, 1902, Laurel Louisa, daughter of Stoughton Joseph and Laurel (Locke) Fletcher, of Indianapolis. Address: Indianapolis, Ind.; or 265 West 81st Street, New York City.

TATLOCK, John:

President of the Washington Life Insurance Company; born in Williamstown, Mass., March 12, 1860; son of John Tatlock, D.D. and Lucy Beman (Whitman) Tatlock. He was graduated from Williams College B.A., 1882, M.A., 1887. Mr. Tatlock was assistant astronomer in the Washburn Observatory of the University of Wisconsin, 1883-1884; professor of astronomy in Beloit College, 1884-1885; actuary in the Prudential Insurance Company of Newark, N. J., in 1888; assistant actuary in the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, 1889-1904; and since 1905 has been president of the Washington Life Insurance Company of New York. He is a fellow of the Royal Astronomical Society of London, the New York Academy of Sciences, the Actuarial Society of America and was secretary of the latter, and editor of its Transactions, 1889-1904. He is a member of the Century Association. Mr. Tatlock married, March 2, 1886, Kate Chamberlain. Residence: 376 West End Avenue. Office: 141 Broadway, New York City.

TATNALL, Henry:

Railway official; born in Wilmington, Del., April 30, 1855; son of William Tatnall, and a grandson of Edward Tatnall, one of the organizers and first trustees of the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad Company, predecessor of the Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington Railroad Company. His early education was received at private schools of Wilmington and at Westtown Boarding School. He began his business career as a clerk in a real estate office in Wilmington. In 1879, Mr. Tatnall entered the services of the Girard Trust Company, Philadelphia, and became its treasurer in 1881. He was elected its vice-president in 1885, which position he resigned in 1900 to accept the presidency of the Franklin National Bank of Philadelphia. In 1901 he was appointed by the United States Circuit Court, one of the receivers of the Asphalt Company of America. On June 1, 1904, he was elected sixth vice-president and treasurer of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company lines East of Pittsburgh and Erie; Oct. 10, 1905, became fifth vice-president and treasurer. and March, 1909, its fourth vice-president in charge of its financial department. Mr. Tatnall is also a director of the Girard Trust Company, Franklin National Bank, Commercial Trust Company, Philadelphia; Guarantee Company of North America, and treasurer of the Society for Organizing Charity. Address: Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

TAYLER, Robert Walker:

U. S. district judge; born in Youngstown, Ohio, Nov. 26, 1852; son of Hon. Robert W. T. Tayler, comptroller of the United States Treasury. He was graduated from the Western Reserve College, A.B. in 1872. After graduation he was a high school teacher and school superintendent; edited a newspaper at Lisbon, Ohio; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1877. He was prosecuting attorney of Columbiana County, 1880-1886. He was elected as a Republican to the Fifty-fourth Congress in 1894, and reelected to the Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth and Fifty-seventh Congresses, and declined the nomination to the Fifty-eighth Congress. In January, 1905, he was appointed by President Roosevelt to his present office as judge of the U. S. District Court for the Northern District of Ohio. He married, May 18, 1876, Helen Vance. Address: Youngstown, Ohio.

TAYLOR, C. Bryson:

Author; born in Washington, D. C., 1880; daughter of John Yeatman and Sabella Barr (Bryson) Taylor. She was educated in private schools in Washington, D. C., and in New Milford, Conn. She was with the Frank A. Munsey Company in 1905, and in 1906 became a member of the staff of Everybody's Magazine. During her period of residence in Washington, she was identified with naval society, and what is known as the "old residential set," being the granddaughter of the late Rear Admiral Andrew Bryson, U. S. N. Her latest book: Nicanor, Teller of Tales, has been ranked with Ben Hur and Quo Vadis, her other book being: In the Dwellings of the Wilderness. She is author of short stories, articles and sketches in leading magazines, and a serial story: The Wooing of Ah-té, in Everybody's Magazine, 1903. She is a member of the Washington Society of the Archaeological Institute of America, National Geographic Society, National Society of Colonial Dames in the District of Columbia, the 'Travelers' Club of Athens, Washington Club of Washington, D. C., and the Woman's Club of New York. Home address: 1727 Q Street, Washington, D. C. Present residence: 42 East 28th Street, New York City.

TAYLOR, Charles Jay:

Artist; born in New York City, Aug. 11, 1855; son of C. J. and Elizabeth (MacDonald) Taylor. He was educated in the College of the City of New York, and graduated from the Columbia Law School, LL.B., 1874. He studied art at the Art Students' League and the National Academy of Design in New York, and in the London and Paris art schools. Besides being an exhibitor of notable paintings at the Paris Salon, the Carnegie Institute, the National Academy of Design and other exhibitions, he has illustrated many books, including H. C. Bunner's works ("Short Sixes," "More Short Sixes," "Made in France," etc.), Stewart's "Partners of Providence," etc.; and is the author of The Tailor Made Girl. He is a member of the Players' Club, New York City, National Geographic Society, American Federation of Arts, and the Boothbay Yacht Club, Maine. Mr. Taylor was married at New York City, Feb. 23, 1876, to Mary Adelaide Levison, and they have two daughters. Residence: Montrose Park, South Orange, N. J. Address: 16 Gramerney Park, New York City.

TAYLOR, Fielding Lewis:

Physician and surgeon; born in Martinsville, Va., May 24, 1868; son of Archibald and Martha (Fauntleroy) Taylor. He attended McGuire's School, Richmond, Va., 1879-1885; was graduated from University of Virginia, M.A., 1889, and M.D., 1891. He was a member of the house staff of the City Hospital, New York City, 1891-1893; the house staff of the House of Relief, Hudson Street Hospital, New York, 1893-1895; chief of the surgical clinic of the Out-Patient Department of the Hudson Street Hospital, 1896-1905. He is author of several papers on medical subjects, especially on the prevention of lock-jaw by prophylactic injections of tetanus antitoxin, on the percentage modification of milk in infant feeding, and on intubation of the larynx in diphtheria. He is a member of the American Medical Association, Medical Society of the State of New York, New York County Medical Society, New York Academy of Medicine, Society of the Alumni of New York Hospital, Society of the Alumni of the City Hospital (president, 1907); West End Medical Society, New York Externe Club, New York Southern Society, the Virginians in New York, Virginia Historical Society, Eli Banana (University of Virginia), and Phi Delta Theta fraternity, and is also a member of the West Side Tennis and University Clubs of New York City. Address: 173 West 73d Street, New York City.

TAYLOR, Frederic William:

Irrigationist; born in Weepingwater, Neb., April 13, 1860. He was trained in horticulture under his father, and was later employed in leading nurseries. He has been professor of horticulture at the University of Nebraska, and since 1893 has been chiefly engaged in preparing and directing horticultural and agricultural exhibitions at the various world's fairs and expositions in the United States, having achieved a very considerable success in this work and attracting international attention. Upon the completion of his work at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition he became interested in irrigation matters, and he is now vice-president and general manager of the Tri-State Land Company, a corporation owning a canal seventy-five miles in length and watering 80,000 acres of land in Scottsbluff and Morrill Counties, Nebraska. Mr. Taylor is a member of the American Geographical Society, and all prominent agricultural, horticultural, pomological and forestry societies; was decorated officer of the Legion of Honor by the French Government in 1904; Chevalier Order of the Red Eagle of the Emperor of Germany; Knight of the Order of Jesus Christ by the King of Portugal; Order of the Rising Sun by the Mikado of Japan; and Order of the Crown by the King of Italy. He has traveled extensively in Europe for the purpose of studying agricultural and horticultural conditions, and has written a number of monographs on the culture of fruits. He was married, first, at Creston, Iowa, in 1885 to Stella Arnold, who died July 9, 1891, and second, at Chicago, Ill., in 1898, to Marion Treat, and has three sons and two daughters. He maintains an office for carrying on irrigation engineering and construction in Denver, Colo. Residence: 1500 C Street, Lincoln, Neb.

TAYLOR, Henry Ling:

Surgeon; born in New York City, March 17, 1857; son of Charles Fayette and Mary Selina (Skinner) Taylor. He was graduated from the Sheffield Scientific School of Yale, Ph.B., 1877, and from the College of Physicians and Surgeons (New York), M. D., 1881. He is professor of orthopedic surgery at New York Post-Graduate Medical School and Hospital; assistant surgeon to Hospital for Ruptured and Crippled. He gives exclusive attention to orthopedic surgery, actively interested in educational and fresh air work for cripples, and in physical education. He is author of about fifty papers on orthopedic surgery. Dr. Taylor is manager of the Guild for Crippled Children of the Poor of New York City. He is a member of the American Medical Association, New York County and State Medical Societies, American Orthopedic Association (president), American Physical Education Society, and the Alumni of Roosevelt Hospital. He is a member of the Yale Club of New York City. Dr. Taylor married in Geneseo, N. Y., Dec. 30, 1890, Daisy Louise Brodt, and they have four children. Address: 125 West 58th Street, New York City.

TAYLOR, John Madison:

Physician; born in Lancaster County, Pa., July 4, 1855; son of William Johnson and Mary (Bearden) Taylor; and descendant of William Taylor, who emigrated from England to Virginia in 1634. He was educated in Rugby Academy, Philadelphia; was graduated from Princeton University, A.B., 1876, A.M., 1879, and from the University of Pennsylvania, M.D., 1878. He was resident physician, 1878-1879, and assistant physician in 1880 of the Children's Hospital; chief of the Children's Clinic in the University of Pennsylvania, 1879-1883; assistant physician of the Orthopedic Hospital and Infirmary for Nervous Diseases, 1882-1892; neurologist to Howard Hospital, 1884-1901; professor of Diseases of Children in the Philadelphia Polyclinic College for Medical Graduates, 1895-1901, and in 1900 he was appointed pediatricist to the Philadelphia Hospital; personal assistant to Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, 1882-1896; and in 1891 he was private physician to Joseph Pulitzer of New York, and also to James G. Blaine, in the summers of 1891 and 1892. In his professional capacity he accompanied many prominent men on hunting expeditions (e. g., Theodore Roosevelt, 1886), and is an ardent sportsman. Since 1879 he has practised his profession in Philadelphia, and in the summer months at Bar Harbor, Me. Dr. Taylor was president of the University of Pennsylvania Medical Alumni Association, 1900-1901, and member of the Council of the Philadelphia College of Physicians, 1894-1900. He has illustrated fifteen or twenty medical books, is author of many essays on medical topics; is joint author, with Dr. William H. Wells, of: Manual of Diseases of Children, 1898, and 1901, now translated into Italian; is editor (with Dr. Charles E. de M. Sajous) of the Monthly Cyclopædia of Practical Medicine, and also associated with Dr. Sajous in literary and scientific work. Dr. Taylor is a fellow of the College of Physicians, of the Academy of Medicine; honorary fellow of the Atlantic City County Medical Society; member of the American Medical Association, Climatological Society, American Therapeutic Society, and the Association of American Medical Editors, corresponding member of the Société Hygienique de France. He is a companion of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion and member of the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution. He is, or was, a member of the Philadelphia Country, University, Southern, Princeton, Bar Harbor Swimming, Medical, Philadelphia Fencing and Sparring, and Philadelphia Sketch Clubs. His professional tastes or specialization may be described as a scientific application of all rational, hygienic and educational agencies which make for amplifying the inherent reparative powers of body and mind capable of raising the status of the individual to a higher plane of permanent efficiency. Dr. Taylor married in Philadelphia, Oct. 15, 1879, Emily Heyward, daughter of Henry E. and Mary (Brady) Drayton, and they have three children: Edith (Mrs. A. M. Patterson), Percival Drayton and Mabel (Mrs. Gifford A. Cochran). Summer home: Bar Harbor, Me. Address: 1504 Pine Street, Philadelphia.

TAYLOR, Nelson:

Lawyer, publisher; born in Stockton, Calif., June 9, 1854; son of Nelson Taylor and Mary Ann (Bruen) Taylor. He was graduated from Harvard College, A.B., 1875. Mr. Taylor spent a year in foreign travel after graduation; studied law and was admitted to practice at the Fairfield County (Conn.) bar in 1878, and continued practice until 1885, when he formed the publishing and wholesale book house of Baker and Taylor, which, in 1886, became The Baker and Taylor Company, New York. He held various municipal offices at South Norwalk, Conn., where he was mayor in 1885. He is president of The Baker and Taylor Company; secretary and director of the American Publishers' Association; director of the Lockwood Manufacturing Company, and the South Norwalk Trust Company. He is a member of the Fairfield County Bar Association. Mr. Taylor married in London, England, July 26, 1906, Alette de Carriere. Address: 33 East 17th Street, New York City.

TAYLOR, Robert Love:

U. S. Senator; born at Happy Valley, Carter County, in East Tennessee, at the place on the Watauga River where the first fort was established by John Sevier; son of Nathaniel G. Taylor, member of Congress and commissioner of Indian affairs under President Johnson, and of Emily (Haynes) Taylor, sister of Landon C. Haynes, Confederate senator from Tennessee. He was educated in the Pennington (N. J.) Seminary. He was admitted to the bar of Tennessee in 1878 and has practised law since. He was elected to the Forty-sixth Congress from the First Tennessee District in 1878; was an elector-at-large on the Cleveland ticket in 1884; pension agent at Knoxville, Tenn., 1885; elected governor of Tennessee, 1886 and reelected 1888; Cleveland elector-at-large again in 1892; elected governor for third term, 1896. He represented in the district in Congress represented before him by his father, Nathaniel G. Taylor, and by his brother, Alfred A. Taylor, the latter of whom he defeated for governor in 1886. He was nominated for the U. S. Senate in the Democratic primary election in May, 1906, and elected in January, 1907, by the Legislature for the term expiring March 3, 1913. He married at Asheville, N. C., in 1878, Sarah L. Baird. Address: Nashville, Tenn.

TAYLOR, Roland Leslie:

Banker; born in Philadelphia, July 3, 1868; son of I. J. Taylor and Elizabeth Ann (Alkins) Taylor. He finished his public school education with the class of 1888 of the Philadelphia High School. He spent five years with a large banking and brokerage house, gaining a thorough foundation in securities and financial customs. He went into the Trust Department of the Real Estate Trust Company in 1891, was elected assistant secretary, Feb., 1901; elected vice-president of The Philadelphia Trust, Safe Deposit and Insurance Company, June 13, 1906, which office he now occupies. He is director and chairman of the Finance Committee of the Young, Smyth, Field Company. Mr. Taylor served eleven years with the Pennsylvania State Naval Militia, first as a seaman, then through the successive grades of petty officers and warrant officers and for the last six or seven years as a commissioned officer. He is a member of the Germantown Cricket Club, and the City Club of Philadelphia. He married in Philadelphia, Jan. 27, 1897, Anita May Steinmetz, and they have three children. Residence: 5906 Wayne Avenue, Germantown.

Office: 413-417 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia.

TAYLOR, Samuel M.:

American consul-general; born in Champaign County, Ohio, July 24, 1856; son of John Taylor and Miriam (Daniel) Taylor. He was graduated from the Ohio Wesleyan University, A.B., 1882, and from the Cincinnati Law School, LL.B., 1884. He was admitted to the bar the same year and engaged in practice at Urbana, Ohio, in 1884. He is a Republican in politics, was a member of the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, 1887-1893, and secretary of State of Ohio, 1893-1897, during the administration of Governor William McKinley. In July, 1897, he was appointed by President McKinley as American consul at Glasgow, Scotland, remaining there until 1906, when he was promoted by President Roosevelt to the rank of consul-general and transferred to Callao, Peru, at which post he is now serving. Mr. Taylor married in Franklin County, Ohio, Oct. 16, 1884, Myrta B. Bradrick. Address: American Consulate-General, Callao, Peru.

TAYLOR, William Watts:

Manufacturer; born at Opelousas, La., March 19, 1847; son of Reuben Miles Whitney and Frances Ann (Menefee) Taylor. His paternal grandfather, Ralph Taylor, was a Montreal merchant and a member of the Provincial Parliament of the Province of Quebec; and on his mother's side he is descended, in the fourth generation, from Hon. Seth Lewis, who was chief justice of the Territorial Supreme Court of Mississippi from 1800 to 1804. Mr. Taylor was educated in Kenyon College and at Harvard University, and received from Harvard the honorary degree of A.M. in 1904. In 1870 he became a member of the mercantile firm of Taylor and Brother in Cincinnati, and in 1883 manager of the Rookwood Pottery at Cincinnati, which had been started three years before. This business he incorporated in 1890 as the Rookwood Pottery Company, of which he has since been president, and under Mr. Taylor's management the company has maintained its position as the foremost American exponent of art in ceramics, winning for its exhibit at the Paris Exposition in 1900 the Grand Prix, and similar awards at Turin and St. Petersburg in 1902 and St. Louis in 1904. In connection with the Paris exhibit Mr. Taylor received from the French Government, in 1901, the decoration of chevalier of the Légion d'Honneur. Mr. Taylor has been president of the Municipal Art Society of Cincinnati from its organization in 1895, is treasurer of the Cincinnati Art Museum, one of the vice-presidents of the National Arts Club of New York, and was formerly president of the Commercial Club of Cincinnati, and served as secretary of the Cincinnati Musical Festival. Besides achieving commercial success, Mr. Taylor has borne a leading part in the promotion of artistic development in the ceramic arts of the United States. Address: Rookwood Pottery Company, Cincinnati, Ohio.

TEGGART, Frederick John:

Librarian; born in Belfast, Ireland, 1870. He was educated in Trinity College, Dublin, and in Leland Stanford, Jr., University, where he was graduated as B.A. He served as assistant and acting librarian of Leland Stanford University, 1893-1898; librarian of Mechanics' Institute, San Francisco, 1898-1906; and has been librarian of the Mechanics-Mercantile Library of San Francisco since 1906. He is honorary custodian of the Bancroft Library of the University of California, Berkeley, and honorary librarian of the Bohemian Club of San Francisco. Mr. Teggart is a Democrat in politics and an Episcopalian in religion. He is a member of the American Library Association, and the American Historical Association, of the Bohemian Club, the Amaurot Club of San Francisco, and the Faculty Club of the University of California. He married in San Mateo, Calif., in 1894, Adelaide Barnes, and they have two sons. Address: 99 Grove Street, San Francisco.

TELLER, Henry Moore:

Former U. S. senator; born in the town of Granger, Allegany County, N. Y., May 23, 1830. He was educated at Rushford Academy, and Alfred University; taught school several years; studied law at Angelico, Allegany County; and was admitted to practice at Binghamton, N. Y. In Jan., 1858, he removed to Illinois, and practised law there until April, 1861, when he removed to Colorado and resumed the practice of law. He received the degree of LL. D. from Alfred University in 1886, and from Colorado State University in 1903. He was elected to the U. S. Senate from Colorado on the admittance of that State; took his seat in the U. S. Senate, Dec. 4, 1876, and drew the term ending March 3, 1877; was reelected Dec. 11, for the full term, and served until April 17, 1882, when he resigned to enter the cabinet of President Arthur, as secretary of the interior, and served until March 3, 1885; was reelected to the Senate in Jan., 1885, for the term beginning March 4, 1885; was reelected in 1891, a Republican in politics, but withdrew from the National Republican Convention at St. Louis in June, 1896, because of dissatisfaction with the financial plank of the platform; was reelected in Jan., 1897, as an Independent Silver Republican, receiving 94 votes out of a total of 100, for the term beginning March 4, 1897; and reelected as a Democrat in 1903, for the term which expired March 3, 1909. Address: Central City, Colo.

TERHUNE, Albert Payson:

Editor; born in Newark, N. J., Dec. 21, 1872; son of Rev. Edward Payson Terhune and Mary Virginia (Hawes) Terhune ("Marion Harland"). He was educated in Europe, and graduated with the degree of B.A. from Columbia University in 1893. He has traveled extensively in little known parts of Asia and Africa, living among the Bedouins of the Desert, investigating leper settlements, penetrating Mohammed Shrines and other interesting aspects of foreign life generally barred to usual travelers. Since 1895 he has been on the editorial staff of the New York World, and is an authority on physical culture and a writer of books, articles, etc., on the subject. Among other literary material he is the author of the following books: Syria from the Saddle; Caleb Conover, Railroader; The Fighter; Columbia Stories; The World's Great Events; and Dr. Dale (this last in collaboration with Marion Harland). He is a member of the Authors and Barnard Clubs of New York. He was married on Sept. 2, 1901, to Alice Morris Stockton, and has one son. Residence: 200 West 78th Street. Office: 61 Park Row, New York City.

TERRY, Charles Thaddeus:

Lawyer; born in Albany, N. Y., Sept. 16, 1867; son of Griffith Pritchard and Eleanor (Lasher) Terry; of old English colonial ancestry. He was educated in private and public schools of Albany, Williams College, A.B., 1889; Columbia University Law School, LL.B., 1893; the University of Berlin, 1890. He began the practice of law as a junior partner of the old established firm of New York City, after two years became junior member of a law partnership of three, remaining in this firm for six years, after which time he has practiced alone. He was prize lecturer on Practice and Pleading under the New York Code of Civil Procedure, Columbia University Law School, 1893-1895; regular lecturer, 1896-1901; professor of law since 1901. As counsel for the National Association of Automobile Manufacturers in 1903, he conducted various test cases on the New York State restriction law and succeeded in having it declared unconstitutional. He was appointed by Governor Higgins a commissioner of New York State on Uniformity of Laws in the United States; secretary of the National Conference of Uniform Law Commissioners in 1905-1909; chairman of the Legislative Board of the American Automobile Association. Mr. Terry is chairman of the Tenement Shade Tree Committee of the Tree Planting Association of New York City; member of the New York State Bar Association, American Bar Association, Association of the Bar of the City of New York; vice-president of the Albany Society of New York; member of Phi Beta Kappa; Phi Delta Phi (ex-president of National Council); and a member of the University and Lawyers' Clubs; Graduates' Club (vice-president); Phi Delta Theta Club (ex-president); Phi Delta Phi Club (ex-president). Mr. Terry married in New Scotland, N. Y., June 22, 1898, Katharine Lesing Hendrick, and has four children. Address: 100 Broadway, New York City.

TERRY, Marshall Orlando:

Physician and surgeon; born in Watervliet Centre, Albany County, N. Y., June 21, 1848; son of William Henry and Sarah (Burke) Terry. He was educated in the Ophthalmic and Aural Institute, and the Manhattan Eye and Ear Infirmary; has special instruction under Heitzmann on pathology, histology and microscopy; physical diagnosis under Janeway at Bellevue Hospital, and surgery under Bryant; also studied abroad; and he was graduated from the Cleveland Homeopathic Hospital College in 1872. He was appointed surgeon with the rank of major of National Guard of the State of New York, March 18, 1880, by Governor Cornell; surgeon-general with the rank of brigadier-general, Jan. 1, 1895, by Governor Levi P. Morton; reappointed by Governor Black, Jan. 1, 1897; appointed by President Cleveland as U. S. pension examiner, of which board he was president four years; declined a position as chief surgeon of division during the Spanish-American War, offered by President McKinley, because of his duties as surgeon-general of New York. He was largely the inventor of the entire medical and surgical equipment of the National Guard of New York, the Terry stretcher and field case (taking his name by administrative suggestion); the New York ambulance, now manufactured in Philadelphia; also the raw hide perforated corset for spinal curvature, invented about 1880, but patented by the Morrisville Raw Hide Surgical Splint Company. While resident in Utica he was surgeon-in-chief of Utica Homeopathic Hospital for ten years and of the Commercial Travelers' Mutual Accident Association of America for several years, and for two years on the surgical staff of the General Hospital, at Utica, N. Y. He is a member of the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States; president of the Association of Medical Officers of the National Guard and Naval Militia of New York; member of the American Institute of Homoeopathy; ex-president of the Homeopathic Medical Society of the State of New York. He was decorated with a bronze medal, given by Oneida County War Committee, in recognition of his patriotic services during the war between the United States and Spain. He is honorary member of the Massachusetts Surgical and Gynecological Society. He is a member of the Ohio Society of New York; and also a member of the Automobile Club of America. Dr. Terry was the originator of the Sea Wall project now under construction at Fort Myers, Fla., which, as manager, he is building, and at the same time superintending dredging and filling in. The work began April 15, 1908, and will probably be completed in one year. Dr. Terry is author of: Bromine as an Antiseptic in Surgery; The Oil Treatment in Appendicitis; The Single Communion Cup; The Medicated Galvanic Treatment for Cervical (Tubercular) Gland Enlargements; Terry's Manual of Rotary Dilatation; Can Women Escape Pain at Child-birth? He is a member of the Larchmont, American and New York Yacht Clubs. Dr. Terry married in Mamaroneck, N. Y., Dec. 12, 1905, Mrs. Ambrose M. McGregor, widow of the former president of the Standard Oil Company of Ohio. Summer address: Mamaroneck, N. Y. Winter address: Fort Myers, Fla.

THACHER, Sherman Day:

Headmaster of Thacher School; born in New Haven, Conn., Nov. 6, 1861; son of Thomas Anthony and Elizabeth Baldwin (Sherman) Thacher. He was educated in Hopkins Grammar School, Yale College, A.B., 1883, Yale Law School, LL.B., 1886. He was with W. and J. Sloane of New York, 1883-1884; with the law firm of Lathrop and Smith in Kansas City, Mo., 1886-1887, went to California in Oct., 1887, and established the Thacher School in 1889. Mr. Thacher is an Independent in politics. He is director and president of the Boyd Club, chairman of the Committee of Fifteen. He is member of the National Committee for Mental Hygiene and of the Advisory Board of the California branch of the George Junior Republic. He is also a member of the University Club of San Francisco, and of the Faculty Club of the University of California, Berkeley. He married in Berkeley, Calif., June 24, 1896, Eliza Seely Blake, and they have four children: Elizabeth, George Blake, Anson Stiles, and Helen Sherman. Address: Nordhoff, Ventura County, Calif.

THACKARA, Alexander Montgomery:

Consul-general; born in Philadelphia, Sept. 24, 1848; son of Benjamin and M. A. (Enyard) Thackara. After a common and high school education he entered the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, in 1865; and was graduated in 1869. After seventeen and one-half years' service ashore and in the European, Asiatic, Pacific and home fleets, he resigned in 1882 to engage in a manufacturing business in Philadelphia. He remained in civil life until 1897, when he was appointed by President McKinley as consul of the United States at Havre. In 1899 he received the thanks of the Navy and State Departments for special services rendered during the war between the United States and Spain. On March 13, 1905, he was promoted to his present office as American consul-general at Berlin. Mr. Thackara married in Washington, D. C., May 5, 1880, Eleanor Sherman, daughter of General William T. Sherman, and has two sons and two daughters. Address: American Consulate-General, Berlin, Germany.

THAYER, Abbott Handerson:

Artist; born in Boston, Mass., Aug. 12, 1849; son of William Henry Thayer, M.D., and Ellen (Handerson) Thayer. He was educated in the common schools of Keene, N. H., at the Chauncey Hall School, Boston, and studied art for four years at the École des Beaux Arts in Paris. His early life was devoted mainly to the study and painting of animals, and after his twenty-fifth year, he commenced painting portraits and ideal figures. He discovered the principles of the protective coloration of animals, and in 1896, published an article concerning it in The Auk. Mr. Thayer devotes his leisure hours to the study of natural history. He is an academician of the National Academy of Design; member of the National Association of Arts and Letters, and L'Insigne Reale Accademia Romana delle Belle Arti Denominata di San Luca, and was president for two years of the Society of American Artists. Mr. Thayer married, first, at Brooklyn, June 5, 1875, Kate Bloede; second, at Nantucket, Mass., Sept. 3, 1891, Emeline B. Beach, and he has three children. Address: Monadnock, N. H.

THAYER, John B.:

Third vice-president of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company; born in Philadelphia, April 21, 1862; son of John Borland and Mary Randolph (Chapman) Thayer. He was educated in the University of Pennsylvania; entered railway service in 1881, as clerk in auditor's office of Empire Fast Freight Line; in 1883 became clerk in the freight department of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, since which he has been chief clerk in freight department, division freight agent at Baltimore, Md.; assistant general freight agent and general freight agent, and from June, 1903, to October, 1905, fifth vice-president; October, 1905, to March, 1909, fourth vice-president and since third vice-president and director of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company; the Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington Railroad; Northern Central Railway; West Jersey and Seashore Railroad. He is also a director of the Susquehanna Coal Company; Mineral Railroad and Mining Company; Summit Branch Mining Company; Chesapeake and Atlantic Railway Company; Rosslyn Connecting Railroad; Pittsburgh Joint Stock Yards Company; Cumberland Valley Railroad; Brookville Railroad; Long Island Railroad; Long Island Consolidated Electrical Companies; Erie and Western Transportation Company; Keystone Hotel Company; New York Connecting Railroad; Girard Point Storage Company; Lytle Coal Company, and Allegheny Valley Railroad, and Franklin National Bank. Address: Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

THELBERG, Elizabeth Burr:

Professor, physician; born in Bangor, Me., Oct. 29, 1860; daughter of Joseph J. and Sarah Buck (Morrill) Burr. She was graduated from the Woman's Medical College of the New York Infirmary, New York, 1884. She married in New York, Dec. 25, 1883, P. J. N. H. Thelburg, and has had two children, one still living. She was resident physician to the New York Infant Asylum, physician to the Nursery and Child's Hospital, West New Brighton, Staten Island; appointed resident physician and professor of physiology and hygiene at Vassar College, Poughkeepsie in 1887, which position she still holds. She is a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, American Medical Association, New York State Medical Society, Dutchess County Medical Society, Woman's Medical Association of New York State, Woman's Medical Association of New York City, National Federation for the Control of Child Labor, National Geographic Society, Society of Social and Moral Prophylaxis, and member of the Tuesday Club of Poughkeepsie and the Dutchess County Medical Club. Address: Vassar College, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

THIRKIELD, Wilbur Patterson:

President of Howard University; born in Franklin, Ohio, Sept. 25, 1854; son of E. B. and Amanda (Ballentine) Thirkield. He was graduated from Ohio Wesleyan University, A.B., 1876, A.M., 1879, and from Boston University, S.T.B., 1881. The honorary degree of D.D. was given to him by Emory College and by Ohio Wesleyan University, and that of LL.D. by the latter university in 1906. Upon his ordination to the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1881, he became pastor in Cincinnati, resigning in 1883 to go to Atlanta, Ga., where he opened the Gammon Theological Seminary, later securing six hundred thousand dollars for equipment and endowment. He became the first president of this institution and remained in that office until 1899, when he was appointed general secretary of the Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal Church. A year later he was elected by the General Conference, secretary of the Freedman's Aid and Southern Education Society, holding that position until 1906, when he was elected to the presidency of Howard University at Washington, D. C. He married at Malden, Mass., Oct. 27, 1881, Mary Haven, and has five children. Address: Howard University, Washington, D. C.

THOMAS, Augustus:

Dramatist; born in St. Louis, Jan. 8, 1859; son of Dr. E. B. and Imogen (Garrettson) Thomas. He was educated in the St. Louis public schools; served as page in the Forty-first Congress, 1869-1871; was six years employed in the freight department of railroads; studied law for two years; engaged in newspaper work, and was for a time editor and proprietor of the Kansas City Mirror. He is one of the foremost of American playwrights, author of: Alabama; In Mizzoura; Arizona; The Education of Mr. Pipp; Oliver Goldsmith; Mrs. Leffingwell's Boots; The Witching Hour, and many other well known successes. Mr. Thomas is a Democrat in politics and has been a candidate for the Legislature; is a personal and political friend of William J. Bryan, and presided over the great Madison Square Garden meeting which welcomed Mr. Bryan on his return from his world tour in the fall of 1906; and also took an active part as campaign speaker in the campaign of 1908. He is a member of the Century Association and the Players', Lambs', and American Dramatists' Clubs of New York City. He married in New York City, in 1890, Lisle Colby. Address: New Rochelle, N. Y.

THOMAS, Edward Beers:

Jurist; born in Cortlandville, N. Y., Aug. 4, 1848; son of John H. and Mary (Stiles) Thomas. He was graduated from Yale College, A.B., 1870, and admitted to the bar the same year. He was a member of the New York Senate from the Twenty-fourth Senate District of 1882-1885; and candidate for attorney-general in 1885. He removed to New York City in 1885, and in 1886 to Brooklyn, where he has since resided. He was judge of the U. S. District Court for the Eastern District of New York, 1898-1906; elected justice of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, Second District, 1906, and took office Jan. 1, 1907. Judge Thomas is trustee of the Brooklyn Historical Society. He is author of a treatise on Negligence and Estates Created by Will. He married in Brooklyn, May 21, 1873, Mary E. Babcock, and they have a son and daughter. Residence: 83 Remsen Street. Office: Court House, Brooklyn, N. Y.

THOMAS, E. R.:

Automobile manufacturer; born in Webster, Westmoreland County, Pa., in 1850; son of Joseph Batty and Elizabeth Van Hook Thomas. He was educated in the high schools of Evansville, Ind., and Duff's College, Pa. For forty years Mr. Thomas was in the transportation and coal mining business in Indiana and Tennessee. During this time he was intimately associated with the late G. J. Grammer, vice-president of the New York Central Lines, West and Darius Miller, first vice-president of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad. Mr. Thomas was the managing partner of H. A. Lozier & Company, of Toronto, manufacturers of Cleveland bicycles, 1898-1899; and in 1899 he became vice-president of the Canada Cycle and Motor Company, Toronto. At the present time he is president and owner of the E. R. Thomas Motor Company, manufacturers of the Thomas Flyer automobiles, at Buffalo, New York; he is also a director in the Chalmers Detroit Motor Co., of Detroit, Mich.; president of the E. R. Thomas Realty Company and director of the Central National Bank of Buffalo, and director of the Iron Elevator and Transfer Company of Buffalo. Mr. Thomas is a member of the Buffalo, the Country, the Park, the Ellicott, the Royal Canadian Yacht (Toronto), Buffalo Motor Boat and Niagara Golf Clubs. He married in Aurora, Ind., Flora Lozier, and they have three children. Town residence: 125 North Street, Buffalo, N. Y. Summer home: Niagara-on-the-Lake. Office: 1190 Niagara Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

THOMAS, Flavel Shurtleff:

Physician, author and educator; born in Hanson, Mass., Sept. 7, 1852; son of Isaac and Abby (Shurtleff) Thomas. He was educated in Syracuse University, B.Sc., M.Sc.; McGill University, Montreal, D.Sc., Harvard University, M.D., and received the degrees of M.A. and LL.D. from Shurtleff College. He is a physician to the Gordon Rest Sanatorium and to Maquan Sanitorium; and he is also school physician and town physician to the town of Hanson. His life has been largely devoted to studying in many universities, studying university education and degrees, and writing upon medical education and general university education; and he was formerly professor and dean in the National University. He is one of the editors of The Standard Dictionary of the English Language, and is author of A Dictionary of (200) University Degrees; and of many pamphlets and magazine articles on medical and educational subjects. He was president of the Hanson Old Home Week, 1902; president of the Dedication of the Hanson Soldiers' Monument, 1906; president at the dedication of Rev. Frederick O. MacCartney Monument at Rockland, Mass., 1908; is secretary-treasurer of the Fern Hill Cemetery Corporation, and secretary of the Hanson Improvement Society. He finds his recreation in farming and owns three farms. Dr. Thomas is a Christian Socialist and a member of the Socialist Party, by which he has been three times nominated for senator; was president of the Socialist Convention at Mayflower Grove, Mass., Oct. 15, 1905, and has presided at many large Socialist meetings in Plymouth County. He is a member of the Authors' League of the American Association for the Advancement of Science; and of the Harvard Union, Syracuse University, Cornell and Hatherly Medical Clubs. He married in Hanson, Mass., July 9, 1879, Caroline Moore Smith, and they have two children. Address: Maquan Sanitorium, South Hanson, Mass.

THOMAS, M. Carey:

President of Bryn Mawr College; born in Baltimore, Md., Jan. 2, 1857; daughter of James Carey and Mary (Whitall) Thomas.

Her father was a prominent physician and philanthropist of Baltimore, and a descendant of Philip Thomas, who emigrated in 1631 from Swansea, Glamorganshire, Wales, to Maryland; her mother was descended from James Whitall, who emigrated from Litchfield, England, in 1688, and purchased Red Bank, N. J., which remained in the possession of the family for 160 years. Miss Thomas was educated in private schools and Cornell University, graduating in 1877; Johns Hopkins University, 1877-1878, and the University of Leipzig, 1879-1882; the degree she had earned was refused on account of her sex, and also at the University of Göttingen; at the University of Zurich, after an exceedingly severe examination, she obtained the degree of Ph.D., summa cum laude, the highest degree ever awarded to a woman up to that time; studied, 1882-1883, at the Sorbonne, Paris. Since 1884 she has been professor of English at Bryn Mawr College, and she was dean of the college, 1885-1894, and since 1894 has been president of Bryn Mawr College. The degree of LL.D. was conferred upon her by the Western University of Pennsylvania in 1896. In association with the first president, Dr. James E. Rhoads, she prepared the educational plans, organizing the college on the group system, with an undergraduate and complete course leading to the degree of Ph.D.; in 1903 was elected one of the thirteen life trustees of the college. At the request of the United States Department of Education, Dr. Thomas prepared the monograph on the Education of Women, which received a medal at the Paris Exposition of 1900; in the establishment of the Johns Hopkins Medical School, in 1893, she was a powerful factor in obtaining its endowment of $500,000, upon the agreement that women should be admitted on equal terms with men. She was the first woman to be elected an alumni trustee of Cornell University and served for four years. Dr. Thomas is a member of the College, Acorn, Contemporary, New Century and Civic Clubs of Philadelphia; Women's University Club of New York, College Club of Boston, and the Lyceum Club, London, and is a member of the Society of Friends. Address: Bryn Mawr College, Bryn Mawr, Pa.

THOMPSON, Albert Clifton:

U. S. district judge; born at Brookville, Pa., Jan. 23, 1842. After serving from private to captain in the Union Army, 1861-1865, he studied law and engaged in practice at Portsmouth, Ohio, at the close of the war. He was judge of the Probate Court of Scioto County, 1869-1872; judge of common pleas in the Seventh Judicial District of Ohio, 1882-1885. He was elected to the Forty-ninth Congress as a Republican in 1884, and was reelected to the Fiftieth and Fifty-first Congresses. He was appointed by President McKinley, Sept. 16, 1898, judge of the District Court for the Southern District of Ohio, in which office he is now serving. Address: 2038 Auburn Avenue, Cincinnati.

THOMPSON, Charles Munson:

Chief engineer of the Cape Cod Ship Canal; born in Unadilla, N. Y., Oct. 15, 1844; son of William J. and Elizabeth (Betts) Thompson. His ancestors removed from Northumberland, England, to Ulster, Ireland, about 1609 to 1611, and his grandfather, Samuel Thompson, came from Antrim, Ireland, to America in 1798 and settled in Otego, N. Y. Mr. Thompson was graduated at the Delaware Institute, Franklin, N. Y., in 1861, and was employed in the engineer corps laying out the route of the Susquehanna Railroad from 1861 to 1864. He was with the West Shore Railroad, the Schoharie Valley Railroad, and the Evansville, Henderson and Nashville Railroad, after the Civil War. He was assistant engineer on the State Canal, with headquarters at Albany, for six years, and assistant engineer on the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, locating the new lines. In 1883 he removed to Sandwich, Mass., as assistant engineer on the Cape Cod Ship Canal, and on retiring as chief engineer in 1886 he removed to Winchester, Mass., taking up general engineering, returning to Sandwich in 1902 as resident engineer of the Cape Cod Canal. He married, Dec. 25, 1866, Olivia Lee of Unadilla, N. Y., and has one son. Address: Sandwich, Mass.

THOMPSON, David E.:

Ambassador; born in Michigan in 1854; son of John H. and Rhoda (Bennett) Thompson. He was educated in public schools in Michigan until he was thirteen years old, when he began to work. He became a truckman, and in 1872 a railway brakeman, advancing in railway service until he became a superintendent in 1882. Since 1891 he has been manager of various industrial institutions, and president of the Lincoln Daily Star of Lincoln, Neb., president of the Columbia Fire Insurance Company, and of the Aurora (Neb.) State Bank. Mr. Thompson is a Republican in politics and has been identified actively with party management in Nebraska. He began his diplomatic career on his appointment by President Roosevelt, in 1902, as envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to Brazil in 1905. His rank was raised to ambassador, Jan. 10, 1905, and he continued at Rio de Janeiro until Sept., 1905, when he was transferred as ambassador to Mexico, in which position he continues. Mr. Thompson married at Chicago, in Jan., 1892, Jeannette Miller. Address: American Embassy, City of Mexico, Mexico.

THOMPSON, Henry S.:

Builder and real estate dealer; born in New York City, Aug. 10, 1873; son of Richard J. and Helen (Soffe) Thompson. He was graduated from Princeton, A.B., 1894. He was first employed by the Standard Oil Company and traveled while in its employ through Europe, Asia and Africa; later entered building business and organized the Thompson-Starrett Company. He was superintendent of buildings of the Borough of Manhattan, New York City, during Mayor Low's administration, and remained under Mayor McClellan a short time; was a member of the New York Improvement Committee and commander of public works of the Borough of Manhattan, 1907-1908. Mr. Thompson is president and director of the Boulevard Realty Company, Reinforced Concrete Construction Company, Birmingham and Gulf Railway and Navigation Company, Golden Hill Building Company, National Vacuum Company; vice-president and director of the Globe and Rutgers Fire Insurance Company, director and treasurer of the Improved Property Holding Company of New York and Safety Benzine Company; director of the Union Exchange Bank, Continental Finance Company; Eagle Fire Company; City Investing Company; member of the Reorganization Company of the Delaware & Northampton Railroad Company; owner of Hotel Marie Antoinette, New York City; president and director of Belverd Realty Company. Mr. Thompson is a director of the Golden Hill Building Company. He is a Presbyterian and a trustee of the Manhattan Maternity Hospital. He is a member of the New York Yacht, New York Athletic, Princeton, Automobile of America, Down Town, Fairfield County Golf and City Lunch Clubs. He married in New York City, April 19, 1900, Mabel Potter, and they have three children. Residence: Summer, Greenwich, Conn.; city, Hotel Marie Antoinette, New York City. Address: 165 Broadway, New York City.

THOMPSON, Robert William, Jr.:

Lawyer; born in New York City, May 20, 1874; son of Robert W. and Martha (Macfarlan) Thompson. He was graduated from the College of the City of New York, A.B., 1893, Columbia University, A.M., 1894, and Columbia University Law School, LL.B., 1896. He is a member of the firm of Thompson and Warren, and engaged in the active practice of law. Mr. Thompson is general counsel for several corporations and makes a specialty of corporation and real estate law. He has served as master of Albion Lodge of Masons, is a member of the New York Bar Association, the Alpha Delta Phi and Phi Delta Phi fraternities, Columbia University Club, Englewood Golf Club, Republican Club of the City of New York, Albion Lodge Club, and the Association of the Bar of the City of New York. Residence: 166 West 97th Street. Office: 49 Wall Street, New York City.

THOMSON, John:

Librarian; born in England. After receiving his education in London, he became private librarian to Clarence H. Clark of Philadelphia, for eight years, to Jay Gould of Irvington-on-Hudson for three years, and has been librarian to the Free Library of Philadelphia since its opening in 1894. He is author of: Descriptive Catalogue of the Library of C. H. Clark; Catalogue of the Irvington Library of Jay Gould; Descriptive Catalogue of the Works of Sir Walter Scott and Library of Old Authors printed for the Free Library; and of Hither and Thither, 1906. He is a member of the Protestant Episcopal Church, vice-president of the Home Teaching Society for the Blind; member of the American Library Association, Historical Society of Philadelphia; and member and officer of the St. George's Society. He is also a member of the Art Club, curator of The Philobiblon Club; member of the Franklin Inn Club, and the Rowfant Club of Cleveland. He married in London, and he has seven children living. Residence: 2101 North Camac Street. Office: 1217-1221 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia.

THURBER, Caroline:

Artist, portrait painter; born in Oberlin, Ohio; daughter of General Alvred B. and Melissa (Tenney) Nettleton. She was educated in Philadelphia and received her art studies in Paris under Jean Paul Laurens and Benjamin Constant. She married in Minneapolis, 1885, Dexter Thurber, and she has two children. Mrs. Thurber has exhibited pictures in the Paris Salon, London Royal Academy and New Gallery, Walker's Gallery, Liverpool, Gallery of the Prince of Monaco, etc.; also many pictures in America. Summer address: Ferry Hill, Bristol, R. I. Winter address: Fine Arts Building, Chicago.

TIERNAN, Charles Bernard:

Lawyer; born in Baltimore, Sept. 4, 1840; son of Charles and Gay Robertson (Bernard) Tiernan. He was graduated from St. Mary's and Loyola Colleges, A.B. and A.M., and took post-graduate course in modern literature, Johns Hopkins University; studied law and was admitted to the bar in Baltimore City in 1862, and became a member of the Baltimore Bar Association and the Maryland State Bar Association. He is a counsel for the Hibernian Society, member of the Clan Robertson in Scotland. Son of the American Revolution, Society of Colonial Wars, president of the Cathedral Branch of the St. Vincent of Paul Society, Cathedral Branch of the Young Catholic Friends Society; superintendent of the Cathedral Sunday School; trustee of the Cathedral, vice-president of the Alumni of Loyola College. Mr. Tiernan was a member of the 53d Regiment, Maryland National Guard, at the beginning of the Civil War, until the Maryland National Guard was disbanded, and the State of Maryland occupied by United States troops; was ordnance sergeant of the 7th Regiment during the riots of 1877. He is author of the: Tiernan Family in Maryland, 1898, and The Tiernan and Other Families, 1901. He is a member of the Maryland and Catholic Clubs, and secretary and treasurer of the Ariel Rowing Club. Address: 405 St. Paul Street, Baltimore.

TIFFANY, Louis Comfort:

Artist; born in New York City, Feb. 18, 1848; son of Charles Lewis and Harriet Olivia (Young) Tiffany; grandson of Comfort and Chloe (Draper) Tiffany, and of Ebenezer and Anna (Burnett) Young; and descendant of Squire Humphreys Tiffany. He studied art in New York under George Inness and Samuel Coleman, and in Paris, under Leon Bailly; and received the honorary degree of A. M. from Yale. He painted in oil and water colors, making a specialty of Oriental scenes. His principal canvasses are: The Dock Scene, 1869; Street Scene in Tangiers, 1876; Study of Quimper, Brittany, 1877; Duane Street, New York, 1878; The Cobbler at Boufarick, 1888; Feeding the Flamingoes, 1888; Market Day at Nuremburg, 1892. His other important art works include the Tiffany Chapel exhibited at the World's Columbian Exposition at Chicago in 1893, now in the Crypt of the New York Cathedral of St. John the Divine; the Electric Fountain in the Grand Court of the Manufactures and Fine Arts Building at the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo, N. Y., in 1901. He discovered a new formula for making decorative glass, which is known as Tiffany Favril Glass. In 1879 he established and became president and art director of the Tiffany Glass and Decorating Company, now widely known as the Tiffany Studios, manufacturers of favril glass windows, decorators and general art workers; and he established and controls the Tiffany Furnaces at Corona, L. I., and the Allied Arts Company of New York City; is vice-president, trustee and art director of Tiffany and Company, the New York jewelry house founded by his father, Charles L. Tiffany, deceased. He was elected associate member in 1871, and academician in 1888 of the National Academy of Design; is a member of the Society of American Artists, American Water Color Society, New York, Society of Fine Arts, Architectural League, Société Nationale des Beaux Arts, and the Imperial Society of Fine Arts, Tokio, Japan. In 1890 he received the gold medal and decoration of the Chevalier of the Légion d'Honneur, and he is a member of the Century, Grolier, Union League, National Arts, Barnard and City Clubs. Mr. Tiffany has been twice married; first, May 15, 1872, to Mary, daughter of Levi Hart and Mary Woodbridge (Perkins) Goddard, of Norwich, Conn., who died Jan. 22, 1884; and, second, Nov. 9, 1886, to Louise Wakeman, daughter of Rev. J. H. Mason and Louise (Wakeman) Knox, of Philadelphia, who died May 8, 1904. Residence: 27 East 72d Street. Office: 401 Fifth Avenue, and 347 Madison Avenue, New York City.

TILLETT, Wilbur Fisk:

Clergyman, educator; born in Henderson, N. C., Aug. 25, 1854; son of Rev. John and Eliza Jenkins (Wyche) Tillett. He was educated in Horner School, Oxford, N. C., 1867-1869; Trinity College, N. C., 1871-1873; Randolph-Macon College, Va., 1873-

1877, graduating A.B.; Princeton University, M.A., 1879; Princeton Theological Seminary, 1877-1880, and received the honorary degrees of D.D. from Randolph-Macon College and Wesleyan University; S.T.D. from Northwestern University, and LL.D. from Southwestern University. He was licensed to preach, May 1878, at Ashland, Va.; joined the Virginia Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at Danville, Va., 1880; ordained deacon, 1883, at Richmond, Va., by Bishop H. H. Kavanaugh, and ordained elder in 1885 at Petersburg, Va., by Bishop J. C. Keener. He was pastor of Lynn Street Methodist Church, Danville, Va., 1880-1882; chaplain and assistant instructor of theology in Vanderbilt University, 1882-1883; adjunct professor of systematic theology in Vanderbilt University, 1883-1884; full professor since 1884, dean of the Biblical Department since 1886, and is vice-chancellor of Vanderbilt University. He is author of: Our Hymns and Their Authors, 1889; Discussions in Theology, 1899; Personal Salvation—Studies in Christian Doctrine Pertaining to the Spiritual Life, 1902; the Doctrines of Methodism, 1903; A Statement of The Faith of Worldwide Methodism, 1906. Dr. Tillett was a member of the Quadrennial General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, 1902 and 1906; member of the Tennessee Annual Conference since 1898; member of the Commission that compiled the Methodist Hymnal; president of the Board of Trustees of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and of the Board of Trustees of Martin College for Women. He married in Danville, Va., Nov. 15, 1888, Kate O. Schoolfield, who died Sept. 28, 1889, and married, second, at Spartanburg, S. C., Jan. 25, 1894, Laura E. McLoud. He has one child, a daughter. Address: Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn.

TILLMAN, Benjamin Ryan:

United States senator; born in Edgefield County, S. C., Aug. 11, 1847. He received an academic education under the instruction of George Galphin, at Bethany, in the same county; quit school in July, 1864, to join the Confederate Army, but was stricken with a severe illness, which caused the loss of his left eye and kept him an invalid for two years. He followed farming as a pursuit and took no active part in politics till he began the agitation in 1886 for industrial and technical education which culminated in the establishment of the Clemson Agricultural and Mechanical College, at Calhoun's old home, Fort Hill. The demand for educational reform broadened into a demand for other changes in State affairs, and he was put forward by the farmers as a candidate for governor in 1890. After an exciting and heated canvass he received the nomination in the Democratic Convention by a vote of 270 to 50 for his opponent, and was elected in November following. This was his first political office, and he was reelected in 1892 by an overwhelming vote. His term as governor was signalized by the passage of the dispensary law for the control of the liquor traffic by the State and by the establishment of another college, the Winthrop Normal and Industrial College for Women, at Rock Hill. He entered the race for the Senate against General Butler and the two canvassed the State, county by county, with the result that Tillman was elected by the General Assembly, and was reelected in 1901 and 1907. His term of service will expire March 3, 1913. He married, in 1868, Sallie Starke. Address: Trenton, S. C.

TILTON, Frederic W.:

Capitalist and educator; born in Cambridge, Mass., May 14, 1839; son of Benjamin and Lucinda (Newell) Tilton. He was graduated from Harvard College, A.B., 1862, A.M., 1865; and studied at the University of Göttingen, 1862-1863. He was instructor in Latin at the Highland Military Academy, Worcester, 1863-1866; superintendent of public schools, Newport, R. I., 1867-1871; principal of Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., 1871-1873; headmaster of Rogers School, Newport, R. I., 1873-1890. He has served as trustee and president of Newport Hospital, trustee of Redwood Library, Newport, R. I.; member of the Rhode Island State Board of Education; director of People's Library, of Newport, as trustee of Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., and is now trustee of the Rogers School of Newport, R. I. He lived in Europe, 1885-1886 and 1890-1894, and since then in Cambridge, Mass. He is vice-president, trustee and member of the Investment Committee of the Cambridgeport Savings Bank and director of the Harvard Trust Company; and has been a member of the Newport Reading Room, and of the Harvard Union and Oakley Clubs, and is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society. Mr. Tilton married, in Cambridge, July 21, 1864, Ellen Trowbridge, and they have four children. Address: 86 Sparks Street, Cambridge, Mass.

TITHERINGTON, Richard Handfield:

Managing editor of Munsey's Magazine and secretary of the Frank A. Munsey Company; born in Chester, England, Oct. 2, 1861; son of the late William Titherington, of Dee Hills, Chester. He attended Winchester College, 1875-1880, and Magdalen College, Oxford, 1880-1884. He came to the United States in August, 1884, and has been with the publishing house of Frank A. Munsey since 1886. He is author of: History of the Spanish-American War, 1900 (Appleton); and many magazine and newspaper articles. Mr. Titherington is a member of the St. George's Society and of the National Arts Clubs of New York. Address: 175 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

TOPAKYAN, H. H.:

Persian consul-general; is a native of Armenia, but long resident in New York City, where he is the world's largest importer of costly rugs. Mr. Topakyan has represented Persia in New York City for many years, and in 1909 was appointed consul-general to New York as a deserved tribute to the efficiency of his services in behalf of His Imperial Majesty, the Shah of Persia, in this country. During the World's Columbian Exposition at Chicago, 1892-1893, Mr. Topakyan acted as Imperial Persian commissioner, and director-general of the Persian and Ottoman exhibits, and in connection with that appointment he built, at his own expense the Persian and Ottoman Pavilions, which were numbered with the foremost of the many attractions of that memorable White City. Mr. Topakyan received forty-eight diplomas and forty-eight medals for the unique and most attractive exhibits of both countries which he collected there, and received the personal thanks of President Grover Cleveland in recognition of his services in connection with that exposition. He has for his distinguished services received decorations from the Sultan of Turkey, the Shah of Persia and the Venezuelan and other governments, but prizes none of them more than he does the photograph of President Roosevelt, and another autographed photograph presented to him by President Taft, both bearing the inscriptions: "Best Wishes," and has also received an autographed photograph of J. Pierpont Morgan. After the World's Fair at Chicago, Mr. Topakyan presented a valuable antique carpet to the Field Columbian Museum in Chicago. It was Mr. Topakyan's privilege and pleasure to make his adopted country, through Mr. Roosevelt, a most beautiful and valuable present. This gift was a marvelously beautiful Persian rug, pronounced by connoisseurs to be the finest of its kind in the world, the result of years of artistic labor and worth by the most conservative estimate, more than fifty thousand dollars. This rug is of imperial silken texture, and pearls, turquoise, rubies and other valuable oriental stones are woven in attractive profusion. For this gift Mr. Topakyan received the enthusiastic thanks of President Roosevelt, and the rug, handsomely framed in Mahogany, remains in the White House as a permanent tribute to Persian art in rug weaving. Mr. Topakyan is not only distinguished as a successful merchant, an able consular official and a profoundly loyal and devoted adopted son of America, but he retains his interest in his native land, is one of the chief directors of the American Armenian colony and always ready to help his countrymen. His own home life is past amid ideal surroundings at his summer home, "Persian Court," a typical Oriental mansion of white marble at Morristown, N. J. The estate comprises about forty acres, the grounds and terraces made attractive by the arts of the sculptor and landscape architect, and the interior a treasury of Oriental beauty and art. This beautiful home has been the scene of many gatherings of notables. In his own country Mr. Topakyan is looked upon as a statesman of great ability. Mr. Topakyan comes from an old Armenian family of high standing and was born Nov. 5, 1864. Address: 501 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

H. H. TOPAKYAN
Persian Consul General

TOWER, Charlemagne:

Ambassador; born in Philadelphia, April 17, 1848; son of Charlemagne and Amelia (Bartle) Tower, eighth in descent from John Tower, who emigrated from Hingham, Norfolk, England, to Massachusetts, in 1637. He was educated in the Military Academy at New Haven, Conn., at Phillips' Academy at Exeter, N. H., and Harvard University, A.B., 1872; he pursued graduate studies in history, foreign languages and literature in Europe, 1872-1876, and afterward studied law in the office of William Henry Rawle in Philadelphia. He has received the honorary degree of LL.D. from Lafayette College, Pa., the University of Chicago, and the Universities of Glasgow and St. Andrew's. Mr. Tower was admitted to the Philadelphia bar in 1878, and in 1882 removed to Duluth, Minn., where he was president of the Duluth and Iron Range Railroad and managing director of the Minnesota Iron Company. He returned to Philadelphia in 1887, and has since made his home there, owning large interests and being officer and director in various large corporations. He began his diplomatic career in 1897, upon his appointment by President McKinley as envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to Austria-Hungary, remaining at Vienna until 1899, when he was advanced to ambassadorial rank as American ambassador to Russia, at which court he remained until his appointment in 1902 American ambassador to Germany, serving until June, 1909. Mr. Tower has devoted much attention to historical research and his two-volume work on The Marquis de LaFayette in the American Revolution, published in 1895 (Lippincott), is one of the most important contributions to Revolutionary history. He received from the French Government, in recognition of this work, the decoration of grand officer of the Legion of Honor. He was for several years a trustee of the University of Pennsylvania, and he is a member of the American Philosophical Society, of Philadelphia; the American Institute of Mining Engineers, and of the Academy of Natural Sciences. Mr. Tower married, in 1888, Helen Smith, daughter of G. Frank Smith, of Oakland, Calif. Office: 228 South Seventh Street, Philadelphia.

TRACY, Benjamin Franklin:

Lawyer, soldier, cabinet official; born in Owego, Tioga County, N. Y., April 26, 1830; son of Benjamin Franklin Tracy, who was a pioneer settler of that county. He was educated in the common schools and Owego Academy, studied law at Owego, was admitted to the bar in May, 1851, and engaged in practice. He was elected district attorney of Tioga County in 1853, as a Whig candidate in a strongly Democratic county, and was reelected in 1856. He was an organizer of the Republican party in Tioga County, was elected as a member of the General Assembly of New York, serving in 1861 and 1862; recruited the One Hundredth and Ninth and One Hundred and Thirty-seventh Regiments of New York Volunteers, and was commissioned colonel of the former in 1862. With it he went to Washington and was on duty there until the spring of 1864, when the regiment was attached to Hartranft's First Brigade, Wilcox's Third Division, Burnside's Ninth Corps of the Army of the Potomac, and took a part in the battles of the Wilderness. His health failed and he resigned but later was made colonel of the One Hundred and Twenty-seventh Regiment of United States Colored Troops, and was assigned to command the military post at Elmira, N. Y., where there was a prison camp (at one time containing ten thousand prisoners), and the draft rendezvous for Western New York. In March, 1865, he was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers for gallant and meritorious services during the war. He established in practice in New York City, and in 1866 was appointed United States district attorney for the Eastern District of New York. While in that office he drafted an internal revenue bill that more than trebled the revenue of the United States. General Tracy resigned his district attorneyship in 1873, to return to private practice. He was appointed in December, 1881, an associate justice of the State Court of Appeals of New York, but resigned two years later. In the Benjamin Harrison administration he was a member of the cabinet as secretary of the Navy, 1889-1893; since then he has again been in practice in New York and is one of the leaders at the bar. General Tracy was chairman of the commission which drafted the new charter for Greater New York. He was the Republican candidate for mayor of New York City in 1897. General Tracy is a Companion of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion and a comrade of the Grand Army of the Republic. Address: 71 Broadway, New York City.

TRASK, Spencer:

Banker; born in Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 18, 1844; son of Alanson Trask and Sarah (Marquand) Trask. He was educated at the Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn and at Princeton College, as A.B., 1866, later of A.M. After leaving college he engaged in the banking business, and in 1869 established the house of Spencer Trask. In April, 1870, he became a member of the New York Stock Exchange, the firm being then known as Trask and Stone, and after some other changes it took, in 1881, its present name of Spencer Trask & Company. Mr. Trask has been largely interested in the promotion of industrial enterprises, notably the Edison Electric Illuminating Company, of which he was president for fifteen years. He is also interested as a stockholder and director in several railroads, is president of the Morningside Realty Company and the Broadway Realty Company, and was the organizer of the Brooklyn and New York Illuminating Company, becoming its president. He is chairman of the Board of Trustees of Teachers' College, and a trustee of the General Theological Seminary. He has a country home near the village of Yeddo, on the avenue leading to Saratoga Lake, with an estate of about five hundred acres; and some years ago he established at Saratoga and presented to the Diocese of Albany a Convalescent Home for Children. Mr. Trask is a member of the Metropolitan, Union League, City Reform, National Arts and Lawyers' Clubs of New York City. He married at Brooklyn, in 1874, Katrina Nichols, daughter of George L. Nichols, and they have had four children, all now deceased. Residence: Saratoga, N. Y. Office: 54 William Street, New York City.

TULLER, Edward Pratt:

Clergyman; born in Hartford, Conn., 1859; son of George Warren and Abby Loveland (James) Tuller. He was graduated from Brown University, A.B., 1884, A.M., 1887, and Newton Theological Institution, 1887; received the degree of D.D. from Kalamazoo College, 1904. He was ordained to the Baptist ministry, 1886; pastor of Providence, R. I., 1886-1887, First Baptist Church, Newport, R. I., 1887-1892; Second Baptist Church, Lawrence, Mass., 1892-1901; First Baptist Church, Detroit, Mich., 1901-1904; Memorial Baptist Church, Chicago, 1904-1906; and the Brighton Avenue Baptist Church, Boston, since 1906. He is a member of various ministerial organizations, member of the Board of Managers of the American Baptist Missionary Union since 1888, and secretary of the Board, 1901-1906; trustee of Kalamazoo College, 1902-1905, Boston School of Expression since 1904, Newton Theological Institution since 1907, member of the Executive Committee of Newton Theological Institution since 1908, also a member of the Delta Upsilon Society, and the C. C. Club of Boston. Lecturer at Newton Theological Institution in the academic year, 1909-1910, on Religious Psychology. Dr. Tuller married in Providence, R. I., 1884, Ella E. Lawton, and he has two children. Address: 15 Farrington Avenue, Allston, Boston.

TURNER, Charles Yardley:

Mural painter (figure); born in Baltimore, Md., Nov. 25, 1850; son of John C. and Hannah B. Turner. He was graduated from the Maryland Institute, and was a pupil at the National Academy of Design and Art Students' League, New York City; also under J. P. Laurens, M. Munkacsy, and L. Bonnat, Paris, 1878-1881. He was made academician of the National Academy of Design in 1886. Mr. Turner was assistant director of decoration at the World's Columbian Exposition, Chicago, in 1892 and 1893; director of color at the Pan-American Exposition in 1901. He has been a member of Council for many years, and was formerly vice-president for two years of the National Academy of Design; was vice-president two years of the Architectural League of New York; president six years of the Art Students' League of New York; many times officer of American Water Color Society; four years member and now president of National Society of Mural Painters; member of the Hudson-Fulton Celebration Commission by appointment of mayor of New York City. He was awarded medals and mentioned at the expositions at Chicago in 1893, Paris, in 1900, Buffalo, in 1901, and St. Louis, in 1904. He is a member of the Century Association of New York. Address: 35 West 14th Street, New York City.

TUTTLE, Daniel Sylvester:

Bishop of Missouri; born at Windham, Greene County, N. Y., Jan. 26, 1837; son of Daniel B. and Abigail C. (Stimson) Tuttle. He was graduated from Columbia College, A.B., 1857, A.M., 1860, D.D., in 1867. The degree of D.D. was conferred upon him by the University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn., in 1887, that of LL.D. by Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., in 1890. He took orders as deacon of the Protestant Episcopal Church in 1862 and was ordained priest the following year by Bishop H. Potter. In 1862 he became assistant of Zion Church, Morris, N. Y., and upon his ordination to the priesthood, was made its rector. After four years of activity, he was elected bishop, being consecrated by Bishops Hopkins, H. Potter, Odenheimer, Randall, Kerfoot and Neely. He was made bishop of Montana in 1867, with jurisdiction in Utah and Idaho, then bishop of Utah, with jurisdiction in Idaho, 1881-1886. In 1886 he was elected bishop of Missouri. In 1903 he became presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church. Bishop Tuttle married at Morris, N. Y., Sept. 12, 1865, to Harriet M. Foote. Address: 74 Vandeventer Place, St. Louis, Mo.

TUTTLE, Dell Leland:

Sales agent; born in East Otto, Cattaraugus County, N. Y., Dec. 13, 1855; son of Samuel Ayres and Elizabeth A. (Armstrong) Tuttle. He was educated in the Dunkirk (N. Y.) High School and Academy. He was a member of the firm of S. A. Tuttle and Sons, Little Valley, N. Y., 1874-1885. In the latter year he entered the railway service; was connected with Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh Railway as private secretary, chief clerk to the general superintendent and traveling car agent, 1885-1889; was superintendent of transportation of the Cincinnati, Saginaw & Mackinaw Railroad, at Saginaw, Mich., 1890-1891; and since 1892 has been with the Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron Company, at Buffalo; and since 1898 sales agent of the Buffalo District, embracing States of Ohio, Michigan and Indiana, northern Kentucky, New York west of Buffalo and western Pennsylvania. He was corporation clerk of Little Valley, N. Y., 1877-1884, and its president, 1884-1885. He is a director of the Central Dock and Terminal Railway Company; vice-president of the Citizens' National Bank of Springfield, and of the University Printing Company; director of the Yale Transit Company, Kensington Steamship Company, Rochester Steamboat Company, American Steamship Company, York Transit Company, Pennsylvania Steamship Company; president and director of Gowanda Sand and Gravel Company. In politics he is a Republican and in religion a Methodist Episcopalian. He was a lay delegate to the General Conference of Methodist Episcopal Church, Los Angeles, Calif., in 1904; and formerly president of the Genesee Conference Epworth League; trustee of Silver Lake Assembly; member of Board of Genesee Conference Deaconesses' Home, Buffalo, N. Y.; chairman of the Union Terminal Department of Railroad Young Men's Christian Association, Buffalo, for several terms. He is national vice-president of the Laymen's Missionary Movement of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and a member of the National Board of Management of the Methodist Brotherhood. He delivered the address at St. Louis World's Fair on Coalmen's Day, Sept., 1904. Mr. Tuttle is a member of the Cattaraugus, Chautauqua and Allegheny County Associations of Buffalo, a Free and Accepted Mason, Royal Arcanum, Ko Koal. His favorite recreations are literary work and research, boating and fishing. He is a member of the Ellicott, Transportation, Equality (former president), Richmond and Central Railway Clubs. Mr. Tuttle married in Little Valley, N. Y., Oct. 3, 1878, Abbie J. Whitecomb, and they have two children. Residence: 356 Norwood Avenue. Office: 914 Prudential Building, Buffalo, N. Y.

TUTTLE, George Montgomery:

Physician; born in Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 2, 1856; son of Rev. James H. Tuttle, D.D., and Harriet (Merriman) Tuttle. He was educated in Dresden, Germany, and at Phillips Academy, Andover; was graduated from Yale as B.A. in 1877 and from the College of Physicians and Surgeons (Medical Department of Columbia University), as M.D., in 1880. He has been engaged in the practice of medicine from 1880; was interne of New York Hospital, 1880-1881; physician-in-chief of the New York State Emigrant Hospital, 1881-1883; and has been attending gynecologist at Roosevelt Hospital since 1888. He is a director of the North Star Woolen Mill Company of Minneapolis, Minn.; professor of gynecology at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University, since 1888. He is a member of the New York Academy of Medicine, New York County Medical Society, New York Medical and Surgical Society, New York Clinical Society, Society of Alumni of New York Hospital, Society of American Wars, American Museum of Natural History. Dr. Tuttle is a contributor to the American Text-Book of Gynecology.

SPENCER TRASK
Banker

cology, New York Medical Record, and New York Medical Journal. He is a member of the University, Century, Yale, New York Yacht, Seawanhaka-Corinthian Yacht and Barnard Clubs. Dr. Tuttle married in Palazzo, Vecchio, Florence, Italy, April 5, 1906, Mrs. T. Story Kirkbride, Jr. Address: 38 West 52d Street, New York City.

TUTTLE, Lucius:

Railway president; born in Hartford, Conn., March 11, 1846; son of George and Mary (Loomis) Tuttle. He was educated in the public and high schools of Hartford, Conn., and in 1865 he began a railroad career which, in its development, has made Mr. Tuttle one of the recognized masters of modern railroading. He served in various railroad positions until, in 1889, he became commissioner of the Trunk Line Association. In the following year he was appointed general manager of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad, serving in that position for two years, when he was elected vice-president of that railroad. In 1893, which was the real beginning of the movement for the consolidation of the railroads north and east of Boston, Mr. Tuttle was elected president of the Boston and Maine Railroad. The nucleus of the system which he now heads was the original road with certain leased lines and an agreement with the powerful Maine Central Railroad corporation. Since that time, by mutual and pacific agreement with the representatives of the different corporations involved, road after road has been added to the parent system, until the entire section east and north of Boston comes under the direction and management of Mr. Tuttle, who has also, since 1896, been president of the Maine Central Railroad. He is a director of the Old Colony Trust Company, the Second National Bank of Boston, and the St. Johnsbury and Lake Champlain Railroad Company, and is a member of the corporation of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Mr. Tuttle married at Norwich, Conn., Oct. 14, 1875, Estelle Hazen Martin. Residence: 318 Commonwealth Avenue. Office: 3 North Station, Boston.

TYLER, Bayard H.:

Portrait painter; born in Oneida, N. Y., 1855; son of Henry H. and Elizabeth (Stevens) Tyler. He attended Whitestown Seminary, 1875-1876; Syracuse University, Fine Arts College, under Dean George F. Comfort, in 1878; was graduated from the National Academy of Design, New York, in 1882, with medals in 1878 and 1882; pupil of Theodore Kaufman; pupil at Art Students' League, New York, under William M. Chase, 1879. He was exhibitor at the National Academy of Design, Society of American Artists, Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, Paris Exposition, Columbian Exposition, Chicago, in 1893; Gibbs Memorial Charleston, S. C., and others; and is represented in several private collections. Among portraits painted by him are those of President Theodore Roosevelt, for the Municipal Gallery, Albany; Hon. B. B. Odell, Sr.; Admiral Willard H. Brownson of the United States Navy; Hon. N. P. Otis; Colonel Henry M. Boles; E. L. Fuller, William F. Cochran, Mrs. F. A. Hackley; J. J. Albright, in the Scranton Public Library; F. T. Holder, in the Holder Memorial, Clinton, Mass.; Rev. Dr. Charles E. Allison, and others. He is a member of the Lotos and Salmagundi Clubs of New York City. Mr. Tyler married, in 1883, Charlotte E. Wiltsie. Address: 23 Dudley Place, Yonkers, N. Y.

U

UNDERWOOD, Frederick Douglass:

President of the Erie Railroad Company; born at Wauwatosa, Wis., Feb. 1, 1862; son of Enoch Downs and Harriet (Flint) Underwood. He was educated at Maryland Academy, Beaver Dam, Wis. He entered the service of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway, and served, 1870-1886, as clerk, brakeman, foreman of elevators, conductor, yardmaster, assistant division superintendent, and superintendent. In June, 1886, he was appointed general superintendent in charge of the construction of the Minneapolis and Pacific Railway, and in September, 1886, its general manager. Upon the consolidation of the Minneapolis and Pacific Railway, with the Minneapolis, Sault Sainte Marie and Atlantic Railway, under the name of the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Sainte Marie Railway, he was made general manager of the consolidated lines until January, 1899, when he resigned to enter the services of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad as general manager. He became second vice-president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in June, 1889, and held that office until he was elected to his present position as president of the Erie Railroad and its allied lines. He is a member of the Metropolitan, New York Yacht, City Midway, Tuxedo, Seawanhaka-Corinthian Yacht and New York Athletic Clubs. He married Alice N. Stafford. Residence: 303 West 72d Street. Address: 11 Broadway, New York City.

UPHAM, Warren:

Geologist and librarian; born in Amherst, N. H., March 8, 1850; son of Jacob and Sarah (Hayward) Upham. He was graduated from Dartmouth College, A.B., 1871, A.M., 1894, D.Sc., 1906. He was civil engineer of Concord, N. H., 1872-1875; assistant on the Geological Survey of New Hampshire, 1876-1878, of Minnesota, 1879-1885 and 1893-1894; of the United States, on the Glacial Lake Agassiz, 1885-1895; librarian of the Western Reserve Historical Society, Cleveland, Ohio, April-October, 1895; secretary and librarian of the Minnesota Historical Society, St. Paul, Minn., since 1895. He has traveled extensively in the United States, and in 1897 in Europe, writing eleven articles in the American Geologist, during 1898, on his geological observations in Europe. Mr. Upham was associate editor of the American Geologist, 1893-1905, and now of the Records of the Past. He is author of geological reports, and about two hundred geological papers, mostly on glacial subjects, and also of: Grosecilliers and Radisson, the First White Men in Minnesota, 1905; and Minnesota in Three Centuries, Volume 1, Description and Explorations, 1908. He has edited six volumes of the Minnesota Historical Society Collections, and is now preparing a further volume of that series, on the origin and meanings of Minnesota Geographic Names. He is a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and of the Geological Society of America; corresponding member of the Boston Society of Natural History, the Appalachian Mountain Club, Victoria Institute of London, the Western Reserve Historical Society, and the Missouri, Kansas and South Dakota Historical Societies; member of the Minnesota Historical Society, Minnesota Academy of Sciences, and the Minnesota Geographical Society. Dr. Upham married in Minneapolis, 1885, Addie M. Bixby of Aurora, Minn. Address: Minnesota Historical Society, St. Paul, Minn.

UTLEY, Henry Munson:

Librarian of the Detroit Public Library; born in Plymouth, Mich., Aug. 5, 1836; son of Hiram and Jane (Sands) Utley. He was graduated from the University of Michigan A.B., 1861, A.M., 1870. He was on the editorial staff of the Detroit Post, 1866-1881; secretary of the Detroit Board of Education, 1881-1885; and librarian of the Public Library since 1885. Mr. Utley was president of the American Library Association, 1895; president of the Michigan Library Association, 1891-1905; Detroit Association of Charities, 1905-1906 (trustee since 1880). He is also a member of the American Historical Society, Michigan Pioneer Historical Society, Alpha Delta Phi fraternity, and the Detroit Press Club; president of the Acanthus Club for twenty-two years, and of the Prismatic Club in 1907. He married in Pontiac, Mich., 1864, Kate Lilly Burr, and they have three daughters. Residence: 195 Charlotte Avenue. Office: Public Library, Detroit, Mich.

V

VAGG, Harry A.:

Merchant; born in Somersetshire, England, Dec. 14, 1868; son of William and Susan (Manley) Vagg. He worked on a farm at Lockport, N. Y., until August, 1885, when he removed to Niagara, N. Dak., and worked on a farm there, until 1887, when he went to Montana, and worked for the Great Northern Railway Company, on railroad construction work. He has been engaged in the mercantile business at Saco, Mont., since 1893. He was a member of the State Legislature of Montana, 1900-1902; attended one regular session and two special sessions during that time; appointed notary public in 1887, which position he still holds. He was appointed U. S. Commissioner in December, 1901, for four years, and reappointed in December, 1905, which position he still holds. Mr. Vagg is a Republican in politics, and an Episcopalian in religion. He married in Saco, Mont., June 28, 1879, Bettie Wilson, and they have two children; Roland and Vivian Vagg. Address: Saco, Mont.

VAN BOSKERCK, Robert W.:

Artist, landscape painter; born in Hoboken, N. J., 1855; son of L. J. and Katharine Zoberosky (Anderson) Van Boskerck. He was graduated from the school of Mines of Columbia University, C.E., 1877 and was a pupil of A. W. Wyant and of Swain Clifford for still life and with A. H. Wyant for landscape painting. He painted in Holland in 1885, in U. S. for many years, Hackensack, N. J., Wakefield, R. I., Orange Co., N. Y., and East Lynne, Conn. (had a summer studio there for two years). He has painted in England for five summers and in France for seven summers. Mr. Van Boskerck was chairman of the Art Committee of the Union League Club of New York at one time and was on the committee for five years before. He was awarded a silver medal for the painting at the Pan-American Exposition, Buffalo, and silver medal at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition. He is a member of the Society of American Artists and an academician of the National Academy of Design, New York City; member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity and the Union League, Lotos, Fencers and Delta Kappa Epsilon Clubs of New York City. Address: 58 West 57th Street, New York City.

VANDERBILT Cornelius:

Capitalist and mechanical engineer; born in New York City, Sept. 5, 1873; son of Cornelius Vanderbilt and Alice (Gwynne) Vanderbilt. He was prepared for college at St. Paul's School, Concord, from which he went to Yale, and was graduated B.A., 1895. He took special courses in the Sheffield Scientific School of Yale, after graduation from the college, receiving the degrees of Ph.B., 1898, and M.E., 1899. Upon the conclusion of his studies he set to work practically to master the details of mechanical engineering, and during recent years has given attention to the motive power and civil engineering departments of the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad. Mr. Vanderbilt served as a civil service commissioner during the administration of Mayor Low, but resigned near the end of his term; and he is a captain in the Twelfth Regiment of the National Guard of New York. He is a director of the New York Life Insurance and Trust Company, the United States Mortgage and Trust Company, Windsor Trust Company, Mutual Life Insurance Company, National Park Bank, Mutual Bank, Marine National Bank of Buffalo, Illinois Central Railway Company, Allis-Chalmers Company, Lackawanna Steel Company, Interborough Rapid Transit Company, Rapid Transit Subway Construction Company, Subway Realty Company, The Audit Company of New York, the Hudson Companies, Interborough-Metropolitan Company, Commercial Trust Company of New Jersey, Mexican Telegraph Company, New York City Interborough Railway Company, and Provident Loan Society. Mr. Vanderbilt is an associate member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers' and of the Saratoga Association. He is a member of the Century Association, the Union League, Knickerbocker, Metropolitan, Brook, City, Midway, Down Town, University and Yale Clubs, commodore of the New York Yacht Club, and a member of the Larchmont Yacht, Atlantic Yacht, Seawanhaka-Corinthian Yacht, and Turf and Field Clubs. Mr. Vanderbilt married in New York City, Aug. 3, 1896, Grace Wilson, and they have two children: Cornelius, Jr., and Grace. Residence: 677 Fifth Avenue. Office: 30 Pine Street, New York City.

VANDERBILT, Frederick William:

Capitalist; born in 1855; son of William Henry and Maria Louisa (Kissam) Vanderbilt. He was graduated from the Sheffield Scientific School, Yale, in 1876. He obtained his business training education in his father's office, going through every department in the railroad service and mastering the general details of the whole business. He is now director in the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad Company; Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railroad Company; Michigan Central Railroad Company; West Shore Railroad Company; New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad Company; Chicago and Northwestern Railroad Company; Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha Railroad Company; Lake Erie and Western Railroad Company; member of the Board of Managers of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad Company, and director of numerous other railroad and other corporations. He is the owner of the steam yacht Warrior. Mr. Vanderbilt is a member of the Sons of the American Revolution, and of the Knickerbocker, University, Metropolitan, Larchmont Yacht Clubs, New York Yacht, Tuxedo, Racquet and Tennis, South Side and Yale Clubs. He married in 1880, Mrs. Alfred Torrance (née Anthony). Address: 459 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

VANDERBILT, George Washington:

Capitalist; born in New Dorp, Staten Island, N. Y., Nov. 14, 1862; son of William Henry Vanderbilt and Maria Louisa (Kissam) Vanderbilt. He was educated by private tutors and in private schools. He gave to the Teachers' College its site on Morningside Heights; built and equipped the Thirteenth Street Branch of the New York Public Library, and gave the American Society of Fine Arts the room in their building known as the Vanderbilt Gallery. He purchased one hundred and twenty-five thousand acres of mountain land on French Broad River, near Asheville, N. C., which he has improved and beautified by scientific forestry into what is probably the finest park in America, building there a mansion and stables, and stocking the estate with great care. He is a member of the Sons of the American Revolution, and of the Century Association, the Metropolitan, National Arts, and Players' Clubs. Mr. Vanderbilt married in 1898, Edith Stuyvesant Dresser, and they have one daughter, Cornelia Stuyvesant. Address: Biltmore House, Biltmore, N. C., and 1707 New Hampshire Avenue, Washington, D. C.

VANDERBILT, William Kissam:

Capitalist; born at New Dorp, Staten Island, N. Y., Dec. 12, 1849. He was educated privately in New York City, and Geneva, Switzerland. He learned the railroad business, beginning in the office of C. C. Clarke, treasurer of the Hudson River Railroad, and passing through various grades. He became second vice-president of the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad Company, 1877-1883; president and chairman of the Board of Directors of the New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad, 1882-1898; chairman of the Board of Directors of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railway Company, 1883-1898; and since September, 1899, president and director of the New York and Harlem Railroad; also director of the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad; Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railroad; Michigan Central Railroad; New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad; Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad; Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad; Lake Erie and Western Railroad; Chicago, Indiana and Southern Railroad; Chicago and Northwestern Railroad; Rutland Railroad; New York and Ottawa Railway; Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha Railroad; Lake Erie, Alliance and Wheeling Railroad; and the Dunkirk, Allegheny Valley and Pittsburgh Railroad. Mr. Vanderbilt, together with his brothers, founded the Vanderbilt Clinic. He is a member of the Knickerbocker, Union, Racquet and Tennis, Jockey, Metropolitan, South Side, New York Yacht, Knollwood, Meadow Brook, Players, Turf, County, and Larchmont Yacht Clubs. He married, first, in 1874, Alva Murray Smith (now Mrs. O.

H. P. Belmont); and second, in 1903, Mrs. Ann Hartman Sands Rutherford, and he has three children: Consuelo (married in 1895, the Duke of Marlborough), William K. Jr., and Harold S. Address: 660 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

VANDERSAAL, S. W.:

President of the Fourth National Bank of Pittsburgh; born in Lancaster County, Pa., in 1845. He attended the State Normal School at Millersville, and Academy at Parkersburg, Pa., and Crintenden's Business College in Philadelphia. He went to Oil Creek, in 1868 and in 1883 moved to Pittsburgh. He took charge of the Grafton Blast Furnaces for the late firm of Graff, Bennett and Company, until 1888, when they retired from business; then became associated with the late Judge Bailey in the settlement of their affairs. After this he again became interested in the oil and gas business, acting as secretary, treasurer and general manager of the West Penn Gas Company; vice-president and general manager of the Fayette Gas Fuel Company of Uniontown, Pennsylvania, and treasurer and general manager of the Appollo Oil and Gas Company. He is also president of the Pittsburgh and Deer Park Connecting Railway, and president of the Sylacauga Improvement Company of Alabama and a director of the Pittsburgh Ice Company. In 1903 was elected president of the Fourth National Bank of Pittsburgh. He married, in 1872, Louisa McCloskey of Clarion, Pa., and they have one daughter. Address: Farmers' Bank Building, Pittsburgh, Pa.

VAN DER VEER, Albert:

Physician and surgeon; born in Root, Montgomery County, N. Y., July 10, 1841; son of Abraham H. and Sarah (Martin) Van der Veer. He was educated in the public schools of Canajoharie, N. Y., Union Free School, Palatine, N. Y., Canajoharie (N. Y.) Academy; was a student of medicine in Albany Medical College, 1861, and National Medical College (Medical Department of Columbian University) Washington, M.D., Dec. 23, 1862. He served as assistant surgeon and surgeon, Sixty-sixth New York Volunteers, 1862-1865; was one of the surgeons in charge of the First Division Second Army Corps, 1863-1864, and 1865. Since the war Dr. Van der Veer has been engaged in the practice of medicine and surgery in Albany, N. Y. He is professor of surgery in Albany Medical College, surgeon-in-chief of Albany Hospital, attending surgeon of the South End Dispensary, Albany; consulting surgeon of the New York State Hospital for Crippled and Deformed Children at West Haverstraw, N. Y.; dean of the Albany Medical College, 1896-1904. He is a member of the American Surgical Association, American Medical Association, Medical Society of the State of New York, Medical Society of the County of Albany, American Association of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, Southern Surgical and Gynecological Association, Albany Institute and Historical and Art Society, New York Historical Society, Holland Society, and he has received the decoration of the Order of Orange-Nassau from the Queen of Holland. He is a governor of the Albany Hospital; trustee of the Bender Hygienic Laboratory, the National Saving's Bank and Albany Cemetery Association. Dr. Vander Veer is a regent of the University of the State of New York. He is a member of the Nu Sigma Nu Medical fraternity and of the Fort Orange and University Clubs of Albany. He married in Currytown, N. Y., June 5, 1867, Margaret E. Snow, and they have had six children, three of whom are now deceased. Residences: 145 State Street, Albany; and (summer) Camp Atkinaar, Big Moose Lake, N. Y. Office: 28 Eagle Street, Albany, N. Y.

VAN DEVANTER, Willis:

U. S. Circuit Judge; born in Marion, Ind., April 17, 1859; son of Isaac and Violetto M. (Spencer) Van Devanter. He was educated in Indiana Asbury (now De Pauw) University and the Cincinnati Law School, from which he was graduated in 1881. After practising at Marion for three years, he removed to Cheyenne, Wyo., and engaged in practice. He served as city attorney of Cheyenne, as member of the Territorial Legislature, member of the Territorial Revision Commission, as chief justice of the Territorial Supreme Court, and as the first chief justice of the State. Afterwards he was chairman of the State Republican Committee, delegate to the National Republican Convention at St. Louis in 1896, and member of the National Republican Committee. In 1897 he was appointed by President McKinley, assistant attorney-general of the United States, and assigned to the Interior Department, serving in that position until appointed by President Roosevelt United States circuit judge for the Eighth Circuit, Feb. 18, 1903. Residence: Cheyenne, Wyo.

VAN DE WATER, George Roe:

Clergyman, author; born in Flushing, N. Y., April 25, 1854; son of John Titus and Ellen Burnetta (Doughty) Van de Water. He was educated in Flushing Institute, Cornell University, 1870-1874; General Theological Seminary, 1874-1877. The Nashotah Theological Seminary conferred upon him the degree of D.D. in 1885. He was rector of Christ Church, Oyster Bay, 1876-1880; St. Luke's Church, Brooklyn, 1880-1887; parochial missionary for the United States, 1887-1888; rector of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, New York City since 1888. He was chaplain of Columbia University, 1893-1905; grand chaplain of Masons of the State of New York, 1896, 1898, and from 1900 to 1902; chaplain of the Twenty-third Regiment, 1877-1880, and of the Seventy-first Regiment, 1882-1898, of the National Guard of New York, and of the Seventy-first Regiment U. S. Volunteers, in the Spanish-American War, Fifth Army Corps, May-October, 1898. He served in the battles of Las Guasimas and San Juan; was detailed for duty in hospitals in the field and at Fermosa and Siboney, back of the entrenchments at San Juan, and at Montauk. He is trustee of the Executive Committee of the New York Protestant Episcopal City Mission society; trustee of the General Theological Seminary, the Youngs' Memorial Cemetery at Oyster Bay, and the Home for Incurables, New York. Dr. Van de Water is author of: Two Notable Rulers; The Mission Hymnal; Church History, two volumes; also published sermons. He is a member of the Military Order of Foreign Wars, the Societty of Santiago, Veteran Association of the Twenty-third Regiment of the National Guard, New York Churchman's Association, and of the Century Association and the St. Nicholas, Union League, Seawanhaka Yacht, and Ardsley Clubs. He married at Oyster Bay, N. Y., April 24, 1879, Cornelia Townsend Youngs, and they have one adopted son. Address: St. Andrew's Church, 2067 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

VAN DYKE, Henry:

Clergyman and author; born in Germantown, Pa., Nov. 10, 1852; son of Rev. Henry Jackson Van Dyke, D.D., and Henrietta (Ashmead) Van Dyke, descendant of John Van Dyke, a patriot soldier who was killed at the battle of Monmouth, in 1778, and of Jan Thomasse Van Dijk, who emigrated from Holland in 1652, and became the first magistrate of New Utrecht, Long Island. He was graduated from the Polytechnic Institute in Brooklyn, 1869, and from Princeton, A.B., 1873, A.M., 1876, and from the Princeton Theological Seminary in 1877. His ordination to the Presbyterian ministry took place in 1876, and after leaving the seminary he took a post-graduate course in the University of Berlin, 1877-1878. He was pastor of the United Congregational Church at Newport, R. I., 1879-1882, and of the Brick Presbyterian Church of New York City, 1882-1900, when he was called to the chair of English literature at Princeton, which he has held ever since. He received the degree of D.D. from Princeton, 1884, Harvard, 1893, and Yale, 1896; and that of LL.D. from Union College, 1898, Washington and Jefferson College, 1902, and Wesleyan University, 1903. He is a trustee of Princeton University, has been preacher to Harvard University and the Universities of Pennsylvania and Chicago, and Lyman Beecher lecturer at Yale; and he was elected moderator of the Presbyterian Church in the United States in 1902. Dr. Van Dyke is author of: The Reality of Religion, 1884; The Story of the Psalms, 1887; The Poetry of Tennyson, 1889, 1895; The Christ Child in Art, 1894; Little Rivers, 1895; The Gospel for an Age of Doubt, 1896; The Other Wise Man, 1896; The Builders and Other Poems, 1897; The Gospel for a World of Sin, 1890; The Toiling of Felix and Other Poems, 1900; The Ruling Passion, 1901; The Blue Flower, 1902; The Open Door, 1903; Music, and Other Poems, 1904; The School of Life, 1905; Essays in Application, 1905; The Spirit of Christmas, 1906; Days Off, 1907; and other books on religious and literary subjects which have made him one of the most prominent literary figures of the English-speaking world, and has edited several series and editions of English poets. He is a member and has been president of the Holland Society. He married in Baltimore, Dec. 13, 1881, Ellen Reid. Address: Avalon, Princeton, N. J.

HARMON A. VEDDER, M. D.

VAN DYKE, Joseph Smith:

Clergyman; born in Bound Brook, N. J., Nov. 2, 1832; son of Benjamin and Elizabeth (Smith) Van Dyke. He was prepared for college at Somerville, N. J., was graduated from Princeton, 1857, Theological Seminary of Princeton, A.B., A.M. and D.D. from Alma Mater. He was pastor of the Presbyterian Church, Bloomsburg, N. J., and of the Presbyterian Church, Cranberry, N. J., which church became strong under his twenty-seven years of service. He organized the State Temperance Society, and has lectured extensively on temperance. He is author of: Popery the Foe of the Church and the Republic (fifteen editions); Through the Prison to the Throne, Illustrations of Life from the Biography of Joseph; From Gloom to Gladness, Illustrations of Life from the Biography of Esther; Theism and Evolution; and Giving or Entertainment—Which?, a pamphlet, calling attention to the evils of church fairs. Dr. Van Dyke married in Bridgeton, N. J., May 4, 1861, Sarah J. Swine, and they have four children. Address: Hightstown, N. J.

VEDDER, Harmon A.:

Physician; born in Flushing, Long Island, N. Y., Jan. 16, 1868; son of Maus R. and Sarah (Cutwater) Vedder. He was educated in private schools of New York City; was graduated from Columbia College, B.A., 1888; the College of Physicians and Surgeons, M.D., 1891. After an internship of eighteen months, in New York Hospital, and three months at Sloane Maternity Hospital. Dr. Vedder went abroad and pursued a course of study at Edinburgh University and Royal Infirmary, Edinburgh, Scotland. In 1893 he began the practice of medicine in New York City. He is a member of the Alumni Association of Columbia College, Alumni Association of New York Hospital, Alumni Association of Sloane Maternity Hospital, Greater New York Medical Society, Holland Society, and the Delta Phi fraternity, and Quiz Club. He married Dec. 12, 1894, Effie Turner Boulton, of Toronto, Canada, and by that marriage, there are three children. Address: 44 East 76th Street, New York City.

VINCENT, Boyd:

Bishop of Southern Ohio; born in Erie, Pa., May 18, 1845. He was graduated from Yale University, B.A., 1867, M.A., 1870; and from Berkeley Divinity School in 1871. In 1889 the degree of S.T.D. was conferred upon him by Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., and that of D.D. by Kenyon College. He was ordered deacon of the Episcopal Church in 1871, and the following year was ordained priest by Bishop Kerfoot. He was assistant of St. Paul's Church, Erie, Pa., until 1872, rector of the Church of the Cross and Crown, Erie, 1872-1874; rector of the Calvary Church, Pittsburgh, 1874-1889, resigning in 1889 to become bishop coadjutor of Southern Ohio. He was consecrated by Bishops Spalding, Dudley, Penick, Whitehead and Knickerbocker. In 1904 he was made Bishop of Southern Ohio. He is author of: Lectures on God and Prayer, 1897, and has also written various pamphlets and sermons. Address: Cathedral House, 223 West Seventh Street, Cincinnati.

VINTON, Frederic Porter:

Artist; born in Bangor, Me., Jan. 29, 1846; son of William Henry and Sarah Ward (Goodhue) Vinton, and on both sides of old New England ancestry. He was educated in the common schools of Chicago, where his parents had moved when he was a child, later finishing his education at Boston. He engaged in business pursuits until 1875, in the meantime employing his leisure hours in painting and the study of art, being greatly encouraged in this by the late William M. Hunt, who found merit in his early work, and studied for some time at the Lowell Institute, and later under Dr. William Rimmer. In 1875 he went abroad and became a pupil of Léon Bonnat in Paris. The following year he was a pupil at the Royal Academy in Munich, Bavaria, and in 1877 returned to Paris and studied under Jean Paul Laurens until 1878. While in Paris he exhibited in the Salon, one of his pictures being purchased by the French Government. Returning to the United States in 1878, he opened a studio in Boston and there painted the portraits of some of the most prominent men in Boston. In 1880 he was elected member of the Society of American Artists and in 1882 was made associate of the National Academy of Design, becoming academician in 1891. He spent several long periods in Europe, and in 1890 he exhibited at the Paris Salon a portrait of his wife, which was painted in Paris, receiving honorable mention. He was awarded a silver medal in the Paris Exposition, 1900. He also received gold medals at the World's Columbian Exposition in 1893, at the Pan American Exposition, Buffalo, in 1901, and the St. Louis Exhibition in 1904 and was awarded the Temple gold medal by the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, Philadelphia, in 1909. He is a member of the National Academy of Arts and Letters, the Thursday Evening Club, Examiner Club, St. Botolph Club (charter member), and the Tavern Club (charter member), all of Boston. He married at Newport, R. I., June 27, 1883, Annie M. Pierce. Address: 247 Newbury Street, Boston.

VOLK, Douglas:

Artist; born in Pittsfield, Mass., Feb. 23, 1856; son of Leonard W. and Emily C. (Barlow) Volk. He studied art at Rome, Italy, 1870-1873, and at the École des Beaux Arts, Paris, under Gérôme, 1873-1879, exhibiting at the Paris Salon, 1875-1878. Returning to the United States in 1879, he became instructor at the Cooper Institute, until 1885 and again, 1894-1898 and 1900-1904. He founded in 1886 the Minneapolis School of Fine Arts and was its director until 1893, when he was appointed instructor at the Art Students' League in New York City, which position he held until 1901, filling also a similar position at Cooper Institute. He was member of the National Jury of Fine Arts at the Columbian and the St. Louis Expositions and was the recipient of various medals from the Chicago, Buffalo, Charleston, Boston, and St. Louis Expositions. He also was awarded the Shaw prize of $1,500 by the Society of American Artists in 1899; and the Carnegie prize by the same society in 1901. His pictures have been purchased by the Carnegie Institute at Pittsburgh, Corcoran Gallery at Washington, Pittsfield Museum, the State of Minnesota for the new Capitol building, the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York City, and for the National Gallery at Washington. Mr. Volk is a member of the National Academy of Design, of the Society of American Artists (secretary, 1899-1900), of the Artists' Aid Society and of the Artists' Fund Society of New York City, and the National Arts Club. He married, at Chicago, June 25, 1881, Marion Larrabee, and has had four children. Address: Care of National Academy of Design, New York City.

VONNOH, Bessie Potter:

Sculptor; born in St. Louis, 1872; daughter of Alexander C. and Mary E. (McKenney) Potter. She was educated in the Art Institution of Chicago and married at Rockland Lake, N. Y., September, 1899, Robert W. Vonnoh (painter). Traveled abroad in 1895-1897 and 1900. Mrs. Vonnoh has received the second prize for sculpture, Tennessee, Centennial, 1896; a bronze medal from the Paris Exposition, 1900; Julia G. Shaw prize, Society American Artists 1904; gold medal St. Louis Exposition, 1904. Specialty, statuettes of women and of children. Her work is included in the collections of the Art Institutions of Chicago, of the Cincinnati Museum, the Imperial Museum, Tokio, Japan and the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York City.

Mrs. Vonnoh is an associate of the National Academy of Design and a member of the National Sculpture Society and the Society of American Artists. Address: 33 West 67th Street, New York City.

VONNOH, Robert:

Artist; born in Hartford, Conn., Sept. 17, 1858. He was educated in the Boston public schools; became a pupil and instructor in the Normal Art School, 1875-1879; instructor of drawing, Roxbury Evening Drawing School, Boston and Thayer Academy; student of the Academie Julian, in the painting Cowles Art School, Boston, 1884-1885; principal of the East Boston Evening Drawing School, 1883-1885; principal instructor in portrait and figure painting, Boston Museum of Fine Arts, 1885-1887; painted and studied abroad 1887-1891; principal instructor in portrait and figure painting, Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, Philadelphia, 1891-1896. Mr. Vonnoh has been an exhibitor at the Paris Salon, Munich and London Exhibitions, Exposition Universelle, Paris, 1889 and 1900; World's Fair, Chicago, 1893; Stockholm, 1896; Buffalo, 1901; St. Louis, 1904 and others. He is an academician of the National Academy of Design; a painter of portrait figure and landscape. Mr. Vonnoh is a member of the National Jury for American Section of the Paris Exposition of 1900; International Juries, Carnegie Expositions at Pittsburgh, International Jury of Awards, St. Louis, 1904. He received medals at Boston, Paris, Chicago, Buffalo, Charlestown, St. Louis, Thomas R. Proctor prize for portraiture, National Academy of Design; member of the Secession, Munich Society American Artists Society, and the Portrait Painters, and National Arts, Lotos Salmagundi Clubs of New York. He married, first, Boston, July 7, 1886, Grace D. Farrell, who died, and he married, second, at Rockland Lake, N. Y., Sept. 19, 1899, Bessie O. Potter. Residence: Rockland Lake, Rockland County, N. Y. Address: 33 West 67th Street.

VOORHEES, Willard Penfield:

Lawyer; born in New Brunswick, N. J., July 28, 1851; son of Abraham and Jane (Jarvis) Voorhees. He was graduated from Rutgers College, New Brunswick, N. J., A.B. and A.M., class of 1871. He was admitted as an attorney in 1874, counsellor in 1878, appointed a justice of the Supreme Court of New Jersey in 1908. He is also a director of the New Brunswick Trust Company. Mr. Voorhees is trustee of the Francis E. Parker Memorial Home of New Brunswick, N. J., member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, Phi Beta Kappa Society, Holland Society, and the Union Club of New Brunswick, and the New York Athletic Club. He married in New Brunswick, N. J., March 15, 1877, Sarah Rutgers Neilson, and they have had two children, one living. Address: New Brunswick, N. J.

W

WADDILL, Edmund, Jr.:

U. S. district judge; born in Charles City County, Va., May 22, 1855. He was educated in the schools of Richmond, Va., studied law, and was admitted to the bar. He was judge of the County Court of Henrico County, 1880-1883; was appointed by President Arthur, in 1883, U. S. attorney for the Eastern District of Virginia, serving until 1885; was a member of the Virginia Legislature, 1885-1889, and was elected in 1888 to the Fifty-first Congress as a Republican, serving until 1891. He resumed the practice of law in Richmond, until March 22, 1898, when he was appointed by President McKinley to his present office as U. S. district judge for the Eastern District of Virginia. Address: Richmond, Va.

WADSWORTH, Augustus:

Physician; born in Brooklyn, N. Y., Oct. 25, 1872; son of Charles Davis and Clara (Blanchard) Wadsworth. He was graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, S.B., 1893, and from the College of Physicians and Surgeons (Columbia), M.D., 1896. He was interne at St. Luke's Hospital, 1897-1899, and studied at Berlin and Vienna, 1899. He was an Alumni fellow in pathology and assistant in bacteriology and hygiene, in the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Columbia University, 1899-1904; and since 1904 has been Alonzo Clark scholar in pathology and instructor in bacteriology and hygiene in that institution. He is assistant physician to Roosevelt Hospital, Out-Patient Department. Dr. Wadsworth is a contributor of professional papers on medical, bacteriological and hygienic subjects to leading medical journals. He is a member of the American Association of Pathologists and Bacteriologists, the Society for Experimental Medicine and Biology, American Medical Association, New York Academy of Medicine, Medical Society of the County of New York, Medical Society of the State of New York, New York Pathological Society, Society of the Alumni of St. Luke's Hospital, and the University and Technology Clubs of New York City. Address: 180 West 59th Street, New York City.

WADSWORTH, James Wolcott, Jr.:

Farmer and speaker of the New York Assembly; born in Geneseo, N. Y., Aug. 12, 1877; son of James Wolcott and Louisa (Travers) Wadsworth. He was graduated from Yale University, B.A., 1898. He has been engaged in farming since 1899, and is a director of the Geneseo Valley National Bank. Mr. Wadsworth served as a private in Battery A, Pennsylvania Field Artillery, in Porto Rico, 1898. He was elected member of the Assembly from Livingston County, in 1904; reelected annually since; elected speaker of the Assembly, Jan. 3, 1906, and reelected each year to date. In politics he is a Republican. Mr. Wadsworth is trustee of the New York State Public Buildings; commissioner of the Land Office of New York State, and trustee of Cornell University. He is also a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, and of the University, Racquet and Tennis, and Yale Clubs of New York City, the Metropolitan Club of Washington, D. C., and the Fort Orange Club of Albany. Mr. Wadsworth married in Newberry, N. H., Sept. 30, 1902, Alice Hay, and has a son and a daughter. Address: Mount Morris, N. Y.

WAGNALLS, Adam Willis:

Publisher, clergyman; born in Lithopolis, O., Sept. 24, 1843. He was graduated from Wittenberg College, Springfield, O., in 1866; studied theology in Wittenberg Seminary. In 1867 he was ordained, organized and became pastor of the First Lutheran Church in Kansas City, Mo. He moved to Kansas, and was city clerk of Atchison, 1871-1873; removing to New York City he entered the publishing business in 1876, and was one of the founders of the publishing house of Funk & Wagnalls Company, publishers of the Standard Dictionary, the Jewish Encyclopedia, and many other important works. He married in 1868 Anna Willis. Address: 40-60 East 23d Street, New York City.

WAINWRIGHT, Richard:

Rear admiral, U. S. Navy; born in Washington, D. C., Dec. 17, 1849; son of Commander Richard Wainwright (who died on the Mississippi, Aug. 10, 1862, while commanding Farragut's flagship, the Hartford). He entered the Naval Academy, then at Newport, R. I., Sept. 28, 1864, and was graduated from the Academy at Annapolis in 1868. He served through the various grades and as lieutenant-commander became chief intelligence officer, 1896-1897; and in December, 1897, he became executive officer of the battleship Maine, then under command of Captain Sigsbee, and was on that vessel when it was destroyed in Havana harbor, Feb. 15, 1908. When war began, Lieutenant-Commander Wainwright commanded the Gloucester, J. P. Morgan's yacht which had been converted into a gunboat. On July 3, 1898, when Admiral Cervera's squadron of four cruisers and two torpedo-boat-destroyers made their dash for freedom out of Santiago harbor, the Gloucester was boldly driven at the two boats with such driving force and rapid and accurate firing that both boats went quickly down with more than one hundred of their men. When he had finished this work, Lieutenant-Commander Wainwright turned down the coast, and was the first to reach the Infanta Maria Teresa, Admiral Cervera's flagship, which the hot fire of the American fleet had driven ashore, and Wainwright therefore had the honor to accept the surrender of the Spanish Admiral. In November, 1898, Wainwright was assigned to duty at the Naval Academy and from 1900 to 1902, he was superintendent of the Academy, then took command of the cruiser Newark, 1902-1904. He was promoted commander, March 3, 1900, and captain, Aug. 10, 1903; was on the General Board from Oct. 27, 1904, until June 26, 1907, when he was ordered to command the battleship Louisiana. He took part in the great fleet movement to the Pacific, and being promoted to rear admiral, was placed in command of the second division on the return voyage. Address: 1264 New Hampshire Avenue, Washington, D. C.

WAIT, John Cassan:

Lawyer and civil engineer; born in Norwich, N. Y., June 4, 1860; son of Andrew Marcellus and Ambrosia Jane (Sergeant) Wait. He was educated in the Norwich (N. Y.) Academy, Cornell University, B.C.E., 1882; M.C.E., 1891, Norwich (Vt.) University, M.S., 1887, and Harvard Law School, LL.B., 1891. He was a civil engineer in the employ of the Standard Oil Company, 1883, of the Vanderbilt System of Railroads, 1882-1883, of the Pullman Allied Companies, 1884-1885; Gould System of railroads, 1885; at Harvard College, as a student and as a teacher of engineering, 1887-1894; assistant engineer New York State Canal, 1896-1897; editor of the Railroad Gazette, 1893-1895. He is a pioneer in engineering and architectural jurisprudence, representing as attorney, contractors and builders, and is counsel for very large interests in the building line and has numerous disciples in same specialty. He is head of the law firm of Wait & Foster; and was assistant and acting corporation counsel, 1900-1904. He is a director of the Upland Realty Company; Chenango Drug Company; Hanover Realty Company, and other corporations. Mr. Wait is a director of the American Society, Refrigerating Engineers; member of the American Society Civil Engineers, Municipal Engineers of the City of New York; Cornell Association of Civil Engineers; Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and the New York Historical Association. He is author of: Engineering and Architectural Jurisprudence; Operations Preliminary to Instruction in Engineering and Architecture; Law of Contracts; Family Records of Thomas Wait of Rhode Island; Genealogical Records of the Wait Families of New England. He is a Democrat and Episcopalian. He was captain of Artillery Vermont National Guard, 1886-1887; commandant and superintendent of the Norwich University, Vermont Military Institution, 1886-1887. Mr. Wait married at Ironton, Ohio, in June, 1886, Ginevra C. Westlake, and has four children. Address: 38 Park Row, New York City.

WALBRIDGE, Cyrus Packard:

Merchant and ex-mayor; born in Madrid, N. Y., July 20, 1849; son of Arlo Judson and Althea Maria (Packard) Walbridge. His boyhood was passed and his public school education acquired in DeKalb County, Ill., and Stanton, Minn., then attended Carleton College, at Northfield, Minn., and was graduated from the University of Michigan as LL.B., in 1874. He practised law in St. Louis until 1879, when he became interested in the Merrell Drug Co., of which he has for 23 years been president; and he is also president of the Bell Telephone Company of Missouri. He served from 1877 to 1885 in the 1st Regiment, Missouri National Guard, retiring as its lieutenant-colonel. He has for years been a prominent factor in Republican politics in the city and State. He was elected to the St. Louis House of Delegates, serving in 1881-1883, was president of the City Council, 1889-1893, and mayor of St. Louis, 1893-1897; and he was Republican nominee for governor of Missouri in 1904. He has served as president of the National Wholesale Druggists Association, president of the Business Men's League of St. Louis, president of the St. Louis College of Pharmacy, president of New England Society of St. Louis, president of the Congregational Club of St. Louis. Mr. Wallbridge married in St. Louis in October, 1879. Lizzie Merrell, and they have one son. Residence: 3714 Westminster Place. Office: Fourth and Market Streets, St. Louis.

WALCOTT, Charles Doolittle:

Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution; born at New York Mills, N. Y., March 31, 1850; son of Charles D. and Mary (Lane) Walcott. He was educated in the public schools of Utica, N. Y., became interested in geology and in 1876 was appointed an assistant in the New York State Survey. He entered the Government service in 1879 as assistant geologist of the United States Geological Survey, became paleontologist, 1888-1893, and geologist, 1893-1894, of the same survey, of which he was appointed director in 1894, serving in that capacity until appointed in 1907, to his present position as secretary of the Smithsonian Institution. He has received the honorary degree of LL.D. from Hamilton College, 1898, the University of Chicago, 1901, Johns Hopkins University, 1902, and the University of Pennsylvania, 1903, and the honorary degree of Sc.D. from Cambridge, 1909. He was formerly honorary curator of the Department of Paleontology, 1892-1897, and again, 1898-1907, and acting assistant secretary in charge of the National Museum from January, 1897, to July, 1898, in the Smithsonian Institution; secretary of the Carnegie Institution, 1902-1905; and director of the U. S. Reclamation Service, 1902-1907. Dr. Walcott has made special researches in the stratigraphy and paleontology of the lower Paleozoic formations, and notably in the Cambrian rocks of the United States. He presented his researches in relation to the Cambrian faunas before the International Geological Congress in London in 1888, and received the Bigsby medal of the London Geological Society. He has recently been awarded the Hayden medal of the Philadelphia Academy of Sciences. He is a member and vice-president since 1907 of the National Academy of Sciences; fellow (and was vice-president, 1893) of the American Association for the Advancement of Science; member of the American Society of Naturalists, Geological Society of America; associate fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences; member of the American Philosophical Society, Washington Academy of Sciences (president since 1899), honorary member of the American Institute of Mining Engineers; correspondent of the Academy of Natural Sciences of Philadelphia; member of the London Geological Society, foreign member of the Accademia dei Lincei; fellow of the Christiania Scientific Society. Residence: 1743 Twenty-second Street, N. W. Office: Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D. C.

WALKER, Emma Elizabeth:

Physician; born in Springfield, Mass., daughter of Worthington Henry and Elizabeth (Crossette) Walker. She was graduated from Smith College, A.B., 1887, and Johns Hopkins Medical School, M.D., 1898. She is author of: Beauty Through Hygiene, Pretty Girl Papers, in the Ladies' Home Journal, Monographs on Absinthe published in the Medical Record, Stereopticon Lectures on Hygiene (unpublished), Lectures on Protective Hygiene for the Family (unpublished), and numerous articles in medical and secular magazines. Lecturer for the American Society of Sanitary and Moral Prophylaxis, and for the Department of Education of the City of New York. She is a clinical assistant in the Hospital for the Ruptured and Crippled, New York, member of the New York Academy of Medicine, American Medical Association, Women's Medical Society of New York State, American Society of Sanitary and Moral Prophylaxis, American Association for the Advancement of Science, Medical Society of the County of New York, Health Education League, Public Health Defense League, Public Education Association, Association of Collegiate Alumnae, New York Society Opposed to the Extension of the Suffrage to Women, Alumnae Association of Smith College, Alumni Association of Johns Hopkins University, also the Pen and Brush, the Women's University, and the Smith College Clubs of New York. Address: 165 Madison Avenue, New York City.

WALKER, Guy Morrison:

Lawyer, financial expert, author; born in Fort Wayne, Ind., Jan. 24, 1870; son of Rev. Wilbur F. and Mary F. (Morrison) Walker. He was graduated from De-Pauw University, A.B., 1890, A.M., 1893, and LL.B.; and during his college life he was major of cadets and captain of the Varsity Football Team. He organized the Terre Haute Trust Company in 1894; organized the Security Trust Company, Toledo, Ohio, in 1898; was general counsel of the Everett-Moore Railroad Syndicate; reorganized the Detroit and Toledo Shore Line Railroad, the Columbus, Delaware and Marion Railway Company, the Pittsburgh Railway and Light Company, and many others. He has traveled over China and Japan, North America and Europe; was offered in 1900 a commission in the United States Army and appointment on General Chaffee's staff in China, but declined. In 1907 he was chairman of the Depositors Re-organization Committee of the Knickerbocker Trust Company in New York. He is author of: Railroads and Wages; What Shall We Buy; Interurban Railways; also contributions to financial and economic journals. He is a member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity. Mr. Walker married at Terre Haute, Ind., Dec. 15, 1891, Minnie L. Royse, and they have two children. Address: 15 Wall Street, New York City.

WALLACE, William James:

U. S. circuit judge; born in Syracuse, N. Y., April 14, 1837; son of E. Fuller and Lydia (Wheelwright) Wallace. He was graduated from Hamilton College as A.B., and received the degree of LL.D. from that college, and also from Syracuse University. He was mayor of Syracuse in 1873. He was appointed by President Grant U. S. district judge for the Northern District of New York, serving, 1874-1882, and was appointed April 6, 1882, by President Arthur, U. S. circuit judge for the Second Judicial Circuit, in which office he is still serving. He is a member of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity, and also a member of the Metropolitan, Union League, and New York Yacht Clubs of New York City, Century Club of Syracuse and the Fort Orange Club of Albany. He married in New York City in 1878, Alice Heyward Wheelwright. Residence: Albany, N. Y. Country residence: Cazenovia, N. Y. Office: 148 State Street, Albany, N. Y.

WANAMAKER, John:

Merchant; born in Philadelphia, July 11, 1837; descended on his father's side from the Palatines who left Germany during the religious persecution of 1730-1740, and, on his mother's side from the Huguenot who left France for the same reason. He attended the public schools of Philadelphia. His father was a brickmaker, and during his school days he had his share of work in the brickyard, but at the age of fourteen he left school and became an errand boy in a book store, then became salesman in a clothing house. While still a boy he became an attendant at the Presbyterian Church on Broad Street in Philadelphia, of which Dr. John Chambers was pastor, and later took a personal interest in the work of the Sunday School and the Church which has continued ever since. In 1857 he became secretary of the Philadelphia Young Men's Christian Association. He resigned in 1861, and with his brother-in-law, Nathan Brown, founded at Sixth and Market streets, in Philadelphia, the clothing business which is still known as Wanamaker & Brown. It had very modest beginnings, but the new methods introduced by Mr. Wanamaker into the business proved popular, and in 1868, when Mr. Brown died, the house had taken a leading place in the trade and was widely known for its liberal advertising on a scale which few houses in the country equalled at that time. In 1869 a new store was opened in Chestnut street under the title of John Wanamaker & Company. In 1876 Mr. Wanamaker purchased the old Pennsylvania Freight Depot at Thirteenth and Market Street and established there a clothing, hat and shoe store, but in a year or two the building was extended to Chestnut street and its scope enlarged to embrace a general dry goods store. The Philadelphia store was followed several years later, by the purchase of the

A. T. Stewart concern in New York at Ninth Street and Broadway. In 1904 Mr. Wanamaker began to rebuild his Philadelphia store on a large scale, replacing the building with one twelve stories high, and covering an entire block. He has also added largely to the dimensions of his New York store by the erection of a magnificent sixteen-story structure on the adjoining block. Mr. Wanamaker has been always active in the duties of citizenship, religion and philanthropy. He lent important aid to the war-time Sanitary Fair in Logan Square in Philadelphia; was one of the organizers of the Christian Commission, and took part in various charitable movements; he served efficiently on the Finance Committee of the Centennial Exposition of 1876, lent his aid to the William Penn Anniversary Celebration of 1882, and was prominent in the movement for a pure water supply in 1886 and 1887. A member of the Presbyterian Church, his talent for organization showed itself strikingly in the Bethany Sunday School, of which he has been superintendent since 1858, when it began with twenty-seven scholars, but which rapidly outgrew its accommodations, and in time became one of the largest in the country, with over two thousand six hundred students; he aided the Young Men's Christian Association in erecting its new building and became its president, and is connected with the Williamson Trade School and other associations. He declined to become a candidate for mayor and representative on the Republican ticket when offered him, but he took an active part in the 1888 Presidential campaign, and accepted the position of Postmaster-General in President Harrison's Cabinet. Residence: 2032 Walnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

WARD, George Morgan:

President of Wells College; born in Lowell, Mass., May 23, 1859; son of Sullivan L. and Mary (Morgan) Ward. He was a student at Harvard, two years in the class of 1881, was graduated, A.B., Dartmouth, 1882, A.M., 1884; Boston University Law School, LL.B., 1885; B.D., Andover Theological Seminary; was post-graduate of Johns Hopkins (D.D., Dartmouth, 1900; LL.D., Rollins College, 1903); admitted to Massachusetts bar; secretary International Society of Christian Endeavor, 1885-1889; president Rollins College, Winter Park, Fla., 1895-1903; pastor in charge of Royal Poinciana Chapel, Palm Beach, Fla., winters since 1900; president Wells College, Aurora, New York, since November, 1903. He is vice-president of the American Humane Society. Dr. Ward married, June 15, 1896, Emma Marriam Sprague. Address: Aurora, N. Y.

WARD, Henry Galbraith:

Jurist; born in New York City, April 19, 1851; son of Henry Dana and Charlotte (Galbraith) Ward. He was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1870, and engaged in the practice of law until appointed in 1907 to present office of judge of the Circuit Court of the U. S. for the Second Circuit. Judge Ward is a trustee of the University of Pennsylvania and a member of the University, City, Century, and Down Town Clubs of New York City. He married in Newport, R. I., Aug. 13, 1891, Mabel Marquand, and they have two sons. Address: 816 Madison Avenue, New York City.

WARDMAN, Ervin:

Editor-in-chief of the New York Press; born in Salt Lake City, Utah, Dec. 25, 1865; son of George and Mary Virginia (Ervin) Wardman. He was educated in Phillips Exeter (N. H.) Academy and Harvard, A.B., 1888. Mr. Wardman was on the editorial staff of the New York Tribune, 1888-1895; managing editor of the New York Press, 1895-1896, editor and publisher same and vice-president and director of the New York Press Company, Limited. He served in the Spanish-American War as first lieutenant of the 202d Infantry New York Volunteers and aid-de-camp to Major General Brooke, U. S. S., in the Porto Rico campaign. He is author of: The Princess Olga, novel (Harper's), etc. Mr. Wardman is a member of the Harvard and University Clubs of New York and the Huguenot Yacht Club of New York, President of the Pelham Country Club. He married in Washington, D. C., May 14, 1902, Caroline Klink, who died Sept. 19, 1908, and they had one son who died Sept. 19, 1906. Address: New York Press, New York City.

WARE, Eugene F. ("Ironquill"):

Lawyer and author; born in Hartford, Conn., May 29, 1841; son of Hiram B. and A. M. (Holbrook) Ware. He was educated in the public schools of Burlington, Iowa. He entered the Union Army at the beginning of the Civil War in Company E of the First Iowa Volunteer Infantry, afterward serving in Company L of the Fourth Iowa Volunteer Cavalry, and was mustered out as captain of Company F, Seventh Iowa Cavalry. He was admitted to the Kansas Bar at Fort Scott, June 18, 1871, and for many years has held a place of distinction in his profession, now being senior member of the law firm of Ware, Nelson & Ware in Kansas City, Kansas. He served five years as a member of the Kansas State Senate, and was a delegate from that State to two National Republican Conventions. He was appointed U. S. pension commissioner May 10, 1902, and served until Jan. 1, 1905, when he returned to his practice. He has been an extensive contributor of both verse and prose to literary periodicals and of articles on law subjects to legal publications, his poems under the pen-name of "Ironquill" having reached special popularity, the collected poems having, under the title of Rhymes of Ironquill, reached their Thirteenth Edition in 1908. He is also author of: Coronado's March (a prose translation, from the French of Ternaux-Compans, of Castaneda's Account, 1596), 1895; Roman Water Law, translation from the Latin of Justinian; From Court to Court (four editions); The Lyon Campaign and History of the First Iowa Infantry; The Indian Campaign of 1864; The Rise and Fall of the Salvon. Mr. Ware married in Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 22, 1874, Jeanette P. Huntington. Residence: 650 Oakland Avenue, Kansas City, Kansas. Office: Portsmouth Building.

WARNER, Fred Maltby:

Governor of Michigan; born at Hickling, Nottinghamshire, England, July 21, 1865. He was brought by his parents to the United States, when he was three months old, and a few months later his mother died. He was adopted by Hon. P. Dean Warner, of Farmington, Mich. After one year at the Michigan State Agricultural College he engaged in business pursuits. In 1889 he established a large cheese factory at Farmington, afterward adding others at surrounding places, now operating seven, as well as a large cold-storage plant. He is also a director of the Farmington Exchange Bank. While achieving marked success in business he also became active in political affairs as a Republican; was a member of the Michigan Senate from the Twelfth District from 1895 to 1898; elected secretary of State of Michigan in 1900 and again in 1902; elected governor of Michigan in 1904 and again in 1906 for the term expiring January, 1909. He married at Farmington, Mich., Sept. 19, 1888, Martha M. Davis. Residence: Farmington, Mich. Official residence: Lansing, Mich.

WARREN, Charles:

Chairman of the Massachusetts Civil Service Commission; born in Boston, March 9, 1868; son of Hon. Winslow and Mary Lincoln (Tinkham) Warren. He was graduated from Harvard College, with honors in 1889, and entered Harvard Law School in 1890. He became editor of the Harvard Law Review, and completed his law course in 1892. He then became associated with Moorfield Storey and at once began the practice of law as a member of the Suffolk bar. In 1893 he received a call to official duty from Governor William E. Russell, whom he served as private secretary to the Governor during the last six months of his term, and with whom he was associated in law practice until Governor Russell's death in 1896. He was appointed a member of the Massachusetts Civil Service Commission in July, 1905; reappointed for three years in July, 1908; chairman, since October, 1905. Mr. Warren is also a trustee of the New England Conservatory of Music and president of the Keene Electric Street Railway. He is head of the law firm of Warren, Perry and Codman, director of the American Soda Fountain Company, Egerton Tramway Company, and several other corporations. Mr. Warren is author of: The Girl and the Governor; also of History of the Harvard Law School and of Early Legal Conditions in America, 1908, and of short stories in McClure's, Atlantic Monthly, Scribner's, Collier's, and the American Magazine. He is a Democrat in politics, and a Unitarian in religion. He married in New York, Jan. 6, 1904, Annie Louise Bliss. Residence: Dedham, Mass. Office: 262 Washington Street, Boston, Mass.

WARREN, Charles Howard:

Treasurer of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York; born in Carlton, N. Y., Oct. 21, 1856. He entered railway service in 1876 as clerk with the Chicago and Northwestern Railway and held various positions with that road from 1876 to 1888; was comptroller of the St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba Railway, and its successor, the Great Northern Railway, 1888-1894; general manager of the same road, 1894-1896; general manager of the Montana Central Railway, 1894-1896; assistant to the president of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, 1897-1899; first vice-president, 1899-1902; first vice-president of the Chicago Rock Island and Pacific Railway, 1902-1904. Mr. Warren is a member of the Lawyers' and Lotos Clubs. Address: 32 Nassau Street, New York City.

WARREN, William Fairfield:

President of Boston University, 1873-1903, and now dean of the Theological Faculty; born in Williamsburgh, Mass., March 13, 1833; son of Martha and Ann (Fairfield) Warren. He received his education in Wesleyan University and the Universities of Berlin and Halle. He received the degree of LL.D. from Wesleyan University, Connecticut, and of D.D. from Ohio Wesleyan University. He was headmaster in schools in Watertown, Conn.; Hopkinton, Mass.; and Mobile, Ala.; pastor in Andover, Wilbraham and Boston, Mass.;

editorial contributor to various periodicals; professor in Bremen, Germany, from 1861 to 1866; acting-president of the Boston Theological Seminary, 1866-1873; a member of the governing corporation of Wellesley College, from its founding; corporate member of the American Oriental Society. He is author of: The Quest of the Perfect Religion was translated into Chinese, Japanese, Spanish, and German, and suggested the Chicago Parliament of Religions; The Story of Gottlieb was translated into German and Arabic; Paradise Found, the Cradle of the Human Race at the North Pole, has reached its eleventh edition; he is also author of articles on Babylonian and Indo-Aryan Cosmology in Journal of American Oriental Society, 1901-1905, and of a very large number of other writings. Married Harriet Cornelia Merriek, of Wilbraham; and has one son and three daughters. Address: Boston University, Boston.

WASHINGTON, Booker Taliaferro:

Principal of Tuskegee Normal and Industrial Institute; born a slave, near Hale's Ford, Va., about 1857 or 1858. After the war removed with his mother and stepfather to Malden, W. Va., where he attended the common schools and was employed for a time in the household of General Lewis Ruffner until 1872; worked in the mines near Charleston, W. Va., and finally entered the Hampton Normal and Agricultural Institute of Virginia, from which he was graduated in 1875. He taught school at Malden, W. Va., 1875-1878, and was a student at Wayland Seminary, Washington, D. C., 1878-1880. In 1881 he was chosen principal of the Tuskegee Normal and Industrial Institute, at Tuskegee, Ala. The school was opened by Mr. Washington, July 4, 1881, with thirty pupils in an abandoned Negro church. At the quarto-centennial in 1906 the Institute had 2,400 acres of land, something over $2,000,000 worth of property in the form of endowment, buildings, and equipment, and 1,598 pupils enrolled. For his services in building up this school, in promoting industrial education and in the uplifting of the Negro race, Harvard University conferred on him the honorary degree of A.M. in 1896, Dartmouth that of LL.D. in 1902. Andrew Carnegie added to the endowment fund of the institute six hundred thousand dollars, with the sole condition that the founder and director of the institute, Principal Washington, and his family shall always be assured support from the income. In June, 1903, Dr. Washington was invited by the British South African Company to visit South Africa and make a study of the racial conditions in the British territory, and report to the company and to the British Government his plans for the better educational, industrial and moral condition of the people; but he declined the invitation. He has made many addresses on racial and educational subjects, and is author of: Future of the American Negro, 1899; Sowing and Reaping, 1900; Up from Slavery, 1901; Character Building, 1902; Story of My Life and Work, 1903; Working with Hands, 1904; Tuskegee and Its People, 1905. Address: Tuskegee, Ala.

WATERMAN, Charles Winfield:

Lawyer; born in Waitsfield, Vt., Nov. 2, 1861; son of John and Mary A. (Leach) Waterman. He was graduated from the University of Vermont as A.B. in 1885, and from Michigan University as LL.B. in 1889. He was admitted to the bar of Michigan in 1889, and of Colorado in 1889, entered the office of Wolcott and Vaile in 1891; and became a member of the firm of Wolcott, Vaile and Waterman in 1902; member of the firm of Vaile and Waterman from 1906 until January, 1908; since has practised alone with aid of several assistants. During the last ten years he has been engaged in most of the important corporation cases in Colorado. He is a director and the general counsel of Great Western Sugar Company, Great Western Railway Company, and attorney in Colorado of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway Company. He is a Republican in politics. Mr. Waterman is a member of the American Bar Association, Colorado Bar Association, and was a delegate to the Universal Congress of Lawyers and Jurists at St. Louis in 1904. He is a member of the University Club, and the Denver County Club. He married in Burlington, Vt., June 18, 1890, Anna R. Cook. Residence: Savoy Hotel. Office address: 414 Equitable Building, Denver, Colo.

WATKINS, Edgar:

Lawyer; born in Georgia, July 31, 1868; son of Moses D. and Divine Howard (Word) Watkins. He received his preparatory education in the public and private schools of Georgia and was graduated from the University of Georgia as LL.B. He has had a lucrative law practice in Georgia, Oklahoma and Texas. Mr. Watkins was solicitor for the City Court at Carrollton, Ga.; alderman at Houston, Texas, and president of the Board of School Trustees of Houston. He was a law partner of the late ex-Governor James S. Hogg of Texas, and is a member of the Texas Bar Association and the Atlanta Bar Association. He continued practice at Houston, Texas, until Aug. 1, 1907, when he became a partner in the law firm of Wimbish, Watkins and Ellis, of Atlanta, Ga. He is author of a law book: Shippers and Carriers of Interstate Freight. Mr. Watkins is a Democrat and a Presbyterian. Mr. Watkins is a Scottish Rite Mason, Knight Templar and a Shriner; also a member of the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity, Knight of Pythias, and is an Elk and Odd Fellow. He is a member of the Thalian Club, of Houston, Texas, and of the Piedmont Driving and Capital City Clubs of Atlanta, Ga. Mr. Watkins married, in Oklahoma, March 12, 1894, Belle Cameron, and they have four children. Residence: 602 West Peachtree Street. Office: Prudential Building, Atlanta, Ga.

WATKINS, Susan:

Painter; born in California; daughter of James Thomas and Susan Ella (Owens) Watkins. She received her education at the E. L. Munson School in California and the Gibbons School in New York, and her art education in Paris, receiving a medal for drawing at the Accademia Vittti, and honorable mention and a gold medal at the Paris Salon. She lived in California till she was thirteen, when she went to New York; six years later she went to Paris, where she studied painting for twelve years under Raphael Collin, exhibiting at the Paris Salon in 1899, sending La Petite Hollandaise which was awarded honorable mention; in 1901 she received a gold medal for a portrait of a young girl in a costume of 1830. This picture won a silver medal at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition. Miss Watkins continued to exhibit at the Paris Salon, until 1908, portraits, interiors and landscapes with figures; also exhibited at the Royal Academy in London, the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, the Art Institute of Chicago, the Society of American Artists; one of her interiors is owned by Edward H. Johnson of Philadelphia, a landscape is owned by the Princess de Sagan, an interior by Booth Tarkington; one painting entitled: In the Window, was sold in Chicago, her other paintings being portraits of Mr. and Mrs. Booth Tarkington, Mrs. William Hodge (recently exhibited at Knoedler's), the children of Mr. Augustus Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Bulkeley, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Sewall, Mrs. George Dearborn, Mrs. Easton of California (sister of Mr. D. O. Mills), Walter Hobart of California, Mr. Julius Gerson (father-in-law of William M. Chase), Mr. Ellis Parker Butler, and Mr. John Porsell, the pianist. Miss Watkins is a member of the Lyceum Club. Address: 58 West 12th Street, New York City.

WATTERSON, Henry:

Editor; born in Washington, D. C., February 16, 1840; son of Hon. Harvey Watterson, member of Congress. He received his education chiefly by private tutors. He was a Confederate staff officer and chief of scouts from 1861-1865; a member of Congress, 1875-1877; of the Democratic National Convention, 1872-1892; president of the Convention of 1876; chairman of the Platform Committee in 1880-1888, and has repeatedly declined office. He is author of: Orations; Oddities of Southern Life, 1881; History of the War with Spain, 1898; The Compromises of Life, 1903. His favorite recreations are music, yachting and outdoor sports. Mr. Watterson is a member of the Manhattan and Lotos Clubs of New York, Pendennis Club of Louisville, the Pen and Pencil Club of Philadelphia; Press Club, Chicago; Press Club, New York, and the Boston Press Club. He married, in 1865, Rebecca Ewing, and they have three sons and two daughters. Address: Courier Journal, Louisville, Ky.

WATTS, Ethelbert:

Consular official; born in Philadelphia, Feb. 25, 1845; son of Hon. Henry M. Watts, U. S. minister to Austria more than thirty years ago. He entered the University of Pennsylvania in 1861, but left at the end of his third year, and, after serving as a private in the Union Army, studied at the School of Mines at Freiburg, Saxony, before having been engaged in the manufacture of pig iron for several years. He acted as cashier of the Centennial Board of Finance at the Exhibition Grounds in Philadelphia, in 1876, and subsequently became Secretary and afterward treasurer of the Investment Company of Philadelphia. In 1896 he entered the Consular Service, and, after a year spent in Switzerland, became vice-consul-general at Cairo, Egypt, where he remained for two years and a half. He was acting as consul-general in the absence of his superior at the time Admiral Camara attempted to obtain coal and other supplies for the Spanish fleet, with the view of proceeding to the Philippines, but was prevented by Mr. Watts' energetic action. In November, 1899, he was transferred to Kingston, Jamaica, as consul, and then to the position of consul at Prague; consul-general at St. Petersburg, Russia, 1903-1907, since then consul-general at Brussels. He has had conferred upon him the Impérial Order of the Osmanieh of the third class in recognition of services while on the staff of the United States consul-general in Egypt. In 1909 the degree of B.A. was specially conferred upon him by the University of Pennsylvania. His present wife is the daughter of the late William H. Gregg of Philadelphia. Address: Brussels, Belgium.

WAUGH, Ida:

Artist; born in Philadelphia; daughter of Samuel Bell and Mary (Mendenhall) Waugh. She was educated in Philadelphia and Paris, in the l'Academie Julien and in 1891-1892 at l'Academie Delecluse under Paul de Lance and Georges Callot, at the l'Academie Julien under Jules Lefevre and Benjamin Constant. She exhibited the picture: Hagar and Ishmael in the Desert, in the Paris Salon in 1888. Miss Waugh took the Norman Dodge prize of $300 in 1896 at the Exhibition of the New York Academy of Design, for the portrait of Dr. Paul J. Sartain. She is a member of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania and fellow of the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts. Address: American Express Company, 11 rue Scribe, Paris, France. Summer residence: Bailey Island, Casco Bay, Maine.

WEAVER, George M.:

Lawyer; born in Deerfield, N. Y., Aug. 5, 1840; son of Jacob George and Caroline Matilda (Wells) Weaver. He was educated in Utica Academy, graduated from Hamilton College, 1860 (valedictorian). He was admitted to the bar in Syracuse, N. Y., 1866; and has been practicing law in Utica, N. Y., since 1866; chiefly equity practice and trust estates. He traveled in Europe in 1903. He served in the army of the Confederate States during the Civil War; afterward was commissary of Subsistence, with rank of major, on the Brigade Staff, National Guard of the State of New York. He is director and treasurer of the Italian Macaroni Company; director of the Utica Stone and Construction Company. He is a trustee and former president of St. Luke's Hospital, Utica; trustee and secretary of the House of the Good Shepherd, Utica; trustee of the General Theological Seminary, New York City; trustee and treasurer of the Episcopate Fund of the Diocese of Central New York. He is a member of the Oneida Historical Society (formerly vice-president), Utica Bar Association (formerly president), Victoria Institute of London, England; Sigma Phi fraternity and Camp of Confederate Veterans of New York City.

Mr. Weaver married in Booneville, Mo., Nov. 24, 1868, Anna Barnett Cope, and they have two sons and three daughters. Summer residence: Springbank, Deerfield, New York and Ironduquoit Club, Piseco Lake, Adirondacks. Residence: 153 Park Avenue, Utica. Office: 69 Genesee Street, Utica, N. Y.

WEBB, William Seward:

Capitalist; born in New York City, Jan., 31, 1851; son of General James Watson Webb, and grandson of General Samuel B. Webb, Revolutionary officer of distinction and intimate friend of General Washington. He received his education by private tutors and five years at Churchill's Military School, Sing Sing; two years at Columbia College, and was graduated from the College of Physicians and Surgeons as M.D., in 1875. He afterwards spent two years in study in the medical schools of Vienna. He became connected with the Vanderbilt railroad system and was president many years of the Wagner Palace Car Company; constructed and since 1890 has been president of the Adirondack and St. Lawrence Railroad, a line which extends through the Adirondack wilderness from Herkimer, N. Y., to the St. Lawrence River, a distance of 233 miles, and is also officer, or director, in numerous railroad and other corporations. He was three years president-general of the National Society of Sons of the American Revolution, and vice-president of the Vermont Society of Sons of the American Revolution. To his Shelbourne Farms in Vermont, he adds a large preserve in the Adirondacks, which is known by the title of Ne-ha-sa-ne Park. It is made up of forest, hill and lake, its woods being well stocked with game and the waters with fish. Mr. Webb is a member of the Metropolitan, Riding, University, Church, Turf and Field, and the New York Yacht Clubs. He married in 1881, Lila Osgood, daughter of William H. Vanderbilt. Residence: 680 Fifth Avenue. Office address: 51 East Forty-fourth Street, New York City.

WELLMAN, Francis Lewis:

Lawyer born in Brookline, Mass., July 29, 1854; son of William A. Wellman, a prominent Boston banker and American representative of Baring Brothers. He was graduated from Harvard as A.B. in 1876, and from Harvard Law School as LL.B., and valedictorian of the class in 1878. He was admitted to the Massachusetts bar in 1878, and was simultaneously appointed instructor at the Boston Law School and later lecturer both at the Boston Law School and the Harvard Law School. He also was engaged to some extent in practice, chiefly in association with ex-United States Senator Bainbridge Wadleigh. In 1883 he removed to New York City, where he accepted the position of assistant in the office of the Corporation Counsel and was given charge of all jury trials in which the City of New York was defendant, and during the seven years of his incumbency of that office defended the interests of the city with such ability that the recoveries against the city are said to have been less than one-half of one per cent of the amounts claimed by the litigants. At the end of that time he was appointed first assistant district attorney and for four years conducted the prosecution of all the principal criminal trials of New York County, including the prosecution and conviction of such noted criminals as Dr. Carlyle W. Harris and Dr. Robert Buchanan, Ben Ali alias Frenchy, Fanshawe, Stroud; Stephanie, Gardner, Frank Ellison and many others. Since 1894 Mr. Wellman has been general counsel for the Metropolitan Street Railway Company, and has personally conducted all the more important damage litigations of that company in the courts. In addition he has had a large corporation practice in partnership with William W. Gooch, under the firm name of Wellman, Gooch & Smyth. He is a member of the Harvard Alumni Association, the University, Manhattan and New York Yacht Clubs, and other organizations, and is nationally known as an authority on cross-examination and an expert in that branch of the court world. He married, June 26, 1894, Emma Jueh, the prima donna. Residence: 247 Fifth Avenue. Office: 15 Wall Street, New York City.

WELLS, Thomas Tileston:

Lawyer; born in New York City, 1865; son of John and Grace (Tileston) Wells. His father's family has been prominent in New York City for several generations, especially as lawyers. John Wells, who was his great-grandfather and whose monument is in St. Paul's Chapel, was the only survivor of his family; all other members of which were massacred at Cherry Valley in 1778, and his own life was saved only because he had been sent off to Schenectady for school a few days before the massacre; he became the leader of the Bar in his time, and founded the firm of Wells & Strong (Now Strong and Cadwalader); his son, Thomas Lawrence Wells (grandfather of T. Tileston Wells) was also a distinguished lawyer in his day. On the maternal side Mr. Wells is grandson of Thomas Tileston of the well-known shipping house of Spoilard & Tileston, who was president of the Phenix Bank and one of the founders of the New York Clearing House. Mr. Wells acquired his early education abroad, and he afterward attended St. Mark's School, Southborough, Mass., and Columbia and Harvard Universities, and was graduated from Columbia Law School, LL.B., 1888. He was admitted to the New York Bar in 1890, and since 1892 has been a member of the law firm of Lexow, MacKeller & Wells, engaged in general practice. Mr. Wells is the vice-president of Five Points House of Industry in New York City, trustee of the Children's Aid Society of New York and trustee and director of several other institutions. He has been especially active and prominent in the Alliance Française movement; is vice-president of the Alliance Française of New York, president of the Alliance Française of New Brunswick, N. J., and is treasurer of the Federation of the Alliance Française in the United States and Canada. He is a member of the Union, City Midway and St. Anthony Clubs of New York City and is an officier d'Académie (France), and a member of the Delta Psi fraternity. Mr. Wells married in New York City, April 18, 1894, Georgina, daughter of Colonel George F. Betts, for many years clerk of the United States District Court in New York City, and granddaughter of Hon. Samuel Rossiter Betts, for over fifty years United States district judge in New York City. Residences: "Sommariva," near New Brunswick, N. J., and 52 East 76th Street, New York City. Office: 43 Cedar Street, New York City.

WESTINGHOUSE, George:

Inventor of the celebrated Westinghouse air brake; was born at Central Bridge, Schoharie County, N. Y., on the 6th of Oct., 1846; his parents were George and Emeline Vedder Westinghouse. The father's ancestors came from Germany and settled in Massachusetts and Vermont before the Revolution; the mother's were Dutch English. Mr. Westinghouse's father was an inventor; who, in 1856, removed with his family to Schenectady, N. Y., where he established the Schenectady Agricultural Works. Mr. Westinghouse was educated in the public and high schools of Schenectady, and he spent much time in his father's machine shop, invented and made a rotary engine before he was fifteen; passed the examination for the position of assistant engineer in the United States Navy. From June, 1863, to June, 1865, he served, first in the army, and afterward in the navy, and was honorably discharged August 1, 1865. On his return he entered Union College, where he remained till the close of his sophomore year, when he entered upon active life, he invented a device for replacing railroad cars upon the track. Going to Troy one day, a delay, caused by a collision between two freight trains, suggested to Mr. Westinghouse the idea that a brake under the control of the engineer might have prevented the accident, and after several trials his first patent was issued April 13, 1869, and The Westinghouse Air-Brake Company was formed on the 20th of July following. In 1883, Mr. Westinghouse became interested in the operation of railway signals and switches by compressed air, and developed and patented the system now manufactured by the Union Switch and Signal Company. The 'Pneumatic Interlocking Switch and Signal Apparatus," whereby all the signals and switches are operated from a given point, using compressed air as the motive power, and electricity to bring that power into operation, has been successfully introduced. Mr. Westinghouse was among the first to foresee the advantages of alternating current as a means of transmitting electricity over long distances, and the fight to introduce this system was carried on by him single-handed. The induction motor, the invention of which was the outcome of the genius of Nikola Tesla, was put on a commercial footing by Mr. Westinghouse. Among his accomplishments in the electrical field may be mentioned the unit switch system of multiple control for the simultaneous operation and control from one common point of all the motors in a train; and the new single-phase motor for street railway service, this use of electricity being heretofore confined to direct current. The Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company was organized in 1886 for the manufacture of electrical apparatus. Mr. Westinghouse has taken a foremost part in the development of the gas engine and the steam turbine. The Sawyer-Man incandescent lamp, the Nernst lamp and the Cooper-Hewitt mercury vapor lamp were all put on a commercial basis by Mr. Westinghouse. He was also the moving spirit in the exploitation of natural gas in the Pittsburg district, his special merit coming from working out its piping over long distances. He was married, August 8, 1867, at Brooklyn, N. Y., to Marguerite Erskine Walker, they have one son, George Westinghouse, Jr., who is an assistant to the manager of the Westinghouse Air Brake Company. Mr. Westinghouse has residences at Pittsburg, Washington, D. C., and Lenox, Mass.

WETMORE, George Peabody:

United States senator; born in London, England, August 2, 1846; son of William Shepard and Anstiss Derby (Rogers) Wetmore. He was graduated from Yale College in 1867, receiving the degree of A.B., and that of A.M. in 1871; studied law at Columbia College Law School, and was graduated in 1869, receiving the degree of LL.B. He was admitted to the Bar of Rhode Island and of New York in 1869; is a trustee of the Peabody Museum of Natural History in Yale University, and was nominated a fellow of the university in 1888, but declined; is a trustee of the Peabody Education Fund, and a director of other associations. He was first presidential elector of Rhode Island in 1880 and in 1884; was a member of the State committee to receive the representatives of France on the occasion of their visit to Rhode Island in 1881; was governor of Rhode Island in 1885-1886, 1886-1887, and was defeated for a third term in 1887, receiving, however, a greater number of votes than at either of the two preceding elections, when successful. He was defeated on the eighth ballot for United States senator in 1889; was elected to the U. S. Senate to succeed Nathan F. Dixon June 13, 1894, receiving the unanimous vote of the General Assembly in the Senate, House, and Joint Assembly, and reelected in 1900 and 1907. His term of service will expire March 3, 1913. Address: Newport, R. I.

WHARTON, Edith:

Novelist; born in New York City in 1862; daughter of George Frederic and Lucretia Stevens (Rhinelanders) Jones. She was educated at home, and in 1885 she married Edward Wharton, of Boston. Mrs. Wharton has attained distinction among American authors by the careful and discriminating psychological analysis which characterizes the delineation of human character and motives in her novels, which are, moreover, of exceptional literary excellence. Her books are: The Greater Inclination, 1899; The Touchstone, 1900; Crucial Instances, 1901; The Valley of Decision, 1902; Sanctuary, 1903; The Descent of Man and Other Stories, 1904; Italian Villas and Their Gardens, 1904; Italian Backgrounds, 1905; The House of Mirth, 1905; Madame de Treymes, 1907; The Fruit of the Tree, 1907; The Hermit and the Wild Woman. Address: Care of Charles Scribner's Sons, New York City.

WHEELER, Everett P.:

Lawyer; born in New York City, March 10, 1840. He received his preparatory education in the public schools of New York City and was graduated from the College of the City of New York, in 1856, and from the Harvard Law School, in 1859, and was admitted to practice in New York City in 1861. He was a member of the Board of Education, 1877-1879; one of the founders of the Bar Association of the City of New York; and served on its Executive Committee, and as vice-president, was for five years president of the New York Free Trade Club, and one of the first to take an active part in the renewal in 1880 of the movement for Civil Service Reform, which finally resulted in the adoption of the Federal Civil Service Act and in the New York Civil Service Act, now in force. He was for seventeen years, chairman of the Executive Committee of the New York Civil Service Reform Association, and chairman of the City Civil Service Commission for seven years. In 1893 he was a member of the Committee of Seventy, and took an active part in the campaign for the election of Mayor Strong. In 1894 he was a candidate for the Democratic Party Reform Organization for Governor of the State of New York; and in 1891 took an active part, in founding, and was until 1909 president of the East side House, one of the Social Settlements in this city. Mr. Wheeler is a member of the International Law Association, the Maritime Law Association, the New York Historical Society, and the Society of Colonial Wars. He is author of: Modern Law of Carriers; Harter Act; The Tariff and Wages; Real Bimetallism; Knowledge of Faith; and Daniel Webster. Expounder of the Constitution. He was for ten years chairman of the Committee of International Law of the American Bar Association, and is now one of its General Council and chairman of its special Committee on Law Reform; was one of the founders of the Citizens Union. He is a member of the Century Association, the Reform Club, of which he was president for two years, City Club, Down Town Club, Church (president for two years), Alpha Delta Phi, City, City College, and Barnard Clubs. Residence: 735 Park Avenue. Office: 21 State Street, New York City.

WHEELER, Mary Sparkes:

Author and lecturer; born at Tintern Abbey, England, June 21, 1835; daughter of Samuel and Elizabeth (Tratt) Sparkes. She came to America when six years of age, was educated in the public schools of Binghamton, N. Y., and became a teacher and school principal there until her marriage, in Binghamton, N. Y., April 13, 1858 to Rev. Henry Wheeler, by whom she has had seven children, of whom two survive; Mrs. M. W. Newberry, professor of English and dean of Monnett Hall in Ohio Wesleyan University, and Post Wheeler, Secretary of the American Embassy at Tokyo, Japan. Mrs. Wheeler was president of the Philadelphia branch of the women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Churches in Pennsylvania and Delaware, 1883-1898; was many years a member of the National Lecture Bureau, Chicago delivering lectures in all sections of the country, and was appointed in 1889 National evangelist of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and in 1891, superintendent of the World's Woman's Christian Temperance Union Mission, in which capacity she led and preached in many evangelistic services. She began writing poems for the press at an early age, and later prose also; and many of her poems have been set to music by the late P. P. Bliss, Professor Sweeney and Kirkpatrick and others, including the well-known Soldiers' Decoration hymns: "Peacefully Rest" and "Scatter Love's Beautiful Garlands Above Them." Her books are: Modern Cosmogony and the Bible, 1880; The First Decade of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, 1884; Poems for the Fireside, 1888; and As It Is in Heaven, 1906. Mrs. Wheeler, has been president of the Home for the Aged Ocean Grove, N. J. since 1908; is a member of the Woman's Foreign and Home Missionary Societies of the Methodist Episcopal Church, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, The King's Daughters, Sunshine Society, Woman's Suffrage Association and Woman's Christian Association. Address: 102 Mt. Hermon Way, Ocean Grove, N. J.

WHITAKER, Herbert Coleman:

Professor of mathematics; born in Cape May, N. J., Oct. 31, 1862; son of Franklin and Lydia L. (Ross) Whitaker. He received his preparatory education in the public schools of Camden, N. J.; was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania, with the degrees of B.S. and M.E. in 1886, and Ph.D., 1896. For two years he was lecturer on economics and politics with the Philadelphia Ethical Society; for four years lecturer on mathematics and economics in the Evening High School of Philadelphia; for twenty years professor of mathematics in the Central Manual Training High School. He is now head of the department of mathematics at the Southern Manual Training High School; he is a frequent contributor to various mathematical, scientific and economic magazines. He is author of a textbook on trigonometry and introduced Riemannian numbers into elementary algebra to solve irrational equations. Professor Whitaker is a member of the Camden Astronomical Society, of the Franklin Chess Club; and secretary of the Pennsylvania Whist Club. He married, in Swedesborough, N. J., Dec. 22, 1887, Agnes Tweed, and their children are: Norman Tweed (expert chess player), Hazel, Dorothy, and Roland Tweed. Residence: 776 North 26th Street. Office address: Broad and Jackson Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

WHITAKER, Ozi William:

Bishop of Pennsylvania; born at New Salem, Mass., May 10, 1830. He was graduated from Middlebury College, Vt., B.A., 1856. He soon after became principal of the High School in Northbrookfield, Mass., which position he resigned in 1860, and entered the General Theological Seminary in New York. He was ordained to the diaconate and to the priesthood in 1863, by Bishop Eastburn of Massachusetts, and began the exercise of his ministry in the same year in Gold Hill, Nev. In 1867 he became rector of St. Paul's Church, Virginia City and in 1869 was elected missionary bishop of Nevada. The same year he received the degree of D.D. from Kenyon College. In 1886 he was elected assistant bishop of Pennsylvania and became bishop the following year upon the death of Bishop Stevens. In 1898 he received the degree of LL.D. from the University of Pennsylvania. Address: The Church House, Twelfth and Walnut Streets, Philadelphia.

WHITE, Frank:

Lawyer; born in Deposit, N. Y., July 27, 1858; son of Adolph and Henrietta (Alexander) White. He was educated in Glens Falls Academy. He is author of several law books, including: White on Corporations, 1600 pages, which is the recognized authority in New York State; writer of many articles on corporate taxation and corporation law. Mr. White has been a member of the Faculty of Albany Law School since 1905, as lecturer on corporation law; took a leading part in having the corporation laws of the State liberalized in 1901. Has frequently made arguments before legislative committees on matters relating to taxation and corporation law; was chief of corporation division of the secretary of State's office for thirteen years. He has been first deputy attorney-general of New York State; was receiver of the Hamilton Bank of New York, during the panic of 1907, and in two months enabled the stockholders to reopen the institution with more than $1,000,000 cash on hand. He has been a public speaker in many important political campaigns since 1888; for several years past has been practising as a corporation law specialist with offices in New York City and Albany, N. Y. Mr. White is a member of the New York State Bar Association, New York County Lawyers' Association, Albany County Bar Association, the Society of the Delaware Valley of New York State, Alumni Association of Albany Law School, King Solomon's Lodge, and Apollo Chapter of Masons, Troy, N. Y., also a member of the Albany Club, and National Democratic Club of New York City. Address: 32 Liberty Street, New York City.

WHITE, Henry:

American ambassador to France; born in Baltimore, March 29, 1850; son of John Campbell and Eliza (Ridgely) White. He received his education from tutors and private schools in the United States and France, and the degree of LL.D. has been conferred upon him by the University of St. Andrew's, Scotland. He began his diplomatic career as secretary of the American Legation at Vienna, 1883-1884, then became second secretary of the American Legation in London, 1884, and was promoted to secretary, 1886, and after that frequently acted as chargé d'affaires. President Cleveland recalled him in 1893, but in 1897 President McKinley again appointed him secretary of the American Embassy at London, in which post he remained until March, 1905, when he was appointed, by President Roosevelt, American ambassador to Italy, remaining there until appointed in March, 1907, ambassador to France, where he continues. Mr. White represented the United States at the International Conference for the abolition of sugar bounties, London, 1887-1888, and as senior delegate in the Algeciras International Conference on Moroccan affairs. Ambassador White is a member of the Union Club at the Cercle de la Rue Royale, Paris; Metropolitan Club, Washington; Knickerbocker Club, New York City; the Marlborough, Bachelors, Athenæum, Automobile and Beefsteak Clubs, London, and the Maryland Club of Baltimore. He is a citizen of Newport, R. I. He married in New York City, Dec. 3, 1879, Margaret Stuyvesant Rutherford. Address: American Embassy, Paris, France.

WHITE, Israel C.:

State geologist of West Virginia; born in Monongalia County, W. Va., Nov. 1, 1848. He was graduated from the West Virginia University in 1872, with the degree of A.M., and received the degree of Ph.D. from the University of Arkansas. He took a post-graduate course in geology at Columbia, and was assistant geologist of the Second Geological Survey of Pennsylvania, 1875-1884, being the author of eight reports of the same. Mr. White was professor of geology at the West Virginia University, 1877-1892, and was assistant geologist of the U. S. Geological Survey, 1884-1888. He resigned his position with the university to take charge of a large petroleum business, and since 1897 has been State geologist of West Virginia. He is a specialist in coal, petroleum, and natural gas, and has made valuable discoveries in connection with those products. Mr. White was treasurer of the Geological Society of America, 1892-1907; vice-president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, 1896-1897, and was a delegate to the International Geological Congress, held in St. Petersburg, in 1897, and in Paris, 1900. Mr. White was chief of the Brazilian Coal Commission, 1904-1906, and was one of the speakers at the Conference of the Governors, held at the White House, May 13, 1908. Address: Morgantown, W. Va.

WHITE, John Williams:

Professor of Greek; born in Cincinnati, Ohio, March 5, 1849; son of Rev. John Whitney White and Anna Catherine (Williams) White. He was graduated from Ohio Wesleyan University, A.B., 1868, A.M., 1871; studied three years in Germany and later in Harvard University, where he took the degree of Ph.D. in 1877. He received the honorary degrees of LL.D. from Wesleyan University in 1896, and Ohio Wesleyan University in 1905, and Litt.D. from the University of Cambridge, England, in 1900. He is a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences; honorary member of the Society for the Promotion of Hellenic Studies, and a member of the Kaiserlich Deutsches Archäologisches Institut; honorary president of the Archeological Institute of America; first chairman of the Managing Committee of the American School of Classical Studies at Athens from 1881 to 1887; editor of the Harvard Studies in Classical Philosophy, and associate editor of Classical Philology, and of The Classical Quarterly (England). He has been professor of Greek at Harvard University since 1884. Professor White is author of school and college text-books; senior editor of the College

Series of Greek Authors (thirty volumes), and author of monographs on philological and Archeological subjects. He is a member of the Royal Societies Club of London. He married, in 1871, Alice Hillyer, and they have one son and three daughters. Address: Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass.

WHITNEY, Henry Melville:

Financier; born in Boston; son of Brigadier-General James M. Whitney, and brother of the late William C. Whitney, former Secretary of the Navy. After completing his education in the Boston schools, he entered business life as clerk in a bank in Boston, but later went to New York and was in the shipping business there until 1866, when he was sent back to Boston as agent of the Metropolitan Steamship Company, which was largely engaged in the carrying of freight between Boston and New York, and in later years became the president of that company. He planned the reclamation of the marshes of the Back Bay, and the construction of a boulevard across it to prepare the way for the rapid transit system which he organized, by the consolidation of the surface traction interests of Boston in the West End Railroad Company, of which he is the head, and the change from horse to electric motive power, and also the financing and creation of the subway and elevated lines that enter into Boston's traction system. Mr. Whitney has also large interests in coal and iron properties in Canada, and has been a deep student of the trade relations of the United States, and especially the New England States with Canada, and has been very prominent as an advocate of trade reciprocity with the Dominion. He was the candidate of the Democratic party of Massachusetts for lieutenant-governor in 1905 and for governor in 1907. Address: Boston, Mass.

WIDENER, Peter A. B.:

Street railway promoter; born in Philadelphia, Nov. 13, 1834. He was graduated from the Central High School, Philadelphia. He learned the meat business and carried on a butchering establishment. Mr. Widener became actively interested in municipal politics and grew prominent in Republican party movements. He was appointed in 1873 to complete the term of John F. Mercer in the office of city treasurer. He was elected to this profitable office in 1874 and served one term; in 1875 he became associated with William L. Elkins and other capitalists in street railway interests in Philadelphia, they obtaining control of the most important railways, and eventually combining them with the Philadelphia Traction Company. The process of organization went on in their hands till all the railways were consolidated under the Union Traction Company and its successor, the Rapid Transit Company; he also acquired large interests in the street railways of New York, Chicago, Baltimore and Pittsburgh. Mr. Widener became concerned in the United Gas Improvement Company and other profitable business associations and has acquired large wealth. Having built a mansion in the northern environs of Philadelphia, he presented his large city residence at Broad Street and Girard Avenue to the city as a branch of the free library of Philadelphia, making it a memorial of his deceased wife. He married, in 1858, H. Josephine Dunton, now deceased, and he has one son. Residence: Asbbourne, Pa. Office: Land Title Building, Philadelphia.

WIEDERSEIM, Grace Gebbie:

Illustrator; born in Philadelphia, 1877; daughter of George and Mary (Fitz-Gerald) Gebbie. She received her education in the Convent of the Notre Dame, West Rittenhouse Square, Philadelphia, and Eden Hall, Torresdale, Pa. She married in Philadelphia, April 18, 1900, Theodore E. Wiederseim, Jr. She was on the staff of the New York Journal, 1901-1903; comic supplement, Pussy Pumpkin and Toodles; on the staff of the Philadelphia Press, being the originator of Bobby Blake and Dolly Drake, running 1904-1906; the New York Journal, Sancy Sissy, written by Carolyn Wells, and the Angel Child, and Just Supposin'; the New York Herald, 1908, Undiscovered Beauties; and 1909 illustrated comic series written by Margaret G. Hays, entitled: Turri-ble Tales of Kaptin Kiddo, in the North American, Philadelphia. Mrs. Wiederseim is an illustrator of children's verses appearing in the Associated Magazine by Margaret G. Hays, illustrates the covers on the Saturday Post, Ladies Home Journal, Munsey, McClures, and Associated Magazine; originator and illustrator of Campbell Soup Kids, and the designer of posters, box-tops and show cards for lithographic purposes. She illustrated the Mother Goose Book, and prints entitled: Kid Cartoons, Blow, Happy Days, Stung, Skidoo, Nothing Doing, Everybody Loves Me, and Dirty Doggie, as well as a number of picture and cut out books for children. Address: Overbrook, Pa.

WIGGIN, Frederick Holme:

Physician; born at Kingston-on-Thames, England, Dec. 24, 1853; son of Frederick and Elizabeth Sumner (Gerard) Wiggin, who were temporarily residing abroad. He is descendant of an old Norman English family to whom was granted by Henry I, the manor of Severford, near Wigginton, Oxford; also descended in the sixth generation, from Captain Thomas Wiggin, one of the founders of New Hampshire and its first colonial governor (1631-1636); also on his mother's side a grandson of James Watson Gerard, the distinguished New York lawyer. Dr. Wiggin's early life was largely spent abroad, and he was partially educated in Europe, but afterward attended General Russell's Military School at New Haven, Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N. Y., and Bellevue Hospital Medical College, whence he was graduated M.D., 1877. After competitive examination he was appointed first junior assistant surgeon to Bellevue Hospital where he served successively as senior assistant and house surgeon until 1878; then became attending surgeon to the Northeastern Dispensary. He practised medicine in Litchfield, Conn., 1880-1890, and while living there organized the Litchfield Water Company and was its president, 1888-1897. He removed to New York City in 1890, chiefly because of his desire to give special attention to abdominal and gynecological surgery, in which branches he has performed some of the most original and successful operations ever made in this field. Dr. Wiggin was examining physician to the New York Board of Education, 1893-1895; visiting gynecologist and later visiting surgeon to the City Hospital, Blackwell's Island, New York City; assistant visiting surgeon to Bellevue Hospital, 1897, and is now consulting surgeon to the City Hospital, Metropolitan Throat Hospital, and the Litchfield County (Conn.) Hospital at Winchester. He has been a trustee of the Mott Memorial Medical and Surgical Library since 1897. Dr. Wiggin has written numerous articles on abdominal surgery, gynecology and other medical subjects which have been read before medical societies and published in medical journals. He was formerly president of the Litchfield County Medical Association, the Alumni Society of Bellevue Hospital, the New York County Medical Association and the New York State Medical Association; is a member and was formerly a vice-president of the American Medical Association; is an honorary member of the Litchfield County Medical Association, Connecticut Medical Society, Vermont Medical Association and the Congress of German Surgeons, Berlin. He is a member of the Delta Phi fraternity, Civil Service Reform Association, New York Zoölogical Society, Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York Academy of Sciences, the New York Academy of Medicine and the Union League Club. He married, first, June 12, 1878, Abby Fiske Merriam, by whom he has two sons and two daughters; and married, second, March 14, 1907, Christina Orr, of Glasgow, Scotland, by whom he has one daughter. Address: 55 West 36th Street, New York City.

WIGGIN, Kate Douglas (Mrs. George C. Riggs):

Author; born in Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 28, 1859; daughter of Robert N. Smith, a lawyer. She was educated in the common schools and Abbott Academy, Andover, Mass. She married, first, 1880, Samuel B. Wiggin, lawyer of San Francisco (died 1889) and second, in 1895 George C. Riggs of New York City. In 1876 she went to California to study kindergarten methods; and in 1878 organized the Silver Street Kindergarten in San Francisco. In 1880, organized (with her sister Nora A. Smith) the California Kindergarten Training School, but after marriage gave up teaching and removed to the East. In 1878 she produced her first literary work, a short story, called Half a Dozen Housekeepers. She is also author of: The Birds' Christmas Carol, 1888; The Story of Patsy, 1889; Timothy's Quest, 1890; Children's Rights, 1892; A Cathedral Courtship, 1893; Marm Lisa, 1894; Village Watch Tower, 1895; Nine Love Songs and a Carol, 1896; Penelope's Experiences in England, Ireland and Scotland, 1893; The Diary of a Goose Girl, 1902; Rebecca, 1903; Rose o' the River, 1905; New Chronicles of Rebecca, 1907; The Old Peabody Pew, 1907; Susanna and Sue, 1909. She also wrote, in collaboration with sister, Nora A. Smith; Golden Numbers; The Posy Ring; Pinafore Palace Poems; The Fairy Ring; Magic Casements; Tales of Wonder, and Tales of Laughter, for The Library of Children's Classics. Bowdoin College conferred upon her the honorary degree of Doctor of Letters, borne only by one other woman, Sarah Orne Jewett. Address: 165 West 58th Street, New York City, and Quillcote, Hollis, Me.

WIGGINS, J. Carleton:

Artist; born in Turners, N. Y., March 4, 1848; son of Guy Carleton and Adelaide (Ludlum) Wiggins. He studied in the schools of the National Academy of Design in New York City, in 1870, and afterward in Paris, and was a pupil of George Inness. He has exhibited paintings in the Paris Salon, the Royal Academy Exhibition in London, etc., and many other exhibitions in Europe as well as in the United States, and is distinguished for his painting of cattle pieces and pastoral landscapes. He was made an associate of the National Academy of Design, in 1892, and an academician in 1906. He is a member of the American Water Color Society. Address: 1091 Dean Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

WIGHTMAN, Charles Addison:

Real estate; born in Kenosha, Wis., Oct. 11, 1861; son of Addison Porter and Sarah Jane (Richards) Wightman. He was prepared in Evanston High School and was graduated from Northwestern University Evanston, Ill., Ph.B. He was editor of the Northwestern, May-June, 1885; has been engaged in the real estate and loan business in Evanston since graduation; and was alderman of City of Evanston, 1896-1898. He is president of the Lincoln Consolidated Mining Company of Arizona; treasurer of University Art Shop, Incorporated. In politics he is a Democrat, and he is a member of the Presbyterian Church. He is a Mason and Knight Templar; a member of the Illinois Athletic Club of Chicago, and the Evanston Club of Evanston. Mr. Wightman married in Evanston, Ill., March 28, 1894, Cecilia Agnes Daley, and they have four children: Catherine Sarah, Margaret Mary, Alice Cecilia, and Rosemary Caroline. Residence: 1725 Wesley Avenue. Office: 1606 Chicago Avenue, Evanston, Ill.

WILCOX, Reynold Webb:

Physician; born in Madison, Conn., March 29, 1856; son of Colonel Vincent Meigs of the 132 Pennsylvania Volunteers, and Catherine Millicent (Webb) Wilcox. He is descended on the paternal side, from William Wilcoxson, one of the original settlers of Stratford, Conn., who came to this country in 1635, and on the maternal side from Richard Webb, of Stamford, Conn., who emigrated in 1626; and both of his grandmothers were descendants of Vincent Meigs, who, in 1640, settled in East Guilford (now Madison) Conn. Dr. Wilcox was graduated from Yale College, B.A., 1878, pursued graduate studies at Hobart College, receiving the M.A. degree, 1881, was graduated from Harvard Medical School, M.D., 1881, and received the degree of LL.D., pro merito, from Maryville College, in 1892. During his senior year at Harvard he was house physician in various Boston hospitals, and he took post-graduate courses in Vienna, Heidelberg, Paris and Edinburgh, 1881-1882. Since then he has practised medicine in New York City, served as house surgeon at the Woman's Hospital for a term, and has since been in private practice. He has been professor of medicine in the New York Post Graduate School and Hospital, 1890-1908; is president of the Medical Board and visiting physician to St. Mark's Hospital and consulting physician to the Nassau Hospital. He is author of standard text-books on Materia Medica and on Therapeutics, both of which are now in their Seventh editions; The Treatment of Disease, a Manual of Practical Medicine (two editions); Fever Nursing (two editions); and many papers and monographs, and for several years has been therapeutic editor of The American Journal of the Medical Sciences. He is also author of a genealogical work entitled: The Descendants of William Wilcoxson, Vincent Meigs and Richard Webb, and of a historical volume entitled: Madison: Her Soldiers. Dr. Wilcox is a member of the American Academy of Medicine, American Association for the Advancement of Science; American Therapeutic Society (past president), Society of Medical Jurisprudence, the Medical Association of the Greater City of New York, Harvard Medical Society (past president); honorary member of the Connecticut State Medical Society, Accademia Fisico-Chimica Italiana, District of Columbia Therapeutic Society and the Tri-County Medical Society and a life member of the Harvard Medical Alumni Association. He is president of the American Pharmacologic Society; and is a member of the Society of Colonial Wars, Sons of the Revolution, Society of the War of 1812 (vice-president general of the General Society and vice-president of the Pennsylvania Society), the Sons of Veterans, of which he was formerly surgeon-general, and the Metropolitan Club of New York City. Address: 679 Madison Avenue, New York City.

WILDER, Amos Parker:

Consul-general; born at Calais, Me., Feb. 15, 1862; son of Dr. Amos and Charlotte (Porter) Wilder. He entered Yale College, from which he was graduated in the class of 1884, and he received from Yale University, in 1891, the honorary degree of REYNOLD WEBB WILCOX, M. D.

Ph.D. After leaving college he entered upon newspaper life, and he became the editor of The Palladium, at New Haven, Conn., 1888-1892, and after that was editorial writer. In 1894 he removed to Madison, Wis., where he was editor of the Wisconsin State Journal, 1894-1906, then appointed by President Roosevelt consul-general of the United States at Hong Kong, China. He married, Dec. 3, 1894, Isabel T. Niven, of Dobbs Ferry, N. Y. Address: American Consulate-General, Hong Kong, China.

WILLETS, Elmore Abram:

Farmer, banker, oil producer; born in Bradford, Pa., Sept. 8, 1861; son of Isaac and Harriet (Ayres) Willets; grandson of Abram and Henrietta (Frost) Willets, who emigrated from Long Island to Aurora, N. Y., in 1825. He was educated in the Phillips Andover Academy; was graduated from Yale University in 1884. He was president of the Citizens' National Bank of Wellsville, N. Y., for ten years, resigning in 1905; was vice-president of the Gardner Convertible Steam and Gas Engine Company, Washington, Pa., resigning in 1906; is administrator of the Isaac Willets Estate, which is one of the largest land holding estates in New York State. He is president of the State Bank of Belmont; director of the Citizens' National Bank, of Wellsville, N. Y., the Real Estate Trust Company of Washington, Pennsylvania; Gardner Convertible Steam and Gas Engine Company, and the Commercial Insurance Company, of Buffalo. He is a member of the Willets Oil Company, the National Geographic Society, National Municipal League, of the American Civic Association, the Pennsylvania Forestry Association; American Academy of Political and Social Science, American Forestry Association; trustee of the Western New York Society for the Protection of Homeless and Dependent Children, and a member of the Civic Club of Pittsburgh, Pa.; the Pittsburgh Club of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh Country Club, and the University and St. Anthony Clubs of New York City. Address: Belmont, N. Y.

WILLIAMS, Francis Churchill:

Writer and editor; born in Philadelphia, 1869; son of Francis Howard and Mary B. (Houston) Williams. He was educated in Germantown Academy, University of Pennsylvania, 1887-1891, receiving various honors as an undergraduate in English literature, philosophy and oratory. He was a reporter to the Philadelphia Times, 1888-1891; assistant editor of the University Extension Movement, 1891-1892, news editor and editorial writer of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, 1891-1901; literary advisor of J. B. Lippincott Company, 1901-1906; associate editor of the Saturday Evening Post since 1906; correspondent of Harper's Weekly, and the New York Evening Post, and a contributor of stories, articles and criticisms to Scribner's Magazine, World's Work, Nation, the Saturday Evening Post, and leading magazines and reviews. He is author of: J. Devlin—Boss (a novel), Stories of the Colleges, and The Captain (a novel). Mr. Williams was the founder, and for several years one of the officers of the Franklin Inn Club, member of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, Welcome Society, Sons of the Revolution, Delta Phi fraternity, and the Players' Club of New York, and the Germantown Cricket Club. He married in San Francisco, Calif., May 5, 1897, Grace Young of San Francisco, and they have one son. Residence: 158 West Coulter Street, Germantown, Philadelphia. Office: Saturday Evening 425 Arch Street, Philadelphia.

WILLIAMS, Roger Butler:

Manufacturer; born in Ithaca, N. Y., May 8, 1848; son of Josiah B. and Mary (Hardy) Williams. He was graduated from Yale College, A.M., 1868. He is proprietor of the business of Williams Brothers, manufacturers of machinery; also president of the First National Bank and the Ithaca Savings Bank. He is a trustee of Cornell University; president of the Cornell Library Association; manager of the State Agricultural and Industrial School of Rochester, N. Y.; trustee of the Ithaca City Hospital Association; president of the Board of Education of Ithaca, N. Y. Mr. Williams is a Republican and a Presbyterian. He is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society and the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity; of the Alpha Delta Phi Club of New York City and the Town and Gown and Country Clubs of Ithaca, N. Y. He married in Brooklyn, N. Y., Dec. 17, 1874, Caroline L. Romer, and they have one son. Address: Ithaca, N. Y.

WILLIS, Henry Augustus:

Banker; born in Fitchburg, Mass., Nov. 26, 1830; son of Samuel and Cynthia (Meriam) Willis; grandson Hopestill and Olive Smith Willis, and of John and Dinah (Hudson) Meriam, and a descendant from Joseph Meriam, Concord, 1636, and from George Willis, New Towne (Cambridge), 1626. He was brought up in Fitchburg, where he attended the public schools. His father died in 1843, and he completed his school training in Lawrence Academy and at Groton. In 1852 he became a clerk in the Rollstone Bank in Fitchburg and serving as such for several years, he was elected cashier and in 1878 became its president, holding that office until 1904. He is also treasurer of the Worcester North Savings Institution, having held that office from its organization in 1868. He is president of the Fitchburg and Leominster Street Railway Company, and a director in several successful manufacturing concerns. He represented his district in the General Court of Massachusetts in 1866; was first president of the Common Council of Fitchburg in 1873, and he served as treasurer of the city for seventeen years up to 1890. He assisted in organizing the Burbank Hospital in 1891, and has been treasurer from its organization. He was made a trustee of the Public Library in 1863, was chairman of its board from 1892, and was president of the Fitchburg Historical Society from its organization in 1892 to 1902, when he resigned. He has served as justice of the peace from 1861 up to the present time. He was adjutant of the Fifty-third Regiment of Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry, 1862-1863, taking an active part in the Battle of Port Hudson, and other engagements, and after the close of the Civil War he served in the State Militia, on the staff of General R. H. Chamberlain with the rank of captain. He is author of: Fitchburg in the War of the Rebellion, 1866; and the History of the 53d Regiment of Massachusetts Volunteers, 1889, and also various historical papers; is a member of the Grand Army of the Republic, companion in the Military Order of the Loyal Legion; member of the General Society of Colonial Wars, and the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution. Address: 138 Pritchard Street, Fitchburg, Mass.

WILLSON, August Everett:

Governor of Kentucky; born in Maysville, Ky., Oct. 13, 1846; son of Hiram and Ann Colvin (Ennis) Willson. He was educated in Alfred (N. Y.) University and Harvard, A.B., 1869, A.M., 1872; was a student in Harvard Law School and also studied law in offices. He was chief clerk of the Treasury Department, 1875-1876; four times Republican nominee for Congress from the Fifth District of Kentucky. He frequently represented Kentucky in National and other Republican conventions, and was elected on the Republican ticket, in 1907, governor of Kentucky for the four-year term expiring in Dec., 1911. He married, July 23, Mary Elizabeth Ekin. Home address: Louisville, Ky. Office: Frankfort, Ky.

WILSON, Alonzo Edes:

Editor and lecturer; born in Madison, Wis., Feb. 5, 1868; son of James Voorhis and Charlotte A. (Plantz) Wilson. He received his education in Chicago schools. He engaged in newspaper business and editorial work on the St. Paul Times, 1886; Chicago Lever, 1890-1895; secretary and treasurer, 1891-1903, and chairman, 1903-1910 of the Illinois Prohibition State Committee, and is president of the Lincoln Temperance Press, general manager of the Lincoln Temperance Chautauquas; was secretary of six State and three national conventions, candidate for clerk of the Appellate Court of Cook County, Chicago, 1890, receiving the largest vote ever given; was candidate for Secretary of State, 1896, and in 1904 elected a member of the house of representatives of the Illinois General Assembly. Mr. Wilson is author of: Prohibition Handbook, 1900, and the American Pro-Year Book, 1901, 1902, 1904, 1905, 1907, 1908, 1909-1910. He is treasurer of the Methodist Temperance Society, member of the National Geographical Society, and the City Club of Chicago. He married in Rockford, Ill., June 14, 1897, Anna Marie Nelson, and has two daughters and a son. Residence: Wheaton, Ill. Office: 92 La Salle Street, Chicago.

WILSON, H. Augustus:

Physician; born in Philadelphia, in 1853; son of Henry H. and Mary E. (Lewis) Wilson. Dr. Wilson was educated in private schools in Philadelphia, and received the degree of M.D. from Jefferson Medical College, in 1879, and the honorary degree of A.M. from Ursinus College. He is professor of orthopedic surgery in Jefferson Medical College, emeritus professor of orthopedic surgery in the Philadelphia Polyclinic, orthopedic surgeon to Jefferson, St. Agnes, and Philadelphia General Hospitals, and is consulting orthopedic surgeon to the Philadelphia Lying-in and Charity Hospitals, Kensington Hospital for Women, and the House of Refuge for Girls. He is a member of the Philadelphia County Medical Society, the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania, the American Medical Association, and a fellow of the Philadelphia Academy of Surgery, the College of Physicians, and the American Orthopedic Association. ; and a member of the University Club of Philadelphia. Dr. Wilson married in Philadelphia, in 1882, Judith Stoutenberg Davids, and they have two children. Address: 1611 Spruce Street, Philadelphia.

WILSON, Harry R.:

Jurist; born at Clarion, Pa., Sept. 3, 1864; son of Theophilus S. and Amanda (Lowry) Wilson. He was graduated from Lafayette College in the class of 1884; admitted to the bar in 1886, and practised his profession at Clarion until he was elected president judge of the Eighteenth Judicial District of Pennsylvania in 1901. He was a delegate to the Republican National Convention at St. Louis, 1896, and a Presidential elector in 1900. Since 1890 he has been interested with Mr. George Wagner (who has had the active management of the business) in manufacturing and distributing lumber in Pennsylvania, Washington and Nova Scotia. He married at Elmira, N. Y., in 1894, Hattie D. Critchlow, New York; and they have had four children, one now deceased. Address: Clarion, Pa.

WILSON, James:

U. S. Secretary of Agriculture; born in Ayrshire, Scotland, Aug. 16, 1835. In 1852 he came to the United States with his parents who settled in Connecticut, and three years later went to Tama, Iowa. He was educated in the public schools and in Iowa College, and he received the degree of LL.D. from the University of Wisconsin, 1904, and from the University of Missouri, 1902. He served three terms as member and one term as speaker of the Iowa Legislature. He was a member of the Iowa State Railway Commission, 1877-1883; member of the Fifty-third and Fifty-fourth Congresses; regent of the State University of Iowa, 1870-1874; and he was director of the Agricultural Experiment Station and professor of Agriculture in Iowa Agricultural College at Ames, Iowa, 1890-1897; appointed, March 5, 1897, Secretary of Agriculture of the United States, in which office he has been continued by successive quadrennial appointments. Home: Traer, Tama County, Iowa. Official address: Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

WILSON, James Grant:

Author, editor; born in Edinburgh, April 28, 1832; son of William and Jane (Sibbald) Wilson. He was educated in College Hill, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and private tutors. He traveled in Europe and in 1857 established The Chicago Record, a literary journal which was discontinued in 1864. He entered the Union Army as major of the 15th Illinois Cavalry serving in the Vicksburg and other campaigns until July, 1865, when he resigned with the rank of brigadier-general. Since 1865 General Wilson has been engaged in literary pursuits in New York City. He edited the Memorial History of the City of New York, Appletons Cyclopædia of America Biography, and the Great Commanders Series. He is author of various works including The Life of General Grant, Bryant and His Friends, Thackery in the United States as well as many other books on historical literary and biographical subjects and articles in magazines and is a lecturer and public speaker. He is president of the American Ethnological Society, vice-president of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals; member of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion and Athenæum Club of London. General Wilson married in 1869, Miss Cogswell, who died in 1904, and married in 1907 Mrs. Mary H. Nicholson. Address: 157 West 72d Street, New York City.

WILSON, Thomas Emmet:

Lawyer; born in Putnam Valley, N. Y., Oct. 1, 1847; son of Hugh C. Wilson and Mary F. (Wardell) Wilson. He was educated in the public schools and at the Peekskill Military Academy of Peekskill, N. Y. He was admitted to the bar in Brooklyn, N. Y., in December, 1868, and has since then been actively engaged in the practice of law in Florida. He was State's attorney for the Seventh Judicial District of Florida, 1873-1877, county solicitor for Orange County, Florida, 1873-1877, for Volusia County, Florida, 1874-1877, and for Brevard County, Florida, from 1875 to 1877. He procured the charter for and became attorney, 1879, of the South Florida Railroad, then the most Southern railroad in the United States, and General U. S. Grant turned the first shovel of earth on its construction in March, 1880; procured the charter for and became attorney of the Florida Midland Railway in March, 1883. He became attorney for the Orange Belt Railway in June, 1886, and procured an extension of the charter to build to St. Petersburg, Fla., and to Sanford, Fla., and proured a charter for the Sanford and St. Petersburg Railroad; was vice-president and general counsel and a director of the Orange Belt Railway, from 1889 to 1893, and general counsel and a director of the Sanford and St. Petersburg Railroad from 1893 to 1895. He procured charters of incorporation for Sanford, Fla., and St. Petersburg, Fla., both thriving towns and at different times has been their attorney; and he was postmaster at Sanford, 1877-1880. Mr. Wilson has traveled around the world, and in 1870 went to Australia and New Zealand and to the borders of the Antarctic Ocean, sailing around the Cape of Good Hope, Cape Lemwin and islands south of New Zealand. He is a Republican in politics. He is a charter member of the Orange County (Florida) Bar Association; and he was vice-president of the Florida Bar Association. He married at Sylvan Lake, Fla., July 9, 1900, Lizzie Anna Fox. Since his marriage he has devoted his time to the general practice of his profession and to real estate, and is one of the largest individual property owners in Sanford, and in Orange County, Florida. Address: Sanford, Fla.

WILSON, Woodrow:

President of Princeton University; born at Staunton, Va., Dec. 28, 1856; son of Joseph Ruggles and Jessie (Woodrow) Wilson. He received his preparatory education in the private schools of Augusta, Ga., and Columbia, S. C., later studying for a time at Davidson (North Carolina) College. In 1875 he entered Princeton University, graduating four years later with the degree of A.B. Thence he continued his studies at the University of Virginia, studying law, and passed the bar examinations in 1883. He received the degree of Ph.D. from Johns Hopkins University in 1886, and the honorary degree of LL.D. from Wake Forest College in 1887, Tulane University in 1898, Johns Hopkins University in 1901, Rutgers College in 1902, the University of Pennsylvania in 1903, Brown University, 1903; Harvard University, 1907; and the honorary degree of Litt.D. was conferred upon him by Yale University in 1901. In 1882 he went to Atlanta Ga., where he practised law for a year, and in 1885 became professor of history and political economy at Bryn Mawr College. In 1888 he resigned from this position to accept a similar one in Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn., where he remained for two years. He was lecturer at Johns Hopkins University, 1887-1898. In 1890 he resigned his position at Wesleyan University to accept the chair of jurisprudence and politics in Princeton University, which he held until his election to the presidency of that university in 1902. He is also ex-officio trustee of Princeton. In politics Dr. Wilson is affiliated with the Democratic party and was urged for the Presidential nomination in 1908. He is a member of the American Historical Association, the American Economic Association, the American Academy of Political and Social Science, the American Political Science Association, the American Philosophical Society, honorary member of the Massachusetts Historical Society; also a member of the Century and University Clubs of New York. He married at Savannah, Ga., June 24, 1885, Ellen Louise Axson, and has three daughters. Address: Princeton, N. J.

LOUIS WINDMULLER
Merchant

WINDMULLER, Louis:

Merchant; born in Westphalia, 1835. He was educated in the Gymnasium Carolinum of Munster; emigrated to the United States in 1853; since then a resident of New York City, where he became a successful merchant. He has been associated with, and took part in founding the Title Guarantee and Trust Company, Bond and Mortgage Guarantee Company, the German American Insurance Company, the German Alliance Insurance Company, and the South Manhattan Realty Company and is director of most of these; is president of the Maiden Lane Savings Bank; one of the founders and since 1889 treasurer of the Reform Club. He arranged in 1888 for the benefit of the German Hospital an exhibition of paintings which was greatly appreciated and became highly remunerative. As chairman of the German American Committee he formed, assisted by Joseph Keppler, in 1889 a successful industrial parade for the Centennial Celebration of Washington's Inauguration. Mr. Windmuller took an active part in the election of William L. Strong as reform mayor. As treasurer of the German American Cleveland Union he furthered Cleveland's election to his second term of office. His article in the North American Review, "A Strike for lower Wages," a convincing plea for sound currency became an effective argument for McKinley's first election. 1908 he helped as Chairman of the German American Hughes Alliance to elect Mr. Hughes as Governor of the State of New York. He has been indefatigable in advocacy of a sound currency, a revenue tariff and civil service reform. He is a managing director of the Board of Trade and Transportation; member of the Chamber of Commerce and formerly chairman of its Committee on Internal Trade and Improvements, and of the executive committee for widening the State Canals, as a member of which he agitated successfully for the amendment of the Constitution which authorizes the Legislature to make the necessary appropriations. He was an active member of the Business Men's Relief Committee, and belongs to numerous charitable institutions, notably the Legal Aid Society. This society of which he is treasurer helps gratuitously the wronged poor to their rights. He has arranged for its benefit several musical entertainments, of which a concert, given by Ignace Paderewski and Madame Sembrich in May, 1908, was the most successful. As vice-president of the Heine Monument Society, he helped to secure for the Loreley fountain a suitable place in Bronx Park. In 1909 the 150 citizens of Queens Borough who were appointed to assist in the Hudson-Fulton celebration, elected him chairman and he chartered the Steamer Montauk to take part in the Naval Parade. Mr. Windmuller is a frequent contributor to magazines and newspapers on various topics. He is a member of the Germanistic Society, Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York Historical Society (life member), Arion Society, St. Mark's Hospital, German Society, American Scenic Preservation Society and the Merchants, Lotos, Underwriters, Press, National Arts and New York Athletic Club. An indefatigable pedestrian, he walks several hours a day for the benefit of his health. Residence: Woodside, Borough of Queens, where he enjoys, in a commodious home, the possession of a fine art collection and a well-selected library. Address: 20 Reade Street, New York City.

WINDSOR, Phineas Lawrence:

Librarian; born in Illinois in 1871; son of John Alexander and Amy (Arnold) Windsor. He was graduated from Northwestern University, Ph.B., 1895; studied at the New York State Library School, Albany, N. Y., 1897-1898 and in 1898-1899 and at the Albany Law School, 1899-1900. He was assistant in the New York State Library, 1899-1900; of the Library of Congress, 1900-1903; librarian of the University of Texas, at Austin, 1903-1909; and librarian and director of the library school of the University of Illinois, since the summer of 1909. He is editor of the Handbook of Texas Libraries, 1904. Mr. Windsor is a member of the Texas Academy of Science, Texas State Historical Association, American Library Association, Bibliographical Society of America, the Delta Tau Delta fraternity, and of the University Club of Austin, Texas. He married, in Lockport, N. Y., Jan. 1, 1901, Margaret Fursman Boynton, and they have two children: Margaret and Mary Frances. Residence: 704 S. Lincoln Avenue, Urbana, Ill. Office: University of Illinois Library, Urbana, Ill.

WING, Asa S.:

President of the Provident Life and Trust Company of Philadelphia. He has been connected with this company since 1867 and is one of the best known bank officials in Philadelphia. Address: Fourth and Chestnut Street, Philadelphia.

WINTER, William:

Author and dramatic reviewer; born in Gloucester, Mass., July 15, 1836; son of Captain Charles and Louisa (Wharff) Winter. He was educated in Boston and Cambridge Schools and Harvard Law School, and received from Harvard University the degree of LL.B. and Litt. Doc. from Brown University. He was lecturer and political speaker in 1856; writer for the press, poet, essayist, traveler, editor and biographer, and first visited England in 1877. He founded the Arthur Winter Memorial Library in 1886. His favorite recreations are the study of Shakespeare, antiquarian research and travel. He was dramatic reviewer for the New York Tribune from 1865 until he resigned the position in August, 1909. He is author of: Shakespeare's England; Gray Days and Gold; Old Shrines and Ivy; Brown Heath and Blue Bells; Wanderers, being the poems of William Winter; Shadows of the Stage; Life and Art of Edwin Booth; Life and Art of Joseph Jefferson; Orations by William Winter; Life of John Gilbert; Brief Chronicles; The Actor and other Speeches; The Stage and the Press; The Stage Life of Mary Anderson; Henry Irving; A Wreath of Laurel; George William Curtis; Life of John McCullough; Life of Ada Rehan. Mr. Winter is a member of the Lotos Club, New York, and Bohemian Club, San Francisco. He married, in 1860, Elizabeth Campbell, of the the Campbells, formerly of Ederline, Loch Awe, North Britain, and they have two sons and one daughter. He has a winter home, Ederline Cottage at Mentone, Calif. Address: 17 Third Avenue, Fort Hill, New Brighton, N. Y.

WINTHROP, Beekman:

Assistant secretary of the Navy; born in Orange, N. J., Sept. 18, 1874; son of Robert and Kate Wilson (Taylor) Winthrop. He was graduated from Harvard University, A.B., 1897, and Harvard Law School, LL.B., 1900, (cum laude). He was private secretary to Hon. William H. Taft, president of the Philippine Commission in 1900; assistant executive secretary of the Philippine Islands, 1900-1903; judge of the Court of First Instance, Philippine Islands, 1903-1904; governor of Porto Rico, from July 4, 1904, to April 18, 1907; assistant secretary of the Treasury April 23, 1907 to March, 1909, when upon the incoming of the Taft Administration he was appointed assistant secretary of the Navy. He is corresponding member of the Massachusetts Historical Society, and a member of the Knickerbocker, University, and Harvard Clubs of New York City. He married, in New York City, Oct. 3, 1903, Melza Riggs Wood. Address Navy Department, Washington, D. C.

WISTER, Owen:

Author; born in Philadelphia, July 14, 1860; son of Owen Jones Wister and a descendant of Thomas Wynne, who emigrated to Pennsylvania as one of the companions of William Penn. He was educated at St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H., 1873-1878, and subsequently at Harvard University, where he was graduated, A.B., 1882, and receiving A.M. and LL.B. in 1888. He was admitted to practise at the Philadelphia bar in 1889; his practice continued only until 1891, when he left the law to engage in the pursuit of literature, which he has since followed. Author of: The Dragon of Wantley; His Tail, 1892; Red Men and White, 1896; Lin McLean, 1898; The Jimmy John Boss, 1900; U. S. Grant, a Biography, 1900; The Virginian, 1902; Philosophy Four, 1903; Lady Baltimore, 1906; The Simple Spelling Bee, 1907; also many magazine contributions in prose and verse. He married, in 1898, Mary, daughter of William Wister. Address: 913 Pine Street, Philadelphia.

WOLF, Henry:

Artist engraver; born in Eckwersheim, Alsace, Aug. 3, 1852; son of Simon and Pauline (Ettinger) Wolf. He was educated in the schools of Eckwersheim and Strasbourg, Alsace; and at the age of fifteen he began his apprenticeship to mechanical engineering, but later took up drawing and engraving on wood, and studied in the atelier of Jacques Levy, an artist engraver. He came to the United States in 1871; practised first in Albany and then worked in New York City; attended the life class at the evening art school at Cooper Union, 1873-1875; and in 1877 began work on his own account and contributed to Harper's Magazine and the Century Magazine. He has engraved paintings by Gérôme, Breton, Cazin, Morot, Dagnan-Bouveret, Benjamin-constant, Meissonier, Israels, Diaz, Corot, Gilbert, Stuart, Cecilia Beaux, Wyant, Sargent, Wiles, Thayer, Eastman Johnson, Harrison, Homer, Ranger, Inness, Giffard, Martin, Whistler, Low, Brush, Alexander, Weir, Menzel, Lenbach, and many others. He has published original engravings: The Morning Star, 1897; The Evening Star, 1903; A Duck Pond, 1906, Morning Mists, 1908 (edition of one hundred proofs on Japan paper). He also published a portrait of Thomas Jefferson, after the painting by Charles Wilson Peale, in the Independence Hall, Philadelphia; Portrait of Thomas Carlyle, after Whistler; My Mother, from the Luxembourg Gallery, Paris, after Whistler; Miss Alexander, after Whistler, 1907; Portrait of Robert Louis Stevenson, 1909. Engraved from the Metropolitan Museum of Art five masterpieces: "Young Women at the Window," after Jan van der Meer of Delft, 1907; "Boy with a Sword," after Edouard Manet, 1908; "Don Balthazar Carlos," after Velasquez, 1908; "Portrait of a Girl," after Ambrozio de Predis, 1908; "The Idle Student," after Thomas Couture, 1908. He engraved for private use portraits of William T. Evans, Louis Stern, Joseph Pulitzer, Mr. Hearn, R. A. Canfield, Esq., after painting by Whistler, of each of which a limited edition of proofs on Japan paper were printed for presentation to friends of the subjects; for several years he has been engraving a Series of Women for Harper's Magazine, and executing private orders, reproducing paintings for collectors and family portraits. He received honorable mention in 1888, and a gold medal in 1895 from Paris Salon; honorable mention at the Paris Exposition in 1889, silver medal from the Paris Exposition in 1900; silver medal from the Exposition des Beaux Arts, Rouen, France, 1903; medal from the World's Columbian Exposition, in 1893; diploma and grand prize awarded by the International Superior Jury, Louisiana Purchase Exposition, in 1904. He was a member of the jury for the Paris Expositions of 1889 and 1900; the jury of admissions and awards, Pan-American Exposition, Buffalo, 1901; member of Advisory Committee and of International Jury of Awards, Louisiana Purchase Exposition, 1904; associate academician of the National Academy of Design, 1905; academician, 1908; member of the International Society of Sculptors, Painters and Gravers of London, England; Alliance Française; artist member of Lotus Club; member of the Union des Beaux Arts et des Lettres, Paris, France. Mr. Wolf married in New York City, Sept. 25, 1875, Rose Massée, and they have two children: Hamilton Achille and Austin Massée. Address: 14 East 87th Street, New York City.

WOOD, Leonard:

Major-general, U. S. Army; born at Winchester, N. H., Oct. 9, 1860; son of Charles Jewett and Caroline H. (Hagar) Wood. He was graduated from Harvard Medical School, M.D., 1884. On Jan. 5, 1886, he received appointment as first lieutenant and assistant surgeon, U. S. Army, and was with the campaign in Arizona, under General Miles, against the Apaches under Geronimo and Natchez. In this campaign, during the first summer of his army service, and a few months after his appointment, he combined the duties of medical and line officer and was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor. On the breaking out of the War with Spain, he recruited and organized the First Regiment of the United States Volunteer Cavalry (the celebrated "Rough Riders" regiment), of which he was commissioned colonel, serving with the regiment in Cuba, and being promoted brigadier-general, U. S. Volunteers, June 8, 1898, for gallant and meritorious services at the battles of Las Guasimas and San Juan Hill. He was promoted major-general, U. S. Volunteers, Dec. 8, 1898. He served as such to April 13, 1899, when he was mustered out and again appointed brigadier-general. He served as military governor of Santiago de Cuba, in the province of the same name, and Puerto Principe until Dec., 1899, when he was appointed major-general, U. S. Volunteers, and assigned to duty, Dec. 14, 1899, as military governor of Cuba. The conditions called for careful and at the same time resourceful administration, and involved many questions that were without precedent in the establishing of an orderly government. The duties devolving upon General Wood were ably performed and culminated in the turning over of the government of Cuba to the elected President of that Republic in May 20, 1902. During this time the island was put in a thoroughly sanitary condition and the great work in connection with yellow fever begun and accomplished. In the meantime General Wood had been appointed brigadier-general, U. S. Army, Feb. 4, 1901, and on June 30, 1901, was honorably discharged from the Volunteer Service. After leaving Cuba, and some special duties in Washington, General Wood was sent to the Philippine Islands, and July 15, 1903, was appointed governor of Moro Province, and Aug. 6, 1903, to command of the Department of Mindanao, and his promotion to major-general, United States Army, followed, Aug. 8, 1903. Under his command the work of pacification of the turbulent Moros was successfully accomplished, and in 1906 he was assigned to duty as major-general commanding the Philippines Division, with headquarters at Manila. In 1908 he returned to the United States and was assigned to the command of the Department of the East with headquarters in New York. General Wood received the honorary degree of LL.D. from Harvard University in 1899, from Williams College in 1902, and from the University of Pennsylvania in 1903. He married in Washington, D. C., Nov. 18, 1890, Miss Louise A. Condit Smith. Address: Governor's Island, New York.

WOOLLEY, Mary Emma:

President of Mt. Holyoke College; born in South Norwalk, Conn., July 13, 1863; daughter of Joseph J. and Mary Augusta (Ferris) Woolley. She is a graduate of Wheaton Seminary, Norton, Mass., 1884, Brown University, A.B., 1894, and A.M., 1895; received the honorary degree of Litt. D. in 1900, and LL.D. from Amherst College in 1900. She was instructor in mathematics, Latin and history at Wheaton Seminary, 1886-1891; instructor at Wellesley College in biblical history, 1895-1896; associate professor, 1896-1899; professor, 1899-1900; and president of Mt. Holyoke College since 1900. She is author of: The History of the Passover Scandal, 1893; The Early History of the Colonial Post Office, 1894; Development of the Love of Romantic Scenery in America, 1896; also many articles. Dr. Woolley is a member of the American Association for Maintaining a Woman's Table at the Zoölogical Station at Naples, Rhode Island Society for Collegiate Education of Women, College Entrance Examination Board, Society of Biblical Literature and Exegesis; is a senator of the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa, Board of Electors of the Hall of Fame, Northeastern Territorial Committee, National Board of the Young Women's Christian Association; vice-president of the American Peace Society; trustee American International College, Pawtucket Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, and a member of the Boston College, New England Wheaton Seminary, Pawtucket Woman's Hellenic Travelers', Lyceum (London), and the Springfield College Clubs. She is a corporate member of the American Board; a Director of the Women's Educational and Industrial Union, Boston; member of Advisory Board of Vocation Bureau; Advisory Committee of American-Scandinavian Society; Honorary Vice President of Massachusetts Woman's Suffrage League; Honorary Vice President of National Consumer's League; a Vice President of the Third National Congress of the Play Ground Association of America; member of the Honorary Council of the Auxiliary Association of the American College for Girls at Constantinople; honorary member of the Salem Society for the Higher Education of Women and of "Sorosis." Address: Mt. Holyoke College, South Hadley, Mass.

WRIGHT, Charles Fred:

Banker and manufacturer; born at Forest Lake, Susquehanna County, Pa., May 3, 1856; son of Chester and Julia A. (Nickerson) Wright. He was educated in Montrose Academy, at Montrose, Pa. He became cashier of the First National Bank of Susquehanna Depot, Pa., and later became identified with manufacturing interests. He was a delegate to the National Republican Convention at St. Louis in 1896. He was elected in 1898 to the Fifty-sixth Congress and reëlected in 1900 and 1902 to the Fifty-seventh and Fifty-eighth Congresses. He married Minnie M. Miller, and has two children: Florence and Miller. Address: Susquehanna, Pa.

WRIGHT, Francis Marion:

U. S. district judge; born at Brier Ridge, Adams County, Ohio, Aug. 5, 1844; son of James and Eliza (Copples) Wright. He served in the Thirty-ninth Ohio Volunteers as private and second lieutenant from 1861 to 1865. He was graduated from the Cincinnati College Law School, LL.B., 1867, and was admitted to the bar; practised at Georgetown, Ohio, until 1868, and then removed to Urbana, Ill., where he practised law. He was elected judge of the Fourth Judicial Circuit of Illinois, 1891-1897, was assigned to the Appellate Court in 1897, serving in that court until 1903, when he was appointed by President Roosevelt judge of the United States Court of Claims. He continued in that office until appointed, by President Roosevelt, to his present office as judge of the District Court for the Eastern District of Illinois. He is president of the First National Bank of Urbana, Ill., and is member of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion. Judge Wright married at Deatur, Ohio, July 15, 1868, Elizabeth West. Address: Urbana, Ohio.

WRIGHT, Henry John:

Journalist; born in Glasgow, Scotland, April 5, 1866; son of John and Mary (Hall) Wright. He was educated in private schools and New York University, graduating B.S., 1885, with second honors. English Salutatory. He was city editor of the Commercial Advertiser, 1889-1894; city editor of the Evening Post, 1894-1899; editor-in-chief of the Commercial Advertiser, and Globe and Commercial Advertiser since 1899. He is treasurer and director of the Commercial Advertiser Association, and member of the Phi Beta Kappa and Psi Upsilon, also the University Club. He married first in Suison, Calif., 1894, Claire Le Franc, and second in Meriden, Conn., 1906, Margaret Elizabeth Beacham, and has two children. Residence: 2 West 86th Street. Office: 7 Dey Street, New York City.

WYER, James Ingersoll:

Librarian; born in Red Wing, Minn., 1869; son of James Ingersoll and Rosabel E. (Shear) Wyer. He was educated in the Universities of Minnesota and Nebraska, New York State Library School, B.L.S., 1898, M.L.S., 1905. He engaged in banking in Minnesota and Kansas, 1884-1895, librarian in the University of Nebraska, 1898-1905, vice-director of New York State Library School, 1905-1908, and director of the New York State Library and Library School since 1908. He is author of numerous titles in bibliography and library work, member of the American Library Association, life member and secretary since 1902, and the Aurania Club of Albany. He married in Concordia, Kansas, May 3, 1894, May Tyner, and they have two children. Residence: 399 Western Avenue. Office: State Librarian Albany, N. Y.

WYMAN, Walter:

Surgeon-general of the Public Health and Marine-Hospital Service; born in St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 17, 1848; son of Edward and Elizabeth (Hadley) Wyman. He was graduated from the City University of St. Louis, 1866, Amherst College, A.B., 1870 (A.M., 1889), St. Louis Medical College, M.D., 1873, and received the honorary LL.D. degree from the Western University of Pennsylvania, 1897, and University of Maryland, 1907. He was assistant physician in St. Louis hospitals, 1873-1875, surgeon in the Marine Hospital Service, 1876-1891, in charge successively of the Marine Hospitals in St. Louis, Cincinnati, Baltimore and New York, and of the Quarantine and Purveying Divisions at the Marine Hospital Bureau in Washington; was supervising surgeon-general, Marine Hospital Service, 1891-1902, and since 1902 has been surgeon-general of the Public Health and Marine-Hospital Service. He administers the quarantine laws and establishments in the Continental United States, Alaska, Porto Rico, Hawaii and the Philippines; and has officers stationed in many foreign ports to enforce there the Treasury quarantine regulations. He has charge of 22 Marine Hospitals and 120 other relief stations, giving relief to more than 55,000 sailors of the American merchant marine, annually; has charge of the medical examination of immigrants, and prepares regulations for the same. He has been instrumental in the passage by Congress of seventeen laws now on the statute books, among which are National laws relating to quarantine; proper provision for quarters and food for seamen; governmental inspection of establishments manufacturing vaccine, serums, toxins, etc.; for the investigation of leprosy, and the establishment of a Leprosy Investigation Station on the Island of Molokai, Hawaii; the building at Washington of a Hygiene Laboratory; and for the establishment of a Bureau of Public Health, bringing the Public Health and Marine-Hospital Service into close affiliation with the scientific laboratories of the country, and with the State Boards of Health, in matters of hygiene and sanitation. Surgeon-General Wyman has given special attention to the physical conditions affecting seamen of the merchant marine, and was instrumental in having laws passed for their benefit, notably one for the relief of deck-hands on western rivers, and brought to notice cruelties imposed on crews of oyster vessels in Chesapeake Bay, and established a hospital for the latter. He originated and established the Sanatorium for consumptive Sailors at Fort Stanton, N. Mex.; and while surgeon in charge of the New York Marine Hospital, in 1885, established, with consent of the then surgeon-general a hygienic laboratory at that station, which was later removed to Washington, and declared by Congress to be for the investigation of infections and contagious diseases and matters relating to the public health. He established and is chairman of the Yellow Fever Institute of the Public Health and Marine Hospital Service. He had charge of the Government measures to ward off cholera in 1893, and to suppress epidemics of yellow fever in Brunswick, 1893, New Orleans, 1897-1898 and 1905, of smallpox in Birmingham, Ala.,

1897, and plague in San Francisco, 1900-1901, and 1907-1908. Surgeon-General Wyman is interested in international sanitation of cities, especially seaports, with a view to rendering rigid quarantine unnecessary, and is author of a plan for an international agreement by the republics of the Western Hemisphere to bring this about. Through influence upon the Conference of American States held in Mexico in 1901, and resolutions passed by that Conference he was largely instrumental in bringing about the International Sanitary Conventions of American Republics, of which three have been held and over the first two of which he presided, and at the Second of these conventions, held in Washington, he was largely instrumental in framing a treaty relating to quarantine management of cholera, plague and yellow fever, which treaty has been officially confirmed by practically all the American republics; and he is chairman of the International Sanitary Bureau of the American Republics. Dr. Wyman is author of ninety or more articles on public health and sanitation, including scientific treatises on the bubonic plague and yellow fever, and text-book articles on quarantine. In the Ninth International Medical Congress, Washington, 1887, he was secretary of the Section on Public and International Hygiene; chairman Committee on International Quarantine, Pan-American Medical Congress, Mexico, 1896; chairman of Section on Public Health, International Congress of Arts and Sciences, St. Louis, 1904; president Section on State and Municipal Control, International Congress on Tuberculosis, Washington, 1908. He is a member of the American Public Health Association (president 1902-1903), Association of Military Surgeons, (president, 1904-1905), American Medical Association (first vice-president, 1905-1906); American National Red Cross (vice-president and acting president, 1904,) and now member of Board of Consultation; member of Board of Visitors of the Government Hospital for Insane, and of the Medical Board of Providence Hospital; director of National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, and of the National Association for Mental Hygiene; honorary member of the Imperial Society of Medicine of Constantinople; honorary fellow of the American Association of Obstetricians and Gynecologists; member of the American Academy of Medicine, American Medical Editors' Association, American Association for the Advancement of Science, American Climatological Association, National Geographic Society, Society for Psychological Research, American Society of Tropical Medicine, District of Columbia Medical Society, District of Columbia Medical and Surgical Society, Washington Academy of Sciences and Columbia Historical Society. Dr. Wyman is also a member of the Society of Colonial Wars in the District of Columbia (governor, 1894-1895), District of Columbia Society of Sons of the Revolution (president 1899-1900), Alpha Delta Phi fraternity and the Metropolitan, Cosmos, University, and Chevy Chase Clubs of Washington. Residence: Stoneleigh Court. Office: Bureau of Public Health and Marine-Hospital Service, Washington, D. C.

Y

YOUNG, George Washington:

Banker; born in Jersey City, N. J., July 1, 1864; son of Peter and Mary (Crosby) Young. He received his education in the public schools of Jersey City, and the scientific department of Cooper Union. He was receiving teller in the Hudson County National Bank of Jersey City; secretary and treasurer of the New Jersey Title Guarantee and Trust Company. At the age of twenty-eight he was elected vice-president and treasurer of the United States Mortgage and Trust Company, and within two years was elected president and resigned April 1, 1905, to take up private banking, the firm name being George W. Young Company. He is director and chairman of the Executive Committee of the Windsor Trust Company; director, secretary and treasurer of the O'Rourke Engineering and Construction Company; vice-president and director of the Audit Company of New York; director of Acker, Merrill and Condit Company, Interborough-Metropolitan Company, the National Bank of Commerce, the City and Suburban Homes Company, etc. He is a member of the New York Stock Exchange and Chamber of Commerce; of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the National Geographic Society, the National Historical and Biological Society; the Cooper Union Alumni; a member of the Pilgrims' and the New York Zoölogical Society. He is also a member of the Manhattan, Players', Racquet and Tennis, Metropolitan, Opera, National Democratic, Turf and Field, City Midway, Down Town, Automobile Clubs, the Country Club of Lakewood, N. J.; Rockaway, Hunting, Deal Golf, Parmachenee, Larchmont Yacht and Jersey City Clubs. Address: 59 Cedar Street, New York City.

YOUNG, James Thomas:

Director of Wharton School of Finance and Commerce, University of Pennsylvania; born in Philadelphia, 1873; son of Andrew J. Young and Louisa A. (Adams) Young. He was educated in the Philadelphia public schools, Central High School, University of Pennsylvania, whence he was graduated as Ph.B., 1893, and the Universities of Berlin, Halle, Paris and Berne, receiving the degree of Ph.D. from the University of Halle, 1895. He was appointed instructor in the University of Pennsylvania, 1896; director of the Wharton School of Finance, 1904, and professor of public administration since 1906. He is a director in the American Academy of Political and Social Science; member of the American Political Science Association, and Philadelphia Society for the Prevention of Social Disease; member and trustee of the Tabernacle Presbyterian Church. Dr. Young traveled through Europe, 1893-1896. He is a Republican in politics. He is a member of the University Club of Philadelphia and the Merion Cricket Club, and non-resident member of the City Club of New York City. Residence: 3719 Locust Street, Philadelphia. Address: Wharton School University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia.

YOUNG, Thomas Crane:

Architect; born at Sheboygan, Wis., Feb. 28, 1858; son of Van Epps and Arelisle (Seaman) Young. After graduating from the high school at Grand Rapids, Mich., in 1876, he studied at Washington University, St. Louis, the University of Heidelberg, Germany, and the École des Beaux Arts in Paris, and after leaving the last named school, became connected with the office of E. M. Wheelwright, Boston, Mass. Since 1885 he has been a partner with William S. Eames, in the firm of Eames & Young, whose work has included many of the most important office buildings and finest dwellings in St. Louis, the Art Building at the Trans-Continental Exposition in Omaha, in 1897, the Educational Building at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition in 1904, and the Federal prisons at Leavenworth, Kan., and Atlanta, Ga. Mr. Young is also the architect of the U. S. Custom House Building in San Francisco, the Alaska Building at Seattle, Wash., and other important buildings on the Pacific Coast and elsewhere. He is an active member of the American Institute of Architects; also a member (by inheritance) of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion and the Sons of the American Revolution. He married in St. Louis, June 12, 1887, Ruth Hodgman, and they have three daughters. Address: Wright Building, St. Louis.

Z

ZALINSKI, Edmund Louis:

Major U. S. Army, retired; born in Kurnich Prussian Poland, Dec. 13, 1848; son of Michael Zalinski. He was educated in schools at Seneca Falls, N. Y., Syracuse, N. Y., Fort Monroe, Va., Willets Points, N. Y., and the Mass. Institution of Technology. He was commissioned lieutenant in the Second New York Heavy Artillery in Feb., 1865 aid on the staff of Major General, N. A. Miles, 1st Division, second Army Corps until the close of the Civil War; appointed second lieutenant, 5th U. S. Artillery, Feb. 23, 1866; 1st lieutenant, ant Jan., 1867; Captain Dec., 1887; retired 1894; major April 1904. He was on duty as professor of military science at the Massachusetts Institution of Technology, 1873-1876; Artillery School, Fort Monroe, Va., 1878-1880; School of Submarine Mining Willets Point, N. Y., 1880-1881. He was an officer of artillery, actively engaged in experimental and professional work until his retirement; in the development of the pneumatic torpedo gun (called "dynamite gun"), 1883-1889; on one year's official trip through Europe, 1889-1890, visiting England, France, Germany, Italy, Spain, Russia, Sweden, Norway, Holland, and Belgium. He traveled in Brazil, the Argentine Republic, Chili, Japan and China, 1894-1896. Major Zalinski is a member of the American Association for the advancement of Science; the American Institution of Electrical Engineers' and of the Century, Union League, Engineers' and Lotos Clubs of New York City. Major Zalinski married in Boston, Oct. 18, 1877, Anna Hall, and has one son. Address: 437 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

ADDENDA

AUGUR, George Jacob:

Physician; born at West Haven, Conn., Oct. 1, 1853; son of Abraham and Ellen (Morris) Augur. He was graduated from Hopkins Grammar School, New Haven, Conn., in 1876; entered Yale Academic Department, and Yale Medical College, and was graduated M.D., 1879. In 1881 he was appointed resident physician and surgeon at the State Hospital in New Haven, and in 1894 he resigned from the Alameda County (Calif.), Allopathic Medical Society, and adopted the practice of Homœopathy. He was made a member of the Alameda County Homœopathic Medical Society, and later served as president and vice-president of that society. He was attending physician of the Faboila Hospital at Oakland, Calif., 1882-1898, and in 1905 was elected to active membership in the International Habnemannian Association, and he is non-resident member of the California State Homœopathic Association. Dr. Augur has traveled in the United States and also through Japan. He is a Republican in politics and an Episcopalian in religion. His favorite recreations are those of an aquatic nature. Dr. Augur is a member of the University Club of Honolulu. He married in Oakland, Calif., June 16, 1892, Ruth Barstow Dyer, and they have a son, Morris Curtis Augur. Residence: 435

Beretania Avenue, Honolulu. Office: 431 Beretania Avenue, Honolulu, T. H.

BIDDLE, Craig:

Correction of sketch on page 151: Mr. Nicholas Biddle was president of the Bank of the United States from 1823 to 1836, when the charter expired; later under a state charter became president of the bank known as the United States Bank, from which he resigned in 1839. Mr. Craig Biddle was appointed Judge of the Common Pleas Court of Philadelphia in 1875, and after thirty-two years of service on the bench, retired from judicial service, and was elected Prothonotary of the Court of Common Pleas.

BLISS, Cornelius Newton:

Correction of sketch on page 179. The clubs of which Mr. Bliss is a member are, The Metropolitan, Century, Lotos and Republican clubs of New York, the Metropolitan club of Washington, and the Jekyl Island Club of Georgia. Address: 29 East 37th Street, New York City.

BRIESEN, Arthur von:

Correction of sketch on page 218. In 1907-1908 Mr. Briesen was a member of the Satterlee Committee which restored the Knickerbockers Trust Company to renewed life after it had gone into the hands of receivers during the panic. Residence: 160 West 59th Street, New York City.

BRUNDAGE, Albert Harrison:

Correction of sketch on page 242. Address: 375 Gates Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

HARLAN, John Marshall:

Correction of sketch on page 784. The institutions that have conferred the degree of LL.D. upon Justice Harlan are Bowdoin College, 1883, Center College, Kentucky, 1884; Princeton, 1884, and the University of Pennsylvania, 1900. Address: 1401 Euclid Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

MAYER, William G.:

Lawyer; born in Cincinnati, Ohio, August 15, 1850; son of Frederick J. Mayer and Pauline C. Mayer. He was graduated from Woodward High School, Cincinnati, Ohio, from the United States Naval Academy in 1870, and from the College of Cincinnati as LL.B. He was in the Naval Service of United States as midshipman, ensign and master until 1875 when he resigned. Mr. Mayer was admitted to the bar of Ohio in 1875, and practised law in Cincinnati until 1890, since which time he has been without specific profession. He moved to Waterville, New York, where he has been living since; was commissioned as lieutenant in the United States Navy at the outbreak of the Spanish-American War and served as navigating officer of the United States Steamship Siren on the North Cuban blockade until the close of the War; was honorably discharged September 24, 1898, returning to Waterville, New York. He is a director of the Waterville National Bank. He has traveled throughout the United States, South America, Europe, Western Asia, Northern Africa, the Canary and Madeira Islands, and the Sandwich Islands. In politics he is a Republican and in religion an Episcopalian. He is a member of the Cincinnati Law Library Association, Bar Association of Ohio, Naval Academy Graduates' Association, American Association for the Advancement of Science, Amos O. Osborne Historical Society; president of the Public Library Trustees, Cemetery Association, Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument Association, member of Oneida County Court House Commission; Board of Managers of the Utica State Hospital; Military Order of Foreign Wars, Naval Order of the United States, Naval and Military Order of the Spanish-American War, Regular Army and Navy Union, United States Veteran Navy, and American National Red Cross, and chairman of the Oneida County Republican Committee. His favorite recreations are golf and automobiling. He is a member of the Waterville Golf, Pickwick, and University Clubs, and of the Literary Clubs of Cincinnati. Mr. Mayer married in Waterville, New York, Jan. 14, 1880, Esther L. Osborne, and they have three children: Pauline Mayer Randall, Rosalie Osborne Mayer and O. Osborne Mayer. Address: Waterville, N. Y.

WILEY, Louis:

Business manager of New York Times; born May 31, 1869; son of Benjamin and Ernestine (Brickner) Wiley. He was educated in private school, Mt. Sterling, Ky. Mr. Wiley was reporter on the Post Express, Rochester, N. Y., 1887-1893, business manager of the Post Express, 1893-1895, editor and publisher of The Tidings, Rochester, 1887-1893, and is now business manager of the New York Times. He is a director of the Rockaway Park Sanitarium for Hebrew Children, Educational Alliance, ex-president and director of the Society of the Genesee, member of the Steuben Society, The Kentuckians, The Pilgrims, Sphinx, and Lotos Clubs, and president of the Daily Newspaper Club of America. Residence: 30 West 92d street. Office: Times Building, New York City.

DEPARTMENTS

Auction
Private Sales
Appraisals
Expert Testimony
Mortgage Loans
Management
Insurance

MEMBER OF

Real Estate Board of Brokers of N. Y. C.
Auctioneers Association of N. Y. C.
Long Island Real Estate Exchange
N. J. & N. Y. Real Estate Exchange
Real Estate Brokers Exchange, Newark, N. J.
Queens Borough Exchange, Jamaica, L. I.
Allied Real Estate Interests

A large, elegant handwritten signature in dark ink, reading "Joseph P. Day". The signature is written in a cursive style with a large, looping initial "J".

NEW YORK

REAL ESTATE SPECIALIST

SPECIAL ATTENTION TO THE HANDLING OF LARGE DEVELOPMENTS AT PUBLIC OR PRIVATE SALE

CONSULTATIONS ON ALL MATTERS APPERTAINING TO REAL ESTATE
CHEERFULLY ARRANGED

THE AMERICAN GOVERNMENT

By H. C. GAUSS

The author of this book, H. C. Gauss, Esq., is a trained journalist at present occupying the responsible position of Private Secretary to Attorney General Bonaparte.

The book not only gives a list of all offices of sufficient importance to be filled by Presidential appointment and subject to confirmation by the Senate, but a complete statement of the powers and duties pertaining to each office and the salary attached thereto. How many Americans are there who could tell precisely what the powers and responsibilities of the United States District Attorney or the Collector of the Port are, and the extent of power vested in the hands of Bank Examiners and the Comptroller of the Currency, and to what work of reference could they turn for full information upon these subjects?

This book contains information upon points of law, procedure and custom not known to many of even the best informed citizens. Not many know that the terms of the Postmaster General and the Comptroller of the Currency extend a month beyond the term of the President who appointed them, and that the Postmaster General, unlike other Cabinet officers, can be removed by the President only with the consent of the Senate. Few know that United States Senators and Representatives have a right to select, subject to the passing of examinations, cadets in the Naval Academy, but have no such right with reference to the Military Academy, for which their selections are merely advisory, the President having the sole power of appointment. These and many hundreds of other facts as little familiar are brought out in this useful volume.

What American traveling abroad or contemplating going abroad but would gladly know the duties and powers of the American Ambassador and Minister, the Consul General and the American Consul; what their duties are not only to the Government they represent, but to American citizens who visit the countries to which they are credited as well. Not long since a famous New Yorker lost a suit in the United States Circuit Court involving more than $100,000. He desired to appeal it to the Supreme Court of the United States, but was astounded at being told by his lawyers that they were not sure that he could appeal it, and to his astonishment the Supreme Court refused to hear the case. Now this book tells just what cases can be heard in United States Courts and the jurisdiction of each court; and also covers all points likely to come up about the Government and its officials in all their relations at home and abroad.

THE AMERICAN GOVERNMENT is a volume of nine hundred pages, bound in half morocco, and the price is $5. It is a book of reference for American citizens and for foreigners who desire full and authentic information as to the organization of the United States Government.

L. R. HAMERSLY & CO.,
1 WEST 34th ST., NEW YORK

MORTON TRUST COMPANY

LEVI P. MORTON, President

38 NASSAU STREET, - - - NEW YORK

CAPITAL, SURPLUS AND UNDIVIDED
PROFITS, $9,500,000

Acts as Executor, Trustee, Guardian and Administrator
Financial Agent for Religious, Charitable and Educational Institutions

Manages Estate and Trust Funds

Receives Securities for Safekeeping and Collects Income

Issues Travelers' Letters of Credit and Foreign Drafts

COLD STORAGE OF FURS, REMODELING AND REPAIRING A SPECIALTY

GUTLOHN FUR CO.

ESTABLISHED 1880

IMPORTERS AND MANUFACTURERS

791 BROADWAY
NEAR 10TH STREET NEW YORK

THE WORLD'S LEADING REVIEWS

"With all achievements in magazine literature we have literally no rival of the great English Reviews. The scholar of human life and thought is obliged to turn to them for thorough discussion of great political and social questions. We cannot get on without them if we care to be in sympathy with our age."—The New Unity.

"We advise any of our readers who desire to broaden their minds by their reading to take one or more of the leading English reviews."—Engineering News.

"The tables of contents present what the French would call a tempting ragout, from which no delicacy belonging to the season is omitted. The topics treated are timely, and the list of contributors is both distinguished and authoritative."—The Examiner.

"These leading English Reviews contain more articles by more noted writers on any important subject than any other series. No reader who hopes to keep in touch with the best thought of the day on all current questions of importance can afford to ignore them."—The Philadelphia Press.

"It is a most valuable aid to contemporary literature in America that all these great English Reviews are made easily accessible by their re-issue on this side by the Leonard Scott Publication Co."—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

"The writers are always able, and show great breadth in their treatment of a variety of subjects. The constant reading of these periodicals lets one out into a larger world, and gives breadth and vigor to the understanding. They are cosmopolitan in their view and grasp."—Zion's Herald.

SPECIMEN COPIES FREE.

TERMS TO SUBSCRIBERS.

NINETEENTH CENTURY, CONTEMPORARY REVIEW, FORTNIGHTLY REVIEW, WESTMINSTER REVIEW, each $4.50 per year; any two, $8.50; any three, $12.00; all four, $16.00; single copies, 40 cents. EDINBURGH REVIEW and QUARTERLY REVIEW, each $4.00 per year; the two, $7.50; single copies, $1.25. BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE, $3.00 per year; single copies, 30 cents; with one quarterly, $6.50; with two, $10.00.

Leonard Scott Publication Company,
218 Fulton Street, New York.

ESTABLISHED 1856

F. BOOSS & BRO.

INCORPORATED

FURRIERS EXCLUSIVELY

RICH SELECTIONS OF THE NEWEST CREATIONS IN ALL DEPENDABLE FURS

FUR STORAGE, REMODELING AND REPAIRING

859 BROADWAY
NEAR 18TH STREET NEW YORK AND

1 West 34th Street, Opposite Waldorf Astoria

WHO'S WHO IN NEW YORK CITY AND STATE

FIFTH EDITION

We desire to call the attention of New Yorkers to our forthcoming (Fifth) Edition of "Who's Who in New York City and State."

This is a permanent and successful publication, and the standard in the field covered by it as a biographical dictionary of contemporary New Yorkers, of a completeness approaching the ideal. As a book occupying that field without a serious competitor it has fully arrived. In inclusiveness it goes far beyond any other publication, so far as New Yorkers are concerned, containing about three hundred per cent more sketches of living citizens and residents of the Empire State than any other.

It is essentially a reference book, compiled upon honest lines. No one has been included or excluded merely on the ground of willingness or unwillingness to purchase the book. It is consulted as first authority by libraries, by writers, by newspapers, by business offices, and in the home circle, in all the ways in which such a publication can be utilized.

The price of the book is five dollars.

L. R. HAMERSLY & CO.,
1 WEST 34th ST., NEW YORK

RUINART BRUT

THE OLDEST CHAMPAGNE MARK IN THE WORLD

PRODUCED SINCE 1729

HAIG & HAIG SCOTS

THE FIRST WHISKY ON EARTH

DISTILLED SINCE 1679

ROOSEVELT & SCHUYLER, AGENTS, NEW YORK

L. R. HAMERSLY, JR., SPECIAL AGENT

THE BERLITZ SCHOOL OF LANGUAGES

MADISON SQUARE, 1122 BROADWAY

Harlem Branch, 343 Lenox Ave., above 127th Street

Brooklyn Branch, 218-220 Livingston Street

SUMMER SCHOOL: ASBURY PARK, N. J. (Hotel Touraine Annex)

BOSTON, 132 Boylston St.

PHILADELPHIA, Loder Bldg.

WASHINGTON, 723 14th St., N. W.

ORANGE, 160 William St.

CHICAGO, Auditorium

ST. LOUIS, Odeon Bldg.

CINCINNATI, Mercantile Library Bldg.

SAN FRANCISCO, 2531 Washington St.

TORONTO, Conservatory of Music

MEXICO CITY, 232 Avenida Juarez

HAVANA, Amargura, 72 Altos

BUENOS AYRES, 211 Calle Florida

ROSARIO, 651 Maipu

MONTEVIDEO, 9 Plaza Libertad

PARIS, 27 Avenue de L'Opera

LONDON, 231 Oxford St.

BERLIN, Leipzigerstrasse 123

ST. PETERSBURG, 6 Nevsky Prospect

VIENNA, Graben 13

ROME, 114 via Nazionale

LISBON, 20, rua do Alecrim

ZURICH, 35 Lowenstrasse

BRUSSELS, 12 Rue d'Arenberg

AMSTERDAM, Keizergracht 300

KOPENHAGEN, Jorks passage 2

STOCKHOLM, Bibliotekgatan 6

ALGIERS, 36 rue d'Isly

ALEXANDRIA, 26 rue de d'Eglise Copte

AND OVER 250 OTHER BRANCHES IN AMERICA, EUROPE AND AFRICA.

Day and Evening Lessons, in Classes or Privately, at School or at Residence.

TRIAL LESSONS FREE.

SEND FOR CIRCULARS.

Teachers Sent to Neighboring Towns and Suburbs.

"L'ELOGE DE LA METHODE BERLITZ N'EST PLUS A FAIRE"

(The Berlitz Method Is Beyond the Need of Praise.)

"Rapport No. 1,202 Chambre des Députés, Paris, 4 Juillet, 1903, p. 123."

"The Berlitz Method is the systematized way of learning a foreign language as in a foreign country, by its actual use."—(Meyers Convers. Lex., IV. Ed. Sprach-unterricht.)

RECENT AWARDS TO THE BERLITZ METHOD

Paris Exposition, 1900—2 Gold Medals.

Lille Exposition, 1902—Gold Medal.

Zurich Exposition, 1902—Gold Medal.

St. Louis Exposition, 1904—Grand Prize.

Liege Exposition, 1905—Grand Prize.

WHERE THERE ARE NO BERLITZ SCHOOLS THE FOLLOWING BOOKS FOR SELF-INSTRUCTION ARE HIGHLY RECOMMENDED

French with or without Master, 2 vols., each	$1.00
German " " " " 1st vol. $1.00, 2nd vol.	$1.25
Spanish " " " " 2 vols., each	$1.00
Smattering of Spanish	$0.30
French Comedies, each	$0.25
French Novelettes, "	$0.15

M. D. BERLITZ

1122 Broadway, New York

DOMINICK & DOMINICK

115 BROADWAY

NEW YORK CITY

Tel. 6680 Ct.

Members N. Y. Stock Exchange

Bonds and Investment Securities

Branch Offices:

Cincinnati, Ohio

Norwich, Conn.

23rd St. & 5th Ave., N. Y.

TAX-EXEMPT STOCKS

TELEPHONE 1816 STUYVESANT
ESTABLISHED 1880

M. SCHOSBERG
D. GUTLOHN

GUTLOHN FUR CO.

791 BROADWAY, NEW YORK
NEAR 10TH STREET

ORIENTAL RUG DEPT.

MR. H. KAFAROFF

ORIENTAL RUGS

DIRECT FROM THE COLLECTORS

TO YOU

AT PRICES AMERICA HAS NEVER KNOWN BEFORE.

NEW YORK, November 1, 1909.

Our Mr. Gutlohn has spent the Summer in the Orient and after thorough investigation of the Oriental Rug business, we have associated ourselves with one of Europe's oldest and foremost Oriental Rug Collectors and Dealers, the Austro-Oriental Trading Co., and in conjunction with our Fur business we have opened an Oriental Rug department.

These large Rug Dealers carry at their headquarters in Vienna the largest Rug stock of any concern in the world with permanent houses in Constantinople, Smyrna, Salonique, Beyrouth, Cairo, Damascus, Bagdad, Tebriz, etc. Their Rug collectors are constantly securing all the rug producing provinces of the entire Orient and there is seldom a Rug buyer of note that does not make his collection through this house.

Our shipments, now in transit, are a truly wonderful collection of Oriental richness and beauty and include in large rugs Muscabad, Mahal, Afghan, Hamadan, Meshed, Joraghan, Kirman, Sarouk, Schah-Abbas, etc., and in small rugs Kendje Kazak Mosul, Shirvan, Kabistan, Beloudjistan, etc.

Mr. H. Kafaroff, a recognized authority, will be in charge of the department and his long experience in catering to the best American trade invites your confidence.

If you are a lover of fine rugs—rugs that are valued for their Oriental picturesqueness and artistic effect—await the arrival of our goods—before making your purchases—and note prices that will be a real revelation to Americans who have been in the habit of paying tribute to importers.

Your early inspection is respectfully solicited,

GUTLOHN FUR Co.

Oriental Rug Dept.

791 B'way near 10th St.

THE JOURNAL OF THE

ROYAL ANTHROPOLOGICAL INSTITUTE

OF GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND

Volume 100, Part 1, 1970

Edited by

Prof. J. H. Huxley

and

Prof. D. S. P. Moore

Published by the Royal Anthropological Institute of Great Britain and Ireland

1970

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	13	14	15	16	17	18	19	20	21	22	23	24	25	26	27	28	29	30	31	32	33	34	35	36	37	38	39	40	41	42	43	44	45	46	47	48	49	50	51	52	53	54	55	56	57	58	59	60	61	62	63	64	65	66	67	68	69	70	71	72	73	74	75	76	77	78	79	80	81	82	83	84	85	86	87	88	89	90	91	92	93	94	95	96	97	98	99	100
---	---	---	---	---	---	---	---	---	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	----	-----

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS

0 013 760 428 0

